The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor.

VOL. 14, NO. 24 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, JANUARY 8, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR.

Perfect Health.
Keep the system in perfect order by the occasional use of Tutt's Liver Pills. They regulate the bowels and produce
A Vigorous Body.
For sick headache, malaria, biliousness, constipation and kindred diseases, an absolute cure
TUTT'S Liver PILLS

Official Directory of Pocahontas.

Judge of Circuit Court.....A. N. Campbell.
Prosecuting Attorney.....L. M. McClintic
Sheriff.....Levi Gay.
Clerk County Court.....S. L. Brown.
Clerk Circuit Court.....J. H. Patterson.
Assessor.....C. O. Arbogast.
Commissioners Co Court { G. M. Kee, C. T. Beard, J. A. Barlow.
County Surveyor.....George Baxter.
Coroner.....George P. Moore
County Board of Health: Dr. J. W. Price, L. M. McClintic, M. J. McNeel, J. C. Arbogast.
Justices: A. C. L. Gatewood, Split Rock; S. B. Scott Sr., Edray; W. H. Grose, Hunterville; Wm. L. Brown, Frankford; G. R. Curry, Academy; Thomas Bruffey, Lobelia.

THE COURTS.

Circuit Court convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

County Court convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July. July is levy term.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. M. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. D. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal work.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. J. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. E. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in this paper.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Store. Residence opposite Depot. All calls promptly answered.

M. F. GIESEY,
Architect and Superintendent,
ROOM 10, Reedy Block,
Wheeling, W. Va.

PATTERSON LUMBER
MARLINTON, W. VA.
Planing Mill Contractor
Work done to order.

IS THE general character of our climate on this planet changing? Neither summer nor winter seems just the same as of old. Even persons comparatively young notice the fact, and the old see it plainly. When I was a child I often trudged to school when the snow lay almost level with the fences, (not in the open country, but a thickly peopled village in northern New York State.) The summers vary too. What with long continued heat, repeated droughts, and hurtful storms, we are fain to ask what natural changes are going on around us, above us, and within our habitable globe? One thing appears highly probable, that the felling of immense tracts of timber has some effect that is wonderful and far-reaching. Whatever changes work, we have the promise of God in his Holy Word, that "While the earth remaineth, seedtime and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter, and day and night shall not cease."

A. L. P.

IT would require more space than several issues of our paper would afford to enumerate the interesting and important events that will make 1896 illustrious in history. We would like, however, to remind our readers of some advances made by science the past year. In January Prof. Roentgen, of Wurzburg, announced the X-rays. The x is used in the algebraic sense, representing what is unknown. These rays have resulted in strange and most astonishing investigations, and are of inestimable service in medicine and surgery, and the end is not yet. By new applications of electricity, electric lighting and propulsion of vehicles and machines greatly extended. Music was telephoned half way across the continent. In 1896 horseless carriages came into prominence, and their use practically adopted in France and England. Much improvement in flying machines has been accomplished. The bicycle has become very popular,—four millions used in the United States alone. Antitoxin came into marked distinction as a preventive and curative agent. While it is true that Dr Nansen failed in his attempt to navigate the polar sea, he came closer to the pole than any one else has ever yet been able to do.

Why He Laughed.

It is not often that a plantation sermon delivered by a colored preacher is heard in a Boston church, but the Rev. Dr. A. J. Gordon once listened to such a homily while sitting in judgement on the "pulpit style" of a negro minister from South Carolina.

Doctor Gordon and and a committee from the white church which supported the colored mission had entered the meeting house a little late, and found the preacher delivering his sermon on the words in the Eighty-seventh Psalm: "And of Zion it shall be said, This and that man was born in her." The preacher was making clear the thought that wherever a man's home might be, his spiritual birthplace was Zion. He says:

"Let us go to de city of Charleston, an' knockerize other dat wicked city, let us shout down to de Lord's children, 'Whar was you born?' An' dey will holler back, 'We'se born in Zion?'

"An' den let us go on to Richmond, an' ask de brudderen, 'Whar was you born?' An' dey will say, too, 'We'se born in Zion.'

The preacher passed on from city to city, followed by the enthusiasm, who expressed their recognition by saying back and forth: "I would be ransomed! Ransomed, and the Christians 'ribbin' in dat heavenly land" were added. "Whar was you born?"

"An' now bredderen," he continued, "let us go de Lord's Pole, an' 'tackize' dat logs round de pole, 'fore us lift up our voices an' cry, 'Whar was you born?' An' de Ole Zion dare will shout back, 'We'se born in Zion!'"

The visiting committee, who had thought that the preacher had reached the end of his journey, were astonished. For the preacher, after a pleasant rest at Zion, ran, pace, his grand finale: "An' den we will go to de Heavenly Pole, an' go to de Board Fence!"

That flight broke down the dignified reserve of the committee. The [illegible] and the [illegible] and the [illegible] and the Telephone.—Why Not?

THE POCAHONTAS TIMES...ly comply with your ...s you some facts and ...practicability of the ...line that is being spo... between Marlinton and Ron... overte, through the intermediate villages in Pocahontas and Green... brier counties. That is from Mar... linton to Ronceverte, with stations at Marlinton, Mill Point, Acade... my, Ronick's Valley, Falling Spring, Frankford, Lewisburg and Ronceverte.

Such a line can be built in round ...can get the poles cheaper than 20 cents and get them set cheaper than twenty cents. We should get the holes dug and posts set for 30 cents, which on the whole line would save $150. Wire can be bought cheaper than quoted above. Insulators and brackets are quoted by us at $12 per thousand. Therefore when I say the whole line will cost $1300.00, I think I am well within the danger line.

The failure of the line from Frankford to Ronceverte is cited by some as an evidence that our line would not pay. This is illogical and unfair. That line was built when the Berliner patent was still supreme. A line could then not own its 'phones but had to rent them from the Bell Telephone Co. 'Phones are now sold outright. A line from Marlinton to Academy would not pay. Neither would a line from Lobelia to Jacox. In order to have a line pay it must be between two objective points, and though as many intermediate points as possible. The line from Monterey to Staunton pays and pays well. So does the line from Franklin to Harrisonburg. Neither of these lines has half as good, or as progressive a country to run through as ours has. Then let us build it and shake hands with the world. Yours very truly,

W. A. BRATTON.

Tutt's Pills Cure All Liver Ills.

Perfect Health.

Keep the system in perfect order by the occasional use of Tutt's Liver Pills. They regulate the bowels and produce

A Vigorous Body.

For sick headache, malaria, biliousness, constipation and kindred diseases, an absolute cure

TUTT'S Liver PILLS

NOTICE

Once more I ask the people indebted to me ... come in and pay up. I need money to pay my obligations, and

MUST HAVE IT.

I have been as lenient as possible, and am always disposed to favor my customers in any way I can. Necessity compels me to collect. I can't do business without money.

You must pay your account, and pay it at once. Longer indulgence will not be granted.

Most Respectfully
E. I. HOLT.
ACADEMY, W. Va.
Dec 15, 1896.

Then Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
Then she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
Then she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
Then she had Children, she gave them Castoria,

...ee Military Academy.

Spring term of 18 weeks begins February 1st. Pupils can enter any time. A first-class school for boys. Prepares for college or business. Thorough mechanic, preparatory and business courses.

Located in a fine grove. Best christian influences, no saloons, no distractions.

Tuition, $16 and $25. Board from $8 to $12 per month.

JAMES M. LEE, Principal.
Lewisburg, W. Va.

Lightning Hot Drops—
What a Funny Name!
Very True, but it Kills All Pain.
Cure Everywhere, Every Day—
Without Relief, There is No Pay.

FEED, LIVERY SALE STABLES.

First-Rate Teams and Saddle-Horses Provided.

The Pocahontas Times,

All Home Print,

Affords the People of Pocahontas County one of the best papers for the price in the State.

$1.00 per Year

GIVES YOU YOUR COUNTY PAPER.

SUBSCRIBE!

Advertise your Wares and Wants Our rates are always low enough to warrant your patronage.

Our Job Department has been renewed, and we guarantee satisfaction. Wedding invitations and all kinds of work done on short notice

WE HAVE THE BEST PRINTING PLANT OUT SIDE A LARGE TOWN IN THE STATE.

Now is the time to Subscribe!

The Business World

Is like the human body, in some respects. Both have their ups and downs—sick spells, and both need tonics after the crisis is over, to quicken, in one case, the life blood, and in the other the demand which sets the wheels of trade humming. It is my business to offer trade reviews to the cash customer.

HERE THEY ARE:

Woman's Fine Dongola Button Opera Toe, $1
Outings in Plaids, nice patterns, 5c
Black figured Dress Goods latest effects, 12 1-2c
All wool black, blue and grey Ladies Cloth, 22c to 30c
Men's Macintosh, black diagonal surface, $3.

I have refrained from making any extended remarks on the above on the principal that

Good Wine Needs No Bush.

THE VALUES

STICK RIGHT OUT UPON EXAMINATION AND TRIAL OF THE GOODS.

PAUL GOLDEN

SOL DAVIS' Big Store.

Our Holiday stock is large, our goods new, our prices low, the latest in style, the finest in quality, the almost in variety. The presents you want, at the prices you like, are all included in our up-ended line of Clocks, Jewelry, Accordeons, Albums, Blankets, Muffers, Scarfs, Picture Frames, Lamps, Goods, cutlery, Gloves, Mackintoshes, Trunks, Umbrellas, Hinds, and

GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS

EVERYTHING AT HALF PRICES.

We quote prices on a few things

Arbuckle Coffee	18½c	Good Pure Candy	10 cents
Good Green Coffee	15c	Working Pants well made	85 cents
Granulated Sugar	4½c	Mens Suits from $ 3.50 up
6 Pounds Good Soda	25c	We have some of the finest Raisins,
Cakes, Oranges, and Lemons,		Prunes, Figs,

Appropriate, sensible gifts for old and young are features of this stock, which commends itself to holiday buyers. If you want to make few or many, cheap or costly, presents, this is your best chance. It will be impossible to make a mistake in your holiday buying if you select from the best-gained stock of

SOL. DAVIS,
Green Bank, W. Va.

HEAD TO FOOT OUTFITTER.

The Greatest Medicinal Whiskey the World has Ever Known.

BRADDOCK PURE RYE AND BARLEY MALT.

SMOOTH, SOFT, RICH, RIPE, MELLOW AND CHEMICALLY PURE, A RECOMMENDATION IN ITSELF.

TRY A GALLON AT $2.00

Mail Orders solicited either great or small and receive our personal and prompt attention. Drop us a postal for price list. Don't use inferior goods but mail us your orders; we can save you money and perhaps your health.

JAS CLARK DISTILLING CO., JNO. McQUAIDE Mngr.

Distillers of Braddock Pure Rye, Wholesale and Retail Liquor Dealers.
20 and 22 South New St., Staunton, Va.

THE GREAT RALLY.

COME TO OUR STORE FOR BARGAINS

We are undersold by none; our prices talk for themselves; some may claim to sell low, but we are always the lowest.

Men's	$7.50	Overcoats for	$4.75	Men's $12.00 Suits for	$8.00
"	10.00	"	6.00	" 50c Undershirts for	25c
"	12.00	"	8.00	Ladies 60c "	35c
"	15.00	Suits	9.75	25c Suspenders "	15c
"	8.00	"	5.00	Everything else in proportion

Other goods proportionately.

We are closing our winter boots very low. We will take in exchange for goods, Gold, Silver, Green backs, Beeswax, Ginseng, and Fur. We have been buying FUR for seven years and can pay higher for fur than most buyers. As soon as the season opens we will begin to buy, so don't forget us.

Yours for Business,

Linwood, W. Va. L. D. SHARP.

Duke! Duke!

HIGH GRADE BICYCLES!

1896 Model.

Frame long head and wheel base. Made from best cold drawn 1 rel tubing, narrow tread, 28-inch wheels, Wood Rims, Nickeled Spokes, M and W. Quick-Repair Tires, All connections drop forged steel. Ball-bearing to every part; bearings made from the best steel, tempered and ground, dust proof, 6 inch cranks, Rat trap or Rubber Pedales, one-inch inch Hunker Chain with hardened rivets and centers. Drop-forged steel sprockets, T pattern saddle post, Garford Saddle, 68 inch gear, weight 24 lbs.

Price, $50.00.

1895 Model Duke, 27lbs., Price, $40.00

A full and complete stock of Bicycle Sundries and Repairs, eye letters, Lamps, Bells, &c. Repairing of all kinds a specialty. Send us your broken Bicycles and we can make them good as new

RESPECTFULLY,

RONCEVERTE, W. VA. Eagle AND Ott.

CLOSING OUT SALE!

Intending to remove from Marlinton as soon as I can get my business closed out, I will sell my present stock of goods at a lower rate than goods have ever been sold here before. Come in and get bargains.

S. W. HOLT

MARLINTON, W. VA.

...E NEWS.

...UARY 8, 1897.

...s enlarged this paper in ...ent project of the Hon. ...ed [illegible] it when already ...f it already as he could ...

...now seems to be anxious ...few more cattle, a lot of ...d selling has been going ...

...t profit by the experience ...who have found a panacea ...e Dr catarrh in Hood's ...ills. 2

...ussie BAXTER fell upon a ...h and received such a se... on the right knee as to ...er from walking for some ...he is now rapidly improv... there is every hope that ...ent be permanently crip...

...mitted to mention that ...Maj. J. C. Arbogast had ...d to appear at court and ...charge in the penalty of ...

His sureties are Messrs. ...Moore and Jesse ...Mooman, all of whom are ...citizens of the county.

...oung people of the Levels ...d a better time than that ...ey enjoyed during the re... given by Mr and ...E. Bonsel Mr and Mrs J. S. ...l and Misses Delia and Bes...er.

...hate like everything to pay ...othing bill and get absolu...

Are you not to blame in ...aging poor goods by your ...ge? When do n't ground, but ...k look over my clothing ...s keep up with the styles ...ow like a gentleman on a ...in pocket-book if you buy ...thing at THE GOLDEN ...

...progressive ladies of West...lin, issued a "Woman's Edi... of the Westfield News, bear... date of April 3, 1896. The pa... filled with matter of interest ...men, and we notice the follow... from a correspondent, which ...hors printed, realizing that ...ch upon a matter so vital im...nce to their sex: "The best ...dy for croup, colds and bron...l that I have been able to find ...umberlain's Cough Remedy. ...ently use it for my report. I ...y recommend it." 25 and 50 ...bottles for sale by druggists.

...REAT natural curiosity in the ...of trees is to be found between ...inton and Buckeye at a point ...t half way, growing about ...ty steps from the roadside. ...ree is an oak and a maple, ...y formed one tree trunk for ...t three feet from the ground. ...trunk is perfectly round and ...th the exception of the two kinds ...ark it is an ordinary tree trunk. ...s about two feet in diameter ...fork is a pin oak and the oth... maple. It presents the ap...ance of a tree having oak and ...le boughs and neither wood ...be said to have the advantage.

...HE entertainment company had ...ch, we learn, made an onslaught ...the court house with pieces of ...gh lumber sixteen feet long, to ...d a stage, in the bar, on which ...y could say their pieces. The ...rt room is beautifully finished ...ook and no man or set of men ...uld have built such a stage with...scaring it up badly. The move... happily frustrated by the pros...ting attorney who locked the ...rs and put they keys in his poc... The consequence was that ...e gentlemen was not remember... for the prospere of the entertain... for several days.

...THE Christmas Festival at Ed... was all that could be desired. ...e presents were numerous, ...mbrance appropriate without ex...agant ostentation. Fred Davis ...ed the address in his ...ilar manly style. Miss Flora Moore ...ed a gift on the tree for each of ...e attached people. Every body ...emed to have availed themselves ...the opportunity to manifest ...eir friendly sentiments of kind... Santa Claus, ...ne of the little people thought ...hat Santa Claus did wonderfully ...ell, considering how little snow ...here was for his sleigh to run on.

...STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA, COUNTY ...OF LAUREL CAMP, 14 branch of ...Williams Rivers, &c. There was a ...ll fight indulged here on Sunday ...ast positively no foot-ball in this ...ity or hoop-pole on the bird. Abel ...H. Nathan will butcher a beef in a ...few days, and if there are any in...terested persons around here who ...would like a nice fat foot-ball kick... or corner pie, please come and at... tention is indispensable to save fur... other trouble, and if there is a man ...in this county that would be kind ...enough to take the hide to the ...tannery, it would please all parties ...to take it just a little further to ...Elias Buckley's tan yard.

...It is rumored what Nathan will A... with the beef? I guess he will get it, as he has paid the cow ...for, and is butchering now in the ...middle tree engineer.

...I suppose he would like people ...to come and examine it and buy ...other to be sold round and not whole ...beef.

...I am very glad that Col. Levi ...has given all the cattle from Lee... on creek as I know it is one of ...

THE venerable Robert Moore, ancestor of the Filroy Mootes, like his father, Moses Moore, was much in the habit of hunting and trapping, especially in the winter. He caught five or six red foxes at the head of the spring near Smith's tannery during one season. The trap was placed in the warm spring water, and so disguised by moss that it looked like a moss-covered rock. The bait was placed just beyond on the ground. The fox attracted thereby would have to cross the water to get at it, and would use the trap for a stepping-stone to keep his feet dry, and the result is readily imagined. One fox, however, refused to go near the spot. For several mornings Mr Moore came to the brow of the ravine and looked over to see what may have happened, but nothing was caught. One morning he observed that the fox had followed his foot-prints in the snow. The trapper had taken pains to have but one set of tracks by stepping in the same places every time he came there. One morning he noticed that the fox had been on his trail, and had stepped nowhere but in the hunter's tracks, and had gone no farther than the tracks towards the trap. During the following night a very slight snow fell, and the trapper went on to a place where a tree had fallen out of root. The snow was carefully removed and a trap was placed in the cleared place and disguised with moss. He sifted snow over the moss, then with a stick drew an imitation of a moccasin track in the snow over the trap. The next morning upon coming to the place he found his game safely secured, having been effectually outwitted. He carried it home alive, and this fox was pronounced the most cunning and vicious of all the venerable trapper had ever seen.

Personal Mention.

Paul Dover, of Green Hill, Highland co., Va., was a visitor at Marlinton last Thursday.

Tom Vandervoort, lately of Linwood but now of Savannah, Greenbrier co., was a visitor at Mr E. D. King's, last week. He seems well pleased with his new home and friends.

Miss Georgiana Hanna, of Elk, paid the Times office a pleasant visit, on Thursday.

Mr Wm. Gibson and Mrs Polly Gibson, of Elk, visited friends in Marlinton on the last day of the year. Their friends feel highly complimented by the presence of such worthy people. Aunt Polly thought the new printing office very nice, but she saw things at the Worlds Fair that would lay it in the shade.

Mr and Mrs W. W. Tyree gave a pleasant social to their friends on Wednesday evening.

Rev Charles Anderson, in charge of the Highland circuit, spent the Holidays with friends on Hill's Creek and at Edray. The pleasure of his visit was greatly marred by neuralgic sufferings. He put himself under the care of "Father Price" for a few hours on New Year's day and went on his way "feeling better," after quinine and Rodney's Relief had time to do their work. "Father Price" knows what is good for sick preachers, about Holidays.

G. P. Moore relieved from erroneous taxation.

Andrew Price appointed administrator of Peter Beverage, dec'd. (To be Continued.)

Burner-Riley.

GREEN BANK, W. VA., January 4, 1897.

The home of Mr and Mrs J. W. Riley was the scene on last Thursday evening at 5 o'clock, when their daughter, Miss Nora E. Riley, was married to Mr A. C. Burner, an influential business young man of Bolar, Va. The wedding was one of the most brilliant of the season.

The bride entered the parlor leaning upon the arm of the groom, and was most elegantly attired.

They were united, in an appropriate and impressive manner, by Rev J. T. Maxwell. They then repaired to the dining-room, where a most luxurious repast was served.

We would venture our safety on the assertion that this young couple are duly prepared for the duties which they assume in thus entering upon matrimony. We wish them happiness, and that their pathway may be strewn with wreaths of flowers twined by the hand of a Supreme Being.

Knapp's Creek

The people on the Creek had a pleasant Xmas.

The entertainment at Mr and Mrs Zeno Moore on Tuesday night was attended by a large number of ladies and gentlemen, who had a very pleasant time. They spent the night very pleasantly and much enjoyed Mrs Moore understands the art of making cake.

Several ladies and gentlemen attended church at our chapel at Hunterville on Sunday last.

Dr and Mrs Greene gave a party at their home in Frost on Friday night. By seven o'clock 31 guests had arrived, and there was a merry time indeed. Mrs Greene is very accomplished and entertained her lot to perfection.

Mr T. T. Clark left Saturday morning for Rupert, where she will spend a few days with friends. Mr Clark will return on Monday.

Mr Jas. Sharp and family, of Rupert, spent Christmas with Mrs Sharp's parents, Mr and Mrs Sandy Moore.

Mr Jas. Sharp, of Rupert, spent Christmas with his face to face with Veda, the intended victim.

She only paused a moment to press a kiss upon my hand; then she slipped through a gap in the wall and was gone. That was the last I had seen of her.

To my inquiries regarding her whereabouts I received no information, excepting a bit of her past history which told me that she had belonged to a wealthy and influential family, and that she had received a finished education. But reverses had come; her father had fallen a victim to a dreadful vendetta, and she had finally been left a penniless orphan.

I was deeply interested in her, but no one could give me the slightest clew as to whither she had fled.

Still I had lingered about the places I used to see her. Was I in love with the little Corsican beauty?

Her face would come before my mental vision asleep or waking, bringing a sweet sensation I had never before experienced; and yet I tried to dismiss her from my mind.

I sat smoking for some hours upon the deck of the Penguin, watching the yellow lights dancing in the romantic Bosphorus city, and drinking in the fresh, sweet air of the night that stole up from the Mediterranean.

It was about 11 o'clock when I stretched myself upon the cot which Muggins had placed upon the deck. I fell asleep soon after, and dreamed of Muggins' ghost.

It seemed that some strange presence came to me—a woman, beautiful beyond any dream, and just as I [illegible] out my reckless watcher's long curls, a faint odor of some strange, sweet perfume. I awoke suddenly with that inexplicable sensation which comes to us of the unseen presence of another.

I sat up and looked about me in vague bewilderment. The moon had risen out of the sea and was flooding the deck with its mellow radiance.

As my mind grew more composed I detected a subtle perfume on the night air, the same that had come to me in my dreams.

Was it only the effect of my imagination? No, there could be no mistake as to its reality. Something white lay at my feet; I picked it up; it was a delicate piece of lace embroidered linen, and exhaled the breath of perfume that had before greeted my senses.

While I stood bewildered at the amazing circumstance, I perceived a white form emerge from the hatchway and move forward, with a slow, gliding movement.

I stood immovable, watching the figure as it came toward me. As it drew near, I perceived that it was a girl, and as the moonbeams fell on the pale face I recognized it as belonging to Veda Berlow, the little fruit seller.

Her eyes were wide open, and staring vacantly ahead in a way peculiar to the somnambulist. She was a sleep-walker! The thought came to me like a flash. Yet, what could account for her presence aboard the Penguin?

Without attempting to answer the puzzling question, I started toward the figure, but as I did so, the sound of something like the dropping of an oar in a boat came from over the port. Then a moment later the dark figure of a woman—the same I had seen making the assault on the little fruit-seller—slipped noiselessly over the rail. She paused for a moment to glance about the ship. Then, with a cry of rage that might have proceeded from some wild animal in deadly combat, she leaped upon the unconscious girl. The blade of a long knife glinting in the rays of the moon. Roused to action by the sight of the murderous intruder, I leaped swiftly forward, and, before the knife descended to do its deadly work, I caught the hand that held it.

But if I reckoned on an easy victory in subduing my adversary, I soon discovered my mistake, for the woman, though aged to all appearance, seemed to possess the strength of the strongest man, and, finding herself foiled in her murderous attempt, she turned upon me with the fierceness of a panther. Coming unexpectedly as the attack did, it caught me off my guard, and before I realized my peril, the hand that held the knife was wrenched from my grasp, then there was a swift thrust, a keen pain in my shoulder as the blade entered; then a mist gathered before my eyes, and I sank unconscious upon the deck.

When my senses returned it was broad daylight, and I was lying on a bed in Reginald Perkins, the bronzed but troubled face of Veda bending over me.

It was about a week before I was able to get ashore, and, though I had a hundred cares from Berlin, Veda refused to leave me entirely in the hands of another.

Well, in that week I had learned to love the gentle, confiding beauty with such an intense devotion that I could not bear the thought of separation.

How life had been one of trials and misfortunes. The sad day when she had brought the life of Veda was prevented from taking my life by the timely appearance of Muggins, who had come over to the vessel in his boat just before daybreak to see how I was faring. Finding me bound, Muggins, who hoped into the boat and paddled before she could be rescued by Muggins.

She was the last of the Berlitz family, between whom and the Berlow a dreadful vendetta had existed, and it was to escape the vengeance of the last woman that Veda had entered herself aboard the Penguin, hoping to be safe from pursuit. Escaped, and then rescued from the violence and death that awaited her.

Veda and I were married, and a month later sailed for America in the Penguin with my old friend Capt. Barlow, who had returned and had the vessel repaired.

Reginald was much elated over the happy ending of my attempt to "rescue the fair," though he always declared that I made a most lucky failure, and insisted on having the ghost I had myself been laid by R. P. I. Ledger.

THE BEST WAY TO CURE.

Dyspepsia is to establish health. Pure blood is the master power to accomplish this. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the One Blood Purifier. It tones up the whole system, gives appetite, and strength, and causes every function, nerve, muscle and organ to do its work naturally. Thus it cures such a host of troublesome ills as Blood Humors, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Boils, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Rheumatism, Kidney and Liver Complaint.

Hood's Pills are the best after dinner pills, assist digestion, prevent constipation.

Proposed Railway Extension.

[Col. R. S. Turk in the Spectator and Vindicator.]

An article printed in our issue of Dec. 31, on the subject of the extension of a railway from Hamilton burg west through Highland and Pocahontas counties, having attracted some favorable comment and rather more attention than we had supposed, we take the liberty of further calling the attention of capitalists generally and to the Southern Railway especially, the advantage and advisability of entering the West Virginia coal field by an extension of their Harrisonburg branch to the head of Gauley or Elk river. Few people comparatively, know the vast country a road over that route would drain, and fewer still know the resources of the section. A residence of about fourteen years in Pocahontas county, has given us probably as familiar an acquaintance with what it contains as most ordinary unscientific persons could acquire in such a period. We never obtained an analysis of its minerals nor attempted a development of any of them, but we did examine pretty carefully into its timber. The county of Highland has without doubt a vast quantity of iron, but it is not supplied with timber on the mountain west of it. It would, however, furnish large quantities of oak, some pulp wood and great quantities of tan bark. It would also supply many hundred carloads of cattle every year, and fine quarries of building stone would doubtless be opened. There is no calculating what would be shipped until the opportunity presented itself. When Pocahontas county would be reached unrolled of that region would at once supply freight without awaiting mineral or other development. Several lumber companies in that county have offered railroad corporations as an inducement to build into their holdings in that county, to give the railroad all the tan bark on their land, and in addition guarantee them forty car loads of lumber per day for twenty years. This was the proposition of single lumber companies, and those companies, nor any other company has any monopoly of the timber there. Nothing but scrub white pine and walnut have ever been taken from that county, and this outflow would be stopped at once by a road entering the county, and the freight yearly derived from 25,000,000 feet of sawed lumber, which now floats away and is caught by the C. & O. at Roncoverte, be saved to the new company.

It has been claimed by persons close to the Southern, we have heard, that that road did not seek any new coal fields, that it had all the coal it could use or handle. This must be a mistake. The Southern has no coal north of Alabama and no coking coal anywhere so far as we can learn.

Should it build the 100 miles of railroad we advocate it would be in the midst of the West Virginia coking coal and would enter a field with coal on both sides of its line for 200 miles. It must be a source of profit to the C. & O. and B. & O. to land coal eastward. Why then would it not be as profitable to the Southern? With a well built line, the road mentioned could haul coal in competition with those roads and unquestionably an immense iron business would spring up on the line as the iron ores of Pocahontas and the Gauley coal fields are not 30 miles from each other over this route. In fact they are really in sight, with limestone at hand, of the finest quality for fluxing. There has been found in Pocahontas county in large quantities a fine quality of hard coal. This vein has been opened in four or five places in the "Levels" and it is said that the county, and it is thought to be valuable and certainly abundant. The magnificent deposit of red and gray marble found in the same locality in that county, is another feature in figuring on freight. There would also come from this county yearly many hundred carloads of stock. All this must be taken into account. By this route the distance to Washington and Cincinnati could be built, and such grades as the B. & O. encounters at Allegheny or Cheat mountains would be met. The gaps at the head of Elk or Gauley are low, never blocked with snow, and the length of time, and the gap in the Alleghany at Front is one of the very lowest in the mountains. When we heard the struggle the B. & O. makes to encroach on the trains over the Alleghany we could prevail line and think of the difference in the mountains on the proposed line, which we have traversed at all seasons of the year, we are satisfied that no snowdrift of any grade, and no necessity for a snow plow, would be encountered. It is now ten long years since we passed over the road, but we have no doubt that it is not materially changed. It is a railroad, when repaired has been blocking down the Rockies Scenes and buying many trade over the Southern, and we have no doubt which lots in the very best and under the control of our great system is a most wealth than can be found in the same unoccupied extent of territory in the United States. We do not [illegible] or some other line does not soon build the first we mentioned. Southern and Southwest will of necessity reach out from the C. & O. and B. & O. and be a part of such a line. [illegible] and leave [illegible] for [illegible] when built, to claim. It would look as if a coal field 200 miles in length and 100 miles in width, with timber over the same area in almost virgin state would surely be attractive to the eye of a corporation which already has 150 miles of road leading directly from the seaboard toward that territory, which 150 mile it acknowledges is not now valuable, but which with the addition of 100 mile more could be made one of the most desirable properties in the country. Certainly if there remains any capital in this country with which to build railroads, no more profitable investment of it could be made than here.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, LUCAS COUNTY } ss.

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that can not be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

{SEAL} A. W. GLEASON, Notry Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

TWENTY-SIX American women have matriculated for the new term of the Berlin University.

MARLINTON HOUSE.

Located East End of Bridge.

Terms.

per day - 1.00 & 1.50

per meal - - - 25

Good accommodations for horses at 25 cents per feed.

Special rates made by the week or month.

C. A. YEAGER, Proprietor.

C. B. SWECKER,

General Auctioneer

and Real Estate Agent.

Tuell Coal, Mineral and Timber Lands Farms and Town Lots a specialty. 21 years in the business. Correspondence solicited. Reference furnished.

Postoffice—Dunmore, W. Va., or Alexander, W. Va.

Old Dominion Building & Loan Association,

—OF—

Richmond, - - Virginia.

J. TAYLOR ELLYSON, President.
E. A. BARNES, Treasurer.
SECRETARY.

J. Taylor Ellyson, Norman V. Randolph, John B. Purcell, John S. Ellett, Frank T. Sutton.

Authorized Capital..... $20,000,000.
Subscribed Capital..... 5,000,000.
Paid Up Cash Capital..... 1,500,000.
Assets..... 2,500,000.

Depository—State Bank of Virginia. Investment stocks cost $1.00 per share membership fee, and 50 cents per month after wards—withdrawable after twelve monthly payments, and sooner in event of the death of the stockholder.

H. A. YEAGER, Agent.

MARLINTON, W. VA.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR

FOR THE WHEELING

Weekly Intelligencer,

West Virginia's Leading Newspaper.

The coming year promises to be one of great interest to every American citizen. An important change is at hand in the administration of public affairs. There will probably be a special session of Congress immediately following the inauguration of the new President. The tariff, especially in the matter of wool and coal, will be at once under discussion, and legislation looking to the reduction of the national finances to a normal basis will be introduced. There will also be a new address to the people of West Virginia, and there is every indication that enterprise of great importance to the public welfare will be set on foot in the whole. The proposed river improvements will be begun. New railroads will be built, and new material resources of every kind developed. The year 1887 promises to be one of the golden years of the State and Nation. Business will everywhere revive, and the columns of the INTELLIGENCER will be filled with the evidences of great opportunities for business.

Every family should have a live newspaper, and the Intelligencer aims to visit the old and young of the household every week with all the particulars of the great world that is at hand.

TERMS AND PREMIUMS.

The WEEKLY INTELLIGENCER, one year in advance..... $1 00

The DAILY INTELLIGENCER, six months in advance..... 3 00

The DAILY INTELLIGENCER, one year in advance..... 6 00

The premium copies will be sent to any address desired. It is expected by all subscribers that the new one-dollar rate will be cash in advance. It is impossible to send out the names ordered by the agents of the INTELLIGENCER unless the money accompanies the order. It is not necessary to send a draft, as the money in bills of any denomination will be at the risk of the publishers. Address all orders to

INTELLIGENCER PUBLISHING CO.,
Wheeling, W. Va.

Specimen copies of either edition of the INTELLIGENCER will be sent free to any address.

We want an Agent in every county. Write for terms and sample copies.

INTELLIGENCER PUBLISHING CO.,
Wheeling, W. Va.

Notice of Sale.

By virtue of a deed of trust executed to the undersigned Trustee by Jacob Sharp and wife, dated the 1st day of January, 1887, and recorded in the Clerk's office of the County Court of Pocahontas county, West Virginia, in Deed Book No. 21 at page 82, default having been made in the payment of the debt thereby secured, and the holder thereof having requested me to sell the property conveyed by said deed of trust, I will offer for sale at public auction at the front door of the Court House of said county, in Huntersville, on at the hour of 12 o'clock M., the following described property, to-wit:

SATURDAY, THE 5TH DAY OF FEBRUARY, 1887,

All that certain tract or parcel of land lying and being in Pocahontas county, West Virginia, on the waters of Stony creek, and bounded as follows: Beginning at a stone on the top of the ridge between Stony creek and Greenbrier river, corner to Jacob Sharp's land, and runs with the top of the ridge between said streams, N. 30 E. 80 poles to a stone, corner to Jacob Sharp's land; thence N. 60 W. 80 poles to a stone, corner to Jacob Sharp's land; thence S. 30 W. 80 poles to a stone, corner to Jacob Sharp's land; thence S. 60 E. 80 poles to the beginning, containing 40 acres, more or less.

TERMS OF SALE: One-third of the purchase money cash in hand; one-third in one year from day of sale, and the remainder in two years from day of sale, the purchaser executing bond with good security, with legal interest to be paid on all deferred payments.

D. D. MARKLE, Trustee.

Andrew Price, Attorney.

December 14, 1886.

To Create A Revolution

in the household work as that which everything is kept clean, there may be labors for social duties, in the skin of every housewife. She knows, that to obtain the best results in the shortest time, and to give the linen that special whiteness and freshness, only the BEST SOAP must be used.

Now, the soap which has the largest sale in the world is

Sunlight Soap

and so it is fair to presume that it is the Best Soap in the World.

At any rate it must be worthy of a fair trial.

Lever Bros., Ltd., Hudson & Harrison Sts., N.Y.

SPAIN seems to be on the verge of bankruptcy, and it looks as if the virtual independence of Cuba will soon be an accomplished fact, by conceding self-government, or autonomy, to the Cubans.

"Be sure to brush your feet off before you come in," shouted Willie's mother to her six-year-old son.

"Would n't it be just as well," asked Willie, who expects to be a professor or a lawyer when he grows up, "would n't it be just as well, mamma, if I brush the dirt off, and leave my feet on. Minneapolis Tribune.

Raw Fur Skins

WANTED. Highest market prices paid. Highest assortment guaranteed. Send for Price Current.

THE A. E. BURKHARDT FUR & HAT CO.,

4 West 4th Street, Cincinnati, O.

Are You Afraid?

TO READ BOTH SIDES OF THE QUESTION?

The New York Journal is the only Metropolitan paper indorsing

Bryan and Sewall

and it daily publishes articles by the leading financiers of the country on both sides of the question,

"Silver versus Gold."

It is progressive, liberal and always espouses the cause of the masses. Every broad minded man should read it, whether Republican or Democrat.

THE NEW YORK JOURNAL.

Daily - - - - - 1 Cent everywhere.
Subscription for One Month, including Sunday - - - - - 40 cents
Two Months and a Half - - - $1.00

Send subscription to

The New York Journal,
Circulation Department, NEW YORK.

What is

CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY,
Boston, Mass.
ALLEN C. SMITH, Pres.

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

LIGHTNING HOT DROPS

CURES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.

HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Bites of Animals and Bugs, etc. Tastes Good. Smells Good.

BREAKS UP A COLD.

SOLD EVERYWHERE—25c AND 50c PER BOTTLE. NO RELIEF, NO PAY.

HERB MEDICINE CO. (Formerly of Wheeling, W. Va.) SPRINGFIELD, O.

Simms & Co.,

RONCEVERTE, W. VA.

Silver Steel Plow, Syracuse Chilled Plows, Imperial Chilled Plows.

PLOW REPAIRS OF ALL KINDS AT LOWEST PRICES EVER OFFERED HERE

RED WARRIOR POLL AXES 65C

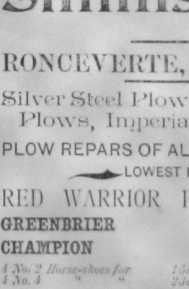
GREENBRIER " " 60c

CHAMPION " " 50c

1 No. 2 Horse-shoes for 15c | 1 No. 3 Horse-shoes 18c
1 No. 4 " 20c | 1 No. 5 " 16c

COOK-STOVES OF ALL KINDS

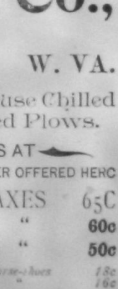
1 doz. 8x10 Window Glass 35c | 1 Extra Grindstone 1 1-4c lb
Paints, Oils, Varnishes, etc.



Our goods are all first class, no shoddy or job lots, or damaged goods. Strike us for prices before you buy.

Simms & Co.,
Opposite Passenger Depot. Roncoverte, W. Va.

A $5.00 LOOK NOT FOR A RARE TREAT FOR YOU ALL. Boys Suit and Overcoat Suit, with Extra Pair of Pants, for $2.76



REMEMBER, NO ☞ PAY EXPRESS CHARGES TO YOUR DOOR.

OUR SAMPSON SUITS with Extra Pants Ages 10 to 19.

2.76

FREE TO EVERYBODY

H. ROSENBURGER & CO., 194 & 196 N. New York C

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor.

VOL. 14, NO. 25 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, JANUARY 15, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR.

GEN. G. W. C. LEE has resigned the Presidency of Washington & Lee University. It is rumored that the position will be tendered to Hon Wm. L. Wilson, and the salary raised from two thousand to five thousand dollars.

IT is reported the largest carpet factory in the world, located at Yonkers, New York, has closed. Four thousand men are now at leisure. The immense iron works at Zanesville, Ohio, have suspended operations for the present. It is sad to hear of such events so early in the winter. It is to be hoped, however, that in due time our people will adjust themselves to the changed and changing condition of industrial affairs, and be able to appreciate the meaning of Shakespeare's memorable expression: "Sweet are the uses of adversity."

THE Hollanders who settled New York are well known to our school children. Miles Standish, the May Flower and Plymouth Rock are perhaps more familiar to our teachers and their pupils than Bible stories. But of their own ancestors, who they were, what they did what they suffered and what influence the work of their arms and brains had upon the destinies of the American nation, is virtually a blank place to them. It is to be hoped that all this will be changed in due time, that attention will be so directed to this subject of historical investigation, that our people will become acquainted with ancestral history, that they will try to perpetuate the influence of their worthy fathers and keep in mind and practice their principles.

IT is cheering to the friends of bimetallism to learn that Senator Wolcott and General F. A. Walker, at Mr McKinley's request, go to Europe to find out how foreigners feel about having an inter-national bi-metallic conference. Their information will be communicated to the President on their return, who will be President by that time. If their report is favorable, then steps will be taken at once for the conference. If unfavorable, then the President may be supposed, will feel justified for doing nothing in the matter, but give his time and attention to the tariff and all that it implies. It is hoped by the friends of bi-metallism, of all parties, that Messrs Wolcott and Walker may find a sentiment so influential as may lead to the conference at an early day, and the President may be relied on to push the matter to a conclusion. Four members of the Salisbury administration in England are bimetallists. The Bimetallic League of Great Britain has for its members some of the most influential financiers of the kingdom. Public sentiment in France is overwhelmingly friendly to bimetallism, for it brought the republic triumphant and solvent through a long monetary crisis that severely injured other nations. It was bimetallism that helped France to pay the German war debt comparatively easy and without a heavy strain upon her resources. The people of Germany are anxious for a change from their gold standard to bimetallism. This is all encouraging, but the gloomy part of the money situation comes in sight when it is remembered that the interests of the money centres in London, Paris, Berlin, Wall and Broad Streets, in New York; and La Salle Street, in Chicago, are unanimously opposed to bimetallism. It looks as if there may be great reason to fear that these money centres may in the future, as in the past, defeat all attempts to secure justice to the people at large, who suffer from an apparent money famine in the midst of plenty. Now if these gentlemen on their return should show that all such fears are unnecessary, these millions of their countrymen and millions of foreigners would hasten them with acclamations of highest esteem. Let the same be said of your Representative on the part of Mr McKinley's friends that the Republican Party reposed in him, agrees with the Boone Democrats that the greatest monetary standard and system to popularize and that bimetallism is to be desired.

To Tell the Age of a Horse.

To tell the age of any horse,
Inspect the lower jaw of course;
The six front teeth the tale will tell,
And every doubt and fear dispel.

Two middle nippers you behold
Before the colt is two weeks old.
Before eight weeks two more will come,
Eight months the "corners" cut the gum.

The cut side grooves will disappear
From middle two in just one year.
In two years from the second pair;
In three, the corners, too, are bare.

At two the middle nippers drop,
At three the second pair can't stop.
When four years old the third pair goes,
At five a full new set he shows.

The deep black spots will pass from view
At six years from the middle two.
The second pair at seven years,
At eight the spot each "corner" clears.

From middle "nippers" upper jaw
At nine the black spots will with-draw;
The second pair at ten are white:
Eleven finds the corners light.

As time goes on, the horsemen know,
The oval teeth three sided grow;
They longer get, project before
Till twenty, when we know no more.—The Hogeman.

The Cleek Family.

As one passes from Driscol towards Frost the attention is first drawn to the "Lockridge farm," once so noted for its beautiful and extensive meadows and hospitality. Adjoining this attractive property see two or three pleasant homesteads, now occupied by Messrs Peter L. Cleek, William H. Cleek, and Benjamin F. Fleshman.

The ancestor of the Cleek relationship in Pocahontas County was Michael Cleek, who was one of the earlier pioneers to occupy this attractive portion of the Knapp's Creek valley, and came from Bath County. His wife was Margaret Henderson Crawford, whose father was from Lancaster, Pennsylvania, and lived in Bath County, near Windy Cove. Michael Cleed opened the lands now possessed by the persons just named, who are his grand-children.

With the exception of two or three very small clearings, it was a primitive, densely unbroken forest of white-pine and sugar-maple. He built a log-cabin on the site of the new stable, and some years subsequently reared a dwelling of hewn timber, now the old stable at Peter L. Cleek's. Near the Cleek gate opening on the public road are the remains of a chimney, indicating the spot where Knapp Gregory, a pioneer hunter, had his camp. It is from this man the creek derives its present name, that flows nearby. This is perhaps the first clearing ever made in the present limits of Pocahontas. The last seen of Knapp Gregory was at the Lockridge fording. His sudden and mysterious disappearance was never certainly explained. The prevailing opinion, however, was that he was "put away" by some reckless adventurers who were here after no good, and possibly fugitives from justice, escaping from older settlements north or east.

The late John Cleek, father of Peter and William, and who was the oldest of the family, could just remember when his parents settled here. They came out by the way of Little Back Creek, crossing the Alleghany opposite Harper's. His mother carried him in her lap, horseback, all the distance from Windy Cove.

Michael Cleek's family consisted of three sons, John, William, and Jacob; and three daughters, Elizabeth, Barbara, and Violet.

Elizabeth married Jesse Hall, of Anthonys Creek. Their children were William Crawford, lately a merchant at Edray; John, who died in the way; Jesse; Andrew; Margaret, who married and became Mrs James McDermott, of Little Anthonys Creek; Evaline married Benjamin F. Fleshman, whose daughter, Margaret, is now Mrs William H. Cleek; Alcinda Susan; Mrs Tyler Stephenson, of Bath County; Charlotte married Frank Fertig, of Anthonys Creek.

Barbara and Violet, the other daughters of the pioneer Michael Cleek, died in early childhood of the "old plague" and their names are forgotten.

Jacob died of the same disease aged eighteen years.

William J. Cleek never married, and spent most of his life with his brother John. The attachment these brothers had for each other was noticed and admired by all their acquaintances. They never seemed so well contented as when in each other's company. His wit and good humor was remarkable. If all his funny, harmless anecdotes could be recalled and written up one of the funniest books in the world would result, and nobody's feelings wounded thereby. He could be facetious without hurting anyone's feelings, a gift rarely possessed by humorists. He told most of his jokes on himself.

It now remains to make further mention of John Cleek, the eldest son of Michael Cleek's pioneer home. He married Phebe Ann, a daughter of Peter Lightner, who once owned the property now possessed by the families of Francis and Hugh Dever. A sketch of the Lightners is in course of preparation, when more will be said about the venerable Peter Lightner.

John Cleek spent his life on the home farm. His family consisted of three sons, Peter Lightner, William Henderson, and Shelton Washington. The daughters were Mary Ann, Caroline Elizabeth, Alcinda Susan, Margaret Eveline, and Eliza Martha.

Mary Ann was first married to the late Josiah Herold. She was left a widow, and afterwards married William C. Hull. Her daughters are Mrs Patterson Poage and Miss Tokey Hull, near Edray.

Caroline Elizabeth married the late Lanty Lockridge. Her sons are in the far West. Alcinda Susan became Mrs Hugh Dever, and is now in Nebraska. Margaret Eveline married Renick Ward late of Randolph County, now in Colorado. Eliza Martha became Mrs B. F. Fleshman, and now lives on a part of the old homestead, as already stated.

As to the sons of Mr and Mrs John Cleek, Shelton Washington died at the age of eighteen months.

William Henderson Cleek married Miss Margaret Jane Fleshman, and now occupies one of the nice homesteads already referred to near the public road. Mrs Cleek was the eldest daughter of B. F. Fleshman, Esq.

Peter Lightner Cleek married Effie May, only daughter of the late Andrew D Amiss and Mrs Eveline Amiss. The pleasant home occupied by Mr P. L. Cleek is near the original site, across the valley from the public road, and near the foot-hills of the Alleghany. Formerly the main road passed by the old Cleek homestead, crossing and re-crossing the valley for the convenience of the residents. Thus the traveler would cover a good many miles in making but little progress in direct distance, as matters were in former times.

Mrs Eveline Amiss, sister of Isaac McNeel, Esq., at Mill Point; and also of the Hon. Mathew John McNeel, of the Levels, makes her home with Mr and Mrs P. L. Cleek

When a person visits such homes as this group, and others of similar type often to be found, it is gratifying to believe, all over our county, he is prepared to realize the truth of what the poet says "God made the country, and man made the city." Yet the people will never be satisfied until there be a city at Driscol Huntersville, Marlinton, Hillsboro, Dunmore, Green Bank, Edray, Dilleys Mill, or Frost, from the longings one hears so frequently expressed in moving around.

W. T. F.

FACETIOUS PASSENGER.—How often, conductor, does your trolley car kill a man?

CONDUCTOR (testy).—Only once.

SAD.—I hear you said I killed ten men.

HE.—No, I said you killed all the time.

SUPERVISORS are advised not to count in summer or search in winter.

"I AM surprised that Jones should have committed suicide as successfully as he did. What else could you expect from a man with a back name like that?" "Why, he was a lucky cuss." From 13,967 to 13,966.

The Weekly Letter.

The friends of humanity are cudgeling their brains to prevent the vast amount of misery and mismating that is caused by American girls marrying foreign, no-account noblemen, for whereas their money-making fathers are only worried over the getting of a legal title to as much real and personal property as possible, the daughters have set their hearts on a different sort of an acquisition, and wish to secure legal titles for themselves. It seems to me that the American heiresses lack organization. If they would get together all would be well, and the effete nobility would not be able to bear off a rich tax-payer because she is afraid it will not be good form if she does not marry a titled foreigner, no matter how much of a degenerate he may happen to be.

It is thought that the recent experience of the Baroness Poppenheim, who was a Miss Wheeler, of Philadelphia, will have a good influence upon the American heiresses. This lady, who stood well in the great city of Philadelphia, and who was able to go almost any where there she desired, is not recognized in the Court of Bavaria in any sum whatever,—by which I suppose they mean she was demanded without bail. That the lovely Miss Wheeler should have mentally blind-folded herself and compelled herself to marry the heavy-swelled German Poppenheim, and be treated to the unlovely cold shoulder of a German court, seems a just retribution to a girl who was untrue to herself, her womanhood, and her country. The late Miss Wheeler must have a depraved taste, for I cannot imagine how anyone who, like that lady, is able to put up at the best hotel in the town, should wish to trespass on the hospitality of the King of Bavaria.

If our girls had a better organization they could very soon make it bad form to marry any nobleman whatever, because it is well-known that if those hoodoo things were worth having our own government would give them to us. Make it a case of noblesse oblige, and maybe the fine young lady, whose grand-father dug ditches for a side of meat, will refuse the count and shame the devil. The chances of "Baron Ringworm" will not be worth a "continental" then.

I am opposed to the State of Nebraska legislating against girls marrying any one whose name has a handle to it, for, while it shows how progressive a State Nebraska is, still if you tell the girls that they can't do a thing they will "show you."

There is one point in justice to our opponents, the gentlemen from Europe, that we must mention. We will suppose that once upon a time there was a very beautiful young lady, and she was all that fancy painted, lovely and divine, and she was rich beyond the wildest dreams of avarice; and it came to pass that many men sought her hand in marriage, but as yet she had not met her fate. At last, however, at a ball given in honor of the God of Good Times, she was introduced to a good young man, who fell in love with her, and, finally, told her that he could not do without her. And she seeing that he was a man amongst men, as well as amongst women; and that he was the only man among the many thousands whom she had seen and studied who could make her really hog-ppy; and that here was the life that could complete and content her own, surrendered unconditionally and was glad of the chance.

But then came the rub. The man had had the misfortune to be born poor; and not only that, in a foreign country, and on him had had descended a title and a name which had never been dishonored. He stood as the representative of one of the purest and best families of his land, whose fortunes had declined because they had not been restored in the many questionable ways employed by so many of the great families.

They were happy, and had not taken into consideration what the world would say. A spiteful speech in a daily paper woke the pair. He asked his sweetheart if she could bear the publicity that the New York Sunday Gonger would give their affair; but she loved him with the love that casteth out fear, and smiled on his apprehensions. Then came her father howling the Monroe Doctrine, and wishing her to marry his boyhood companion, who was a self-supporting millionaire, a widower with a neglected family of children. He was bald and had a mustache that was too large for his face. He weighed 280 pounds and was of short stature. He had an unholy color about the face, and was always a "wiping of himself" with a red bandanna handkerchief. But why enumerate. The woman did as all true women do, and married the man she loved, and the man who could make her happy.

The New York papers went into convulsions when the wedding came off, but it did not make it wrong for those young people to marry; and they reaped the reward of their pluck by living happily ever afterwards.

An Incident of Long Ago.

Many years ago, far back in the past, a touching incident came under my observation that I may be permitted to relate. If for no other reason than its intimate connection with one whose name is a household word in the literary world. I mean the name of Mrs Margaret E. Sangster, with whom the readers of THE TIMES feel well acquainted, doubtless. But to my "incident."

Well,—(what would stories, real or fanciful, do without that word!) this is a sad true story, remember.

The wintry cold was severe, the ground thickly-covered with snow and the river, to boys' delight, as thickly thickened with the best skating-ice. School-hours were over for the day, and of course the main attraction for the boys (girls had not dreamed skating then; the world certainly moves, as Galileo might still say, were he alive,) repaired to their wide icy field to have a merry time. Among those boys, and as gay as any of them, was a little fellow named Munson, (Richard, perhaps, I forget his first name), and Munson was the maiden name of Mrs M. E. Sangster.

The exhilerating sport continued until, sadly, the Munson boy struck an air-hole in that Hoosic River. Like an arrow he darted into the hole and was seen no more. The skating ceased. Men were warned, and speedy, diligent efforts were made to recover my friend "Margaret's" cousin, but in vain. Long ere the poor boyish form was found had the breath of life fled.

This sad event occurred many years ago, but it often comes to my mind.

A. L. P.

A Song of Hope.

THE "HULL HOUSE" PRIZE POEM.

After an examination of over twelve hundred manuscripts, judges in the Hull House prize competition for people's song a, announcement their decision. Mary A. Lathbury's original poem, entitled "A Song of Hope," which received the highest prize, is as follows:

Children of yesterday,
Heirs of tomorrow,
What are you weaving?
Labor and sorrow?
Look to your looms again;
Faster and faster
Fly the great shuttles
Prepared by the Master,
Life's in the loom,
Room for it—room!

Children of yesterday,
Heirs of tomorrow,
Lighten the labor
And sweeten the sorrow.
Now, while the shuttles fly,
Faster and faster,
Up and be still—
At work with the master
He stands at your loom,
Room for him—room!

Children of yesterday,
Heirs of tomorrow,
Look at your fabric
Of labor and sorrow.
Sorrow and dark
With despair will displace.
Turn it—and lo,
The design of the Master!
The Lord's at the loom,
Room for him—room!

WANTED is the man who said the tariff was not an issue?—The New York Press.

Plantation Pictures.

MOURNIN':

"Oh, mis'ry in de mornin'
Comes wid de turnout horn.
An' mo' an' mo' o' mis'ry
Befo' the day is gone!
From Monday on to Sadday,
Ontell de sun go down,
Hit's nuttin' else but mis'ry
For all de yeah aroun'.

"I hates to heah dem roosters
Befo' de sun is ris.
I'se jes so full o' gravity
An 'full o' rheumatiz;
I's got de bad plumbago
All up an' down my back,
An' ebery step I trabbels
I heahr my knee-joints crack.

"Hit ain't no use to grumble
'Cause when dat horn done blow
Dar ain't no time to tarry,
You got to swing de hoe;
You's got to stan' an' shiver
Wet wid de mornin' dew,
An' woon de sun gits higher
Wid sweat wet, thew an' thew.

"Hit's grapplin' wid de tie-vines,
Hit's diggin' in de row,
De mo' you chop de grass dar
De mo' hit seems to grow;
My arms an' back 's achin',
An' sho'ly I'll drap dead
Ef soon dat sun a-shinin'
Don't git right overhead."

NOON:

"Dar goes de horn for dinner!
Whoopee! You heahs it too!
Oh, come on, boys, I'll run you
For home! Come, shake yo' feet!
I bets I beats you plowmens
Upawn yo' swif'est mule.
An doan' mistook dis nigger
For nary pokin' fool.

"You sees dat smoke a-quirlin'
Above my chimney top?
You better jes' believe you
Dar's suppen dere to sop;
I smells dat pork a-sizzlin'
An' tas'e dat catfeesh fry
I'll be de fus' to git dar,
I bets I does or die.

"Hea! hya! O Sam, I beat you!
Yo' mule ain't got no pace—
De bes' on dis plantashun—
Does you know how to race?
Ef dar had been a possum
A-bakin' in de pot,
I could 'a' beat de boss's
Bay buggy mar's bes' trot."

NIGHT:

"T'ank Gawd dis is ended,
An' when dat yallet moon
Gits white an' bright an' higher
I's gwine to catch a coon.
A heavy dew is fallin',
Hit's good to leave de scent;
I'se gwine to give dem varmints
A little worriment.

"Dar's mis'ry in de mornin'—
Dar's mis'ry in de night—
I tells my own;
I'll drap dem stiff rheumatics
Ontell de roosters crow.
An leave off dat plumbago
Ontell de turnout blow."

—Times-Herald.

Our Flag in England.

An English friend of the Companion and of the United States, at Oxford, England, writes to us that when the Prince and Princess of Wales lately visited that town with their hosts, the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough, the stars and stripes were to be seen everywhere. The biggest flag that hung out across the busiest street was the American flag. He says also that at Christmas it is a common custom to use almost as many little American flags as Union Jacks and Royal flags in decorating the Christmas trees. He adds:

"And the school children and other children for whom these trees are got up all know it, and learn to look upon the British and American flags side by side as those of two brother nations. I am not thinking of Christmas trees in any specially 'Americanized' spot (if such there be), but in country parishes and town school celebrations. Curiously enough I never heard any one refer to it or speak of it as exceptional—it is done as a matter of course, as being the natural thing to do.

"It is a sort of quiet, friendly feeling that has long been growing, and finds one of its expressions in this very simple, unconventional shape, but I am glad to think that our children have learn to look upon the American flag as they do."

We are able to confirm this statement, from a pleasant reminiscence of numerous American flags displayed in the streets of Newport and Cumberland, in the Isle of Wight, through which the Princess Beatrice was to pass on her way to open a bazaar at Carisbrook Castle on the afternoon of 1895.

It is to be feared that a similar display of English flags, with the stars and stripes on a button-hole here and there, would not be seen on the streets of Boston on any day, save those upon those who used them as a strong suspicion of disloyalty.—Youth's Companion.

Pay your subscription.

West Virginia's Lumber and Tariff.

MR A. W. WINCHESTER, of Buckhannon, told some lively truths to the members of the ways and means committee of the house of representatives, in arguing for a tariff on lumber Thursday. Mr Winchester is a practical lumberman and is an authority with a national reputation. His article on the subject of forestry, published in the Forum magazine for January, is one of the most valuable contributions to that subject that has appeared in any of the magazines.

There has been very little time allowed the opponents of free lumber in the committee, but Mr Winchester began his argument in favor of protection and all the members of the committee soon discovered that instead of a dreamy theorist he was a practical lumberman who knew what he wanted and could from experience. He went right of the heart of the subject and remained there until he had told the committee some impressive facts.

West Virginia, Mr Winchester said, is the most truly American state in the Union, and then he got down to business and told what West Virginia needs, and what is the matter with one of her greatest industries, as follows:

We do n't need scientific forestry down our way. The growth of our timber is so rapid that the forests restore themselves without artificial help as fast as they can be cut away. I can show you strips of country there, which used to be main highways and waggon roads thirty years ago, which are now covered with spruce saw logs. Why do n't we use all this timber? Because Canadian lumber comes in so cheap that we can't afford to pay for the labor of cutting and milling ours. The only use we can make of it is to strip off its thin bark and sell that. So you may go along there for miles and miles and see the withered, bare, blighted-looking trunks going to waste, either rotting or offering food for forest fires, and thus not bringing anything in return but being a positive menace to the whole country around.

Talk about labor. Why, we have in our West Virginian mountaineers not only the cheapest laborers in the country, but the most skilful axmen. They make every thing they use, from the house they live in down to their coffe mills, with no tool but an ax. And those are the people who are allowed to suffer for lack of remunerating work in the midst of nature's lukariness because we haven't any means of keeping out foreign competition. We are supporting the foreign capitalist and the foreign laborer, and letting the best of our own remain in hurtful idleness.

All this is true as gospel. Since the tariff was taken from lumber by a free trade Congress the industry has languished. Mr Winchester's argument is not involved nor theoretical. It is enough to state facts as they are—the actual result of free trade, and it is gratifying to note, according to the newspaper accounts, his speech made a deep impression upon the committee.

The people of West Virginia extol for protection to their lumber and coal and manufactures quite as much as they voted sound money, and Mr Winchester was echoing their sentiments expressed at the polls. Our Democratic friends who do not understand why the state has been revolutionized politically might find an explanation in the lumber camps, where matters are just as My Winchester has described them. Wheeling Intelligencer.

MORTGAGE THE WORLD.—A family have recently taken into their employ a very shocked Irish maid-of-all-work, say that her blunders cause them concern enough to compensate for any trouble they incur.

One day, the man of the house stated of Herbert's promises that he intended buying a wood-house built on a piece of ground which at that time enclosed a well.

"Sure, and can we not," said the engaging Bridget, "well you be moving the well to a more convenient spot when the wood-house is finished?"

A much crossed face engineer's face and unusually thick ears she has had a number of weeks now, but I've myself decided to look it on thinking, the next healthy bound to enhance beauty, to remove when the well was moved many feet of surface would be out of it.

Times.

EDITOR

...15, 1897.

...LAX is set-
...in the year

...e at Martin
...ne matter.

...ore days of

...intends to
...ourselves.

...ember N. C.
...e, he passed
...his way to
...ersons.

...most rarely
...happy dolly
...ry from th-

...ER is Zeiss,
...the Republ-
...ator, in oppos-
...ch placed him

...that Lawyer
...upon one vote.
...New York As-
...States Sen-
...Platt proved
...poration law.

...Andrew Jack-
...in commemo-
...victory over
...New Orleans.
...called Andrew
...all the patriots
...mounted the
...upon the law-
...ason for their
...ding Jackson's
...economy. Very
...ne of the mo-
...His father died
...in birth, and as
...cred the bitter-
...nd two brothers
...e lives, and of
...e special note.
...ery intense un-
...or hated with
...one was regard-
...e. He married
...adow, — both be-
...nd been granted
...dafforded by an-
...nths, if having
...that no divorce
...at the time of
...His wife was
...women. A po-
...to have Jackson
...He was compell-
...professional du-
...shot. Owing to
...which he dressed
...ckson, failed to
...ugh, and only
...the side. Then
...dibenately killed
...sighting his pis-
...nary ball fired
...of Jackson's bit-
...ben. When Col-
...to "qualify" duck-
...ing him, and in
...down the rebel
...gamble Grocer
...egular compared
...with which the
...Jackson in his

...ome sensational
...work or two per-
...and their sudden
...ite a number have
...fulness do not
...ard to any partic-
...sarage, St. Paul,
...more, along with
...have said there-
...ddle. The most
...of all this fame
...to the number of
...ong the Middle
...E. A. Hazelwood,
...of the failing Ba-
...ston, was about
...ary 2, kissed his
...to the lake and
...d. In Baltimore,
...Bishop Cornelius
...fatally for a short-
...ssed dollars. He
...had been in the
...hall for fifty-two
...entitled he left the
...ers, and at 3 P. M.
...Hudson Bridge was
...a great ol' friend
...ston consented to a
...

times had anything to do with the causes leading to suspension. There is nothing serious laid to the charge of any of the suiciding officials up to the moment of discovery. While it may be true that the present monetary condition may not have caused these failures it is very certain that collapses under such strange circumstances will seriously undermine confidence and there is no telling where the run on banks, owing to want of confidence, will end.

S. C. R.

An Interesting Manuscript.

In 1822, Alexander Campbell, ancestor of the Campbells of Highland County, returned from a stay of three years in Howard County, Missouri, to his old home near head of Jackson's River, then Pendleton County, Va. The property is now owned by George Dudley. His wife, Margaret Brown, of Augusta County, died on the journey back while passing thro Indiana. James Campbell, one of the sons, kept a diary of their journey, and describes very minutely the details of each day's progress.

August 10, 1822, the party crossed Locust Creek on a "rotten, crazy bridge," and camped a mile beyond Jordan's, near which was a camp-meeting going on, which the party attended. "There was a large crowd and much stir among the people."

August 11th, Sunday morning, up very early and started, but not before a large company of people from the camp-meeting had gathered to see the tame elk that was brought from Missouri. Upon passing Major Ponge's, he came out and went with the party about a mile to hear the news from Missouri. Then came to Cackley's, and failed to get grain, and then went on to the forks of the road, where they camped, and succeeded in getting some sheaf-oats from William Cackley.

Thence they passed up Beaver Creek, camped at Cumming's, thence past Bruisbaw's, (Rumbersville), up through the gap, "which was very rocky," and camped at the "Log-bridge place." Thence to John Moore's and camped. The next day passed Levi Mc[illegible]'s, fed at "The Cabins," and in the evening reached [illegible]ork. "Here every thing is familiar." Kind friends had heard of their homecoming, and had swept and garnished the premises, and welcomed their old neighbors back again. All this was very consoling to the father and his motherless sons, after the wearisome journey and the sad vicissitudes of the past three years.

With a covered wagon and seven horses and a tame elk, Mr Campbell, eight sons and two or three other persons, traveled a thousand miles. They ferried the deep rivers, had steep hills to climb, rugged roads to pass over, and spent most of the night camping by the wayside. All the particulars are graphically recorded in the diary kept by James, the eldest son, then a youth about twenty years of age.

Miss Mattie Campbell and others are putting the interesting contents of the worn and faded manuscript into a form for preservation, and will be read with increasing interest as the years go by.

Bradshaw Assigns.

We have very meagre information concerning the assignment of F. H. Bradshaw, of McDowell, but it is evidently the most important bankruptcy that has ever taken place in Highland County. From reports it seems that the liabilities are about $40,000 and assets $15,000. The deed of assignment was recorded in Monterey, on Christmas day, and a sale of the personality was to have been held on the 11th inst.

We learn that one of the most important creditors is Mr Uriah Hevener, of Green Bank.

In addition to the assignment, Mr Bradshaw confessed judgment for $5,000 in favor of his wife, that being the amount which she had put into his business. Mrs Bradshaw was a Miss Wamsley, of Randolph.

Anyone who knows the genial Highland speculator will be sorry to hear of his misfortunes. He was one of the most progressive citizens, and has done much for the county of Highland. His establishing a store at the mouth of Bolar-down some years ago—location and stock to do with the general shortage.

He has suffered losses in other and less important ventures. One of his first reverses was some ten years ago, when he was security for a contractor to build the road from Warm Springs to the Pendleton County line. The contractor threw up the job, and he had to finish it at a very considerable cost.

There is no doubt that in his business career Mr Bradshaw was the busiest man in Highland Co. He managed the business of between seventy and eighty men, and had large contracts, many of such heavy proportions, and intricate, and it is quite possible that it is a case of too many irons in the fire.

His many friends will lose a deliberately appropriate of his efforts, and much sympathy is bestowed on [illegible]

Obituary.

Mrs Ella Lee Dysard, wife of L. J. R. Dysard, near Travelers Repose, died very suddenly, December 20th, after an illness of a few days, aged 30 years. Her parents were Mr and Mrs David McGlaughlin (now dead), of Driftwood, this County (Pocahontas.)

In the spring of 1892 Mr and Mrs Dysard moved from Driftwood to Travellers Repose, where they have resided ever since. (Mr Dysard is our esteemed merchant.)

In all the relations of life, as wife, mother, and neighbor, she tried to meet her duties. She was an energetic, wide-a-wake, and a tender-hearted lady. She had been a professing Christian ever since her youth, and was a member of the M. E. Church, South.

"Life's duty done, securely laid
In this her last retreat,
Unheeded o'er her silent dust
The storms of life may beat."

She is mourned by her bereaved husband; her little son, Pearly, aged 4 years; and daughter, Mamie, aged 2; and many friends and relatives. The her decease was so unexpected, yet all who know her feel that it was safe.

A large concourse attended her burial at her home "grave-yard" at the McGlaughlin Church, which services were conducted by Rev J. C. Jeter. May God's blessings ever be with her bereaved husband, her two little children, as well as her brothers and sister.

"Asleep in Jesus! blessed sleep
From which none ever wakes to weep;
A calm and undisturbed repose,
Unbroken by the dread of foes.

"Asleep in Jesus! peaceful rest,
Whose waking is supremely blest:
No fears, no woes shall dim the hour
Which manifests the Savior's power.

"Asleep in Jesus! far from thee
Thy kindred and their graves may be;
But there is still a blessed sleep
From which none ever wakes to weep."

E. F. B.

Highland Recorder please copy.
Travelers Repose, Jan. 4, 1897

Died, at her home at Academy, on Friday, January 8, Mrs Marshall Peatt, from pulmonary troubles, at the advanced age of seventy-eight. This estimable lady has been a great sufferer for many years. She leaves surviving her her devoted husband, Dr Marshall Peatt; and her daughter, Mrs Jas. Isabell. She was a member of the Atkinson family. One brother and several sisters are still living.

Her husband Dr Marshall Peatt, a "Doctor of the Old School," has been retired from active practice for a number of years. The married life of this worthy couple was especially beautiful. For fifty-eight years they had wandered hand in hand down the vale of Efe bearing each others burdens, and sharing each others joys.

The funeral was from the residence on Saturday, and the remains were laid at rest in the grave-yard of the old Oak Grove church.

Order of Publication.

State of West Virginia, County of Pocahontas, to wit:

At rules held in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court for said county, on Monday, January 4th, 1897.

Quintilla M. Burrows, Plaintiff
vs.
A. G. Burrows, Defendant.

The object of this suit is to procure a divorce by the plaintiff from the bonds of matrimony with the defendant; and it appearing from affidavit filed, that the defendant, A. G. Burrows, is a non-resident of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that he do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order, and do what is necessary to protect his interest in this suit.

Witness: J. H. Patterson, Clerk of said Court, this 5th day of January, 1897.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

NOTICE TO TAKE DEPOSITIONS.

To A. G. Burrows, take notice, that on the 20th day of February, A. D., 1897, between the hours of ten o'clock, a. m., and six o'clock p. m., at the residence of Quintilla M. Burrows, near Marlinton, in Pocahontas County, West Virginia, I will take the deposition of myself, and others, to be read as evidence in my behalf, in a certain suit in chancery now pending in the Circuit Court of the County of Pocahontas, and State of West Virginia, in which I am plaintiff and you are defendant.

If you may cause the taking of said depositions shall not be commenced or conducted on the day aforesaid, the same shall be continued from day to day, or from time to time, at the same place and between the same hours, until the same shall be completed.

QUINTILLA M. BURROWS,
By Counsel.

H. S. Rucker, solicitor.

Lee Military Academy.

[illegible]

The Pocahontas Times,

All Home Print,

Affords the People of Pocahontas County one of the best papers for the price in the State.

$1.00 per Year

GIVES YOU YOUR COUNTY PAPER.

SUBSCRIBE!

Advertise your Wares and Wants
Our rates are always low enough
to warrant your patronage.

Our Job Department has been renewed, and we guarantee satisfaction. Wedding invitations and all kinds of work done on short notice

WE HAVE THE BEST PRINTING PLANT OUT SIDE A LARGE TOWN IN THE STATE.

Now is the time to Subscribe!

The Business World

Is like the human body, in some respects. Both have their ups and downs—sick spells, and both need tonics after the crisis is over, to quicken, in one case, the life blood, and in the other the demand which sets the wheels of trade humming. It is my business to offer trade reviews to the cash customer.

HERE THEY ARE:

Woman's Fine Dongola Button Opera Toe, $1

Outings in Plaids, nice patterns, 5c

Black figured Dress Goods latest effects, 12 1-2c

All wool black, blue and grey Ladies Cloth, 22c to 30c

Men's Macintosh, black diagonal surface, $3.

I have refrained from making any extended remarks on the above on the principal that

Good Wine Needs No Bush.

THE VALUES

STICK RIGHT OUT UPON EXAMINATION AND TRIAL OF THE GOODS.

PAUL GOLDEN

SOL DAVIS' Big Store.

Our Holiday stock is large, our goods new, our prices low, the latest in style, the finest in quality, the utmost in variety. The presents you want at the prices you like, are all included in our splendid line of Clocks Jewelry, Accordeons, Albums, Blankets, Mufflers, Scarfs, Picture Frames, Linen Goods, cutlery, Gloves, Mackintoshes, Trunks, Umbrellas, Shawls, and

GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS

EVERYTHING AT HALF PRICES

We quote prices on a few things

Arbuckle Coffee	19c	Good Pure Candy	10 cents
Good Green Coffee	15c	Working Pants well made	85 cents
Granulated Sugar	6¼c	Mens Suits from	4.50 up
6 Pounds Good Soda	25c	We have some of the finest Raisons
Cakes, Oranges, new Lemons,		Prunes, Figs,

Appropriate, seasable gifts for old and young are features of this stock, which commends itself to holiday buyers. If you want to make few or many, cheap or costly, presents, this is your best chance. It will be impossible to make a mistake in your holiday buying if you select from the fair-priced stock of

SOL. DAVIS,
Green Bank, W. Va.

HEAD TO FOOT OUTFITTER.

LIGHTNING HOT DROPS

CURES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Cramps of Water, etc.

HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Bites of Animals and Bugs, etc.

Trainer Stock, Electric Blood

BREAKS UP A COLD.

The Greatest Medicinal Whiskey the World has Ever Known.

BRADDOCK PURE RYE + + + AND BARLEY MALT.

SMOOTH, SOFT, RICH, RIPE, MELLOW AND CHEMICALLY PURE, A RECOMMENDATION IN ITSELF.

TRY A GALLON AT $2.00

Mail Orders solicited either great or small and receive our personal and prompt attention. Drop us a postal for price list. Don't use inferior goods but mail us your order; we can save you money and perhaps your health.

JAS CLARK DISTILLING CO., JNO. McQUAIDE Mngr.

Distillers of Braddock Pure Rye, Wholesale and Retail Liquor Dealers.
20 and 22 South New St., Staunton, Va.

THE GREAT RALLY.

COME TO OUR STORE FOR BARGAINS

We are undersold by none; our prices talk for themselves; some may claim to sell low, but we are always the lowest.

Men's	$7.00	Overcoats	for	$4.75.	Men's $12.00	Suits for	$8.00
"	10.00	"	"	6.00	" 50c	Underskirts for	25c
"	12.00	"	"	8.00	Ladies 60c	"	35c
"	4.00	Suits	"	2.75	25c	Suspenders "	15c
"	8.00	"	"	5.00	Everything else in proportion.

Other goods proportionately.

We are closing our winter boots very low. We will take in exchange for goods, Gold, Silver, Green backs, Beeswax, Ginseng, and Fur. We have been buying FUR for seven years and can pay higher for fur than most buyers. As soon as the season opens we will begin to buy, so don't forget us.

Yours for Business,

Linwood, W. Va. L. D. SHARP.

Duke! Duke!

HIGH GRADE BICYCLES!

1896 Model.

Frame long head and wheel base. Made from best cold drawn steel tubing, narrow tread, 28inch wheels, Wood Rims, Nickeled Spokes, M and W. Quick Repair Tire. All connexions drop forged steel. Ball bearing to every part; bearings made from the best steel, tempered and ground, dust proof, 6 inch cranks, Rat trap or Rubber Pedales, one-fourth inch Hamber Chain with hardened rivets and centers. Drop-forged steel sprockets, T pattern saddle post, Garford Saddle, 68 inch gear, weight 24 lbs.

Price, $50.00.

1895 Model Duke, 27lbs., Price, $40.00

A full and complete stock of Bicycle Sundries and Repairs, eye indicators, Lamps, Bells, &c. Repairing of all kinds a specialty
Send us your broken bicycles and we can make them good as new
RESPECTFULLY,

RONCEVERTE, W VA Eagle AND Ott.

CLOSING OUT SALE!

Intending to remove from Marlinton as soon as I can get my business closed out, I will sell my present stock of goods at a lower rate than goods have ever been sold here before. Come in and get bargains.

All persons owing me will call and settle, or their accounts will be placed in the hands of an officer.

S. W. HOLT

MARLINTON, W. VA.

...S.

...1897.

...re convened ...sen is a mild ...ake up.

...tive officers ...h of March, ...dent.

...seking tonsor- ...ls kept dry ...winter than ...f the citizens. ...en has chang- ...t the present ...Beaver Creek ...ost-office.

...ging at Han- ...day the 16th ...o'clock, con- ...se.

...nsolation, from ...to Pocahontas ...s, which will

...son-old daugh- ...Galford, near ...one of her fin- ...covered another ...rsday.

...In our issue of ...was made in a ...se Nora B. Ri- ...Mr A. C. Burns ...s the paper stat.

...good one the ...orthy old coun- ...this pastor. "He ...thing we have ..." he said. "Lest ...that the Savior ...d between two

...office printed a ...L. M. McClin- ...y case of Levi ...ockridge. This ...preme Court on ..., whether Mrs. ...e is entitled to a ...e of J. B. Lock-

...ies left of ...ctions of the ...n McElhen- ...r of Presby- ...in this por- ...J. S. If any ...to buy this ...50, ayply at ...EN office, or

...L. PRICE. ...97.

...nding joke in this ...old whenever the ...arts for the State ...says before the re- ...hind a representa- ...Curty. When he ...ribbed, iron-sided, ...et him with the ...remark. "Well, I ...ld out how big it ..."Oh, yes," said ...and that is more ...ave been able to

...ne ladies of West- ...d a "Woman's Edi- ...ield News, bear- ...3, 1896. The pa- ...matter of interest ...we notice the follow- ...prepared, and, in- ...ered, realizing that ...matter at vital in- ...er sex: "The best ...ge, colds and bron- ...been able to find ...'s Cough Remedy. ...ch has stood the ...of it." 25 and 50 ...sale by druggists.

...nt, endowed, in some ...ers of the law for ...of colored boy with ...knocking him sense- ...a light mulatto ...of age, son of the ...Rutha Beale, of ...A frightful death ...a cabin situated a ...tornadown, on the ...Mr. Beale's cabin ...away. During her ...time was set on fire, ...accidentally by the ...boy perished in the ...knew of his being ...or he might have ...Both News.

...Observer was seated ...the room and had ...upon that particular ...Virginia matter, ...and watched the ...ne of the railroads in ...he might be of the ...we were battling ...defeat taxation, for ...usually crops is so. ...The latest advance ...seems to bear the ...conservative. The ...very speaking reasons ...side of the town of ...is that the land of the ...to be reached. It is ...the work of grading ...road to Lewisburg by ...to the Northward. ...ing to tap the timber ...and the ore beds ...and of connecting ...branch of the R. ...ining into the coal ...opposite to the west ...of the opinion that ...and the last part ...will be completed ...Then that will bring us

HON M. J. MCNEEL left Monday to be present in Charleston as our representative in the coming legislature.

MR FRED WALLACE, of Mill Point, the talented young attorney, will locate for the practice of his profession at Lewisburg.

Ringing noises in the ears buzzing, snapping, roaring, caused by catarrh, all disappear with the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

At the sale of the goods at Frankford under the assignment of Wm. H. Overholt, Clarence Overholt, his son, became the purchaser.

THE Buena Vista Development Company has gone into liquidation. A. T. Barclay, of Lexington, is receiver, appointed by Judge McLaughlin.

THE requisite papers have been prepared to remove young Miller to Bath County, Va., where he will be tried for using a mule without the colored owner's permission.

SINCE the arrest of Goodwin in Staunton parties in Huntersville now understand why their correspondence with friends in Augusta county had been so unsatisfactory of late. No money, however, has been lost.

ELIHU ROBINSON and brother, colored persons, on Browns Mountain, are very expert in the use of stilts in crossing Knapps Creek at the Curry ford. They have been known to wade the creek when it would be hardly safe to ford on horseback, or with a team, and carry forty or fifty pounds strapped to their shoulders.

Mr N. O. Bacon, Manager,
Conn. Indemnity Ass'n,
Charleston, W. Va.

Dear sir,—I have received today through your adjustor $2,000, the full amount of insurance due me on the life of my late wife. I am very much pleased with the manner in which your company has settled this claim, and would advise all who wish reliable insurance at reasonable rates to apply to you or your Company.

Yours very truly,
JOSEPH BLEAU.
MEADOW CREEK, W. VA.,
Oct. 31, 1896.

PROBABLY there is not a worse hated man in the lumber business than sub-contractor Gray, who got so many Pocahontas people in trouble and caused them serious losses while working on the Gauley Company's timber. Among those worst damaged was the firm of Sheets & Gordon, of Beaver Dam. After a year or two of the hardest kind of work, they found themselves about $2,000 short, and nothing to pay their men. Jim Sheets, the senior partner, went to work in camp, and the other day made a payment of $100 to his men, which he had saved out of his work after supporting his family. In time Le will clear off his indebtedness. He certainly deserves honorable mention.

THE Locust Creek coal has had only a superficial development. T. F. Calhoun has opened the vein to greater depth than any other. He has opened the upper vein and walled it up to the distance of sixty feet or so into the hill-side. The coal discovered so far is full of sulphur, and while it makes good fuel, the smell that comes out of the chimney is terrible, and hard to be described. The corporation of the village of Hillsboro has protested, but not officially, to its use in the town. On a cold, damp day, the smell comes down and envelops the town; and two young people whose affections have been blighted, ascribe it to the depressing influence of the sulphuric atmosphere of the town. The coal that has been mined is called the "Hessian." The blossom smelled on a quiet [illegible] the wind drawing from the south, from the precincts of Mill Point, a distance of one and a half miles, and on such evening it is hard to ride into Hillsboro from the Marlinton direction.

☞To correspondents: To insure publication the same week letters must be delivered at Marlinton by 5 p m on Tuesday evenings.

Throat Coughs

Is there a tickling in the throat? Do you cough a great deal, especially when lying down? Are you hoarse at times? Does nearly every cold you take settle in your throat? These "throat coughs" are very deceptive. Don't neglect them. Pectoral, or cough syrups won't touch the spot. You must take remedies that will enrich the blood, tone up the nerves; and heal the inflamed membranes.

SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites contains such remedies. It has wonderful nourishing and healing power. The cause of the cough is removed; the whole system is given new life and vigor; and the danger from threatening lung trouble is at once away.

Scott's Emulsion is for sale by all druggists at 50c. and $1.00.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York

Personal Mention.

*J. J Beard of Huntersville has been seriously ill for some days, but is now regarded as hopefully better. His son Dr Marry Beard, of Lewisburg was sent for.

Mrs W. A. Bratton has returned from a visit to her former home in Marshall, Va.

Mabel, eldest daughter of Geo. Wagner has been quite sick with diptheria but is recovering.

Mr and Mrs J. C. Loury have gone to housekeeping in their commodious residence opposite the hotel.

John S. Moore is teaching the Beaver creek school in a house rented for the purpose.

L. M. McClintic, and two of his children have been ill of the colds which have been prevailing.

R. S. Rucker went to Greenbrier this week to take some depositions for a case pending in the courts of McDowell county.

Capt Jack Apperson is running a lumber camp on the Chapman place on Beaver creek.

Otis Warwick spent a few days visiting friends near Huntersville.

The Editor of this paper is no exception. Like the rest of the county he has been sick too.

Letter from Jake McLaughlin.

BRIMFIELD, IND., January, 6th, 1897.—As we are starting in on the new year and all accounts of the old year should be closed, I still find a dollar in my pocket for my old county paper, a welcome visitor in my western home. We have had a lovely winter. The thermometer has not touched zero yet. After a solid week of rain, it was so hazy and smoky we could hardly see. Democrats say it was the smoke of machine shops and furnaces started up since election.

Well, times are better and prosperity is looked for after March 4.

Stock is looking up.

Cattle 3¾ to 4¼, lambs 5 to 5½, hogs 3 to 3½, wheat 94, corn 20, onts 15. Cattle and sheep are very scarce in this country. There is plenty of corn with very little to feed it to.

I wish Pocahontas could get a railroad, that is what the county needs. I hope you will get one before long. JAKE MCLAUGHLIN.

Col. Philip D. Elkins Dead.

Col. Philip Duncan Elkins, father of United States Senator Elkins, died Sunday afternoon at the residence of his son at Elkins, W. Va., from general collapse of the system.

Senator Elkins was in Washington when telegraphed that his father was dying. He arrived at Cumberland early in the morning and went at once to Elkins by a special train, arriving there before his father expired.

The birth place of Col. Elkins was Fauquier county, Va. He was a Confederate soldier and an ardent Democrat.

County Court.

(Continued from last week.)

J. C. Arbogast resignation as Sheriff for the years 1884 to 1888.

P D Arbogast qualified as justice in Green Bank District.

In the matter of the John A Young road, B F and Elizabeth McClure refusing to accept $12 offered as compensation for the land taken by said road, it was ordered that proceedings be instituted and prosecuted in the corporate name of the County Court in the Circuit Court, pursuant to chapter 42 of code, etc.

K O Wade allowed $54.50 for keeping in repair 13 miles of Lewisburg & Marlin's Bottom Turnpike.

B F McElwee allowed $14 for goods furnished poor persons in Green Bank District.

J K Hinkle appointed surveyor of roads in the room and stead of Marion Ray.

G P Shisler was appointed and qualified as constable in the Levels District.

Samuel Sheets, J F Hill, and William Sigle qualified as the deputies of B W Hill, Sheriff.

C L Barner qualified as constable in the Green Bank District.

Samuel B Hannah and John R Hevener were appointed commissioners on the part of this Court to examine into the feasibility of building a bridge across the North Fork of Deer Creek.

K O Wade was awarded the contract for keeping in repair the 13 miles miles of turnpike commencing at Ullalonee McNeil's and extending to top of Droop for a term of five years.

W C and G W Mann were awarded the contract for putting and keeping in repair 30 miles of public road, commencing at McNeil's and extending to the county line at Mingo county and Buffalo for a term of five years.

J F McCollum appointed surveyor of roads in the room and stead of J J Hannah.

Walter Vest appointed surveyor of roads in room and stead of C R Eubank.

Order directing Clerk of county court to advertise for bids for putting and keeping in suitable order 7 miles of the Huntersville and Edray road, commencing at Mr. Curtis Warwick's and extending to the top of Alleghany mt.

"Wrap Us Up in Our Greasy Horse-blankets."

In a loose box two toughs lay sprawling,
And as on the litter they lay, they lay;
To some swipes who around them were crawling,
These whisky-soaked words they did say.

Chorus.
Wrap us up in our greasy horse-blankets!
And say some poor "outlaws" tie fow lie low;
And we'll never return back to Bingo,
Unless we're allowed all the show.

Oh, had we the pluck of a chipmonk!
Back, back to Bingo we'd go, we'd go,
And run our sweet 'Volty' 'gainst 'Matie,'
And bocus them all on the sly.

(Chorus.)

Then we'd bring up a Bloss(oming) stokes;
And give him a tip on the sly, the sly;
The one of last sort seldom needs one,
And ever when Slick Snales is by.

(Chorus.)

Then get us two mud-spotted tombstokes;
And put them both out in a row, a row;
Scratch Chippy Spruce, Slick Snales, upon them,
And plant us with Bloss(om) below!

"MUD EATER."

YELK.

Tolbert Sharp, son of Harmon Sharp, met with a serious accident by his horse falling on his leg and breaking it above his shoe. The horse was walking on the side of the road and stepped on some ice and lost his hold and fell on Mr Sharp's leg and foot, which was mashed very badly. He was carried to Hugh Sharp's. He is 18 years old.

The Iron Clads have met with bad luck. Tolbert Sharp broke his leg, Bob Gibson has a sore knee, Levi Gibson cut his ear, Charles Showalter has a sore ankle from a kick, John Gibson has a remembrance kick on his shin, Hamerie froze his feet, Doyle hurt his hand, and Johnson had a nock. Sam. Gibson has come home and they will probobly play a game with Mingo on the 13th.

Bonde Hannah and wife are in this part. The boys gave them a serenade.

Harmon Sharp has returned from Frost.

G. L. Hannah finds entertainment in Webster.

ONE OF THE SHEPHERDS.

A Trip to Webster.

After leaving William Hannah's, on Elk, I went to Mr John Varners of Linwood, a very hospitable gentleman. From thence to Adam Harrison's, in Webster, stopping with this prominent man Christmas night. Next morning I proceeded on my journey down Point Mountain Road to Elk, and took dinner with a Mr Jones,—a merchant and lumber contractor. Then in company with David Baughman and John Lynch I proceeded to William Cummings', on Mill Run, staying there overnight.

I then proceeded, in company with Lynch, to David Baughman's, on Gauley. Here Mr Bernard Baughman and myself started for Mr Jesse Payne's house on business, but before we reached our destination we were informed of the sudden and terrible death of a young man that morning, he being caught between a fender and a large poplar log and instantly killed, both back and neck broken. He was horribly crushed. His name was John Conrad, son of Peter Conrad, on Elk, near the mouth of Dry Fork, in Webster County.

After viewing the remains of the departed, we arrived at Mr Paynes and were taken in and very cordially treated by this kind and clever gentleman. I next went to Mr W. McClintic's lumber camp, and enjoyed the hospitality of a jolly set of lumbermen; and should think from the appearance of things generally that Mr McClintic is doing a thriving business.

I started for Marlinton, and while passing thro that rugged part of the county, I noticed quite a lot of deer and bear sign. The track of one bear in the snow measured six inches. Deer almost as plenty, seemingly, as sheep, or at least a small flock of sheep. To Landis', at Marlinton, on New Year's night, when I was at the end of my journey. S. L.

Terrible Ammunition.

A strange war story comes from New Zealand. Some years ago Sir John Gorst lived in Waikato and edited the Maori newspaper, Te Hakiel. The paper was printed and published near the scene of some of the hottest fighting of the war then raging.

During the struggle the Maoris ran short of ammunition, and having no ball fit their fourteen pound guns, they loaded them with shop weights confiscated from neighboring shop keepers. This source of supply was soon exhausted.

Then a raid was made The Hakiel office and the spaces were filled with type and stereo blocks. This new ammunition, as the story goes, proved very effective.

One of the white invaders was injured by a patent medicine advertisement, another was installed by a shaved lecture announcement, a third lost a leg through a solid shot in the form of a Land Bill, and a fourth received a fatal injury owing to his having taken refuge with the British troops, and a portion escaped from being hit with one of his own poems. Ex.

GREEN BANK.

Mr Samuel Sheets, of Dunmore, was visiting in our vicinity last Sunday.

Mr Jesse McLaughlin spent a few days in Marlinton last week.

Mr Ed. McLaughlin, of Dunmore, was in town last Sunday.

Mr Ezra Wooddell and family have returned home from Frost where he had been visiting relatives and friends.

Mr Frank Wilfong and wife of Hillsboro, were visiting in our neighborhood this week.

Master Frank King, of Marlinton, was in town a short while last Monday, accompanied by his brother, who was returning to his school at Oak Grove.

Quite a number of young people attended the entertainment at Dunmore and pronounced it a success.

There is a good deal of sickness in this neighborhood at present.

There was a match game of foot ball at Green Brank last Saturday, between the Green Bank and Oak Grove teams, which resulted in a tie. The game was hotly contested by both terms, but neither were able to score. The return game will be played at Oak Grove in the near future and a lively time is anticipated.

Jessie Ornsdorff and Miss Emma Ervine were quietly married at the residence of the bride's parents last Wednesday morning. They have the best wishes of their many friends for a long and happy life.

Weddings seem to be quite a common thing with us.

MONHICAN.

Linwood.

The people of Linwood seem to be enjoying the New Year very much.

There was a turkey roast at Col. A. C. L. Gatewood's on New Year's day which was very much enjoyed by all present.

The social given by Mr and Mrs Samuel Varner was a very enjoyable affair. After supper games and other amusements were indulged in until a late hour. We thank the good people for the evening's enjoyment.

The social given by Mr and Mrs John Sheets was attended by a number of ladies and gentlemen who say they wish such occasions would occur oftener.

Several ladies and gentlemen attended the dinner given by Mrs M Slanker. This was an enjoyable affair.

Mr Mos McLaughlin, has been visiting in this part.

Mr Yancey Ligon attended the social at Mr Varner's. Yancey is a hustler at playing the game called "Old Maid."

John Sheets says he would like to go to Mingo to play foot ball, if it were not for quarreling with the women.

Howard Showalters family have returned after a visit on Elk.

Miss Emma Burner's school will close Thursday. We are all sorry to see her leave us.

The girls all think J. R. Showalter so much better looking since he came back from Augusta, but they are all so sorry to think he is engaged.

C. W. Showalter has gone to Webster to work in the lumber camps. C. P. WRECKLESS.

Laurel Creek.

Hannah for the State of Pocahontas! Williams River is on a boom again.

H. Nathan and W. H. Shearer returned Sunday from a business trip to Randolph. They bought a nice pair of gray horses. You will please come and examine them before they are sold.

More trouble on the mountain. While Nathan was away some one laid down the rail fence to let the horses in the corn, and was kind enough to take an old black, burnt club and bust the blank fence of Nathan, Shearer & Co.

Crait Reid moved the 11th inst to his future home in Greenbrier County.

Luther McNeel's youngest child is very low at present. Also Mrs Snyder is suffering with consumption.

There was a panther at the house of H. Nathan early Sunday morning, which yelled at the front door and caused quite an excitement at 5 o'clock.

Old man Wilfong married John McClaughlin and Sal Townsend, last Wednesday, at Warwick Simmons'. A nice dinner was prepared, and we wish them much joy.

Jim White is very sick with cold. We hope he will soon be better.

MORE CURATIVE POWER

Is contained in a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla than in any other similar preparation. It costs the proprietor and manufacturer more. It costs the jobber more and is worth more to the consumer. It has a record of cures unknown to any other preparation. It is the best to buy because it is the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills are the best family cathartic and liver medicine, effective, reliable, sure.

Lumber.

I have for sale a quantity of first-class white pine lumber, well sawed.

Ten hundred bills sawed to order of bills are given on by February 1st. H. M. SMITH,
Dunmore, W. Va.

We [illegible] weather sin[illegible]

Mr S. G. De[illegible] visiting his sist[illegible] Moore. Mrs Moore [illegible] condition, suffering fr[illegible] tion.

Mr Homer Gum and [illegible] fer, Miss Clara, were on the C[illegible] Sunday.

Mr Price Moore and Mr M. F. Herold went to Marlinton on business last week.

Mr J. C. Harper, Miss Bessie Hannah, and Mr J. A. Moore are on the sick list.

Penie Herold left last Wednesday for Kansas, where he will make his future home.

Mr John A. Cleek is still keeping P. O.

The people want Hon John A. Moore for constable in this district.

J. B. Moore killed a hog that weighed 414 pounds.

Mr Price Moore's school will soon be out.

Some people say there is to be a bar-room at Frost in the near future. What a dreadful place it will be!—next door to the other place.

The prospects are now that there will be some weddings in the near future. Keep your eye on the indicator.

Mr Wise Herold was in High land on business last week.

'JERRY'

Look! This Way!

We call your special attention to your notes and accounts you are due us. We have waited on you a long time to pay us what you owe, but you have not done so. You will please call on Sc B. Moore, Edray, W. Va., and pay every cent you owe. We cannot wait always on you for our money, and if our accounts and notes are not paid soon we will be compelled to place them in the hands of an officer for collection. Very respectfully,

MOORE & HANNAH.

Per S. B. Moore. Jan. 8, 1897.

Persons who are troubled with indigestion will be interested in the experience of Wm. H. Penn, chief clerk in the railway mail service at Des Moines, Iowa, who writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the merits of Chamberlain's Cholera, Colic and Diarrhoea remedy. For two years I have suffered from indigestion, and am subject to violent attacks of pain in the stomach and bowels. One or two doses of this remedy never fails to give perfect relief. Price 25 and 50 cents; sold by all druggists.

Notice.

Our accounts are now ready for settlement. All persons are required to settle their old accounts before they ask for more credit.

2w AMOS BARLOW.

Farmers' Home Fire Insurance Co., of West Virginia

J. M. SYDENSTRICKER - - - President.
R. P. RITTENHOUSE - Sec'y & Treas.
CHAS. BURNER, - - - - Agent.

By the People and for the People.

For Isolated Property only. No Salaried Officers to Support. No capitalists to Enrich. No Loss, no Expense. Fair and Honorable Adjustment of all Claims. Costless than one-fifth of what is paid stock companies, and is five times as secure. In most successful operation in all of the adjoining States. Thousands saved to farmers.

T. L. REYNOLDS & SONS, Agents
Lewisburg, W. Va

Lost! Lost! Lost!

Money Lost

by not trading with us. We mean business, as you will find if you give us a trial.

'The proof of the pudding is in the eating.'

Buy one bill of us for your own special benefit.

THE MONEY WE DO NOT SPEND PAYING TRAVELLING MENS' BILLS IS SHARED WITH OUR CUSTOMERS. WE SEEK NO TRADE THAT IS NOT OURS BY VIRTUE OF LOW PRICES AND HONEST GOODS. OUR REPUTATION AS

Spot Cash Buyers

bring us bargains that credit never saw. We give bargains; the prices tell the people, and the people tell the prices.

We will take poultry

Monday, January 18,

and will pay the following prices: (Dressed poultry, scalded, head and feet off, drawn.)

TURKEYS 8cts
CHICKENS 5cts

We will buy beeswax and fur throughout the winter. Friends, do not forget to give us your trade. Yours respectfully,

L. D. Sharp,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Per your subscription.

Pure Pocahontas Coal

My [illegible]
After t[illegible] were badly [illegible]
my own wor[illegible]
some help, but c[illegible] decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I could do all my own housework [illegible] have taken

Cured

Hood's Pills with Hood's Sarsaparilla, and they have done me much good. I will not be without them. I have taken 19 bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and through the blessing of God, it has cured me. I worked as hard as ever the past summer, and I am thankful to say I am well. Hood's Pills when taken with Hood's Sarsaparilla help very much." MRS. M. M. MESSENGER, Prestfield, Penn.

This and many other cures prove that

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills act easily, promptly and efficiently. 25 cents.

RECEIVERS' RENTAL OF LANDS.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, made on the day of October, 1896, in the chancery cause of Levi Gay, et als., vs. J. B. Lockridge, et als., the undersigned special receivers will on the

6th day of Feb., 1897,

at the front door of the court house of said county, proceed to rent by way of public auction to the highest bidder for the term of one year, the lands in the bill and proceedings mentioned belonging to the defendant, J. B. Lockridge, consisting of the farm upon which the said Lockridge now resides, situated at Driscol, in said county. Said farm is in good state of cultivation and has thereon all necessary buildings in good repair.

Terms.—Cash in hand sufficient to pay costs of rental, and for the residue the renter executing bonds with good personal security, payable on the 21st day of December, 1897.

W. A. BRATTON,
L. M. MCCLINTIC,
Receivers.

By order of said decree, the bond already given in this cause is held sufficient for the above rental.

J. B. PATTERSON, Clerk.

VALUABLE

Property for Sale Privately.

One of the most complete residences in the county, situated in the village of Hillsboro, is offered for sale privately, on good terms.

This would be especially valuable to any doctor who wishes to locate in one of the best sections of the State. The owner, a physician, wishes to retire, for private reasons that will be perfectly satisfactory to any proposed purchaser.

Further information cheerfully afforded any inquirer by the editor of this paper.

Notice.

I hereby notify all persons from trespassing on my land by hunting, laying down fences, or in any other way. JOSEPH S. SMITH.

SPECIAL POTATO FERTILIZER and High Grade General Phosphates made from VEGETABLE and ANIMAL MATTER. Every farmer should write for prices, samples, and circulars.

AMERICAN REDUCTION CO.,
Pittsburg, Pa.

FEED, LIVERY AND SALE STABLES.

First-Rate Teams and Saddle-Horses Provided.

Horses for Sale and Hire. [illegible]

SPECIAL ACCOMODATIONS FOR DRIVERS.

A limited number of Horses boarded.

All persons having horses to trade are invited to call. Young horses broke or to ride or work.

R. G. WILSON,
Marlinton W. Va.

Notice.

Your accounts are loaded up ready for settlement. Please call on me at my place of business and pay what you owe. Don't cause me any annoyance from your delay. Pay as you go and keep even.

Very respectfully,
S. B. MOORE.
Jan. 8, 1897.

SOME NEWS.

JANUARY 15, 1897.

THE State legislature convened on the 12th. Republican is a mild term to describe its make up.

THE State executive officers hold over until the 4th of March, the same as the President.

WHEAT has been looking remarkably well. The roads kept dry and good later this winter than any in the memory of the citizens.

CAPT J. B. ANTHONY has changed his residence for the present from Marlinton to Beaver Creek, Huntersville is his post-office.

THERE will be singing at Hannine Chapel, Saturday the 16th day of January, 11 o'clock, conducted by W. T. Price.

WE have a communication from Col. Gatewood to the Pocahontas Confederate Veterans, which will appear next week.

THE fifth four-year-old daughter of Mrs Hamp. Galford, near Marlinton, severed one of her fingers nearly severed another one on an axe last Thursday.

A CORRECTION.—In our issue of last week a mistake was made in a marriage notice. Miss Nora R. Riley was married to Mr A. C. Burns instead of Barnes as the paper stated.

WE heard a very good one the other day when a worthy old country man was exhorting his pastor. "He always tells something we have never heard before," he said. "Last Sunday he told us that the Savior had been crucified between two thieves.

THIS printing office printed a brief last week for L. M. McClintic in the chancery cause of Levi Gay vs. J. B. Lockridge. This case is in the Supreme Court on one point, which is, whether Mrs. Lillie R. Lockridge is entitled to dower in the lands of J. B. Lockridge.

TWO copies left of the Recollections of the Rev Dr John McElhenny, pioneer of Presbyterianism in this portion of the U. S. If any one wishes to buy this book at $1.50, ayply at THE TIMES office, or of me

ANNA L. PRICE.

Jan. 12, 1897.

THERE is a standing joke in this county that is told whenever the representative starts for the State Capital. In the days before the reconstruction we had a representative named McCarty. When he returned a rock-ribbed, iron-sided, old Democrt met him with the rather brusque remark, "Well, I reckon you found out how Lee surrendered here?" "Oh, yes," said McCarty, "I did and that is more than ever you have been able to do."

The progressive ladies of Westfield, Ind., issued a "Womans Edition" of the Westfield News, bearing date of April 3, 1896. The paper is filled with matter of interest to women, and we notice the following from a correspondent, which the editors printed, realizing that it create upon a matter of vital importance to their sex: "The best remedy for croup, colds and bronchitis that I have been able to find is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For family use it has no equal. I gladly recommend it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.

WHITE BEANS, unbaked, is wanted by the officers of the law for striking a small colored boy with a hot, thereby knocking him senseless. Beale is a light mulatto, about 22 years of age, son of the Honorable Archabald Beale, of Shake Rag.——A frightful death took place in a cabin situated a little below Germantown, on the ——th of December. A little colored boy, a son of Mary Church, was left locked in his mother's cabin while she was away. During her absence the house was set on fire, it is supposed accidentally by the child, and the boy perished in the flames. None knew of his being in the house or he might have been saved.—Bath News.

IT a casual observer was seated on the loom of the mouse and had his eye fixed upon that particular corner of the two Virginias known as Marlinton, and watched the steady advance of the railroads to our dominion he might be of the opinion that we were battling against any outlawed invasion, for the work continually crops in another place. The latest advance upon our outposts is from the north-ern end of Beaverdam. The contractors are busy making excavations in the hill side of the town of Beaverdale, so that the head of the big ferris may be reached. It is thought that the work of grading will be completed in time for the Summer's rush of them to the Northwest. The logical route is up the Greenbrier Valley and the air line survey reports of it running pretty well with the main branch of the Elk and passing just at the head of the high mountain to the west on the divide of the opinion that at last we have seen the last dirt farmers up on the Greenbrier Valley line, the line that will bring us relief.

HON M. J. MCNEEL left Monday to be present in Charleston as our representative in the coming legislature.

MR FRED WALLACE, of Mill Point, the talented young attorney, will locate for the practice of his profession at Lewisburg.

Ringing noises in the ears buzzing, snapping, roaring, caused by catarrh, all disappear with the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

AT the sale of the goods at Frankford under the assignment of Wm. H. Overholt, Clarence Overholt, his son, became the purchaser.

THE Buena Vista Development Company has gone into liquidation. A. T. Barclay, of Lexington is receiver, appointed by Judge McLaughlin.

THE requisite papers have been prepared to remove young Miller to Bath County, Va., where he will be tried for using a mule without the colored owner's permission.

SINCE the arrest of Goodwin in Staunton parties in Huntersville now understand why their correspondence with friends in Augusta county had been so unsatisfactory of late. No money, however, has been lost.

ELIHU ROBINSON and brother, colored persons, on Browns Mountain, are very expert in the use of stilts in crossing Knapps Creek at the Curry fording. They have been known to wade the creek when it would be hardly safe to ford on horseback, or with a team, and carry forty or fifty pounds strapped to their shoulders.

MR N. O. Bacon, Manager,
Conn. Indemnity Ass'n.,
Charleston, W. Va.

Dear sir,—I have received today through your adjustor $2,000, the full amount of insurance due me on the life of my late wife. I am very much pleased with the manner in which your company has settled this claim, and would advise all who wish reliable insurance at reasonable rates to apply to you or your Company.

Yours very truly,
JOSEPH BLEAU.

MEADOW CREEK, W. VA. {
Oct. 31, 1896. {

PROBABLY there is not a worse hated man in the lumber business than sub-contractor Gray, who got so many Pocahontas people in trouble and caused them serious losses while working on the Gauley Company's timber. Among those worst damaged was the firm of Sheets & Gordon, of Beaver Dam. After a year or two of the hardest kind of work, they found themselves about $2,000 short, and nothing to pay their men. Jim Sheets, the senior partner, went to work in camp, and the other day made a payment of $100 to his men, which he had saved out of his work after supporting his family. In time he will clear off his indebtedness. He certainly deserves honorable mention.

THE Locust Creek coal has had only a superficial development. T. F. Callison has opened the vein to greater depth than any other. He has opened the upper vein and walled it up to the distance of sixty feet or so into the hill-side. The coal discovered so far is full of sulphur, and while it makes good fuel, the smell that comes out of the chimneys is terrible, and hard to be described. The corporation of the village of Hillsboro has protested, but not officially, to the use in the town. On a cold, damp day, the smell comes down and envelops the town; and two young people whose affections have been blighted, ascribe it to the deprecating influence of the sulphurs at-mosphere of the town. The coal that has been mined is called the "blossom." This blossom can be smelled on a quiet evening with the wind drawing from the south, from the precincts of Mill Point, a distance of one and a half miles, and on such evening it is hard to ride into Hillsboro from the Marlinton direction.

☞ To correspondents: To insure publication the news letters must be delivered at Marlinton by 7 p m on Tuesday evenings.

Throat Coughs

Is there a tickling in the throat? Do your coughs a great deal, especially when lying down? Are you hoarse at times? Does nearly every cold you take settle in your throat? These "throat coughs" are very dangerous. Don't neglect them. Coughs, or colds, never won't touch the spot. You must take something that will scrub the blood, tone up the nerves, and heal the inflamed membranes.

SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites contains such remedies. It has wonderful nourishing and healing power. The effect of the cough is removed; the whole system is given new life and vigor; and the danger from breaking lung trouble is swept away.

Book about it free.
For sale by all druggists at 50c. and $1.00.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists

Personal Mention.

* J. J Beard of Huntersville has been seriously ill for some days, but is now regarded as hopefully better. His son Dr Harry Beard, of Lewisburg was sent for.

Mrs W. A. Bratton has returned from a visit to her former home in Marshall, Va.

Mabel, eldest daughter of Geo. Wagner has been quite sick with diptheria but is recovering.

Mr and Mrs J. C. Loury have gone to housekeeping in their commodious residence opposite the hotel.

John S. Moore is teaching the Beaver creek school in a house rented for the purpose.

L. M. McClintic, and two of his children have been ill of the colds which have been prevailing.

H. S. Rucker went to Greenbrier on this week to take some depositions for a case pending in the courts of McDowell county.

Capt Jack Apperson is running a lumber camp on the Chapman place on Beaver creek.

Otis Warwick spent a few days visiting friends near Huntersville.

The Editor of this paper is no exception. Like the rest of the county he has been sick too.

Letter from Jake McLaughlin.

BRIMFIELD, IND., January, 6th 1897.—As we are starting in on the new year and all accounts of the old year should be closed. I still find a dollar in my pocket for my old county paper, a welcome visitor in my western home. We have had a lovely winter. The thermometer has not touched zero yet. After a solid week of rain, it was so hazy and smoky we could hardly see. Democrats say it was the smoke of machine shops and furnaces started up since election.

Well; times are better and prosperity is looked for after March 4.

Stock is looking up.

Cattle 3½ to 4¼, lambs 5 to 5½, hogs 3 to 3½, wheat 94, corn 20, oats 15. Cattle and sheep are very scarce in this country. There is plenty of corn with very little to feed it to.

I wish Pocahontas could get a railroad, that is what the county needs. I hope you will get one before long. JAKE MCLAUGHLIN.

Col. Philip D. Elkins Dead.

Col. Philip Duncan Elkins, father of United States Senator Elkins, died Sunday afternoon at the residence of his son at Elkins, W. Va., from general collapse of the system.

Senator Elkins was in Washington when telegrsphed that his father was dying. He arrived at Cumberland early in the morning and went at once to Elkins by a special train, arriving there before his father expired.

The birth place of Col. Elkins was Fauquier county, Va. He was a Confederate soldier and an ardent Democrat.

County Court.

(Continued from last week.)

J. C. Arbogast resignation as Sheriff for the years 1884 to 1888.

P D Arbogast qualified as justice in Green Bank District.

In the matter of the John A Young road, B F and Elizabeth McClure refusing to accept $12 offered as compensation for the land taken by said road, it was ordered that proceedings be instituted and prosecuted in the corporate name of the County Court in the Circuit Court, pursuant to chapter 42 of code, etc.

K O Wade allowed $54.50 for keeping in repair 13 miles of Lewisburg & Marlin's Bottom Turnpike.

B F McElwee allowed $14 for goods furnished poor persons in Green Bank District.

J K Hinkle appointed surveyor of roads in the room and stead of Marion Hay.

G P Shisler was appointed and qualified as constable in the Levels District.

Samuel Sheets, J F Hill, and William Sigle qualified as the deputies of R W Hill, Sheriff.

C L Barner qualified as constable in the Green Bank District.

Samuel B Hannah and John R Hefener were appointed commissioners on the part of this County to examine the feasibility of building a bridge across the North Fork of Deer Creek.

K O Wade was awarded the contract for keeping in repair the 13 miles of turnpike running from Lewisburg at Claiborne McNeil's and extending to top of Droop for a term of five years.

W C and G W Mann were awarded the contract for putting and keeping in repair 30 miles of public road commencing at Mellville's and extending to the county line of this county and Randolph for a term of five years.

F F McCollum appointed surveyor of roads in the room and stead of C. Hannah.

Walter Vass appointed surveyor of roads to room and stead of C. E. Eglesh.

Order directing Clerk of county court to advertise for bids for printing and keeping in repair the public roads of this Municipation and Green Sprigg Township, also for keeping in repair the bridge crossing at the residence of Mrs Cornet and extending to the top of Allegheny mt.

"Wrap Us Up in Our Greasy Horse-Blankets."

In a loose box two toughs lay a sprawling,
And as on the litter they lay, they lay;
To some swipes who around them were crawling,
These whisky-soaked words they did say.

Chorus.
Wrap us up in our greasy horse-blankets!
And say some poor "outlaws" lie low lie low;
And we'll never return back to Bingo,
Unless we're allowed all the show.

Oh, had we the pluck of a chipmonk!
Back, back to Bingo we'd hie, we'd hie;
And run our sweet 'Polly' 'gainst 'Maggie,'
And hocus them all on the sly.

(Chorus.)

Then get us two mud-spotted tombstones:
And put them both out in a row, a row;
Scratch Chippy 'Spruce,' Slick Scales,' upon them,
And plant us with Bliss(om) below!
"MUD-RATER."

YELK.

Tolbert Sharp, son of Harmon Sharp, met with a serious accident by his horse falling on his leg and breaking it above his shoe. The horse was walking on the side of the road and stepped on some ice and lost his hold and fell on Mr Sharp's leg and foot, which was mashed very badly. He was carried to Hugh Sharp's. He is 18 years old.

The Iron Clads have met with bad luck. Tolbert Sharp broke his leg, Bob Gibson has a sore knee, Levi Gibson cut his ear, Charles Showalter has a sore ankle from a kick, John Gibson has a remembrance kick on his shin, Hamerie froze his feet, Doylehurt his hand, and Johnson had a neck. Sam. Gibson has come home and they will probably play a game with Mingo on the 13th.

Boude Hannah and wife are in this part. The boys gave them a serenade.

Harmon Sharp has returned from Frost.

G. L. Hannah finds entertainment in Webster.

ONE OF THE SHEPHERDS.

A Trip to Webster.

After leaving William Hannah's, on Elk, I went to Mr John Varner's of Linwood, a very hospitable gentleman. From thence to Adam Harrison's, in Webster, stopping with this prominent man Christmas night. Next morning I proceeded on my journey down Point Mountain Road to Elk, and took dinner with a Mr Jones,—a merchant and lumber contractor. Then in company with David Baughman's, on John Lynch I proceeded to William Cummings', on Mill Run, staying there overnight.

I then proceeded, in company with Lynch, to David Baughman's, on Gauley River. Mr Bernard Baughman and myself started for Mr Jesse Payne's house on business, but before we reached our destination we were informed on the sudden and terrible death of a young man that morning, he being caught between the fender and a large poplar log and instantly killed, both back and neck broken. He was horribly crushed. His name was John Conrad, son of Peter Conrad, on Elk, near the mouth of Dry Fork, in Webster County.

After viewing the remains of the departed, we arrived at Mr Paynes and were taken in and very cordially treated by this kind and clever gentleman. I next went to Mr W. McClintic's lumber camp, and enjoyed the hospitality of a jolly set of lumbermen; and should think from the appearance of things general that Mr McClintic is doing a thriving business.

I started for Marlinton, and while passing thro that rugged part of the county, I noticed quite a lot of deer and bear sign. The track of one bear in the snow measured six inches. Deer almost as plenty, seemingly, as sheep, or at least a small flock of sheep. To Landis', at Marlinton, on New Year's night, when I was at the end of my journey. S. L.

Terrible Ammunition.

A stranger war story comes from New Zealand. Some years ago Sir John Gorst lived in Waikato and edited the Maori newspaper, the Hakioi. The paper was printed and published near the scene of some of the hottest fighting of the war then raging.

During the struggle the Maoris ran short of ammunition, and having no ball for their fourteen pound guns, they loaded them with shop weights confiscated from neighboring shop keepers. This source of supply was soon exhausted.

Then a raid was made. The Hakioi office and the guns were charged with type and stereo blocks. This new munition so the story goes, proved very effective.

One of the white invaders was injured by a potent medicine advertisement, another was invalided by a church bazaar announcement, a third had a leg through a weekly tradesman's "The Lead Box" and Sir Andrew, who had taken refuge with the Maoris during the war, had one escape from being hit with the of his own pewns.—Ex.

GREEN BANK.

Mr Samuel Sheets, of Dunmore, was visiting in our vicinity last Sunday.

Mr Jesse McLaughlin spent a few days in Marlinton last week.

Mr Ed. McLaughlin, of Dunmore, was in town last Sunday.

Mr Ezra Wooddell and family have returned home from Frost where he had been visiting relatives and friends.

Mr Frank Willong and wife of Hillsboro, were visiting in our neighborhood this week.

Master Frank King, of Marlinton, was in town a short while last Monday, accompanied by his brother, who was returning to his school at Oak Grove.

Quite a number of young people attended the entertainment at Dunmore and pronounced it a success.

There is a good deal of sickness in this neighborhood at present.

There was a match game of foot ball at Green Brank last Saturday, between the Green Bank and Oak Grove teams, which resulted in a tie. The game was hotly contested by both teams, but neither were able to score. The return game will be played at Oak Grove in the near future and a lively time is anticipated.

Jessie Ornsdorff and Miss Emma Ervine were quietly married at the residence of the bride's parents last Wednesday morning. They have the best wishes of their many friends for a long and happy life.

Weddings seem to be quite a common thing with us.

MONHICAN.

Linwood.

The people of Linwood seem to be enjoying the New Year very much.

There was a turkey roast at Col. A. C. L. Gatewood's on New Year's day which was very much enjoyed by all present.

The social given by Mr and Mrs Samuel Varner was a very enjoyable affair. After supper games and other amusements were indulged in until a late hour. We thank the good people for the evening's enjoyment.

The social given by Mr and Mrs John Sheets was attended by a number of ladies and gentlemen who say they wish such occasions would occur oftener.

Several ladies and gentlemen attended the dinner given by Mrs M Slanker. This was an enjoyable affair.

Mr Miss McLaughlin. has been visiting in this part.

Mr Yancey Ligon attended the social at Mr Varner's. Yancey is a hustler at playing the game called "Old Maid."

John Sheets says he would like to meet Keogee to play foot ball, if it were not for quarreling with the women.

Howard Showalters family have returned after a visit on Elk.

Miss Emma Burner's school will close Tuesday. We are all sorry to see her leave us.

The girls all think J. R. Showalter so much better looking since he came back from Augusta, but they are all so sorry to think he is engaged.

C. W. Showalter has gone to Webster to work in the lumber camps. C. P. WRECKLESS.

Laurel Creek.

Hurrah for the State of Pocahontas! Williams River is on a boom again.

H. Nathan and W. H. Shearer returned Sunday from a business trip to Randolph. They bought a nice pair of gray horses. You will please come and examine them before they are sold.

More trouble on the mountain. While Nathan was away some one laid down the rail fence to let the horses in the corn, and was kind enough to take an old black, burnt club and bust the black fence of Nathan Shearer & Co.

Cruit Reid moved the 11th inst. to his future home in Greenbrier County.

Luther McNeel's youngest child is very low at present. Also Mrs Snyder is suffering with consumption.

There was a panther at the house of H. Nathan early Sunday morning, which yelled at the front door and caused quite an excitement at 9 o'clock.

Old man Wilfong married John McGlaughlin and Sol Townsend, last Wednesday, at Warwick Simmons'. A nice dinner was prepared, and we wish them much joy.

Jno White is very sick with cold. We hope he will soon be better.

MORE CURATIVE POWER

Is contained in a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla than in any other similar preparation. It costs the proprietor and manufacturer more. It costs the jobber more and is worth more to the consumer. It has a record of cures unknown to any other preparation. It is the best to buy because it is the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills are the best family cathartic and liver medicine. Gentle, reliable, sure.

Lumber.

1 band for sale a quantity of first-class white pine lumber, well sawed.

Two freshish bulls wanted by order of bulls are going out by February 1st.

H. H. MOORE,
Dunmore, W. Va.

Knapps Creek

We have had some delightful weather since Christmas.

Mr S. G. Dever, of Highland, was visiting his sister, Mrs Hamilton Moore. Mrs Moore is in a critical condition, suffering from consumption.

Mr Homer Gum, and his sister, Miss Clara, were on the Creek Sunday.

Mr Price Moore and Mr M. F. Herold went to Marlinton on bisiness last week.

Mr J. C. Harper, Miss Bessie Hannah, and Mr J. A. Moore are on the sick list.

Penie Herold left last Wednesday for Kansas, where he will make his future home.

Mr John A. Cleek is still keeping P. O.

The people want Hon John A Moore for constable in this district.

I. B. Moore killed a log that weighed 414 pounds.

Mr Price Moore's school will soon be out.

Some people say there is to be a bar-room at Frost in the near future. What a dreadful place it will be!—next door to the other place.

The prospects are now that there will be some weddings in the near future. Keep your eye on the indicator.

Mr Wise Herold was in High land on business last week.

'JERRY'

Look! This Way!

We call your special attention to your notes and accounts you are due us. We have waited on you a long time to pay us what you owe, but you have not done so. You will please call on Sr B. Moore, Edray, W. Va., and pay every cent you owe. We cannot wait always on you for our money, and if our accounts and notes are not paid soon we will be compelled to place them in the hands of an officer for collection. Very respectfully,

MOORE & HANNAH.

Per S. B. Moore. Jan. 8, 1897.

Persons who are troubled with indigestion will be interested in the experience of Wm. H. Penn, chief clerk in the railway mail service at Des Moines, Iowa, who writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the merits of Chamberlain's Cholera, Colic and Diarrhoea remedy. For two years I have suffered from indigestion, and am subject to violent attacks of pain in the stomach and bowels. One or two doses of this remedy never fails to give perfect relief. Price 25 and 50 cents. Sold by all druggists.

Notice.

Our accounts are now ready for settlement. All persons are requested to settle their old accounts before they ask for more credit.

2w AMOS BARLOW.

Farmers' Home Fire Insurance Co., of West Virginia.

J. M. SYDENSTRICKER - - - President.
R. P. RITTENHOUSE - - Sec'y & Treas.

Home Office, Lewisburg, W. Va.

By the People and for the People.

For Isolated Property only. No Salaried Officers to Support. No capitalists to Enrich. No Loss, no Expense. Fair and Honorable Adjustment of all Losses. Costless than one-fifth of what is paid a cash company, and is five times as secure. In most successful operation in all of the adjoining States. Thousands saved to farmers.

T. L. REYNOLDS & SONS, Agents
Lewisburg, W. Va.

Lost! Lost! Lost!

Money Lost

by not trading with us. We mean business, as you will find if you give us a trial.

'The proof of the pudding is in the eating.'

Buy one bill of us for your own special benefit.

THE MONEY WE DO NOT SPEND PAYING TRAVELLING MENS' BILLS IS SHARED WITH OUR CUSTOMERS. WE SEEK NO TRADE THAT IS NOT OURS BY VIRTUE OF LOW PRICES AND HONEST GOODS. OUR REPUTATION AS

Spot Cash Buyers

bring us bargains that credit never saw. We give bargains; the prices tell the people, and the people tell the prices.

We will take poultry Monday, January 18, and will pay the following prices: (Dressed poultry, scalded, head and feet down.)

TURKEYS - - - - 5cts
CHICKENS - - - - 5cts

We will buy lowness and fat throughout the winter. Friends, do n't forget to give us your trade. Yours respectfully,

L. D. Sharp,

LINWOOD, W. VA.

Pay your subscription.

Nervous

People find just the help they so much need, in Hood's Sarsaparilla. It furnishes the desired strength by purifying, vitalizing and enriching the blood, and thus builds up the nerves, tones the stomach and regulates the whole system. Read this:

"I want to praise Hood's Sarsaparilla. My health ran down, and I had the grip. After that, my heart and nervous system were badly affected, so that I could not do my own work. Our physician gave me some help, but did not cure. I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Soon I could do all my own housework. I have taken Hood's Pills with Hood's Sarsaparilla, and they have done me much good. I will not be without them. I have taken 12 bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and through the blessing of God, it has done me more than I worked as hard as ever the past summer, and I am thankful to say I am well. Hood's Pills when taken with Hood's Sarsaparilla help very much." MRS. M. M. MOMMSMITH, Prescott, Penn.

Cured

This and many other cures prove that

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills act easily, promptly and effectively. 25 cents.

RECEIVERS' RENTAL OF LANDS.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, made on the 18th day of October, 1896, in the chancery cause of Levi Gay, et als., as J. B. Lockridge, et als., the undersigned special receivers will on the

6th day of Feb., 1897,

at the front door of the court house of said county, proceed to rent by way of public auction to the highest bidder for the term of one year, the lands in the bill and proceedings mentioned belonging to the defendant, J. B. Lockridge, consisting of the farm upon which the said Lockridge now resides, situated at Driscol, in said county. Said farm is in good state of cultivation and has thereon all necessary buildings in good repair.

Terms.—Cash in hand sufficient to pay costs of rental, and for the residue the note or notes bearing with good security, payable on the 21st day of December, 1897.

W. A. BRATTON,
L. M. MCCLINTIC,
Receivers.

By order of said decree, the bond already filed in this case is held sufficient for the above rental.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

VALUABLE

Property for Sale Privately.

One of the most complete residences in the county, situated in the village of Hillsboro, is offered for sale privately, on good terms.

This would be especially valuable to any doctor who wishes to locate in one of the best sections of the State. The owner, a physician, wishes to retire, for private reasons that will be perfectly satisfactory to any proposed purchaser.

Further information cheerfully afforded any inquirer by the editor of this paper.

Notice.

I hereby notify all persons from trespassing on my land by hunting, laying down fences, or in any other way. JOSEPH S. SMITH.

SPECIAL POTATO FERTILIZER and High Grade General Phosphates made from

VEGETABLE and ANIMAL MATTER.

Every farmer should write for prices, terms, and circulars.

AMERICAN REDUCTION CO.,
Pittsburg, Pa.

FEED, LIVERY —AND— SALE STABLES.

First-Rate Teams and Saddle-Horses Provided.

☞ Horses for Sale and Hire. ☜

SPECIAL ACCOMMODATIONS FOR DRUMMERS.

A limited number of Horses boarded.

All persons having horses in trade will find it to their interest to call on me before trading. Young Stockbirds, 20 to 60 cts. each.

J. H. G. WILSON,
Marlinton, W. Va.

Notice.

Your accounts are hereby handed you ready for settlement. Please call on me at my place of business and pay what you owe. I cannot carry accounts any longer. Please call and pay as you go and keep even.

Very respectfully,
Jan. 9, 1897. S. B. MOORE.

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, Jan. 15, 1897.

Subscription ONE DOLLAR in advance. If not paid within the year $1.50 will be charged.

Entered at the post office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

ONLY forty-six more days of Cleveland.

MAJOR MCKISLEY intends to protect us in spite of ourselves.

ALL that State Senator N. C. McNeil lacked when he passed through Academy on his way to Charleston was a chaperone.

THE failing bank must surely fail to appreciate the happy deliverance of the country from the free silver hastics.

GOVERNOR O'FERRALL is doing all he can to build up the Republican Party in Virginia, in opposition to the party which placed him in power.

IT seems likely that Lawyer Choate can count upon one vote and only one, in the New York Assembly for the United States Senatorship. Hon T. C Platt proved too much for the corporation lawyer.

LAST Friday was Andrew Jackson Day, January 8, in commemoration of his signal victory over the British troops at New Orleans. Last year might be called Andrew Jackson's Year, for all the patriots in the country had mounted the stump and insisted upon the lawmakers taking Jackson for their model, and expounding Jackson's ideas of political economy. Very interesting are some of the memoirs of this man. His father died three days before his birth, and as a child he experienced the bitterest poverty. He had two brothers who lived obscure lives, and of whom we have no special note. Jackson was of a very intense nature, and he loved or hated with all his might. No one was regarded with indifference. He married a beautiful grass-widow, both believing a divorce had been granted. The wedding was followed by another in three months, it having been discovered that no divorce had been granted at the time of the first marriage. His wife was one of the best of women. A political scheme was to have Jackson killed in a duel. He was compelled to challenge a professional duelist, and a dead-shot. Owing to the manner in which he dressed his opponent, Dickinson, failed to shoot him through, and only wounded him in the side. Then Jackson very deliberately killed him, cocking and sighting his pistol after his adversary had fired. Calhoun was one of Jackson's bitterest political foes. When Calhoun threatened to "nullify" Jackson was about to hang him, and in this manner put down the rebellion. It is quite possible Grover Cleveland is popular compared with the feeling with which the people regarded Jackson in his time.

SOME of the more sensational events of the past week or two pertain to banks and their sudden suspensions. Quite a number have failed, and the failures do not seem to be confined to any particular section: Chicago, St. Paul, Solsas, and Baltimore, along with other places here and there have their troubles. The most startling feature of all this financial disturbance is the number of self-murders among the officials. In Chicago, Mr W. A. Hammond, Vice-President of the failing National Bank of Illinois, rose about 2 o'clock, January 2, kissed his little boy, went to the lake and drowned himself. In Baltimore January 4th, Richard Cornelius was found to be liable for a shortage of sixty thousand dollars. He was cashier, and had been in the employ of the bank for forty-two years. Soon as notified he left the bank at 10 o'clock, and at 1 o'clock the charred kitchen body was found in the dark pond at Druid Hill Park. He was eminent in religious circles, and was a local preacher. In Selma, Alabama, a bank official of the highest character, on the collapse of his bank, went to the church of which he was a member, upon hours knowing of the affair, and when about to be found by his son and others, shot himself and died at once. The strange feature about these failures is the despair by the officials to commit the shameful crime of the times had anything to do with the causes leading to suspension. There is nothing serious laid to the charge of any of the suiciding officials up to the moment of discovery. While it may be true that the present monetary condition may not have caused these failures it is very certain that collapses under such strange circumstances will seriously undermine confidence, and there is no telling where the run on banks, owing to want of confidence, will end.

S. C. R.

An Interesting Manuscript.

In 1822, Alexander Campbell, ancestor of the Campbells of Highland County, returned from a stay of three years in Howard County, Missouri, to his old home near head of Jackson's River, then Pendleton County, Va. The property is now owned by George Dudley. His wife, Margaret Brown, of Augusta County, died on the journey back while passing thro Indiana. James Campbell, one of the sons, kept a diary of their journey, and describes very minutely the details of each day's progress.

August 10, 1822, the party crossed Locust Creek on a "rotten, crazy bridge," and camped a mile beyond Jordan's, near which was a camp-meeting going on, which the party attended. "There was a large crowd and much stir among the people."

August 11th, Sunday morning, up very early and started, but not before a large company of people from the camp-meeting had gathered to see the tame elk that was brought from Missouri. Upon passing Major Poage's, he came out and went with the party about a mile to hear the news from Missouri. They came to Cackley's, and failed to get grain, and then went on to the forks of the road, where they camped, and succeeded in getting some sheaf-oats from William Cackley.

Twelve they passed up Beaver Creek, camped at Cumming's, thence past Bradshaw's, (Huntersville), up through the gap, "which was very rocky," and camped at the "Lockridge place." Thence to John Moore's and camped. The next day passed Levi Moore's, fed at "The Cabins," and in the evening reached Back Creek. "Here every thing looked familiar." Kind friends had heard of their homecoming, and had swept and garnished the premises, and welcomed their old neighbors back again. All this was very consoling to the father and his motherless sons, after the wearisome journey and the sad vicissitudes of the past three years.

With a covered wagon and seven horses and a tame elk, Mr Campbell, eight sons and two or three other persons, traveled a thousand miles. They ferried the deep rivers, had steep hills to climb, rugged roads to pass over, and spent most of the night camping by the wayside. All the particulars are graphically recorded in the diary kept by James, the eldest son, then a youth about twenty years of age.

Miss Mattie Campbell and others are putting the interesting contents of the worn and faded manuscript into a form for preservation, and will be read with increasing interest as the years go by.

Bradshaw Assigns.

We have very meagre information concerning the assignment of J. B. Bradshaw, of McDowell, but it is evidently the most important bankruptcy that has ever taken place in highland County. From reports it seems that the liabilities are about $40,000 and assets $15,000. The deed of assignment was recorded in Monterey, on Christmas day, and a sale of the personality was to have been held on the 14th instant.

We learn that one of the most important creditors is Mr Uriah Brenner, of Green Bank.

In addition to the assignment, Mr Bradshaw confessed judgment for $3,000 in favor of his wife, that being the amount which she had put into his business. Mrs Bradshaw was a Miss Waseley, of Randolph.

Anyone who knows the genial Highland speculator will be sorry to hear of his misfortunes. He was one of the most progressive of men, and has done much for the county of Highland. His establishing a store at the boom town of Buckhannon some years ago doubtless had much to do with the present shortage.

He has suffered losses in other and less important ventures. One of his first ventures was some ten years ago, when he was security for a contractor to build the road from Warm Springs to the Pocahontas County line. The contractor threw up the job, and he had to finish it at a very considerable loss.

There is no doubt that in his business career Mr Bradshaw was the busiest man in Highland County. He enjoyed the distinction of being merchant, farmer, coal man, lumber, hotel keeper, cattle dealer, land speculator, owner of back property, and probably a good many other things. It is quite possible that it is a case of too many irons in the fire.

His many friends will hope a settlement may be effected by his creditors and such a result will be a good job.

Lee Military Academy.

Spring term of 20 weeks begins February 1st. Pupils can enter any time. A first class school for boys. Prepares for college or business. Thorough discipline and good morals. Terms reasonable.

Location in a fine grove. Best climate influences, no sickness or disturbance.

Catalogue, 12th and 13th. Board from $12 to $20 per month.

JAMES W. LEE, Principal, Lexington, Va.

Obituary.

Mrs Ella Lee Dysard, wife of L. J. R. Dysard, near Travelers Repose, died very suddenly, December 20th, after an illness of a few days, aged 30 years. Her parents were Mr and Mrs David McGlaughlin (now dead), of Driftwood, this County (Pocahontas.)

In the spring of 1892 Mr and Mrs Dysard moved from Driftwood to Travellers Repose, where they have resided ever since. (Mr Dysard is our esteemed merchant.)

In all the relations of life, as wife, mother, and neighbor, she tried to meet her duties. She was an energetic, wide-awake, and a tender-hearted lady. She had been a professing Christian ever since her youth, and was a member of the M. E. Church, South.

"Life's duty done, securely laid
In this her last retreat.
Unheeded o'er her silent dust
The storms of life may beat."

She is mourned by her bereaved husband; her little son, Pearly, aged 4 years; and daughter, Minnie, aged 2; and many friends and relatives. Tho her decease was so unexpected, yet all who know her feel that it was safe.

A large concourse attended her burial at her home "grave-yard" at the McGlaughlin Church, which services were conducted by Rev J. C. Jeter. May God's blessings ever be with her bereaved husband, her two little children, as well as her brothers and sister.

"Asleep in Jesus! blessed sleep
From which none ever wakes to weep;
A calm and undisturbed repose,
Unbroken by the dread of foes.

"Asleep in Jesus! peaceful rest,
Whose waking is supreme and best;
No fears, no woes shall dim the hour
Which manifests the Savior's power.

"Asleep in Jesus! far from thee
Thy kindred and their graves may be;
But there is still a blessed sleep
From which none ever wakes to weep."

E. F. B.

Highland Recorder please copy. Travelers Repose, Jan. 4, 1897.

Died, at her home at Academy, on Friday, January 8, Mrs Marshall Pearl, from pulmonary troubles, at the advanced age of seventy-eight. This estimable lady has been a great sufferer for many years. She leaves surviving her, her devoted husband, Dr Marshall Pearl; and her daughter, Mrs Mary Isabell. She was a member of the Atkinson family. One brother and several sisters are still living.

Her husband Dr Marshall Pearl, a "Doctor of the Old School," has been retired from active practice for a number of years. The married life of this worthy couple was especially beautiful. For fifty-eight years they had wandered hand in hand down the vale of life bearing each others burdens, and sharing each others joys.

The funeral was from the residence on Saturday, and the remains were laid at rest in the grave-yard of the old Oak Grove church.

Order of Publication.

State of West Virginia, County of Pocahontas, to wit:

At rules held in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court for said county, on Monday, January 4th, 1897.

Quintilla M. Burrows, Plaintiff
vs.
A. G. Burrows, Defendant.

The object of this suit is to procure a divorce by the plaintiff from the bonds of matrimony with the defendant; and it appearing from affidavit filed, that the defendant, A. G. Burrows, is a non-resident of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that he do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order, and do what is necessary to protect his interest in this suit.

Witness: J. H. Patterson, Clerk of said Court, this 5th day of January, 1897.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

NOTICE TO TAKE DEPOSITIONS.

To A. G. Burrows, take notice, that on the 29th day of February, A. D., 1897, between the hours of six o'clock, a. m., and six o'clock p. m., at the residence of Quintilla M. Burrows, near Marlinton, in Pocahontas County, West Virginia, I will take the deposition of myself, and others, to be read as evidence in my behalf, in a certain suit in chancery now pending in the Circuit Court of the County of Pocahontas, and State of West Virginia, in which I am plaintiff and you are defendant.

If from any cause the taking of said deposition shall not be commenced or completed on the day aforesaid, the same shall be continued from day to day, or from time to time, at the same place and between the same hours, until the same shall be completed.

QUINTILLA M. BURROWS.
By Counsel.
H. S. Barlow, solicitor.

The Pocahontas Times,

All Home Print,

Affords the People of Pocahontas County one of the best papers for the price in the State.

$1.00 per Year

GIVES YOU YOUR COUNTY PAPER.

SUBSCRIBE!

Advertise your Wares and Wants Our rates are always low enough to warrant your patronage.

Our Job Department has been renewed, and we guarantee satisfaction. Wedding invitations and all kinds of work done on short notice

WE HAVE THE BEST PRINTING PLANT OUT SIDE A LARGE TOWN IN THE STATE.

Now is the time to Subscribe!

The Business World

Is like the human body, in some respects. Both have their ups and downs—sick spells, and both need tonics after the crisis is over, to quicken, in one case, the life blood, and in the other the demand which sets the wheels of trade humming. It is my business to offer trade reviews to the cash customer.

HERE THEY ARE:

Woman's Fine Dongola Button Opera Toe, $1
Outings in Plaids, nice patterns, 5c
Black figured Dress Goods latest effects, 12 1-2c
All wool black, blue and grey Ladies Cloth, 22c to 30c
Men's Macintosh, black diagonal surface, $3.

I have refrained from making any extended remarks on the above on the principal that

Good Wine Needs No Bush.

THE VALUES

STICK RIGHT OUT UPON EXAMINATION AND TRIAL OF THE GOODS.

PAUL GOLDEN

SOL DAVIS' Big Store.

Our Holiday stock is large, our goods new, our prices low, the latest in style, the finest in quality, the utmost in variety. The presents you want, at the prices you like, are all included in our splendid line of Clocks Jewelry, Accordeons, Albums, Blankets, Mufflers, Scarfs, Picture Frames, Linen Goods, cutlery, Gloves, Mackintoshes, Trunks, Umbrellas, Blinds and

GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS

EVERYTHING AT HALF PRICES

We quote prices on a few things

Arbuckle Coffee	19c	Good Pure Candy	10 cents
Good Green Coffee	15c	Working Pants well made	85 cents
Granulated Sugar	6½c	Mens Suits from	4 50 up
6 Pounds Good Soda Crackers, Oranges, and Lemons,	25c	We have some of the finest Raisons Prunes, Figs,

Appropriate, sensible gifts for old and young are features of this stock, which commends itself to holiday buyers. If you want to make few or many, cheap or costly, presents, this is your best chance. It will be impossible to make a mistake in your holiday buying if you select from the fair-priced stock of

SOL. DAVIS,
Green Bank, W. Va.

HEAD TO FOOT OUTFITTER.

LIGHTNING HOT DROPS

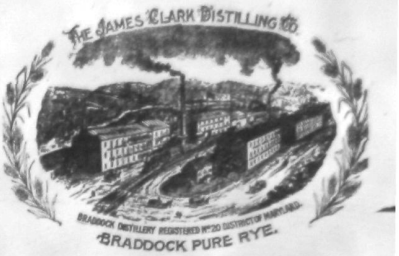
CURES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.

HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Bites of Animals and Bugs, etc.

Tastes Good. Smells Good.

BREAKS UP A COLD.

SOLD EVERYWHERE. ONE AND TEN PER BOTTLE. NO RELIEF, NO PAY.



MENTION THIS PAPER.

PERRY MEDICINE CO. PROVIDENCE, R. I. SPRINGFIELD, O.

The Greatest Medicinal Whiskey the World has Ever Known.

BRADDOCK PURE RYE AND BARLEY MALT.

SMOOTH, SOFT, RICH, RIPE, MELLOW AND CHEMICALLY PURE, A RECOMMENDATION IN ITSELF.

TRY A GALLON AT $2.00

Mail Orders solicited either great or small and receive our personal and prompt attention. Drop us a postal for price list. Don't use inferior goods but mail us your orders; we can save you money and perhaps your health.

JAS CLARK DISTILLING CO., JNO. McQUAIDE Mngr.

Distillers of Braddock Pure Rye, Wholesale and Retail Liquor Dealers.
20 and 22 South New St., Staunton, Va.

THE GREAT RALLY.

COME TO OUR STORE FOR BARGAINS

We are undersold by none; our prices talk for themselves; some may claim to sell low, but we are always the lowest.

Men's	$7.00	Overcoats for	$4.75.	Men's $12.00 Suits for	$8.00
"	10.00	"	" 6.00	" 50c Undershirts for	25c
"	12.00	"	" 8.00	Ladies 60c "	35c
"	4.00	Suits	" 2.75	25c Suspenders "	15c
"	8.00	"	" 5.00	Everything else in proportion.

Other goods proportionately.

We are closing our winter boots very low. We will take in exchange for goods, Gold, Silver, Green backs, Beeswax, Ginseng, and Fur. We have been buying FUR for seven years and can pay higher for fur than most buyers. As soon as the season opens we will begin to buy, so don't forget us.

Yours for Business,

Linwood, W. Va. L. D. SHARP.

Duke! Duke!

HIGH GRADE BICYCLES!

1896 Model.

Frame long head and wheel base. Made from best cold drawn steel tubing, narrow tread, 28inch wheels, Wood Rims, Nickeled Spokes, M and W. Quick-Repair Tire. All connections drop forged steel. Ball bearing to every part; bearings made from the best steel, tempered and ground, dust proof, 6 inch cranks, Rat trap or Rubber Pedales, one-fourth inch Rumber Chain with hardened rivets and centers. Drop-forged steel sprockets, T pattern saddle post, Garford Saddle, 68 inch gear, weight 24 lbs.

Price, $50.00.

1895 Model Duke, 27lbs., Price, $40.00

A full and complete stock of Bicycle Sundries and Repairs, cyclometers, Lamps, Bells, &c. Repairing of all kinds a specialty. Send us your broken bicycles and we can make them good as new

RESPECTFULLY,

RONCEVERTE, W VA Eagle AND Ott.

CLOSING OUT SALE!

Intending to remove from Marlinton as soon as I can get my business closed out, I will sell my present stock of goods at a lower rate than goods have ever been sold here before. Come in and get bargains.

All persons owing me will call and settle, or their accounts will be placed in the hands of an officer.

S. W. HOLT

MARLINTON, W. VA.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor.

VOL. 14, NO. 25 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, JANUARY 15, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR.

Gen. G. W. C. Lee has resigned the Presidency of Washington & Lee University. It is rumored that the position will be tendered to Hon. Wm. L. Wilson, and the salary raised from two thousand to five thousand dollars.

It is reported the largest carpet factory in the world, located at Yonkers, New York, has closed. Four thousand men are now at leisure. The immense iron works at Zanesville, Ohio, have suspended operations for the present. It is sad to hear of such events so early in the winter. It is to be hoped, however, that in due time our people will adjust themselves to the changed and changing condition of industrial affairs, and be able to appreciate the meaning of Shakespeare's memorable expression: "Sweet are the uses of adversity."

The Hollanders who settled New York are well known to our school children. Miles Standish, the May Flower and Plymouth Rock are perhaps more familiar to our teachers and their pupils than Bible stories. But of their own ancestors, who they were, what they did what they suffered and what influence the work of their arms and brains had upon the destinies of the American nation, is virtually a blank page to them. It is to be hoped that all this will be changed in due time, that attention will be so directed to this subject of historical investigation, that our people will become acquainted with ancestral history, that they will try to perpetuate the influence of their worthy fathers and keep in mind and practice their principles.

It is cheering to the friends of bimetallism to learn that Senator Wolcott and General F. A. Walker, at Mr McKinley's request, go to Europe to find out how foreigners feel about having an inter-national bi-metallic conference. Their information will be communicated to the President on their return, who will be President by that time. If their report is favorable, then steps will be taken at once for the conference. If unfavorable, then the President, may be supposed, will feel justified for doing nothing in the matter, but give his time and attention to the tariff and all that it implies. It is hoped by the friends of bi-metallism, of all parties, that Messrs Wolcott and Walker may find a sentiment so influential as may lead to the conference at an early day, and the President may be relied on to push the matter to a conclusion. Four members of the Salisbury administration in England are bimetallists. The Bimetallic League of Great Britain has for its members some of the most influential financiers of the kingdom. Public sentiment in France is overwhelmingly friendly to bimetallism, for it brought the republic triumphant and solvent through a long monetary crisis that severely injured other nations. It was bimetallism that helped France to pay the German war debt comparatively easy and without a heavy strain upon her resources. The people of Germany are anxious for a change from their gold standard to bimetallism. This is all encouraging, but the gloomy part of the money situation comes in sight when it is remembered that the interests of the money centres in London, Paris, Berlin, Wall and Broad Streets, in New York; and La Salle Street, in Chicago, are unanimously opposed to bimetallism. It looks as if there may be great reason to fear that these money centres may in the future, as in the past, defeat all attempts to secure justice to the people at large, who suffer from an apparently wise unit of value. Now if these gentlemen on their return should show that all such fears are unnecessary, then millions of their countrymen and millions of foreigners will honor them with sentiments of highest esteem. Let the issue be what it may, the movement on the part of Mr McKinley proves that the Republican Party, represented by her supreme head, the Senate, denounces that the present monetary standard and system are unjust, and that bimetallism is to be desired.

To Tell the Age of a Horse.

To tell the age of any horse,
Inspect the lower jaw of course;
The six front teeth the tale will tell,
And every doubt and fear dispel.
Two middle nippers you behold
Before the colt is two weeks old.
Before eight weeks two more will come.
Eight months the "corners" cut the gum.
The cut side grooves will disappear
From middle two in just one year.
In two years from the second pair,
In three, the corners, too, are bare.
At two the middle nippers drop,
At three the second pair can t stop.
When four years old the third pair goes,
At five a full new set he shows.
The deep black spots will pass from view
At six years from the middle two.
The second pair at seven years,
At eight the spot each "corner" clears.
From middle "nippers" upper jaw
At nine the black spots will withdraw;
The second pair at ten are white.
Eleven finds the corners light.
As time goes on, the horseman know,
"he oval teeth three sided grow;
They longer get, project before
Till twenty, when we know no more.—The Horseman.

The Cleek Family.

As one passes from Driscol towards Frost the attention is first drawn to the "Lockridge farm," once so noted for its beautiful and extensive meadows and hospitality. Adjoining this attractive property see two or three pleasant homesteads, now occupied by Messrs Peter L. Cleek, William H. Cleek, and Benjamin F. Fleshman.

The ancestor of the Cleek relationship in Pocahontas County was Michael Cleek, who was one of the earlier pioneers to occupy this attractive portion of the Knapp's Creek valley, and came from Bath County. His wife was Margaret Henderson Crawford, whose father was from Lancaster, Pennsylvania, and lived in Bath County, near Windy Cove. Michael Cleek opened the lands now possessed by the persons just named, who are his grand-children.

With the exception of two or three very small clearings, it was a primitive, densely unbroken forest of white-pine and sugar-maple. He built a log-cabin on the site of the new stable, and some years subsequently reared a dwelling of hewn timber, now the old stable at Peter L. Cleek's. Near the Cleek gate opening on the public road are the remains of a chimney, indicating the spot where Knapp Gregory, a pioneer hunter, had his camp. It is from this man the creek derives its present name, that flows nearby. This is perhaps the first clearing ever made in the present limits of Pocahontas. The last seen of Knapp Gregory was at the Lockridge fording. His sudden and mysterious disappearance was never certainly explained. The prevailing opinion, however, was that he was "put away" by some reckless adventurers who were here after no good, and possibly fugitives from justice, escaping from older settlements north or east.

The late John Cleek, father of Peter and William, and who was the oldest of the family, could just remember when his parents settled here. They came out by the way of Little Back Creek, crossing the Alleghany opposite Harper's. His mother carried him in her lap, horseback, all the distance from Windy Cove.

Michael Cleek's family consisted of three sons, John, William, and Jacob, and three daughters, Elizabeth, Barbara, and Violet.

Elizabeth married Jesse Hull, of Anthonys Creek. Their children were William Crawford, lately a merchant at Edray; John, who died in the war; Jesse; Andrew; Margaret, who married and became Mrs James McDermott, of Little Anthonys Creek; Evaline married Benjamin F. Fleshman, whose daughter, Margaret, is now Mrs William H. Cleek; Alcinda became Mrs Tyler Stephenson, of Bath County. Charles married Frank Feeley, of Anthonys Creek.

Barbara and Violet, the other daughters of the pioneer Michael Cleek, died in early childhood of some old fashioned "cold plague," and their bones lie in the old family graveyard on the farm of Peter L. Cleek.

Barbara Cleek married Jacob Hull, brother of Jesse, and spent most of his life with his brother John. The attachment these brothers had for each other was noticed and admired by all their acquaintances. They never seemed so well contented as when in each other's company. His wit and good humor was remarkable. If all his funny, harmless anecdotes could be recalled and written up one of the funniest books in the world would result, and nobody's feelings wounded thereby. He could be facetious without hurting anyone's feelings, a gift rarely possessed by humorists. He told most of his jokes on himself.

It now remains to make further mention of John Cleek, the eldest son of Michael Cleek's pioneer home. He married Phebe Ann, a daughter of Peter Lightner, who once owned the property now possessed by the families of Francis and Hugh Dever. A sketch of the Lightners is in course of preparation, when more will be said about the venerable Peter Lightner.

John Cleek spent his life on the home farm. His family consisted of three sons, Peter Lightner, William Henderson, and Shelton Washington. The daughters were Mary Ann, Caroline Elizabeth, Alcinda Susan, Margaret Eveline, and Eliza Martha.

Mary Ann was first married to the late Josiah Herold. She was left a widow, and afterwards married William C. Hull. Her daughters are Mrs Patterson Ponge and Miss Tokey Hull, near Edray.

Caroline Elizabeth married the late Lanty Lockridge. Her sons are in the far West. Alcinda Susan became Mrs Hugh Dever, and is now in Nebraska. Margaret Eveline married Renick Ward late of Randolph County, now in Colorado. Eliza Martha became Mrs B. F. Fleshman, and now lives on a part of the old homestead, as already stated.

As to the sons of Mr and Mrs John Cleek, Shelton Washington died at the age of eighteen months.

William Henderson Cleek married Miss Margaret Jane Fleshman, and now occupies one of the nice homesteads already referred to near the public road. Mrs Cleek was the eldest daughter of B. F. Fleshman, Esq.

Peter Lightner Cleek married Effie May, only daughter of the late Andrew D Amiss and Mrs Eveline Amiss. The pleasant home occupied by Mr P. L. Cleek is near the original site, across the valley from the public road, and near the foot-hills of the Alleghany. Formerly the main road passed by the old Cleek homestead, crossing and re-crossing the valley for the convenience of the residents. Thus the traveler would cover a good many miles in making but little progress in direct distance, as matters were in former times.

Mrs Eveline Amiss, sister of Isaac McNeel, Esq., at Mill Point; and also of the Hon. Mathew John McNeel, of the Levels, makes her home with Mr and Mrs P. L. Cleek.

When a person visits such homes as this group, and others of similar type often to be found, it is gratifying to believe, all over our county be is prepared to realize the truth of what the poet says: "God made the country, and man made the city." Yet the people will never be satisfied until there be a city at Driscol Huntersville, Marlinton, Hillsboro, Dunmore, Green Bank, Edray, Dilleys Mill, or Frost, from the longings one hears so frequently expressed in moving around. W. T. P.

Fatricide Prevented.—How often, conductor, does your trolley run kill a man?

Conductor (hotly)—Only once.

Sue—I hear you said I talked too much.

He—No, I said you talked all the time.

Bachelors are advised not to read in summer or search in winter.

"I am surprised that Jones should turn out such an incorrigible liar."

"I am not. When one could respect from a man with a hook nose and baby eyes?"

The Weekly Letter.

The friends of humanity are cudgeling their brains to prevent the vast amount of misery and mismating that is caused by American girls marrying foreign, no-account noblemen, for whereas their money-making fathers are only worried over the getting of a legal title to as much real and personal property as possible, the daughters have set their hearts on a different sort of an acquisition, and wish to secure legal titles for themselves. It seems to me that the American heiresses lack organization. If they would get together all would be well, and the effete nobility would not be able to bear off a rich tax payer because she is afraid it will not be good form if she does not marry a titled foreigner, no matter how much of a degenerate he may happen to be.

It is thought that the recent experience of the Baroness Poppenheim, who was a Miss Wheeler, of Philadelphia, will have a good influence upon the American heiresses. This lady, who stood well in the great city of Philadelphia, and who was able to go almost any where there she desired, is not recognized in the Court of Bavaria in any sum whatever,—by which I suppose they mean she was remanded without bail. That the lovely Miss Wheeler should have mentally blind-folded herself and compelled herself to marry the heavy swelled German Poppenheim, and be treated to the unlovely cold shoulder of a German court, seems a just retribution to a girl who was untrue to herself, her womanhood, and her country. The late Miss Wheeler must have a depraved taste, for I cannot imagine how anyone who, like that lady, is able to put up at the best hotel in the town, should wish to trespass on the hospitality of the King of Bavaria.

If our girls had a better organization they could very soon make it bad form to marry any nobleman whatever, because it is well-known that if those hoodoo things were worth having our own government would give them to us. Make it a case of noblesse oblige and maybe the fine young lady, whose grand-father dug ditches for a side of meat, will refuse the count and shame the devil. The chances of "Baron Ringworm" will not be worth a "continental" then.

I am opposed to the State of Nebraska legislating against girls marrying any one whose name has a handle to it, for, while it shows how progressive a State Nebraska is, still if you tell the girls that they can't do a thing they will "show you."

There is one point in justice to our opponents, the gentlemen from Europe, that we must mention. We will suppose that once upon a time there was a very beautiful young lady, and she was all that fancy painted, lovely and divine, and she was rich beyond the wildest dreams of avarice; and it came to pass that many men sought her hand in marriage, but as yet she had not met her fate. At last, however, at a ball given in honor of the God of Good Times, she was introduced to a good young man, who fell in love with her, and, finally, told her that he could not do without her. And she seeing that he was a man amongst men, as well as amongst women; and that he was the only man among the many thousands when she had seen and studied who could make her really happy; and that here was the life that could complete and content her own, surrendered unconditionally and was glad of the chance.

But then came the rub. The gods had had the misfortune to be born poor, and not only that, in a foreign country, and on him had had descended a title and a name which had never been dishonored. He stood as the representative of one of the purest and best families of his land, whose fortunes had declined because they had not been restored in the many unscrupulous ways employed by so many of the great families.

They were happy, and had not taken into consideration what the world would say. A splendid article in a daily paper woke the man. He asked his sweetheart if she could bear the publicity that the New York Sunday Gouger would give their affair; but she loved him with the love that casteth out fear, and smiled on his apprehensions. Then came her father howling the Monroe Doctrine, and wishing her to marry his boyhood companion, who was a self-supporting millionaire, a widower with a neglected family of children. He was bald and had a mustache that was too large for his face. He weighed 280 pounds and was of short stature. He had an unholy color about the face, and was always a "wiping of himself" with a red bandanna hrndkerchief. But why enumerate. The woman did as all true women do, and married the man she loved, and the man who could make her happy.

The New York papers went into convulsions when the wedding came off, but it did not make it wrong for those young people to marry; and they reaped the reward of their pluck by living happily ever afterwards.

An Incident of Long Ago,

Many years ago, far back in the past, a touching incident came under my observation that I may be permitted to relate. If for no other reason than its intimate connection with one whose name is a household word in the literary world. I mean the name of Mrs Margaret E. Sangster, with whom the readers of The Times feel well acquainted, doubtless. But to my "incident."

Well,—(what would stories, real or fanciful, do without that word!) this is a sad true story, remember.

The wintry cold was severe, the ground thickly-covered with snow and the river, to boys' delight, as thickly thickened with the best skating-ice. School-hours were over for the day, and of course the main attraction for the boys (girls had not dreamed skating then; the world certainly moves, as Galileo might still say, were he alive,) repaired to their wide icy field to have a merry time. Among those boys, and as gay as any of them, was a little fellow named Munson, (Richard, perhaps, I forget his first name), and Munson was the maiden name of Mrs M. E. Sangster.

The exhilerating sport continued until, sadly, the Munson boy struck an air-hole in that Hoosic River. Like an arrow he darted into the hole and was seen no more. The skating ceased. Men were warned, and speedy, diligent efforts were made to recover my friend "Margaret's" cousin, but in vain. Long ere the poor boyish form was found had the breath of life fled.

This sad event occurred many years ago, but it often comes to my mind. A. L. P.

A Song of Hope.

THE "HULL HOUSE" PRIZE POEM

After an examination of over twelve hundred manuscripts, judges in the Hull House prize competition for people s song s announced their decision. Mary A. Lashburn s original poem, entitled "A Song of Hope," which received the highest prize, is as follows:

Children of yesterday,
Heirs of tomorrow,
What are you weaving?
Labor and sorrow?
Look to your looms again;
Faster and faster
Fly the great shuttles
Prepared by the Master,
Life's in the loom,
Room for it—room!

Children of yesterday,
Heirs of tomorrow,
Lighten the labor
And sweeten the sorrow,
Now, while the shuttles fly,
Faster and faster,
Up and be stir—
At work with the master.
He stands at your loom,
Room for him—room!

Children of yesterday,
Heirs of tomorrow,
Look at your fabric
Of labor and sorrow.
Seamy and dark
With despair and disaster.
Turn it—and lo
The design of the Master!
The Lord's at the loom,
Room for him—room!

What is the man who said the tariff was not an issue?—The New York Press.

Plantation Pictures.

Mornings:
"Oh, mis'ry in de mornin'
Comes wid de turnout horn.
An' mo' an' mo' o' mis'ry
Befo' the day is gone!
From Monday on to Sadday,
Outell de sun go down,
Hit's nuttin' else but mis'ry
For all de yeah aroun'.

"I hates to heah dem roosters
Befo' de sun is riz,
I feel so stiff an' sorly
An 'full o' rheumatiz;
I's got de bad plumbago
All up an' down my back
An' every step I trabbels
I heahr my three-jints crack.

"Hit ain't no use to grumble
'Cause when dat horn done blow
Dar ain't no time to study,
You got to swing de hoe;
You's got to shake an' shiver
Wet wid de mornin' dew,
An' woen de sun gits higher
Wid swet wet, thew an' thew.

"Hit's grapplin' wid de tie-vines,
Hit's diggin' in de row,
De mo' you chop de grass dar
De mo' hit seems to grow;
My nurse an' back is achin',
An' sho'ly I'll drap dead
Ef soon dat sun a-shinin'
Don't git right overhead."

Noon:
"Dar goes de horn for dinner!
Whoopsee! You heahs it fool!
Oh, come on, boys, I'll run you
For home! Come, shake yo' tool;
I bets I beats you plowmens
Upon yo' wifee nule,
An dou' mistook dis nigger
For nary pokin' fool.

"You sees dat smoke a-curlin'
Above my chimney top?
You better jes' believe you
Dar's sumpen dare to sop;
I smellis dat pork a-sizzlin'
An' tas'e dat cattfeesh fry—
I'll be de fus' to git dar,
I bets I does or die.

"Hya! hya! O Sam, I beat you!
Yo' mule ain't got no pace—
De bes' on dis plantashun—
Does you know how to race?
Ef dar had been a possum
A-bukin' in de pot,
I could a' beat de boss's
Bay buggy mar's bes' trot."

Night:
"Tank Gawd dis is ended,
An' when dat yaller moon
Gits white an' bright an' higher
I's gwine to ketch a coon.
A heap o' sleep is fillin',
Hit's good to leave de scent;
I'se gwine to give dem varmints
A little worriment.

"Dar's mis'ry it, de mornin'—
But bes' lef' dat alone:
De res' dat comes wid night-time
Is all I calls my own;
I'll drap dem stiff rheumatics
Outell de roosters crow,
An leave off dat plumbago
Outell de turnout blow."

—Times-Herald.

Our Flag in England.

An English friend of the Companion and of the United States, at Oxford, England, writes to us that when the Prince and Princess of Wales lately visited that town with their hosts, the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough, the stars and stripes were to be seen everywhere. The biggest flag that hung out across the busiest street was the American flag. He says also that at Christmas it is a common custom to use almost as many little American flags as Union Jacks and Royal flags in decorating the Christmas trees. He adds:

"And the school children and other children for whom these trees are got up all know it, and learn to look upon the British and American flags side by side as those of two brother nations. I am not thinking of Christmas trees in any specially 'Americanized' spot (if such there be), but in country parishes and town school celebrations. Curiously enough I never heard any one refer to it or speak of it as exceptional—it is done as a matter of course, as being the natural thing to do.

"It is a sort of quiet, friendly feeling that has long been growing, and finds one of its expressions in this very simple, unemotional shape, but I am glad to think that our children here learn to look upon the American flag as they do."

We are able to confirm this statement, from a pleasant remembrance of numerous American flags displayed in the streets of Newport and Cowlesmeer, in the Isle of Wight, through which the Princess Beatrice was to pass on her way to open a bazaar at Carisbrook Castle in the summer of 1890.

It is to be feared that a smaller display of English flags, with the stars and stripes on a border even, would be up American city would draw upon those who used them a strong suspicion of disloyalty. The Youth's Companion.

Pay your subscription.

West Virginia's Lumber and Tariff.

Mr A. W. Winchester, of Buckhannon, told some lobby-workers in the members of the ways and means committee of the house of representatives, in arguing for a tariff on lumber Thursday. Mr Winchester is a practical lumberman, and is an authority with a national reputation. He argued [illegible] industry [illegible] attention [illegible] and [illegible] lumber [illegible]

There has been dry and sometimes theoretical arguments made to the committee, but Mr Winchester began the discussion of protection and all the members of the committee soon discovered that instead of a dreamy theorist he was a practical lumberman who knew what he wanted and could from experience. He went right at the heart of the subject and remained there until he had told the committee some impressive facts.

West Virginia, Mr Winchester said, is the most truly American state in the Union, and then he got down to business and told what West Virginia needs, and what is the matter with one of her greatest industries, as follows:

We do not need scientific forestry down our way. The growth of our timber is so rapid that the forests restore themselves without artificial help as fast as they can be cut away. I can show you strips of country there, which used to be main highways and wagon roads thirty years ago, which are now covered with spruce saw logs. Why do n't we use all this timber? Because Canadian lumber comes in so cheap that we can't afford to pay for the labor of cutting and milling ours. The only use we can make of it is to strip off its tan bark and sell that. So you may go along there for miles and miles and see the withered, bare, blighted-looking trunks going to waste, either rotting or offering food for forest fires, and thus not bringing anything in return, but being a positive menace to the whole country around.

Talk about labor. Why, we have in our West Virginian mountaineers not only the cheapest laborers in the country, but the most skillful ones. They make every thing they use, from the house they live in down to their coffee mills, with no tool but an ax. And those are the people whoare allowed to suffer for lack of remunerating work in the midst of nature's luxuriance because we haven't any means of keeping out foreign competition. We are supporting the foreign capitalist and the foreign laborer, and letting the best of our own remain in hurtful idleness.

All this is true as gospel. Since the tariff was taken from lumber by a free trade Congress the industry has languished. Mr Winchester's argument is not involved nor theoretical. It is enough to state facts as they are—the actual result of free trade, and it is gratifying to note, according to the newspaper accounts, his speech made a deep impression upon the committee.

The people of West Virginia voted for protection to their lumber and coal and manufactories quite as much as they voted sound money, and Mr Winchester was echoing their sentiments expressed at the polls. Our Democratic friends who do not understand why the state has been revolutionized politically might find an explanation in the lumber camps, where matters are just as Mr Winchester has described them. Wheeling Intelligencer.

Moving the Wells.—A family have recently taken into their employ a very chocked Irish maid-of all work, say that her blunders come them amusement enough to compensate for any trouble they noted.

One day, the man of the house stated in Bridget's presence that he intended having a well-house built and a piece of ground which he had made a present of to it.

"And sure, sor," said the enquiring Bridget, "will you be moving the well to a more convenient spot when the wood-house is built?"

A smile showed how completely her master had inadvertently brought new idea, and had made a mistake of some sort.

"It's sorry I am, a Bridget I'm thinkin'," she said humbly, "and to relieve you of it, you know when the well was moved many things of another would go, so as to fit.

...s Times.

EDITOR

Jan. 15, 1897.

...ESSAH in ad-
...within the year

...ffice at Marlin
...ebus water.

...more days of

...ry intends to
...of ourselves.

Senator N. C.
...hen he passed
...on his way to
...peron.

...k must surely
...be happy deliv
...iary from th

...WALK is doing
...up the Republ
...ginia, in opposi
...which pleased him

...y that Lawyer
...upon one vote.
...a New York As
...ghed States Sen
...C. Platt proved
...corporation law

...as Andrew Jack
...8, in commemo
...nal victory over
...at New Orleans.
...e called Andrew
...ir all the patriots
...had mounted the
...ed upon the law
...Jackson for their
...nding Jackson's
...economy. Very
...some of the me
...s. His father died
...his birth, and as
...ained the latter
...had two brothers
...ore lives, and of
...no special note.
...a very intense na
...ed or hated with
...No one was regard
...ence. He married
...a widow, both be
...had been granted
...as followed by an
...months, it having
...that no divorce
...ed at the time of
...ge. His wife was
...of women. A po
...ns to have Jackson
...He was compell
...a professional du
...ad-shot. Owing to
...which he dressed
...Dickinson, failed to
...trough, and only
...n the side. Then
...deliberately killed
...d sighting his pis
...dversary had fired
...ne of Jackson's bit
...foes. When Cal
...d to "nullify" Jack
...to hang him, and in
...t down the rebel
...ate possible Greer
...popular compared
...ing with which the
...ed Jackson in his

...e more mentioned
...ost work or two per
...e and their sudden
...Quite a number have
...he bulletins do not
...nfined to any partic
...Chicago, St. Paul,
...ginner, along with
...ons here and there
...rolina. The most
...ge of all this fever
...is the number of
...among the officials
...W. A. Harwood
...of the failing No
...Illinois, now stunt
...county Z. Lionel Tate
...ed to the lake and
...self to Bullfrogs.

Richard Crowther
...the limits for a short
...mmend others. He
...had lived in the
...h lands for forty-two
...ns suffered he left the
...clock and at 1. 10 in
...his fabulous body was
...black grave at Round
...and was buried
...Stokes, Alabama, a
...of the highest coun
...daughter of his own
...ed. Indeed, he got credit
...ty-seven children, some of
...ed, some grandsons and
...t is quite possible that it is
...of the latter, more than
...He many friends will
...a tender pity when they
...of his old neighbor
...and much success to him
...new one.

times had anything to do with the causes leading to suspension. There is nothing serious laid to the charge of any of the suspending officials up to the moment of discovery. While it may be true that the present monetary condition may not have caused these failures it is very certain that collapses under such strange circumstances will seriously undermine confidence, and there is no telling where the run on banks, owing to want of confidence, will end.

S. C. E.

An Interesting Manuscript.

In 1822 Alexander Campbell ancestor of the Campbells of Highland County, returned from a stay of three years in Howard County, Missouri, to his old home near head of Jackson's River, then Pendleton County, Va. The property is now owned by George Dudley. His wife, Margaret Brown, of Augusta County, died on the journey back while passing thro Indiana. James Campbell, one of the sons, kept a diary of their journey, and describes very minutely the details of each day's progress.

August 10, 1822, the party crossed Locust Creek on a "rotten, crazy bridge," and camped a mile beyond Jordan's, near which was a camp-meeting going on, which the party attended. "There was a large crowd and much stir among the people."

August 11th, Sunday morning, up very early and started, but not before a large company of people from the camp-meeting had gathered to see the tame elk that was brought from Missouri. Upon passing Major Ponge's, he came out and went with the party about a mile to hear the news from Missouri. They came to Caekley's, and failed to get grain, and then went on to the forks of the road, where they camped, and succeeded in getting some sheaf-oats from William Caekley.

Tuesday they passed up Beaver Creek, camped at Cumming's, thence past Bradshaw's, (Huntersville), up through the gap, "which was very rocky," and camped at the "Lockridge place." Thence to John Moore's and camped. The next day passed Levi Moore's, fed at "The Cabins," and in the evening reached Back Creek. "Here every thing looked familiar." Kind friends had heard of their homecoming, and had swept and garnished the premises, and welcomed their old neighbors back again. All this was very consoling to the father and his motherless sons, after the wearisome journey and the sad vicissitudes of the past three years.

With a covered wagon and seven horses and a tame elk, Mr Campbell, eight sons and two or three other persons, traveled a thousand miles. They ferried the deep rivers, had steep hills to climb, rugged roads to pass over, and spent most of the night camping by the wayside. All the particulars are graphically recorded in the diary kept by James, the eldest son, then a youth about twenty years of age.

Miss Mattie Campbell and others are putting the interesting contents of the worn and faded manuscript into a form for preservation, and will be read with increasing interest in the years go by.

Bradshaw Assigns.

We have very meagre information concerning the assignment of J. B. Bradshaw, of McDowell, but it is evidently the most important bankruptcy that has ever taken place in highland County. From reports it seems that the liabilities are about $40,000 and assets $15,000. The deed of assignment was recorded in Monterey, on Christmas day, and a sale of the personal estate was to have been held on the 14th instant.

We learn that one of the most important creditors is Mr Uriah Hessner, of Green Bank.

In addition to the assignment, Mr Bradshaw confessed judgment for $5,000 in favor of his wife, that being the amount which she had paid into the business. Mrs Bradshaw was a Miss Wimmley, of Rockingham.

Anyone who knows the genial Highland speculator will be sorry to hear of his misfortunes. He was one of the most progressive citizens, and has done much for the county of Highland. His establishing a store at the boom town of Bucklesmouth some years ago doubtless had much to do with the present shortage.

He has suffered losses in other and less important ventures. One of his first reverses was some ten years ago, when he was securing a contract to build the road from Warm Springs to the Pocahontas County line. The contractor threw up the job, and he had to finish it at a very considerable loss.

There is no doubt that in his business career Mr Bradshaw was the busiest man in Highland. He engrossed the collections of legal documents, deeds, agreements, bonds, notes, &c., &c., for miles around, and was the scrivener for the surrounding country. He was a notary public, and had the county seal in charge. He was agent for the Adams Express Company, and Treasurer and Commissioner of Revenue. He was also Clerk of the Circuit Court, and Clerk of the County Court. He was a justice of the peace, and was also a member of the Board of Supervisors. He was also a member of the Board of Education, and was also a member of the Board of Trustees of the Highland Academy. He was also a member of the Board of Trustees of the Highland Academy. He was also a member of the Board of Trustees of the Highland Academy.

Obituary.

Mrs Ella Lee Dysard, wife of L. J. R. Dysard, near Travelers Repose, died very suddenly, December 20th, after an illness of a few days, aged 30 years. Her parents were Mr and Mrs David McGlaughlin (now dead), of Driftwood, this County (Pocahontas.)

In the spring of 1892 Mr and Mrs Dysard moved from Driftwood to Travellers Repose, where they have resided ever since. (Mr Dysard is our esteemed merchant.)

In all the relations of life, as wife, mother, and neighbor, she tried to meet her duties. She was an energetic, wide-a-wake, and a tender - hearted lady. She had been a professing Christian ever since her youth, and was a member of the M. E. Church, South.

"Life's duty done, securely laid
In this her last retreat,
Unheeded o'er her silent dust
The storms of life may beat."

She is mourned by her bereaved husband; her little son, Pearly, aged 4 years; and daughter, Mamie, aged 2; and many friends and relatives. Tho her decease was so unexpected, yet all who know her feel that it was safe.

A large concourse attended her burial at her home "grave-yard" at the McGlaughlin Church, which services were conducted by Rev J. C. Jeter. May God's blessings ever be with her bereaved husband, her two little children, as well as her brothers and sister.

"Asleep in Jesus! blessed sleep
From which none ever wakes to weep;
A calm and undisturbed repose,
Unbroken by the dread of foes.

"Asleep in Jesus! peaceful rest,
Whose waking is supremely blest;
No fears, no woes shall dim the hour
Which manifests the Savior's power.

"Asleep in Jesus! far from thee
Thy kindred and their graves may be;
But there is still a blessed sleep
From which none ever wakes to weep."

E. F. B.

Highland Recorder please copy. Travelers Repose, Jan. 4, 1897.

Died, at her home at Academy, on Friday, January 8, Mrs Marshall Peatt, from pulmonary troubles, at the advanced age of seventy-eight. This estimable lady has been a great sufferer for many years. She leaves surviving her her devoted husband, Dr Marshall Peatt; and her daughter, Mrs Jas. Isabell. She was a member of the Atkinson family. One brother and several sisters are still living.

Her husband Dr Marshall Peatt, a "Doctor of the Old School," has been retired from active practice for a number of years. The married life of this worthy couple was especially beautiful. For fifty-eight years they had wandered hand in hand down the vale of life bearing each others burdens, and sharing each others joys.

The funeral was from the residence on Saturday, and the remains were laid at rest in the grave-yard of the old Oak Grove church.

Order of Publication.

State of West Virginia, County of Pocahontas, to wit:

At rules held in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court for said county, on Monday, January 4th, 1897.

Quintilla M. Burrows, Plaintiff
vs.
A. G. Burrows, Defendant.

The object of this suit is to procure a divorce by the plaintiff from the defendant; and it appearing from affidavit filed, that the defendant, A. G. Burrows, is a non-resident of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that he do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order, and do what is necessary to protect his interest in this suit.

Witness: J. H. Patterson, Clerk of said Court, this 5th day of January, 1897.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

NOTICE TO TAKE DEPOSITIONS.

To A. G. Burrows, take notice, that on the 26th day of February, A. D. 1897, between the hours of ten o'clock, a. m., and six o'clock p. m. at the residence of Quintilla M. Burrows, near Marlinton, in Pocahontas County, West Virginia, I will take the deposition of myself, and other witnesses to be read as evidence in my behalf, in a certain suit in chancery now pending in the Circuit Court of the County of Pocahontas, and State of West Virginia, to which I am plaintiff and you are defendant.

If from any cause the taking of said depositions shall not be commenced or completed on the day aforesaid, the same shall be continued from day to day, or from time to time, at the same place and between the same hours, until the same shall be completed.

QUINTILLA M. BURROWS.
By Counsel.

H. S. Rucker, solicitor.

Lee Military Academy.

Spring Term of 10 weeks begins February 1st. Pupils can enter any time. A first class school for boys. Thorough instruction in all branches taught. Prepares for business or college. Terms reasonable. Send for catalogue. Address

Lee Military Academy,
Lexington, Va.

The Pocahontas Times,

All Home Print,

Affords the People of Pocahontas County one of the best papers for the price in the State.

$1.00 per Year

GIVES YOU YOUR COUNTY PAPER.

SUBSCRIBE!

Advertise your Wares and Wants
Our rates are always low enough
to warrant your patronage.

Our Job Department has been renewed, and we guarantee satisfaction. Wedding invitations and all kinds of work done on short notice

WE HAVE THE BEST PRINTING PLANT OUT SIDE A LARGE TOWN IN THE STATE.

Now is the time to Subscribe!

The Business World

Is like the human body, in some respects. Both have their ups and downs—sick spells, and both need tonics after the crisis is over, to quicken, in one case, the life blood, and in the other the demand which sets the wheels of trade humming. It is my business to offer trade reviews to the cash customer.

HERE THEY ARE:

Woman's Fine Dongola Button Opera Toe, $1
Outings in Plaids, nice patterns, 5c
Black figured Dress Goods latest effects, 12 1-2c
All wool black, blue and grey Ladies Cloth, 22c to 30c
Men's Macintosh, black diagonal surface, $3.

I have refrained from making any extended remarks on the above on the principal that

Good Wine Needs No Bush.

THE VALUES

STICK RIGHT OUT UPON EXAMIRATION AND TRIAL OF THE GOODS.

PAUL GOLDEN

SOL DAVIS' Big Store.

Our Holiday stock is large, our goods new, our prices low, the latest in style, the finest in quality, the utmost in variety. The presents you want, of the prices you like, are all included in our up-to-date line of Clocks Jewelry, Accordeons, Albums, Blankets, Muffers, Scarfs, Picture Frames, Linen Goods, cutlery, Gloves, Mackintoshes, Trunks, Umbrellas, Shields, and

GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS

EVERYTHING AT HALF PRICES

We quote prices on a few things

Arbuckle Coffee	19c	Good Pure Candy	10 cents
Good Green Coffee	18c	Working Pants well made	85 cents
Granulated Sugar	6c	Mens Suits from 4 50 up
6 Pounds Good Soda	25c	We have some of the finest Raisons
Cakes, Oranges, and Lemons,		Prunes, Figs,

Appropriate, sensible gifts for old and young are features of this stock, which commends itself to holiday buyers. If you want to make few or many, cheap or costly, presents, this is your best chance. It will be impossible to make a mistake in your holiday buying if you select from the fair-priced stock of

SOL, DAVIS,
Green Bank, W. Va.

HEAD TO FOOT OUTFITTER.

LIGHTNING HOT DROPS

CURES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.

HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Sores of Animals and Bugs, etc.

Tastes Good. Smells Good.

BREAKS UP A COLD.

The Greatest Medicinal Whiskey the World has Ever Known.

BRADDOCK PURE RYE AND BARLEY MALT,

SMOOTH, SOFT, RICH, RIPE, MELLOW AND CHEMICALLY PURE, A RECOMMENDATION IN ITSELF.

BRADDOCK PURE RYE.

TRY A GALLON AT $2.00

Mail Orders solicited either great or small and receive our personal and prompt attention. Drop us a postal for price list. Don't use inferior goods but mail us your orders; we can save you money and perhaps your health.

JAS CLARK DISTILLING CO., JNO. McQUAIDE Mngr.

Distillers of Braddock Pure Rye, Wholesale and Retail Liquor Dealers.
20 and 22 South New St., Staunton, Va.

THE GREAT RALLY.

COME TO OUR STORE FOR BARGAINS

We are undersold by none; our prices talk for themselves; some may claim to sell low, but we are always the lowest.

Men's	$7.00	Overcoats	for	$4.75,	Men's $12.00	Suits for	$8.00
"	10.00	"	"	6.00	" 50c	Undershirts for	35c
"	12.00	"	"	8.00	Ladies 60c	" "	35c
"	4.00	Suits	"	2.75	25c	Suspenders "	15c
"	8.00	"	"	5.00	Everything else in proportion.

Other goods proportionately.

We are closing our winter boots very low. We will take in exchange for goods, Gold, Silver, Green backs, Beeswax, Ginseng, and Fur. We have been buying FUR for seven years and can pay higher for fur than most buyers. As soon as the season opens we will begin to buy, so don't forget us.

Yours for Business,

Linwood, W. Va. L. D. SHARP.

Duke! Duke!

HIGH GRADE BICYCLES!

1896 Model.

Frame long head and wheel base. Made from best cold drawn steel tubing, narrow tread, 28inch wheels, Wood Rims, Nickeled Spokes, M and W. Quick-Repair Tire. All connexions drop forged steel. Ball bearing to every part; bearings made from the best steel, tempered and ground, dust proof, 6 inch cranks, Rat trap or Rubber Peddles, one-fourth inch Humber Chain with hardened rivets and centers. Drop-forged steel sprockets, T pattern saddle post, Garford Saddle, 68 inch gear, weight 24 lbs.

Price, $50.00.

1895 Model Duke, 27lbs., Price, $40.00

A full and complete stock of Bicycle Sundries and Repairs, cyclometers, Lamps, Bells, &c. Repairing of all kinds a specialty. Send us your broken bicycles and we can make them good as new.

RESPECTFULLY,

RONCEVERTE, W. VA. Eagle AND Ott.

CLOSING OUT SALE!

Intending to remove from Marlinton as soon as I can get my business closed out, I will sell my present stock of goods at a lower rate than goods have ever been sold here before. Come in and get bargains.

All persons owing me will call and settle, or their accounts will be placed in the hands of an officer.

S. W. HOLT

MARLINTON, W. VA.

HOME NEWS.

JANUARY 15, 1897.

THE State legislature convened on the 13th. Republican is a mild term to describe its make up.

THE State executive officers hold over until the 4th of March, the same as the President.

WHEAT has been looking remarkably well. The roots kept dry and good later this winter than any in the memory of the citizens.

CAPT. J. R. APPERSON has changed his residence for the present from Marlinton to Beaver Creek. Huntersville is his post-office.

THERE will be singing at Hamilton Chapel, Saturday the 16th day of January, 11 o'clock, conducted by W. T. Price.

WE have a communication from Col. Gatewood to the Pocahontas Confederate Veterans, which will appear next week.

THE little four-year-old daughter of Mrs. Hamp. Galford near Marlinton, severed one of her fingers nearly severed another on one hand last Thursday.

A CORRECTION.—In our issue of last week a mistake was made in a marriage notice. Miss Nora B. Riley was married to Mr A. C. Burns instead of Burner as the paper stated.

We heard a very good one the other day when a worthy old country man was exhorting his pastor. "He always tells something we have never heard before," he said. "Last Sunday he told us that the Savior had been crucified between two thieves.

THIS printing office printed a brief last week for L. M. McClintic in the chancery case of Levi Gay vs. J. B. Lockridge. This case is in the Supreme Court on one point, which is, whether Mrs. Lillie B. Lockridge is entitled to a dower in the lands of J. B. Lockridge.

TWO copies left of the Recollections of the Rev Dr Jogn McElhenny, pioneer of Presbyterianism in this portion of the U. S. If any one wishes to buy this book at $1.50, ayply at THE TIMES office, or of me

ANNA L. PRICE.
Jan. 12, 1897.

THERE is a standing joke in this county that is told whenever the representative starts for the State Capital in the days before the construction we had a representative named McCarty. When he returned a rock-ribbed, iron-sided, old Democrat met him with the rather brusque remark, "Well, I reckon you found out how big a fool you were?" "Oh, yes," said McCarty, "I did and that is more than ever you have been able to do."

The progressive ladies of Westfield, Ind., issued a "Woman Kalendar" of the Westfield Year, bearing date of April 3, 1896. The paper is filled with matter of interest to women, and we notice the following from a correspondent, which the editors printed, reducing that the editors printed, reducing that it treats upon a matter of vital importance to their sex: "The best remedy for croup, colds and bronchitis that I have been able to find is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For family use it has no equal. I gladly recommend it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.

WILLIE BEARD, colored, is wanted by the officers of the law for striking a small colored boy with a bat, thereby knocking him senseless. Beard is a light mulatto, about 22 years of age, son of the Honorable Archibald Beale, of Shady Bag. A frightful death took place in a cabin situated a mile below Germantown, on the 4th of December. A little child of Isaac and Mary Chandler, was left locked in his mother's cabin while she was away. During her absence the home was set on fire, it is supposed accidentally by the child, and the boy perished in the flames. None knew of his being in the house, or he might have been saved.—Bath News.

It a casual observer was seated on the town of the moon and had his eye fixed upon that particular corner of the two hemispheres known as Marlinton, and watched the steady advancement of the railroads in that direction, he might be of the opinion that we were battling against any natural invasion, for the work continually crops in at other place. The latest advances upon our outposts is from the direction of Monterville. The contractors are busy making excavations in the hill side of the town of Monterville, so that the level of the big Levels may be reached. It is thought that by the middle of grading will be completed to Lemburg by March and then to the Rockbridge. The logical route is up the Greenbrier Valley and the air line connecting points of it running through the hill with the main branch of the R. & O. and from there on to the coal fields of Kanawha. We are in favor of the extreme that at last we have seen the first civil surveyors on the Greenbrier Valley line for the last will bring us solid

HON M. J. MCNEEL left Monday to be present in Charleston as our representative in the coming legislature.

MR FRED WALLACE, of Mill Point, the talented young attorney, will locate for the practice of his profession ot Lewisburg.

Ringing noises in the ears humming, snapping, roaring, caused by catarrh, all disappear with the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

At the sale of the goods at Frankford under the assignment of Wm. H. Overholt, Clarence Overholt, his son, became the purchaser.

THE Buena Vista Development Company has gone into liquidation. A. T. Barclay, of Lexington is receiver, appointed by Judge McLaughlin.

THE requisite papers have been prepared to remove young Miller to Bath County, Va., where he will be tried for using a mule without the colored owner's permission.

SINCE the arrest of Goodwin in Staunton parties in Huntersville now understand why their correspondence with friends in Augusta county had been so unsatisfactory of late. No money, however, has been lost.

ELISHU ROBINSON and brother, colored persons, on Browns Mountain, are very expert in the use of stilts in crossing Knapps Creek at the Curry fording. They have been known to wade the creek when it would be hardly safe to ford on horseback, or with a team, and carry forty or fifty pounds strapped to their shoulders.

MR N. O. Bacon, Manager,
Conn. Indemnity Ass'n.,
Charleston, W. Va.

Dear sir,—I have received today through your adjustor $2,000, insurance and I can not help but express to you my thanks.

Yours very truly,
JOSEPH BLEAU.

MEADOW CREEK, W. VA. }
Oct. 31, 1896. }

PROBABLY there is not a worse hated man in the lumber business than sub-contractor Gray, who got so many Pocahontas people in trouble and caused them serious losses while working on the Gauley County's timber. Among those worst damaged was the firm of Sheets & Gordon, of Beaver Dam. After a year or two of the hardest kind of work, they found themselves about $2,000 short, and nothing to pay their men. Jim Sheets, the senior partner, went to work in camp, and the other day made a payment of $100 to his men, which he had saved out of his work after supporting his family. In time Le will clear off his indebtedness. He certainly deserves honorable mention.

THE Locust Creek coal has had only a superficial development. T. F. Callison has opened the vein to greater depth than any other. He has opened the upper vein and walled it up to the distance of sixty feet or so into the hill-side. The coal discovered so far is full of sulphur, and while it makes good fuel, the smell that comes out of the chimney is terrible, and hard to be described. The corporation of the village of Hillsboro has protested, but not officially, to its use in the town. On a cold, damp day, the smell comes down and envelops the town; and two young people whose affections have been blighted, ascribe it to the depressing influence of the sulphuric atmosphere of the town. The coal that has been mined is called the "blossom." This blossom can be smelled on a quiet evening, with the wind blowing from the north, from the precincts of Mill Point, a distance of one and a half miles, and on such evening it is hard to ride into Hillsboro from the Marlinton direction.

☞To correspondents: To insure publication the name of each letter must be delivered at Marlinton by 7 p. m. on Tuesday evenings.

Throat Coughs

Is there a tickling in the throat? Do you cough a great deal, especially when lying down? Are you hoarse at times? Does nearly every one you take settle in your throat? These "throat coughs" are very dangerous. Don't neglect them. Troches, or cough syrups won't touch the spot. You must take remedies that will enrich the blood, tone up the nerves, and heal the inflamed parts.

SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites contains such remedies. It has wonderful nourishing and healing power. The cough of the weak is removed; the whole system is given new life and vigor; and the danger from threatening lung troubles is cured away.

Book about it free.
For sale by all druggists at 50c. and $1.00.
SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

Personal Mention.

"J. J Beard of Huntersville has been seriously ill for some days, but is now regarded as hopefully better. His son Dr Harry Beard, of Lewisburg was sent for.

Mrs W. A. Bratton has returned from a visit to her former home in Marshall, Va.

Mabel, eldest daughter of Geo. Wagner has been quite sick with diptheria but is recovering.

Mr and Mrs J. C. Loury have gone to housekeeping in their commodious residence opposite the hotel.

John S. Moore is teaching the Beaver creek school in a house rented for the purpose.

L. M. McClintic, and two of his children have been ill of the colds which have been prevailing.

R. S. Rucker went to Greenbrier this week to take some depositions for a case pending in the courts of McDowell county.

Capt Jack Apperson is running a lumber camp on the Chapman place on Beaver creek.

Otis Warwick spent a few days visiting friends near Huntersville.

The Editor of this paper is no exception. Like the rest of the county he has been sick too.

Letter from Jake McLaughlin.

BRIMFIELD, IND., January, 6th. 1897.—As we are starting in on the new year and all accounts of the old year should be closed, I still find a dollar in my pocket for my old county paper, a welcome visitor in my western home. We have had a lovely winter. The thermometer has not touched zero yet. After a solid week of rain, it was so hazy and smoky we could hardly see. Democrats say it was the smoke of machine shops and furnaces started up since election.

Well, times are better and prosperity is looked for after March 4.

Stock is looking up.

Cattle 3½ to 4¼, lambs 5 to 5¼, hogs 3 to 3¼, wheat 94, corn 29, oats 15. Cattle and sheep are very scarce in this country. There is plenty of corn with very little to feed it to.

I wish Pocahontas could get a railroad, that is what the county needs. I hope you will get one before long. JAKE MCLAUGHLIN.

Col. Philip D. Elkins Dead.

Col. Philip Duncan Elkins, father of United States Senator Elkins, died Sunday afternoon at the residence of his son at Elkins, W. Va., from general collapse of the system.

Senator Elkins was in Washington when telegraphed that his father was dying. He arrived at Cumberland early in the morning and went at once to Elkins by a special train, arriving there before his father expired.

The birth place of Col. Elkins was Fanquier county, Va. He was a Confederate soldier and an ardent Democrat.

County Court.

(Continued from last week.)

J. C. Arbogast resignation as Sheriff for the years 1884 to 1888, J P D Arbogast qualified as justice in Green Bank District.

In the matter of the John A Young road, B F and Elizabeth McClure refusing to accept $12 offered as compensation for the land taken by said road, it was ordered that proceedings be instituted and prosecuted in the corporate name of the County Court in the Circuit Court, pursuant to chapter 42 of code, etc.

K O Wade allowed $54.50 for keeping in repair 13 miles of Lewisburg & Marlin's Bottom Turnpike.

B F McElwee allowed $14 for goods furnished poor persons in Green Bank District.

J K Hinkle appointed surveyor of roads in the room and stead of Marion Ray.

G P Shisler was appointed and qualified as constable in the Levels District.

Samuel Sheets, J F Hill, and William Sipple qualified as the deputies of R W Hill, Sheriff.

C L Burner qualified as constable in the Green Bank District.

Samuel B Hannah and John R Reexner were appointed commissioners on the part of this Court to examine into the feasibility of building a bridge across the North Fork of Deer Creek.

E O Wade was awarded the contract for keeping in repair the Hill mine roller of turnpike commencing at Claiborne McNeil's and extending to top of Droop for a term of five years.

W C and G W Mann were awarded the contract for putting and keeping in repair 30 miles of public road commencing at Mc-Neil's and extending to the county line of this county and Randolph for a term of five years.

I F McClellan appointed surveyor of roads in the room and stead of J J Hannah.

Walter Vint appointed surveyor of roads in room and stead of C. H. Eubank.

Order directing Clerk of county court to advertise for bids for getting and keeping in suitable order 3 miles of Beaver Creek road.

Samuel Yeager, now residing in the residence of Mrs Hughes and extending to the top of the ridge on the

"Wrap Us Up in Our Greasy Horse-Blankets."

In a loose box two toughs lay asprawling,
And so on the litter they lay, they lay;
To some swipes who around them were crawling,
These winky-soaked words they did say.

Chorus.
Wrap us up in our greasy horse-blankets!
And say some poor "outlaws" lie low till low;
And we'll never return back to Bingo,
Unless we're allowed all the show.

Oh, had we the pluck of a chipmonk!
Back, back to Bingo we'd flie, we'd hie;
And rush our sweet 'Polly' 'gainst 'Mabrie,'
And hocus them all on the sly.

(Chorus.)

Then we'd bring up a Bloss(oming) jockey,
And give him a tip on the sly, the sly;
The one of that sort seldom needs one,
And never when Slick Scales is by.

(Chorus.)

Then get us two mud-spotted tombstones!
And put them both out in a row, a row;
Scratch Chipp 'Spruce,' Slick Scales,' upon them,
And plant us with Blos(om) below!
"MUD-RATER."

YELK.

Tolbert Sharp, son of Harmon Sharp, met with a serious accident by his horse falling on his leg and breaking it above his shoe. The horse was walking on the side of the road and stepped on some ice and lost his hold and fell on Mr Sharp's leg and foot, which was mashed very badly. He was carried to Hugh Sharp's. He is 18 years old.

The Iron Clads have met with bad luck. Tolbert Sharp broke his leg, Bob Gibson has a sore knee, Levi Gibson cut his ear, Charles Showalter has a sore ankle from a kick, John Gibson has a remembrance kick on his shin, Hameric froze his feet, Doyle hurt his hand, and Johnson had a nock. Sam Gibson has come home and they will probobly play a game with Mingo on the 13th.

Bonde Hannah and wife are in this part. The boys gave them a serenade.

Harmon Sharp has returned from Frost.

G. L. Hannah finds entertainment in Webster.

ONE OF THE SHEPHERDS.

A Trip to Webster.

After leaving William Hannah's, on Elk, I went to Mr John Varners of Linwood, a very hospitable gentleman. From thence to Adam Harrison's, in Webster, stopping with this jovial man Christman night." Next morning I proceeded on my journey down Mount ain Road to Elk, and took dinner with a Mr Jones,—a merchant and lumber contractor. Then in company with David Baughman and John Lynch I proceeded to William Cummings', on Mill Run, staying there over night.

I then proceeded, in company with Lynch, to David Baughman's, on Gauley River. Mr Bernard Baughman and myself started for Mr Jesse Payne's house on business, but before we reached our destination we were informed of the sudden and terrible death of a young man that morning, he being caught between the fender and a large log and instantly killed, both back and neck broken. He was horribly crushed. His name was John Conrad, son of Peter Conrad, on Elk, near the mouth of Dry Fork, in Webster County.

After viewing the remains of the departed, we arrived at Mr Paynes and were taken in and very cordially treated by this kind and clever gentleman. I next went to Mr W. McClintic's lumber camp, and enjoyed the hospitality of a jolly set of lumbermen; and should think from the appearance of things generally that Mr McClintic is doing a thriving business.

I started for Marlinton, and while passing thro that rugged part of the county, I noticed quite a lot of deer and bear sign. The track of one bear in the snow measured six inches. Deer almost as plenty, seemingly, as sheep, or at least a small flock of sheep. To Lundie's, at Marlinton, on New Year's night, where I was at the end of my jour ney. E. L.

Terrible Ammunition.

A strange war story comes from New Zealand. Some years ago Sir John Grant lived in Waikato and edited the Maori newspaper, Te Hakiel. The paper was printed and published near the scene of some of the bloodiest fighting of the war then raging.

During the struggle the Maoris ran short of ammunition, and having no ball for their fourteen pound guns, they loaded them with sheep weights confiscated from neighboring sheep keepers. This source of supply was soon exhausted.

Then a raid was made The Hakiel office and the guns were charged with type and electro blocks. This new ammunition was the story goes, proved very effective.

One of the white invaders was injured by a patent medicine advertisement, another was brained by a church banner announcement, a third had a leg through a weird picture of "The Land of Nod," and the duke who had taken refuge with the Maoris swore, and a minister escaped from being hit with one of his own prayers.—Ex.

GREEN BANK.

Mr Samuel Sheets, of Dunmore, was visiting in our vicinity last Sunday.

Mr Jesse McLaughlin spent a few days in Marlinton last week

*Mr Ed. McLaughlin, of Dun*more, was in town last Sunday.

Mr Ezra Wooddell and family have returned home from Frost where he had been visiting relatives and friends.

Mr Frank Wilfong and wife of Hillsboro, were visiting in our neighborhood this week.

*Master Frank King, of Marlin*ton, was in town a short while last Monday, accompanied by his brother, who was returning to his school at Oak Grove.

Quite a number of young people *attended the entertainment at Dun*more and pronounced it a success.

There is a good deal of sickness in this neighborhood at present.

There was a match game of foot ball at Green Brank last Saturday, between the Green Bank and Oak Grove teams, which resulted in a tie. The game was hotly contested by both terms, but neither were able to score. The return game will be played at Oak Grove in the *near future and a lively time is an*ticipated.

Jessie Ormsloff and Miss Emma Ervine were quietly married at the residence of the bride's parents last Wednesday morning. They have the best wishes of their many friends for a long and happy life.

Weddings seem to be quite a common thing with us.

MOSHICAN.

Linwood.

The people of Linwood seem to be enjoying the New Year very much.

There was a turkey roast at Col. A. C. L. Gatewood's on New Year's day which was very much enjoyed by all present.

The social given by Mr and Mrs Samuel Varner was a very enjoyable affair. After supper games and other amusements were indulged in until a late hour. We thank the good people for the evening's enjoyment.

The social given by Mr and Mrs John Sheets was attended by a number of ladies and gentlemen who say they wish such occasions would occur oftener.

Several ladies and gentlemen attended the dinner given by Mrs M Slanker. This was an enjoyable affair.

Mr Moss McLaughlin, has been visiting in this part.

Mr Yancey Ligon attended the social at Mr Varner's. Yancey is a hustler at playing the game called "Old Maid."

John Sheets says he would like to go to Mingo to play foot ball, if it were not for quarreling with the women.

Howard Showalters family have returned after a visit on Elk.

Miss Emma Burner's school will close Thursday. We are all sorry to see her leave us.

The girls all think J. R. Showalter so much better looking since he came back from Augusta, but they are all so sorry to think he is engaged.

C. W. Showalter has gone to Webster to work in the lumber camps. C. P. WRECKLESS.

Laurel Creek.

Hurrah for the State of Pocahontas! Williams River is on a boom again.

H. Nathan and W. H. Shearer returned Sunday from a business trip to Randolph. They bought a nice pair of gray horses. You will please come and examine them before they are sold.

More trouble on the mountain. While Nathan was away some one laid down the rail fence to let the horses in the corn, and was kind enough to take an old black, burnt club and bust the blank fence of Nathan, Shearer & Co.

Cruit Reid moved the 11th inst. to his future home in Greenbrier County.

Luther McNeel's youngest child is very low at present. Also Mrs Snyder is suffering with consumption.

There was a panther at the house of H. Nathan early Sunday morning, which yelled at the front door and caused quite an excitement at 5 o'clock.

Old man Wilfong married John McGlaughlin and Sal Townsend, last Wednesday, at Warwick Simmons'. A nice dinner was prepared, and we wish them much joy.

Jim White is very sick with cold. We hope he will soon be better.

MORE CURATIVE POWER

Is contained in a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla than in any other similar preparation. It costs the proprietor and manufacturer more. It costs the purchaser more and is worth more to the consumer. It has a record of cures unknown to any other preparation. It is the best and the cheapest. It has a reputation unequaled by any other medicine. Gentle, reliable, sure.

Lumber.

I have for sale a quantity of first-class white pine lumber, well sawed.

Also furnish bills sawed to order at bills are given me by February 1st. H. M. SMITH, Dunmore, W. Va.

Knapps Creek

We have had some delightful weather since Christmas.

Mr S. G. Dever, of Highland, was visiting his sister, Mrs Hamilton Moore. Mrs Moore is in a critical condition, suffering from consumption.

Mr Homer Gum and his sister, Miss Clara, were on the Creek Sunday.

Mr Price Moore and Mr M. F. Herold went to Marlinton on business last week.

Mr J. G. Harper, Miss Bessie Hannah, and Mr J. A. Moore are on the sick list.

Penie Herold left last Wednesday for Kansas, where he will make his future home.

Mr John A. Cleek is still keeping P. O.

The people want Hon John A. Moore for constable in this district.

I. R. Moore killed a log that weighed 414 pounds.

Mr Price Moore's school will soon be out.

Some people say there is to be a bar-room at Frost in the near future. What a dreadful place it will be!—NEXT DOOR TO THE OTHER PLACE

The prospects are now that there will be some weddings in the near future. Keep your eye on the indicator.

Mr Wise Herold was in High land on business last week.

"JERRY"

Look! This Way!

We call your special attention to your notes and accounts you are due us. We have waited on you a long time to pay us what you owe, but you have not done so. You will please call on or S. B. Moore, Edray, W. Va., and pay every cent you owe. We cannot wait always on you for our money, and if our accounts and notes are not paid soon we will be compelled to place them in the hands of an officer for collection. Very respectfully,

MOORE & HANNAH.

Per S. B. Moore, Jan. 8, 1897.

Persons who are troubled with indigestion will be interested in the experience of Wm. H. Penn, chief clerk in the railway mail service at Des Moines, Iowa, who writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the merits of Chamberlain's Cholera, Colic and Diarrhoea remedy. For two years I have suffered from indigestion, and am subject to violent attacks of pain in the stomach and bowels. One or two doses of this remedy never fails to give perfect relief. Price 25 and 50 cents; sold by all druggists.

Notice.

Our accounts are now ready for settlement. All persons are required to settle their old accounts be*fore they ask for more credit.*

2w AMOS BARLOW.

Farmers' Home Fire Insurance Co., of West Virginia

INCORPORATED.

J. M. SYDENSTRICKER - - - President.
R. P. RITTENHOUSE - - Sec'y & Treas.

By the People and for the People.

For Isolated Property only. No Salaried Officers to Support. No capitalists to Enrich. No Loss, no Expense. Fair and Honorable Adjustment of all Losses. Cost less than one fifth of what is paid o ock companies, and is five times as secure. In most successful operation in all of the adjoining States. Thousands served by Farmers.

T. L. REYNOLDS & SONS, Agents
Lewisburg, W. Va

Lost! Lost! Lost!

Money Lost

by not trading with us. We mean business, as you will find if you give us a trial.

'The proof of the pudding is in the eating.'

Buy one bill of us for your own special benefit.

THE MONEY WE DO NOT SPEND PAYING TRAVELLING MENS' BILLS IS SHARED WITH OUR CUSTOMERS. WE SEEK NO TRADE THAT IS NOT OURS BY VIRTUE OF LOW PRICES AND HONEST GOODS. OUR REPUTATION AS Spot Cash Buyers bring us bargains that credit never saw. We give bargains; the prices tell the people, and the people tell the prices.

We will take poultry
Monday, January 18,
and will pay the following prices: Dressed poultry, scalded, head and feet off (no offal).

TURKEYS 8c
CHICKENS 5c

We will buy hogs and fat throughout the winter. Friends, do n't forget to give us your trade. Yours respectfully,

L. D. Sharp.
LINWOOD, W. VA.

Pay your subscription.

Nervous

People find just the help they so much need, in Hood's Sarsaparilla. It furnishes the desired strength by purifying, vitalizing and enriching the blood, and thus builds up the nerves, tones the stomach and regulates the whole system. Read this:

"I went to praise Hood's Sarsaparilla. My health run down, and I had the grip. After that, my heart and nervous system were badly affected, so that I could not do my own work. Our physician gave me some help, but did not cure. I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Soon I could do all my own housework. I have taken Hood's Pills with Hood's Sarsaparilla, and they have done me much good. I will not be without them. I have taken 18 bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and through the blessing of God, it has saved me. I worked as hard as ever the past summer, and I am thankful to say I am well. Hood's Pills when taken with Hood's Sarsaparilla help very much." MRS. M. M. MORRISON, Prescott, Iowa.

Cured

This and many other cures prove that

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills are reliable, prompt and efficient. 25 cents.

RECEIVERS' RENTAL OF LANDS.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, made on the 4th day of October, 1896, in the chancery cause of Levi Gay, et als., vs. J. B. Lockridge, et als., the undersigned special receivers will on the

6th day of Feb., 1897,

at the front door of the court house of said county, proceed to rent by way of public auction to the highest bidder for the term of one year, the lands in the bill and proceedings mentioned belonging to the defendant, J. B. Lockridge, consisting of the farm upon which the said Lockridge now resides, situated at Driscol, in said county. Said farm is in good state of cultivation and has thereon all necessary buildings in good repair.

Terms.—Cash in hand sufficient to pay costs of rental, and for the residue the renter executing bonds with good personal security, payable on the 21st day of December, 1897.

W. A. BRATTON,
L. M. MCCLINTIC,
Receivers.

*By order of said decree, the bond al*ready given in this case is held sufficient for the above rental.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

VALUABLE

Property for Sale Privately.

One of the most complete residences in the county, situated in the village of Hillsboro, is offered for sale privately, on good terms.

This would be especially valuable to any doctor who wishes to locate in one of the best sections of the State. The owner, a physician, wishes to retire, for private reasons that will be perfectly satisfactory to any proposed purchaser.

Further information cheerfully afforded any inquirer by the editor of this paper.

Notice.

I hereby notify all persons from trespassing on my land by hunting, laying down fences, or in any other way. JOSEPH S. SMITH.

SPECIAL POTATO FERTILIZER and High Grade General Phosphate made from

VEGETABLE and ANIMAL MATTER.

Every farmer should write for prices, terms, and circulars.

AMERICAN REDUCTION CO.,
Pittsburg, Pa.

FEED, LIVERY AND SALE STABLES.

First-Rate Teams and Saddle-Horses Provided.

Of Horses for Sale and Hire. ☞

SPECIAL ACCOMMODATIONS FOR DRIVERS.

A limited number of horses boarded.

All persons having horses to trade are invited to call. Trading boots to us will suit you.

J. B. G. WILSON,
Marlinton, W. Va.

Notice.

Your accounts are hereby now ready for settlement. Please call at the store and pay some of them and save your cost. I cannot carry your accounts longer. Please do not take it unkind. Yours respectfully,

J. B. WEBB.

Jan. 8, 1897.

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, Jan. 15, 1897.

Subscription ONE DOLLAR in advance. If not paid within the year $1.50 will be charged.

Entered at the post office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

County Directory

Judge ..... J. M. McWhorter
Pros. Attorney .... L. M. McClintic
Sheriff ..... E. W. Hill
Clerk County Court .. S. L. Brown
Clerk Circuit Court, J. H. Patterson
Assessor ..... J. H. Buzzard
Com'rs. Co. Ct. { Amos Barlow / C. R. Beard
Surveyor ..... George Baxter
Coroner ..... George P. Moon

BOARD OF HEALTH—Dr J. W. Price, L. M. McClintic, M. J. McNeel, R. W. Hill.

JUSTICES—Uriah Byrd, Marlinton; A. C. L. Gatewood, Linwood; P. D. Arbogast, Green Bank; W. H. Gross, Huntersville; G. R. Curry, Academy; T. A. Bruffey, Lobelia.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

Business Rules.

When a subscriber orders his paper discontinued he is, of course, expected at the same time to pay up all arrearages.

No attention will be paid to anonymous communications. You need not sign your real name, but it must always accompany your communication.

On all job work our terms are cash, except in cases of merchants and others with whom we have running accounts.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. EUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. MRBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BERRYMAN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

R. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal work.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. G. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. F. WEYMOUTH,
ECLECTIC DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every month for two weeks. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager & Bro.'s store. Calls promptly answered.

PATTERSON & SIMMONS
MARLINTON, W. VA.
Plasterer ... Contractor

WHO COMMANDS THE FRENCH?

Corps Commanders and Division Generals Hold Equal Rank.

According to the regulations the minister of war is commander in chief of the French army. But as set passed in 1889 provides that this high dignitary must remain in Paris if a war breaks out. The actual command will be assumed by a major general designated for the purpose by the ministry—at present, Gen. Saussier. Well and good; but this officer has no right to prepare the army according to his ideas in time of peace. He receives the command over the different corps from another man, of whom, perhaps, he differs materially in opinion. The responsibility for the state of the army is thus divided and cannot be fastened upon any one person. Further, the highest rank in the French army is that of division general. There are some higher functions, such as the command of an army corps and the army inspection, but these functions are attended to by the division generals who stand in the same rank with their inferiors in command. In times of peace this causes unpleasant jealousy, during war time it may lead to conflict and disorder. With regard to the commanders of army corps the matter is now so bad, as they are in touch with troops and leaders under their commands. But how is a general to command an army if the chiefs of four or five army corps and some 20 division generals of the same rank as himself? Will he be obeyed?

The impropriety of this state of things is well known to the French, but the conditions of the republic exclude the possibility of suitable reforms. If any general were given an extra feather in his hat or one more star on the collar of his coat he might use his new authority against the republic. On the other hand, the hundred or so of division generals hold each other in check. Yet, the responsible heads of the army fear that serious difficulties will arise in case of war, and the present minister of war has drawn up a bill for the mitigation of the evil. He suggests the appointment of a responsible council of war and the creation of a new rank, that of "army general." Twenty-five of the division generals are to be raised to it, and they must be chosen from the officers who already act as army commanders and army inspectors.

It is, however, doubtful that even this moderate reform will be allowed to pass the chambers. Already the radicals and socialists raise a row and declare that Billot is preparing for a coup d'etat. On the other hand, the military press points out that it would be much better to give the future commanders of armies a higher hierarchic position and to enable them to exercise some power over the troops they are to lead in time of war. But the military authorities understand that, if 25 commanders are raised to a higher rank the present difficulty in the appointment of chiefs is at least narrowed down. More radical reforms would be likely to meet with still greater opposition than the proposition which Gen. Billot has formulated with the assistance of his civilian fellow ministers.—Berlin Rundschau.

ADVICE TO MEN.

Don't Wear Long Hair and an Air a Dishabille.

In seeking to win the affection and friendship of women, dear boys, you will find dress an important thing to be considered by a woman writer.

Although I will not go as far as to say that a woman's heart has ever been broken by a badly bundled tie, I have known a woman to look at a bulging shirt bosom and decide that even if she could ever consent to pillow her head upon such an uncomfortable-looking spot the fond vivacity of the waistcoat beneath would make rest there quite impossible. I am not going to tell you what to wear. That is the work of mightier intellects than mine. And there are the young lady male impersonators of the variety stage to copy. These represent the woman's ideal of man's clothing. I may, however, prove myself useful in telling you what not to wear. To begin with, there is one rule you should have written on your mirrors. It is this:

Do not dress like a genius, even if you are one.

The average woman has a strong aversion to go out with a gentleman who—because hazel wreaths have gone out of fashion—adorns his head with long hair, short trousers, decollete shirts and a generally carefully arranged dishabille.

The average woman is a silly little thing, you know, and she would rather that you looked commonplace and well groomed than that every necktie should be able to tell that she is walking with an intellectual giant.

As for the woman above the average—well, she knows that you're not a genius, anyhow, and won't bother her with fresh neckties and doeskin waistcoats.

Remember that I am directing your dress to meet the tastes of the majority of women. There are ladies who go riding on tandem bicycles with gentlemen who wear soft neckties, and women love the society of a necktie or vest that almost barks.

The ring, watch-chain and tie-a-bone are considered all exactly right by the stand on the other side of the footlights and have a taste for anything that jollies even if it isn't to taste.

By the choice of hats you may be loved for your sensible, but a large percentage of the sweeter sex prefer to do all the glittering that is to be done themselves.—N. Y. World.

Queer Concert Receipts.

While once making a professional tour around the earth Miss Tualatin agreed to come at a concert on the Fiji islands for the benefit of the widow of a local celebrity. She was sudden surprised, though not frightened, with her consent. When the concert was concluded it proved that the widow's share amounted to 2 pigs, and an immense quantity of tobacco, weapons and bracelets. One must be generous, you know.

Fragments.

Fragments of Little things Illustrate curious Englishmen's knowledge of American geography very picturesquely. An Englishman who had taken the Niagara Falls Route and followed the Lakes to Chicago, on coming to bed before the train started, asked:

"Porter, porter!"

"What is it, sah?"

"Is this Chicago?"

"No, sah; dis is Buffalo."

"Then why the deuce did you let me go to sleep?"

"Why, sah, I didn't know you wanted to go to Chicago."

"Didn't I tell you to call me when we got to Buffalo?"

"Yes, sah, but I thought you was jokin'."

Sunlight Soap's Latest Scheme.

Messrs Lever Bros. Ltd., proprietors of Sunlight Soap, do nothing by halves. They have built up the largest soap business in the world, first, by turning out a very superior article, and second, by pluck and attractive advertising. Their latest stroke in the United States is a bold one. It is a Monthly Wrapper Competition, the tempting features of which are the presentation of $3,400 in cash, bicycles, and gold watches every month of the year 1897, to those who collect and send in to Lever Bros.' New York office the largest number of Sunlight "coupons." The total value of the prizes to be awarded during the year 1897 is $40,800.

The competition will commence January, when four first prizes, of $100 cash, twenty second prizes of $100 Pierce Special Bicycles, and forty third prizes, each of $25 gold watches will be awarded to the successful competitors of that month.

A great advantage in this competition is that it is held monthly, and, therefore, those who do not succeed for one month, have plenty more opportunities during the year. Rules and full particulars are given in our advertising columns from time to time. The firm of Lever Bros. is thoroughly responsible and will do all they promise.

New Method.

A man who was for some years in the log and lumber business on the shore of Lake Michigan tells a little incident illustrative of the Irishman's unwillingness to acknowledge his ignorance of any subject.

One day a young Irishman applied for work.

"Can you raft and boom logs," asked the lumber merchant.

"Uv cnoorse, sorr," replied the unemployed with cheering promptness.

"Well, then," said the lumber merchant, "go up on the gap above the railroad bridge and boom all the logs you find with my mark. Any of the raftsmen will tell you about the mark, the locality of the gap, and so forth."

The Irishman hesitated a moment and then with an ingenuous smile said:

"I'll be agoin' directly, sorr; do you boom the logs as we do in the owld counthry, I dunno? Is it wid a showel ye boom em, sorr, or how?

"A Mail Car."

An amusing story is told by the New York Tribune of a woman who resented what she supposed was an exclusive privilege granted to men.

A determined looking woman tried to get on a street car in Philadelphia the other day, when it had made a momentary stop on account of a blockade; but the conductor said to her:

"Take the next car, madam; we don't carry passengers."

"What's the reason you don't?" she inquired, at the same time making an effort to scramble aboard just as the car started.

"You can't get on; it's a mailcar," shouted the man on the rear platform.

"The idea!" muttered the woman shaking her green umbrella in the rapidly disappearing conductor, "to the infinite delight of a number of spectators. "A male car, and won't be women ride on it! I'll report you to-morrow—see if I don't!" and she made a note of his number.

A Cure for Lame Back.

"My daughter, when recovering from an attack of fever, was a great sufferer from pain in the back and hips," writes Louden Grover, of Sardis, Ky. After using quite a number of remedies without any benfit she tried one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and it has given her entire relief." Chamberlain's Pain Balm is also a certain cure for rheumatism. Sold by all druggist.

All Foreigners.

The Philadelphia North American quotes the saying of a man who is disturbed about the future of his native land.

Mr Banner—The foreigners are getting a awful hold in this country.

Crosby—They are, indeed. Why, I read over a list of men naturalized by the court yesterday, and every one of them was a foreigner.

The Railroad.

A good force of hands, we hear about forty, is now at work grading the proposed railroad from Ronceverte to Lewisburg. The Company and a car load of tools last monday, has established a commissary at Ronceverte, is contracting for ernation and making arrangements for active prosecution of the work. We further learn that a large force of hands will soon be got on the road and that the company expects to have it completed to Lewisburg by the last of March. We have nevertheless able to learn what is the cause of all this activity. But we do know the objective point lied in view. There has been a good deal of speculation among our people in regard to the matter, the general opinion being that it was to tap the Kanawha at the mouth of Gauley, but we have the word direct from the proper part of the county. So this is no longer a matter of conjecture. But there is every indication that Ronceverte and Lewisburg will be more closely united by a connecting railroad, and by a consolidation of interests will be a formidable competitor for the eastern business of the future of Judge Hall.—Greenbrier Independent.

His Silver Term.

REPRESENTATIVE CATCHINGS of Mississippi—"My dear Catchings" as Cleveland called him—was a sound money Democrat during the early days of the Administration, and until the question of his return to Congress depended on his change of heart. Then he came out for silver and was re-elected.

The other day some of the Democrats in the House were discussing the possible Democratic member of the committee on Rules to take the place of the late Judge Crisp. Some one suggested Mr Catchings.

"But Catchings is a silver man," said a Southern member.

"Oh, no," instantly remarked Representative Owens, of Kentucky, "his silver term does not begin until the 4th of March.—The Post, Washington.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF } ss.
TOLEDO, LUCAS COUNTY }

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

SEAL
A. W. GLEASON,
Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

He (telling a hairbreadth adventure)—"And in the bright moonlight we could see the dark muzzles of the wolves."

She (breathlessly)—"Oh, how glad you must have been that they had muzzles on!"—Harper's Bazar.

C. B SWECKER,
General Auctioneer
and Real Estate Agent.

Iseell Coal, Mineral and Timber Lands Farms and Town Lots a specialty. 21 years in the business. Correspondence solicited. Reference furnished.

Postoffice—Dunmore, W. Va., or Alexander, W. Va.

Old Dominion Building & Loan Association.
OF
Richmond, Virginia.

J. TAYLOR ELLYSON, President.
E. A. BARBER, Treasurer.

DIRECTORS.

J. Taylor Ellyson, Norman V. Randolph, John B. Purcell, John S. Elliet, Frank T. Sutton.

Authorized Capital..... $20,000,000.
Subscribed Capital..... 5,000,000.
Paid Up Cash Capital..... 1,500,000.
Assets..... 2,000,000.

Depository—State Bank of Virginia. Investment stocks cost $1.00 per share, membership fee, and 60 cents per month afterwards—withdrawable after twelve monthly payments, and accrue to the event of the death of the stockholder.

H. A. YEAGER, Agent.
MARLINTON, W. VA.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR
FOR THE WHEELING
Weekly Intelligencer,
West Virginia's Leading Newspaper.

The coming year promises to be one of great moment to every American citizen. An important change is at hand in the administration of public affairs. There will probably be a special session of Congress immediately following the inauguration of the new President. The tariff, especially in the matter of wool and coal, will be at once under discussion, and legislation looking to the restoration of the national finances to a sound basis will be introduced. There will also be a new adjustment in West Virginia, and there is every indication that enterprises of great importance to the public welfare will be set on foot in this state. The proposed river improvements will be begun. New railroads will be built, and new material resources of every kind developed. The year 1897 promises to be one of the golden years of the State and Nation. Business will everywhere revive, and the columns of the INTELLIGENCER will keep with the evidence of great opportunities for business.

Every family should have a live newspaper of this character in its midst, so that the old and young of the household may know all of the particulars of the great awakening that is at hand.

TERMS AND PREMIUMS.

THE WEEKLY INTELLIGENCER, one year in advance..... $1 00
THE WEEKLY INTELLIGENCER, six months in advance..... 50
Five copies one year and extra copy to person getting up club..... 5 00
10 copies one year and extra copy to person getting up club..... 10 00
Agents for profitable work. Sample copies free. Address
THE INTELLIGENCER CO.
Wheeling, W. Va.

The premium copies will be sent to any address desired. It is very unwise to send money in letters, as they are liable to be lost and the money refunded by the postmaster of the office. It is not necessary to register letters, as the loss of a registered letter is very rare indeed, but it is necessary to get the postmaster of the office to which you send to give you a receipt for the letter. Then if it is lost you can get the postmaster to find it. Be sure to get a receipt for the letter, as it is impossible to find a letter without a receipt. Address all letters to the Intelligencer Co., Wheeling, W. Va.

We would say to those who are getting up clubs for the Weekly Intelligencer that we have no premium to offer, but will allow a liberal commission to those who will send us clubs. We want agents in every town and county in the State, and will pay liberally for their services. Address as above.

MEDICAL WISDOM.

THE DREADED CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

T. A. Slocum, M. C., the great Chemist and Scientist, Offers to Send Free, to Afflicted, your Bottles of His Newly-Discovered Remedies to Cure Consumption and all Lung Troubles.

Nothing could be fairer, more philanthropic or carry more joy in its wake than the offer of T. A. Slocum, M. C., of 183 Pearl street New York City.

Confident that he has discovered an absolute cure for consumption and all pulmonary complaints, and to make its great merits known, he will send, free, three bottles, to any reader of The Pocahontas Times, who is suffering from chest, bronchial, throat and lung troubles or consumption.

Already this "new scientific course of medicine" has permanently cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases. The doctor considers it his religious duty—a duty which he owes to humanity—to donate his infallible cure.

Offered freely, apart from its inherent strength, is enough to commend it, and more so is the perfect confidence of the great chemist making the proposition.

He has proved consumption to be a curable disease beyond any doubt.

There will be no take in sending—the mistake will be in overlooking the generous invitation. He has on file in his American and European laboratories testimonials of experience from those cured, in all parts of the world.

Delays are dangerous. Address T. A. Slocum, M. C., 183, Pearl street New York, and when writing to the Doctor, please give express and postoffice address, and mention reading this article in The Pocahontas Times.

MARLINTON HOUSE.
Located East End of Bridge.
Terms.
per day . 1.00 & 1.50
per meal - - - 25
Good accommodations for horses at 25 cents per feed.
Special rates made by the week or month.
C. A. YEAGER, Proprietor.

TWENTY-SIX American women have matriculated for the new term of the Berlin University.

GOVERNOR O'FERRALL has in the past year pardoned 134 persons out of the penetentiary. The governor will now never be without tried friends—Staunton Spectator.

THE woman suffragists have not but forty one more States to conquer. Come to think of it, Idaho has a sort of a womanly sound.—The Herold, Boston.

A VENETIAN who had never traveled save by gondola was placed in a balky horse. He took out his handkerchief and fanning it up exclaimed, "No wonder! The wind is against him.

Lancesburg Ky. Dec. 30 Sam May who has been suspected of violation of the revenue laws, last night accused Washington Smith of informing on him and he assault ed Smith with stones and clubs and with the assistance of his two brothers they beat Smith to death.

EXTENSIVE deposits of ancient volcanic ash in southwestern Nebraska have lately been turned to useful account as a source of pulverized pumice, which has become an important article of commerce. Professor Salisbury, of the University of Chicago, after examining the localities where the ash is found, concludes that it was deposited in water at a time when that region of country was covered by a lake which is supposed to have existed late in tertiary period, and the ash is believed to have been borne thither by winds.—The Youth's Companion.

A Strong Fortification.
Fortify the body against disease by Tutt's Liver Pills, an absolute cure for sick headache, dyspepsia, sour stomach, malaria, constipation, jaundice, biliousness and all kindred troubles.
"The Fly-Wheel of Life"
Dr. Tutt; Your Liver Pills are the fly-wheel of life. I shall ever be grateful for the accident that brought them to my notice. I feel as if I had a new lease of life.
J. Fairleigh, Platte Cannon, Col.
Tutt's Liver Pills

SAVES its cost in LABOR ten times over. Rub it on lightly; let the clothes soak a short time; then rinse. It washes the Clothes itself and doesn't hurt the clothes.

Pure Soap Co. Baltimore, Md.

What is
CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of the good effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSBORN,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY,
ALLEN C. SMITH, Pres.,
Boston, Mass.

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

IT TICKLES YOU
THE INSTANT RELIEF YOU GET FROM
LIGHTNING HOT DROPS.
CURES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.
HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Bites of Animals, Serpents, Bugs, etc.
BREAKS UP Bad Colds, La Grippe, Influenza, Croup, Sore Throat, etc.
SMELLS GOOD. TASTES GOOD.
SOLD EVERYWHERE AT 25c AND 50c PER BOTTLE. NO RELIEF, NO PAY.
HERB MEDICINE CO. (Formerly of Fenton, W. Va.) SPRINGFIELD, O.

Simms & Co.,

RONCEVERTE, W. VA.

Silver Steel Plow, Syracuse Chilled Plows, Imperial Chilled Plows.

PLOW REPARS OF ALL K NDS AT
LOWEST PRICES EVER OFFERED HERC

RED WARRIOR POLL AXES 65c
GREENBRIER " " 60c
CHAMPION " " 50c

4 No. 2 Horse-shoes for 75c | 4 No. 3 Horse-shoes 18c
4 No. 4 " " 25c | 4 No. 5 " " 16c

COOK-STOVES OF ALL KINDS

1 doz. 8x10 Window Glass 25c | Berea Grindstone 1 1-4x15
Parsols, Oils, Furnishes, etc.

Our goods are all first class, no shoddy or job-lots, or damaged goods. Strike us for prices before you buy.

Simms & Co.,
Opposite Passenger Depot. Ronceverte, W. Va.

A $5.00 Boys Sampson Suit, with Extra Pair of Pants, for $2.76
LOOK MOTHERS A RARE TREAT FOR YOU ALL.
REMEMBER, the Boys Sampson Suit, with Extra Pair of Pants, for $2.76
AND WE PAY EXPRESS CHARGES TO YOUR DOOR.
Largest Clothing House in America.

R. ROSENBURGER & CO., 104 & 106 N. New York C

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 14, NO. 26 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, JANUARY 22, 1897 $1.00 PER YEAR

FURNITURE FACTORY

AND

Furniture Store.

"The Furniture Made to Order.

TOOK ALWAYS ON HAND.

occupying the Temporary Court house and am prepared to make order all kinds of Furniture at lower prices than can be obtained elsewhere. Don't be cheated in Furniture but buy from a relia ble and first maker who works up the entire woods.

an order you furniture from the city at better terms than you can get your life. Whenever you need anything in my line you will money by giving me a call.

W. J. Killingsworth.

A Worthy Ancestral Pride.

The Greeks gained for them- an enviable fame for all that character in litera- loquence, and seemed

Why Do People Talk So Much?

Come, now! Ask me something easier to answer than that. In all the fogs and mists and strange fields the reading habit and the habit of observing others have brought me, I have found people ing in this ancient art. As it, I do n't bother;

Did not Homer, the great- writers, the author of that fri- invention the Illiad, and other ep- ics, actually die of a broken heart through not being able to guess a riddle? Why of course he did. He tried to guess it, not being able to, he was aroused to a conscious- ness of his horrible situation, wrote an epitaph for himself, and died on the third day after. We get all this story from a lost book of Aris- totle,—so a professor in a young ladies' school used to say. That seemed to be a local legend with him.

Most people talk in these en- lightened days. They begin in early life before reaching the age of discretion, and it is small won- der that many startling things are said in the world. Egypt, Ireland, Marlinton, and the earth generally, sometimes feel the need of some sort of legislative control of speech

It is talk that brings battle-ships together from the uttermost parts of the earth to do death, while the war-horse smelleth the battle from afar, paweth in the valley, and saith Ha, ha! at the thunder of the captains, same as Scripture says. But in spite of all the plunging of war-horses, nearly every body enjoys the talk of the day, but if one delves into it talker he becomes tired of the talk of those days and what it has led up to.

Think of that talkative ghost who left the shades for one short hour to tattle to Hamlet about his troubles, that made every body go to talking and writing about the "ghost that would not down," and lined our walls with musty books, scientific discussions on the pos- sibility of ghosts. There are people in those days who, like Hamlet's ghost, can keep up end- less streams of talk, quite regard- less of the consequences to the hearer, who has to think out one day all he expects to say on the next.

I am reminded of a certain oc- casion, (perhaps I will be misun- derstood, but let it go; I don't sup- pose it will be the first time,) a beautiful girl friend of mine had an ardent admirer, a young man of vast attainments, who was a great talker,—the greatest I ever knew. He was no ghost, but he would not down either. Once he called upon the object of his best conversational efforts, and I by some mismanagement or other happened to be present. In one little hour by the clock my poor friend said very little, I not at all. The young man gave us a collec- tion of fragments from the poets, memories, and prophecies, weeds and roses, clouds and good roads, sights and sounds, passions and emotions, fish stories, and constel- lations. "I did not ask the wound- ed person how she felt. I myself became the wounded person."

I am young. I have not had many experiences, but no doubt every experience, like a circum- scribed subcutaneous inflamation, is worth five dollars.

Before we leave this subject for a life-time, I want to know if you ever heard of people who make it a business to talk about their friends and neighbors in a way to shock a sensitive person with the hollowness and insincerity of mod- ern life? I have heard people do that, and it makes me sad. I think—but what is the use of thinking so hard and wasting so much good English language? Who cares these days if sympa- thetic people gather themselves to- gether, open the flood gates of scandal, and gush people over the coals for things they think they have done or left undone? The stones of speech are great, and it's almost a pleasure, for those who are inclined that way, to pelt themselves by the hour with the judgment on other people's

Why Do People Talk So Much?

and creeds and modes of thought and habits, should remember peo- ple of old—

"Who builded a tower to shiver the sky, and wrench the stars apart, Till the Devil grunted behind the bricks: 'It's striking, but is it art?' The stone was a- dropped by the quarry side and the idle derrick swe- ; While each man talked of the aims and each in an alien tongue.

"ught and they talked in d the south, they fought in the ey the north talked and t- west; Till the waters rose on ing land, and the poor had rest.

* * * * * *

"And each man hears as the i light nears, to the beat of a- ing heart, The Devil drum on the darken pane: 'You did it, but was it art?'

It may be clever, but it is not art to talk too much.

That 's all. S. A. P.

The Weekly Letter.

Rejoice with, us for reliable infor- mation has been received that the latest things in shoes are square- toed, and the pointed toe having been its best day is on the decline. Those worthy citizens who stood as steady as a rock upon their square bottomed shoes, now find that the ebb and flow of fashion is fast righting them again. The worst about the pointed toe was its unsightliness, and the increased size it gave to the feet. Any wo- man so uncomfortable as they look- ed, but the style was as absurd as many of the things that women add to their makeup to make them look beautiful. The men who kept right on wearing shoes made on the old-fashioned last have been thoroughly vindicated, and every time that fashion swerves from the line of comfort it is only a ques- tion of time until it is beaten back.

***

Of course none of us Pocahon- tas people have been reading the accounts of what is known as the Seeley trial, in New York, in the Sherry restaurant. If we have been, we should be ashamed to ac- knowledge it; for it gives the read- er a glimpse into the rapid life of New York City, and it is wondered if Rome in its most licentious days, or even Sodom and Gomor- rah, could hold a candle to the go- ings on that characterize the soci- ety people of New York. Seeley, a grand son of P. T. Barnum, gave a dinner to his brother in honor of his approaching marriage, and gave orders to a dramatic agent to place a show in the dining-room on a stage. It seems that there was too much shown. The agent in the form of Mephistopheles approach- ed the actresses, and, arguing on the grounds that to the drunk all things are pure, got them to make and exhibitions of themselves. A visit by the police captain of the precinct enables all of the guests to appear in court and do what they can to show that the bounds of propriety were not overstepped.

***

Something sensational seems to be taking place in Marion County over the court-house question. The county court has wanted a new court-house for some time, but bonds for building it have been rejected down. Also a new county has been spoken of, which would rob Marion of the flourishing col- town of Mannington. The legis- lature was about to be impotuned, and it is thought that the county court concluded it was high time it was doing something; so it call- ed a special session and agreed upon the demolition of the old building, a large, old-fashioned brick, and within fifteen minutes after the adjournment of the court the court-house was being torn down by a large force of hands. The county court will be compell- ed to replace the structure by an expensive modern building and the unwilling tax payers will have to knock under to their county court.

The sheriff of Wood county col- lected $21,345 in taxes in one day lately.

"A School-House Containing Only 662 Cubic Feet."

We have received from Travel- ers Repose a long letter, (written on yellow wrapping paper), at- tacking the whole official directory of Pocahontas County, and it is so manifestly unjust that we abso- lutely refuse to become a party to the perpetration of a rabid attack upon our county officers.

The occasion of it all seems to be that a small school in the ex- treme frontier of northern Poca- hontas is fought in a school-house only 10½ x 10½, and while we refuse to publish his wholesale attack on account of it, we propose to give a review of the matter contained therein, and remind the would-be- that such as he rarely have the people in general the trust of t- that they are to such an ex- elevated to office. The whom he attacks have been blessed with the popular vote, and un- til their villifiers can have as much to show for themselves they had better let the county officials alone.

It strikes us that the Board of Education of Green Bank District strained a point when they estab- lished a school at the Arbogast School-house, the one complained of, for it takes about twenty-eight dollars a month to run the school, and there are only fourteen pupils who attend it. Tho the board makes this provision, yet we find an intemperate writer accusing the Board of complete corruptness, be- cause those children have only 44 cubic feet of air each, while the children of the public schools of New York enjoy the blessed relief afforded by 500 cubic feet of air. The most serious complaint is that the Arbogast School-house cannot be ventilated except by opening the door. We would suggest that the door be opened with a jimmy, if necessary. It is possible that the window-panes have remained intact so long! Rather than write such a tirade against every official in Pocahontas County, the Travel- ers Repose Parkhurst had better have broken a window or two; for anyone who has ever been in that "desolate, wind - swept space" around the Arbogast school-house knows that there are great gobs of fresh air, which are very apt to find any pupil attending the school, especially if he is thinly clad.

We are glad that the writer of the tirade is from another school- district, for we believe that the pa- trons of the Arbogast School them- selves realize that their Board of Education has done much for them in giving them a school on such a small enrollment. At pres- ent that school has the advantage of one of the most capable teach- ers in the county, and they have much to be thankful for.

In strange contrast to the kick- ing letter received from the ex- treme upper end, we hear a good deal of thankfulness from the wor- thy citizens of Beaver Creek, in Huntersville District, where the Board gave them a like school to a neighborhood of thirty pupils, and rented a house with cracks in it big enough to throw a dog thru. We do n't hear them complain that whereas the school-children in New York City schools have on- ly 500 cubic feet of air to contend with, the students of Beaver Creek have a whole valley full of the coldest winds.

The idea that anyone could suf- fer for fresh air in Pocahontas is very novel. We hope the man from Travelers Repose who is so hard on the Board of Education, County superintendent, and coun- ty officials generally feels that he has been "whispering thro a hole in his hat." We suppose he knows by this little review of his work that we are fearless enough, but we wish him to understand that there must be a real grievance to force he can expect to make use of this power for his wild ravings out this publication.

This age electric, wonderful, sub- lime, surpassing, grand, etc. Machines perform most of the work that once was done by hand. In this age, no other time, such progress can be seen. They hope to make a scarcity of everything by next year.

THE BINGO'S RACING CLUB'S REPLY, or, "How We Knocked 'em in the Old Kent Road."

By "All Baster."

Tho we live up in the mountains it is not in bush and scrub, And tho for our amusement we may have a Bingo Club, And tho we may be fresh and rud- dy from Atlantic's other side, We all are honest sportsmen, and in fairness take a pride.

Our style of running races may to toughs seem very queer, For they think that regulations will not be needed here; For when racing among gentlemen the President did say: It keeps the "sports" in order, and it keeps the toughs away.

Now our neighbor who was Presi- dent and had a speedy horse,— A Spruce and Knowing man was he, and those of Bingo Course, [illegible] against a man who [illegible] that race run o'er again!"

When he [illegible] lost his stirrups [illegible] his rein.

The Spruce one now is living in the land of mell and rye Who gave his seat onto the 'bright one' on the mountains in the sky And tho the name of "Bright one" cannot be called so rough, It's better than the "mystery" at- tacking to a tough.

Now Toughs, both Number One and Two, and with your Colored Gent,

Your money may be wasted, but your time was not ill-spent; For when you come to Bingo, to run on Bingo's Track, You know you must put honest 'jocks' to ride your outside crack.

They 'll a mare called Volley Dar- den and an ass called Boy the Boy, T'urts the colors!!! not the oases filled the Bingos with dismay; T was then spoke the Genera Manager, a man both long and thin, One "it all ride square to beat them and "See the best horse win."

The start it was a good one, but Behold the Colored Gent Brings up the mare, as bad can be, and is on mischief bent; His orders were! "Come to the post but do not break away;" If you can wear the other out, the race is yours to-day.

Have you ever been to some where there's no cur of low degree? On Derby's well known classic course a sorry fact is he; And tho the eager by-standers in efforts were too late, It only proves the Bingo Track is surely up to date.

Now those who are acquainted with tough 'un Number Two, Can very well imagine how the air for miles went blue; But to claim the race in face of facts that all of us did know, That "Marie Sweet" had got the pace tho "Volley" had the go.

This fact to prove more clearly the race was, over, run, So Mr Tough 'un Number Two can't say that he was done; But Colored Gent felt that he must his tactics bring in play, And tried by fouling Marie Sweet the race to win that day.

When Number One he heard of it he was extremely mad, And tho 'twas only one side of the story that he had; He straightway sought his pen and ink, and to the Bingo's spoke.

The Bingo's only laughed at it and answered SILLY GOAT,

The Bingo's called a meeting, so they felt it rather rough That any man who used the track should be so very tough, As to make use of his knowledge of the rules and laws "to beat, So to prove how very sure we felt we kicked the Tough 'uns out.

In the Kitchen.

"Life is such a grind," sighed the coffee mill to the lamp chim- ney.

"Oh, I don't know," said the chimney. "Of course the world is dark and cold at times, but life to me seems bright enough."

"You would n't think so," inter- rupted the match, "if you got your head scratched as I do every day."

"Aw, say, you would not amount to much without me, anyway, so just shut in your face and smoke."

"You seem to consider yourself a great deal," said the pot, who was a good deal like I'm a goner."

And then, shaking the match- es, she added, "You need n't be so bold, sir. Why, you are nothing but a stick."

At this the cook came in, and the lamp chimney looked at her coldly, the coffee boil grossed its teeth and the match lit up New York Herald.

Lost! Lost!

ney Lost

trading with us. an business, as ll find if you give al.

proof of the pud- in the eating.'

ne bill of us for n special ben-

ONEY WE DO END PAYING LLING MENS' IS SHARED UR CUSTOM- E SEEK NO THAT IS NOT Y VIRTUE OF RICES AND GOODS. OUR ATION AS

Cash Buyers

bargains that ver saw. We ains: the pri- people, and le tell the

JANUARY 18,

Sharp,

RECEIVERS' RENTAL OF LAND.

Pursuant to a decree of the Cir- cuit of Pocahontas County, made at the May rules, 1896, in the cha- ncery cause of Lee Gay, et als., vs. J. L. Lockridge, et als., the undersigned spe- cial receivers will on the

6th day of Feb., 1897,

at the front door of the court house of said county, proceed to rent by way of public auction to the highest bidder for a term of one year, the lands in the bill and proceedings mentioned below, to-wit: Those belonging to J. B. Lockridge, deceased, situated in Dunmore, in said county. Said farm is in good state of cultivation and has thereon all necessary buildings in good repair.

Terms.—Cash in hand sufficient to pay costs of rental, and for the residue the renter executing bonds with good personal security, payable on the 23rd day of December, 1897.

W. A. BRATTON,
J. M. McCLINTIC,
Receivers.

By order of said decree, the bond al- ready given and duly held sufficient for the above rental.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

VALUABLE

Property for Sale Privately.

One of the most com- plete residences in the county, situated in the village of Hillsboro, is offered for sale private- ly, on good terms.

This would be especi- ally valuable to any doctor who wishes to locate in one of the best sections of the State. The owner, a physi- cian, wishes to retire, for private reasons that will be perfectly satis- factory to any propos- ed purchaser.

Further information cheerfully afforded any inquirer by the editor of this paper.

Notice.

Your accounts are invited and ur- gently solicited. Please call and see us at my place of business and see what you owe me. I cannot carry your accounts from year to year. Pay as you go and you will find it very profitable. Very respectfully, Jan. 8, 1897. S. H. Moore.

Look! This Way!

We will now open special attention to our many and numerous new and seasonable goods, and we feel sure that we can please you in every thing. Come to see us and we will be glad to show you our goods, and we feel sure that we can please you. We have a full line of Groceries, Notions, Boots and Shoes, Hats and Caps, Dry Goods, Clothing, Ladies' Dress Goods, Ladies' Cloaks, Ladies' Shawls, Ladies' Jackets, Ladies' Capes, Ladies' Furs, Ladies' Underwear, Ladies' Hosiery, Ladies' Gloves, Ladies' Mittens, Ladies' Handkerchiefs, Ladies' Collars, Ladies' Cuffs, Ladies' Ribbons, Ladies' Laces, Ladies' Embroideries, Ladies' Trimmings, Ladies' Corsets, Ladies' Skirts, Ladies' Dress Trimmings, Ladies' Dress Buttons, Ladies' Dress Braids, Ladies' Dress Silks, Ladies' Dress Velvets, Ladies' Dress Plushes, Ladies' Dress Satins, Ladies' Dress Linings, Ladies' Dress Canvas, Ladies' Dress Crinoline, Ladies' Dress Steels, Ladies' Dress Bones, Ladies' Dress Hooks and Eyes, Ladies' Dress Pins, Ladies' Dress Needles, Ladies' Dress Thimbles, Ladies' Dress Scissors, Ladies' Dress Thread, Ladies' Dress Silk, Ladies' Dress Cotton, Ladies' Dress Linen, Ladies' Dress Wool, Ladies' Dress Yarn, Ladies' Dress Knitting Needles, Ladies' Dress Crochet Needles, Ladies' Dress Tatting Shuttles, Ladies' Dress Embroidery Needles, Ladies' Dress Darning Needles, Ladies' Dress Sewing Needles, Ladies' Dress Pins, Ladies' Dress Needles, Ladies' Dress Thimbles, Ladies' Dress Scissors, Ladies' Dress Thread, Ladies' Dress Silk, Ladies' Dress Cotton, Ladies' Dress Linen, Ladies' Dress Wool, Ladies' Dress Yarn, Ladies' Dress Knitting Needles, Ladies' Dress Crochet Needles, Ladies' Dress Tatting Shuttles, Ladies' Dress Embroidery Needles, Ladies' Dress Darning Needles, Ladies' Dress Sewing Needles.

Notice.

SPECIAL POTATO FERTILIZER was High Grade General Phosphates used from

VEGETABLE and ANIMAL MATTER. Every farmer should write for prices, terms, and circulars.

AMERICAN REDUCTION CO., Pittsburg, Pa.

Pocahontas Times.
PRICE, EDITOR
Friday, Jan. 22

thirty years ago.

Mr Wolcott, who goes out to feel the European pulse on the bi and an adjournment was made until Saturday, when the President and Speaker would have their committees ready for announcement.

Senator N. C. McNeil has been made chairman of the committee on privileges and elections, and they take up a very important case of a contest over the seating of the Republican candidate for State Senate from the 13th Senatorial District, instead of the Democratic member, who has the certificates of election. He will also present the case for the contestant on the floor of the house, and the Sunday Register says he expects then to establish a reputation as a speaker. It is thought that the contestant, who rejoices in the name of Getzindanner, has secured enough votes to put him in, the a number of fellow Republicans will vote against him. Senator McNeil has also introduced a bill (Senate Bill No. 23) to establish a criminal court in Summers County.

Obituary.

Mr Abraham Barner Grimes, of Hackers Valley, Webster County, W. Va., died very suddenly of paralysis, on November 9, 1896, aged about 75. He was a son of James Grimes, and was raised in the hill country near Dilley's Mill, Pocahontas County. He married Margaret G. Brady February 8, 1840, and settled on the Dry Branch of Elk River. In 1863, he bought a farm at Hackers Valley, and lived there until his death. He raised a family of three sons and six daughters, of whom five have preceded him to the spirit land. He leaves a wife, two sons, and two daughters, but not to mourn as those who have no hope. He had been a member of the Methodist Protestant Church for about forty years.

"We shall sleep, but forever,
There will be a glorious dawn;
We shall meet to part no never
On the resurrection morn!"

W. H. B.

Died, January 12th, at the home of Mr A. W. Moore, near Frost, Mrs W. Hamilton Moore, aged about 50 years. She was a sister of Messrs Francis and Hugh Dever and the late Mrs Washington Moore. Her health has been failing for many years, but borne with exemplary resignation. She is survived by her husband, W. H. Moore Esq., of Mountain Grove, Va., and one only daughter, Mrs C. D. Lamb, of Covington, Va. For a long while she had been a professing christian, in the pale of the Presbyterian church. Mrs Moore endeared herself to a wide circle of friends by her lovely character and her memory is embalmed by many sincere tears and words of truthful praise. Her remains were borne to Highland, Va., and buried at Green Hill, where her father, mother, and other relatives are at rest.

Order of Publication.

State of West Virginia, County of Pocahontas, to wit:

At rules held in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court for said county, on Monday, January 4th, 1897.

Quintilla M. Burrows, Plaintiff
vs.
A. G. Burrows, Defendant.

The object of this suit is to procure a divorce by the plaintiff from the bonds of matrimony with the defendant; and it appearing from affidavit filed, that the defendant, A. G. Burrows, is a non-resident of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that he do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order, and do what is necessary to protect his interest in this suit.

Witness: J. H. Patterson, Clerk of said Court, this 5th day of January, 1897.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

NOTICE TO TAKE DEPOSITIONS.

To A. G. Burrows, take notice, that on the 29th day of February, A. D., 1897, between the hours of six o'clock, a. m., and six o'clock p. m., at the residence of Quintilla M. Burrows, near Marlinton, in Pocahontas County, West Virginia, I will take the depositions of myself and others, to be read as evidence in my behalf, in a certain suit in chancery now pending in the Circuit Court of the County of Pocahontas, and State of West Virginia, in which I am plaintiff and you are defendant.

If you can cause the taking of said depositions shall not be commenced or concluded on the day aforesaid, the same shall be continued from day to day, or from time to time, at the same place and between the same hours, until the same shall be completed.

QUINTILLA M. BURROWS,
By Counsel.

H. S. Knapp, solicitor.

A Cure for Lame Back.

"My daughter, when recovering from an attack of fever, was a great sufferer from pain in the back and loins," writes Lucinda Sparks, of Bedford, Ky. After using quite a few remedies without any

$3,400.00 CASH AND PRIZES GIVEN FREE EACH MONTH FOR Sunlight SOAP WRAPPERS

As follows:

4 First Prize, each of $100 Cash - - - $ 400.00
20 Second " " " $100 CRESCA Bicycles 2,000.00
40 Third " " " $ 25 Gold Watches - 1,000.00
Cash and Prizes given each month - - $3,400.00
12
Total given during 12 mos. 1897, $40,800.00

HOW TO OBTAIN THEM.

Purchasers to save as many SUNLIGHT SOAP Wrappers as they can collect. Cut off the end panels of each wrapper, bearing the words "SUNLIGHT SOAP." These (called Wrappers) are to be sent, postage fully paid, enclosed in a box, sheet of paper stating Competitor's full name and address, and the number of wrappers sent, to Pierce New York, marked on outside Wrappers, until further notice, which NUMBER of the DISTRICT Competitor lives in.

No. of District	NAME OF DISTRICT.
1	New York City, Brooklyn, Long and Staten Islands, New Jersey.
2	New York State (north of N. Y. city, Brooklyn, Long and Staten Islands).
3	Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia and District of Columbia.
4	The New England States.

The Bicycles are the celebrated Pierce Special, as Fitters, to fit by Pierce & Co., of Buffalo, Boston and New York. Fitted with Hartford Tires, Fine Cross Nickel Lamp, New Departure Bell, Standard Cyclometer, and Mont Lace Saddle.

Next Largest Numbers of wrappers from the five districts in which they reside will be entitled to the next prize, and so on until all prizes are awarded.

Each Month Closes on the Last Day of Each Month, and wrappers received too late for one month's competition will be put into the next.

Competitors will retain wrappers from which names in dealer's stock will be furnished. Employees of Lever Brothers, Ltd., and their families, are debarred from competing.

All pictures of Winners in Competitor's district will be forwarded to Competitors in about 21 days after each month closes.

Lever Brothers, Ltd., will endeavor to award the prizes fairly to the best of their ability and judgment, but it is understood that all parties agree to accept the award of Lever Brothers, Ltd., as final.

LEVER BROS., Ltd., New York.

The Business World

Is like the human body, in some respects. Both have their ups and downs—sick spells, and both need tonics after the crisis is over, to quicken, in one case, the life blood, and in the other the demand which sets the wheels of trade humming. It is my business to offer trade reviews to the cash customer.

HERE THEY ARE:

Woman's Fine Dongola Button Opera Toe, $1
Outings in Plaids, nice patterns, 5c
Black figured Dress Goods latest effects, 12 1-2c
All wool black, blue and grey Ladies Cloth, 22c to 30c
Men's Macintosh, black diagonal surface, $3.

I have refrained from making any extended remarks on the above or the principal that

Good Wine Needs No Bush.

THE VALUES

STICK RIGHT OUT UPON EXAMINATION AND TRIAL OF THE GOODS.

PAUL GOLDEN

SOL. DAVIS' Big Store.

Our Holiday stock is large, our goods new, our prices low, the latest in style, the finest in quality, the utmost in variety. The presents you want, at the prices you like, are all included in our splendid line of Clocks Jewelry, Accordeons, Albums, Blankets, Mufflers, Scarfs, Picture Frames, Linen Goods, cutlery, Gloves, Mackintoshes, Trunks, Umbrellas, Blinds, and

GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS

EVERYTHING AT HALF PRICES

We quote prices on a few things

Arbuckle Coffee	19½c	Good Pure Candy	10 cents
Good Green Coffee	18c	Working Pants well made	85 cents
Granulated Sugar	6½c	Mens Suits from	4 50 up
6 Pounds Good Soda	25c	We have some of the finest Raisons
Cakes, Oranges, and Lemons,		Prunes, Figs,

Appropriate, sensible gifts for old and young are features of this stock, which commends itself to holiday buyers. If you want to make few or many, cheap or costly, presents, this is your best chance. It will be impossible to make a mistake in your holiday buying if you select from the fair-priced stock of

SOL. DAVIS,
Green Bank, W. Va.

HEAD TO FOOT OUTFITTER.

CLOSING OVT SALE!

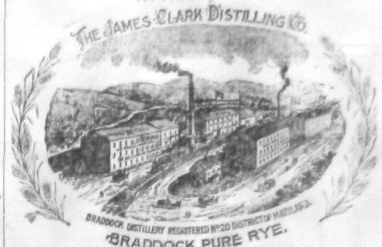
Intending to remove from Marlinton as soon as I can get my business closed out, I will sell my present stock of goods at a lower rate than goods have ever been sold here before. Come in and get bargains.

All persons owing me will call and settle, or their accounts will be placed in the hands of an officer.

S. W. HOLT

MARLINTON, W. VA.

Raw Fur Skins WANTED.



THE A. J. SUBBARAN FUR & RAT CO.
A Most 4th Street, Cincinnati, O.

Lightning Rod Office
What a Funny Name!
Very True, but it Kills All Pain
Sold Everywhere Every Day.
Without Relief, There is No Pain

The Greatest Medicinal Whiskey the World has Ever Known.

BRADDOCK PURE RYE AND BARLEY MALT.

SMOOTH, SOFT, RICH, GIVE MELLOW AND CHEMICALLY PURE, A RECOMMENDATION IN ITSELF.

BRADDOCK PURE RYE.

TRY A GALLON AT $2.00.

Mail Orders solicited either great or small and receive our personal and prompt attention. Drop us a postal for price list. It will be to your interest for goods but mail us your orders; we can save you money and perhaps your health.

JAS CLARK DISTILLING CO., JNO. McQUAIDE Mngr.

Distillers of Braddock Pure Rye, Wholesale and Retail Liquor Dealers.
20 and 22 South New St., Staunton, Va.

Duke! Duke!

HIGH GRADE BICYCLES!

1896 Model.

Frame long head and wheel base. Made from best cold drawn steel tubing, narrow tread 28inch wheels, Wood Rims, Nickeled Spokes, M and W. Quick-Repair Hubs, 70 conersions drop forged steel. Ball bearing in every part; bearings made from the best steel, tempered and ground, dust proof, 6 inch cranks, Rat trap or Rubber Pedales, one-fourth inch Hamber Chain with hardened rivets and centers. Drop-forged steel sprockets, T pattern saddle posts, Garford Saddle, 68 inch gear, weight 22 lbs.

Price, $50.00.

1895 Model Duke, 27lbs., Price, $40.00

A full and complete stock of Bicycle Sundries and Repairs, cyc lometers, Lamps, Bells, &c. Repairing of all kinds a specialty
Send us your broken bicycles and we can make them good as new
RESPECTFULLY,

RONCEVERTE, W VA Eagle AND Ott.

The Pocahontas Times,

All Home Print,

Affords the People of Pocahontas County one of the best papers for the price in the State.

$1.00 per Year

GIVES YOU YOUR COUNTY PAPER.

SUBSCRIBE!

Advertise your Wares and Wants Our rates are always low enough to warrant your patronage.

Our Job Department has been renewed, and we guarantee satisfaction. Wedding invitations and all kinds of work done on short notice

WE HAVE THE BEST PRINTING PLANT OUT SIDE A LARGE TOWN IN THE STATE.

Now is the time to Subscribe!

We have a plan by which Farmers can get TOOL CHESTS FREE

M. EVENTS.

ANUARY 22 1897.

...ales v. Make your ...rowth.

...ssary Convict, of Lin... known to be at least ...ed says, died on January ... was probably the oldest ... in the State.

...Spangler & Vin... announcing that the ... the H. Nathan trial ... has been hung on ...

...ral trial in Squire Bird's ...ame off last Saturday, ... on Colonel George S. ... in the case of Owen Kel... Sidney Sites.

...ry trial in the justices court ...ood was held last Saturday ...ween the firm of Lee Ad... store of J. W. Mellon, was ...ed in favor of the latter. ...ed at the trial. The court ...ained the plaintiff's ...

...ssary citizens of Lincoln ...ounsel Uri Sias, was host... ...to thank him in person ...ve been too engaged to the ...ve of Monday. They had ...ed to suppose. ...to be the last event.

...Allen, member of J. C. Ar... Sheriff, is preparing a ...ments in his hands to file in ...of the State against the ...ffairs in the Circuit Court ...ton County. This includes ...of all the tickets not mutu... ...ts interest in either.

...ng interesting trial took ...ay morning. Wellons ...Thursday of last week he ...O. Wilson and H. B. ...W. H. Andrew was tried ...ating the revenue laws, and ...Mr. Andrew has appealed ...ase to the circuit court. ...the jury will clear him.—...Richland Recorder.

...ne supplement for the Marlin... ...ette has been produced ...ne and heads were lining in ...ment of Beverly Waugh, who ...ce to Marlinton soon. Be... ...ming the paper he published ...ed to some of our Republi... Democrats of the place ...ing no interest in the matter, ...ng that they like the little ...ce whether you vote, leave ...e no say in the matter.

...ps of war, prepare for ...slightly reversed, but still ...ble in this case. The Co... ...ed the conflict with the ...ll of the prizes. Lee proves ...ained glory. Some people wonder ...e that the Golden Story ...n a good business. It ...ers to be selling and buying ...anything from fish bands ...ow it. Here are a few ...Ladies' aprons, 62½ cents; ...Confederate Foil Books, ...Confederate sweet, @ $1.50 ...

...ing home of Smith & ..., at the top of the mount... at work for forty-eight ...ed on Monday last week. The ...of work was only long ...for them and homes to eat. ...were with his aged ...at time. Perhaps we had ...ght that to lumbering ...ple to drive spiketails ...ut this is done by artificial ...ans. Where the finer ...ed to labor among the ...ans is scarce for the ...of work in the woods. ...ge of new hands and ...ed with the ...A slight snow set everyone ...

...

...

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, Jan. 22, 1897.

Subscription ONE DOLLAR in advance. If not paid within the year, $1.50 will be charged.

Entered at the post office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

—Not in the Mood.—Fiva Clubman—"Are you going to Mrs. De Styles' musicale to-night?" Second Clubman—"No. I'm not in a mood for talking."—N. Y. Weekly.

—Big Success.—"What do you think of my tragedy?" asked the self-satisfied playwright. "It's great. Never laughed harder at anything in my life." —Detroit Free Press.

—"Folks dat is allers talkin' 'bout trouble," said Uncle Eben, "hab jes' one thing to brag erbout. Dey doan' hardly ever git draggy'ated."—Washington Star.

—"Say, Weary, wot are you walkin' 'round in yere bare feets for?" "I'm try in' to get Kinlup cure." "Why, Weary?" "Cuse dat 'vertisement outside ain shoein'."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

—Her Level Head.—"Madame, can I tell you this valuable book, 'What to Do Before the Physician Comes?'" "No, sir; you don't catch me doing the work and then letting the doctor draw the big."—Chicago Record.

—Not.—"Miss Bloom uses French phrases in the most peculiar manner." Bell.—"Does she?" Nell.—"Yes, indeed! Why, at breakfast yesterday I asked her how she liked her eggs and she said they were very chick."—Philadelphia Record.

—She.—"I don't see how you ever had the nerve to have your tooth pulled before the whole class of dental students, did you scream?" Maude.—"I don't know whether I did or not. As soon as the professor tackled the tooth those horrid students set up their college yell and wooed me so that I don't even know whether it hurt."—Indianapolis Journal.

WEATHER AND BRAINS.

Psychological Effect of the Fungus on the Latter.

The psychological effect of the weather has long been a mooted question. Most people feel the influence of dull days, east winds and extremes of heat, while spirits and energies, mental and physical. An arctic cold and tropical heat are unfavorable to literary composition, for example, and we speak of cool "thrashing out with," an expression which is not altogether figurative, and room on a "summer experience." Goethe found that his capacity for mental work depended on the height of the barometer and other instruments of meteorological influence on the mind could be collected from the writings of celebrated men.

Sudden changes most frequently influence, perhaps owing to the heat and exhaustion, and not, as might be supposed, in winter. The American Journal of Psychology has put forward on the subject in which the head of a large factory is reported to state that a disagreeable day causes a loss of about 500 per cent. in the output of the works.

Fine days make people generous and amiable and opinions given on such days are held by some to be the soberest. The influence of the weather upon the higher faculty, the nerve and the eyes has also been recognized in a practical way. Nervous, sanguine and irritable persons are prone to feel the influence of foul weather and blame their circumstances. One girl fancied a little flushing of the liver, a chronic catarrh, a rheumatic joint, soon a bad cure, predisposed people to suffer from weather changes. —Providence Journal.

A Turtle Railroad Line.

Crime will grow on a country bed if the laws are measured with soft and good words. This can be verified by a visit to the Carnegie park trolley line over the Hempstead plains. It is the first line of the track type of railway ever built in this country, and the success of the experiment is said to be assured. The New York Times says:

[illegible] to see like it. It is a marvel of human cleverness and ingenuity, and doubles back, between the houses' fast. For a great crash, [illegible] and sawing of trees, with Carolina and Phyllis in the lead. The fun has just begun. —John Fox, Jr., in Century.

Drinking Rain Drops.

The latest amusing doings and pecadillos of the young king-bird, kept a couple of years in a cage by Mr. Frank Chapman, are thus described by that gentleman in the habit of quenching their thirst by seizing falling drops of rain.

[illegible]

Wonderful Statistics.

The Manchester Guardian in a queer way of bringing the dead. The corpse is tightly wrapped in watery grass matting and is placed in a coffin just large enough to hold it, without any pillow, as the head is allowed to rest on the bottom of the coffin. The coffin is then covered with a thick layer of moss, and the whole is covered. The watery moss keeps the body fresh, and the Friends' burial ground in the case of [illegible] the moss is changed.

Statistical Note of Action.

A Mount Vernon man has recently completed a set of statistics showing the number of words spoken by each member of a family of seven during every waking hour of every day for a week. The results have been compiled and will be published in a few days. The figures are said to be startling. —Indianapolis Journal.

A KENTUCKY RABBIT HUNT.

All Sorts of Costumes and Hideous Arms Used.

A Ready Disregard of All Countries. Guns of Every—Rolling Crops Are Never Used, But Whips Are Carried.

The men are dressed as they please. The ladies as they please. English blood gets expression, as usual, in independence absolute. There is a steady disregard of all considerations of fitness. Some have worn leggings, some high boots; a few have brown shooting-coats. Most of them ride with the hind low and the toes inward according to fashion permanent. The southern woman's long riding-skirt has happily been laid aside. Those young Diana wore the usual habit, only the hat is a derby, a cap sometimes a beaver with a white veil, or a tam-o'-shanter that has slipped down behind and left a frank face bent to shining hair. They hold the reins in either hand, and not a crop is to be seen. There are plenty of riding-whips, however, and sometimes one runs up the back of some girl's neck. I think that is the old-fashioned position for the whip when riding in form. On a trip like this, however, everybody rides as he pleases, and rides anywhere he can get his horse.

The men are surely country youths, who in a few years will make good types of the beef-eating young English squire—sunburned fellows with big frames, open faces, fearless eyes, and a manner that is modest, manly, and independent. The girls are nothing beyond the types of brunette and blond, with a leaning towards the latter type. The extreme blond is rare, and the distinctly blond, whom Oliver Wendell Holmes differentiates from her dazzling sister with locks that have caught the light of the sun. Redhair with freckles these girls are, and with good health and strength; round of figure, clear of eye and skin, spirited, soft of voice and slow of speech.

There is one man on a sorrel mule. He is the best look at the big farm-hands, and he has given up every horse he has to guests. One of the hosts has a brood white girth running all the way around both horse and saddle. His habit is the most stylish in the field. He has lived a year in Washington, perhaps, and has had a finishing touch at a fashionable school in New York. Near her is a young fellow as a high-thoroughbred—a graduate, perhaps, of Yale or Princeton. They rarely put on airs, couples like those, when they come back home, drop quietly into old places with friends and kindred. From respect to local prejudice, which has a hearty contempt for anything that is not expensive, the scarlet coat she has left her riding-crop at home. He has let his cricketed black hair grow rather long, and has covered it with a black slouch hat.

Contact with the outer world has made a difference, however, and it is enough to create a strong bond of sympathy between country youth [illegible]. A plump, dark-eyed, bare-headed girl, who rides a pony that is trained to the hunt, as all of the horses are, and young Farmer Corydon, who is near her on an [illegible]. Indeed, more than one [illegible] Cupid. At a bride walk the line moves across the field, the captain at each end yelling to the movers only the men, for no women is ever [illegible] Send for testimonials, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

WHAT THEY DO [illegible] DIT. FOR A CHURCH.

[illegible] re are church work-[illegible] Va., especially [illegible] oshen. A gentleman [illegible] g the ladies. A bond out from there says he had to drop in some "free silver" talk there or quit the town. He also told of a prominent married man of Rockingham who happened in the town bridge who happened in the town and walking along the street was hailed by a young lady who wanted money for her church. The opulent citizen was out of money, but after turning his pocket wrong side out, found three cents. Would she take that? Yes she would take even that and said she would once she presented herself before a merchant of the town and asked five cent cigar for it. He said he would, and did. She then borrowed another gentleman and sold it to him for ten cents, for the church fund she knew. With the money she bought three five centers, which she sold for a quarter. From then on it was clear sailing, and swelled her investments to cigars. It is less than two weeks she had made [illegible] and turned it in, and all told three cents.—Staunton Spectator.

Messrs Lever Bros. Ltd., proprietors of Sunlight Soap, do nothing by halves. They have built up the largest soap business in the world by turning out a very superior article, and assisting it by clever and attractive advertising. Their latest stroke in the United States is a [illegible] of which is the presentation [illegible] of pictures, and good [illegible] and [illegible] to [illegible] December every month of the year 1897, to those who collect and send in to Lever Bros. Ltd., Soap office the largest number of Sunlight Soap wrappers. The total value of the prizes to be awarded during the year 1897 is $40,000.

The competition will commence [illegible] and will consist of four prizes, a [illegible] each month, twenty second prizes of [illegible] each month, twenty-four third prizes, each month, twenty-four fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four tenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four eleventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four twelfth prizes, each month, and twenty-four thirteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four fourteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four fifteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four sixteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four seventeenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four eighteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four nineteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four twentieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four twenty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four twenty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four twenty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four twenty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four twenty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four twenty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four twenty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four twenty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four twenty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four thirtieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four thirty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four thirty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four thirty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four thirty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four thirty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four thirty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four thirty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four thirty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four thirty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four fortieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four forty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four forty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four forty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four forty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four forty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four forty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four forty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four forty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four forty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four fiftieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four fifty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four fifty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four fifty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four fifty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four fifty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four fifty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four fifty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four fifty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four fifty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four sixtieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four sixty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four sixty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four sixty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four sixty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four sixty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four sixty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four sixty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four sixty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four sixty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four seventieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four seventy-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four seventy-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four seventy-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four seventy-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four seventy-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four seventy-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four seventy-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four seventy-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four seventy-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four eightieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four eighty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four eighty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four eighty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four eighty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four eighty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four eighty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four eighty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four eighty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four eighty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four ninetieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four ninety-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four ninety-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four ninety-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four ninety-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four ninety-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four ninety-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four ninety-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four ninety-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four ninety-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundredth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and first prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and second prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and third prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and tenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and eleventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and twelfth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and thirteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and fourteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and fifteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and sixteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and seventeenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and eighteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and nineteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and twentieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and twenty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and twenty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and twenty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and twenty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and twenty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and twenty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and twenty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and twenty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and twenty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and thirtieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and thirty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and thirty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and thirty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and thirty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and thirty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and thirty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and thirty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and thirty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and thirty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and fortieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and forty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and forty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and forty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and forty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and forty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and forty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and forty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and forty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and forty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and fiftieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and fifty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and fifty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and fifty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and fifty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and fifty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and fifty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and fifty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and fifty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and fifty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and sixtieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and sixty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and sixty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and sixty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and sixty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and sixty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and sixty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and sixty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and sixty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and sixty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and seventieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and seventy-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and seventy-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and seventy-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and seventy-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and seventy-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and seventy-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and seventy-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and seventy-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and seventy-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and eightieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and eighty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and eighty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and eighty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and eighty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and eighty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and eighty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and eighty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and eighty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and eighty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and ninetieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and ninety-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and ninety-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and ninety-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and ninety-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and ninety-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and ninety-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and ninety-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and ninety-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four one hundred and ninety-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundredth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and first prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and second prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and third prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and tenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and eleventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and twelfth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and thirteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and fourteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and fifteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and sixteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and seventeenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and eighteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and nineteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and twentieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and twenty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and twenty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and twenty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and twenty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and twenty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and twenty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and twenty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and twenty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and twenty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and thirtieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and thirty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and thirty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and thirty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and thirty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and thirty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and thirty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and thirty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and thirty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and thirty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and fortieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and forty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and forty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and forty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and forty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and forty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and forty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and forty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and forty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and forty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and fiftieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and fifty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and fifty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and fifty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and fifty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and fifty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and fifty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and fifty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and fifty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and fifty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and sixtieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and sixty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and sixty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and sixty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and sixty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and sixty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and sixty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and sixty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and sixty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and sixty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and seventieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and seventy-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and seventy-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and seventy-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and seventy-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and seventy-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and seventy-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and seventy-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and seventy-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and seventy-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and eightieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and eighty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and eighty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and eighty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and eighty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and eighty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and eighty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and eighty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and eighty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and eighty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and ninetieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and ninety-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and ninety-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and ninety-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and ninety-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and ninety-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and ninety-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and ninety-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and ninety-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four two hundred and ninety-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundredth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and first prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and second prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and third prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and tenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and eleventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and twelfth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and thirteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and fourteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and fifteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and sixteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and seventeenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and eighteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and nineteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and twentieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and twenty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and twenty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and twenty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and twenty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and twenty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and twenty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and twenty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and twenty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and twenty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and thirtieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and thirty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and thirty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and thirty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and thirty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and thirty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and thirty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and thirty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and thirty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and thirty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and fortieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and forty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and forty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and forty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and forty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and forty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and forty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and forty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and forty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and forty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and fiftieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and fifty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and fifty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and fifty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and fifty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and fifty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and fifty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and fifty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and fifty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and fifty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and sixtieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and sixty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and sixty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and sixty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and sixty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and sixty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and sixty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and sixty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and sixty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and sixty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and seventieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and seventy-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and seventy-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and seventy-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and seventy-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and seventy-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and seventy-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and seventy-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and seventy-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and seventy-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and eightieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and eighty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and eighty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and eighty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and eighty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and eighty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and eighty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and eighty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and eighty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and eighty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and ninetieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and ninety-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and ninety-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and ninety-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and ninety-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and ninety-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and ninety-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and ninety-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and ninety-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four three hundred and ninety-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundredth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and first prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and second prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and third prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and tenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and eleventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and twelfth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and thirteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and fourteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and fifteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and sixteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and seventeenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and eighteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and nineteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and twentieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and twenty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and twenty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and twenty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and twenty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and twenty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and twenty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and twenty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and twenty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and twenty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and thirtieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and thirty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and thirty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and thirty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and thirty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and thirty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and thirty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and thirty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and thirty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and thirty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and fortieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and forty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and forty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and forty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and forty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and forty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and forty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and forty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and forty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and forty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and fiftieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and fifty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and fifty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and fifty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and fifty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and fifty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and fifty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and fifty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and fifty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and fifty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and sixtieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and sixty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and sixty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and sixty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and sixty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and sixty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and sixty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and sixty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and sixty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and sixty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and seventieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and seventy-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and seventy-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and seventy-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and seventy-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and seventy-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and seventy-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and seventy-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and seventy-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and seventy-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and eightieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and eighty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and eighty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and eighty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and eighty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and eighty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and eighty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and eighty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and eighty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and eighty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and ninetieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and ninety-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and ninety-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and ninety-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and ninety-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and ninety-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and ninety-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and ninety-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and ninety-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four four hundred and ninety-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundredth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and first prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and second prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and third prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and tenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and eleventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and twelfth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and thirteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and fourteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and fifteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and sixteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and seventeenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and eighteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and nineteenth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and twentieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and twenty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and twenty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and twenty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and twenty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and twenty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and twenty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and twenty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and twenty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and twenty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and thirtieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and thirty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and thirty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and thirty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and thirty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and thirty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and thirty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and thirty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and thirty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and thirty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and fortieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and forty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and forty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and forty-third prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and forty-fourth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and forty-fifth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and forty-sixth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and forty-seventh prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and forty-eighth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and forty-ninth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and fiftieth prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and fifty-first prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and fifty-second prizes, each month, and twenty-four five hundred and f

The Pocahontas Times.

Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

27 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, JANUARY 20, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

ian Church, know full well. Is it new to say that Nero murdered his nearest friends, and of the early Christians made human torches to light up his palace gardens? There is small danger of any one doing the very same in these days, but it is possible to forget, good—heffen—lord. A. L. P.

THE PHANTOM CHAPEL.

On the forest-fringed crest of Buckley Mountain, south-east of Marlinton, near the line where the sun seems to pause in winter, and turns back after a few days, may be seen an interesting sky-silhouette. Its resemblance to a building is so apparent as to be recognized at once, and hence the term Phantom Chapel, and it would be a pretty name to give that locality.

Whenever there is any change in the trees it will vanish from sight as mysteriously as it first emerged into view. For hundreds of years it has been in building by unseen hands. No sound of saw or hammer were at their work on its outlines.

It can be discerned at all times of the day, but stands out with special distinctness just before sunrise. The front door and side-windows denote the presence of evergreens. The walls and roof are outlined by leafless trees and their branches, and its color varies with the hues of the sky forming the background. S. C. R.

THE BATTLE FOR DECENCY IN LITERATURE. "Richard Watson Gilder, editor of The Century Magazine, thinks this battle is just now at its height. In an article in The Independent on "Editing" he speaks of the editors duty to take part in the battle, and he pays his respects to the "realists" in the following terms:

"'Reality' is a word to conjure with; any one who raises a 'blue pencil' against reality is in peril of losing his literary standing. The editor is prone to level Shimaz down; to object to the novel and original; he may be a Philistine; he may even be touched with hypocrisy. But if there is any greater humbug and hypocrisy than 'realism' can be I do not know what it is. Take, for instance, the single detail of profanity in the 'conversations' of a story. Did any one who has ever heard the thing in all its luxurious and picturesque reality ever see it 'really' reported? Is there a living realist who would be willing to put down in cold black and white to the extent of a foolscap page the habitual language of certain types with which he deals in fiction? and if he did so, would he be willing to keep that piece of paper ever-night under lock and key? To see the thinkable blasphemy, the rank and violent vulgarity, they are as real as many other things outside of art. Say what you will, there is no realist who does not draw the line somewhere; and that line is at least as debatable as the one between Venezuela and British Guiana."

A LADY who lives in an inland town in New England went to the last convention of the Christian Endeavor societies at Washington, and traveled from Boston to Baltimore by steamer. She had never been to sea before.

After her first night on the steamer a friend observed, when she made her appearance on deck in the morning, that she looked very much fatigued.

"Why," said the friend, "I'm afraid travel by water does not agree with you. Did n't you sleep well? The sea was perfectly calm."

"Sleep?" exclaimed the lady. "I didn't sleep a wink. I am tired all out and I shall never travel by water again."

"What has tired you out?"

"Why, trying to sleep in that thing. I read the card in the state room about how to put on the life preserver, and I thought I understood it all right, but I suppose I didn't. For I could n't for the life of me get a wink of sleep with the thing on."

A United Indian[illegible] in the household of Li Hung Chang. The Chinese Viceroy complained of the behavior of the Irish steward on a steamboat between he left America. This thinks the paper, de-serves punishment. Li Hung Chang ought to know that Irishmen have raised America to her present high place among the nations, while his countrymen, if put to sizing up the matter candidly, are responsible for nothing in America worth

New York News Letter

Fifteen minutes ago the sun was shining, and blue sky was seen. Now we are having a small-sized blizzard.

***

Saturday morning a cloak merchant committed suicide by jumping from an eighth-story window of one of our 'sky-scraping' buildings. Cause: Failure in business, and the fear that his wife and four children would starve. His wife, who was looking him up, was in the same building, with good news for him from a friend who offered him large wages. When she saw the mangled remains of her poor husband the woman tried to jump also, but was caught in time and sent to the hospital, where she was treated with great care by the attendants and brought to her reasoning powers. This man lost his whole fortune in a business venture, and it turned his mind.

***

Mr Moody, the evangelist, has done excellent work among all classes, and still exhorts on Sundays. Mr Sankey leads the singing.

***

Three prisoners escaped from Ludlow Street Jail the other day by way of the roof. Jail-breaking is becoming an easy thing these days. Someone made one end of a rope fast to the jail door and the other end to a tree and tied a placard to the rope:

If you want to Take the Jail Out the Rope.

***

The same old, old story about about Cuba. Will the United States ever step in and stop this cruel war?

***

The woman of Danbury, Conn., who has been in a trance for two weeks, has just awoke.

***

Mrs Sanders died from blood-poisoning. Her death was from the results of a prick from a rusty pin.

***

Here 's an up-to-date tramp. This Weary Willie threw himself down on the sidewalk and commenced to groan, early Sunday morning. A crowd soon collected. "Send for an ambulance!" someone suggested. The surgeon examined him and said he was feigning, and refused to take him, saying: "We turned him away from our hospital this morning. He is a fakir." The police took him to Bellevue Hospital, but the doctors reported that he was perfectly well. About one hour after his rejection he was found in the same condition, in terrible agony, and was taken to another hospital where he had a good sleep and something to eat. This fellow was bound to have a good square meal, and he got it.

***

An elevated train jumped the track Sunday and crashed into the Station. Many were bruised and shaken up.

***

Firebugs are still at it in this city, notwithstanding the fact that the King fo Firebugs was sentenced the other week to 48 years in Sing Sing prison. Instead of imprisoning these fiends (who set tenements on fire to get the heavy insurance, and putting in jeopardy thousands of lives), they should be strung up on the nearest tree or lamp-post, thereby saving the county thousands of dollars, and setting an example to the rest of their class.

***

Ladies are requested to remove their ornaments here while attending the theater, so as to give a poor fellow a chance to see the show. Is one ration the fair sex as fit for wearing such terrible attires at entertainments.

GEORGE M. SAMUELS.

January 18, 1897.

"The suspended sidewalk with seven students.

But Heaven pursues the conviction, no lawsuit can be followed.

Impossible hydrocarbonates with science confirm.

To whom they confine accident, ah, molecule of mine."

The Weekly Letter.

I had it called to mind the other day how incomprehensible grown people are of what fills the lives of children. There can be little doubt that we have a greater faculty for enjoying pleasures and experiencing griefs as children than as grown-up people. It does not last so long always, but there is a good deal of truth in what the world-worn old grandmother says as she looks contemplatively at the little child, as it is rapturously enjoying the possession of a new toy, that the child is cut of his white bread in life. There is seldom any lasting grief in childhood; but Oh the pity of it when there is! The little one has failed to get only unalloyed happiness of his life. That happiness that innocence only can give, before we have tampered with our mental or physical health. Of course some children are miserable, but generally, to quote Sir Walter Scott,

"The tear down childhood's cheek that flows,
Is like the dew-drop on the rose;
When once the summer breeze comes by,
And shakes the bush, the flower is dry."

The man who can remember his own childhood, and be considerate of the children about him, and make them realize when they are secretly grieving over some mishap which won'd not cause a grown person a moment's thought, that it could n't be helped, that nobody blames them, and it will matter very little in a short time, has done something to alleviate a great deal of real suffering and heart-burning. I can remember one or two instances in my life when there was a skeleton in my closet that need never have been there if I had had some good friend to show me that what had happened was a very small affair in reality.

I can recall one thing that is now darkened and embittered my childhood; and that, probably, accounts for my dark, and misanthropic nature, so adapted to the newspaper business. When about five years old, with another boy exactly my age, I was enjoying the delights of the blacksmith shop, and in the yard was an old wheat-drill. This drill had a tremendous tongue in it, and we wondered if we could lift it. It being being well balanced, we were able to do so, but on lifting a little higher, to our surprise and horror, the tongue took matters into its own hands and flew up and the drill came down with a terrible crash. I have since learned that the drill was not injured in the least; but the blacksmith, being a great wag, immediately pronounced it ruined, and began counting the cost of a new one,—$90 it was I remember,—and my blood froze. As soon as the paralyzing influence of the fright had somewhat left me, I realized that I was hopelessly insolvent, and took refuge in flight. The trouble made me sick, and it was several years before the terrible impression wore off of me, and I revisited the blacksmith shop.

During that time I suffered all the pangs and apprehensions of a criminal trembling in his cell. If the family horse needed shoeing, I worked some scheme for some one else to take him to the shop. I only ventured by the shop once in a long while, and the way I held the secret of that skeleton leads me to believe that I am able to do wrong and never acknowledge it after. Of course I can see now that it was a matter that should not have influenced my life, and that I was a victim of great cruelty. I wonder how many of our little friends have needless grief over them that a word from a confidante older person would clear away.

Often and often a little fellow bravely trying to work will meet with some mishap—break a tool or irritate some perhaps fifty cents. It seems like a tremendous thing to him, and when the father or best friend, as they say in law, instead of seeing that the child is suffering intensely, and making it all right with him, thinks it necessary to vent ill temper, or scold to make him more careful. That is the cruelest and most unkindest cut of all.

We have all been over the first portion, at least, of life, and we ought to have a world of helpful pity for those who have to learn to live. They are the best men who can put themselves in a child's place, and a word of help is remembered by the little pilgrim long after the kind older friend has forgotten that the word was ever uttered. I think we have here a part of the meaning of that verse in the Bible which reads something like this: "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these, ye have done it unto me."

The Arrest of W. L. Crotty.

(Monroe County Watchman.)

One of the most important and interesting cases ever tried in Monroe Circuit Court will be that of C. L. Crotty, indicted for the murder of Walter A. Pauily, which will come up at the March term next. The killing it will be remembered took place on August 14th. Crotty walked away unmolested in the presence of a number of bystanders and for two months evaded arrest. He at last turned up in Phoenix, Arizona, about the middle of October and was there detained by the authorities until requisition papers were gotton out and the sheriff of this county arrived. He was brought back in their custody and lodged in jail in Union November 11th. Crotty seems to bear his confinement fairly well. His demeanor is reserved and he spends most of his time reading the Bible.

It has been rather difficult to get at the actual facts surrounding Crotty's arrest in Arizona, but as described by the clerk in the Commercial Hotel at Phoenix, the papers of that town and others, the facts were substantially as follows: Upon entering the hotel, Crotty, who had but little baggage, refrained for some time from registering. His manner was constrained and he seemed to be in a state of nervousness. After awhile he was requested by the clerk to register, whereupon he took the pen but seemed to find much difficulty in registering to his satisfaction. When he finally laid the pen down the clerk turned the book round and found that his stranger guest had written, "Lee Ott, Bland Co., Va." When asked by the clerk how he pronounced his name the alleged Mr "Ott" seemed much startled and said that he would explain it all right, and asked for a place to wash. On his way to the lavatory he told the clerk that if any thing was wrong with his signature he would make it all right. Upon his return he still seemed laboring under excitement and the clerk frankly told him that his conduct was suspicious. Crotty then went to register and wrote his real name—"C. L. Crotty." This strange performance to take him to one side and ask him if he had not committed some crime. Crotty appeared to be much alarmed but finally admitted that he was a fugitive from the law, told what he had done in West Virginia and asked the clerk not to give him away but to protect him. The clerk at the first opportunity telephoned for the Chief of Police and when he came the clerk turned Crotty over to him. Crotty made no resistance, but bent with apparent willingness, except just as he was entering the jail doors, when he drew with evident dread. His subsequent conduct as a prisoner has been of the most exemplary sort.

MR TYRELL, of the Geological Survey Department, has arrived at Winnipeg, bound for Ottawa, and reports having discovered rich tracts of agricultural and stock raising county hitherto unknown. He left Selkirk on January 24. From Norway House he descended the Nelson River in a canoe to the Pine River, ascending it to Wolf River. Again the Nelson was descended for seventy five miles, until the Brantwood River was reached, then down the Grassy River to the Sturgeon, which brought them to the Saskatchewan at Cumberland House. Recently they reached Prince Albert. Mr Tyrell says that there are large areas of rich, cultivable lands west of the Nelson River, which when it is proven, simply because it would be of no value, all agencies of exploration are produced in the gardens of the Hudson Bay Company posts and prove hardy. Except for the climate he declares that there is nothing to prohibit wheat as the finest Red River valley. The Scientific American.

Pay your subscription.

To Confederate Veterans.

WHEELING, W. VA. Jan. 1, 1897.

My Dear Sir,—At the instance of Gen. J. B. Gordon, General *Commanding the "United Confed*erate Veterans," thro his Adjutant General and Chief of Staff, General Geo. Moorman, I address you this letter.

Every Confederate soldier must feel a deep interest in the effort to *build the Memorial Institute edi*fice of the Southland, upon such a scale and in such a style as that it may be truly commemorative of the memory of our dead and the heroic valor of our soldiers.

Every Confederate soldier feels a deep interest in the "United Confederate Veterans," and in their patriotic annual re-unions.

Every Confederate soldier is interested in seeing that the poor, old or disabled soldier should have proper care in his declining years.

A meeting will be held in the city of Charleston, W. Va., on Thursday, February 4th, 1897, to which all Confederate soldiers, and all others interested in the consideration and futherance of the foregoing objects, are earnestly invited.

Will you please urge the newspapers in your vicinity to give full notice of this meeting, and use your efforts to make it a success?

The Commanding General desires that a Division of "United Confederate Veterans" shall be formed in the State of West Virginia during the present winter. An appeal is made to the Confederate soldiers of West Virginia to gather themselves together and form in each county of the State, *as far as may be, a camp of Con*federate Veterans, so that a full Division in this State may be organized speedily. Any assistance that I can render will be cheerfully given, and the Adjutant General will gladly do any thing in his power to bring about the desired result. His address is: George Moorman, Adjutant General and Chief of Staff, No. 824 Common Street, New Orleans, La.

The next re-union of the "United Confederate Veterans" will be held at Nashville, Tenn., on the 5, 6 and 7th days of May next, during the great Centennial Exhibition in that city. It is hoped that the camps in this State will be represented. Mr Va. may be there represented."

It seems to me to be a duty especially incumbent upon the Con*federate soldiers of West Virginia* to take prompt action in this matter, and I appeal most earnestly to every one to lend a helping hand.

Respectfully, ROBERT WHITE,
Of Ex. Com. of Southern Memorial Association.

I will be glad for any or all members of the Pocahontas Camp to consider themselves delegates to the above meeting and attend if possible. A. C. L. GATEWOOD, Commander.

As to the trolley wires,
It has been found
Cheaper to put the people
Under the ground.
—Chicago Tribune.

THE Washington Post suggests that honest bank officials would go well with our present dish of honest money. The fact is mentioned for what it is worth.—Atlanta Constitution.

FIRST TRAMP: "All I have in the world is a counterfeit quarter."

Second tramp: "And all I have is a plugged dime."

Both: "Let's hold a monetary conference!"—Detroit Free Press.

HEROISM.

Forget thy failure and thy fall;
For forth into the world again,
Stand face to face with other men
And like a hero, conquer all.
—Hu Maxwell.

HUMAN NATURE.

He called Sweet Prue
A perfect peach,
But found she grew
Just out of reach.
And so he learnt
With longing sigh,
We always want
What comes too high.
To-day.

A THERMOMETER FREE.

WARNER'S SAFE CURE CO. of Rochester, N. Y., are sending out a limited number of accurate spirit thermometers graded from 20 degrees below zero to 120 degrees above and mounted on heavy 4 x 6 inch card board, in red and green, by mail, free to any address on receipt of 2 cents in stamps to pay postage. To be sure, this distribution is intended to advertise the celebrated Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure; but advertising aside, we believe the loss (for thermometers will be found to be a useful as well as ornamental article for the home or office and well worth the little trouble and expense of sending for it.

Come '7.

De Mistletoe am laid away,
'N' Santy Claus done gone;
De turkey lef' from Christmas day
Am a skellyton to'o'n;
Dar's no meat on him ez'ceps now
'N' de wishbone's on de leg—
Ol' Fatha Time done make er bow,
'N' he rattles out de dice—
Come '7
Got yo' faded!

Ol' Ninety Six am laid toe rest
W'ar de weepin' willers grow;
Dis new year am gwine do him bes'
Ef yo' gives him er show;
Be good too all yo' neighbo's an'
De pahson, Mistah Jones—
Ol' Fatha Time done takes a stand
'N' he rattles out de dice—
Come '7
Got yo' faded!

Dem promises yo' broke last year
Yo' all kin try to keep,
No mattah if yo' all kin steer
W'ar de fates' chickens sleep.
De new year holds him shape an' style
Jus' as long as yo' keeps him nice—
Ol' Fatha Time doan' crack er smile
'N' he rattles out de dice—
Come '7
Got yo' faded!

—Exchange.

"The great man-seal haul back to the sea, and no man knows their path.
Then dark they lie and stark they lie—rookery, dune, and floe,
And the Northern Lights come down o' nights to dance with the homeless snow;
And God who clears the grounding berg and steers the grinding floe,
He hears the cry of the little kit-fox and the wind along the snow.
But since our women must walk gay and money buys their gear,
The sealing boats they filch that way at hazard year by year.
English they be and Japanee that hang on the Brown Bear's flank,
And some be Scott, but the worst, God wot, and the boldest thieves, be Yank."—From Kipling's Rime of the Three Sail-or's.

do not improve tha reputation of the past year as a rather dark period in our history, tho the record is not altogether unfavorable by comparison with previous years. There were 122 legal executions during the year and 131 lynchings, which is a rather startling commentary on the methods by which the law is executed and defied in *this country. That neither lynch*ings nor legal executions serve to check the crime of murder is shown by the statement that there were no less than 10,652 murders committed during the year. This is a shocking exhibit.—The Her*ald, Boston.*

THE Nord, Paris, publishes some accounts of the Russian fleet in the Black Sea, which prove it to be very formidable. There are seven line-of-battle-ships ranging between 8,000 and 12,000 tons, two armored coast-defense vessels, six armored cruisers, three torpedo-cruisers, twenty-three torpedo-boats, and eleven *cruisers belong*ing to the volunteer fleet. The latter are not armored, but carry six to fourteen quick-firing guns. Three of them can steam 20 knots an hour. It is not thought that Turkey can prevent the egress of this powerful fleet.

"THERE's only two real parties," said the man who refuses to believe that the free-silver agitation is over for good. "The old political lines are all gone to smash."

"You mean, I suppose, to reiterate your familiar claim that the bankers are arrayed against the farmers?"

"That's it exactly. It's the old question of which kind o' whiskers is a-goin ter git the best of it, side or chin. —Washington Star.

A FARMER traveling in a foreign land becoming anxious about his live stock, telegraphed home:

"Is things all right at the barn?
"JOHN BREEN.

His stable boy, whose conversation was proverbialy laconic, immediately telegraphed back:

"JOHN BREEN. Things is.
ROBERT."

THE PESSIMIST.

There is no hope for him whose eyes
Are nothing in the human race
But plans misshaped and out of place,
And inconsistencies and lies.
—Hu Maxwell.

MARK WARNE, "Uncle Simon what is a phenomenon?"

"A phenomenon is a man that gits so rich that he won't accept a pass on a railroad."—Chicago Record.

LOCAL EVENTS.

JANUARY 29, 1897.

Hon. WM. CURRY has been [illegible] friends, returned to his home at Ft. Lewis, Bath County.

MR HARRY WISSINGER, one of Capt. Smith's men, has been very ill of pneumonia at Rimel's, but has favorably passed the crisis.

THE Dotson Doctor visited and prescribed for fifteen patients, from Rimel's to Frost. Five of the cases are in Smith & Whiting's camp, grippe and incipient pneumonia.

WE hear that MR W. B. Ricketts is enjoying a much needed vacation at his home at Leamington, England, after several years hard work in West Virginia.

THE hungry public clamors for more news. Draw on your imagination! they say. We wish it understood that drafts of a country editor upon his imagination are not always honored.

A BROOD of forty three eastern cattle were disposed of to parties near Dotson a week or two since. It is hoped that the venture may prove to be profitable to all concerned. Such a deal indicates returning confidence.

IT is very true that since Moses was cradled in his little bed of bullrushes that no Jew in this or any other place has ever offered such bargains in bed comforts as are now being offered at the Golden Store.

PARLOW & MOORE, of Edray, had some goods destroyed by fire last fall, by a car on the C. & O. R. R. burning. The amount of damages, $117.03, was recently paid to them by the railroad company.

IF you should see a half-dollar lying in the road, would you stand and look at it and let someone else pick it up? You are saying at least fifty cents by buying your ladies' arctics at the Golden Store. You had better not wait until they are all gone. Better come right now before the sizes get broken up.

CHAIRMAN B. H. PIERSAL and Treasurer G. L. Spence, of the Populist State Committee of West Virginia, have instituted a libel suit against the Wheeling Register and Parkersburg Sentinel for $25,000 damages from each paper, the grounds alleged being the publication of accusations of bribery.

JUDGE A. N. CAMPBELL has fully decided to locate at Fayetteville for the practice of law and will open up his office soon. There are very few better attorneys in this *state and he will be a valuable ad*dition to the Fayette bar. We are glad to have him with us and hope he will realize his brightest dreams of success.—Fayette Republican.

LAST Tuesday morning paper seemed to possess more electricity than the writer has ever noticed before. A dozen sheets of paper, six by eight inches in size, could be held by the corner of one sheet as securely as if they had been glued together. This property in paper is well known to printers and is noticed generally on dry cold mornings.

A VERY needless bit of cruelty was perpetrated by a boy near Edray. Dave Sharp's pack of hounds was running a fox, and after several hours the fox was about to cry "uncle" when the boy ran to intercept it. Failing to shoot the fox, he fired at the foremost hound just as it leaped upon a log. The hound howled and ran off and hid. The rest of the pack abandoned the chase as soon as they came to the blood that had flowed from the wound. In four days the hound came home with the under jaw shot away. The grand jury should look after the boy for cruelty to animals.

THERE was great excitement last week over a lot drawing in this place. The ladies of the Methodist Aid Society had manufactured a marvelous quilt of such fine texture and of so many varied colors that it belonged to the class called crazy. This valuable piece of property was divided into shares of 100 at 25 cents each. When the sum of $25 had been paid in, in silver, the number, selected by a lady at Green Bank, was opened, and it was found that the owner of the number 9 was the prize winner, and it went to MRS S. L. BROWN. The opening of the envelop was a great event. All these social conditions of people gathered at the Yeager Hotel, and after a short address by MRS J. H. PRITCHARD the envelope was opened. Most of the shareholders were present; the lucky winner, as usual, was absent. The unfortunate majority went home disconsolate. The ladies will be rewarded even for their labors by the purpose of preparing a pantaloon for the Methodist church now in process of erection.

The Grand Jurors.

To the Editor of THE TIMES:

Permit me through the medium of your excellent paper to ask if your many intelligent readers if any of them can tell how many Democrats constitute the Grand Jury of this county for the year 1897. I have noticed in the county papers of during the year of the inauguration of the present administration of Democracy, and the appointment by the Democratic Sheriff, that the Democratic Grand Jurors were in the majority and controlled the action of the Grand Jury. We are now under the Democratic administration of Governor Atkinson, and I would like to know how many Democrats constitute the Grand Jury. Please answer, Mr. Editor, and oblige many readers. [illegible]

READ Sal Davis' new advertisement.

CHAS. PARKER, who has been in the county some months visiting friends, returned to his home at Ft. Lewis, Bath County.

MR HARRY WISSINGER, one of Capt. Smith's men, has been very ill of pneumonia at Rimel's, but has favorably passed the crisis.

W. W. TYREE was disabled from work for a few days by a piece of steel entering his hand.

MISS HATTIE PATTERSON is visiting her uncle, Prof. James W. Warwick, on Tuckahoe Street Academy.

L. M. MCCLINTIC and C. J. LEE GAY went to Charleston this week to attend to suits held in the courts of that city.

O. R. SLAVIN left for Kansas City for a month's absence, to attend to business matters connected with his cattle. He will return to this place about March 1.

Colonel and Mrs. Lee Gay entertained a number of friends to dinner last Thursday. Among those present were Mr and Mrs O. R. Slavin, Mr and Mrs L. M. McClintic, Mrs Rachel Gibson, Miss Mamie McClintic, and Messrs H. A. Yeager, S. B. Scott, dr., and Andrew Price.

Martin Donnally,

Sheriff of Pocahontas County,

Dear Sir. We write to inform you that Martin Donnally, a patient in the Hospital for the Insane, admitted from Pocahontas County December 23, 1897, died suddenly on January 11. His remains were turned in the hospital cemetery and his grave duly marked, so that if any of his friends desire to remove them at any time they can do so without much trouble. We have not the address of any of his friends. If you know who they are will you kindly inform them of the contents of the letter. Yours very truly,

W. D. CRAMER,
Superintendent.

THE West Cumberland (Maryland) Times has the following local notice concerning a football match played here in November:

"A CUMBERLAND CHALLENGE IS VIRGINIA. The Pocahontas Times, Marlinton, West Virginia, gives a report of a football match between Mingo and Marlinton. It says that Mingo came into Marlinton in great style. The party essentially in two coaches each with the English Jack flying. Other members of the were on horseback, and Mr Lawson brought up the rear driving his world renowned mule. The Mingo party, the notes of Squire Greer, Esq., announced the domestic army. The Mr Lawson referred to as Mr Arthur Lawson, of Bruceton, whose ways find a picturesque way of doing things. He acted as goalkeeper for Mingo, and it is recorded that he made some marvelous leaps and saved a number of goals. But notwithstanding his efforts Marlinton won by three goals to one."

BUCKEYE.

Cold weather and lots of sickness at present.

Daniel Kellison and Mrs Cinda Palser, two of the oldest people in the county, are on the sick-list at this writing.

H. Nathan and W. A. Sheaver, of Laurel Creek, were in this part on business last week.

A. S. Overholt will close his school Saturday, the 30th instant.

Henry Burr and John Kellison, of Beaver Creek, were in this part a few days ago. They were after Rev Buckley to do some funeral work, and they wanted a gobbler also.

Mike Myers has gone to camp again.

Singing at Rocky Point by Prof. Mc Keever and Revenge next Sunday at 10 o'clock.

A lively deer-chase was enjoyed by several last Saturday, and all got a divide. MCGINNIS.

Scott's Emulsion

is made up of the most essential elements that go to nourish the body. When the appetite is varying or lacking, it increases it, and when digestion is weak, it aids it to perform its function in a more vigorous way. It nourishes the blood, makes healthy flesh and cures chronic coughs and colds by making it possible for the body to do its own. Our friends tell us "IT WORKS WONDERS" but we never like to contradict the wants of our remedy even when it has been tested and tried for several years. Here it is. If you call for it we will send you a book telling you more about the kind that we can put in a few words.

Scott & Bowne, N. Y.

Personal Mention

C. P. Kerr, constable, was in Marlinton last Friday.

Mr Henry Barlow was a caller at the printing office last Friday.

There is not enough type in the office to set up the names of the sick or suffering this week.

W. W. Tyree was disabled from work for a few days by a piece of steel entering his hand.

Miss Hattie Patterson is visiting her uncle, Prof. James W. Warwick, on Tuckahoe Street Academy.

L. M. McClintic and C. J. Lee Gay went to Charleston this week to attend to suits held in the courts of that city.

O. R. Slavin left for Kansas City for a month's absence, to attend to business matters connected with his cattle. He will return to this place about March 1.

Colonel and Mrs. Lee Gay entertained a number of friends to dinner last Thursday. Among those present were Mr and Mrs O. R. Slavin, Mr and Mrs L. M. McClintic, Mrs Rachel Gibson, Miss Mamie McClintic, and Messrs H. A. Yeager, S. B. Scott, dr., and Andrew Price.

Martin Donnally,

Sheriff of Pocahontas County,

Dear Sir. We write to inform you that Martin Donnally, a patient in the Hospital for the Insane, admitted from Pocahontas County December 23, 1897, died suddenly on January 11. His remains were turned in the hospital cemetery and his grave duly marked, so that if any of his friends desire to remove them at any time they can do so without much trouble. We have not the address of any of his friends. If you know who they are will you kindly inform them of the contents of the letter. Yours very truly,

W. D. CRAMER,
Superintendent.

THE West Cumberland (Maryland) Times has the following local notice concerning a football match played here in November:

"A CUMBERLAND CHALLENGE IS VIRGINIA. The Pocahontas Times, Marlinton, West Virginia, gives a report of a football match between Mingo and Marlinton. It says that Mingo came into Marlinton in great style. The party essentially in two coaches each with the English Jack flying. Other members of the were on horseback, and Mr Lawson brought up the rear driving his world renowned mule. The Mingo party, the notes of Squire Greer, Esq., announced the domestic army. The Mr Lawson referred to as Mr Arthur Lawson, of Bruceton, whose ways find a picturesque way of doing things. He acted as goalkeeper for Mingo, and it is recorded that he made some marvelous leaps and saved a number of goals. But notwithstanding his efforts Marlinton won by three goals to one."

BUCKEYE.

Cold weather and lots of sickness at present.

Daniel Kellison and Mrs Cinda Palser, two of the oldest people in the county, are on the sick-list at this writing.

H. Nathan and W. A. Sheaver, of Laurel Creek, were in this part on business last week.

A. S. Overholt will close his school Saturday, the 30th instant.

Henry Burr and John Kellison, of Beaver Creek, were in this part a few days ago. They were after Rev Buckley to do some funeral work, and they wanted a gobbler also.

Mike Myers has gone to camp again.

Singing at Rocky Point by Prof. Mc Keever and Revenge next Sunday at 10 o'clock.

A lively deer-chase was enjoyed by several last Saturday, and all got a divide. MCGINNIS.

DUNMORE. Delayed,

A little cool around the edges [illegible] sugar weather if the trees would run.

J. B. White & Co. [illegible] Green Bank [illegible] Washington, D. C. [illegible] Sunday that [illegible] had one of his hands [illegible] a sawmill. We did not learn the particulars.

Arthur Neal is employed on [illegible]

Mrs Mary E. Pritchard [illegible]

Squire P. D. Arbogast was [illegible] last week collecting the A. [illegible] taxes in this [illegible]

[illegible] Mr Wm. Moore [illegible] from an [illegible] West Virginia [illegible] reports [illegible] hunting [illegible] from the State of [illegible] the County of Randolph [illegible]

Mr. Wm. Collins [illegible] Mr. Moore's [illegible] J. A. Moore arrived the body of Mrs Hamilton Moore, who died last week in Green Hill Highland County, and buried her [illegible]

[illegible] and raised [illegible] Mr Neal [illegible] death of [illegible] Travelers P[illegible]

[illegible] Sipple are visiting [illegible]

[illegible] Sipple are visiting [illegible]

[illegible] Mr Marlinton with a wagon-load of [illegible] chickens.

[illegible] Mr Moore will be one the improvement [illegible] The Pocahontas Times. Good print, good paper, well edited, and not to be in every [illegible] by the way, May the prosperity of live and the editor never die.

DO TINKER.

BRUFFEY'S CREEK.

We are having cold [illegible] Sparkling [illegible] Pleasant Valley evenings, very good spelling [illegible]

Miss Lelia Walton, a deaf mute, daughter of Wesley Walton, of Greenbrier, is teaching George Fertiman's little girl the deaf and dumb language. This is learning [illegible] you would be surprised to [illegible] how quickly she takes to the [illegible] of the [illegible] different signs and motions. It is quite amusing, and very cool to watch them. Miss Walton is an accomplished [illegible] and a thorough scholar. It is quite a treat to spend an evening with her, and we are [illegible] good, [illegible] and [illegible] her stay [illegible] is [illegible] pleasant [illegible] and all [illegible] profit [illegible] pupils.

Notice has just reached here of the very sudden and mysterious disappearance of a young man in the home of a gentleman formerly of this neighborhood, but now living near Huntersville, but now living near Huntersville, but we do not know just what advocate give, nor is it has been twenty-odd years since we had a like experience; but will simply say the best thing we know of in a case of this kind is to keep quiet.

A certain young man in this neighborhood told his mother to keep a nice chicken, he wanted to eat one this winter. Now you bet I have my eye on the gobbler!

HEATHER BREECHES.

DRISCOL.

Smith & Whiting have moved to their new camp near the splash dam.

Harry Whiting has pneumonia at Hobb Hill.

The secret at Mr Sharp's, given in honor of Miss Lucy's twenty-first birth day, was a very enjoyable occasion.

Auburn Friel who had his finger cut at camp is able to go to work again.

Nearly every body has the grip. Mr Lockridge is kept busy day and night.

Willie Cole and Sidlie White are going to Williams River this week.

Singing at Driscol on Sunday at 2 p. m., by a new professor. We want every body to come and hear him.

Billie Osborne has pneumonia at W. A. Friels.

MAUDE.

The progressive ladies of Westfield, Ind., issued a woman's Edition of the Westfield News. Speaking date of April 1, 1896. The paper is filled with matter of interest to women, and we notice the following from a correspondent, which the editors pointed, realizing that it treats upon a matter of vital importance to their sex: "The best remedy for coughs and colds that I have been able to find is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For family use it has no equal. It always relieves it," and a great many others for sale by druggists.

Persons who are troubled with indigestion will be interested in the experience of Wm. H. Tyre, merchant in the railroad restaurant at Des Moines, Iowa, who writes: "I have no hesitation in saying that Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are the best I have ever used. I have suffered from indigestion and dyspepsia for years, and have tried almost everything without relief or gain, but since the use of these tablets I am entirely free from the disease." For sale by druggists.

Gloom to Sunshine

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Hood's Pills

DUNMORE. Delayed,

A little cool around the edges [illegible] sugar weather if the trees would run.

J. B. White & Co. [illegible] Green Bank [illegible] Washington, D. C. [illegible] Sunday that [illegible] had one of his hands [illegible] a sawmill. We did not learn the particulars.

Arthur Neal is employed on [illegible]

Mrs Mary E. Pritchard [illegible]

Squire P. D. Arbogast was [illegible] last week collecting the A. [illegible] taxes in this [illegible]

[illegible] Mr Wm. Moore [illegible] from an [illegible] West Virginia [illegible] reports [illegible] hunting [illegible] from the State of [illegible] the County of Randolph [illegible]

Mr. Wm. Collins [illegible] Mr. Moore's [illegible] J. A. Moore arrived the body of Mrs Hamilton Moore, who died last week in Green Hill Highland County, and buried her [illegible]

[illegible] and raised [illegible] Mr Neal [illegible] death of [illegible] Travelers P[illegible]

[illegible] Sipple are visiting [illegible]

[illegible] Sipple are visiting [illegible]

[illegible] Mr Marlinton with a wagon-load of [illegible] chickens.

[illegible] Mr Moore will be one the improvement [illegible] The Pocahontas Times. Good print, good paper, well edited, and not to be in every [illegible] by the way, May the prosperity of live and the editor never die.

DO TINKER.

BRUFFEY'S CREEK.

We are having cold [illegible] Sparkling [illegible] Pleasant Valley evenings, very good spelling [illegible]

Miss Lelia Walton, a deaf mute, daughter of Wesley Walton, of Greenbrier, is teaching George Fertiman's little girl the deaf and dumb language. This is learning [illegible] you would be surprised to [illegible] how quickly she takes to the [illegible] of the [illegible] different signs and motions. It is quite amusing, and very cool to watch them. Miss Walton is an accomplished [illegible] and a thorough scholar. It is quite a treat to spend an evening with her, and we are [illegible] good, [illegible] and [illegible] her stay [illegible] is [illegible] pleasant [illegible] and all [illegible] profit [illegible] pupils.

News has just reached here of the very sudden and mysterious disappearance of a young man in the home of a gentleman formerly of this neighborhood, but now living near Huntersville, but now living near Huntersville, but we do not know just what advocate give, nor is it has been twenty-odd years since we had a like experience; but will simply say the best thing we know of in a case of this kind is to keep quiet.

A certain young man in this neighborhood told his mother to keep a nice chicken, he wanted to eat one this winter. Now you bet I have my eye on the gobbler!

HEATHER BREECHES.

DRISCOL.

Smith & Whiting have moved to their new camp near the splash dam.

Harry Whiting has pneumonia at Hobb Hill.

The secret at Mr Sharp's, given in honor of Miss Lucy's twenty-first birth day, was a very enjoyable occasion.

Auburn Friel who had his finger cut at camp is able to go to work again.

Nearly every body has the grip. Mr Lockridge is kept busy day and night.

Willie Cole and Sidlie White are going to Williams River this week.

Singing at Driscol on Sunday at 2 p. m., by a new professor. We want every body to come and hear him.

Billie Osborne has pneumonia at W. A. Friels.

MAUDE.

The progressive ladies of Westfield, Ind., issued a woman's Edition of the Westfield News. Speaking date of April 1, 1896. The paper is filled with matter of interest to women, and we notice the following from a correspondent, which the editors pointed, realizing that it treats upon a matter of vital importance to their sex: "The best remedy for coughs and colds that I have been able to find is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For family use it has no equal. It always relieves it," and a great many others for sale by druggists.

Persons who are troubled with indigestion will be interested in the experience of Wm. H. Tyre, merchant in the railroad restaurant at Des Moines, Iowa, who writes: "I have no hesitation in saying that Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are the best I have ever used. I have suffered from indigestion and dyspepsia for years, and have tried almost everything without relief or gain, but since the use of these tablets I am entirely free from the disease." For sale by druggists.

FURNITURE FACTORY

AND

Furniture Store.

Fine Furniture Made to Order.

STOCK ALWAYS ON HAND.

I am occupying the Temporary Court-house and am prepared to make to order all kinds of Furniture at lower prices than can be obtained elsewhere. Don't be cheated in Furniture but buy from a reliable cabinet maker who works up the native woods.

I can order your furniture from the city at better terms than you can to save your life. Whenever you need anything in my line you will save money by giving me a call.

W. J. Killingsworth.

GREEN BANK.

We are having some fine winter weather at present about four inches of snow.

Sandy Sutton made a flying trip to Hunnewell this week.

Craigh Ashford has gone to Irvin's camp to work.

Mr John Waugh was around his work collecting taxes.

Mr Oliver of Covington Va. has been visiting his relatives and friends in this vicinity this week.

The Oak Grove foot-ball team played a game of ball in Highland last week and report a splendid time although the "grub" was rather scarce and they had to play with out their dinner.

Miss Laura Maxwell closed her school at Cross Roads last Friday.

There are quite a number on the sick list this week.

We are sorry to note the death of Lola Gragg, which occurred last Friday about 12 o'clock. Her death was caused by inflamatory rheumatism. MR SHEGAN

Lost! Lost! Lost!

Money Lost

by not trading with us. We mean business, as you will find if you give us a trial.

"The proof of the pudding is in the eating."

Buy one bill of us for your own special benefit.

THE MONEY WE DO NOT SPEND PAYING TRAVELLING MENS' BILLS IS SHARED WITH OUR CUSTOMERS. WE SEEK NO TRADE THAT IS NOT OURS BY VIRTUE OF LOW PRICES AND HONEST GOODS. OUR REPUTATION AS Spot Cash Buyers bring us bargains that credit never saw. We give bargains; the prices tell the people, and the people tell the prices.

We will sell wire-nails, from 4 to 20 penny at $3.50 per keg.

Best Granulated Sugar at 6¼

Fancy Green Coffee at 18c

Corn Starch 5c a box.

Elegant good Tobacco 25c to 35c per pound.

We will buy beef hides.

We will buy beeswax and fur throughout the winter. Friends, don't forget to give us your trade.

Yours respectfully,

L. D. Sharp,

LINWOOD, W. VA.

Notice.

I hereby notify all persons from trespassing on my land by hunting, laying down fences, or in any other way. JOSEPH S. SMITH.

Lumber.

I have for sale a quantity of first-class white pine lumber, well sawed.

Two finished bills second to order if bills are given me by February 1st. H. M. MOORE, Dunmore, W. Va.

Raw Fur Skins

WANTED.

RECEIVERS' RENTAL OF LANDS.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, made on the 29th day of October, 1896, in the chancery cause of Levi Gay, et al., vs. J. B. Lockridge, et als., the undersigned special receivers will on the

6th day of Feb., 1897,

at the front door of the court house of said county, proceed to rent by way of public auction to the highest bidder for the term of one year, the lands in the bill and proceedings mentioned belonging to the defendant, J. B. Lockridge, consisting of the farm upon which the said Lockridge now resides, situated at Dyrard, in said county. Said farm is in good state of cultivation and has thereon all necessary buildings in good repair.

TERMS.—Cash in hand sufficient to pay costs of rental, and for the residue the renter executing bonds with good personal security, payable on the 25th day of December, 1897.

W. A. BRYSTON,
L. M. MCCLINTIC,
Receivers.

By order of said decree, the bond already given in this case is held sufficient for the above rental.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

VALUABLE

Property for Sale Privately.

One of the most complete residences in the county, situated in the village of Hillsboro, is offered for sale privately, on good terms.

This would be especially valuable to any doctor who wishes to locate in one of the best sections of the State. The owner, a physician, wishes to retire, for private reasons that will be perfectly satisfactory to any proposed purchaser.

Further information cheerfully afforded any inquirer by the editor of this paper.

SPECIAL POTATO FERTILIZER

ammoniates

VEGETABLE and ANIMAL MATTER.

Every farmer should write for prices, &c., and circulars.

AMERICAN REDUCTION CO.,
Pittsburg, Pa.

Notice.

Your accounts are finished up ready for settlement. Please call on me at my place of business and pay what you owe. I cannot carry your accounts from year to year. Pay as you go and keep even.

Very respectfully,

JNO. S. MOORE.

Jan. 8, 1897.

Look! This Way!

We call your special attention to your notes and accounts now due us. We have waited on you a long time to pay us what you owe, but you have not done so. You will please call on S. B. Moore, Edray, W. Va., and pay every cent you owe. We cannot wait longer on you for our money, and if our accounts and notes are not paid soon we will be compelled to place them in the hands of an officer for collection.

Yours respectfully,

MOORE & BARLOW.

Jan. 8, 1897.

Notice.

Our accounts are now ready for settlement. All persons are requested to call and settle their accounts before they are left for suit. Don't delay.

J. & A. SLAVEN.

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, Jan. 29, 1897.

Subscription ONE DOLLAR in advance. If not paid within the year $1.50 will be charged.

Entered at the post-office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

County Directory.

Judge ..... J. M. McWhorter
Pros. Attorney ... L. M. McClintic
Sheriff ..... R. W. Hill
Clerk County Court .. S. L. Brown
Clerk Circuit Court, J. H. Patterson
Assessor ..... J. H. Buzzard
Com'rs. Co. Ct. { Amos Barlow / C. E. Beard
Surveyor ..... George Baxter
Coroner ..... George P. Moore

BOARD OF HEALTH—Dr J. W. Price, L. M. McClintic, M. J. McNeel, R. W. Hill.

JUSTICES—Uriah Bird, Marlinton; A. C. L. Gatewood, Linwood; P. D. Arbogast, Green Bank; W. H. Grose, Huntersville; G. E. Curry, Academy; T. A. Bruffey, Lobelia.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

Business Rules.

When a subscriber orders his paper discontinued he is, of course, expected at the same time to pay up all arrearages.

No attention will be paid to anonymous communications. You need not sign your real name, but it must always accompany your communication.

On all job work our terms are cash, except in cases of merchants and others with whom we have running accounts.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

B. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. SRBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. S. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. E. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. G. I. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his next visit will appear in the Times.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in the Times.

J. M. CLENDENIN, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office and room next to C. & P. Ry. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

WANTED AN IDEA Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

Poetry.

THE CARDINAL BIRD.

She brought caged-bird in a cage,
And hung it from my window sill.—
The red bird then was all the rage,
And may be still!
I know not—I so long have been
Amid the city's dust and din;
But when I was a little child,
I greatly loved its wood-notes wild.
Three maple-forests far away,
For years, tho, I had seldom heard
The cardinal bird.

A day, and then a week passed by—
The red-bird hanging from the sill,
Sang not; and all were wondering why
It was so still—
When one bright morning, loud and clear,
Its whistle smote my drowsy ear,
Ten times repeated, till the sound
Filled every echoing niche around;
And all things earthly loved by me,—
The bird, the brook, the flower, the tree,—
Came back again, as thus I heard
The cardinal bird.

Where maple orchards towered aloft—
And spicewood bushes spread below,
Where skies were blue, and winds were soft,
I could but go—
For, opening thro a wildering haze,
Appeared my restless childhood's days
And truant feet and loitering mood
Soon found me in the same old wood.
(Illusion's hour but seldom brings
So much the very form of things)—
Where first I sought, and saw, and heard
The cardinal bird.

Then came green meadows, broad and bright,
Where dandelions, with wealth untold,
Gleamed on the young and eager sight,
Like stars of gold—
And on the very meadow's edge,
Beneath the ragged blackberry hedge,
'Mid mosses golden, gray, and green,
The fresh young buttercups were seen,
And small Spring-beauties sent to be
The heralds of Anemone;
All just as when I earliest heard
The cardinal bird.

Upon the gray old forest's rim,
I sniffed the crab-tree's sweet perfume;
And farther, where the light was dim,
I saw the bloom
Of May-apples, beneath the tent
Of umbrel leaves above them bent;
Where oft was shifting light and shade
The blue-eyed ivy wildly strayed;
And Solomon's seal, in graceful play,
Swung where the struggling sunlight lay—
The same as when I earliest heard
The cardinal bird.

And on the slope above the rill
That wound among the sugar trees
I heard them at their labors still,
The murmuring bees:
Bold foragers that come and go,
Without permit from friend or foe:
In the tall tulip-trees o'erhead,
On pollen greedily they fell;
And from low phlox, that grew
About my feet, sipped honey dew,
How like the scenes when first I heard
The cardinal bird.

How like!—and yet—the spell grows weak—
Ah, but I miss the sunny brow—
The sparkling eye—the ruddy cheek!
Where, where are now
The three who then beside me stood,
Like blooms in their early bud?
Alas! I am alone. Since then,
They 've trod the weary ways of men:
One on the eve of manhood died;
Two in the flush of power and pride,
Their graves are green, where first we heard
The cardinal bird.

The red-bird from the window hung.
Not long my fancies thus beguiled:
Again in maple groves it sang
Its wood notes wild.
For, tossing, with a tearful eye,
I gave it to the trees and sky.
I missed so much those brothers three,
Who walked youth's flowery ways with me,
I could not, dared not, but believe
It, too, had brothers, that would grieve
Till in old haunts it was heard,
The cardinal bird.
—[William D. Gallagher.

YOU CAN BE WELL.

When your blood is pure, rich and nourishing for nerves and muscles. The blood is the vital fluid, and when it is poor, thin and impure you must either suffer from some distressing disease or fall a victim to sudden changes, exposure or overwork. Keep your blood pure with Hood's Sarsaparilla and be well.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pill; assist digestion, cure headache. 25c.

MONEY MAKES MONEY!

So do we but we make it for you. How? By saving you the middle man's profit. We practically charge you a small commission for attending to your purchases, and as we have advantages for buying that an ordinary purchaser does not enjoy, we can save money for you.

Cash must always accompany the order, and any excess will be promptly remitted.

Quotations furnished and correspondence solicited. Groceries in original pakages a specialty.

Charleston Purchasing Agency.

Brockner Bros., Managers.
Charleston, W. Va.

A Sermonette.

And they said: Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved and thy house.—Acts, xvi. 31.

Paul and Silas, whose words are here taken, remembering the promise that the Savior would be where ever two or three are gathered together held a prayer and praise service. The place was the inner prison, a deep pit in the ground, where all manner of slimy filth would collect.

In such a place, their bodies sore with stripes and their feet fast in the stocks, and expecting the next day to be torn in pieces or stoned to death by an infuriated mob, they prayed and sang praises to God at midnight, and the prisoners heard them.

There came an earthquake, and the prison doors were opened, and the jailor, whose life was the security he had to give under the Roman law for the safe-keeping of the prisoners,—under the impression that the prisoners had fled,—drew his sword and would have killed himself. When told by Paul to do himself no harm, the prisoners were all present; he came in and asked: "What must I do to be saved?" The answer was in the words selected as the subject of this little sermon. These servants of the Lord spake unto him the word of the Lord, and to all that were in his house.

The sum and the substance of their instructions was to persuade him and his family to count all things but loss for the excellence of the knowledge of Christ Jesus, and be found in Christ, not having his own righteousness which is of the law, but that which is of God by faith in Christ. This keeper of the prison and his family became members of the church at Philippi, and he was one of the persons to whom the Letter to the Philippians was written.

Whoever reads that letter will have a good idea of the instructions Paul gave in answer to the question "what must I do to be saved?" The sum and the substance of those instructions explaining what it is to believe on the Lord Jesus Christ. If thou shalt confess with the mouth the Lord Jesus, and believe in thy heart (or mind) that God has raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved; for with the heart man believes unto righteousness, and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation, for whosoever shall call on the name of the Lord shall be saved. All this means that to believe on the Lord Jesus Christ is to be what Christ would have us be, live as He would have us live, and do what he would have us do,—as best we can.

This brings us at once to search and see what Christ recommended people to do that came to him as earnest inquirers. In the tenth of Mark we read of a young man so impressed that he came running to Christ in the highway, and kneeled down in the public road, and inquired: "Good Master, (or teacher), what shall I do that I may inherit eternal life?" And here is what Jesus said to him: "Why callest thou me good; there is none good but one, that is God. Thou knowest the commandments. Do not commit adultery, do not kill, do not steal, do not bear false witness, defraud not, honor thy father and mother." The inquirer replied: "Master, all these have I observed from my youth." Then Jesus beholding him loved him, and said unto him: "One thing thou lackest. Go thy way, sell all thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in Heaven; and come take up the cross and follow me." And he was sad at that saying, and went away grieved, for he had great possessions.

The intention of what Jesus said was to enable the young inquirer to see whether he was willing to have supreme regard for God's will and a matter of regard for the welfare of others. He showed by his conduct that he was not willing to be such a christian as Christ seemed to require a man to be in order to inherit eternal life. Upon another occasion a certain lawyer inquired: "Master what shall I do to inherit eternal life, or what shall I do to be saved?" Jesus met this inquiry by asking the lawyer this question: "What is written in the law? How readest thou?" The lawyer replied to this question by quoting: Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind, and thy neighbor as thyself."

Jesus said to the lawyer: "Thou hast answered right,—this do and thou shalt live." The lawyer having been thus led to answer his own question, and wishing to justify himself and set himself right before the audience for asking questions he could so well answer himself, he says to Jesus: "And who is my neighbor? That is the point I am most anxious to have cleared up." Our Lord then told the touching incident of a man being robbed, how he was passed by persons for conscientious scruples, and finally was assisted by a Samaritan. He asked the lawyer who was neighbor to him that fell among thieves. The lawyer replied: "He that showed mercy on him." Then said Jesus unto the lawyer: Go and do thou likewise.

From all this it appears that when persons really believe on the Lord Jesus Christ they love God with all the heart, soul, mind, and Strength, and their neighbor as themselves. And it does seem in the light shed on the question What must we do to be saved, or inherit eternal life? we should never attempt to pass ourselves off as Christians unless we do have supreme regard for God's will and a mutual regard for our neighbors weal. SENEX.

Russell Sage's Overcoat.

Jack Frost is no respecter of persons. He gives the frozen fist to rich and poor alike, altho the rich have a much easier thing of it in warding off his blows.

Yesterday, when Jack Frost came to town in full regalia, riding on his charger, the keen west wind, with an icy edged machette in each hand and a needle-pointed lance flashed on each side of his mount, he drove bow on at full speed into Uncle Russell Sage and slashed the aged financier with both machettes and pierced him with both lances.

So savage was the onslaught that the mighty magnate of puts and calls shivered like a forest of aspen trees in full leaf. And he decided to buy a new overcoat, and he delved among the advertisements in the World, and with a chuckle of delight noted that a certain merchant was giving the public a snap by disposing of warm and weather-proof nisters at the merely nominal change of $8.90.

Two hours later, after a long and keenly argumentative discussion with one of the merchant's clerks, Uncle Russell bore away one of the coats for $8, and as he plunged his hands into the pockets he snapped his fingers at Jack Frost.—The World.

The Meteor Fell at His Feet.

The remarkable experience of witnessing a meteor flashing across the firmament, watching it in its course and seeing the stone drop to earth within a few yards of where one is standing comes to but few people, yet such a happening occurred recently to a citizen of Albina, Oregon, says the Portland Telegraph. It was shortly after 10:30 p. m. when Mr Hall started to go to his lodging. Reaching the corner of Rodney Avenue, he was startled by a sudden illumination of the sky toward the east. Gazing aloft, he saw what at first he took to be a ball from a Roman candle fired from some pyrotechnic display incident to the many processions. As the flaming globe approached, however, it assumed such size that the Roman candle supposition was precluded. Nearing the earth, the oncoming ball of fire could be seen to be bringing with it a trail of bluish sparks, which left the main body with a peculiar crackling sound resembling the snapping of charcoal.

Barely missing the roof of a house the visitant from the heavens took a long, swooping flight, as though repelled by the earth's surface, finally alighted in a bed of hardpan, burying itself to a depth of about five inches. The distance from where Mr Hall was standing to where the meteor alighted was so slight that he had a fair view of that portion of the meteor exposed. From this came a shower of sparks much the same as the fine component parts of the meteoric visitor contained a percentage of saltpeter.

Going over to the spot where the fragment of some heavenly body broken loose in space had alighted, he found the meteor still at white heat. Having no means of handling it, he informed some people there of the phenomenon he had witnessed.

Hall and two other men then returned to the lot. On the way an old pick and knife was picked up, and reaching the spot an attempt was made to scrape the fragment of a disintegrated planet into the pick-axe receptacle. The point of contact, it being discovered, emitted fumes so pungent and nauseating as to drive the curious lookers away. After waiting some minutes for the stone to cool, the party raised their prize in its new habitat, but soon found it necessary to drop it, as the heat burned holes in the soles of their shoes. A third attempt, however, was successful and the meteor was carried backed in triumph to Albina. The stone is an irregular shape, resembling a lump of lead that had undergone some of the processes of smelting, and weighs about 50 pounds.

MEDICAL WISDOM.

THE DREADED CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

T. A. Slocum, M. C., the great Chemist and Scientist, Offers to Send Free, to Afflicted, three Bottles of His Newly-Discovered Remedies to Cure Consumption and all Lung Troubles.

Nothing could be fairer, more philanthropic or carry more joy in its wake than the offer of T. A. Slocum, M. C., of 188 Pearl street New York City.

Confident that he has discovered an absolute cure for consumption and all pulminary complaints, and to make its great merits known, he will send, free, three bottles, to any reader of the POCAHONTAS TIMES, who is suffering from chest, bronchial, throat and lung troubles or consumption.

"Already this "new scientific cures of medicine" has permanently cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases. The Doctor considers it his religious duty—a duty which he owes to humanity—to donate his infallible cure.

Offererd freely, apart from its inherent strength, is enough to commend it, and more so is the perfect confidence of the great chemist making the proposition.

He has proved consumption to be a curable disease beyond any doubt.

There will be no mistake in sending—the mistake will be in not availing of this generous invitation. He has on file in his American and European laboratories testimonials of experience from those cured, in all parts of the world.

Delays are dangerous. Address T. A. Slocum, M. C., 188, Pearl street New York, and when writing to the Doctor, please give express and postoffice address and mention reading this article in The POCAHONTAS TIMES.

MARLINTON HOUSE.

Located East End of Bridge.

Terms.
per day - 1.00 & 1.50
per meal - - - 25

Good accommodations for horses at 25 cents per feed.

Special rates made by the week or month.

C. A. YEAGER, Proprietor.

Lee Military Academy.

Spring term of 18 weeks begins February 1st. Pupils can enter any time.

A first class school for boys. Prepares for college or business. Thorough academic, preparatory and business courses.

Located in a fine grove. Best Christian influences, no saloons, no distractions.

Tuition, $50 and $25. Board from $10 to $15 per month.

JAMES M. LEE, Principal.
Lewisburg, W. Va.

Old Dominion Building & Loan Association.

OF

Richmond, - - Virginia.

J. TAYLOR ELLYSON, President.
E. E. A. BARKER, Treasurer.

DIRECTORS.

J. Taylor Ellyson, Normon V. Randolph, John H. Purcell, John S. Ellett, Frank T. Sutton.

Authorized Capital..... $20,000,000.
Subscribed Capital..... 5,000,000.
Paid Up Cash Capital..... 1,500,000.
Assets..... over 2,000,000.

Depository—State Bank of Virginia. Investment stocks cost $1.00 per share, membership fee, and 60 cents per month afterwards—withdrawable after 6 months' notice—profits paid quarterly in event of the death of the stockholder. H. A. YEAGER, Agent.

MARLINTON, W. VA.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR

FOR THE WHEELING

Weekly Intelligencer,

West Virginia's Leading Newspaper.

The coming year promises to be one of great moment to every American citizen. A national change is at hand in the administration of public affairs. There will probably be a special session of Congress immediately following the inauguration of the new President. The tariff, especially in the matter of wool and coal, will be at once under discussion, and legislation looking to the restoration of the national finances to sound basis will be introduced. There will also be a new administration in West Virginia, and there is every indication that enterprises of great importance to the public welfare will be set on foot in the state. The proposed river improvements will be begun. New railroads will be built, and new material resources of every kind developed. The year 1897 promises to be one of the golden years of the state and Nation. Business will every where revive, and the columns of the INTELLIGENCER will teem with the evidence of great opportunities for business.

Every family should have a live news paper of the character in its midst, so that the old and young boys and girls could not know all of the particulars of the great awakening that is at hand.

TERMS AND PREMIUMS.

THE WEEKLY INTELLIGENCER, one year in advance..... $1 00
THE WEEKLY INTELLIGENCER, 6 months in advance..... 50
4 copies one year and extra copy to person getting up club..... 3 00
THE DAILY INTELLIGENCER, one year..... 6 00
5 copies to person getting up club..... 25 00
The premium copies will be sent to any address desired. It is especially desired that a club be raised in every locality, as a cash commission, on the cash basis, will be paid and the money returned by the first mail after the close of the club. Any one for all the names in the club to come from one office, not to be necessarily at one time, but within a reasonable time. Subscriptions may be sent in one at a time, and as received, one or more at a time, and the premium will be sent to each subscriber. The premium copies will be sent at the request of the agent as soon as the club is complete, subscribers to receive back issues.

Specimen copies of either edition of the INTELLIGENCER and blank forms for making up clubs will be sent free to any address. Send for your subscription at once.

We want an Agent at every postoffice in West Virginia. Address them, and

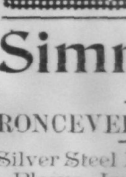
INTELLIGENCER PUB. CO.,
WHEELING, W. VA.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of the good effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSBORN,
Lowell, Mass.



"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Cherry, Ark.

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although each has some medical supplies which he keeps pretty much to himself, we are free to confess the merits of Castoria has won us to look favorably upon it."
UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY,
BOSTON, MASS.

IT TICKLES Y
THE INSTANT RELIEF YOU GET F
LIGHTNING
HOT DROP

CURES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.
HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Bites of Animals, Serpents, Bugs, etc.
BREAKS UP Bad Colds, La Grippe, Influenza, Croup, Sore Throat, etc.
SMELLS GOOD. TASTES GOOD.
SOLD EVERYWHERE AT 25c AND 50c PER BOTTLE. NO RELIEF, NO
HERB MEDICINE CO. (Formerly of Weston, W. Va.) SPRING

Simms & C

RONCEVERTE, W

Silver Steel Plow, Syracuse
Plows, Imperial Chilled P

PLOW REPARS OF ALL KNDS AT LOWEST PRICES EVER OFF

RED WARRIOR POLL AXES
GREENBRIER " "
CHAMPION " "
4 No. 2 Horse-shoes for 15c | 4 No. 3 Horse-
4 No. 4 " 25c | 4 No. 5 "

COOK-STOVES OF ALL KINDS

1 doz. 8x10 Window Glass .35c | Horse Groceries
Paints, Oils, Varnishes, etc.

Our goods are all first class, no shoddy or job lots, or s
Strike us for prices before you buy.

Simms & C
Opposite Passenger Depot. Ronceverte

FEED, LIVERY AND SALE STABLES.

First-Rate Teams and Saddle-Horses Provided.

Horses for Sale and Hire. A l

SPECIAL ACCOMODATIONS FOR STALLIONS.

A limited number of Horses boarde

All persons having horses to trade are invited to call on the undersigned. Young horses broke to take to work.

J. H. G. WILSON,
Marlinton, W. Va.

Farmers' Home Fire Insurance Co., of West Virginia.

J. M. SYDENSTRICKER ..... President.
S. F. MITCHELL ..... Sec'y & Treas.

DIRECTORS.

J. M. Sydenstricker, S. F. Mitchell, Jno. Sydenstricker, Jno. Kee, Jno. Kee, Jr., Wm. Hamrick, Jno. Hamrick, Jr., Jno. Hamrick, Sr., Jno. Hamrick, Jr., Jno. Hamrick, Sr., Jno. Hamrick, Jr., Jno. Hamrick, Sr.,

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 14, NO. 28 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, FEBUARY 5, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

It Lewis County a number of prominent citizens have formed a "blood-hound" syndicate, and are arranging to procure a well trained hound to run down the outlaws that annoy them so grievously by their depredations.

There seems to be a fiery state of things in Gilmer County respecting education and religion. In the past six weeks four school-houses and one church have been destroyed by firebugs, with motives unknown. All remaining churches and school-houses are guarded night and day.

The new judge for Mingo County is named Doolittle. By the time he clears up the Mingo docket he ought to be named Judge Doomuch. He found 700 cases on the criminal docket alone, and the late grand jury added 350 more, thus over a thousand cases for him to meet next court. There are 25 murders, and other felonies will make it nearly a hundred. This is a wonderful showing for a county of 1,800 voting population.

The Tyler Star has something felicitous to say of ex-Senator Willey, of Morgantown, W. Va. He is 85 years of age, and has just retired from active business life. His birth was of parentage in very humble circumstances. In childhood his home was a log-cabin, and he had no advantages of any kind while growing up; and yet he rose to eminence in his State, and was known throughout the nation. All his life he has been a devoted Christian, and hence his actions were consistant with his profession. Hence he deserved and received the respect, admiration, confidence, and esteem of all who knew him, and his State delighted to honor him.

DREAMS.

Dreams, in the abstract, are nothing. By common consent this is settled. What are dreams? Revolving thoughts of the ever active and wakeful mind,—thoughts lacking the control of reason and the right knowledge and connection of the affairs of life. Yes, dreams are nothing; and yet few will deny that an impenetrable mystery hangs over the subject.

Dreams occur at times that seem so real, so remarkable and are so closely followed by such events that we are startled and never forget them. Of this character is the dream I will now relate. Told me by my mother; I cannot recall the time when my mind failed to be powerfully affected by it. She and my father and myself, an infant, were trying, the difficulties of a new, scarcely opened Southern country—not even a State then; flourishing now, it may be, but in wild, chaotic condition at that time. Indians and beasts of prey were common. To the story—my mother might have been thinking more than usual, perhaps, of her early home, her father's house, now over a thousand or two miles from her, and all the members, so far as she knew, in perfect health. Falling asleep at night, she was transported in a dream to that early home and at once became aware that something sad had occurred; mourning garments, especially gloves, were handed her, and in deep distress of feeling my mother wept aloud. Awakened by her husband, it was only to fall asleep again and repeat the similar dream. The very next day brought tidings of death from her old family. A young brother of 12 years, bright and promising, named James had suddenly been killed. Mourning her dear little brother, she felt as if in some way during sleep she had been forewarned and so much prepared as is possible for the coming of death to one beloved.

This true, and dream-story always interested my childish mind and I think of it to night as something that cannot be explained, but science is very busy in every direction for body and mind, and scientific men and their literary productions are out a few.

A. L. P.

The Book of Proverbs on State occasions smokes a pipe not with disdain, but with satisfaction and relish. To call us a subject, but it is said to have our Pocahontas School Statistics.

Our thanks are due Hon Virgil A. Lewis, State Superintendent of Free Schools, for a copy of his twelfth Biennial Report. It is a model of its kind, and is replete with information respecting the condition of the school system. Superintendent Barlow's report for Pocahontas is equal to the best of the county reports. The following items are given for the information of our patrons from the report for 1896.

EDRAY.

President Board of Education, Jacob S. Moore; Secretary, J. E. Barlow. Schools, 25. White enumerated, 715; colored enumerated, 42. Total 757. White enrollment, 611; colored, 34. Total 615. Total valuation of property, $864,491.65. Levy for building fund, 6 cents; rate for teachers fund, 21 cents; total of building fund, $461.61; total teachers fund, $2,143.62.

GREEN BANK.

President, S. B. Hannah; Secretary, J. H. Curry. Schools, 23; white enumeration, 609; colored, none;—total; 609. White enrollment, 519. Property valuation, $645,257.51. Levy building fund, 5c; teachers fund, 34. Total building fund, 324.81. Total teacher's fund, $2,196.91.

HUNTERSVILLE.

President, J. H. Doyle; Secretary, W. H. Grose. Schools, 13. White enumeration, 365; colored, 21. White enrollment, 315; colored, none. Property valuation, $393,363.88. Levy, building fund, 5; $198.95; teachers fund, 36;—$1,432.90.

LEVELS.

President, Isaac McNeel, Mill Point; Secretary, R. W. Hill, Academy. Schools, 16. White enumeration, 588; colored, 36;—total 623. White enrollment, 448; colored, 24;—472. Property valuation, $609,108.76. Levy building fund, 7; teachers fund, 25. Total, $425.44; $1,522.21.

REMARKS.

In summing up the totals for the whole county the following is found: Schools, 77; white enumeration, 2277; colored, 99; total, 2376. White enrollment, 1893, colored, 58. Valuation, $2,512,216 80. Building fund, $1,520.83; teachers fund, $7,296.64.

The following from a tabulated statement given by Superintendent Barlow, shows the cost of education per pupil, including teachers' salaries and current expenses:

Edray District.—Based on enumeration, 4.29; on attendance, 7.76; on enrollment, 5.05.

Green Bank.—On enumeration, 5.25; on enrollment, 6.18; attendance, 8.47.

Huntersville.—Enumeration, 5.43; enrollment, 7.17; attendance, 10.83.

Levels.—Enumeration, 4.18; enrollment, 5.55; attendance, 8.26.

Thirty-three male and forty-one female teachers were employed in the public schools for 1896. In looking over the reports of superintendents, there is a surprising agreement as to the necessity of a judicious compulsory school law, in order to secure proper efficiency for the public school system in our State.

Vice-President Adlai E. Stevenson has large property interests in California. He has an olive grove near Redwinds, in which are growing the best varieties of Italian olives, a lemon grove in San Diego county, and 800 acres of land in Riverside. He will go to California to look after his interests as soon as his term as Vice-President expires.

An Example for Us.—"You may talk as you like," said the social citizen, "but there was one good thing about the old-fashioned fights of olden times."

"What was that?"

"The loser never had a chance to talk to the papers and explain why he lost."—Truth.

He Took to Changing.—"Here is my opinion, fierry me sensen."

Chorus looked at the young man, sized him up, then pounded him into insensibility with an oar.

"This fellow" he explained to the other passengers, as he threw the body under a seat, "is one of the fools who has to rock a boat."

All agreed that it was a deed of justice.—Truth.

The Weekly Letter.

It is easy to be misunderstood. I have been placed in some very awkward positions in my life. One that I remember rather distinctly was when I was coming thro the corn, and I chanced upon a watermelon looking as fine and large as you please. My bosom companion and myself were always in the fields and woods when we were not in the water, and might have been regarded as naturalists. Never a fruit or flower escaped our notice, and we would even steal walnuts to find out what was in them. We were each about four feet high, and of an age when watermelons, especially other peoples', were very interesting to us.

We stopped and held an examination. Kneeling down beside it, we pressed it to hear it crack, in order to see whether it was ripe. If ripe, we would of course either have left it or delivered it to the owner of the field. We could hear no crack, but we were unwilling to leave it in that field, for that was not a conclusive sign. We had decided that it was necessary to be plugged, and had just plunged a Barlow knife into its vitals, when an humble portion of my anatomy resounded to a terrible whack, and my bosom friend escaped. The owner of the melon had arrived, carrying in his hand a halter-strap, or something of that kind, which he had taken the liberty to hit me with. He was the most unreasonable man to deal with I have ever met. My explanation that I was trying to alissuade the other boy was not free from badges of fraud. My part of the argument after that was more noisy than intelligible, and the halter-strap was very hard on me.

I have been misunderstood very often. Once at a circus I paid for my ticket with a silver dollar, and seeing that the man selling tickets was busy, just for his accommodation I attempted to make the change out of the cash-box, as I had seen the pillars of the church do from the collection box, and the man got absolutely insulting and gave me the change himself. I felt inclined to explain, but I am afraid that he would not have banked on my honesty. I thought he was unnecessarily severe, but he was only mistaken.

Next to being misunderstood, I think that to have a delightful reverie broken up unduly is trying to the nerves. On one occasion, on a beautiful Sabbath evening, in early spring, I was in a strange town without a friend or acquaintance and I strolled out to the cemetary. There on the brow of a hill I took a seat upon a stone, and either the balmy air or the peaceful repose of the grave-yard caused me to lapse into a delightful thinking spell. I verily believe I loved all of my relations that afternoon. I was good for the time-being. My thoughts went back over my life, and I fancied how much I would do good and a philanthropist was being made by the harmonious surroundings. I think I might have written a poem that evening that would have soothed the sorrows of men. I was so dreamy and restful!

Suddenly I felt as tho I had had a piece bitten out of me. Jumping up I found that I was infested with ants, that the stone on which I was sitting was over their nest, and the big, red demons had been exploring my frame by a very unorthanded way of crawling up under my clothes. If I could have realized what had happed to me I would not have noticed the one bite, but sit still until the thousand ants had surveyed every inch of my surface and withdrawn. But of course all the brute progressiveness of my nature was in arms, and jumping up I whacked myself myself where I had been bitten. It seemed to be a signal of attack. In a half minute I had snapped myself on every portion of my body, and there were two or three hanging on for dear life between my shoulder blades, and I was trying to get them to loose me, and grasping myself otherwise, too. I can feel my whole body itch now with the recollection of those ants rushing around and making a nip where it would do the most good.

To add to my embarassment, four young ladies, in the hey-day of youthful health and beauty, strolled along the road which led by the base of the hill. I was on top about seventy-five yards above them. They thought I was crazy, for they never even smiled. The young ladies' faces wore a look of pity for the poor man, so young and handsome, who was dancing and flinging his arms about in the cemetary. I could not bear to be misunderstood, and I tried to explain that I was being bitten to death by ants. The four continued to stare as if they did not know whether to laugh or go for assistance. I grew very oratorical as the distance was great, but their faces wore a puzzled expression, and still they lingered.

Finally, driven desperate by the ants and being viewed in my agony by four girls; I threw off my coat and vest and made as tho I would divest myself of other articles of clothing, and one set of my tormentors fled, and did not look back.

I got rid of the ants finally, and was not seriously bitten,—that is, I was not disabled,—but I was sore for days, and all the good intentions of that evening were not thought of until time enough had passed that I could laugh over the way I had put one set of my enemies to flight.

CAFE THROWOUT, or, The Hey Rube's Dream.

It was a cold, blustering night in the very heart of the bitter month of January, and the stranger who entered the front door of the Cafe Throwout, on Sixth Avenue, let in after him a fierce gust of wind that brought a chill to the two men who were seated at a table in the corner, engaged in earnest conversation, and caused the bar-tender—the only other occupant of the room—to look up quickly from the sporting paper which engrossed his attention and closely scan the face of the newcomer.

"Gimme a hot apple toddy, an' put a little nutmeg on the top of it," said the newcomer as he dropped into an armchair by the stove and stretched out his hands to catch some of the genial warmth.

The bar-tender silently prepared the drink, and the two men in the corner continued their conversation, but in lowered tones and with less eagerness than before, for both of them were sharply watching the new arrival. It was a strange pair to find in a Tenderloin barroom, and it was not easy to conceive of two men, differing so widely in appearance and manner, having anything in common. The elder of the two wore a black broadcloth suit of clerical cut, deaconish whiskers of iron-gray, a white lawn tie, and a mouth so devoid of expression that the owner was perfectly safe in exposing it without the precautionary covering of beard or mustache. His companion looked as if he might have come in that very afternoon, in his best clothes, from some point midway between Rochester and Elmira. He wore a checked suit of distinctly provincial cut, a cloth cap similar to those worn by rustic milkmen on cold mornings, a high, turndown collar and no cravat, and, for ornament, a rather conspicuous bit of jewelry which might have been an heirloom known to the family as "gran pa's buzzom pin."

As the bartender handed the hot drink to the man beside the stove, the clergyman whispered in a low voice to his companion, "I wonder if his graft is."

"Graft, nothing!" retorted the other; "there's one of him born every hour—did n't I tell you? Look at the roll he's flashing up! He handles money as if he 'd never seed of the Cafe Throwout before."

It was true. The newcomer, in paying for his drink, had drawn from his pocket a large roll of greenbacks, displaying them so carelessly as if he had been in a backing house instead of one of the most famous resorts for smart people that the Tenderloin precinct contains.

Of course by this time the reader has discovered that the man in clerical and his companion of provincial aspect were "smart" people, each working his own particular graft with skill and success. The force of both heightened when their eyes fell upon the newcomer, who was a specimen of the kind sometimes sent by a beneficent providence to afflicted people in times of drought.

The elder of the two men was known to those who contributed to the orphan asylum that he conducted in Dreamland, as the Rev William Cassock, but the workers of the town called him "Soapy Sam." His companion's face adorns the largest and most interesting gallery of portraits that the city contains and is labeled in the catalog and explanatory text-book pertaining to the gallery "Crooked Charlie, the man of many grafts."

The two had, indeed, known hard times since the close of the summer, and were now in no mood to let any stranger go unscathed. A sudden gleam of intelligence came into Crooked Charlie's face and at the same moment a bright light gilded the tips of the Rev William Cassock's iron gray whiskers.

"Gimme another o' them toddies an' do n't forgit the nutmeg," cried the stranger, and then the two men people rose in their places and made a mysterious signal to the bartender.

As the sucker by the stove slowly sipped his second hot drink the red-hot iron in front of him changed into the glowing base of the old wood-burner that has warmed two generations of loafers in the little manufacturing town of Bilksville Centre, Conn. He could hear the voice of old Hiram Goodsell inviting him to a game of 'setback' in the back room of the tavern, and then some invisible force bore him up to the big hall over the school-house, where the fireman's ball was in progress, and the found himself balancing to corners with Mirandy Tucker, her that was a Larrabee.

"Cross over! Cross back! Balance all and swing your partners!" chanted old Bill Cadg, and the sucker went swinging down the room and out into the cold field and across the snow to the railroad train which whirled him on to New York. He was filled with glad anticipations; he would go to see Lydia Thompson, he would plunge in to the heart of the gay and beautiful Tenderloin, where the corks pop merrily all night long and the ivory chips rattle and the music of the banjo and piano fills the air. Yes, here was New York at last, and here was the kindly old gentleman, known affectionately as Grand Central Pete, who has directed the urban revels of many a lonely stranger. The old man welcomes him, and explains that the city pays him to look after unsuspecting visitors and keep them from being robbed before they get to Forty-first street. Arm in arm, the two bend their steps toward what is believed in the provinces to be the merry quarter of the town, stopping at a saloon to enable the sucker to change a counterfeit twenty-dollar bill for an obliging gentleman, who hopes he will enjoy his stay in the city.

They are in the midst of gayety now, and as he sits there by the stove, unconscious of where he is, he is living over again the delights of many memorable nights in the great metropolis. He hears the glad strains of piano, the merry shouts of feminine laughter, and sees the whirling skirts and flying feet of myriad fleet dancers. His throat is parched and he must have wine, and so must they all, at his expense. Kindly faces cluster around him, kind hands help to pull his money from his pocket, his rings from his fingers, his pin and studs from his shirt, his watch from his fob, lest he should lose them; these are, indeed, swift-passing, merry hours—

"Have to wake up, sir; it 's 1 o'clock, and I 've got to close up! Did n't you have a watch chain on when you came in here first?"

It is the bartender who has broken the spell, and the sucker's glad dream is over.

"Well, suppose you take the watch, and I 'll take the pin and studs, and we 'll divide the sleeve buttons," says Crooked Charlie to his companion, as the two enter a saloon a few blocks away from the Cafe Throwout.

"That 's all right, that 's all right," rejoined the Rev William Cassock, as he stuffed his share of the loot away in an inside pocket, "but in the meantime let us not forget that the same providence that caused the manna to fall in the desert and send the ravens down to feed Elisha brought this sucker to Cafe Throwout, and cast on him the mystic spell of deep, painless sleep. By the way, let me compliment you on a certain detail in you make-up which has attracted my attention. I notice that you wear one of those dickey collars without either cravat or pin. That is in keeping with your part. A boy should be natural, and such a boy as you would not be one of the small fry if you had a cravat and pin for. James P. Fool in New York Journal.

Poetry.

Contented Jim.

Everything pleased our neighbor Jim,
When it rained
He never complained.
But said 'twas weather suited Lim.
"There never is too much rain for me,
And this is something like," said he.

When earth was dry as a powder mill,
He did not sigh
Because it was dry.
But said if he could have his will
It would be his chief supreme delight
To live where the sun shone day and night.

When winter came, with its snow and sleet,
He did not scold (see,
Because it was cold,
But said: "Now this is real nice:
It ever from home I 'm forced to go,
I'll move up north with the Esquimo.

A cyclone whirled along his track,
And did him harm—
It broke his arm,
And stripped the coat from off his back
"And I would give another limb
To see such a blow again," said Jim.

And when at length his years were
And his body bent, (told,
And his strength all spent,
And Jim was very weak and old:
'I long have wanted to know,' he said,
'How it feels to die,'—and Jim was dead.

The Angel of Death had summoned
To heaven, or—well (him
I cannot tell.
But I know that the climate suited Jim:
And cold or hot, it mattered not—
It was to him the long-sought spot.
—[O. F. Pearre, in The Pantagraph.

The Riker Island Farm.

Commissioner of Corrections Robert J. Wright has laid a plan before the Mayor for the establishment of a farm on Riker's Island as a sort of home for vagrants. He is going to ask the Board of Estimate for an appropriation of $30,000 to build a house on the island and lay out a farm on which the vagrants can find employment.—Evening Paper.

Perchance when Maytime's blossoms pop
The vacillating vagrant
Behind the plow will gaily hop
Across the meadows fragrant.
And carol like the gull sky high
O'er rolling green Lepanto.
The words of Horace, "Virgin i Bus puerisque canto."

And when the wood dove seeks the bough,
And day's dull cares diminish,
He 'll have to sit and milk the cow
Serenely to a finish.
To bed at six he 'll have to climb—
A boot his only booster,
And rise, like Phœbus, pink and prime,
Coeval with the rooster.

Across the garden bed's he 'll bound,
With subtlest necromancy,
And raise the beans, to be when ground
Rare Java to his fancy.
He 'll have to raise a chick to fry,
When comes the lively tadpole,
And in the river, rolling by,
He notes the swaying shad-pole.

And when serenely on he goes,
The whistling harrow steering,
And suddenly upon his nose
Goes skating down the clearing.
He 'll vow that to no yard he 'll pop,
Again to dream enraptured,
Till by the little rural cop
He 's lit upon and captured.

And he 'll avoid the ways of sin,
To make life's couch more cosy,
And on the cocktail made of gin
Never look when it is rosy.
By light and airy fancy led,
As lively as a sparrow;
To dodge hard work he 'll fondly tread
The path that 's straight and narrow.
—[R. K. Munkittrick, in the Journal, New York.

The Bloomer Girl's Secret.

"At last!"

The young man heaved an intense sigh of relief as he heard her well-known footstep descending the stairs. For more than an hour he had sat by the drawing-room window waiting for her to dress. His only amusement had been watching the two bicycles lined up against the curbstone in front of the house. She had promised to take an early spin with him, and as he noted the beautiful autumn morning fleeting away, he began to chafe impatiently and almost regret that he had not gone alone.

"I told you I would be only a few minutes," she said, with an innocent laugh that showed she was perfectly oblivious of the flight of time, as she bounded into the room and ran her hand deftly over the mantel in search of a hair-pin to fasten her glove.

"Why, my dear, you 've been over an hour," he replied with a trace of resentment in his tone.

"Pshaw!" she laughed, "you ought to know by this time what a woman means by a few minutes."

"No doubt I should," he returned, "but you 're a new woman, you know, and I supposed she was different. How is it you can't dress as quickly as a man, when your clothes are almost identical?"

Before she could reply, her little brother, who had overheard the remark, said:

"Cause she wears four pairs of stockings under her leggings."—Truth.

A few months ago Mr Byron Keary, of Woodland, Mich., was afflicted with rheumatism. His leg was swollen the full length, causing him great suffering. He was advised to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The first bottle of it helped him considerably and the second entirely effected a cure. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by druggists.

A Tree Which Will Not Burn.—A government report from Columbia contains a description of a tree, known, as the chapparro, which is said to possess the quality of being fireproof. It grows on the vast plains of Columbia and the north of South America, called savannas, extensive districts which are parched with heat except during the rainy season.

It has long been the custom to clear the ground for the new vegetation, which springs up so luxuriantly, by means of fire, and such fires, miles in length, kindled by herdsmen, destroy every thing in the shape of vegetation except the chapparro tree, which survives to afford a welcome shade in an almost treeless region.

It is a small tree, seldom growing more than twenty feet high, with a girth of about three feet. It owes its protection from fire to the nature of its thick, hard bark. The bark lies on the trunk in loose layers, which do not readily conduct heat to the more delicate parts of the structure. It is a general idea among the natives that this tree only grows where gold is abundant in the soil below. That it common in auriferous districts is undisputable, but there is no ground for supposing that it does not grow elsewhere. Exchange.

I have given Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a fair test and consider it one of the very best remedies for croup that I have ever found. One dose has always been sufficient, altho I use it freely. Any cold my children contract yields very readily to this medicine. I can conscientiously recommend it for croup and colds in children.—Geo. E. Wolff, Clerk of the Circuit Court Fernlandia, Fla. Sold by druggists.

Mrs Daniel Howard, of Jeffersonville, Ind., had her home connected by telephone with the Presbyterian church, of which she is a member, she, at times, being prevented by illness from attending services. Her experiment proved a success, and her examplewhas been followed in Jeffersonville and some of the neighboring towns.

Henry W. Oliver, of Pittsburg Pa., is said to have received a commission of $2,000,000 for having effected a fifty-year lease of the mines in the Mesaba Range, Minn., owned by Rockfellow-Carnegie syndicate, and by it the Carnegie-Oliver interests may be able to command the markets of the world.

Crucial Test of Greatness.—"And is Biggun really so great a man?"

"Great? Why, that fellow could leave his umbrella in a hotel corridor on a rainy day, and no one would dare to touch it."—Cincinnatti Enquirer.

Sir John Gorst, head of the Educational Department in England, in a public speech, declared that "at birth there is not much difference between a baby and a monkey," and that the monkey had the advantage. He has been taken to task for this in all parts of the kingdom.

Jules Verne still writes two novels a year, altho he is nearly 70 years old. After his novels are finished, he selects the better one and publishes it. The other is laid away. He writes from 4 o'clock a. m. until noon each day. He goes to bed at 9 o'clock p. m.

Capt Zalinski, inventor of the pneumatic dynamite gun, has been studying high explosives abroad, and now declares that gunpowder as a destructive agent in warfare will soon be superseded by modern explosives.

Susan B. Anthony began her speechmaking career in 1856, working for the freedom of slaves. It was not until this had been accomplished that she turned her attention to the emancipation of women.

Louis Dabnits and his wife recently celebrated the eightieth anniversity of their wedding. He is 107 and his wife is 101 years old. They are French Canadians and live in St. Paul, Minn.

The state of Kansas is going to celebrate its birthday. It would be a fitting occasion for Kansas to turn over a new leaf.

Baroness Hirsch has given $250,000 to endow a home for needy Jews in England.

Kansas City, Mo., expects soon to become the greatest smelting work in the world.

Massachusetts recently imported from Ireland her hundred cargo to the value of $1,000,000.

Dearie the recent holidays over 12 people died in the town of Shackleton, Ky., was murdered.

...r Pocahontas Times.

...DREW PRICE, EDITOR

...arlinton, Friday, Feb. 5, 1897.

...ubscription ONE DOLLAR in ad...nce. If not paid within the year ...0 will be charged.

...ntered at the post office at Marlin...n, W. Va., as second class matter.

...s the list of contributors to the ...w York Journal's relief fund for ...e starving of New York City the ...me of Grover Cleveland, Wash...gton, D. C. is credited with ten ...nts.

...n the Tucker-Yost contest for ...at in the present Congress, the ...cision reached was in favor o...Tucker, he receiving 76 Republi...an votes. Mr Tucker is acknow...edged a very available candidate f...Governor of Virginia. His name ...s also mentioned for the Presidency of the Washington & Lee Uni...versity. Mr Yost's strictures on Mr Tucker's constituency were se...vere and partisan, as to be very objectionable even to many of his own party as uncalled for and unjust.

THE Seeley revelers have been indicted, as well as the theater man, Hammerstein, who had written a burlesque called the "Silly Dinner." Hammerstein, who is a very wealthy man, on giving bail called his principal contractor who was asked a number of questions about himself and property. Finally Hammerstein becoming impatient asked his bondman if he had religion? The answer was that he had but it was in his wife's name. A good many of our citizens have it the same way.

THE LEGISLATURE.

There was once a company who undertook to render the Shakesperian play, Hamlet, with Hamlet left out, and this was about the kind of a legislative ball that was given by the Governor of this State in the capitol building at Charleston on last Friday evening. Everybody was there from far and near except the legislature. The cause of the sulking of the legislators may be explained briefly. It seems that the invitation committee, deliberately, intentionally, and with malice aforethought, slighted that man and brother from Fayette, whom we know as Chris. Payne, the only negro representative this State has ever had. Payne has conducted himself very modestly and beggaringly since he has been in Charleston, as this paper predicted he would; for, in spite of his black skin, he has the instincts of a gentleman. He is a lowpreacher, a Doctor of Divinity, by the way, and he had no desire to attend the ball. He probably did not expect an invitation, and it seems that he was keeping very quiet about it. His Republican brethren showed their seminity, however, by being active in the matter, whereas they should not have appeared to notice it. They scented the stink. It called for a caucus, as does pretty near everything in the legislature, and the Republican members divided that they could not brook the insult which had been put upon the manand brother, and that they would not attend this great social function. The most of them conformed with the decision of the caucus, but there were so many people there that they were not missed and we suppose there must have been more supper for those who did attend. Everybody knows that the disturbance should not have been raised. It was a clash between civil rights and social rights that cannot be provided for. The invitation committee consisted of four Republicans and three Democrats, and the only man in favor of sending the colored member a card was C. W. Gallagher, a Democrat. These politics did not enter into it, and the action of the legislature had that crudeness and want of consideration that makes it so objectionable to well-bred people.

Evidently the most important thing that can result from the present session is the call of a convention to amend the constitution. The constitution has been amended, probably, already, and it is the general impression that its report will be considered in an extraordinary session of the legislature to be called by the governor. The main trouble about the present constitution is owing to the fact that here do not want to sell or pawn or to throw out or to abandon whether or not it would be practicable to do so by such a convention. It is estimated that the cost alone may reach $300,000, but we do not see how a tithe of the sum could be spent in a convention, tho we know they are great destroyers of expensive liquors. Among the several things mentioned to be done are to enlarge the powers of corporations and joint stock companies; to create the office of county treasurer; to place more judges on the supreme bench; to increase the salaries of circuit judges; to reorganize the county courts; and to get rid of the permanent school fund.

The advocates of the bills requiring ladies to remove their hats in theatres have been successfully squashed by the body. It was not a matter of sufficient dignity to be embodied in the penal code. No one would wish to see an honored name disgraced by a the conviction of a lady member of the family of misdemeanor for having worn her hat at the show.

Delegate M. J. McNeel has introduced a bill requiring the Auditor to notify the county courts of the standing of the sheriffs. This is a much needed law, as every Pocahontas man very well knows, owing to the late failure of the Sheriff of this county.

Among the bills favorably regarded by the Judiciary Committee were No. 91, to protect the good name of a woman; and No. 136, for the relief of the sureties of Warwick Hutton, late Sheriff of Randolph County.

One of the commendable moves toward economy in the annual expenditures of the State is the effort to pass bill No. 225 relating to the conveying of convicts from the county jails to the penitentiary. The bill provides that instead of the Sheriff delivering them at Moundsville, the Sheriff sends a warden to the county-seat. The difference would result in cutting off the expense of paying the numerous guards which the sheriffs appoint, amounting it is estimated to some $12,000 to $15,000.

It seems likely that the old soldiers will be paid back in part for the blood they shed, in being allowed to peddle goods without paying the license required of Jews and other persons.

The bill to revoke the license of a practicing physician upon proof of being intoxicated is very remarkable. It will hardly pass we think. It would open up an avenue for fraud, and no physician would be safe from false-swearing. Still, we do not want inebriated doctors, giving us H2SO4 for H2O.

It does not seem likely that the new county of Augusta will be formed.

The State Service commission has been passed by the House. It will probably be defeated by the Senate. It provides for the payment of Home Guards who served for the Union during the Civil War. It is estimated that about $60,000 should be distributed to the militia, and that it will cost $1,000,000 in addition to do it. One old Union soldier in the House spoke against the home guards, and called them "cowards, hypocrites, and chicken thieves."

The legislature so far has not set the Kanawha River on fire.

THE ADVANCE AGENT OF HEALTH

SAFE CURE

Trustee's Sale

—OF—

Valuable Real Estate,

Situate in the Counties of Webster, Pocahontas, and Randolph, in the State of West Virginia.

By virtue of a deed of trust made by Marsenus H. Briggs and Elizabeth W. Briggs, his wife, to me as trustee, dated April 1st, A. D. 1893, I will sell at public auction at the front door of the court house of Webster County, State of West Virginia, on

Sat. February 27, 1897

Commencing at 10 o'clock a. m. the following described property, towit: Beginning at a lynn and two sugars on the divide between Gauley River and Leatherwood, in a line of a 3033 acre tract, and running up said divide S. 72¼ E. 50 poles to a beech; S. 7 E. 29 poles to two beeches; N. 82 E. 24 poles to two beeches; N. 56 E. 18 poles to a beech; N. 55 E. 31 poles to a sugar; S. 70 E. 40½ poles to two maples and small lynn on a knob in a line of said 3033 acres; with same N. 28 E. 24 poles to the corner of said 787 acre tract, survey continued N. 28 E. 28 poles to a birch and beech; thence running through said 787 acres N. 69 E. 31 poles to a cherry; N. 84 E. 29 poles to a sugar by a large rock; N. 77 E. 36 poles to a beech; N. 64 E. 59 poles to a beech and yew pine; S. 66 E. 32 poles to a beech and pine by a path; S. 38 E. 43 poles to two sugars from one root on a knob; S. 75 E. crossing the county line between Webster and Randolph at 10 poles, in all 100 poles to two beeches and two small spruce pines; N. 65 E. 52 poles to two small beeches with a birch pointer; S. 84 E. 24½ poles to a pine and spruce; South 62¼ East 80 poles to two pines on a cliff; S. 72¼ E. forty one poles to two pine in a line of said 787 acres, with same S. 80 E. 17 poles to two pines and a beech, corner of same near the Pine Camp; S. 77 E. 25 poles to two bunches with pine pointers; S. 50 E. 22 poles to a pine; S. 65½ E. 19 poles to a sugar; N. 88 E. 30 poles to a beech and birch; S. 40 E. 27 poles to a beech and pine; S. 35 E. 22 poles to a large maple; S. 42 E. 40 poles to a maple and beech in a line of said Moore Survey of 750 acres, with same S. 30 W. 4 poles to a maple, two pines and ash, vice corner of said Hughart Survey of 1000 acres made on the first day of April, 1853; thence with said survey and leaving said divide S. 88 W. 120 poles to a maple, beech, and two pines by a small chain of Leatherwood; N. 2 E. 20 poles to two dead pines on a high cliff; S. 88 E. crossing the county line between Randolph and Pocahontas at 88 poles, in all 147 poles to a pine and two beeches by a small branch; S. 2 W. 42 poles to a dead pine, birch, and two beeches between two small branches; S. 88 E. 168 poles to a birch, beech, and two pines on the west brow of the said divide facing main Elk; N. 65 W. 180 poles to two birches, two pines, and five beeches on the said county line between Randolph and Pocahontas; N. 5½ E. 406 poles to two small beeches with pointers and a fallen pine and three fallen beeches; S. 21 W. 698 to two beeches, two pines, and a birch, corner of said Snyder tract of 1000 acres, with same N. 21 W. 140 poles to a four pines; N. 24 W. 345 poles to a spruce and beech between two small hollows, branches of Big Run, on a line of the Moore 750 acre tract, with same North 7 E. about 153 poles to an oak and maple on top of a mountain; N. 26 W. 215 poles to a beech and cherry; S. 37½ W. 59 poles to a maple and double birch, same course S. 37½ W. 80 poles to a stake, corner of the Moore Survey at 690 acres, with same N. 23½ W. 14 poles to three small chestnuts with a beech pointer; S. 41¼ W. crossing Big Run at 205 poles and Bergoo at 797 poles, in all 827 poles to a lynn and fallen sugar in a small hollow on a north hillside; S. 27½ W. crossing right hand fork of Bergoo at 761 poles and passing two large cherries, sugar, and beech at four hundred and twenty one poles, corner to said 3033 acre tract, in all 1116 poles to the beginning, containing by actual survey, according to the plat, ten thousand and twelve acres, be the same, however, ever so much more or less.

Said tract of 10,012 acres of land is composed of the following surveys and tracts:

No. 1, 3033 acres surveyed for Hughart and Snyder.

No. 2, 787 acres surveyed for Peter Conrad.

No. 3 415 acres surveyed for J. Arnold.

No. 4, 1,000 acres surveyed by J. F. Hughart.

No. 5, 750 acres surveyed for Henry C. Moore.

No. 6, 1000 acres surveyed for F. A. Snyder.

No. 7, 776 acres and 600 acres surveyed for Henry C. Moore.

And being the same land conveyed to said Marsenus H. Briggs by John T. Mellow by deed of April 1st, 1893, to which reference is here now specially made.

TERMS OF SALE: One third of the purchase money, and as much more as the purchaser may elect to pay in cash, and the balance in three equal installments, at six, twelve, and eighteen months from day of sale, the purchaser giving his notes with interest at ten per cent per annum, payable at the office of the Commercial Bank of Lewisburg, or deed of trust given upon the property as additional security.

CHARLES S. LOBB,
Trustee.

Lewisburg, W. Va., January 29, 1897.

Obituary.

Mr J. Harvey Curry, near Dunmore, was on a visit to the family of Mr W. H. Hall, at Green Bank, accompanied by his wife. While there he became very sick, on Saturday afternoon, January 24, and died on the 28th, aged 83 years, and was buried in the Arbogast grave-yard. He was reared on Back Creek, lived several years on Knapps Creek, near Mt Vernon; thence he moved to his late residence, nearly thirty years ago. In various respects this venerable man was a remarkable person. His natural endowments were of a high order, and he had his own matured convictions on all questions in his church, the M. E. South; or in the affairs of the government. This good man was a professing Christian from youth, and lived with a conscience void of offence towards God and his fellow men, so far as he possibly could. For a goodly while he has lived in almost daily expectation of going hence to be with Christ, for whom he waited from Heaven for so many years of consistent profession. Hence it was, tho visiting his daughter's family, he was not greatly taken by surprise. He is survived by his third wife and a numerous and very worthy family connexion who sincerely mourn his decease; while his memory is tenderly cherished by an extensive circle of relatives and friends. In thinking of this esteemed friend words like these come to mind:

"But light from high shall gild distress
And love shall say, tho weeping sore,
With us on earth a friend the less,
With God in heaven a saint the more."

W. T. P.

VALUABLE

Property for Sale Privately.

One of the most complete residences in the county, situated in the village of Hillsboro, is offered for sale privately, on good terms.

This would be especially valuable to any doctor who wishes to locate in one of the best sections of the State. The owner, a physician, wishes to retire, for private reasons that will be perfectly satisfactory to any proposed purchaser.

Further information cheerfully afforded any inquirer by the editor of this paper.

NOTICE

Big Auction Sale of New Goods!

I will be in Marlinton on Tuesday and Wednesday, the 2d and 3d days of MARCH, 1897,—

COUNTY COURT DAYS,

with the largest and best stock of goods that I have ever sold at auction in the county, consisting of——

Dry Goods, ladies' dress Goods, Notions, Boots Shoes Rubber Hats, Caps, Men's and Boys' Clothing Underwear of all kinds, Comforts and Blankets. $500 worth o Lrdies' and Childrens CLOAKS AND CAPES! all Sizes, Latest Styles.

Keep your eye on the Cloaks and Capes, for there are bargains and comfort in them.

I invite all to come. Ladies and gentlemen it will pay you to come twenty-five miles,—if you want bargains.

Those goods will be sold, regardless of cost, at

MARLINTON.

MARCH 2D and 3D, 1897.

C. B. SWECKER,
4w The Silver Tongued Auctioneer.

Tutt's Pills Cure All Liver Ills.

Arrest disease by the timely use of Tutt's Liver Pills, an old and favorite remedy of increasing popularity. Always cures

SICK HEADACHE,

sour stomach, malaria, indigestion, torpid liver, constipation and all bilious diseases.

TUTT'S Liver PILLS

SPECIAL POTATO FERTILIZER

and High Grade General Phosphates made from

VEGETABLE and ANIMAL MATTER.

Every farmer should write for prices, terms, and circulars.

AMERICAN REDUCTION CO.,
Pittsburg, Pa.

Notice.

I hereby notify all persons from trespassing on my land by hunting, laying down fences, or in any other way. JOSEPH S. SMITH.

The Business World

Is like the human body, in some respects. Both have their ups and downs—sick spells, and both need tonics after the crisis is over, to quicken, in one case, the life blood, and in the other, the demand which sets the wheels of trade humming. It is my business to offer trade reviews to the cash customer.

HERE THEY ARE:

Woman's Fine Dongola Button Opera Toe, $1

Outings in Plaids, nice patterns, 5c

Black figured Dress Goods latest effects, 12 1.2c

All wool black, blue and grey Ladies Cloth, 22c to 30c

Men's Macintosh, black diagonal surface, $3.

I have refrained from making any extended remarks on the above on the principal that

Good Wine Needs No Bush.

THE VALUES

STICK RIGHT OUT UPON EXAMINATION AND TRIAL OF THE GOODS.

PAUL GOLDEN

CLOSING OVT SALE!

Intending to remove from Marlinton as soon as I can get my business closed out, I will sell my present stock of goods at a lower rate than goods have ever been sold here before. Come in and get bargains.

All persons owing me will call and settle, or their accounts will be placed in the hands of an officer.

S. W. HOLT

MARLINTON, W. VA.

The Greatest Medicinal Whiskey the World has Ever Known.

BRADDOCK PURE RYE AND BARLEY MALT.

SMOOTH, SOFT, RICH, RIPE, MELLOW AND CHEMICALLY PURE, A RECOMMENDATION IN ITSELF.

BRADDOCK PURE RYE.

TRY A GALLON AT $2.00

Mail Orders solicited either great or small and receive our personal and prompt attention. Drop us a postal for price list. Don't use inferior goods but mail us your orders; we can save you money and perhaps your health.

JAS CLARK DISTILLING CO., JNO. McQUAIDE Mngr.

Distillers of Braddock Pure Rye, Wholesale and Retail Liquor Dealers.

20 and 22 South New St., Staunton, Va.

Duke! Duke!

HIGH GRADE BICYCLES!

1896 Model.

Frame long head and wheel base. Made from best cold drawn seamless tubing, narrow tread, 28inch wheels, Wood Rims, Nickeled Spokes, M and W. Quick-Repair Tire. All connexions drop forged steel. Ball bearing to every part; bearings made from the best steel, tempered and ground, dust proof, 6 inch cranks, Rat trap or Rubber Peddles, one-fourth inch Rumber Chain with hardened rivets and centers. Drop-forged steel sprockets, T pattern saddle post, Garford Saddle, 68 inch gear, weight 24 lbs.

Price, $50.00.

1895 Model Duke, 27lbs., Price, $40.00

A full and complete stock of Bicycle Sundries and Repairs, eye lometers, Lamps, Bells, &c. Repairing of all kinds a specialty Send us your broken bicycles and we can make them good as new

RESPECTFULLY,

RONCEVERTE, W VA Eagle AND Ott.

No Use Talking

ABOUT HARD TIMES,

When One Dollar will Buy as much at Sol Davis' Big Store, as Two Dollars will Buy at other Stores.

I have literally plunged the knife into my former low prices to quicken sales and the result is seen in the increased number of customers at my store. Do you want to share in the Bargains now offered in Clothing, Boots, and Shoes, Ladies' and Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods, Dry Goods, Underwear, etc.,—if so call at

SOL DAVIS' Big Store.

AND GET YOUR BARGAINS.

We quote prices on a few things:

Working pants well made and durable 75c worth 1.50
Cassimere Pants from 1.25 up worth double.
Suits for men from 4.00 up worth 8.50
Boys' Suits 75c worth 1.75
Men's Overcoats 4.50 were sold for 8.50
A good pair of Ladies Shoes for 1.00
Ladies' Cloaks and Capes, this year's styles, at correspondingly low prices as every thing else.

We especially invite those who have not dealt with us. Come see, come all Our motto: Quick sales and short profits. Thanking you for past patronage we remain,

Yours Truly,
SOL DAVIS, Proprietor
Green Bank, W. Va. Jan 29

SUNLIGHT SOAP
SAVES CLOTHES

LOCAL EVENTS.

FEBRUARY 5, 1897.

THE city editor had to surrender once this week to advertisers and correspondents.

DIED: At his home at Mill Point, Richard Mathers, at a very advanced age. He was a shoe-maker.

THE Hinton Republican expresses its sympathy that the theater goers of Pocahontas county will have to endure the large theater hats which so obstruct the view.

READ Sneeker's big auction sale at Marlinton at March Court. Sneeker makes things lively at an auction and always sells you goods whether you want to buy or not.

WE learn thro the Greenbrier Independent that T. I. Quick, the person who killed Reuben McKeever, a few years since, was wanted for forgery and fled from Greenbrier county. It is believed that Quick went as far as Chicago, where he is supposed to be under arrest, and measures are being taken to have him back, should he be identified.

I AM not going to sit on the counter and wait for old-time business at old-time prices to come around. I have just lowered the price on all my clothing to make it a matter of economy for you to buy here. Nothing is cheap if you don't want it, but if you really need a good, serviceable suit made of all-wool, rough cassey or cheviot, you need not go three blocks to find price and quality ought to tempt you to buy it at the GOLDEN STORE.

THE Bridgewater Herald is the latest addition to the list of newspaper failures. In the past year about one half of the papers in this section of the country have suspended publication. The cause seems to have been that the number of newspapers became largely out of proportion to the number of people. As in this county, when two papers were running for a console of years, while Greenbrier and Fayett, each having three or four times the inhabitants, had two papers. Staunton has had three newspapers failures with in the year.

THAT terrible "g", which the careless and unthinking put in the spelling of the word Marlinton, gives the residents of the town a great deal of pain. No matter how much they strive against it, they never receive a letter in which this error occurs in the address, but that they form a lower estimate of the character of the writer. We cannot be correcting people all the time. Neither can we change the name of the post office to "Marlinton without being plague," for that would shock the people more than did the old name of Marlin's Bottom. We admit that euphony demands that it should be either "Marlington" or "Marlintown" but the fact remains that the present way is to spell it as Marlinton. The error may grow out of the Virginia style of dropping the final "g", which is put in when spelled. This comes natural to so many that they shock to without thinking.

Personal Mention.

Mr Reynolds, of Ronceverte, was in Marlinton last week in the interest of the Farmer's Mutual Insurance.

Neal Barlow, of Edray, was a welcome visitor at the Times office last Friday.

S. M. Gay & Sons are preparing to establish a permanent sawing set on the Indian Draft.

Geore Taylor and Frank Dilley have a large saw set at Mt. Pleasant where the road crosses the Indian Draft. People owning land are thus enabled to utilize their surplus oak, chestnut and ash, of fine quality, when these mills go into operation.

A pleasant occurrence took place at Marlinton last week when fifteen or twenty neighbors met at Mrs. Johnston's and prepared an ample supply of her wood.

Hon. Henry A. Yeager is shown at Frostburg and other points in Virginia.

Pete Yeager started last week to visit his brother Walter in Chapmanville, W. Va., and will remain there indefinitely.

An Old and Well-Tryed Friend.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION will celebrate its seventy-first birthday in 1897. Among the attractive announcements of the paper for the coming year is an article by Mr. Andrew Carnegie on "The Habit of Thrift." Successful men in other walks of life will succeed Mr. Carnegie's paper with valuable practical articles. The new partners offered are, the "Favorite Poem" and "Nature and Science" which will keep informed of the world's progress. Of course there will be the most high class fiction. New subscribers who send $1.75 to THE COMPANION will receive free a very beautiful Calendar, printed in twelve colors. The Illustrated Prospectus of the new Volume may be had by mail addressed

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION,
Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.

Lumber.

I have for sale a quantity of first-class white pine lumber, well seasoned.

The lumber will be moved to order if time are given me by February 1st.

W. M. MANN.
Marlinton, W. Va.

Narrow Escape from Freezing.

GILLESPIE, W. Va., Jan. 30.—Mr John E. Burner met with an experience during the recent blizzard which he is not likely soon to forget, or care to have repeated.

Mr Burner has been holding possession of a tract of woodland for Mr S. B. Woods, of Charlottesville Va., and as some of the camps on adjoining tracts have been recently burned he spends considerable time at building on the aforesaid tract, to prevent its being destroyed as well as to keep up a social intercourse with sundry coons, minks, wild cats and other cats not so wild, which infest the neighborhood.

On Friday the 22nd ult., notwithstanding the fact that he was suffering from some affection of the legs which renders him quite lame at times, he started out thro the snow for a ten mile walk to camp. Upon arrival there he became so lame as to be almost helpless. To return unaided was out of the question and he proceeded to make himself as comfortable as his crippled and lonely condition would permit.

Mr B. is a mighty hunter and at first his friends and family felt no uneasiness at his delayed return, but as the bitter, blustering days succeeded each other, uneasiness gave way to alarm and on the eighth day of his absence his son-in-law started out to investigate. He was found camp barely able to collect wood enough to keep from freezing, and with one tin of coffee, two and two-thirds biscuits remaining in the pantry.

Mr B. is 64 years old and during that long lease of life he has been noted for his piety. To those who know him it is needless to state that those long, dreary, anxious hours of waiting were spent in fervent supplication and when he was restored to the bosom of his family his pent up feelings gave vent the declaration, "I didn't catch a ——coon!"

NIMROD.

DUNMORE.

Tuesday morning was twelve degrees below zero. A fine time for making ice cream.

Quite a lot of logs are being hauled to the Harry Moore saw mill set at Dunmore.

Under the single gold standard we have 16 pockets to 1 pair of pants.

We have a great deal of sickness in our district. Some families are all sick.

There were two deaths above Green Bank last week. A Miss Gregg, aged 13 years, and a child of Lee Ervine, aged six months.

Mr Gum Matheus is down sick Miss Emma burner is teaching for him. Prof. Ed McLaughlin taught last week.

Will Wooddell is going to school at Dunmore and is learning the taylor trade.

John Noel is improving some. C. P. Kerr is building a house.

Mr Q. W. Poage, one of our cattle kings, brought over a fine lot of cattle last week to be fed at Wash Oliver's.

L. E. Gumm, our black smith, has been laid up for some time with sore throat.

The Dunmore foot ball team of Green Bank will pull whiskers with the Dunmore team for the championship at Dunmore, on the 6th of February.

Miss Laura Maxwell closed her school at Cross Roads last Friday.

Col S. C. Pritchard talks of building a bone mill and a new carding machine. We hope he will do so.

There is some talk of opening a road across the mountain, from Will Gulford's to Amos Gun's. It would be a good thing for the county.

Washington Hoover made a trip to the Levels last week for flour.

Woods & Sneeker are making some of the finest furniture and coffins ever put up in the county.

Auctioneer Sneeker is thinking of making some large auction sales of goods, very soon.

The Historical and Pirodistical writings in the Times are read with a great deal of interest by a number of our people.

JENNIE LEE.

Your Vitality?

The essence of life is force. Every breath you breathe, every heart beat, every motion of your hand, takes force. The essence of force we call vitality. If there is lacking, from any cause, lack of resistive power, a tendency to catch disease easily, especially a tendency to Consumption. For low vitality nothing is better than Scott's Emulsion. It supplies force by furnishing the nourishing, strengthening elements of food in an easily digested form; enriches the blood, and builds up the system. When ordinary food is of no avail, Scott's Emulse will supply the body with all the vitals essential to life.

Two sizes, 50 cts. and $1.00. All druggists.

If you will cut out the ad. as well and send a 2-cent stamp, you will receive a book telling you all about Scott's Emulsion. Free.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

The Arbogast School.

We seem to be right in our surmise that the Arbogast School, the extreme northern school-house in this county, was not in such a bad way. While they need a new school-house, and ought to have one; still that is no evidence that the Board of Education of Green Bank District, the County Superintendent, and the other county officers are wholly corrupt and full of duplicity. We know them to be honorable men and so we refused to print the charges made by a gentleman from Travelers Repose. We are glad to place before *our readers a letter from Miss Re*lia F. Clark, the teacher, by which may be seen that instead of great *discontent on the part of the pa*trons, they are the best supporters of the free school of any in the State, making an average of nearly one hundred per cent. We learn that this has always been the case, to a greater or less extent, with this school.

To the Editor of THE TIMES:

After reading your comments on the letter from Travelers Repose, in a late issue of The Times, I would like to state that neither the patrons nor the teacher of the Arbogast School had anything to do with writing that letter.

It is true that our school-house is small and not very comfortable, but it is well ventilated without opening the door. We have an abundant supply of fresh air from all parts of the building, and we have an interesting school of fifteen pupils, well supplied with new books. The school will be graded this year, and it will then rank among the interesting schools of *Green Bank District. The pa*trons have the promise of a school-house, and the Board of Education will fulfill this promise at no distant day.

There are nineteen children in the district,—four not old enough to go. The per cent. of attendance for this month will reach 95.

The school-house is situated in a romantic spot, with a pretty view of the East Branch of Greebrier River. The picturesque valley is owned by the patrons of the school. Adjoining this valley is the large tract of land owned by the Rochester Company,—40,000 acres in all, and most of it has timber of the best quality on it.

We are only twenty-two miles from the railroad. A branch of the West Virginia Central is slowly coming down the river, and it is thought that this part of the county will have a railroad first.

R. F. CLARK.

FROST.

News is scarce, the sick improving, and the weather is very cold at this writing.

Brison Wade was in this vicinity over night, when on his way to Richland, last week.

Mr Sam Sheets, Deputy Sheriff, of Dunmore, passed thro town last week.

Those wanting thermometers should have bought them last week, as they were probably lower than they will be soon again.

J. C. Harper's little girl, who has been very ill with pneumonia, is better at this time.

W. B. Sharp is reading law at his home this winter. He expects to take a law course soon.

Rev Clutterbuck preached a very interesting sermon at Mt. Zion, last Sunday.

Mr W. Oliver was in town last week on business.

We expect a joint discussion between the Frost and Cove Hill literary societies, next week. Come! don't be modest, we have some very oratorical men in this part.

W. A. Bussard used a flying trip to Virginia on business, last week.

Subscribe for the Times by so doing you can be well posted on local, state and national affairs. *There is no excuse for us to be ig*norant on any of these subjects, but pay $1 for the Times and a thoroughly posted man for a year.

BUCKEYE.

S. J. Payne, of Academy, was in this part buying cattle to ship.

Roy Crummett, of Highland was in this vicinity, a few days ago.

W. McClintic was at home from camp for a few days.

A. S. Overbolt closed his school with an enjoyable entertainment.

W. A. Shafer made an interesting address.

Mr Walter Mann, of Edray, was in this part a few days ago on business.

Jim Patterson, of Marlinton, was in this part on business, we suppose.

W. J. Hefner went to the camp with an ox for still he could be of no use.

Willie McKeever was visiting on Day Creek on Sunday.

And the next thing will be something else.

ANONYMOUS.

Valuable Land for Rent

A valuable grazing farm of more than 200 acres for rent. Both watered and under good fence. Will rent or lease on reasonable terms. For further information call on or address

ALLEN B. McELWEE,
Edray, W. Va.

DRY BRANCH of ELK.

News scarce, a little snow on the ground, and pretty cold.

J. T. Friel, who had a cancer cut off his face, is on the mend.

Capt J. W. Marshall is very poorly. We feel sorry to hear of any of our old Confederate veterans lying sick, and hope he will be up in a few days.

Dr Cameron is sick at this time.

Jacob Taylor and Musto McLaughlin, from Dunmore, passed thro our neighborhood the 21st ultimo, on their way to Cowen, hunting work.

Martin Crummett is still building fence for H. B. Marshall, of Mingo. Martin is a hustler,—he don't care for rain or snow.

David Lindsey, who got his diploma from W. A. Sneeker as a champion blacksmith, is working himself nearly to death. Hold up, Davy, do n't work so hard!

Our esteemed friend, Arthur Lawson, got hurt pretty badly the other day while driving Old Bob in the cart. Bob became unruly and threw Lawson out, and his leg catching between the spokes, bent his leg very near double; but it being good material, has sprung back and got near straight again. XXX

LOBELIA.

Warm and moderate at this writing. Has been a little cool for a few days—1 degrees below at this place.

Some sickness in this section.

Mr Willis Hill, of Lewis County, will build on the old farm one mile from Lobelia at once.

Some of the boys came in from camp on Thursday with their ears stiff as bench-legs.

Rev C. M. Anderson will locate at Lobelia in the spring. Failure of health the cause.

W. B. Hill found two fine red-foxes one morning of late.

Mr Willong and wife, of Greenbrier, were the guests of W. B. Hill on the 31st of January.

Mr C. L. Vaughn moved to the head of Bruffey's Creek last week.

Some of us would like to be at the Capitol when they make laws in regard to the killing of deer. I think the sooner they are all killed the better; it is too late to make provision for their safety now. There are only about 1,000 in West Virginia, and it has been some time since they were all seen.

Messrs John Eagle and Lovie Vaugh have secured work on the new railroad at Ronceverte.

Some of the Hill boys must find something very attractive. They do n't get home till late hours. They are careful, or Nathan's panther will get you!

Mr H. L. Casebolt, one of the oldest citizens of the county, is doing his own feeding, about 40 head of stock.

Mrs P. M. Townsend is suffering very much with the grip.

A fine deer entered the residence of one of our citizens, and it happened to find him at home feeding his face. (Expec it stood all night.)

More coming. OBSERVER.

LAUREL CREEK.

News too scarce last week and times too dull for anything from our neighborhood.

We have seen a good many bob-sleds going in towards the sawmill at Nathan's, and if makes the Creek pretty lively.

Andy Campbell and Billy Hevener are out this week hauling lumber to the top of the mountain for Galford and and McClintic. Andy hauled at one load with four horses 1700 feet to Buckeyes.

H. Nathan and W. A. Shearer are also using their bob-sleds for the same purpose.

Nathan must have plenty of nursing-bottles; we saw him one day last week hauling a calf home in a sled because it was to young to make the trip,—but I think it is sound.

I was down at Nathan's Tuesday morning to get some meat on business, and found that he had butchered his beef, and am willing to swear to the hide by the burrs in the tail, and identify by the teeth in the lower jaw.

Some low life, dirty tramp came along the other day, and was mean enough to shoot the saw at the mill of Mr Henry Galford.

A panther was killed near Mr Wesley Barlow's at the place called Devil's Den.

We are sorry to learn that H Nathan lost one of his best milk-cows last Friday.

Mr John Galford has gone to Capt Apperson's camp to work.

Plenty of snow and cold weather.

Little Mallett Nathan, youngest child of Mr and Mrs Nathan, is very sick at this writing.

Sam Baxter and W. H. Shearer were out last week trading horses with H. Nathan.

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED BIDS will be received by the undersigned at his office in the town of Pocahontas, Va., until 2 o'clock p. m. March 7, 1897, for building and keeping in suitable order a bridge of the Shenandoah and Western Railway Company across Greenbrier river at the crossing of Mrs Carter and extending to the State line on top of Allegheny Mountain, for the period of 5 years, to be built according to plans and specifications now on file in the office of the undersigned. Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check for $100, payable to the undersigned, which will be returned to the party or parties making the bid if not accepted. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

By order of the Board of Directors.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
Wm. M. & J. T. McAllister, p. q.

WE PAY POSTAGE.

Free of all charges, we will mail to anyone our advance illustrated catalog for 1897 (just issued.) It contains 554 illustrations of Furniture, Carpets, Lace Curtains, Bedding, Stoves, lamps, Refrigerators, Baby Carriages, etc. You save the middleman's profits by trading with the manufacturer, as *you are paying local dealers dou*ble our prices. Drop a postal now for our money-saver.

Julius Hines & Son,
Baltimore, Md.

Notice.

Your accounts are footed up, ready for settlement. Please call on me at my place of business and pay what you owe. I cannot carry your accounts from year to year. Pay as you go and keep even.

Very respectfully,

Jan. 8, 1897. S. B. MOORE.

Order of Publication.

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONTAS COUNTY, }

At rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on Monday, the 1st day of February, 1897.

Wm. M. McAllister ..... Plaintiff
vs.
Mary Florence Adams, Thomas Adams, her husband, and C. R. McDannald, Executor of Mary C. Bias, deceased, ... Defendants.

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree against the defendant, Mary Florence Adams, for the sum of $626.46, with interest from the 1st day of January, 1885, on $497.20 part thereof, and the cost of this proceeding; to require C. R. McDannald, Executor of Mary C. Bias deceased, to sell the remainder of the lands devised to him for that purpose and apply the interest of said Mary Florence Adams to the discharge pro tanto of said debt, and to apply said proceeds and said interests in his hands; and to attach the undivided interest of said Mary Florence Adams as an heir of Margaret Gatewood, deceased, in the lands in Pocahontas County, whereof the said Margaret Gatewood died seized and possessed, to wit: The undivided one-half interest in 1,000 acres, lying on Big Spring Run, in Pocahontas County, and to have a sale made of said undivided interest, and the proceeds applied to the discharge of said debt.

This day came the plaintiff, by his attorneys; and on their motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed, that the said defendants, Mary Florence Adams, Thomas Adams, her husband, and C. R. McDannald, Executor of Mary C. Bias, deceased, are non-residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order, and do what is necessary to protect their interests in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
Wm. M. & J. T. McAllister, p. q.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONNAS COUNTY, }

At Rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on Monday, February 1st, 1897.

William M. McAllister, ... Plaintiff.
vs.
Levi Gay, late Sheriff of Pocahontas County, and as such administrator of W. C. Bias, deceased; Kate E. Cowan (nee Bias), wife of —— Cowan; Mary Florence Adams (nee Bias), wife of Thom as Adams; Margaret S. Long (nee Bias) wife of — Long; and Warwick G. Bias, heirs at law of said J. W. W. Bias and said Thomas Adams, — Long, and — Cowan, C. R. McDonnald, Executor of Mary C. Bias and Eliza J. Warwick, and J. W. Warwick, her husband ..... Defendants

The object of this suit is to have a decree against the Administrators, J. W. W. Bias, in favor of plaintiff for $457.47 with legal interest thereon from the 1st day of January, 1885, till paid, due by bond, less $26.28 paid December 15, 1896, and to have sale of undivided interest in the residue of a tract of 1,000 acres devised by M. C. Bias to be sold, and the interest of said J. W. W. Bias in another tract of 354 acres and a tract of 700 acres devised of said M. C. Bias, and, if necessary, a sale of the interest of said J. W. W. Bias' estate in the one half interest in the residue of said tract of land of 1,000 acres, whereof Margaret Gatewood died seized and possessed.

This day came the plaintiff by his attorneys, and on their motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed that the said defendants, Kate E. Cowan, Mary Florence Adams and Thomas Adams, her husband, Margaret S. Long and —— Long, her husband, Warwick G. Bias, C. R. McDannald, Executor of Mary C. Bias, John W. Warwick and Eliza J. Warwick, his wife, are not residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the date of the first publication of this order, and the same is ordered to be published for four weeks in the Pocahontas Times, a newspaper published in said county of Pocahontas.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
Wm. M. & J. T. McAllister p. q.

FURNITURE FACTORY

AND

Furniture Store.

Fine Furniture Made to Order.

STOCK ALWAYS ON HAND.

I am occupying the Temporary Court-house and am prepared to make to order all kinds of Furniture at lower prices than can be obtained elsewhere. Don't be cheated in Furniture but buy from a reliable cabinet maker who works up the native woods.

I can order you furniture from the city at better terms than you can to save your life. Whenever you need anything in my line you will save money by giving me a call.

W. J. Killingswerth.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONTAS COUNTY, }

At rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on Monday, February 1st, 1897.

Clifton Forge Grocery Company, a corporation under the laws of Virginia ..... Plaintiff.
vs.
C. C. Arbogast, W. B. Ellis & Ellis partners trading as W. B. Ellis & Co., A. Elliart, C. G. Joyner and M. B. Witz, partners trading as Elliart, Joyner, & Co.; E. M. Brown, George Blome and George J. Blome, partners trading as George Blome & Son; S. R. Sutton, H. S. Rucker, Charles P. Jones, J. H. Shears, J. W. Lakins, P. D. Arbogast, C. O. Tracy, Emma A. Tracy, J. Wesley Hevener, Old Dominion Building and Loan Association; and J. Taylor Ellyson and W. A. Bradley, Trustees ..... Defendants

The object of this suit is to subject the land of the defendant C. C. Ar*bogast, lying near Green Bank*, in Pocahontas County, W. Va., being 181 acres, more or less, to the payment of the liens thereon, and for general relief. This day came the plaintiff by its attorney, and on his motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed that the defendants, the Old Dominion Building and Loan Association, J. Taylor Ellyson, Trustee, and C. P. Jones, are non-residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the date of the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect his interest in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
H. S. Rucker, p. q. 15

Lost! Lost! Lost!

Money Lost

by not trading with us. We mean business, as you will find if you give us a trial.

'The proof of the pudding is in the eating.'

Buy one bill of us for your own special benefit.

THE MONEY WE DO NOT SPEND PAYING TRAVELLING MENS' BILLS IS SHARED WITH OUR CUSTOMERS. WE SEEK NO TRADE THAT IS NOT OURS BY VIRTUE OF LOW PRICES AND HONEST GOODS. OUR REPUTATION AS Spot Cash Buyers bring us bargains that credit never saw. We give bargains; the prices tell the people, and the people tell the prices.

We will sell wire-nails, from 4 to 20 penny at $2.50 per keg.
Best Granulated Sugar at 5¢.
Fancy Green Coffee at 10c.
Corn Starch 5c a box.
Elegant grade Tobacco 25c to 35c per pound.
We will buy bed ticken.
We will buy beeswax and bee for throughout the winter. Friends, do n't forget to give us your trade.

Yours respectfully,

L. D. Sharp.
LINWOOD, W. VA.

RECEIVERS' RENTAL OF LANDS.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, made on the day of October, 1896, in the chancery cause of Levi Gay, et als., vs. J. B. Lockridge, et als., the undersigned special receivers will on the

6th day of Feb., 1897,

at the front door of the court house of said county, proceed to rent by way of public auction to the highest bidder for the term of one year, the lands in the bill and proceedings mentioned belonging to the defendant, J. B. Lockridge, consisting of the farm upon which the said Lockridge now resides, situated at Driscol, in said county. Said farm is in good state of cultivation and has thereon all necessary buildings in good repair.

Terms.—Cash in hand sufficient to pay costs of rental, and for the residue the renter executing bonds with good personal security, payable on the 21st day of December, 1897.

W. A. BRATTON,
L. M. MCCLINTIC,
Receivers.

By order of said decree, the bond already given in this cause is held sufficient for the above rental.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

Order of Publication.

State of West Virginia, County of Pocahontas, to wit:

At rules held in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court for said county, on Monday, January 4th, 1897.

Quintilla M. Burrows, Plaintiff
vs.
A. G. Burrows, Defendant.

The object of this suit is to procure a divorce by the plaintiff from the bonds of matrimony with the defendant; and it appearing from affidavit filed, that the defendant, A. G. Burrows, is not a resident of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that he do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order, and do what is necessary to protect his interest in this suit.

Witness: J. H. Patterson, Clerk of said Court, this 5th day of January, 1897.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

NOTICE TO TAKE DEPOSITIONS.

To A. G. Burrows, take notice, that on the 20th day of February, A. D., 1897, between the hours of six o'clock, a. m., and six o'clock p. m., at the residence of Quintilla M. Burrows, near Marlinton, in Pocahontas County, West Virginia, I will take the depositions of myself, and others, to be read as evidence in my behalf, in a certain suit in chancery now pending in the Circuit Court of the County of Pocahontas, and State of West Virginia, on which I am plaintiff and you are defendant.

If from any cause the taking of said depositions shall not be commenced or completed on the day aforesaid, the same shall be continued from day to day, or from time to time, at the same place and between the same hours, until the same shall be completed.

QUINTILLA M. BURROWS,
By Counsel.

H. S. Rucker, solicitor.

Look! This Way!

We call your special attention to your notes and accounts you owe us. We have waited on you a long time to pay us what you owe, but you have not done so. You will please call on S. B. Moore, Edray, W. Va., and pay every cent you owe. We cannot wait always on you for our money, and if our accounts and notes are not paid soon, we will be compelled to place them in the hands of an officer for collection.

Very respectfully,

MOORE & HARMAN.

Dec 8, S. B. Moore, Jan. 5, 1897.

WANTED—AN IDEA

...e Pocahontas Times.

...DREW PRICE, EDITOR

...arleston, Friday, Feb. 5, 1897.

...ubscription ONE DOLLAR in ad-...ce. If not paid within the year ...0 will be charged.

...Entered at the post-office at Marlin...n, W. Va., as second class matter.

County Directory.

...dge ..... J. M. McWhorter
...on, Attorney ..... L. M. McClintic
...heriff ..... R. W. Hill
...erk County Court ..... S. E. Brown
...erk Circuit Court, J. H. Patterson
...ommissioner ..... J. H. Buzzard
..... Amos Barlow
Com'rs, Co. Ct. } C. S. Beard
..... } J. R. Warwick
...urveyor ..... George Baxter
...ssessor ..... Geo. P. Moore

BOARD OF HEALTH—Dr. I. V. Price, L. M. McClintic, M. J. McGeehee, R. W. Hill.

JUSTICES—Uriah Bird, Marlington; A. C. L. Gatewood, Linwood; P. D. Arbogast, Green Bank; W. H. Grose, Hunterville; G. R. Cutlip, Academy; T. A. Bruffey, Labelle.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

Business Rules.

When a subscriber orders his paper discontinued he is, of course, expected at the same time to pay up all arrearages.

No attention will be paid to anonymous communications. You need not sign your real name, but it must always accompany your communications.

On all job work our terms are cash, except in cases of merchants and others with whom we have running accounts.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. BUCKEE,

ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC

HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. MEBUCKLE,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,

ATTORNEY AT LAW.

MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. D. SCOTT, JR.

LAWYER,

MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

E. M. LOCKRIDGE,

ATTORNEY AT LAW.

HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS

DR. D. J. CAMPBELL,

DENTIST,

MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,

RESIDENT DENTIST,

ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in this paper.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,

PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,

MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office over store of C. A. Yeager. Residence opposite Hotel.

All calls promptly answered.

Mothers

Anxiously watch declining health of their daughters. So many are cut off by consumption in early years that there is real cause for anxiety. In the early stages, when not beyond the reach of medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla will restore the quality and quantity of the blood and thus give good health. Read the following letter:

"It is but just to write about my daughter Cora, aged 18. She was completely run down, declining, had that tired feeling, and friends said she would not live over three months. She had a bad and nothing seemed to do her any good. I happened to read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and had her give it a trial. From the very first dose she began to get better. After taking a few bottles she was completely cured and her health has been the best ever since." MRS. ADDIE PECK, 12 Railroad Place, Amsterdam, N. Y.

Cough

"I with say that my case has not stated my case in as strong words as I would have done. Hood's Sarsaparilla has truly cured me and I am now well." CORA PECK, Amsterdam, N. Y.

Be sure to get Hood's, because

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, reliable and beneficial 25c.

A THERMOMETER FREE.

WARNER'S SAFE CURE CO., of Rochester, N. Y., are sending out a limited number of accurate spirit thermometers graded from 20 degrees below zero to 120 degrees above and mounted on heavy 4 x 6 inch card board, in red and green, by mail, free to any address on receipt of 2 cents in stamps to pay postage. To be sure, this distribution is intended to advertise the celebrated Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure (see advertising columns) but never the less the thermometer will be found to be a useful as well as ornamental article for the home or office and well worth the little trouble and expense of sending for it.

BEWARE OF OINTMENTS FOR CATARRH THAT CONTAIN MERCURY,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to them good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by druggists, price 75c per bottle.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

YOU CAN BE WELL

When you blood is pure, rich and nourishing for nerves and muscles. The blood is impure, thin and impure you must either suffer from some distressing disease or fall a victim to sudden changes, exposure or excesses of life. Keep you blood pure with Hood's Sarsaparilla and be well.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pill; assist digestion, cure headache. 25c.

MONEY MAKES MONEY!

So do we but we make it for you. How? By saving you the middle man's profit. We practically charge you a small commission for attending to your purchases, and as we have advantages for buying that an ordinary purchaser does not enjoy, we can save money for you.

Cash must always accompany the order, and any excess will be promptly remitted.

Quotations furnished and correspondence solicited. Groceries in original pakages a specialty.

Charleston Purchasing Agency.

Stephen Price Manager.
Charleston W. Va.

A Sermonette.

And after six days, Jesus taketh with him Peter and James and John and leadeth them up into a high mountain apart by themselves.—Mark ix. 2.

One of the most remarkable incidents in the life of our Redeemer during the time of his earthly manifestation was the scene of the transfiguration. There appeared to him Moses and Elijah, and they conferred on the departure soon to take place at Jerusalem.

The use that will be made of this wonderful occurrence is to this effect: that mountain solitudes must be very conducive towards developing high types of personal piety if rightly improved.

An intelligent and very pious person once traveled alone among the mountains of Switzerland. While there he wrote in this manner to the friends at home: "It is good to be among the mountains alone, good for both the mind and heart." By this it was not meant that a christian, or those who may desire to be christians, were nearer to Heaven, in place, upon mountain-tops than at their homes and places for secret prayer tho they would be nearer the blue sky and its starry gems.

Yet there must be some purpose that the Scriptures should tell us of our blessed Lord's love of the mountains, of seasons of solitude. He went apart into a mountain to pray; he withdrew himself into a desert place, and there prayed; he went out into the wilderness and prayed; he went up into a mountain to pray, and continued all night in prayer to God; he went up into a mountain to pray when he was transfigured; and on the mountain Peter, James, and John saw his glory. Peter was so well pleased he proposed to build tabernacles and locate there, and start a heaven right there and then on earth. When the soul is in a proper frame, there is something very congenial between the mountain-tops and prayer and spiritual glory.

Some two or three years since two ministers had occasion to cross the Drooping Mountain at an early hour. This mountain overlooks much of Southern Pocahontas and Northern Greenbrier, and commands an entrancing view of Hillsboro and its charming rural surroundings of grove, field, and orchard. It was very misty on the morning referred to, and as the ministerial friends passed from Hillsboro their view on every hand was shut in by the dense misty barriers. They slowly ascended the broad but devious road up the mountain side towards the summit. Upon reaching the crest of the mountain the sun was seen in all its glorious power and light. If the Psalmist had been with us he would have spoken of the sun as a bridegroom coming out of his chamber, and rejoicing as a strong man, coming to roll away the mists that were over the hills, the vales, and the streams, keeping them from view.

We paused at the point most favorable for our outlook, and spent some time, and contemplated the scene with adoration and awe, until we felt that we knew of no words that would at the moment fitly express our emotions. In the meantime a radiant power more than ninety millions of miles away had come and was working miracles all about us. The placid surface of the vast cloud beneath our feet began to rise and roll like the waves of a minature ocean, and the sunbeams beautified all these white waves. They seem to gather themselves into delectable Hills and from their radiant tops scores of vapor enchanting with nameless beauties reached upward towards the sun. And as one would tower above others near, it seemed to draw them along with itself till all had exploded in upward, viewless flight. Heaps of dissolving mist were on the heaven. Like pearls they hung in the heather with brilliants and those like diamonds on the grass. Now had these morning scenes been without cloudy mists they would have been robbed of more than half of the unspeakable beauties and suggestive lessons.

Such a scene as was witnessed by these ministers on Drooping Mountain was well fitted to remind them, and all others who gather the choicest and think upon the morning scenery and accumulation of the fact that it was about upon a mountain Elijah saw the glory of the Lord. It was those upon the mountain "the Lord spoke unto Moses face to face, as a man speaketh unto his friend." There and there Moses received the promise of perpetual divine presence, and the promise of final rest.

But of all the mountain scenes, that to which the text refers, that of the Transfiguration excels in glory. For it was in that scene the blessed Son of God our Savior laid aside the guise of a servant and appeared in all the dazzling brightness of his divine nature.

The fashion of his countenance was altered, and his raiment was white and glistening." No wonder then should it be that as Peter looked upon that glorious manifestation that he should be so overcome with feelings of surprise and awe that he wist not what he said, like one talking in sleep. How could it have been otherwise with the favored three mountain climbers, Peter, James, and John, that "they feared as they entered into the cloud."

By way of making a practical application, let it be noticed by our readers that there is one mount to which our thoughts should recur, and that is Mount Calvary, where a sight of our Savior hanging on the accursed tree may lead us to abhor our sins and crucify our passions. And while near his cross renew our consecration vows, and desire henceforth and forever to know nothing "save Jesus Christ, and him crucified."

One person who had often lingered near the cross and took its meaning in, was heard to say in his last hours on earth: "I feel so perfectly resigned to God's will that if sickness or health was laid before me, and the Lord should tell me to take my choice, I would not know which to take but would have to refer the matter to the Lord." Surely this person had made good use of his visits to Mt. Calvary, and was now fully ready for Mount Zion, for in a few more days of waiting he was carried away by angels to the bosom of his Father in Heaven. SENEX.

An Unknown Quantity.

The honey moon had not yet commenced to wane, and they were in the hal it of assuring each other every two or three minutes that their love could never die. "I love you," he observed.

"I love you too!" she replied. A pause and an embrace.

"I love you more than you do me," he remarked.

"I love you more than you do me," answered she. Another pause and a still longer embrace.

"I love you twice as much as you do me," he said.

"I love you more than that," she retorted.

"You can hardly do that," he said with a fond smile, "because"——

"But I do," she interrupted.

"No," he returned. "You see, if I love you twice as much as you do me, your love is necessary less than mine, and"——

"Oh, no, it isn't," she pleaded; "it can't be. I love you more than that!"

"But don't you see," he went on, "if my love for you is twice——two times—double—your love for me is, therefore—by a rigid rule of mathematics (to say nothing of geometry)—just half my love for you, and, therefore—Q. E. D.—less than my love for you!"

"But it isn't so," she pouted; "do it't be silly."

"My dear girl," he said, a trifle impatiently, "how can you be such a——I mean, now look here, let x represent your love for me. Well my love for you being twice your love for me"——

"But I love you more than that," she said in a tone forced its way out of her bright blue eye.

"——my love for you is, therefore 2x. Now, what you are trying to prove is that x is greater than 2x (a being a positive integer)—which is absurd on our part, do't you see, darling?"

"I don't care," she wailed, "I love you more than that, and you are as mean as you can be."

"I'm not any thing of the kind," he replied in an aggrieved tone. Why don't you follow out my reasoning?"

"There isn't any."

"There is, too."

"Isn. I love you more than that."

"How can you when"——

"I don't care! I love you more than that.

"Hang it all!"

"That's eighty sweet of your wife. Mother was right when she said"——

"Oh, what did she say?"

"She said she feared you were a pretense and intending one man."

At this juncture the honeymoon began to wane.—Tid-bits.

MR. WARREN L. SOUTH, of Fredericktown, Md., was troubled with rheumatism of the shoulder for thirty years. He had become fully satisfied that he would be a cripple for life, and that the remedies of a short time could be found here to give up the kind been treated by some of the best physicians of Europe and America but got no permanent relief. Finally he procured a proper remedy and got entirely well. He is pleased to tell any one interested in the matter of his case. Sold by Dr. J. F. Kinnebrew, Marlinton, W. Va.

MEDICAL WISDOM.

THE DREADED CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

T. A. Slocum, M. C., the great Chemist and Specialist, Offers to Send Free, to Afflicted, Three Bottles of His Newly-Discovered Remedies to Cure Consumption and all Lung Troubles.

Nothing could be fairer, more philanthopic or carry more joy in its wake than the offer of T. A. Slocum, M. C., of 183 Pearl street New York City.

Confident that he has discovered an absolute cure for consumption and all pulmonary complaints, and to make its great merits known, he will send, free, three bottles, to any reader of the POCAHONTAS TIMES, who is suffering from chest, bronchial, throat and lung troubles or consumption.

Already this "new scientific course of medicine" has permanently cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases.

The Doctor considers it his religious duty not to let a single stroke in sending—the mistake will be in overlooking the generous invitation. He has on file in his American and European laboratories testimonials of experience from those cured, in all parts of the world.

Delays are dangerous. Address T. A. Slocum, M. C., 183, Pearl street New York, and when writing to the Doctor, please say express and postoffice address, and mention reading this article in THE POCAHONTAS TIMES.

MARLINTON HOUSE.

Located East End of Bridge.

Terms.

per day - 1.00 & 1.50
per meal - - - 25

Good accommodations for horses at 25 cents per feed.

Special rates made by the week or month.

C. A. YEAGER, Proprietor.

Lee Military Acadcmy.

Spring term of 18 weeks begins February 1st. Pupils can enter any time. A first-class school for boys. Prepares for college or business. Thorough academic, preparatory and business courses.

Located in a fine grove. Best Christian influences, no saloons, no distractions.

Tuition, $50 and $25. Board from $10 to $15 per month.

JAMES M. LEE, Principal.

Lewisburg, W. Va.

Old Dominion Building & Loan Association.

OF—

Richmond, - - Virginia.

J. TAYLOR ELLYSON, President.
E. A. BARBER, Treasurer.

DIRECTORS.

J. Taylor Ellyson, Norman V. Randolph, Allen Parrell, John S. Eliet, Frank T. Sutton.

Authorized Capital..... $20 000,000.
Subscribed Capital..... 5,000,000.
Paid Up Cash Capital..... 1,500,000.
Assets..... 2,000,000.

Depository—State Bank of Virginia. Interest 1 per cent per annum. $1.00 per share membership fee, and 60 cents per month afterwards—withdrawable after twelve monthly payments, and secure in event of the death of the stockholder.

H. A. YEAGER, Agent.

MARLINTON, W. VA.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR

FOR THE WHEELING

Weekly Intelligencer,

West Virginia's Leading Newspaper.

The coming year promises to be one of great moment to every American citizen. An important change is at hand in the administration of public affairs. There will probably be a special session of Congress immediately following the inauguration of the new President. The tariff, especially in the matter of wool and coal, will be at once under discussion, and legislation took for the restoration of the national finances to a sound basis will be introduced. There will also be a new administration in West Virginia, and there is every indication that enterprises of great importance to the public welfare will be set on foot in the state. The proposed river improvements will be begun. New railroads will be built, and new material resources of every kind developed. The year 1897 promises to be one of the golden years of the State and Nation. Business will everywhere revive, and the columns of the INTELLIGENCER will be full of the evidence of great opportunities for business.

Every family should have a live newspaper of the character to be found, so that the old and young of the household may know all of the particulars of the great awakening that is at hand.

TERMS AND PREmiUmS.

The WEEKLY INTELLIGENCER, one year in advance..... $1 00
The WEEKLY INTELLIGENCER, six months in advance..... 50
6 copies one year and extra copy to person getting up club..... 5 00
13 copies one year and three extra copies to person getting up club..... 10 00
20 copies one year and a copy of WEEKLY INTELLIGENCER to person getting up club..... 20 00

The premium copies will be sent at any address desired. It is expected that cash commissions, as the club readily be sent and the money returned by the getter up of the club. It is not necessary for all the issues in the club to come from one office, nor is it necessary to send all the subscriptions at one time. Subscriptions may be sent as fast as received, one or more at a time, and dated to begin at once. Specimen copies will be sent on application. Postmasters are requested to act as agents. Send for terms to agents. Send in your subscriptions at once.

We want an Agent in every township in West Virginia. Send for terms and sample copies. Address

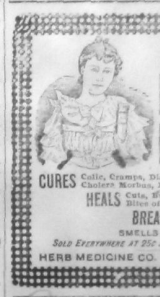
INTELLIGENCER PUBLISHING CO.
WHEELING, W. VA.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is Thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.



"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope Castoria may be distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only know among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY,
Boston, Mass.

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

IT TICKLES YOU
THE INSTANT RELIEF YOU GET FROM
LIGHTNING HOT DROPS.
CURES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.
HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Bites of Animals, Serpents, Bugs, etc.
BREAKS UP Bad Colds, La Grippe, Influenza, Croup, Sore Throat, etc.
SMELLS GOOD. TASTES GOOD.
SOLD EVERYWHERE AT 25c AND 50c PER BOTTLE. NO RELIEF, NO PAY.
HERB MEDICINE CO. (Formerly of Wooster, W. Va.) SPRINGFIELD, O.

Simms & Co.,

RONCEVERTE, W. VA.

Silver Steel Plow, Syracuse Chilled Plows, Imperial Chilled Plows.

PLOW REPARS OF ALL KNDS AT LOWEST PRICES EVER OFFERED HERC

RED WARRIOR POLL AXES 65C
GREENBRIER " " 60c
CHAMPION " " 50c

1 No. 2 Horse-shoes for 15c | 4 No. 3 Horse-shoes 18c
1 No. 1 " " 25c | 4 No. 5 " 16c

COOK-STOVES OF ALL KINDS

1 doz. 8x10 Window Glass 35c | Beers Grindstone 7 1-4c lb
Paints, Oils, Varnishes, etc.

Our goods are all first class, no shoddy or job lots, or damaged goods. Strike us for prices before you buy.

Simms & Co.,
Opposite Passenger Depot. Ronceverte, W. Va.

FEED, LIVERY AND SALE STABLES.

First-Rate Teams and Saddle Horses Provided.

Tutt's Pills Cure All Liver Ills.

Arrest disease by the timely use of Tutt's Liver Pills, an old tool favorite remedy of increasing popularity. Always cures sour stomach, malaria, dyspepsia, torpid liver, constipation and all bilious diseases.

SICK HEADACHE,

TUTT'S Liver PILLS

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 14, NO. 29 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, FE... $1.00 PER YEAR

$3,400.00 CASH AND PRIZES GIVEN FREE EACH MONTH FOR Sunlight SOAP WRAPPERS

As Follows:

4 First Prizes, each of $100 Cash - - $ 400.00
20 Second " " $50 Gold Watches - 1,000.00
40 Third " " $25 Gold Watches - 1,000.00
Cash and Prizes given each month - - $3,400.00
12
Total given during 12 mos. 1897, $40,800.00

HOW TO OBTAIN THEM. RULES.

NAME OF DISTRICT.

LEVER BROS., Ltd., New York.

No Use Talking

ABOUT HARD TIMES,

When One Dollar will Buy as much at Sol Davis' Big Store, as Two Dollars will Buy at other Stores.

I have literally plunged the knife into my former low prices to quicken sales and the result is seen in the increased number of customers at my store. Do you want to share in the Bargains now offered in Clothing, Boots, and Shoes, Ladies' and Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods, Dry Goods, Underwear, etc.,—if so call at

SOL DAVIS' Big Store.

AND GET YOUR BARGAINS.

We quote prices on a few things:

Working pants well made and durable	75c	worth 1.50
Cassimere Pants from 1.25 up worth double.
Suits for men from 4.00 up worth 8.50
Boys' Suits	75c	worth 1.75
Men's Overcoats	4.50	were sold for 8.50
A good pair of Ladies Shoes for 1.00

Ladies' Cloaks and Gowns, this season styles, at correspondingly low prices as every thing else.

We especially invite those who have not dealt with us. Come one, come all! Our motto: Quick sales and short profits. Thanking you for past patronage we remain

Yours Truly,
SOL DAVIS, Proprietor.
Green Bank, W. Va. Jan '29

The Pocahontas Times,

All Home Print,

Affords the People of Pocahontas County one of the best papers for the price in the State.

$1.00 per Year

GIVES YOU YOUR COUNTY PAPER.

SUBSCRIBE!

Advertise your Wares and Wants Our rates are always low enough to warrant your patronage.

Our Job Department has been renewed, and we guarantee satisfaction. Wedding invitations and all kinds of work done on short notice

WE HAVE THE BEST PRINTING PLANT OUT SIDE A LARGE TOWN IN THE STATE.

Now is the time to Subscribe!

We have a plan by which Farmers can get TOOL CHESTS FREE

WANTED—AN IDEA ... No boy ever got quite worthless enough to admit that his father was to support him.—Washington Republican.

Winter on the 39th Parallel.

Full many a gem of winter poetry,
Ines, serene
The deep, unfathomed books of poets bear;
While—
Full many a wheel of poetry whirls
unseen,
And wastes its bearings 'neath
some uncombed poet's hair

Just because it is not every poet who lives on the 39th parallel of latitude in literature can rise from his downy couch, his curled-wire mattress, these frozen mornings, prance about on a piece of iced oil-cloth, and compose a deathless ode to winter before breakfast; altho I fear a vast number of people, members of the church some of them, feel like doing something of the sort between the paroxysms of shivering.

It seems to me I used to enjoy winter like other people, but that was years ago when I was in the foolish habit of enjoying everything that came my way small difference what. Those were the days when it came winter I found the keenest enjoyment in the stately dukes and lords and sobbing turtles and whatever was connected with those now happily obsolete kids (pardon that word) Lord Fauntleroy and Alice in Wonderland, and such juvenile primers.

Those were days before I knew and loved the bicycle. Since then winter has taken on a duller aspect. People, sarcastic, bloodless, disagreeable people,—say to me: "Why do n't you portion out that great heart of yours among eminently deserving friends and relatives instead of settling it for life upon a totally depraved, inanimate thing composed of steel and wood and rubber, which when not in use cannot even stand up straight, but must lean against a support like a man full of new wine?" But pass we over such questions to which there never will be any answer. Life to that girl who on some glorious day, encouraging, her wind to a race, mounts her trusty steel-bound steed, makes up the road, meets a desolate, careworn, old farm - horse who looks as if nothing short of an earthquake or a square feed could surprise him; succeeds in making him rear and prance in the most delightful way; rouses his rider from dull, slothful, now useless reverie as to what eggs are bringing at the store, and all the world 's alive.

I say that Life has an entirely different meaning to that saxie girl in the winter, when she sits humped up over the kitchen fire, in the throes of influenza, when the merest ghost of a smile becomes a burden too great to bear, hearing the wind that seeks to destroy her, and listening to the washer woman as she cheerily chats about her wealthy relations back in Randolph County. That is a sordid, dull picture, but one that has been on exhibition in Durkest Marlinton once at least.

But altho the joy-in-the-winter may be gone for my nervous young friend, there are some people who seem to make a hearty time of winter by simply yielding to the remorseless law of having a good time. We have all had friends to go miles in the cold to attend some social function, and then to tell us about it, making one's heart ache to think of such good times and we not in 'em! So the next time they dash into the house and shout—

"Oh come with me and we will go
And try the winter's cold,
It freezes now and soon will snow
But we are tough and bold"—

Altho not feeling oppressively tough or bold either in the cold,—we are apt to start out to enjoy ourselves; but if we do succeed to some extent, we are given like marble heart by pretty near freezing to death on our way home, and we never tried it again.

There are a great many more thing that could be said about winter on the 39th parallel. I have a girl friend with auburn-colored hair and black eyes, and with a head piece extraordinary, who can write poetry on whatever exactly like my nose; and it certainly would surprise you to see the pleasant things she knows these winters to; also do you good. I'll put her verses in my scrap-book into witness of my love for her.

"Freeze, freeze thou bitter sky,
Thou dost not bite so nigh
As benefits forgot;
Tho, tho the waters warp,
Thy sting is not so sharp
As friend remembered not."— Shakespeare's view of it.

S. A. P.

A RECENT issue of The Journal of New York, has a very sensational representation of the possibilities of an aerial war-fort, recently invented by a Mr St. Croix. The war machine is represented as sailing in the air between two and three miles above the level of the men shooting dynamite bombs into to Brooklyn and New York at the same time. In a few minutes the cities will be in blazing ruins. The inventor is at present negotiating with the Washington authorities. If he fails there he feels sure that he will find a purchaser in the French Government. The French are just now in the lead in the use of balloons for war purposes.

MR J. LAFE WALMSLEY, of Hacker's Valley, W. Va. was in Marlinton last week as an official representative of the Junior Order United American Mechanics, to ascertain if they be clear to establish councils in Pocahontas. The avowed object of the order is to maintain and promote the interests of Americans, and shield them from the depressing effects of foreign competition; assist Americans to get employment, and encourage Americans in business. It is also intended to establish a sick and funeral fund, maintain public schools free from sectarian interferences, and uphold the reading of the Bible therein. At present there are 2,000 subordinate councils and over 125,000 members in twenty-six States. The literature he circulates gives ample information, respecting all details pertaining to the organization and management of subordinate councils.

Low spirits—what is the use of them, sure enough, what is the use? They change nothing, they bring back nothing, they produce nothing. It is certainly true, as established fact, that common low spirits help no one around and least of all do they help the possessor.

Very striking and instructive was the remark made by that indominable man, the Kentucky pioneer, Daniel Boone. "One evening, and somewhat bewildered in the thick wilderness, everything at a low ebb (perhaps his bodily health too, just then) I climbed a tall tree for observation and came near being a little low spirited." But we may be sure, he went no father towards low spirits than that, tho he did go father into the wilderness. When the soul is really stirred up for any right undertaking in this world and the person goes to work at it and keeps at work, he has no heart for low-spiritedness and no time either. Cast low spirits to the dogs or if that seems wasteful, cast them to people who have nothing to employ themselves with and want nothing,—the drones of society's hive. I am aware that mental depression is sometimes beyond human control and, then, calls for sincere pity and forbearance. This is exceptional and falls under the head of uncontrollable disease and should be so treated. The first Christian post, Cowper, is an instance. Many a time the darkness over his mind became so deep and gloomy that he even attempted to take own life. But God withheld the pen with song of Him and His ways so sweetly, from the bitter dead. Once Cowper was turning steps to London Bridge, fully intending to throw himself headlong there, when a friend interposed somehow, and the poet returned to his home, the mental cloud lifted for the time, and wrote that inimitable hymn, "God moves in a mysterious way, etc," which has added to the worship of the sanctuary all those many, many years since. Cowper cleared his weary eyes and earth to open them in Heaven where there is pure joy for evermore, and no night of any kind.

A. L. P.

Personal.

We regret to h... near Edray, has ... weeks, from the ...

Miss Maud Es... taught a success... Pleasant, will clo... Friday, 12th inst.

Henry Barlow... ray, has been quited... some days, but is ... being. Other ... family are sick, ...

L. D. Sharp, ... spraining your... ward, was in ... and was a v... office. Mr Shar... has achieved a ... ness.

Fairview

A celebration ... birthday will be ... public school hou... February 22nd. ... secured suitable ... for the occasion. ... The day will ... forbug. The singing ... in playing foot ... race exercise, ... suitable exer... Refreshments ... be provided with ... will please put ... box in the din... for the friends ... names. ... Patrician ... much by ... and no day in ... opportunity ... have been ... occasion on ...

A FEW ... party, at Wes... Friday, ... attended with a ... Keeping. ... A swollen ... Lillie Buckley, 8 years ... great success. ... learned the ... multiplication ... perfectly; and, not content with ... added the 12's to the list and ... the Roman Notation. This school ... numbers seven bright boys and girls, ... each deserving special mention.

It has been the ... interest, most pleasant, and, I think, the most ... profitable of my life. With sincere ... hope we may all meet in Heaven, ... where we "never say 'good-bye.'"

A. S. Overholt, Teacher.

Mr. Julius Hines Baltimore

Your accounts ... ready for settlement ... on me at my place ... pay what you owe ... your accounts ... Pay as you go ...

Very ... Jan. 8, 1897.

Order of ...

STATE OF WEST ... POCAHONTAS ...

At rules held in ... of the Circuit Court ... County, on Monday ... February, 1897.

WM. M. McALLISTER ... vs. ...

Mary Florence ... Adams, her husband ... McDannald, Exe... Bias, deceased, ...

The object of this ... a decree against the ... ry Florence Adams ... $626.16, with interest ... day of January, ... 1895 thereof, and ...

Honors for West Virginians at Washington & Lee.

A large number of students and town people were gathered at the University Chapel on Tuesday evening, January 19th, to witness the 88th annual celebration of the Graham-Lee Literary Society.

Mr Cecil H. Burke, of Alabama, was President for the occasion, and welcomed the audience with a short but clear speech. He then introduced the first orator of the evening, Mr Battle McLester, of Tennessee, who spoke on the "Memoirs of the Old South." He was followed by Mr J. S. McCiner, of West Virginia, who spoke of "Chivalry and Law." If attention is any sign of appreciation, we would say his oratory was very much enjoyed.

The question for debate,—Resolved, that the French Revolution was beneficial to Europe,—was then read by the Secretary, Mr F. A. Lang, of West Virginia; and Mr F. A. Bryan, of Tennessee, the first speaker on the affirmative, was introduced. Mr Bryan was followed by Messrs D. M. Hammet and X. Y. McCann, of West Virginia, and Mr D. K. Cameron, of California. The speeches were all very creditable. That of Mr Cameron was of unusual excellence, and was very impressively delivered. The judges, Rev Dr J. R. McBryde, Col William A. Anderson, and Dr Estill, awarded the orator's medal to Mr Cameron, of California.

Mr A. G. Snyder, of West Virginia, was Chief Marshall, and Mr R. J. Griffis, of Washington, D. C., Vice - President. Music was furnished by the Virginia Military Institute Band.

Report of the Buckeye School for the Term of Five Months.

Editor of THE TIMES:

Dear Sir,—Following is a report of my school for the entire term of five months. Would be thankful if you can give it space in your excellent paper.

Number pupils enrolled for the term—boys, 18, girls, 18; total, 36.

Average daily attendance—boys, 12; girls, 14; total, 26. Per cent. of daily attendance—boys, 91 girls 93; total 90. Average age of boys 12 years, girls, 13; total, 12. One pupil neither absent nor tardy during whole term, Elmer Duncan.

Studies pursued and number of pupils in each.—Spelling, 36, 1st Reader, 2, 2d Reader, 5, 3d Reader, 10, 5th Reader, 12; Writing, 7; Geography, 19; English Grammar, 5; Language Lessons, 6; Arithmetic, 13; U. S. History, 3; General History, 2; Physiology, 3; Book-Keeping, 2.

A swollen Lillie Buckley, 8 years ... great success. ... learned the ... multiplication ... perfectly; and, not content with ... added the 12's to the list and ... the Roman Notation. This school ... numbers seven bright boys and girls, ... each deserving special mention.

It has been the ... interest, most pleasant, and, I think, the most ... profitable of my life. With sincere ... hope we may all meet in Heaven, ... where we "never say 'good-bye.'"

A. S. Overholt, Teacher.

Seventy-First Birthday

The Youth's Companion will celebrate the seventy-first birthday in 1897. Among the many attractive announcements of the Companion for the coming year is an article of exceptional value by Mr. Andrew Carnegie on "The History of Thrift." Mr. Carnegie's life well second Mr. Carnegie's paper with valuable, practic articles based on their own experience and valuable to the old as well as the young.

Stories will be given by Rudyard Kipling, Rudyard Kipling, Frank R. Stockton, Hamlin Garland, Herbert, Senator Lodge, Hon. Carl Schurz, Postmaster-General Wilson, Dr Lyman Abbott, Hon. Theodore Roosevelt—these are a few of the two hundred names that figure in the latest list of Companion contributors.

The non-partisan Editorials and the Current Events and Nature and Science Departments are of especial interest to students and to all who wish to keep informed of the doings of the world. Any reference book a file of Companions is well-nigh invaluable for it frequently is founded on seventy years of tested accuracy.

New subscribers sending $1.75 to the Companion for 1897 will receive the Companion for the remainder of the year free, also the Companion's artistic twelve-color Calendar, and the paper a full year to January, 1898. Illustrated Prospectus of the next volume will be sent free upon request.

Address,

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION,
205 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.

ONE of the brightest minds of the 19th century, in reflecting on the subject of bankruptcy during a season of monetary disturbance, indulged in reflections like the following:

"All the bankruptcies of commerce are harmless compared with a bankruptcy of public morals. Should the Atlantic Ocean break over our shores and spread itself across to the Pacific, sweeping every vestige of cultivation and buying our wealth, it would be a mercy compared to that ocean-deluge of dishonesty and crime which sweeping over the whole land has spared our wealth but taken our virtue. What are corn-fields and vineyards, what are shores and manufactures, and what are gold and silver and all the precious commodities of the earth among beasts? —and what are men bereft of consciences and a proper sense of honor but beasts?"

THE West Virginian, of Charleston, says. There are now over 200 cars of mixed side-tracked by the C. & O. at South Heffner, and over 2,800 cars between here and Newport News. This is some indication of the enormous amount of wheat that is being shipped over the C. & O. railroad, but it gives only a faint idea of the total amount that has been shipped of late. Nine big freight steamers belonging to the C. & O. are busy carrying the grain to the European markets. Several "tramp" steamers have been procured and the grain now side-tracked along the line is but the surplus that these steamers have to carry. The cause of this unusual run of wheat over the road is that the lakes too stormy to ship grain over, and the C. & O. has undertaken to head the Western crop, intended for European and Northern ports, across to the seaboard. The Norfolk and Western has taken the same contract with the north.

MR HAWKINS (in the library)—Most extraordinary thing I ever heard of! Am I awake, or is this merely a dream?"

"Mrs Hawkins—"Goodness, Jeremiah, what has happened?"

Mr. Hawkins—Here 's a magazine that has n't got an article about Grover Cleveland, or Napoleon.—Cleveland Leader.

"I AM tired to death," declared Mrs Yeastcake, as she reached home from town the other evening. "What 's the matter?" asked her husband. "Been buying, buying, buying, and what 's the use? I 've no way of taking them instantaneously with me, you know. How let-a-way to do it?" These hours and a half."

BORES says he made a friendly call on you last evening, Major."

"Nothing friendly about it. He stuffed my full hand with his horny claws and went away with all the money in the house.

ANOTHER: Have you any suggestions for the study, Mr. Crayon-Sketch? Mr Crayon-Sketch: Only that it would be known. Great thinkers I understand are generally found in a brown study.

Pay your subscription.

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, Feb. 12, 1897.

Subscription ONE DOLLAR in advance. If not paid within the year $1.50 will be charged.

Entered at the post office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

We are glad to note that the Senate refuses to confirm some nominations made by Cleveland Democratic belters to positions of emolument.

CONGRESS has been working on a universal bankrupt law. We have not had one heretofore does not seem to be clearly understood.

THAT New York society be comes more and more lax as time creeps on is conceded by every authority. There is hardly a vice but what [illegible] more or less openly by [illegible] circle of the [illegible] nation. Where will it end?

W. J. BRYAN has given up his lecture tour. As a matter of fact it was a failure. This goes to prove that our position was just, and that our work and enthusiasm of the last campaign were for the cause and not for any one man.

THE Dingley Bill for the revision of the tariff is now nearing completion. Its object is reciprocacy and the raising of $50,000,000 more revenue. It seems to partake as much of the Wilson Tariff law as it does of the McKinley Bill. Everything that the farmer raises will be protected, whether it needs it or not.

THE LEGISLATURE.

One of the most important measures proposed is that which Hon John A. Howard, of Wheeling, is trying to have passed. It is that each county bear its own criminal expenses. As the law is now, the counties bear the expense of preceding against persons indicted of misdemeanors, and the State pays the expenses of a felony procedure. The money collected from State licenses goes a great way towards paying these charges, and it is a noticeable fact that those counties which pay into the treasury the most money for licenses, which is constituted to a great extent of saloon licenses, have the heaviest criminal charges. So far as our county is concerned, tho it pays very little license money, it would do well to bear the expenses of the felony trials, for we have very few in the course of a year. Those sections where lawlessness seems to be the rule, as in Mingo, where the criminal docket has over a thousand untried cases, get the benefit of the law as it now stands.

The partisan newspapers say that the Republican members espoused the negro members social cause because it was an open question whether they loved him or not, and that this action set his doubts and fears at rest. They needed to do it, for the patron, employer, and supporter of the negro in this country is his old master or his descendants, who are born Democrats, and who are liked by the negro better than those of their own political faith.

Chris Payne made one of the best speeches in the legislature, when somebody offered a resolution pledging the legislature to economic action. Which was a good deal like a private individual saying: "Well, now, you would n't think it, but I intend to act honestly!" Payne showed them pretty conclusively that they were supposed to be honorable men, and that advertising themselves to do the only thing they were elected capable of doing had a good deal of the ridiculous about it. We have always held that Payne would not be the least able man of the body.

The town of Monaghan wants to be a county seat so badly as any town ever heard of, and so every nerve is strained to gain the day. Retaining the new county of Augusta. It is a wonderful section, rich in oil and coal, and is destined among four counties to sell. West Augusta, Monroe, Summers and Monongalia. Two counties being already in, Monroe and Monongalia fight the bill on the constitutional grounds that no county shall be formed with less than 400 square miles. The other counties object on the ground of being [illegible] We suppose that the new county [illegible] struggle how to divide [illegible] it might [illegible] to be established.

There are [illegible] very honest men who are [illegible] the Republican party [illegible] embarrassment, in [illegible] isolating the [illegible] fee system by which a num[illegible] State officers get five times [illegible] they would [illegible] salary as [illegible] work for; but [illegible]

Trustee's Sale

OF

Valuable Real Estate,

Situate in the Counties of Webster, Pocahontas, and Randolph, in the State of West Virginia.

By virtue of a deed of trust made by Marsenus H. Briggs and Elizabeth W. Briggs, his wife, to me as [illegible]

General school fund.	207,726 99
The school fund....	286,126 88
Total.....	$1,149,462 32
The State out of the State fund owes to the counties, districts, and municipalities, on account of R. R. tax just paid in the sum of	269,922 40
Leaving to the credit of the State fund for general State purposes the sum of.....	$ 375,686 05

REV. T. DEWITT TALMAGE

In one of his wonderful sermons very truthfully said, "My brother, your trouble is not with the heart; it is a gastric disorder or a rebellious liver. It is not sin that blots out your hope of heaven, but bile that not only yellows your eyeballs and furs your tongue and makes your head ache but swamps upon your soul in dejection and forebodings,"—and Talmage is right! All this trouble can be remove[illegible] You can be cured!

How? By using

Safe Cure

We can give you incontrovertible proof from men and women, former sufferers.

But to-day well, and stay so.

There is no doubt of this. Twenty years experience proves our words true.

Write to-day for free testimonial book. Warner's Safe Cure Co., Rochester, N. Y.

NOTICE

Big Auction Sale of New Goods!

I will be in Marlinton on Tuesday and Wednesday, the 30 and 31 days of MARCH, 1897,

COUNTY COURT DAYS.

with the largest and best stock of goods that I have ever sold at auction in the county, consisting of —

Dry Goods, ladies' dress Goods, Notions, Boots Shoes Rubber Hats, Caps, Men's and Boys' Clothing Underwear of all kinds, Comforts and Blankets. $500 worth o Lidies and Childrens

CLOAKS AND CAPES!

all Sizes, Latest Styles.

Keep your eye on the Cloaks and Capes, for there are bargains and comfort in them.

MARLINTON

FURNITURE FACTORY

AND

Furniture Store.

Fine Furniture Made to Order.

STOCK ALWAYS ON HAND.

I am occupying the Temporary Court-house and am prepared to make to order all kinds of Furniture at lower prices than can be obtained elsewhere. Don't be cheated in Furniture but buy from a reliable cabinet maker who works up the native woods.

I can order you furniture from the city at better terms than you can to save your life. Whenever you need anything in my line you will save money by giving me a call.

W. J. Killingsworth.

800 Bushels of Good Seed Oats are for Sale at GOLDEN'S.

A $5.00 LOOK MOTHERS A RARE TREAT FOR YOU ALL. $2.76

Boys Sampson Suit, with Extra Pair of Pants, for

AND WE PAY EXPRESS CHARGES TO YOUR DOOR.

REMEMBER, you buy direct from one of the largest Wholesale Clothing Manufacturers in America, and save the middle man's profits.

The above mentioned $5.76 Boys Sampson Suit with Extra Pants is guaranteed to be made from an imported Wool Cheviot, Jet Black, Dark Blue, Oxford Grey and Olive Brown, in sizes from 12 to 19 years of age. They are made up as per cut below to double breasted with Silver Coffee, faced with wide turnech Braid, lined with a fast Black Albert Twill Sateen Lining, Trimming and Workmanship throughout the best manufactured. Coat has a Side Pockets, a Top and Cash Pocket, Patent Waist Bands used on all Pants, also Fitted Pockets on all Pants.

In Sizes from 12 to 19 years of age made up as per opposite cut, Double Breasted with extra Pants at same Price $2.76. Express paid C. O. D. subject to examination by your depot.

In sending send either Post Office or Express Money Order or Registered Letter. Should you not be satisfied with your purchase after examination, return same within 10 days of Buy or before Monday and if same is not satisfactory we will refund your money or send you another suit for his age.

Ages from 4 to 14 years

FREE TO EVERYBODY our Illustrated Priced Catalogue in which you will find Boys Suits from $1.00 up, Youths' Long Pants Suits from $3.00 up and Mens Suits from $6.50 up.

H. ROSENBURGER & CO., 204 E. 103d St., New York C

LIGHTNING HOT DROPS

CURES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhoea, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.

HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Bites of Animals and Bugs, etc.

Relieves Sweat Sores Quick.

BREAKS UP A COLD.

The Greatest Medicinal Whiskey the World has Ever Known.

BRADDOCK PURE RYE.

BRADDOCK PURE RYE.

TRY A GALLON AT $2.00

Mail Orders solicited either great or small and receive our personal and prompt attention. Drop us a postal for price list. Don't use inferior goods but mail us your orders, we can save you money and perhaps your health.

JAS CLARK DISTILLING CO., JNO. McQUAIDE Mngr.

Distillers of Braddock Pure Rye, Wholesale and Retail Liquor Dealers.

20 and 22 South New St., Staunton, Va.

Duke! Duke!

HIGH GRADE BICYCLES!

1896 Model.

Frame long head and wheel base. Made from best cold drawn steel tubing, narrow tread 28inch wheels, Wood Rims, Nickeled Spokes, M and W. Quick-Repair Tire. All connections drop forged steel. Ball bearing to every part; bearings made from the best steel, tempered and ground, dust proof, 6 inch cranks, Rat trap or Rubber Peddles, one-fourth inch Humber Chain with hagglened rivets and centers. Drop-forged steel sprockets, T pattern saddle post, Garford Saddle, 68 inch gear, weight 24 lbs.

Price, $50.00.

1895 Model Duke, 27lbs., Price, $40.00

A full and complete stock of Bicycle Sundries and Repairs, eye lometers, Lamps, Bells, &c. Repairing of all kinds a specialty

Send us your broken bicycles and we can make them good as new

RESPECTFULLY,

RONCEVERTE, W VA Eagle AND Ott.

CLOSING OVT SALE!

Intending to remove from Marlinton as soon as I can get my business closed out, I will sell my present stock of goods at a lower rate than goods have ever been sold here before. Come in and get bargains.

All persons owing me will call and settle, or their accounts will be placed in the hands of an officer.

S. W. HOLT

MARLINTON, W. VA.

Order of Publication.

J. B. PATTERSON, Clerk.

NOTICE TO TAKE DEPOSITIONS.

State of West Virginia, County of Pocahontas, to wit:

At rules held in the Clerk's office of the County Court for said county, on Monday, January 4th, 1897.

Quintilla M. Barnett, Plaintiff vs. A. G. Barnett, Defendant.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree by the plaintiff divorcing the bonds of matrimony with the defendant and to suppress from subsequent use, that the defendant, A. G. Barnett, is a non-resident of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that the depositions of witnesses may be taken either before the Clerk of this Court or before a Commissioner appointed for that purpose, of time and place, and that it is necessary to publish this order.

Witness, J. B. Patterson, Clerk of said Court, this 4th day of January, 1897.

J. B. PATTERSON, Clerk.

NOTICE TO TAKE DEPOSITIONS.

To A. G. Barnett, take notice, that on the 20th day of February, A. D., 1897, between the hours of ten o'clock, a. m., and six o'clock p. m., of the residence of Quintilla M. Barnett, near Marlinton, in Pocahontas County, West Virginia, I will take the depositions of several witnesses, to be read as evidence in my behalf, in a certain suit in chancery now pending in the Circuit Court of the County of Pocahontas, and State of West Virginia, in which I am plaintiff and you are defendant.

If from any cause the taking of said depositions shall not be commenced or completed on the day aforesaid, the same shall be continued to such day, or from time to time, as may be found necessary or convenient, the same hours, and the same place as aforesaid.

Witness, J. B. Patterson, Clerk of said Court, this 4th day of January, 1897.

J. B. PATTERSON, Clerk.

M. S. Barlow, solicitor.

AL EVENTS.

EBRUARY 5, 1897.

O'Connell, of Loury's Mill, last week prospecting for railroad.

ason Barlow is preparing near Pine Grove, much of erial is on the ground.

Dr. Carver, on Stony received a fall a short time ich has caused her consid- suffering.

Hatfield murder case in County was continued to t term of court. Bail was two cases, McGlaughlin's rs Uriah Brewer, admr., s vs J. B. Lockridge et als, bmitted and are now in the of the Supreme Court.

ETER GUY told the minister, e had finished saying grace, e pops back a different kind ssing. That when he came e just sat down and said, ord, what a supper!"

SPATCH from Topeka, Kan- nounces the death in that Samuel stone, who wrote eds of the song "Wait for gon, and we'll all take a " a song heard in every sold forty years ago.

DAY, the 19th, will be a mem- day with the Pine Grove Miss Flora Moore, teacher, Hill, Mr Peck, teacher, and Anson, Grant Smith, teach- the closing day of the pres- hool term at each place.

trial of Mason Green for g a mule comes up this in the Bath County Court. e A. Revercomb, of Coving- is his counsel. He has had witnesses summoned on his . R. K. Burns, who arrest. s in the county, has gone to t the trial.

ac J. Hoover, proprietor of Hoover House, in Staunton, last Sunday of heart failure a long illness. He was a n of Shenandoah County, and about 65 years of age. He fine record as a soldier in Confederate army, and was a as as a hotel man.

appears from well authenti- tradition that the late Sam- Mathews and Levi Moore, committee to select a site for ast Court House, recommend- e location near the new resi- e of Mr Geo. Baxter. The ex- e of the County is said to Ponge's Lane. The centre of dation would fall between Ed- ard Dilly's Mill, most proba-ge cession of man came very being a failure, only that ey undertook to watch over themselves. The chief trou- le he had to tend; Truth and ace objected, saying man will ttle your laws, also they will represent their people or their in advertisements. But I do exactly as I advertise. I ell you six pounds of coffee one dollar. See! The best ever saw to saw with I ever was caught by a blind man for at the Golden Store.

ses W. Reader and Miss Ber- ie, of Kimball, Page County, eloped and went to Hagers- n, to be married. A license was ly procured, and the ceremo- was performed by Rev George acon, at the Reeder House. It ed that Miss Fox, determined ade the vigilance of protect- parents, followed them a second r window at the house Sunday ht, and after walking three s in her stocking feet in the , joined her future husband boarded a train for Hagers- but to the absence of the girl discovered.

BERT LUTLE and a force of have been getting out ballast on a farm below Ravenswood. e engineer about the rocks s verbally young Lutle un- ome skeletons from the h the rock. In search of ey unearthed what is a near- e of the aforesaid Indians. was in a near- e of the conversation, the other two were in a fair- ed stage. Fortune with the ing at 4 lying near. The ems were to be perfect — ngs of sinew, very plain ex- ation. Young Lutle came e engineer and the other one a pell- ood, showing age and hill- ere now nearing up ancient country thereabouts.

West Virginia delicacy that is only good to eat but easy to get at any eating house in the land- Oysters. Who has not heard about oyster stews by the pound at stuffed heating of the old cast- stove in the kitchen, heating ersome. A recent country-store ner there was a bubbling and a ter- ing of soft, with a quart of d flour; use the hand to mix ough; never mix to make a ft dough; let the dough lie a second time; knead and ll it is light; put into pans; ke in a moderate oven and ember. This heating ot at least half an hour; the dough is properly made ll it stands as large as an ordi- loaf; when it is baked as in- ormer case.

WANTED. Twelve good men at my camp, at once.
W. McClintic.

Stock in the Bank of Ronceverte, recently sold at public auction, brought from $115 to $127.

Baltimore Conference, M. E. Church, will be held this year at Staunton, Va., beginning on Wednesday, March 24th.

Mas H. W. Brazier's hotel at Fayetteville, W. Va., run by Evans & Tunsell, was totally destroyed by fire, February 2d. The loss is stated to be $15,000; insurance $10,000.

The wheat crop of Australia for the coming harvest is short. United States Consul Bell, at Sydney, in a report to the State Department, supplies details as follows: "The crop falls so short of the usual as to reduce Australia from her position as the sixth wheat-exporting country on the globe to about the eleventh place. From being an exporter of about 12,000,000 per year, Australia will have to import not less than 6,000,000 to supply the deficiency."

Excessive Caution.—I hope, Jennie, that you have given the matter serious consideration," said a lady to 'a servant-girl who had "given notice" because she was to be married "that day two weeks. "Oh, I have ma'am," was the correct reply. "I've been to two fortune-tellers, and a clairvoyant, and looked in a sigh-book, and dreamed on a lock of his hair, and been to one of these astrologers, and to a mesjun, and they all say to go ahead, ma'am. I ain't one to marry reckless like ma'am."—Harper's Bazaar.

The sleepy inhabitant of Marlinton, who lives near the banks of the river, probably heard the ice go crashing by last Saturday night and learned the next day that the gorge passed this point about midnight. The ice went out of Knapps Creek Saturday afternoon. The old rule concerning break ups in the river was that one before Christmas indicated two after, making a severe winter. This breaking being the first of the winter, and it occurring in February, it may be expected that the back of the winter is broken and the river will not be frozen up again. This is taken in connection with the fact that we had a cloudy "ground-hog day" argues well for a speedy release from winter.

Engine 74 on the Chesapeake & Ohio Road recently earned the name of the man killer. This engine, within the past month, has killed no less than six people. Two ladies and their escort, while returning home from a party in a vehicle, were killed at Concord by being struck by the engine; two men were killed at Maysville and a third victim of the 74 was a man who was killed at Augusta, Ky., two weeks ago. The accidents were not in any instance the fault of the engineer. The C. & O. has an engine numbered 13, which has never killed any one, and has never been in an accident of any sort. So much for numbers.—The Hinton Republican.

Col. Tuke, of the Staunton Spectator and Vindicator, has a friend in Pocahontas who has a rusty nail in keeping, which will be presented on sight, with due formalities. The Colonel is highly deserving of this keep sake for the choice tid-bit of logical pleasantry, recently published demonstrating the election of Mr Bryan to the presidency. It is to this effect, certain dire results were contingent on the election of Mr Bryan, the predicted results all more have materialized, therefore Mr Bryan must have been elected. The next thing in order will be to designate the ways and means of Mr Bryan's inauguration, in order to honor this logical "pen d' esprit," still further.

During these cold days the engineers of fast express trains often feel a little uneasy while thinking of the possibilities of striking a broken rail. The big heavy express trains that go thundering over the road, striking the rails with tremendous force at every revolution, are liable to be hurled from their elevation by the snapping of a frost-effected bar of steel, and such a catastrophe always comes without the least warning, and its results are fearful to contemplate. It is a hard matter to find fault with a train load or a thousand miles of road without occasional flaws, which are difficult to locate, and when one of these weak places is made still weaker by frost, it is impossible to give any positive notice to the wheels. These cold days are very near the perfect, but accidents which cannot be guarded against. Another sleet storm are now being prepared, and add to the safety limit, so they will signal a greater amount of time to give engineers a greater degree of confidence. Huntington Republican.

Married.

At the residence of the bride's father, Mr Alvin Clark, near Anneslee, on Wednesday, February 3rd, by Rev William T. Price, Mr Andrew Price, of Marlinton, to Miss Jessie Leigh Clark. A large concourse of friends and relatives witnessed the auspicious event.

Try your pulse before

Rogers, Sharpe & Co.

DUNMORE.

Snow, rain and high water.

We have six deaths to report. John Gilford's child on January 26, aged five months. Harvey Carry on Jan. 27, aged 83. Mrs John Wilfong on Jan. 30, aged 40. Huston Ervine on Feb. 2, aged 17. Peter W. Carpenter on Feb. 7, aged 70. Miss Elsa Riley on Jan. 29, aged 13.

There is still a good deal of sickness. William Carpenter is quite ill at this writing.

Arthur Noel is off on a trip to Driscol to see the Doctor.

Reeto Pritchard is off to the Hot Springs for his sister Ella, who has been gone for five or six months.

Ellis Curry has half sold his dig sled, its a girl!

Mrs Eal McLaughlin and child are on the sicklist.

W. B. Hannah was in town on Thursday.

Auctioneer Sweeker will sell Mr. Lee Nottingham's personal property, on February 26th.

Geo. Taylor and Elliot Carpenter are back from the side of Webster.

Wm. Sheets is off to Staunton.

John Rock is up on a visit.

John A. McLaughlin will close his school at Green Bank this week.

LAUREL CREEK.

Plenty of snow, and roads in a fine fix for sledding. Andy Campbell and Bill Shelton were out all last week sledding lumber.

W. McClintic's team was out last week hauling lumber, and we are truly sorry to learn, that one of his best horses died of spasmodic colic.

Miss Clarice Shearer was down to H. Nathan's on a visit last week.

We have been having a good many domino parties around here and the young people seem to enjoy them very much.

The Pocahontas Times is a weekly paper, but if we should fail to get it this week we will excuse the editor!

Grandpap McLaughlin, of Marlinton, was out last week, and the snow fell so fast that he began to think he would be snowed under.

A good deal of sickness in this neighborhood.

DILLEY'S MILL.

News is rather scarce is this part. We have had a severe cold snap, but we hope to have fairer weather soon, as the ground hog failed to see his shadow.

John Shrader made a trip to Millboro on the coldest days of the winter.

Miss Wamsley, of Randolph, and Miss Daisy Yeager have been visiting at Dilley's Mill.

Rev Clutterbuck preached two sermons at Mt. Zion on Sunday.

N. C. McNeil, E. A. Smith, J. W. Grimes, and George Whiting were appointed members of the Pocahontas committee of the Inaugural Society, representing Pocahontas county for the inauguration of Governor Atkison at Charleston on March 4.

Miss Florence Hively closed her school on Friday and came home on Saturday.

The sick are improving.

Rev Arbogast was a caller in this part.

People are preparing to make sugar. This year will doubtless be a good year, owing to the hard freezing.

Aunt Betsy McLaughlin had a severe stroke of paralysis, at C. L. Moore's, on Brown Creek; no hopes of her recovery.

Born, to Mr and Mrs G. S. Weiford, a son.

We congratulate the Times on its improvement. We can now boast of a good, reliable county paper.

Hanson Sharp, who is very well known in camps as a cook, is in Central America and expects to remain there some time.

A. L. Dilley has returned from Texas, and is visiting at Marlinton.

Laura Jean Libby.

50 lbs. of Coal

A day would keep your rooms warm in winter. But that small stove will burn only seven days. Hence, discomfort and misery.

A certain amount of fat, burned daily, would keep your body warm and healthy. But your digestion is bad and you don't get it from ordinary food. Hence you are chilly, you catch cold easily, you have coughs and shivers; while pneumonia, bronchitis, or consumption make you with no resistive power.

Do this. Burn better fuel. Use SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil. Appetite and digestive power will revive; and you'll have a warm coating of good flesh to protect the vital organs against the cold and the body against disease.

Two sizes, 50 cts. and $1.00
Don't live for the asking.
SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

Notice.

We hereby notify all persons not to trespass on our land, by hunting, driving down fences or in any manner whatsoever.

Rogers, Sharpe & Co.

Obituary.

Died, at the residence of her son, George M. Kee, near Marlinton, February 1, 1897, Mrs Ruth Kee, relict of the late William Kee, in the 80th year of her age; born April 21, 1817. She was the youngest daughter of William and Sally McCollum, of Stony Creek. Mrs Kee was an excellent person in all the relations of life—daughter, wife, mother, and neighbor. For sixty years she was a professing Christian, and most of that time in the pale of the M. P. Church. She survived her husband more than 26 years, he having died December 25, 1869. Two sons and a daughter mourn her death; Mrs Matilda Apperson, George M. Kee, Esq., near Marlinton, and Hon William L. Kee, of Washington City. Her remains were placed in the Buckley grave-yard, attended by many sympathizing friends. "The Lord gave and the Lord has taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord."

W. T. P.

Died, at his home on Jackson River, west of the Warm Springs, Va., February 1st, 1897, Judge J. W. Warwick, in the 84th year of his age, having been born April 22, 1813.

He graduated at Washinton College, and then attended the University of Virginia in 1833-2. His first wife was Miss Ella Hyde, of Rockbridge. Her sons were John, Andrew, and James Woods, who are citizens of Pocahontas at this time. His second marriage was to Miss Eliza Jane Gatewood, daughter of Col Warwick Gatewood, of Bath County. The children of this union were Mrs. Mary Gatewood, of Linnwood, W. Va., Mrs Lillie Frazier, of Rockbridge Alum. Mrs J. W. Stephenson, Warm Springs, Mrs J. H. McClintic, of the Hot Springs; Charles Williams, who died in 1894; Mrs James Reid, of Richmond, Va.; and Miss Celestine B. Warwick.

He has filled many positions of trust during his life, justice of the peace, judge of the courts of Bath and Highland, member of the Board of Supervisors several terms and much of the time the presiding officer. He was a ruling elder in his church for 27 years.

On the 18th of last July he was stricken with paralysis, and since then his death has been almost daily anticipated.

The Bath News, from which we have gathered the foregoing particulars, pays this tribute to the memory of this good man: "His passing beyond was quiet and peaceful and age and sickness combined to make it a glorious release. In his death the church loses an elder, cherished and respected; the county loses a man who has served her often, ably, and well; we miss a kind, generous friend; the family mourns an affectionate and indulgent father; and the wife grieves for a brave, true, and loving husband. The most sincere sympathy is felt for them, and the hope that the promise of our God may assuage the sufferings of the separation."

After an illness of several weeks, resulting from two or more strokes of paralysis, and the natural infirmities of nearly eighty years, James Ewart Renick died at his home near Falling Spring, Greenbrier County, January 29th, 1897, aged 78 years, 7 months, and 12 days. In his death Greenbrier loses one of her best citizens, the people among whom he lived an excellent neighbor and friend, and the Presbyterian church at Falling Spring a ruling elder and a strong pillar of support. He was a grandson of Major William Renick, who came to Greenbrier from Augusta County among the first settlers of this trans-Alleghany region, and a son of William Renick, Esq., who was born at Falling Spring, in 1792. The fine farm of one thousand acres, known as the "Cave" farm, on which Mr Renick lived and died, has been in the possession and ownership of the Renick family for fully 100 years.

Sunday afternoon, after appropriate funeral ceremonies, his body was consigned to the grave in the bury-ground, at Falling Spring, in the presence of a very large concourse of sorrowing friends and neighbors.—Greenbrier Independent.

Notice.

All parties endebted to the late Pocahontas Herald on subscription, will settle before the 25th of Feb. 1897, and save costs.

Dilworth W. Slavin.

Marlinton, W. Va.

$25 Reward.

I will pay the above sum for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who wilfully and maliciously shot the cow of my child on Locust Creek.

Harp. Galford.

I have given Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a fair test and consider it one of the very best remedies in use for colds, coughs and croup and cheerfully recommend it to all. One dose has always been sufficient, while I use it freely. And only my children realize how very quickly it has relieved them of croup. I am the mother of seven children.—Mrs. E. Wolfe, Clerk of the Circuit Court Fordsville, Ky. Sold by druggists.

Green Bank.

There is still a great deal of sickness in this neighborhood. There are several new cases and the old ones are hanging on without much change, and the Doctors are kept quite busy.

Died: last Tuesday evening, Houston Ervine, eldest son of Mr and Mrs Wm. Ervine, of pneumonia, after a week's illness.

J. C. Ashford has returned home from camp, where he has been at work for sometime.

Miss Susie Simmons, one of Marlinton's most accomplished young ladies, is visiting at Mr Will Gladwell's of this place.

Sandie Burner, of Travelers Repose, was visiting his sister, Mrs. P. D. Arbogast, at Arborvale, last week.

W. W. Arbogast, of this place, started to Beverly last, but owing to the snowdrifts on Cheat Mountain, had to return.

Mr John Gum met with quite a serious accident yesterday, while cutting trees. He was struck on the head by a limb and unconscious for some time. Mohican.

Knapp's Creek.

It has been raining, snowing, blowing and getting cold. The rain on Saturday raised the water considerably.

The sick are improving.

It is well enough to have a "black sheep" in a flock sometimes, but I don't know how it would be in the Legislature.

Dr Lockridge is threatened with pneumonia, but we hope he will be able to be about soon.

J. A. Moore has his bay mare.

Wise Harold was at Huntersville on business, last week.

Food seems to be plenty in this part yet.

They say that sour pickles increase love, but school teachers don't need them.

It seems that the groundhog saw his shadow.

Sindy Sue.

Driscol.

There will be singing at Driscol next Sunday, as announced at the last meeting of the class. Mr White not being present, it was agreed to by the class to have singing in two weeks, if agreeable to all parties; and it fell upon the President pro tem to see to this. Mr B. F. White objects strongly to the arrangement, saying it would destroy the organ.

Harry Wissinger, who has been sick at the Rimel House of pneumonia, is on foot once more.

Smith & Whiting are almost done skidding logs.

M. O'Farrell is dangerously ill with lumbago.

Uriah Gum, of Anthony's Creek, killed five bear in the last snow, and yet it was not a good snow for bear hunting.

Mr Groundhog is out,—so says Jake McLaughlin.

We were all glad to see Charley Stein never out again.

Dick.

Personal Mention.

We regret to hear that J. C. Gay near Edray, has been ill for some weeks, from the prevailing influenza.

Miss Maud Eskridge, who has taught a successful school at Mt. Pleasant, will close her school on Friday, 12th inst.

Henry Barlow, Esqr., near Edray, has been quite indisposed for some days, but is gradually convalescing. Other members of his family are sick, also.

L. D. Sharp, the genial and enterprising young merchant of Linwood, was in town Wednesday, and was a welcome visitor to our office. Mr Sharp is a hustler, and has achieved a well-deserved success.

Fairview Celebration.

A celebration of Washington's birthday will be held at the Fairview school house, near Edray, on February 22nd. The school has secured suitable literature and flags for the occasion.

The day will be taken up as following: The morning will be spent in playing football and other out door exercise, and the after noon in suitable essays, dialogs, speeches declamations and orations, intermingled with songs. The mothers will please bring an extra biscuit or two in the dinner on that morning, for the friends who attend the exercises.

Patriotism cannot be cultivated too much in our public schools, and no day in the year offers a better opportunity for patriotic lessons—lessons that leave a lasting impression on the children's minds.

X. Y. Z.

A few months ago Mr Byron Every, of Woodstock, Mich., was afflicted with rheumatism. His leg was swollen the full length, causing him great suffering. He was advised to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The first bottle of it helped him considerably and the second bottle effected a cure. You can not do more than try it. For sale by druggists.

Valuable Land for Rent.

A valuable grazing farm of more than 400 acres for rent on reasonable terms and with good house. Will rent on time to suit the purchaser.

For further information call on or address

Allen B. McLaughlin,
Chf Edray, W. Va.

WE PAY POSTAGE.

Free of all charges, we will mail to anyone our advance illustrated catalog for 1897 (just issued.) It contains 554 illustrations of Furniture, Carpets, Lace Curtains, Bedding, Stoves, lamps, Refrigerators, Baby Carriages, etc. You save the middleman's profits by trading with the manufacturer, as you are paying retail dealers double our prices. Drop a postal now for our money-saver.

Julius Hines & Son, Baltimore, Md.

Your accounts are footed up, ready for settlement. Please call on me at my place of business and pay what you owe. I cannot carry your accounts from year to year. Pay as you go and keep even.

Very respectfully,

Jan. 8, 1897. S. B. Moore.

Order of Publication.

State of West Virginia, } ss.
Pocahontas County, }

At rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on Monday, the 1st day of February, 1897.

Wm. M. McAllister ..... Plaintiff

vs.

Mary Florence Adams, Thomas Adams, her husband, and C. R. McDannald, Executor of Mary C. Bias, deceased, ... Defendants.

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree against the defendant, Mary Florence Adams, for the sum of $626.08, with interest from the 1st day of January, 1885, on $497.26 part thereof, and the cost of this proceeding; to require C. R. McDannald, Executor of Mary C. Bias deceased, to sell the remainder of the lands devised to him for that purpose and apply the interest of said Mary Florence Adams to the discharge pro tanto of said debt, and to attach said proceeds and said interests in his hands; and to attach the undivided interest of said Mary Florence Adams as an heir of Margaret Gatewood, deceased, in the lands in Pocahontas County, whereof the said Margaret Gatewood died seized and possessed, to wit: The undivided one-half interest in 1,000 acres, lying on Big Spring Run, in Pocahontas County, and to have a sale made of said undivided interest, and the proceeds applied to the discharge of said debt.

This day came the plaintiff, by his attorneys; and on their motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed that the said defendants, Mary Florence Adams, Thomas Adams, and C. R. McDannald, Executor of Mary C. Bias, deceased, are non-residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order, and do what is necessary to protect their interests in this suit.

Teste:

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
Wm. M. & J. T. McAllister, p. q.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

State of West Virginia, } ss.
Pocahontas County, }

At Rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on Monday, February 1st, 1897.

William M. McAllister, ... Plaintiff.

vs.

Levi Gay, late Sheriff of Pocahontas County, and as such administrator of J. W. W. Bias, deceased; Kate E. Cowan (nee Bias), wife of ——— Cowan; Mary Florence Adams (nee Bias), wife of Thomas Adams; Margaret S. Long (nee Bias) wife of — Long; and Warwick G. Bias, heirs at law of said J. W. W. Bias and said Thomas Adams, — Long, and — Cowan, C. R. McDannald, Executor of Mary C. Bias and Eliza J. Warwick, and J. V. Warwick, her husband ..... Defendants.

The object of this suit is to have a decree against the Administrator, J. W. W. Bias, in favor of plaintiff for $372.17 with legal interest thereon from the 1st day of January, 1885, till paid, due by bond, less $36.28 paid December 15, 1886, and to have sale of undivided interest in the residue of a tract of 1,000 acres devised by M. C. Bias to be sold, and the interest of said J. W. W. Bias in another tract of 374 acres and a tract of 200 acres devised of said M. C. Bias, and, if necessary, a sale of the interest of said J. W. W. Bias' estate in the one half interest in the residue of said tract of land of 1,000 acres whereof Margaret Gatewood died seized and possessed.

This day came the plaintiff by his attorneys, and on their motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed that the said defendants, Kate E. Cowan and ——— Cowan, her husband; Mary Florence Adams and Thomas Adams, her husband; Margaret S. Long and ——— Long, her husband; Warwick G. Bias, C. R. McDannald, Executor of Mary C. Bias; Eliza J. Warwick and J. V. Warwick, her husband, are not residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the date of the first publication of this order, and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit.

Teste:

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
Wm. M. & J. T. McAllister, p. q.

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED BIDS will be received by the undersigned at his office in the town of Marlinton, W. Va., until 12 o'clock m., March 2, 1897, for putting up and keeping in tollable order 9 miles of the Huntersville and Warm Springs Turnpike road, commencing at the residence of Mrs Carter and extending to the State line on top of Allegheny Mountain, for the period of 8 years.

All bids to be accompanied with a bond in the penalty of $500.00, conditioned for the faithful keeping up of said road, and the return of said road, at the end of 5 years, to this Court in good tollable order.

The Court reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

S. L. Brown, Clerk County Court.

Mr Ward L. Smith, of Fredricktown, Mo., was troubled with chronic diarrhoea for over thirty years. He had become fully satisfied that it was only a question of a short time until he would have to give up. He had been treated by some of the best physcians of Europe and America but got no permanent relief. One day he picked up a paper and chanced to see an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He got a bottle of it, the first dose helped him and its continued use cured him. For sale by druggists.

Harvesting Machines.

I will furnish the JOHNSTON HARVESTERS and MOWERS this year from $40.00 to $45.00, according to the length of cut.

Yours respectfully,

C. J. HILL,
Agent.

LOBELIA, W. Va. [12 6m

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

State of West Virginia, } ss.
Pocahontas County, }

At rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on Monday, February 1st, 1897.

Clifton Forge Grocery Company, a corporation under the laws of Virginia ..... Plaintiff,

vs.

C. C. Arbogast, W. B. Ellis & Ellis partners trading as W. B. Ellis & Co., A. Sharp, G. G. Joyner and M. H. Witz, partners trading as Elbart, Joyner, & Co.; E. M. Brown, George Blome and George J. Blome, partners trading as George Blome & Sons; S. R. Sutton, H. S. Hacker, Charles P. Jones, J. H. Shears, J. W. Lukins, P. D. Arbogast, C. O. Tracy, Emma A. Tracy, J. Wesley Hevener, Old Dominion Building and Loan Association; and J. Taylor Ellyson and W. A. Bratton, Trustees ..... Defendants

The object of this suit is to subject the land of the defendant C. C. Arbogast, lying near Green Bank, in Pocahontas County, W. Va., being 181 acres, more or less, to the payment of the liens thereon, and for general relief. This day came the plaintiff by its attorney, and on his own motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed that the defendants, the Old Dominion Building and Loan Association, J. Taylor Ellyson, Trustee, and C. P. Jones, are non-residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the date of the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit.

Teste:

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
B. S. Rucker, p. q. 15

Lost! Lost! Lost!

Money Lost

by not trading with us. We mean business, as you will find if you give us a trial.

'The proof of the pudding is in the eating.'

Buy one bill of us for your own special benefit.

THE MONEY WE DO NOT SPEND PAYING TRAVELLING MENS' BILLS IS SHARED WITH OUR CUSTOMERS. WE SEEK NO TRADE THAT IS NOT OURS BY VIRTUE OF LOW PRICES AND HONEST GOODS. OUR REPUTATION AS Spot Cash Buyers bring us bargains that credit never saw. We give bargains; the prices tell the people, and the people tell the prices.

We will sell nice nails, from 4 to 20 penny at $2.50 per keg. Best Granulated Sugar at 5¢. Fancy Green Coffee at 10¢. Corn Starch 4 lbs. for 25¢. Elegant good Tobacco 20¢ to 50¢ per pound.

We will buy hides.

We will buy beeswax and for thoroughness the winter. Produce, do as I forget to give on your trade.

Yours truly,

L. D. Sharp,
LINWOOD, W. Va.

ahontas Times.

ERICK, EDITOR

Friday, Feb. 12, 1897.

ONE DOLLAR in ad- e paid within the year charged.

the post office at Marlin- as second class matter.

y Directory

..... J. M. McWhorter ney ..... L. M. McClintic ty Court ..... R. W. Hill ty Court ..... S. L. Brown it Court, J. H. Patterson ..... J. H. Buzzard

Co. Ct. { Amos Barlow C. S. Beard

Circ. Court { J. E. Warwick George Baxter

..... George P. Moon

y HEALTH—Dr. J. W. McClintic, M. J. Mc- Hill.

...Circuit Bird, Marlin- L. Gatewood, Linwood (Green, Beard; W. Hunterville; G. R. Cur- ; T. A. Bradley, Le-

COURTS.

COURT convenes on the ay in April, third Tues- , and third Tuesday in COURT convenes on the ay in January, March, and second Tuesday in y in levy term.

ness Rules.

subscriber orders his ontinued he is, of course, t the same time to pay arages.

ation will be paid to communications. You ign your real name, but always accompany your ation.

ch work our terms are pt in cases of merchants s with whom we have counts.

LAW CARDS.

...EIL, ...TORNEY AT LAW, ...RLINTON, W. VA.

...tice in the Courts of Poca- adjoining counties and in of Appeals of the State of

...CLINTIC, ...TORNEY AT LAW, ...RLINTON, W. VA.

...tice in the Courts of Poca- adjoining counties and in e Court of Appeals.

...CKER, ...LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC ...TERVILLE, W. VA.

...tice in the courts of Poca- nty and in the Supreme peals.

...BUCKLEY, ...ORNEY AT LAW, ...WISBURG, W. VA.

...tice in the courts of Green- ...ghes counties. Prompt ...ion to claims for collection ...he county.

...CATTON, ...ORNEY AT LAW, ...RLINTON, W. VA.

...tice in the courts of Poca- ...ining counties and in the ...

...E. PECK, ...ORNEY AT LAW. ...RLINTON, W. VA.

...ected as Treas Office. ...

...SCOTT, JR. ...LAWYER, ...RLINTON, W. VA.

...business ill receive prompt ...

...CK RIDGE, ...ORNEY AT LAW. ...TERVILLE, W. VA.

...and careful attention given ...k.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

...CAMPBELL, ...DENTIST, ...ONTEREY, VA.

...R. BENBOUTH, ...DENTIST, ...LKTON, W. VA.

...Pocahontas County every ...ll. The exact date of his ...appear in this paper.

...BENJAMIN M. D., ...SICIAN & SURGEON, ...LKTON, W. VA.

...at door to C. A. Yeager's ...ce. Calls promptly ...ght or day.

Poetry.

A Sermon in Rime.

"If you have a friend worth loving,
Love him. Yea and let him know
That you love him, ere life's evening
Tinge his brow with sunset glow.
Why should good words ne'er be said
Of a friend—till he is dead?

"If you hear a song that thrills you,
Sung by any child of song,
Praise it. Do not let the singer
Wait deserved praises long.
Why should one who thrills your heart
Lack the joy you may impart?

"If you hear a prayer that moves you,
By its humble, pleading tone,
Join it. Do not let the seeker
Bow before his God alone.
Why should not your brother share
The strength of "two or three" in prayer?

"If you see the hot tears falling
From a brother's weeping eyes,
Share them. Act by kindly sharing
Own your kinship with skies.
Why should any one be glad
When a brother's heart is sad?

"If a cheery laugh goes rippling
Through the sunshine on his face,
Share it. 'Tis the way the saying—
"For both grief and joy a place."
Oh, the health and good ness in the mirth
In which an honest laugh has birth.

"If your work is more easy
By a friendly helping hand,
Say so. Speak out brave and truly,
Ere the darkness veil the land.
Should a brother workman dear
Falter for a word of cheer?

"Scatter thus your seeds of kindness,
All enriching as you go;
Leave them. Trust the Harvest Giver,
He will make each seed to grow.
So, sure shall the happy time
Your life shall never lack a friend.
—Boston Globe.

BEWARE OF OINTMENTS FOR CATARRH THAT CONTAIN MERCURY,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely de- range the whole system when ent- ering it through the mucous sur- faces. Such articles should never be used except on perscriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to they good you can possively derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercu- ry, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mu- cous surfaces of the system. In buy- ing Hall's Catarrh Cure besure you get tee genuine. It is taken inter- nally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by druggists, price 75c per bottle.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Cripple

The iron grasp of scrofula has no mercy upon its victims. This demon of the blood is often not satisfied with causing dreadful sores, but racks the body with the pains of rheumatism until Hood's Sarsaparilla cures.

"Nearly four years ago I became af- flicted with scrofula and rheumatism.

Made

Running sores broke out on my thighs. Pieces of bone came out and an operation was contemplated. I had rheumatism in my legs, drawn up out of shape. I lost ap- petite, could not sleep. I was a perfect wreck. I continued to grow worse and finally gave up the doctor's treatment to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. Soon appetite came back, the sores commenced to heal. My limbs straightened out and I threw away my crutches. I am now stout and hearty and am farming, whereas four years ago I was a cripple. I gladly rec- ommend Hood's Sarsaparilla." URIAH HARMON, Table Grove, Illinois.

Well

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills cure Beer ills, easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

MONEY MAKES MONEY!

So do we but we make it for you. How? By saving you the mid dle man's profit. We practically charge you a small commission for attending to your pur- chases, and as we have advantages for buy. ing that an ordinary purchaser does not en- joy, we can save mon- ey for you.

Cash must always accom pany the order, and any excess will be promptly remitted.

Quotations furnish ed and correspondence solicited. Groceries in original pakages a specialty.

Charleston Purchasing Agency.

Richard Bros., Manager. Charleston, W. Va.

A Sermonette.

"For this which cause I also suffer these things; nevertheless, I am not ashamed, for I know whom I have be- lieved, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have commit- ted unto him against that day."—Paul to Timothy, 1, 1 :12.

I never read these words with- out recalling an incident that oc- curred in 1862, at a military en- campment near Swope's Station, in West Augusta. One of the cap- tains attached to the 31st Virginia Infantry took me aside and in a confidential tone told me that in a few days the command would be on the march, he believed, and that the campaign would be busy and bloody, from all indications. He asked me to do him a favor, and that was to take charge of a precious gift, and if he should fall give it to a certain friend. "It will be much safer in your hands than mine." I willingly complied, and carried out his instructions. From that time on that soldier never had a misgiving about the safety of his precious treasure, and could at- tend to his duties and brave the dangers he had to meet with no anxious thought about its safety. He knew whom he trusted, and was persuaded that his friend was able to keep what he had commit- ted to him.

In the "foremost ranks of dan- ger's dark career," as directed and led by Stonewall Jackson, one of the hands most daring there was the hand from which I had receiv- ed the valued golden gift for safe- keeping. He died on the field at Port Republic, his breast pierced by a fatal minnie in the moment of victory.

In a higher and better sense, Paul equal to the foremost of Christ's brave, devoted servants, committed his salvation to Jesus the Saviior,—all that he deemed most precious in reference to the safety of his soul he trusted with Jesus, and from that time on he devoted himself to the perilous du- ties of the Apostleship without a misgiving as to the safety and se- curity of his immortal interests; for he was persuaded, did not have the shadow of a doubt, but all was safe in the keeping of Him that had all power in Heaven and earth at his command to make good his promises.

Paul had a clear notion of the fact that his Savior was named Je- sus for he would save his people from their sins. And he also de- clared that it was a faithful saying and worthy of all acceptation that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners, even the chief of sinners. So he, being a sinner, had business with the Savior of Sinners, he took the sinner's place and thereby received the sinner's salvation.

Paul saw the sweet meaning of the peace and comfort of all this in his studies of the Passover scene, and of the wonderful words, "When I see the blood I will pass over you." Tho it was his opinion that all have sinned and come short of the glory of God, (Roman iii. 23), yet he knew also the blood of Jesus cleanses from all sin, and that it is the blood of Je- sus that makes the difference be- tween the saved and the lost, and nothing else whatever, in a merito- rious sense. Paul placed the blood of Jesus between his soul and God by being so fully persuaded that Christ was able and that he would keep that he committed to him against that day. He knew whom he believed, and had perfect confi- dence in his willingness and pow- er to save to the uttermost all that would live as Christ would have them live.

Paul's peace of mind was just as abiding and substantial as the al- mighty power of God could make it. This is what he says:

"I am persuaded that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature shall be able to sep- arate me from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord. —Romans viii 38-9.

When we come to understand the significance of the text and of the other scriptures used in its il- lustration, we can see that while Paul thought it was very impor- tant for people to be deeply con- cerned about their sins, it was more important that they should be concerned about their Savior and the atoning power of his blood. According to Paul all men are sinners and are under condem- nation. Those who perish are lost not because of their sins, but be- cause of their refusal to accept the Savior. By this refusal to live as Christ would have them live, do as Christ would have them do, and be as he would have them be, un- saved people cut themselves off from the free forgiveness that is fully and freely offered in the gos- pel to all who will hear and under- stand.

Thirty years ago, one of the most eminent ministers of the gos- pel then in the United States came to the Warm Springs, Virginia, seeking rest and health. He had exhausted his strength in the fa- mous revival movement that occur- red in New York in 1857. Upon being invited to preach at the Warm Springs he pleasantly re- plied, "My good brother, I feel more like filling a bed than filling a pulpit, and so must insist upon your excusing me." A few weeks after that, at the Sweet Springs, Monroe County, on Sabbath morn- ing, he was sent for to come and be with his Savior, the Lamb in the midst of the throne to be fed an l led by Him unto living foun- tains of waters. The last subject that was in his mind was the text, and his comment was:

"Sometimes people quote this wrong, and say 'in whom I have believed.' This ought not to be so. With Paul I would say I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day."

So passed away this servant of Christ, spoken of in his day as a Prince of the American Pulpit. He was thankful to take the sin- ner's place and look for the sin- ner's salvation from Him who came to save sinners. SENEX.

A Beer Improver.

The railing of the bridge creak- ed as the prisoner leaned his mam- mouth rotundity against it. "Me lud," he wheezed, "I 'aven't hany- think to say agin the hossifer's charge of being drunk, but hit's the Gord's truth that I 'aven't swigged a blessed drop for six months."

"Not touched liquor for six months, eh?"

"I beg your parding, me lud," he gurgled, "I didn't say as 'ow I 'adn't teched licker. I sed I 'adn't swigged a drop, me lud."

"Oh, don't 'me lud' me," snapp- ed the Magistrate. "What are you —a Britisher? What's your name, anyway?"

"Me name is Enry Orkins, me— your wushig, and I'm a Henglish- man."

"Well, Henry, I shouldn't have thought it. What's your busi- ness?"

"Your wuship, I'm a beer him- prover," said the prisoner, shifting his bulk from one leg to another, "hand hit's wot you might call a purfeshun by haccident. Has you see, I'm orful full of 'abit. Hover in the old kentry I was a hunder 'and year on board a P. and Ho. steamer to Hinjy, but I got that bleesed fat that I could n't stand the 'eat, so I hemigrated to this 'ere kentry. The very fust berth that I got was in a brewery, a op- enin' 'op bales. Three doiys after I'd got me berth I started to take a short cut across a plank ho- ver a vat that was arf full of beer, when, stroike me hugly, hif the bloomin' plank didn't break, and bin with a splawsh I fell into the beer. Well, hafter I'd hollered bloody murder for arf an hour the boss come halong and pulled me hout with a derrick. Your wuship, hit's the gorspel truth, I was that bloomin', blazin' boozy from my beer bawth that I didn't know my weskit from a door-knob."

"When I was called hup to the Ceptin's horfis, on Saturday," con- tinued the prisoner, "I went in all of a tremble, like one of them 'ere jelly fish, doncherno. When I got hinside the horfis there was no one there but the Boss. 'I'm afraid,' sez 'e, 'that you 're too fat your job, and I'm a-goin' to give you hanother. I'm a-goin' to pay you twenty dollars a week to go and fall into that there same vat of beer hevery Saturday evenink."

"What for?" asked the Magis- trate.

"Your wuship, from what I 'ears and from what I knows, stow my bloomin' hoptics, if the saloonkee- pers that got that ere beer didn't double their horders. Sedma as 'ow hit 'ill so much body to it."

"So you have been doing that trouble act ever since, eh?"

"Yes, your wuship, and I have been hinstoricated most of the time —wot you might call a bat wopition drunk, doncherno."

"Well, you might, Henry," said the Magistrate, with a smile, "that I should call it a six month' work. Five dollars, Henry." —New York Journal.

THE BEST WAY TO CURE

Disease is to establish health. Pure, rich blood means good health. Hood Sarsaparilla is the One True Blood Purifier. It does up the whole system, gives appetite and strength to the weakest, cures scrofu- la, rheumatism and pain in dyspep- sia. No other medicine has such a rec- ord of wonderful cures as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills are purely vegeta- ble and do not gripe. 25c. per box.

MEDICAL WISDOM.

THE DREADED CONSUMP- TION CAN BE CURED.

T. A. Slocum, M. C., the great Chemist and Scientist, Offers to Send Free, to Afflicted, true Bottles of His Newly-Discovered Remedies to Cure Consumption and all Lung Troubles.

Nothing could be fairer, more phil- anthropic or carry more joy in its wake than the offer of T. A. Slocum, M. C., of 183 Pearl street New York City.

Confident that he has discovered an absolute cure for consumption and all pulminary complaints, and to make its great merits known, he will send, free, three bottles, to any reader of the Po- CAHONTAS TIMES, who is suffering from chest, bronchial, throat and lung trouble- or consumption.

Already this "new scientific course of medicine" has permanently cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases.

The Doctor considers it his religious duty—a duty which he owes to humanity—to donate his infallible cure.

Offers end freely, apart from its in- herent strength, is enough to commend it, and more so is the perfect confidence of the great chemist making the propo- sition.

He has proved consumption to be a curable disease beyond any doubt.

There will be no mistake in sending— the mistake will be in overlooking the generous invitation. He has on file in his American and European laborato- ries testimonials of experience from those cured, in all parts of the world.

Delays are dangerous. Address T. A. Slocum, M. C., 183, Pearl street New York, and when writing to the Doctor, please give express and postoffice ad- dress, and mention reading this article in The Pocahontas Times.

MARLINTON HOUSE.

Located East End of Bridge.

Terms, per day - 1.00 & 1.50 per meal - - - 25

Good accommodations for horses at 25 cents per feed.

Special rates made by the week or month.

C. A. YEAGER, Proprietor.

Lee Military Academy.

Spring term of 18 weeks begins Feb- ruary 1st. Pupils can enter any time.

A first-class school for boys. Pre- pares for college or business. Thor- ough academic preparatory and busi- ness courses.

Located in a fine grove. Best Christ- ian influences, no saloons, no distrac- tions.

Tuition, $50 and $35. Board from $10 to $15 per month.

JAMES M. LEE, Principal. Lewisburg, W. Va.

Old Dominion Building & Loan Association.

—OF—

Richmond, - - Virginia.

J. TAYLOR ELLYSON, President.
H. A. BARBER, Treasurer.

DIRECTORS.

J. Taylor Ellyson, Normon V. Ran- dolph, John B. Purcell, John S. Ellet, Frank T. Sutton.

Authorized Capital..... $20,000,000.
Subscribed Capital..... 5,000,000.
Paid Up Cash Capital..... 1,500,000.
Assets..... 2,000,000.

Depository—State Bank of Virginia. Investment stocks cost $1.00 per share membership fee, and 60 cents per month afterwards—withdrawable after twelve monthly payments, and sooner in event of death of the stockhold- er.

H. A. YEAGER, Agent.
MARLINTON, W. VA.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR

FOR THE WHEELING

Weekly Intelligencer,

West Virginia's Leading Newspaper.

The coming year promises to be one of great moment to every American citizen. An important change is at hand in the administration of public affairs. There will probably be a spec- ial session of Congress immediately fol- lowing the inauguration of the new President. The tariff, especially in the matter of wool and coal, will be at once under discussion, and legislation look- ing to the restoration of the national finances to a sound basis will be intro- duced. There will also be a new ad- ministration in West Virginia, and there is every indication that enterpris- es of great importance to the public welfare will be set on foot in the state. The proposed river improvements will be begun. New railroads will be built, and new natural resources of every kind developed. The year 1897 promi- ses to be one of the golden years of the State and Nation. Business will every- where revive, and the columns of the INTELLIGENCER will bear witness to the evidence of great opportunities for bus- iness.

Every family should have a live news paper of this character in its midst, so that the old and young of the house- hold may know all of the particulars of the great advancing that is at hand.

TERMS AND PREMIUMS.

THE WEEKLY INTELLIGENCER, one year in advance..... $1 00
The WEEKLY INTELLIGENCER, six months in advance..... 60
8 copies one year and extra copy to person getting up club..... 5 00
16 copies one year and three extra copies to person getting up club..... 10 00
30 copies one year and a copy of DAILY INTELLIGENCER to person getting up club..... 20 00

The premium copies will be sent to any address desired. It is equivalent to a cash commission to the one who can readily be sold and the money returned by the getter up of the club. It is not neces- sary to send all the names at one time. Names may be sent in as secured, one or more at a time, and a record of them will be kept of the whole number sent from each club. Specimen copies of either edition of the INTELLIGENCER sent free to any ad- dress. Send for your subscription at once.

We want an Agent at every postoffice in the United States. Write for terms and sample copies free.

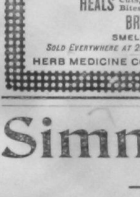
INTELLIGENCER PUBLISHING CO., WHEELING, W. VA.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Cas- toria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for chil- dren. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.



"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consult the real interest of their children, and use Castoria in- stead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's depart- ment have spoken highly of their experi- ence in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY, Boston, Mass.
ALLEN C. SMITH, Pres.

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

IT TICKLES YOU
THE INSTANT RELIEF YOU GET FROM
LIGHTNING HOT DROPS.

CURES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.
HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Bites of Animals, Scalpeds, Bugs, etc.
BREAKS UP Bad Colds, La Grippe, Influenza, Croup, Sore Throat, etc.
SMELLS GOOD. TASTES GOOD.
SOLD EVERYWHERE AT 25c AND 50c PER BOTTLE. NO RELIEF, NO PAY.
HERB MEDICINE CO. (Formerly of Weston, W. Va.) SPRINGFIELD, O.

Simms & Co.,

RONCEVERTE, W. VA.

Silver Steel Plow, Syracuse Chilled Plows, Imperial Chilled Plows.

PLOW REPARS OF ALL KNDS AT

LOWEST PRICES EVER OFFERED HERC

RED WARRIOR POLL AXES 65C
GREENBRIER " " 60c
CHAMPION " " 50c

4 No. 2 Horse-shoes for 25c | 4 No. 3 Horse-shoes 18c
4 No. 4 " " 24c | 4 No. 5 " 16c

COOK-STOVES OF ALL KINDS

1 doz. 8x10 Window Glass 35c | Berea Grindstone 1 1-4c lb
Paints, Oils, Varnishes, etc.

Our goods are all first class, no shoddy or job-lots, or damaged goods. Strike us for prices before you buy.

Simms & Co.,
Opposite Passenger Depot. Ronceverte, W. Va.

FEED, LIVERY SALE STABLES.

First-Rate Teams and Saddle- Horses Provided.

Horses for Sale and Hire.

SPECIAL ACCOMODATIONS FOR STALLIONS.

A limited number of Horses boarde-

All persons having horses to trade are invited to call. Young horses look- ed to ride or work.

J. H. G. WILSON, Marlinton, W. Va.

Farmers' Home Fire Insur- ance Co., of West Virginia.

J. M. SYDENSTRICKER..... President.
S. P. HITTINGHOUSE..... Sec'y & Treas.

INCORPORATED.

By the People and for the People.

For Isolated Property only. No Sola- ry Officers. No Agents. No Commis- sions to Execute. No Loss, no Re- payment of any kind. Cost of Insur- ance less than one fifth of what is paid by a corporation, and a less amount of cash is required to be paid for the insurance secured by the same. Call on or address

T. L. McCLINTIC, Agent, Lewisburg, W. Va.

Tutt's Pills Cure All Liver Ills.

Arrest disease by the timely use of Tutt's Liver Pills, an old and favorite remedy of increasing popularity. Always cures

SICK HEADACHE, sour stomach, malaria, indiges- tion, torpid liver, constipation and all bilious diseases.

TUTT'S Liver PILLS

The Pocahontas Ti

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!"

VOL. 14, NO. 30 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, FEBRUARY 19, 1897.

$3,400.00 CASH AND PRIZES GIVEN FREE EACH MONTH FOR Sunlight SOAP WRAPPERS

As follows:

4 First Prizes, each of $100 Cash - - - $ 400.00
20 Second " " " $100 Pianos - - 2,000.00
40 Third " " " $ 25 Gold Watches - 1,000.00
Cash and Prizes given each month - - $3,400.00

Total given during 12 mos. 1897, $40,800.00

HOW TO OBTAIN THEM.

Cut the ends off any wrapper bearing the word SUNLIGHT SOAP. Wrappers as they are called, are the top or bottom portion of the wrapper, that contains the name SUNLIGHT SOAP. Those (called "inserts") cut to be sent, pressed, fully paid, enclosed with a sheet of paper stating (separately) full name and address and the nearest Express Office, to the Lever Bros., New York, marked on outside wrapper (or, better, on postal card) "SUNLIGHT SOAP WRAPPERS." Each wrapper will bear a NUMBER and the DISTRICT Competitor lives in.

No. of District	NAME OF DISTRICT.
1	New York City, Brooklyn, Long and Staten Islands, New Jersey.
2	New York State (north of N. Y. Co. Penn., Long and Staten Islands).
3	Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, and District of Columbia.
4	The New England States.

The Nurses are the celebrated Pierce Special, 167 Pieces, as per Cut, Free to Nurses in Chicago, Boston and New York. Fitted with Hartford Tires, Free Class Rider Agents, Best Departure Bell, Standard Cyclometer, and Best Lace Saddle.

SEND FOR THE PICTURE

1. Every month during the 12 to each of the 4 districts Prizes will be awarded as follows:

The 1 Competitor who sends in the Largest Number of empties from the district in which he or she resides will receive $100 Cash.

The 2 Competitors who send in the next largest numbers of empties from the districts in which they reside will each receive a winner's option a lady's or gentleman's Pierce Special bicycle, price $100.00.

The 10 Competitors who send in the next largest numbers of empties from the districts in which they reside will Each receive a winner's option a lady's or gentleman's Gold Watch, price $25.

2. The Competitions will Close the Last Day of Each Month during 1897. Empties received too late for one month's competition will be put into the next.

3. Competitors who obtain wrappers from unsold soap in dealer's stock will be disqualified. Employees of Lever Brothers, Ltd., and their families, are debarred from competing.

4. A printed list of Winners in Competitor's district will be forwarded to Competitors in about 15 days after each competition closes.

5. Lever Brothers, Ltd., will endeavor to award the prizes fairly to the best of their ability and judgment, but it is understood that all who compete agree to accept the award of Lever Brothers, Ltd., as final.

LEVER BROS., Ltd., New York.

No Use Talking

ABOUT HARD TIMES,

When One Dollar will Buy as much at Sol Davis' Big Store, as Two Dollars will Buy at other Stores.

I have literally plunged the knife into my former low prices to quicken sales and the result is seen in the increased number of customers at my store. Do you want to share in the Bargains now offered in Clothing, Boots, and Shoes, Ladies' and Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods, Dry Goods, Underwear, etc.,—if so call at

SOL DAVIS' Big Store.

AND GET YOUR BARGAINS.

We quote prices on a few things:

Working pants well made and durable 75c worth 1.50
Cassimere Pants from 1.25 up worth double.
Suits for men from 4.00 up worth 8.50
Boys' Suits 75c worth 1.75
Men's Overcoats 4.50 were sold for 8.50
A good pair of Ladies Shoes for 1.00
Ladies' Cloaks and Capes, this year's styles, at correspondingly low prices as every thing else.

We especially invite those who have not dealt with us. Come one, come all! Our motto: Quick sales and short profits. Thanking you for past patronage we remain

Yours Truly,
SOL DAVIS, Proprietor.
Green Bank, W. Va. Jan 29

The Pocahontas Times,

All Home Print,

Affords the People of Pocahontas County one of the best papers for the price in the State.

$1.00 per Year

GIVES YOU YOUR COUNTY PAPER.

SUBSCRIBE!

Advertise your Wares and Wants
Our rates are always low enough
to warrant your patronage.

Our Job Department has been renewed, and we guarantee satisfaction. Wedding invitations and all kinds of work done on short notice

WE HAVE THE BEST PRINTING PLANT OUT SIDE A LARGE TOWN IN THE STATE.

Now is the time to Subscribe!

We have a plan by which Farmers can get TOOL CHESTS FREE

WANTED—AN IDEA

Biographic Gleanings.

Forty or fifty years ago, one of the most generally known citizens of our county was Peter Lightner, on Knapp's Creek. He was tall in person, active in his movements, always in a good humor, and one of the most expert horsemen of his times, and perhaps realized as much ready change swapping horses as any other of his citizen contemporaries. He could come so near making a new and young horse of an old dilapidated framework of an animal as was possible for anyone to do who has ever made a business of dealing in horse-flesh.

Near the close of the last century, he settled on Knapp's Creek, on land purchased from James Poage, who emigrated to Kentucky. Mr Poage had built a mill which Mr Lightner improved upon, and for years accommodated a wide circle of customers, who had gotten tired of hominy and hominy meal pounded in a goblet-shaped block. The pestle by which the trituration was done was usually a piece of wood like a hand-spike, with an iron wedge inserted in one end, and fastened by an iron band to keep it from splitting. This mill was a precious and valuable convenience, and brought comfort to many homes, and some of the most toothsome bread ever eaten in our county was made of meal from Lightner's Mill. Some families had hand-mills, but they were about as hard to operate as the hominy block, or mortar with the iron-bound pestle.

It is believed Mr Lightner came from the neighborhood of Crab Bottom, near the headwaters of the South Branch of the Potomac. His wife was Alcinda Harper, a sister of Henry Harper, the ancestor of the Harper connexion in our county. She, therefore, brought that pretty name to Pocahontas, and there have been many Alcindas in her worthy descendants and relatives.

The property owned by Peter Lightner is now in the possession of Hugh Dever and the family of the late Francis Dever, Esq., a few miles from Frost.

Mr Lightner's family consisted of one son and four daughters.

Jacob Lightner, their only son, married Miss Elizabeth Moore, who was reared on the farm now occupied by Andrew Herold, Esq., near Frost. Her father was John Moore, a son of Moses Moore, the noted pioneer, and her mother was a McClung, of the Greenbrier branch of that noted connexion. Jacob Lightner's children were Peter Lightner, who died at home; John M. Lightner, once a member of the Huntersville bar, and moved to Abilene, Texas, where he died a few years since; Samuel M. Lightner was a student of Union Theological Seminary, and had about completed his studies for the Presbyterian ministry when he entered the army. He married Miss Sally Mildred Poage, in Rockbridge County, and died a few months after his marriage at Batesville, Virginia, and was buried at Falling Spring Church near the Natural Bridge. His widow married Rev Edward Lane, D. D., a distinguished missionary to Brazil, where he died much lamented. For some years Mrs Lane has resided in Staunton, Virginia, to be near her daughters, who were pupils of Miss Baldwin's Seminary.

Alcinda, one of Jacob Lightners daughters, was a noted beauty, and very popular. She became the wife of the late James B. Campbell of Highland County, Virginia.

Mary, another daughter, married Rev John W. Hedges, of Berkeley County, a widely-known Methodist minister of the M. E. Baltimore Conference.

Alice, the youngest daughter, never married.

The eldest daughter of Peter and Alcinda Lightner was named Elizabeth. She was married to Joseph Sharp, of Frost. Mr and Mrs Sharp sold the people of Abilene and Peter Sharp, of Frost, and Henry Sharp, on Dunlevy's Creek. Polly Sharp married John Hannah, of Elk, and was the mother of the late Reps-an Hannah of Frost, and Miss George Gibson, near Marlinton.

Phebe Sharp first married the late Henry Harper, Jr., who died of an accidental wound inflicted while fixing a gate-latch near Sunset School-house. She afterwards married Mr Abe Rankin. Susan Sharp became the wife of the late William Burr, on Brown's Mountain, near Huntersville. Mr Burr died suddenly in F. J. Snyder's law office, whither he had gone to look after some business affairs.

Rachel Sharp lives near Frost on the old home place.

Susan Lightner, another daughter of our worthy pioneer, Peter Lightner was was married to George Gay, a brother of the late John Gay, Esq., near Marlinton. For many years Mr and Mrs Gay lived on the farm now in the possession of F. A. Renick, Esq., near Hillsboro, until their removal to the State of Iowa.

Polly Lightner and the late Sheldon, Clark, Esq., were married and settled in the Little Levels, where their son, Sherman, now lives (1897.) Mr Clark came from the State of Connecticut, and made an immense fortune by merchandising and farming. He was a highly esteemed citizen, and by strict attention to his own business he prospered much. His influence was ever on the side of good morals and intelligence. Mr and Mrs Clark are survived by four sons, Sherman, Henry, Alvin, and Preston.

Sherman H. Clark, the eldest, married Mary Frances, daughter of the late Joel Hill, near Hillsboro, and lives on the old Clark homestead.

Alvin Clark married Mary Agnes, daughter of the late Josiah Beard, of Locust, and resides on the Moses Poage property east of Hillsboro.

Henry Clark lives near the head of Spring Creek.

Preston Clark married Miss Josie Levisay, near Frankford, West Virginia, and lives on the George Poage property, west of Hillsboro.

There was another worthy brother, Peter Clark, whose wife was Miss Martha Blair. He died several years since on a farm south of Hillsboro.

The history of Sheldon Clark illustrates the Pocahontas possibilities in reach of those who are moral in habits, diligent in business, honest and strictly upright in their business relations. The advancement of such may be slow, but it will be sure and enduring, and the results bring comfort and influence to those who inherit them, a rich heritage to children's children.

Phebe Ann Lightner was married to the late John Cheek, on Knapp's Creek, near Driscol, on the place now occupied by the homes of their sons, Peter L. and William H. Cheek, and their daughter, Mrs B. F. Fleshman.

In the sketch published in The Times, January 15, 1897, mention was made of her sons and daughters whose names besides those just given were Mary Ann Herold, afterwards Mrs William C. Hall; Caroline Elizabeth, wife of Lanty Lockridge; Alcinda Susan, now Mrs Hugh Dever; Margaret Eveline, now Mrs Renick Ward; and Eliza Martha, now Mrs B. F. Fleshman.

The annals just recorded of these persons, Mr and Mrs Peter Lightner may be brief and simple, but yet how very suggestive at once reflects upon them. From these biographical gleanings material may be gathered illustrating pioneer sufferings and privations, thrilling romance, tragic incidents in peace and war.

W. T. P.

They sent no glittering statements out.
When a bank goes to smash in China,
To show its natives beyond a doubt.

When a bank goes to smash in China,
No paying bears you see those shed,
But they take a big cleaver hands instead
And suspicion the president's head.
And banks never break in China.

"What a small mind Mrs Youngs has." "Naturally. She has given her husband so many pieces of it."—Tid-Bits.

Small Wells Fixin.—"One of pints with a tongue to grow, six dozen ax." "Fust thought it was my good, darlin', the one she has left a axe."—Puck.

"The Iron Ring."

Nearly fifty years ago there appeared in Littel's Living Age a remarkable story founded on legend. To this story,—"The Iron Ring,"—many a young person has listened from my lips, but my pen has never recorded it till now.

The Harz, or Hartz, Mountains form an important barrier boundary to Northern Germany: being the first obstacle that the cold, moist winds from the North Sea meet, the mountain summits are treeless and dismally bare. But the slopes and deep valleys abound in pines and firs; the dense, almost impenetrable forests are equally gloomy in their way, and when with the strange phenomena of nature often presented, form a store of legendary wealth not to be exceeded in weird interest. Among the Harz Mountains we find the "Spectre of the Brocken," and the great Goethe went thither with his dark fancies to build uncouth structures for minds of men. A simpler legend of the Harz is the following:

From a town on the outskirts of the piny forests pilgrim travelers who knew nothing of fear and were not always needy, found it necessary to plunge into the dark tree-wilderness and make their way across the mountains; but, stout as their German hearts were, they would have hesitated a little had there not been a kind of wayfaring house in the recesses where a night's lodging might be procured. The keepers of the caravansary were known to be very poor, and at long intervals were seen creeping in the dusk about the town;—thickly muffled and aided by the twilight, their dark, forbidding countenances attracted little attention.

As time wore on it began to be noised whisperingly around that of all the pilgrims who had penetrated the forest depths, not one had ever yet been seen again; and, full of danger as the journey was, it could not answer for the lives of all. Rumor settled on the half-way house, and whispers of "foul-play" went around the circle,—yet was nothing done until the deep thoughts of one mild-featured youth named Franz came to the surface and formed themselves into speech: "Fritz, go thou with me and we'll ferret Sweden." Fritz nodded assent, and their preparations were made apace. To be ready for everything and apparently unready was their aim,—the most forlorn and weakest of pilgrims, the stoutest of heart, and anything but unsuspecting wanderers.

Great fears were aroused. The friends of Franz and Fritz saw them depart, and wept as over their burial. With no light word or trifling manner, but calm and resolute, the young men went forth to unravel the mystery of the Harz recess, or to die in the attempt.

The shades of evening were falling fast upon them when they caught glimpse of the stone battlements they were, in a sense, to storm. Leaving Fritz to conceal himself in the woods, Franz advanced to beg shelter and food. "Keep on the alert for my whistle," said Franz, "como them most speedily,—and Fritz, if you hear nothing, come for this." It was a lock of girlish, golden hair,—Gretchen's hair, and Gretchen was Fritz's sister. The young men embraced each other and parted.

The house presented a singular blank appearance to Franz, and might have passed for uninhabited. Presently a decrepit old man shuffled out of the window-less building and stood silent before Franz. "Food and shelter, holy father," "Nay," returned the hooded one, "ask not crumbs of the starving,—see those gaunt limbs," thrusting his bony arms forward. Franz: "Then I die at your gate." And in what may be termed a fever the young man fell.

"The saints preserve us!" gasped the janitor, and hobbling away soon returned and poured down the beggar's throat some drops of richest wine. "Canst crawl in now? Save me all are wanted. With difficulty and feebly aided by the decrepit senex, Franz crawled into the dungeon like abode. Night had deepened.

Once inside Franz' great aim was to explore, so still lingering weakness, "Pray, father, lead me to rest and disturb me not till morn, when I will tell you of my company, and any sum in my wallet shall be yours." The old man, who seemed to Franz a pliable servant of absolute men, conducted our pilgrim thru various narrow stone passages, up long winding stone stairways to a spacious apartment, and there leaving him, bolted the door on the outside. Franz did not sleep, but kept open and ground windows toward the most inviting place of Fritz, who was also in the dark and sleepless, felt more anxious was the first in his strat second was pilgrim ga lict which the room, b rest for Fr

Silence night hour bling sound a tremendo stone locks and many a er been k stolen: their

A stealth unbarred it. As the sam was rudely no other pe a shrill whi and the two and compe kind keeper disclose ev nefarious houses and had been a cavities of ares the ol stalled Iri heavily, an covered h him the m drams of T covered, he their man executed. and accom to mercy, a ed to imp house, an deeds, was and a suit for pilgri received th with Fritz offered en they had c In long maidens w tress besid ison, and suggestion lock" care once been the dreadf

Edward a recent century th better, I century of by discov analyses, vention. T tieth cent be moral diction is not only spiritual, be transf spiritual. and said p tions will intercours to prophe will bring scarcely a some we Louis Gl

Jesse best know died at h district a afternoon very prob vanced ag mains we cemetery He leaves and daug extended lates the

During in state l gold and might be it in a ba his hous Virginia this was were com ceously, rain some times. He was very ive or m ing to ma and but it is meant by in the b buried, a covered

Sam mon-sense ing of a of hon

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 14, NO. 30 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, FEBRUARY 19, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

$3,400.00 CASH AND PRIZES GIVEN FREE EACH MONTH FOR Sunlight SOAP WRAPPERS

As follows:

4 First Prizes, each of $100 Cash - - - $ 400.00
20 Second " " $100 Bicycles - 2,000.00
40 Third " " $ 25 Gold Watches - 1,000.00
Cash and Prizes given each month - - $3,400.00
12

Total given during 12 mos. 1897, $40,800.00

HOW TO OBTAIN THEM.

RULES.

1. Every month during 1897 in each of the 4 districts shown in the map below, will be given away

2. Competitors who send in the Largest Numbers of coupons from the Sunlight Soap Wrappers in each district will receive $100 Cash.

3. Competitors who send in the Next Largest Numbers of coupons in each district will receive $50 Cash.

4. Each person in a family or household is entitled to compete, but no person living in a house where a member of the firm of Lever Brothers, Ltd., resides, can compete.

5. The $3,400 Competition is open to the United States only.

6. Competitors must be over 16 years of age.

7. A printed list of Winners in Competitor's district will be sent to any Competitor on application.

8. Lever Brothers, Ltd., will endeavor to award the prizes fairly to the best of their ability and judgment, but it is understood that all who compete agree to accept the award of Lever Brothers, Ltd., as final.

LEVER BROS., Ltd., New York.

No Use Talking

ABOUT HARD TIMES,

When One Dollar will Buy as much at Sol Davis' Big Store, as Two Dollars will Buy at other Stores.

I have literally plunged the knife into my former low prices to quicken sales and the result is seen in the increased number of customers at my store. Do you want a share in the Bargains now offered in Clothing, Boots, and Shoes, Ladies' and Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods, Dry Goods, Underwear, etc.,—if so call at

SOL DAVIS' Big Store.

AND GET YOUR BARGAINS.

We quote prices on a few things:

Working pants well made and durable	75c	worth 1.50
Cassimere Pants from 1.25 up		worth double.
Suits for men from 4.00 up		worth 8.50
Boys' Suits	75c	worth 1.75
Men's Overcoats	4.50	were sold for 8.50

A good pair of Ladies Shoes for 1.00

Ladies' Cloaks and Capes, this year's styles, at correspondingly low prices as every thing else.

We especially invite those who have not dealt with us. Come one, come all! Our motto: Quick sales and short profits. Thanking you for past patronage we remain

Yours Truly,
SOL DAVIS, Proprietor.
Green Bank, W. Va. Jan 29

The Pocahontas Times,

All Home Print,

Affords the People of Pocahontas County one of the best papers for the price in the State.

$1.00 per Year

GIVES YOU YOUR COUNTY PAPER.

SUBSCRIBE!

Advertise your Wares and Wants Our rates are always low enough to warrant your patronage.

Our Job Department has been renewed, and we guarantee satisfaction. Wedding invitations and all kinds of work done on short notice

WE HAVE THE BEST PRINTING PLANT OUT SIDE A LARGE TOWN IN THE STATE.

Now is the time to Subscribe!

We have a plan by which Farmers can get TOOL CHESTS FREE

WANTED—AN IDEA Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

Biographic Gleanings.

Forty or fifty years ago, one of the most generally known citizens of our county was Peter Lightner, on Knapp's Creek. He was tall in person, active in his movements, always in a good humor, and one of the most expert horsemen of his times, and perhaps realized as much ready change swapping horses as any other of his citizen contemporaries. He could come so near making a new and young horse of an old dilapidated frame-work of an animal as was possible for anyone to do who has ever made a business of dealing in horse-flesh.

Near the close of the last century, he settled on Knapp's Creek, on land purchased from James Poage, who emigrated to Kentucky. Mr Poage had built a mill which Mr Lightner improved upon, and for years accommodated a wide circle of customers, who had gotten tired of hominy and hominy meal pounded in a goblet-shaped block. The pestle by which the trituration was done was usually a piece of wood like a hand-spike, with an iron wedge inserted in one end, and fastened by an iron band to keep it from splitting. This mill was a precious and valuable convenience, and brought comfort to many homes, and some of the most toothsome bread ever eaten in our county was made of meal from Lightner's Mill. Some families had hand-mills, but they were about as hard to operate as the hominy block, or mortar with the iron-bound pestle.

It is believed Mr Lightner came from the neighborhood of Crab Bottom, near the headwaters of the South Branch of the Potomac. His wife was Alcinda Harper, a sister of Henry Harper, the ancestor of the Harper connexion in our county. She, therefore, brought that pretty name to Pocahontas, and there have been many Alcindas in her worthy descendants and relatives.

The property owned by Peter Lightner is now in the possession of Hugh Dever and the family of the late Francis Dever, Esq., a few miles from Frost.

Mr Lightner's family consisted of one son and four daughters.

Jacob Lightner, their only son, married Miss Elizabeth Moore, who was reared on the farm now occupied by Andrew Herold, Esq., near Frost. Her father was John Moore, a son of Moses Moore, the noted pioneer, and her mother was a McClung, of the Greenbrier branch of that noted connexion. Jacob Lightner's children were Peter Lightner, who died at home; John M. Lightner, once a member of the Huntersville bar, and moved to Abilene, Texas, where he died a few years since; Samuel M. Lightner was a student of Union Theological Seminary, and had about completed his studies for the Presbyterian ministry when he entered the army. He married Miss Sally Mildred Poage, in Rockbridge County, and died a few months after his marriage at Batesville, Virginia, and was buried at Falling Spring Church near, the Natural Bridge. His widow married Rev Edward Lane, D. D., a distinguished missionary to Brazil, where he died much lamented. For some years Mrs Lane has resided in Staunton, Virginia, to be near her daughters, who were pupils of Miss Baldwin's Seminary.

Alcinda, one of Jacob Lightners daughters, was a noted beauty, and very popular. She became the wife of the late James B. Campbell of Highland County, Virginia.

Mary, another daughter, married Rev John W. Hedges, of Berkeley County, a widely-known Methodist minister of the M. E. Baltimore Conference.

Alice, the youngest daughter, never married.

The eldest daughter of Peter and Alcinda Lightner was named Elizabeth. She was married to Joseph Sharp, at Frost. Mr and Mrs Sharp were the parents of Abraham and Peter Sharp, at Frost, and Henry Sharp, on Deatherd's Creek. Polly Sharp married John Hannah, on Elk, and was the mother of the late Rev. Hannah of Frost, and Mrs George Gibson, near Marlinton.

Phebe Sharp first married the late Henry Harper, Jr., who died of an accidental wound inflicted while fixing a gate-latch near Sunset School-house. She afterwards married Mr Abe Rankin. Susan Sharp became the wife of the late William Burr, on Brown's Mountain, near Huntersville. Mr Burr died suddenly in F. J. Snyder's law office, whither he had gone to look after some business affairs.

Rachel Sharp lives near Frost on the old home place.

Susan Lightner, another daughter of our worthy pioneer, Peter Lightner was was married to George Gay, a brother of the late John Gay, Esq., near Marlinton. For many years Mr and Mrs Gay lived on the farm now in the possession of F. A. Renick, Esq., near Hillsboro, until their removal to the State of Iowa.

Polly Lightner and the late Sheldon, Clark, Esq., were married and settled in the Little Levels, where their son, Sherman, now lives (1897.) Mr Clark came from the State of Connecticut, and made an immense fortune by merchandising and farming. He was a highly esteemed citizen, and by strict attention to his own business he prospered much. His influence was ever on the side of good morals and intelligence. Mr and Mrs Clark are survived by four sons, Sherman, Henry, Alvin, and Preston.

Sherman H. Clark, the eldest, married Mary Frances, daughter of the late Joel Hill, near Hillsboro, and lives on the old Clark homestead.

Alvin Clark married Mary Agnes, daughter of the late Josiah Beard, of Locust, and resides on the Moses Poage property east of Hillsboro.

Henry Clark lives near the head of Spring Creek.

Preston Clark married Miss Josie Levissy, near Frankford, West Virginia, and lives on the George Poage property, west of Hillsboro.

There was another worthy brother, Peter Clark, whose wife was Miss Martha Blair. He died several years since on a farm south of Hillsboro.

The history of Sheldon Clark illustrates the Pocahontas possibilities in reach of those who are moral in habits, diligent in business, honest and strictly upright in their business relations. The advancement of such may be slow, but it will be sure and enduring, and the results bring comfort and influence to those who inherit them, a rich heritage to children's children.

Phebe Ann Lightner was married to the late John Cleek, on Knapp's Creek, near Driscol, on the place now occupied by the homes of their sons, Peter L. and William H. Cleek, and their daughter, Mrs B. F. Fleshman.

In the sketch published in The Times, January 15, 1897, mention was made of her sons and daughters whose names besides those just given were Mary Ann Herold, afterwards Mrs William C. Hull; Caroline Elizabeth, wife of Lanty Lockridge; Alcinda Susan, now Mrs Hugh Dever; Margaret Eveline, now Mrs Renick Ward; and Eliza Martha, now Mrs B. F. Fleshman.

The sands just recorded of these persons, Mr and Mrs Peter Lightner may be brief and simple, but yet how very suggestive as one reflects upon them. From these biographical gleanings material may be gathered illustrating pioneer sufferings and privations, thrilling romance, tragic incidents in peace and war.

W. T. P.

They send no grieving statements out,
When a bank goes to smash in Chino,
To show the amount beyond a doubt,
When a bank goes to smash in China.
No paying tales you see there shed,
But they take a big chinese knife instead
And amputate the president's head,
And battle never break in China.

"What a small mind Mrs Younglove has," "Naturally. She has given her husband so many pieces of it."—Tid-Bits.

SOMEA WELL FIXED.—"One of your wife's lounges is gone, my dear sir." "That doesn't do me any good, doctor, the one she has left is a set."—Truth.

"The Iron Ring."

Nearly fifty years ago there appeared in Littel's Living Age a remarkable story founded on legend. To this story,—"The Iron Ring,"—many a young person has listened from my lips, but my pen has never recorded it till now.

The Harz, or Hartz, Mountains form an important barrier boundary to Northern Germany: being the first obstacle that the cold, moist winds from the North Sea meet, the mountain summits are treeless and dismally bare. But the slopes and deep valleys abound in pines and firs; the dense, almost impenetrable forests are equally gloomy in their way, and what with the strange phenomena of nature often presented, form a store of legendary wealth not to be exceeded in weird interest. Among the Harz Mountains we find the "Spectre of the Brocken," and the great Goethe went thither with his dark fancies to build uncouth structures for the minds of men. A simpler legend of the Harz is the following:

From a town on the outskirts of the piny forests pilgrim travelers who knew nothing of fear and were not always needy, found it necessary to plunge into the dark recesses and make their way across the mountains; but, stout as their German hearts were, they would have hesitated a little had there not been a kind of wayfaring house in the recess where a night's lodging might be procured. The keeper of the caravansary were known to be very poor, and at long intervals were seen creeping in the dusk about the town;—thickly muffled and aided by the twilight, their dark, forbidding countenances attracted little attention.

As time wore on it began to be noised whisperingly around that of all the pilgrims who had penetrated the forest depths, not one had ever yet been seen again; and, full of danger as the journey was, natural causes could not answer for the lives of all. Rumor settled on the half-way house, and whispers of "foul-play" went around the circle,—yet was nothing done until the deep thoughts of one mild-featured youth named Franz came to the surface and formed themselves into speech: "Fritz, go thou with me and we 'll ferret the den." Fritz nodded assent, and their preparations were made apace. To be ready for everything and apparently unready was their aim,—the most forlorn and weakest of pilgrims, the stoutest of heart, and anything but unsuspecting wanderers.

Great fears were aroused. The friends of Franz and Fritz saw them depart, and wept as over their burial. With no light word or trifling manner, but calm and resolute, the young men went forth to unravel the mystery of the Harz recess, or to die in the attempt.

The shades of evening were falling fast upon them when they caught glimpse of the stone battlements they were, in a sense, to storm. Leaving Fritz to conceal himself in the woods, Franz advanced to beg shelter and food. "Keep on the alert for my whistle," said Franz, "come then most speedily,—and Fritz, if you hear nothing, care for this." 'T was a lock of girlish, golden hair,—Gretchen's hair, and Gretchen was Fritz's sister. The young men embraced each other and parted.

The house presented a singular blank appearance to Franz, and might have passed for uninhabited. Presently a decrepit old man shuffled out of the windowless building and stood silent before Franz. "Food and shelter, holy father,"—"Nay," returned the hooded one, "ask not crumbs of the starving;—see them upon their limbs," thrusting his bony arms towards Franz. "Then I die at your gate," and in what may be termed a feint the young man fell.

"The saints preserve us!" gasped the janitor, and hobbling away soon returned and poured down the beggar's throat some drops of richest wine. "Canst creat in now? Save me all are arsand." With renewed energy aided by the skeleton arms, Franz crawled into the dungeon-like abode. Night had deepened.

Once inside Franz's great aim was to explore, so still feigning weakness, "Pray, good host, bed to rest and disturb me not till morn, when I will rid you of my company, and say calm in my wallet shall be yours." The old man, who seemed to Franz a pliable servant of circumstances, conducted our pilgrim thro various narrow stone passages, up long, winding stone stairways to a spacious apartment, and there leaving him, bolted the door on the outside. Franz felt no sleep, but looked through the grated windows toward the forest looking piece of Fritz, who now was in the dark and sleepless, felt more uneasiness. To reconnoiter was the first step that Franz took in his strange quarters, and the second was to divest himself of the pilgrim garb and appear, every inch of him, a man ready for conflict which he fully expected.

He observed that straw pallets were arranged in the middle of the room around an immense column whose top was encircled by a heavy iron ring. Drawing a portion of the bedding to a distant corner of the room, he lay down in truth to rest, for Franz was really tired.

Silence reigned and the midnight hour approached. A rumbling sound, a creaking, and such a tremendous crash, as shook the stone building, strong as it was. The iron ring had fallen, and thus had many an unsuspecting traveler been killed and their effects stolen; their bodies—where?

A stealthy step neared the door, unbarred it, and Franz stood ready. As the same old man peered in he was rudely seized and pinioned: no other person came. Franz blew a shrill whistle for his companion, and the two together commanded and compelled the janitor and kind keeper of weary pilgrims to disclose everything concerning the nefarious business. The ghostly bones and relics of human beings had been concealed in the stone cavities of the walls; but of treasures the old man knew nothing. A stinted living all that was his, and heavily, sinfully paid for. He was conveyed to the town, and there him the main actors in the tragic drama of The Iron Ring were discovered, brought to civil trial for their man-slaughter, and capitally executed. The weak old servant and accomplice was recommended to mercy, and his penalty commuted to imprisonment. The stone-house, arena of the diabolical deeds, was razed to the ground, and a suitable, safe resting-place for pilgrims established. Franz received the thanks of the town with Fritz; but they refused the offered emolument, feeling that they had only done their duty.

In long years after, Gretchen's maidens were wont to lay a golden tress beside their own for comparison, and then at father Franz's suggestion to put the "frau's gold lock" carefully away, for had it not once been in danger far out upon the dreadful Hartz Mountains?

A. L. P.

EDWARD EVERETT HALE said in a recent address on the coming century that the world is growing better. In the classification the century of Columbus was marked by discovery, the eighteenth by analysis, and the nineteenth by invention. The victories of the twentieth century, in his opinion, will be moral and spiritual. His prediction is that it "will be filled with not only physical comfort, but spiritual, and physical forces will be transmitted into moral and spiritual." Education will be general and greatly elevated, and nations will be brought into closer intercourse. No one has ventured to prophesy what the next century will bring forth in invention, for scarcely a year passes now without some wonderful advance.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

JESSE JONES, Esq., one of the best known citizens of Monroe Co., died at his home in Wolf Creek district at 3:30 o'clock, on Sunday afternoon, Jan. 17, 1897, after a very prolonged illness, at the advanced age of 84 years. His remains were interred in the Baptist cemetary at Alderson on Tuesday. He leaves a widow and several sons and daughters. The Man, in an extended notice of Mr. Jones, relates the following:

During the war he had $1,500 in state bank notes and $1500 in gold and silver. Fearing that it might be taken from him, he hid it in a hollow tree in the woods by his house. Soon after the 45th Virginia Regiment encamped in this woodland, and, as the soldiers were cutting down timber promiscuously, Mr Jones began to entertain some apprehensions about his tree. So he made for the camp and was very much frightened to find five or six men seated under his identical tree, playing cards for money, and with much of his bank deposit. However, they had not discovered the treasure, but it took very skillful management to get that money out of the hole in the tree without being detected, which he nevertheless succeeded in doing.

SICK—I don't think you were anxious to hear the song Mr. Ivers sang last night." Fuck—"I had never heard you before."—Puck.

"SOME one asked Max Nordau to define the difference between 'genius' and 'talent.' 'Talent,' the author of 'Degeneration' replied, 'is at least sure of his board and clothes.'"

Sam Jones in Boston.

BOSTON has been wonderfully shocked by Sam Jones. Listen to a few of Sam's scandalous upper cuts:

"There is a big difference between Boston and hell. You have a bay here. They haven't got any bay there. There are two kinds of engines in the church—big locomotives, running a mile a minute, and little stationary engines that don't go anywhere; just stay right here, puffing and blowing. Some little preachers here are just like these stationary engines. They blow their whistle at 12 o'clock and that's all. The big locomotive not only moves along, but takes something along with it. We ought to trade off some of our stationary engines for some big locomotives.

"You cover a sin in Boston with a $5 bill. Money hides the whole business. The more I see of a good dog the less I think of the average man. The former will obey every command of its master. But does a man? If a fellow believes in himself, and believes in God, he makes a team then. But if he does not believe he can't do a thing. He thinks so, and then he can't.

"All this talk about liquor must sound strange in Boston, and I presume there are many in this audience who think I am a crank. I call that a compliment, because it is fashionable to be a crank. I do n't want to wear long hair. I do n't believe in long haired men and short haired women."

"I wish some of you old bums would get up and tell what the devil has paid you up to date for doing his dirty work? You bring down an angel and give it a bottle of whiskey and a pistol, and that angel would be in a Boston lockup before morning."

"There isn't a mean thing on earth that some people in Boston are not doing."

A POINT OF ORDER WELL TAKEN.—Congressman Dolliver, of the Tenth Iowa district, has a big tent which he purchased from a stranded circus company and now utilizes in his campaigns. Last October, while making the rounds of his district, Mr Dolliver reached a town where it was too cold for an audience in the tent, and an adjournment was had to a great grocery store-house, which was able to accommodate numbers of political truth seekers. In one corner there was a big barrel of sauerkraut, and near this a great old fashioned stove of the kind that will roar like an elephant when the draft slide is pulled clear back.

With a great fire the crowd began to feel comfortable, and quickly enthused under the eloquence of the Fort Dodge orator. Everybody seemed to be unmindful of the sauerkraut barrel, and lost in the beautiful pictures of returning prosperity with the election of McKinley and the assurance of honest dollars and chances galore to earn them. But in the midst of one of Mr Dolliver's eloquent flights his attention was distracted by an Irishman who said he rose to a point of order.

"The gentleman may state it," quoth Mr Dolliver.

"Oi move you, sor," said he, "that a committee be appointed to place a horse blanket over the barrel of sauerkraut."

The barrel had warmed up with the growth of the fire, and an odor that was any thing but agreeable in a political atmosphere was forcing itself up the nostrils of the faithful. The horse blanket was secured from a neighboring stable and applied to the use designated, after which Mr Dolliver proceeded to the end of his speech uninterrupted.—Washington Post.

WHAT WOMEN HAVE TO STAND.—"I am not particularly vain," said a belle, "but when I leave my dressmaker I am a more abject sewdge of myself. I know many a woman will lift up her voice with me over the way we are treated by the average dressmaker. We pretend faintly about a wrinkle around the shoulder. Well, you see, madam, your left shoulder is so much higher than your right it is almost impossible. We finish and say, Never mind.' Then, of course, that style of sleeve needs a full arm. I should not have chosen that sleeve for you myself,' say I, 'a person with your shoulders can't expect her back to set real straight,' or 'The present style is trying to a person of a long neck like yours.' She admits that the greatest effect of the gown is 'dressy,' but then you know it is so tight.' And of course it can't be blamed on the dressmaker. If your sheet were taller your dress would bother more evenly. If your hips were higher the skirt wouldn't sag. You could bother a woman's life to get sleeves without crinkles, and then ask if you anywhere."—Exchange.

THE EDITOR IN WASHINGTON.

To the sincere American patriot a visit to the House of Representatives is full of disillusions. After clambering up the vast number of stair steps, necessary to reach the level of the capitol, which is a fine building of marble, the elevator man, very obligingly, "hists" him up to the level of the gallery and puts that he goes, after having found a door which the guard allows you to enter. Straying past the number of doors marked for ladies, members and gentlemen, the visitor, to whom we refer found a door unguarded and into that he dived, on the alert to see the picked men of the nation each one representing 175,000 constituents, but what a disappointment. Having with care severely scated himself betwixt two somewhat odoriferous negro men, he looked down upon the largest legislative chamber in the world, and the most thinly peopled.

About one-fourth of the main body of the house was occupied, and the members were mostly busy writing letters and enclosing them in franked envelops. Those members present seemed to be a set of illconditioned men clad in unbecoming garments, and apt to be freaks in the way of hair;—a most unpromising looking set in fact. Enough members were not busy writing to maintain an animated conversation, above which the man who had the floor could be heard droneing away. Being seated immediately above him, what he said was heard tolerably distinctly.

The speaker was a man with a most objectionable pug nose and a long, sadly beard, and he hailed from Mississippi. He talked on the river and harbor bill, and he wanted a short canal of four miles built to change the course of the Yazoo River at the mouth so that steamboats could navigate it, they being prevented from so doing at the present time by the sand-bar at its mouth. He was proclaiming that the government had spent a mere bagatelle of sixteen and a half millions per year on the average on rivers and harbors, and that he would have that average raised to fifty millions per annum.

He was wildly cheered by one man,—an awfully foolish-looking fellow from Nebraska.

The Speaker was seen at one time to wave his gavel madly and everybody could see it hit his desk.

"The gentleman's time has expired!"

"Only five minutes more, Mr Speaker!"

A chump from New England arose to call him down, but five minutes were given him two or three times after the motion of the gravel; and on his being squelched, seven other devils worse than himself wanted to sprout on the subject and jumped up. The floor was given to a gentleman from Iowa, who was terribly hard on the Yazoo River and the gentleman from Mississippi.

All this time a careworn stenographer had stationed himself right in front of the gentleman from Mississippi and took down his speech, to be corrected and made free from grammatical errors and printed in the Congressional Record. He was one of the few who heard of the wrongs of the Yazoo and their remedy.

* * *

In case any reader should ever go to Washington, they may probably noticed into the monument. That noble pile rises to a wonderful height, full 500 feet above the brow of a hill, if there is such a thing in Washington.

The elevator running at a tolerable speed makes a round trip in about half an hour. The floorman at the bottom of the shaft kindly suggests that you walk up, as it will be twenty minutes wait, and ride back. The suggestion seems good. You ask how many steps quite cheerfully. His answer is 800. Not realizing that this is fifty flights of steps, representing fifty stories but feet high, the rich fun proceeds.

After a heroic struggle, the adventurous sufferer finds himself perfectly exhausted, with the perspiration starting from every pore, and in the noblest, deepest place in the world, where no very serious sweat pours the floor is flooded, and he is for first about the ground and the first from the top. To mention how to do this is rude, dump them, and fill a watery grave, will be to be to retain. Quite gone trying to keep up with every large word "Gentlemen!" and by the time he reaches the top all interest in the much less Washington, has passed away. Taking a position near the elevator door he waits until the elevator starts down. Washington is streached out below him, but of the vast crowds that come there every day, there is not a visitor who makes more than a prefunctory survey, all being heartily sick of the cold, damp monument.

They who who go up the sky in a shaft like that have performed a monumental piece of folly.

* * *

We will give other sketches of the beautiful Capital, if the reader so desires, at another sitting.

The Rev. Dr. Talmage.

THE going of the man, who has read Talmage's sermons in the patent sided news papers ever since he could read matter of such dignity, to hear him preach in the flesh is a good deal of interest. There is nothing sensational in the pastorate, of this eminent preacher, of this church. He is not advertised, but he preaches just as a man who had not a world wide reputation. The worshipper goes to the First Presbyterian Church, and the fact that this church has not even a sign on it telling the stranger what church it is, seems to bear out the idea that Talmage does not advertise himself as one of the attractions of the Capital. The crowd that gathers there does not seem to be a lot of sightseers, but a congregation of earnest Christian people.

The visitor is advised always to go a half an hour before the time, in order to get a seat. Once there he takes his position in a densely packed procession of people, and moves literally inch by inch for a half-hour. The first on the ground get seats after the owners of the pews have had time to arrive. Some stand and those who can not be comfortable go to other churches.

The preacher is a man with a face showing his great strength of character. He looks every inch a man in the fullest sense of the word; a man who would fill a breach; who would dare do anything; and a man who could lift a seemingly lost cause from the dust and make it a triumphant success.

On the particular occasion to which we refer, he preached a sermon on hereditary traits, dealing more fully with the inheritence from pious ancestors, of a love of doing right, and of leading a Christian life. His voice penetrates every corner of his large church and his lowest word is distinctly audible. His tones are rather harsh in the main, but when his eyes fire up, and the soul shapes the features, that voice can rise loud and clear, like the tones of some wonderfully sweet and mellow horn. In the course of his sermon when he spoke of the inscription upon the arches thro which the redeemed will pass into heaven, the words "More than conquerer," if uttered as he uttered them upon one of the mountain tops of our rugged country, would fill the valleys and reach to the surrounding summits.

He is a good preacher and the visitor who is there will love the sense of novelty and become a humble, patient worshipper, at least as least as long he is under the spell of his voice.

Obituary.

Died, January 30, of pneumonia, ELSIE GRAY, little daughter of Mr and Mrs J. W. Riley. She was a member of the M. E. Church and professed religion when 12 years old. She bore her suffering with christian fortitude of one beyond her age. The bright evidence she gave in her dying hour assures us of a soul made white in the blood of the Lamb. Our loss is only transient while her gain is everlasting. "She is not dead but sleepeth."

Thou hast left us, Elsie, darling,
And our loss we deeply feel;
But 't is God who has bereft us—
He will all our sorrows heal.

We know thou art gone to heaven,
And with the angels stand,
There you have no pains to bear—
In that fair and happy land.

Tho we miss thee, Elsie, darling,
Yet one secret thought replies
We shall meet again in Heaven—
That bright land beyond the skies.

—Written by a Sister.

A Card of Thanks.

We wish through the columns of your paper to express our sincere thanks to the good people of Green Bank and vicinity, for much kindness and sympathy shown our dear husband and father during his late illness. We commend them to the love and care of him who said: "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

MRS J. H. CURRY, SR.,
AND FAMILY.

GREEN BANK, W. Va.
Feb. 15, 1897.

A FEW months ago Mr Simon Kinney, of Woodstock, Md., was afflicted with rheumatism. His leg was so stiff the full length running from great suffering. He was induced to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and after using two bottles was entirely well. He has since recommended it to many others and always with the same result. For sale by druggists.

It is a jolly office-boy, he picketh out one of three,
And holding with his grimy hand,
"That 's a valentine," quoth he;
A valentine so comic, so ridiculous, on the spot
It proves unto a doubting world that we are not forgot.

CHARLES T. BIRD, brother of Mrs Hugh P. McGlaughlin, was very severely hurt by his wagon upsetting and falling upon him, a few days since. He was in the act of hauling a load of walnut logs to the depot. He resides on Back Creek, Highland County, Virginia, a well known and much esteemed citizen in his county and has many acquaintances in our county.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

I HAVE given Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a fair test and consider it one of the very best remedies for croup that I have ever found. One dose has always been sufficient, altho I use it freely. And *cold my children contract yields ve*ry readily to this medicine. I can conscientiously recommend it for croup and colds in children—GEO. E. WOLFF, Clerk of the Circuit Court Ferdinanda, Fla. Sold by druggists.

WE PAY POSTAGE.

Free of all charges, we will mail to anyone our advance illustrated catalog for 1897 (just issued.) It contains 554 illustrations of Furniture, Carpets, Lace Curtains, Bedding, Stoves, lamps, Refrigerators, Baby Carriages, etc. You save the middleman's profits by trading with the manufacturer, as you are paying local dealers double our prices. Drop a postal now for our money-saver.

Julius Hines & Son,
Baltimore, Md.

JAIL PHYSICIAN,

Sealed bids will be received by the County Court, of Pocahontas County, on 2d day of March, 1897, for a Jail Physician in accordance with Section 3 of Chapter 161 of the Code.

Bids must itemize as to how much is required for persons chargeded with misdemeanors, same as to felonies, and same as to cases of lunacy. Cases of felony and lunacy are to be paid by the State, when certified by the County Court. AMOS BARLOW,
President of the County Court of Pocahontas County.

NOTICE

Big Auction Sale of New Goods!

I will be in Marlinton on Tuesday and Wednesday, the 2d and 3d days of MARCH, 1897,—

COUNTY COURT DAYS,

with the largest and best stock of goods that I have ever sold at auction in the county, consisting of ——

Dry Goods, ladies' dress Goods, Notions, Boots Shoes Rubber Hats, Caps, Men's and Boys' Clothing Underwear of all kinds, Comforts and Blankets. $500 worth o Ldies' and Childrens CLOAKS AND CAPES all Sizes, Latest Styles.

Keep your eye on the Cloaks and Capes, for there are bargains and comfort in them.

I invite all to come. Ladies and gentlemen it will pay you to come twenty five miles,—if you want bargains.

These goods will be sold, regardless of cost, at

MARLINTON,
MARCH 2D and 3D, 1897.

C. B. SWECKER,
4w The Silver Tongued Auctioneer.

VALUABLE

Property for Sale Privately.

One of the most complete residences in the county, situated in the village of Hillsboro, is offered for sale privately, on good terms.

This would be especially valuable to any doctor who wishes to locate in one of the best sections of the State. The owner, a physician, wishes to retire, for private reasons that will be perfectly satisfactory to any proposed purchaser.

Further information cheerfully afforded any inquirer by the editor of this paper.

Trustee's Sale
—OF—
Valuable Real Estate,

Situate in the Counties of Webster, Pocahontas, and Randolph, in the State of West Virginia.

By virtue of a deed of trust made by Marsenus H. Briggs and Elizabeth W. Briggs, his wife, to me as trustee, dated April 1st, A. D. 1893, I will sell at public auction at the front door of the court house of Webster County, State of West Virginia, on

Sat. February 27, 1897

Commencing at 10 o'clock a. m. the following described property, towit: Beginning at a lynn and two sugars on the divide between Gauley River and Leatherwood, in a line of a 3033 acre tract, and running up said divide S. 72¼ E. 50 poles to a beech; S. 7 E. 20 poles to two beeches; N. 82 E. 24 poles to two beeches; N. 56 E. 18 poles to a beech; N. 55 E. 31 poles to a sugar; S. 70 E. 40½ poles to two maples and small lynn on a knob in a line of said 3033 acres; with same N. 28 E. 24 poles to the corner of said 787 acre tract, now continued N. 28 E. 28 poles to a birch and beech; thence running through said 787 acres N. 69 E. 31 poles to a cherry; N. 84 E. 29 poles to a sugar by a large rock; N. 77 E. 36 poles to a beech; N. 64 E. 59 poles to a beech and yew pine; S. 66 E. 32 poles to a beech and pine by a path; S. 38 E. 43 poles to two sugars from one root on a knob; S. 75 E. crossing the county line between Webster and Randolph at 10 poles, in all 100 poles to two beeches and two small spruce pines; N. 65 E. 52 poles to two small beeches with a birch pointer; S. 84 E. 24½ poles to a pine and spruce; South 62¾ East 80 poles to two pines on a cliff; S. 72½ E. forty one poles to two pines in a line of said 787 acres, with same S. 80 E. 17 poles to two pines and a beech, corner of same near the Pine Camp; S. 77 E. 25 poles to two bunches with pine pointers; S. 59 E. 22 poles to a pine; S. 65½ E. 19 poles to a sugar; N. 88 E. 70 poles to a beech and birch; S. 40 E. 27 poles to a beech and pine; S. 55 E. 22 poles to a large maple; S. 42 E. 40 poles to a maple and beech in a line of said Moore Survey of 750 acres, with same S. 30 W. 4 poles to a maple, two pines and ser vice corner of said Hughart Survey of 1000 acres made on the first Tuesday of April, 1853; with said survey and leaving said divide S. 88 M. 120 poles to a maple, beech, and two pines by a small chain of Leatherwood; N. 2 E. 29 poles to two dead pines on a high cliff; S. 88 E. crossing the county line between Randolph and Pocahontas at 88 poles, in all 147 poles to a pine and two beeches by a small branch; S. 2 W. 42 poles to a dead pine, birch, and two beeches between two small branches; S. 88 E. 168 poles to a birch, beech, and two pines on the west brow of the said divide facing main Elk; N. 65 W. 180 poles to two birches, two pines, and five beeches on the said county line between Randolph and Pocahontas; N. 5½ E. 406 poles to two small beeches with pointers and a fallen pine and three fallen beeches; N. 21 W. 698 to two beeches, two pines, and a birch, corner of said Snyder tract of 1000 acres, with same N. 21 W. 140 poles to four pines; N. 24 W. 345 poles to a spruce and beech between two small hallows, branches of Big Run, on a line of the Moore 770 acre tract, with same Morth 7 E. about 133 poles to an oak and maple on top of a mountain; N. 26 W. 215 poles to a beech and cherry; S. 37½ W. 79 poles to a maple and double birch, same course S. 37½ W. 80 poles to a stake, corner of the Moore Survey of 690 acres, with same N. 23½ W. 14 poles to three small chestnuts with a beech pointer; S. 41½ W. crossing Big Run at 295 poles and Bergen at 297 poles, in all 827 poles to a lynn and fallen sugar in a small hollow on a south hillside; S. 27½ W. crossing right hand fork of Bergen at 767 poles and passing two large cherries, sugar, and beech at four hundred and twenty one poles, corner to said 3033 acre tract, in all 1116 poles to the beginning, containing by actual survey, according to the plat, ten thousand and twelve acres, be the same, however, ever so much more or less.

Said tract of 10,012 acres of land is composed of the following surveys and tracts:

No. 1, 3,033 acres surveyed for Hughart and Snyder,

No. 2, 787 acres surveyed for Pyler Cornat,

No. 3 415 acres surveyed for J. Arnold,

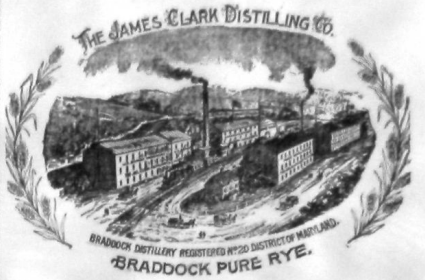
No. 4, 1,000 acres surveyed by J. F. Hughart,

No. 5, 750 acres surveyed for Henry C. Moore,

No. 6, 1000 acres surveyed for W. A. Snyder,

No. 7, 710 acres and 690 acres surveyed for Henry C. Moore.

And being the same land conveyed to said Marsenus H. Briggs by John T. McClure by deed of April 1st, 1893, to which reference is here now especially made.



TERMS OF SALE: One third of the purchase money, and as much more as the purchaser may elect to pay in cash, and the balance in three equal installments, at six, twelve, and eighteen months from day of sale, the purchaser giving his notes with interest at the rate of six per cent. from date, with approved personal security, and title to be retained or deed of trust given upon the property as additional security.

CHARLES H. DURBIN,
Trustee.
1-8 Elkw, Sterling, W. Va.

The Greatest Medicinal Whiskey the World has Ever Known.

BRADDOCK PURE RYE AND BARLEY MALT.

SMOOTH, SOFT, RICH, RIPE, MELLOW AND CHEMICALLY PURE, A RECOMMENDATION IN ITSELF.

TRY A GALLON AT $2.00

Mail Orders solicited either great or small and receive our personal and prompt attention. Drop us a postal for price list. Don't use inferior goods but mail us your orders; we can save you money and perhaps your health.

JAS CLARK DISTILLING CO., JNO. McQUAIDE Mngr.

Distillers of Braddock Pure Rye, Wholesale and Retail Liquor Dealers.
20 and 22 South New St., Staunton, Va.

Duke! Duke!

HIGH GRADE BICYCLES!

1896 Model.

Frame long head and wheel base. Made from best cold drawn steel tubing, narrow tread 28inch wheels, Wood Rims, Nickeled Spokes, M and W. Quick-Repair Tire. All connexions drop forged steel. Ball bearing to every part; bearings made from the best steel, tempered and ground, dust proof, 6 inch cranks, Rat trap or Rubber Peddles, one-fourth inch Humber Chain with hardened rivets and centers. Drop-forged steel sprockets, T pattern saddle post, Garford Saddidle, 68 inch gear, weight 24 lbs.

Price, $50.00.

1895 Model Duke, 27lbs., Price, $40.00

A full and complete stock of Bicycle Sundries and Repairs, eye lometers, Lamps, Bells, &c. Repairing of all kinds a specialty Send us your broken bicycles and we can make them good as new

RESPECTFULLY,

RONCEVERTE, W VA Eagle AND Ott.

We have a plan by which Farmers can get
TOOL CHESTS FREE
Consisting of first-class quality Cross-cut saw, Hack Saw, Saw and Plane handles—necessary to equip mechanic, carpenter or hand, 1 brace, 10 in. steel, nickel plated, and the same of this tool required for instruction.
Powell Fe Offer & Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.

FURNITURE FACTORY

AND

Furniture Store.

Fine Furnitnre Made to Order.

STOCK ALWAYS ON HAND.

I am occupying the Temperance Chapel house and am prepared to make to order all kinds of Furniture at lower prices than can be obtained elsewhere. Don't be cheated in Furniture but buy from a reliable cabinet maker who works up the native woods.

I can order you furniture from the city at better terms than you can so save your life. Whenever you need anything in my line you will save money by giving me a call.

W. J. Killingsworth.

Pocahontas Times.

FEBRUARY 19, 1897.

Local Events.

...may be said to the credit of ...abbit that he is not much of a ...nerer.—Richmond Dispatch

...EEK you answer advertise... in this paper, say you saw The Times.

...s JOE GARRETT has been ... ill for several weeks, but is now to be convalescing.

...ss CARRIE THOMAS is teach... a very good school on Brown's ...k, notwithstanding so much ...ness among the pupils.

...e some people have to do with ...ice next summer, it will not ...ecause they had no chance to ... a supply.

...he fight between the great At... coffee dealers and the sugar ...ers goes on in fine style—for ...consumer. Coffee to the retail ...er has fallen from $18.70 to ...20.

MRS. ELIZABETH MCGAUGHLIN, Brown's Creek, has rallied from ... late prostration with "grip," ...d seems to be convalescing. She ... in the nineties, and her vigor of ...nd and body is a wonder to ma...

LAST week and this Capt Smiths ... SKY- spiked 4 Knapps Creek ... all it is worth, and the goods ...re been moving rapidly from ...nsel's. Everything indicates an ...rly and successful drive this sea...n.

What time is it? How often ...is question is asked without the ...ense of answering it being at ...nd. Provide your house with a ...ock; you can get a good 8 day ...ock for $1.50 to $1.75 while they ...st at the GOLDEN STORE.

THE legislature has passed a law ... which the owners of trade-marked bottles are protected in the ...se of the same. No one is allow...d to use such a bottle for a like ...roduct again. In the same man...er tobacco packages have always ...een protected.

C. L. MOORE, on Browns Creek, ... Confederate Veteran, was wound...d on May 6, 1864. The minnie ...ntering over the left temple and ...ame out near the left ear. During ...is recent illness with influenza ...his principal suffering was in the ...egion of the ear.

DR. S. P. PATTERSON, the Huntersville resident physician, has been highly favored with health during the late influenza epidemic in being able to meet the calls day and night. His visiting and office ...ractice has kept him unusually busy.

THE successful man always sticks to one thing until he gets there—So does the postage stamp. From February 23d to 27 we will give absolutely free to every one buying as much as one dollar's worth of goods 1 pound best green coffee. This is our loss and your gain. Remember this is a cash sale. L. D. SHARP.

VINEGROVE and extended preparations are being made for the approaching sugar season. It is hoped that much sugar and syrup may be made. The sugar cut put last year saved thousands of dollars. Some house keepers have canned syrup from last year, seemingly as good as new. With plenty of raiment, food and sweetening life is endurable, tho money be a curiosity with so many deserving people.

JOHN POAGE, of Poage's Lane, quite recently was driving a sled loaded with wood, when his foot was caught between one runner and a rock. With difficulty he reached his axe and holding the knee with one hand, he succeeded ...n chopping the runner off twice. ...n the other, before his foot was ...ee. It is said Dr. Trabeal, ...ho attended, says the bones are broken, and he is able to be around again.

THE residents in the lower end of Mc.Clinic witness...d quite a ...ighting and ...ference ...ly. A ...oung soldier was performing ... on the horizontal bar near the dr... store, with a "watch me and see how to do it" air, when his shirt somehow slipped its moorings and wrapped itself tightly about the bar. After a short but desperate struggle the young man came down to the ground leaving the shirt waving wildly in the breeze. A most successful performance of the difficult acrobatic feat known as "skinning the cat."

DR. J. H. WAMSLEY received the sad intelligence last week from Liverpool, England, of the sudden death of his eldest brother, Capt. Wm. H. Wamsley, commander of the British Cruiser Sanspareil at sea. He formerly left after a few days' illness. His body was taken to Birkenhead at once for interment. His age was being 1683 miles from land. Capt. Wamsley was an old Confederate Naval officer and was second in command under Admiral Semmes on the U. S. Cruiser Alabama at No. 290. After the close of the war he made his home in England where he married and became a British subject and entered the Royal Navy and by successive promotions to another ...ank he was placed in command of the Sanspareil. The Doctor and the brother had not seen each other for 35 years and he was accompanying a ...ng time spent in Liverpool to ...ee him. Virginia Valley Home ...

PERSONEL.

Mr Fenton Chapman after several months' absence on a visit to his old trans-Atlantic home, arrived at Hillsboro last Thursday, and his return was warmly welcomed by his many friends in the Levels.

Colonel J. W. Ruckman, a highly esteemed citizen of the Marvin community, we regret to hear has lost the sight of one eye. He lost his hearing many years since. He bears his privations, however, with all due submissiveness, and cheerfully fills his daily round of whatever useful duties that may be in hand, and keeps abreast with the current news of the day,—Congressional and legislative.

Fred. Wallace, attorney-at-law, moved to Lewisburg last Friday, where he had arranged to locate for the practice of his profession. He had received a cordial welcome by the press and the bar of that interesting town.

C. W. Beard, Esq., a sterling citizen and a battle-scarred Confederate veteran, near Hillsboro, has been quite an invalid for several weeks. The prospects of his convalescence are encouraging at present.

Dr Matt Wallace, at Mill Point, one of the most eminent medical practitioners of our State, has been laid aside by la grippe; but his heart was not involved, and his pulse is pronounced to be in better condition than for years past by his visiting medical friends.

Mrs William T. Beard near Mill Point, was severely affected by the prevailing cold, but it is pleasant to hear that nothing serious is to be feared, as she has safely passed the crisis and can be about in the house.

Many of our readers of this and other States will be more than pleased to hear that Captain W. L. McNeel is in comfortable health. His new home seems to be an ideal type, occupying one of the most picturesque sites to be found anywhere. A prospect of wide extent and surpassing beauty opens up from every door and window. It rarely happens to busy men of affairs when retiring from active life to find a retreat so inviting and so restful as this infra-mountaine cottage home.

George W. Ginger, Esq., of Huntersville, was in town Monday, and the paying call he made at this office is duly appreciated. All parties in his debt are requested to read and heed his notice to pay up. (See another column.)

The Misses McNeel, Miss Edgar and Jake Beard, of the Levels, were visitors to Marlinton on Saturday.

Mr M F. Gum, of Academy is another of our new subscribers.

H. NATHAN's team loaded with plank slipped over the bank just beyond Captain Jim McNeil's gate. Had it not been for the well-known maple-tree near the road the consequences might have been quite serious. As it was, however, some hard work and a troublesome delay about all to speak of.

IN novels the reader is always meeting with the mysterious which is never explained or cleared up until the guilty party is about to die, and then he calls for a pen and ink, and the good priest sends for the notary, and his dying confession is taken down; and the abused young man, who is lying in jail charged with the crime, is taken out and a laurel wreath placed upon his brow, and he marries the girl who never no never ceased to believe in him and his innocence. This kind of a case has come to light in West Virginia. Eight years ago, Alex. Campbell, an aged resident of Tyler County, went to the house of a Dr Gorrell to due him for a debt of fifty dollars, and spent the night with him. That night the house was wrecked with dynamite, and it was supposed that Campbell had been killed by it. Dr Gorrell died the other day, and before his death he confessed to having murdered the old man and to blowing up the house by explosives to hide the crime.

LAUREL CREEK 'NEWS.'

To the Editor of THE TIMES:

As I am old and worn and feel helpless and undone, while my spectacles fit my nose better than they suit my eyes, I look out over this beautiful world of ours and think there has been just as much weather in the last two weeks as there has been snow, so I will try to amuse myself by writing a line to The Times.

Williams River is on a boom again. Pork is worth 4½ cents, but you can buy it for 10 cents per pound these days.

Times are hard and money scarce and snow plenty, but we are persuaded our grub is good enough although our beef is lean and tough.

A great many of the citizens of our rich hemlock valley thought that period of great and long-continued peace and prosperity awaited the good people of this valley, but sunshine has never covered up the war-path between Jews and Gentiles since A. D. 33.

An old maiden just 45 years old, madly fell in love with ——, just 22. But when she proposed he went out of the door and swore by his teeth and toe-nails he would never come back any more.

There is a little maiden, too, who weighs just 375. She went over the falls of Williams River, but Johny remembered what his mother had said in his childhood's faith, and then commenced to sing: "Do n't be so quick to fall in love with every girl you see!"

We are persuaded still that substantial comforts will not grow on nature's barren soil. What is life when we have lost our virtue?

"What are corn-fields and vineyards, what are stores and manufactures, and what is gold and silver and all the precious commodities of the earth among beasts;—and what are men, bereft of conscience and a proper sense of honor, but beasts?'

The young gentlemen and ladies fair are enjoying life by going to domino-parties. Good people, be careful! A panther that springs upon a vernada and knock at a man's dwelling might attack you, and if it did you would be no more!

Died: at her own residence, Julia Ann Snyder, wife of Harvey Snyder, February 10, 1897, of consumption. She had very recently owned Christ for her savior, and so she passed away in the faith that Jesus saves sinners.

While God invites, how blest the day,
How sweet the gospe's charming sound
Come, sinner, haste, oh haste away
While yet a pardoning God is found.

I sympathize with H. S. Galford for his bad luck. One day the snow mashed the sawmill - shed down. Nothing injured but the governor. SOWDAN.

Please spare us room to wish the editor much joy.

We are having fine weather, and sugar going very fast.

Miss Cora Coombs left last Sunday for Greenbrier County, accompanied by Calvin Gay.

The candy party given by Charlie Baxter and his sister, Miss Leanna Baxter, was much enjoyed by all present.

Miss Dilley made a "flying" trip to Dratt last week.

W. A. Shearer and H. Nathan were absent all last week hauling lumber to Hillsboro.

I guess all the boys would like to be constable.

W. Cochran is out this way right often—either on business or hunting a deputy.

We learn that Miss Clarice Shearer is deputy-constable.

H. Nathan came in late Sunday night and left early Monday morning, and no one knows where he is. He came right near sliding over the road between Swago and Hillsboro, and the only thing that saved his team was that he stopped and ran the wagon back on a tree.

I see Miss Georgie Shearer, Marlinton's accomplished teacher, coming in late Friday night and going out before daylight Monday morning. I wish we had a few more such hustlers as she is.

Y. O. U.

DRISCOL.

I want to say something about the mud, as every thing is mud and water here.

We are having a lively time at present, as the logs are leaving for Rosencrantz. The log contractor to this opperation takes great delight in seeing the men at work on a jam. John Tranor, of Anthonys Creek, came near getting killed by logs in a jam today.

The party at Rimel's was a success.

M. O'Farrell and Charley Moore are going to Ohio.

Lee Moore, of Mill Point, was a guest at Rimel's on Sunday.

Last week some have been over work, or every body got one or more except Jake, Will and Rony, but they say they would have gotten one, but if their dog had been any good.

Mrs Kitty Rider, wife of John Wesley Rider, fell on the ice and broke her arm, one day last week. Old persons should be very careful when walking on the ice.

There is some talk of building a new church at Unland, near Driscol, next. We hope the good work will go on, so the people will have some place to worship.

Mr John Tenney killed a fine hog last week. This makes nine killed in the neighborhood. Where can you beat it? DICK.

GREEN BANK.

We are having good winter weather.

Feed and grain is plentiful in this part of the County.

The sick in this neighborhood are all better, but the Grippe has been very bad this winter and we feel its effects.

Zack Nottingham is very ill with pneumonia at this writing at J. D. Keer's.

Prof. J. A. McLaughlin closed a very successful term of school at this place last Friday with appropriate exercises which showed the careful training of the scholars. This has been the best school that has been taught here for years And we wish the Prof. good luck and prosperity wherever he goes.

Rev J. T. Maxwell was unable to fill his appointment on last Sunday on account of grippe and rheumatism.

Samuel Cassels daughter is very low with pneumonia at this writing.

Your correspondent extends congratulations to the editor of The Times. MOHAWK.

KNAPP'S CREEK.

News is scarce. We have had some nice weather since ground hog day.

Peter Gum and James Flesher were in this neighborhood looking for cattle, last Saturday.

Price Moore's school is out and he and Peyton Moore will attend the school at Frost.

J. A. Moore has traded his mare.

Miss Kate Dever is in this section on a visit.

M. F. Herold was at Huntersville on business, last week.

The people are preparing to make sugar. JOHN.

BUCKEYE

Miss Neva Mcneill has returned home from Wauless where she has been teaching school.

Mr Mathews Ruckman of Mill Point was in this part on business this week.

James Sheets has moved to Academy where he will make his future home.

G. D. Mcneill will teach a writing school in this place beginning next week.

Seymour Gladwell of Mill Point was in this place a few days ago.

Colbert Duncan is a good hand to sit up with the sick especially if "Jennie" is there.

James Rock has returned from a visit to Dunnmore.

"Its a girl" said Enoch McNeill with a smile on his face; the mother is getting along nicely while the father will recover in course of time. WHITAKER.

Pay your subscription.

WANLESS.

We are having some fine winter.

Allen Galford is home from Davis.

Mr John Buckley and Miss McNeil were in our vicinity this week.

Miss Neva Mcneill closed her school at this place on the 10th. She is a good teacher.

Miss Lucy Cassel is very low with pneumonia at this time.

Henry Kesler is preparing to build a house near the schoolhouse. ZED.

LETTER FROM OKLAHOMA TERRITORY.—We are in receipt of the following from F. B. Buzzard, of Kremlin, O. T.: "Hard times in this part of the country. Money scarce—wheat, 75 cents; corn, 15 cents; oats, 15 cents; cattle, $3.50 per cwt.; hogs, $2.80. Enclosed find $1.00 for This Times. With much respect for my old friends in my native county of Pocahontas, Truly yours, F. B. BUZZARD."

Notice.

All parties knowing themselves indebted to me will please come forward and settle up by the 15th of March, 1897, as I intend to make some change in my business.

GEORGE W. GINGER.

Huntersville, W. Va. 4t

Notice.

We hereby notify all persons not to trespass on our land, by hunting, laying down fences, or in any other way.

NATHAN, SHEARER & CO.

Notice.

All parties indebted to the late Pocahontas Herald on subscription, will settle before the 25th of Feb. 1897, and save costs.

OBIE W. SLAVIN.

Marlinton, W. Va.

$25 Reward.

I will pay the above sum for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who wilfully and maliciously shot the saw at my mill on Laurel Creek.

HAMP. GALFORD.

Valuable Land for Rent

A valuable grazing farm of more than 300 acres for rent,—well watered and under good fence. Will rent or take in cattle by the month.

For further information call on or address

ALLIE B. MCLAUGHLIN.

f5tf Edray, W. Va.

WANTED: Twelve good men at my camp, at once.

W. MCCLINTIC.

Sudden Death.

A very prominent negro preacher, A. G. Woodley, of Roncevertemet his death in the presence of his congregation on Sunday, February 7th. He was holding services at Thurmond and having finished preaching, asked one of the deacons to pray. At that moment he fell, inflicting a severe wound in his forehead. He was removed to a neighboring residence, but did not recover consciousness, and was dead within an hour. A large concourse of negroes attended his funeral services, which were preached by Rev Chris Payne, the member of the legislature from Fayette.

Last week a big deed was recorded in the clerks office, the fee for which was $35. It was in printed form and covered 108 pages of a good sized pamphlet. It was a deed of trust for 5,000,000 from the Norfolk & Western Railway Company to a trust company. The State tax, which amounted to $41,874, was paid at Roanoke. It must be recorded in every county in the State through which the road passes.—Rockingham Register.

Order of Publication.

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONTAS COUNTY, }

At rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on Monday, the 1st day of February, 1897.

Wm. M. McAllister ..... Plaintiff
vs.
Mary Florence Adams, Thomas Adams, her husband, and C. R. McDannald, Executor of Mary C. Bias, deceased, ... Defendants.

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree against the defendant, Mary Florence Adams, for the sum of $626.16, with interest from the 1st day of January, 1885, on $497.26 part thereof, and the cost of this proceeding; to require C. R. McDannald, Executor of Mary C. Bias deceased, to sell the remainder of the lands devised to him for that purpose and apply the net proceeds of said Mary Florence Adams to the discharge pro tanto of said debt, and to attach said proceeds and said interests in his hands; and to attach the undivided interest of said Mary Florence Adams as an heir of Margaret Gatewood, deceased, in the lands in Pocahontas County, whereof the said Margaret Gatewood died seized and possessed, to wit: The undivided one-half interest in 1,000 acres, lying on Big Spring Run, in Pocahontas County, and to levy a sale made of said undivided interest, and the proceeds applied to the discharge of said debt.

This day came the plaintiff, by his attorneys; and on their motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed, that the said defendants, Mary Florence Adams, Thomas Adams, her husband, and C. R. McDannald, Executor of Mary C. Bias, deceased, are non-residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they appear here within one month after the first publication of this order, and do what is necessary to protect their interests in this suit. Teste:

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
Wm. M. & J. T. McAllister, p. q.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONNAS COUNTY, }

At Rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on Monday, February 1st, 1897.

William M. McAllister, ..Plaintiff.
vs.
Levi Gay, late Sheriff of Pocahontas County, and as such administer of J. W. W. Bias, deceased; Kate E. Cowan (nee Bias), wife of —— Cowan; Mary Florence Adams (nee Bias), wife of Thomas Adams; Margaret S. Long (nee Bias), wife of — Long; and W. Warwick G. Bias, heirs at law of said J. W. W. Bias and said Thomas Adams, — Long, and — Cowan, C. R. McDannald, Executor of Mary C. Bias and Eliza J. Warwick, and J. V. Warwick, her husband, ... Defendants.

The object of this suit is to have a decree against the administrator of J. W. W. Bias, in favor of plaintiff for $332.17 with legal interest thereon from the 1st day of January, 1885, till paid, due by bond, less $26.28 paid December 15, 1886, and to have sale of undivided interest in the residue of a tract of 1,000 acres devised by M. C. Bias to be sold, and the interest of said J. W. W. Bias in another tract of 374 acres and a tract of 700 acres thereof of said M. C. Bias, and, if necessary, a sale of the interest of said J. W. W. Bias' estate in the one half interest in the residue of said tract of land of 1,000 acres, whereof Margaret Gatewood died seized and possessed.

This day came the plaintiff by his attorneys, and on their motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed that the said defendants, Kate E. Cowan and —— Cowan, her husband; Mary Florence Adams and Thomas Adams, her husband; Margaret S. Long and —— Long, her husband; W. Warwick G. Bias, C. R. McDannald, Executor of Mary C. Bias; Eliza J. Warwick and J. V. Warwick, her husband, are non-residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order, and do what is necessary to protect their interests in this suit. Teste:

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
Wm. M. & J. T. McAllister, p. q.

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED BIDS will be received by the undersigned at his office in the town of Marlinton, W. Va., until 12 o'clock m. March 1, 1897, for putting up and keeping in suitable order 9 miles of the Huntersville and Warm Springs Turnpike road, commencing at the residence of Mrs Carter and extending to the State line on top of Alleghany Mountain, for the period of 5 years.

All bids to be accompanied with a bond in the penalty of $500.00, conditioned for the faithful keeping up of said road, and the return of said bond, at the end of 5 years, to this Court in good suitable order.

The Court reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

S. L. BROWN, Clerk County Court

MR. WARD L. SMITH, of Fredricktown, Mo., was troubled with chronic diarrhoea for over thirty years. He had become fully satisfied that it was only a question of a short time until he would have to give up. He had been treated by some of the best physicians of Europe and America but got no permanent relief. One day he picked up a paper and chanced to see an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He got a bottle of it, the first dose helped him and its continued use cured him. For sale by druggists.

Harvesting Machines.

I will furnish the JOHNSTON HARVESTERS and MOWERS this year from $40.00 to $45.00, according to the length of cut.

Yours respectfully,

C. J. HILL,
Agent.

LOBELIA, W. VA. j12 6m

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONTAS COUNTY, }

At rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on Monday, February 1st, 1897.

Clifton Forge Grocery Company, a corporation under the laws of Virginia ..... Plaintiff,
vs.
C. C. Arbogast, W. B. Ellis & Ellis partners trading as W. B. Ellis & Co., A. Elhart, C. G. Joyner and M. H. Wiss, partners trading as Elhart, Joyner, & Co.; E. M. Brown, George Bloine and George L. Bloine, partners trading as George Bloige & Son; S. R. Sutton, H. S. Rucker, Charles P. Jones, J. H. Shears, J. W. Lukins, P. D. Arbogast, C. O. Tracy, Emma A. Tracy, J. Wesley Hevener, Old Dominion Building and Loan Association; and J. Taylor Ellyson and W. B. Bratton, Trustees ..... Defendants

The object of this suit is to subject the land of the defendant C. C. Arbogast, lying near Green Bank, in Pocahontas County, W. Va., being 181 acres, more or less, to the payment of the liens thereon, and for general relief. This day came the plaintiff by its attorney, and on his motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed that the defendants, the Old Dominion Building and Loan Association, J. Taylor Ellyson, Trustee, and C. P. Jones, are non-residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the date of the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit. Teste:

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
H. S. Rucker, p. q. f5

Lost! Lost! Lost!

Money Lost

by not trading with us. We mean business, as you will find if you give us a trial.

'The proof of the pudding is in the eating.'

Buy one bill of us for your own special benefit.

THE MONEY WE DO NOT SPEND PAYING TRAVELLING MENS' BILLS IS SHARED WITH OUR CUSTOMERS. WE SEEK NO TRADE THAT IS NOT OURS BY VIRTUE OF LOW PRICES AND HONEST GOODS. OUR REPUTATION AS Spot Cash Buyers brings us bargains that credit never saw. We give bargains; the prices tell the people, and the people tell the prices.

We will sell nice nails, from 4 to 20 penny or $2.50 per keg.

Best Granulated Sugar at 5¢.

Fancy Green Coffee at 15c.

Come Smoke or buy Tobacco. We are proud of our Tobacco. We will buy hides.

We will buy beeswax and for throughout the winter. Friends, do n't forget to give us your trade.

Yours,

L. D. Sharp,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

800 Bushels of Good Seed Oats are for Sale at GOLDEN'S.

A $5.00 LOOK MOTHERS A RARE TREAT FOR YOU ALL. $2.76
Boys Sampson Suit, with Extra Pair of Pants, for
REMEMBER, you buy direct of us at the factory and we PAY EXPRESS CHARGES TO YOUR DOOR. AND WE PAY EXPRESS CHARGES TO YOUR DOOR. Manufacturers in America.

R. ROSENBURGER & CO., 204 & 206 B., New York C

La Grippe

If you have had the Grippe, you know its aches and pains, the fever, the chills, the cough, the depression—you know them all. The Grippe exhausts the nervous system quickly, lowers the vitality. Two things should be done at once—the body must be strengthened, and force must be given to the nervous system. Cod Liver Oil will do the first; Hypophosphites the second. These are permanently and pleasantly combined in Scott's Emulsion.

If like the despondency and heads the inflamed membranes of the throat and lungs.

But you need not have LA GRIPPE.

You can put your system in a condition unfavorable to it. You can have no cold or fever; remove the cough; clear brain and nerves. Scott's Emulsion prevents as well as cures.

And whether you send or go for Scott's Emulsion, be sure you get the genuine.

ahontas Times.

'RICE, EDITOR

Friday, Feb. 19, 1897.

n ONE DOLLAR in ad- id paid within the year charged.

the post office at Marlin- as second class matter.

y Directory

... J. M. McWhorter ney ... L. M. McClintic ... E. W. Hall ty Court ... S. L. Brown uit Court, J. H. Patterson ... J. H. Buzzard ... James Barlow Co. Ct. ... C. E. Beard ... J. R. Warwick ... George Baxter) ... George P. Moon

OR HEALTH—Dr. J. W. L. McClintic, M. J. Mc- E. Hall.

ns—Uriah Bird, Mayin , L. Gatewood, Linwood ; sequet, Green Rank ; W Hunterville; G. R. Cox, ney; T. A. Bradley, Le-

E COURTS.

IT COURT convenes on the nday in April, third Tues- ne, and third Tuesday in

Y COURT convenes on the nday in January, March, and second Tuesday in ly is levy term.

iness Rules.

a subscriber orders his- scontinued he is, of course, t at the same time to pay rearages.

ttention will be paid to ons communications. You t sign your real name, but always accompany your ication.

) Job work our terms are eight in cases of merchants- ers with whom we have accounts.

LAW CARDS.

McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

ractice in the Courts of Poca- and adjoining counties and in rts of Appeals of the State of rginia.

McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

ractice in the Courts of Poca- and adjoining counties and in Supreme Court of Appeals.

BUCKEE,
AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
UNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

ractice in the courts of Poca- ounty and in the Supreme of Appeals.

ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

practices in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt- ion given to claims for collection ndential matters.

BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

ntion given to legal and careful attention given

DREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

ill be found at Times Office.

E. E. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

legal business—Will receive prompt ntion.

W. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

ttention given to legal and careful attention given

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

G. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

ill visit Pocahontas County at least ce a year. The exact date of his will appear in this paper.

J. E. REYNOLDS,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ERLTON, W. VA.

will visit Pocahontas County once ry two and half months. The exact date of his visits will appear in this paper.

H. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

ur prof. line to U. S. Treasury Residence opposite Hotel ills promptly attended.

Poetry.

We reproduce by request some lines written a ve than twenty years ago, by Re . W. Taylor, a former citizen of Pocahontas, who may be remembered by people in the upper section of our county, who would be pleased to read his words.

The earth doth groan and sigh and fear
Because the judgement is so near;
And now the trump this tumult breaks,
The earth from pole to center shakes.

Awake ye sleeping, and arise,
The Judge hath called you to the skies.
I'm not prepared to meet him there,
Oh, I'll be cast into despair!

The tombs of man, the scattered round,
Shall all arise at that great sound;
The head, the trunk, the form complete
Shall stand before the judgement seat.

Oh, Lord, I come and unprepar'd,
Am I a sinner, yet be spared?
I gave you time when on the earth,
To seek for me by that new birth.

Oh, father, mother sister, dear,
Could I with you on high appear,
I'd sing the songs that you do sing,
You praise the Lord, the righteous king.

But I did waste my day of grace,
And now my soul I take my place
Where I must stay while ages roll,
Oh, this alone shall be my goal.

And now the fiendish host ascend
To meet their once pretended friend.—
And now they writhe and clank their chains
And I'm amid the burning flames.

BEWARE OF OINTMENTS FOR CATARRH THAT CONTAIN MERCURY,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on perscriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to they good you can possively derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure beasre you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by druggists, price 75c per bottle.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Gloom

Of ill health, despondency and despair, gives way to the sunshine of hope, happiness and health, upon taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, because it gives renewed life and vitality to the blood, and through nerve stren and energy body. Read "Hood's Sar helped me wonderfully, changed sickness to health, gloom to sunshine. No pen can describe what I suffered. I was deathly sick, had sick headaches every few days and those terrible tired, despondent feelings, with heart troubles so that I could not go up and to that imparts gth, vigor to the whole this letter: sa-par-i-lla down stairs without stopping my hand over my heart and resting. In fact, it would almost take my breath away. I suffered so I did not care to live, yet I had much to live for. There is no pleasure in life if deprived of health, for life becomes a burden. Hood's Sarsaparilla does far more than advertised. After taking one bottle, it is sufficient to recommend itself." Mrs. J. E. Smith, Beloit, Iowa.

Sunshine

Hood's

Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills cure all liver ills, biliousness, headache. 25 cents.

MONEY MAKES MONEY!

So do we but we make it for you. How? By saving you the middle man's profit. We practically charge you a small commission for attending to your purchases, and as we have advantages for buying that an ordinary purchaser does not enjoy, we can save money for you.

Cash must always accompany the order, and any excess will be promptly remitted.

Quotations furnished and correspondence solicited. Groceries in original packages a specialty.

Charleston Purchasing Agency.

Stoddard Bros. Manager
Charleston, W. Va.

For your sales system

A Sermonette.

And it came to pass that as he was praying in a certain place, when he ceased, one of his disciples said unto him: Lord, teach us to pray, as John also taught his disciples. And he said unto them, When ye pray say: Our Father which art in Heaven, hallowed be thy name, thy kingdom come, thy will be done as in Heaven so in earth.—LUKE XI. 1-2.

The blessed Teacher of men and the Savior of the world was much in the habit of prayer. When multitudes should be near him to listen to his instructions and have their sick healed, to have leisure and opportunity for prayer, he would rise a great while before day and retire to lonely places for prayer. Just before ordaining his apostolic messengers and witnesses of the truth, he continued all night in prayer to God. Indeed, he was so much in the habit of prayer that his disciples were deeply impressed with the idea that there must be something very beneficial in prayer, and so he was requested to teach them to pray. It is significant that they did not say: Lord, help us to pray, or teach us how to pray; but the request is Lord, teach us to pray.

In response to this request he said: When ye pray say our Father which art in Heaven. This is widely known as the Lord's Prayer, but its true title should be the Believer's Prayer, for it was specially *intended for the use of believ*ers. The real Lord's prayer is found in the seventeenth chapter of John. Christ is the only one that has ever been in our world qualified to pray such a prayer as that is. Hence, in the truest sense of the word, this is the Lord's Prayer.

It was the believer's prayer that he taught at the time referred to in the text. And it is a most comprehensive prayer, and contains all that Christ regarded as needful for the use of believers to fit them for present duty, the hour of life, and for the solemn and wonderful hereafter. Now it would seem that the very fact that he should have said: When ye pray say, our Father which art in heaven, ought to make us feel certain he is willing *to hear and answer the pe*titions contained therein, and be*stow all that is needed to prepare* the sincerely praying one for present duties, the solemn issues of the dying day, and for what awaits us beyond the grave.

But the Blessed Teacher does not stop at this. He seems to labor in the effort to make a reasonable assurance doubly sure by the use of a homely, but very forcible, illustration to this effect:

"Which of you shall have a friend and shall go unto him at midnight and say unto him: friend, lend me three loaves; for a friend of mine in his journey has come to me, and I have nothing to set before him. And he from within shall answer and say: trouble me not; the door is now shut, and my children are with me in bed; I cannot rise and give thee. I say unto you, tho he will not rise and give him because he is his friend, yet because of his importunity he will rise and give him as many as he needeth."

The force of the illustration seems to lie in this idea: If earnest, importunate requests obtain favors from parties that take no pleasure in doing the favor, how much more may we expect if we are sincere and earnest in our requests to our Father in Heaven, who is more ready to give the holy spirit to those that ask Him than earthly parents are to give good gifts unto their children. With such an illustration for our encouragement the Blessed Teacher proceeds to drive away all reason for even the shadow of a doubt by declaring:

"I say unto you, ask, (that is ask for what these petitions pray for), and it will be given you; seek and ye shall find; knock and it shall be opened unto you. For everyone that asketh, receiveth; and he that seeketh, findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened."

I reply to the question What is prayer? the Westminster divines, one of the most learned and influential bodies that ever met in deliberation, framed this answer:

"Prayer is an offering up of our desires unto God for things agreeable to His will in the name of Christ, with confession of our sins and thankful acknowledgment of His mercies."

This is regarded as one of the best definitions of prayer ever given, but it does not impress the heart so soothingly as the idea a little child once expressed up a child kneeling by his mother's knee, she prayed with and for him every day. "Where is your mother now Bobbie?" "Mama is up in her room talking to God, 'our Heavenly Father.'" Truly out of this little boy's mouth wisdom was ordained. It impresses the mind as something true and beautiful to think of prayer as talking to God, —the God and Father of of our Lord Jesus Christ,—and the God of all comfort.

It makes a sensation to have it reported that in a certain family parents and children are not speaking terms. It chills the heart to have a son or daughter pointed out as one that is not on speaking terms with a kind, noble, indulgent father. How sad it must appear to pure, angelic intelligences to learn that it is a very common thing in this world to find that God has sons and daughters that wont claim any such relationship to Him, and that nothing is more unpleasant than to have anything to say unto Him.

Altho we see Him not, yet He is not far from every one of us; for in Him we live, move, and have our being. He is acquainted with all our ways, and even understandeth our very thoughts. God our father is, and is a rewarder of all who diligently seek Him, with filial reverence, in their closets, as the Blessed Redeemer advises. The Father, who seeth in secret, will reward openly. SENEX.

The papers are full of deaths from

Heart Failure

Of course the heart fails to act when a man dies, but "Heart Failure," so called, nine times out of ten is caused by Uric Acid in the blood which the Kidneys fail to remove, and which corrodes the heart until it becomes unable to perform its functions.

Health Officers in many cities very properly refuse to accept "Heart Failure," as a cause of death. It is frequently a sign of ignorance in the physician, or may be given to cover up the real cause.

Warner's Safe Cure

A Medicine with 20 Years of . . Success behind it . .

will remove the poisonous Uric Acid by putting the Kidneys in a healthy condition so that they will naturally eliminate it.

A NEW BOOK, "KNIT ING AND CROCHETING," of 64 pages,over 50 original designs illustrated, beautiful lace patterns, shawls, hoods, jackets, etc. has been published by The Home, 141 Milk St., Boston, Mass., and will be sent with a subscription to that paper. The Home is a 20-page monthly filled with original stories, literary and domestic topics and fashions. Its department of Fancy Work is a special feature new and original designs each issue. The price of subscription is 50 cents per year and will include one of these books As a special inducement to trial subscribers, a copy of this book will be given with a 6 months' subscription. The price of the book is 25 cents, but a 6 months' subscription and the book combined will be sent for only 25 cents. Their annual premium list for 1897 will be sent free on application.

AN APT COMPARISON—The following is an interesting comparison, says an exchange: "Suppose that a farmer raise 1,000 bushels of wheat in a year, and also sells this to 1,000 persons in all parts of the country, a greater portion of them saying, 'I will hand you a dollar in a short time.' The farmer does not want to appear small and says 'all right.' Soon the 1,000 bushels are gone and he has nothing for it, and then he realizes that he has fooled away his whole crop, and its value is due in a thousand little driblets. Subsequently he is seriously embarrassed in business because his debtors, each owing him a dollar, treat it as a small matter, and think it would not help much. Continue this business year in and year out, as the publisher of a newspaper does, how long would he stand it?"

The ice at Terra Alta was twelve inches thick during the recent cold snap.

Tutt's Pills Cure All Liver Ills.

Save Your Money.

One box of Tutt's Pills will save many dollars in doctors' bills. They will surely cure all diseases of the stomach, liver or bowels.

No Reckless Assertion

For sick headache, dyspepsia, malaria, constipation and biliousness, a million people endorse

TUTT'S Liver PILLS

MEDICAL WISDOM.

THE DREADED CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

T. A. Slocum, M. C., the great Chemist and Scientist, Offers to Send Free, to Afflicted, three Bottles of His Newly-Discovered Remedies to Cure Consumption and all Lung Troubles.

Nothing could be fairer, more philanthopic or carry more joy in its wake than the offer of T. A. Slocum, M. C., of 183 Pearl street New York City.

Confident that he has discovered an absolute cure for consumption and all pulmonary complaints, and to make its great merits known, he will send, free, three bottles, to any reader of the POCAHONTAS TIMES, who is suffering from chest, bronchial, throat and lung troubles or consumption.

Already this "new scientific course of medicine" has permanently cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases.

The Doctor considers it his religious duty—a duty which he owes to humanity—to donate his infallible cure.

*Offererred freely, apart from its in*herent strength, is enough to commend it, and more so is the perfect confidence *of the great chemist making the propo*sition.

He has proved consumption to be a curable disease beyond any doubt.

There will be no mistake in sending—the mistake will be in overlooking the generous invitation. He has on file in his American and European laboratories testimonials of patience from those cured, in all parts of the world.

Delays are dangerods. Address T. A. Slocum, M. C., 183, Pearl street New York, and when writing to the Doctor, please give express and postoffice address, and mention reading this article in The POCAHONTAS TIMES.

MARLINTON HOUSE.

Located East End of Bridge.

Terms,
per day - 1.00 & 1.50
per meal - - - 25

Good accommodations for horses at 25 cents per feed.

Special rates made by the week or month.

C. A. YEAGER, Proprietor.

Lee Military Academy.

Spring term of 18 weeks begins February 1st. Pupils can enter any time. A first-class chool for boys. Prepares for college or business. Thorough academic, preparatory and business courses.

Located in a fine grove. Best Christian influences, no saloons, no distractions.

Tuition, $50 and $35. Board from $10 to $15 per month.

JAMES M. LEE, Principal.
Lewisburg, W. Va.

Old Dominion Building & Loan Association.

—OF—

Richmond, - - Virginia.

J. TAYLOR ELLYSON, President.
E. A. BARBER, Treasurer.
DIRECTORS.

J. Taylor Ellyson, Normon V. Randolph, John B. Purcell, John S. Ellet, Frank T. Sutton.

Authorized Capital..... $20,000,000.
Subscribed Capital..... 5,000,000.
Paid Up Cash Capital..... 1,500,000.
Assets..... 2,000,000.

Depository—State Bank of Virginia. Investment certificates $1.00 per share membership fee, and 60 cents per month afterwards—withdrawable after twelve months' payments, and except in event of the death of the stockholder.

H. A. YEAGER, Agent.
MARLINTON, W. VA.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR

FOR THE WHEELING

Weekly Intelligencer,

West Virginia's Leading Newspaper.

The coming year promises to be one of great moment to every American citizen. An important change is at hand in the administration of public affairs. There will probably be a special session of Congress immediately following the inauguration of the new President. The tariff, efpecially in the matter of wool and coal, will be at once under discussion, and legislation looking to the restoration of the national finances to a sound basis will be introduced. There will also be a new administration in West Virginia, and there is every indication that enterprises of great importance to the public welfare will be set on foot in the state. The proposed river improvements will be begun. New railroads will be built, and new material resources of every kind developed. The year 1897 promises to be one of the golden years of the State and Nation, and there will be everywhere revive, and the columns of the INTELLIGENCER will teem with the evidence of great opportunities for business.

Every family should have a live newspaper of this character in its midst, so that the old and young of the household may know all of the particulars of the great awakening that is at hand.

TERMS AND PREMIUMS.

The WEEKLY INTELLIGENCER, one year in advance..... $1 00
The WEEKLY INTELLIGENCER, six months in advance..... 50
6 copies one year and extra copy to person getting up club..... 5 00
13 copies one year and extra copies to person getting up club 10 00
20 copies one year and a copy of the DAILY INTELLIGENCER to person getting up club..... 20 00

The premium copies will be sent to any address desired. It is not meant to be a cash commission, as the can readily be sold and the money refunded by the getter up of the club. It is not intended to pay for all the money that is to come from one office, but is a necessary to send all the subscriptions at once. Subscriptions can be sent as fast as received, one or more at a time, and a record of those will be kept at the office. The premium copies will be sent as the required of the figures in order to be sent sufficient subscribers to entitle them to them.

Specimen copies of either edition of the Intelligencer sent free to any address. Send in your subscriptions at once.

We can as Agent to every postoffice in West Virginia. Address your postal to Wheeling Intelligencer, Wheeling, W. Va.

INTELLIGENCER PUB. CO.
WHEELING, W. VA.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSBOON,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consult the best interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful Agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY,
Boston, Mass.
ALLEN C. SMITH, Pres.

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

LIGHTNING HOT DROPS

CURES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.

HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Bites of Animals and Bugs, etc. Tastes Good. Smells Good.

BREAKS UP A COLD.

SOLD EVERYWHERE—25c AND 50c PER BOTTLE. NO RELIEF, NO PAY.

HERB MEDICINE CO. (Formerly of Weston, W. Va.) SPRINGFIELD, O.

Simms & Co.,

RONCEVERTE, W. VA.

Silver Steel Plow, Syracuse Chilled Plows, Imperial Chilled Plows.

PLOW REPARS OF ALL KNDS AT LOWEST PRICES EVER OFFERED HERC

RED WARRIOR POLL AXES 65C
GREENBRIER " " 60c
CHAMPION " " 50c

4 No. 2 Horse-shoes for 15c | 4 No. 3 Horse-shoes 18c
4 No. 4 " " 20c | 4 No. 5 " 16c

COOK-STOVES OF ALL KINDS

1 doz. 8x10 Window Glass 35c | Beren Grindstone 1 1-4c lb
Paints, Oils, Varnishes, etc.

Our goods are all first class, no shoddy or job-lots, or damaged goods. Strike us for prices before you buy.

Simms & Co.,
Opposite Passenger Depot. Ronceverte, W. Va.

FEED, LIVERY —AND— SALE STABLES.

First-Rate Teams and Saddle-Horses Provided.

Or Horses for Sale and Hire.

SPECIAL ACCOMODATIONS FOR STALLIONS.

A limited number of Horses boarded.

All persons having horses to trade are invited to call. Young horses broke to ride or work.

J. H. G. WILSON,
Marlinton W. Va.

Farmers' Home Fire Insurance Co., of West Virginia.

J. M. SYDENSTRICKER - - President
S. P. BITTENCOURT, Sec'y & Treas.

INCORPORATED

By the People and for the People.

Your Insured Property only No Salaried Officers to Support. The expense per cent. No Loss, no Expense. Fair and Honorable Adjustment of all Losses. Open to Inspection at all times. Call on or write for a copy of our constitution, and a list of the officers and directors. Many Thousands Insured in Pocahontas and adjoining counties. Agents wanted in all of the adjoining counties. Address

Stuart, Pocahontas County, West Virginia.

T. L. McCLINTIC, Agent, Marlinton, W. Va.

SPECIAL POTATO FERTILIZER and High Grade General Phosphates made from VEGETABLE and ANIMAL MATTER. Every farmer should write for prices, to-day, and circulars.

AMERICAN REDUCTION CO., Pittsburg, Pa.

Raw Fur Skins WANTED.

Highest market prices paid. Honest assortments. Prompt returns. Write for Price List and Shipping Tags.

THE A. L. BURKHARDT FUR & HAT CO.
4 West 14th Street, Cincinnati, O.

Notice.

I hereby notify all persons from trespassing on my land by hunting, laying down fences, or in any other way. JAMES E. SMITH.

The Pocahontas Times.

rew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

91. 14, NO. 31 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, FEBRUARY 26, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

IT TICKLES YOU
THE INSTANT RELIEF YOU GET FROM
LIGHTNING HOT DROPS.
URES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhea, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.
HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Bites of Animals, Serpents, Bugs, etc.
BREAKS UP Bad Colds, La Grippe, Influenza, Croup, Sore Throat, etc.
SMELLS GOOD, TASTES GOOD.
SOLD EVERYWHERE AT 25c AND 50c PER BOTTLE. NO RELIEF, NO PAY.
ERB MEDICINE CO. (Formerly of Wheeling, W. Va.) SPRINGFIELD, O.

Use Talking
ABOUT HARD TIMES,
n One Dollar will Buy as much at Sol Davis'
g Store, as Two Dollars will Buy at other Stores.

literally plunged the knife into my former low prices to quicken sales ecessity is seen in the increased number of customers at my store. Do ot to share in the Bargains now offered in Clothing, Boots, and Shoes, and Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods, Dry Goods, Underwear, etc.,—if so call at

OL DAVIS'
Big Store.
ND GET YOUR BARGAINS.

ote prices on a few things:
ing pants well made and durable 75c worth 1.50
mmere Pants from 1.25 up worth double.
for men from 4.00 up worth 8.50
Suits 75c worth 1.75
Overcoats 4.50 were sold for 8.50
od pair of Ladies Shoes for 1.00 Chunks and Capes, this year's styles, at correspondingly low as every thing else.

pecially invite those who have not dealt with us. Come one, come all!
the quick sales and short profits. Thanking you for past patronage we

Yours Truly,
SOL DAVIS, Proprietor.
en Bank, W. Va. Jan 29

The
ocahontas Times,
All Home Print,
rds the People of Pocahontas County one thebest papers for the price in the State.
1.00 per Year
GIVES YOU YOUR COUNTY PAPER.
SUBSCRIBE!
vertise your Wares and Wants ur rates are always low enough warrant your patronage.
r Job Department has been renewed, and guarantee satisfaction. Wedding invita-s and all kinds of work done on short notice
HAVE THE BEST PRINTING PLANT OUT SIDE A LARGE TOWN IN THE STATE. is the time to Subscribe!

NEW BOOK. "SENT 1900 AHEAD." 10,000 of 30 pages cover 30 designs illustrated; houses, cottages, stables, hotels, churches, etc., have been published by The Home, of Boston, Mass., and will be sent to subscribers at regular price (50 a 30-page monthly, filled with original stories, literary and domestic matter and handsome fac-simile colored plates of floors, ceilings, etc. Every number is a complete book in itself. Every 6 cents in stamps will secure one of these books by return mail, or 10 cents will secure a copy of this book with 6 months' subscription to your paper. Send for a free sample copy of The Home. Address The Home, Boston, Mass. The publishers of the book in 30 cents, but I will have some copies sent out by mail, postage prepaid, for only 10 cents. Send silver or stamps. Address this office.

Polk Miller says that the only slave on his father's plantation before the war was his honored mother. We have no doubt she was the worker. The world will never know the weight of responsibility which rested on the Southern matron.—Fayetteville Herald.

But good wives and great mothers are always scarce, under all circumstances, and no emancipation laws or proclamations can free them. They are voluntary slaves, and their fetters are made and their bondage imposed by an indelible love that binds "as all forever".—Norfolk Pilot.

BIOGRAPHIC SKETCHES.

The compiler of these pioneer memorabilia of John McNeel and his family feels happy in this opportunity to express his grateful appreciation of the assistance rendered by Captain William L. McNeel and Dr Matt Wallace.

John McNeel, the ancestor of the McNeel relationship in our county, appears to have been the first to occupy the Little Levels by permanent settlement. He was a native of Frederick County, Virginia, but passed much of his early life in or near Cumberland, Maryland. He seems to have been fond of athletics, and in a pugilistic contest his antagonist was so badly knocked out as to be regarded fatally injured. To avoid arrest and trial for murder he refugeed. He followed the trend of the Alleghanies. A long while was spent in their gloomy solitudes, and his sufferings of mind and body cannot be even imagined by any of us. Finally, going deeper and deeper into the wilderness, he at last came in view of the Levels, about 1765.

As he overlooked this section from some neighboring eminence he saw much to remind him of his native region. An extensive, wooded plain, bordered by mountain ranges of unsurpassed beauty, and very fertile. He decided, as every thing looked so much like the old home scenery, to settle here; and chose a site for his cabin near the present home occupied by Hon M. J. McNeel. Traces of this cabin have been seen by persons yet living, between M. J. McNeel's gate on the public road and his residence. If the spot could be identified, it would be well to mark it with a piece of the marble recently found in such fabulous quantities close by.

Here the solitary man brooded over his supposed guilt, prayed with his broken heart for pardon, and hunted for his food,—subsistence almost entirely upon venison and trout. One day while hunting he met Charles and Edward Kinnison from, his old home; who had come out here prospecting for a situation. He learned from them that the person he boxed with was not dead, nor even seriously hurt. This was indeed good news, and then and there he felt free from all bloody stain, and he could return without fear of molestation.

Mr McNeel insisted upon his friends to share his cabin with him. He assisted them in making a selection for a home adjoining his tract. The three then set out on their return to the lower Valley of Virginia.

While on this visit home, Mr McNeel married Miss Martha Davis, who was born in Wales, in 1740; and soon after their marriage they came out to the Levels. A few acres were soon cleared off, plenty to subsist upon was raised.

Mr McNeel seemed deeply impressed with a sense of gratitude to God for his providential care,—after all his wanderings and fears to permit the lines to fall to him in such a pleasant, wealthy place,—that he built a house for worship—the White Pole Church.

In a few years the Dunmore war opened up. The three friends,—McNeel and the two Kinnisons,—went into camp at Lewisburg, and joined the expedition to Point Pleasant, October 10, 1774. They survived that eventful and important contest, came back, but not to remain very long. They went across the eastern mountains and enlisted in some company that went from Frederick County, served during the war, and then took up the peaceful tenor of their lives where they had left off. There is a pathetic tradition to the effect that while Mr McNeel was absent to Point Pleasant a child was born and died before his return. The mother with her own hands prepared the coffin and the grave, and buried it. So far as now known this is the first white child buried west of the Blue Mountains, and the first white funeral at the McNeel grave-yard. They reared five children: two sons and three daughters.

Miriam married John Jordan and lived near Locust on what is now known as the "Jordan Place," owned by Isaac McNeel. They reared three daughters and five sons. The sons were Jonathan, Isaac, John M., Abram, and Franklin.

Their daughter, Nancy Jordan, first married —Callison, of James. Upon his decease she became the wife of George Edmiston.

Jane Jordan married Major William Blair, who lived west of Hillsboro, on the farm now occupied by J. G. Beard.

Martha Jordan married the late Joseph Beard. She is living now (1897) with Joseph McNeel, near Hillsboro. Lieut J. J. Beard, of Huntersville, and Mrs Isaac McNeel, and Mrs William L. McNeel deceased, are her children.

Nancy McNeel, second daughter of the pioneer, married Richard Hill, who settled on Hill's Creek; and is remembered as the person who escaped at Drennan's, near the mouth of Stony Creek, when James Baker, school teacher, was slain by an Indian, about 1780. Their daughter, Elizabeth Hill, married the late John Bruffey, of Hill's Creek, where some of her descendants yet reside. Among them is T. A. Bruffey, Esq.

George Gillilan married a daughter of Mr and Mrs Hill, but her name could not be recalled.

The sons of Richard Hill were Colonel John Hill, from whom Hillsboro is named; Thomas Hill Joel Hill, Abram Hill, Isaac Hill, and George Hill.

Martha McNeel the pioneer's third daughter, married Griffin Evans, moved West, and settled on the Miami River.

Our venerable pioneer reared two sons, Abram and Isaac.

Abram first married a Miss Lamb. Her brother, William Lamb, was greatly esteemed by Abram McNeel, and he named his son for him—William Lamb was an expert artisan. Capt McNeel has a clock made by this person that is one of the most elegant specimens of its kind to be found anywhere.

Abraham settled on the land now held by Captain Edgar, and by Captain W. L. McNeel and sons, Henry and Joseph. There was one daughter, Elizabeth, who was married to William Hanna, of Greenbrier County.

Abram McNeel's second wife was Miss Bridger. relative of the slain Bridger Brothers. By this marriage there were three sons,—Washington, who died in youth; John; and Abram, who went west.

The daughters of this second marriage were Margaret (Peggy), who married the late William Beard, of Renick's Valley, and she has been dead but a short while.

Martha (Patsey) married Bayliss Butcher, and went west. One of her sons practiced medicine in our county some years since,—Dr F. Butcher.

Miriam, another daughter, married Christopher Beard, and her son, Dr Beard is a prominent physician in Lewisburg.

Nancy McNeel married James Rankin, and lived on the Greenbrier near the mouth of Locust.

Mary (Polly) was a life-long invalid, and never married.

Abram McNeel's third wife was Magdalen Kelly of Monroe County. At the time of their marriage she was the widow Haynes. Rev. James Haynes is a grandson of her first husband. The children of this third marriage are Henry Washington and William Lamb.

Henry Washington has lived mostly in the West, and led a busy life for many years, and is there now. Captain William L. McNeel lives on the old homestead along with two of his sons. He has held many positions of trust, and has met the expectations of his most admiring friends in the camp, in the legislature, and in business affairs.

Isaac McNeel, the other son of the pioneer, John McNeel, settled upon lands now held by the family of the late Jacob McNeel. Hon M. J. McNeel, Hon W. T. Beard, and C. E. Beard, Esq. His first wife was Rachel McKeever. By this marriage there were four sons,—Paul, John, Richard, and Isaac. The daughters were Hannah, Martha, Nancy, and Rachel.

Hannah married Benjamin Wallace, of Bath County, Virginia. Her son is Dr Matt Wallace, an eminent physician at Mill Point. Her daughter, Rachel Wallace, became Mrs William Hefner, a prominent citizen of Braxton County, West Virginia. Her other daughter, Elizabeth, married Christopher Jordan.

Martha McNeel married David McCue, of Nicholas County.

Nancy, the third daughter, married William C. Price, late of Huntonsville, Randolph County.

Rachel McNeel married Jacob Cronch, of Randolph County.

In reference to the sons of the first marriage it will be remembered that Colonel Paul McNeel was one of the most widely-known citizens of his day.

John McNeel's sons are Isaac McNeel, of Mill Point, and Mathew John McNeel, near Hillsboro,—now member of the West Virginia House of Delegates.

Richard McNeel's daughter, Mary. is the wife of Hon W. T. Beard whose sons, Edgar and Lee, are well known.

Isaac McNeel served as Sheriff a number of years, and went west.

By his second marriage, Isaac McNeel, son of John the pioneer, to Miss Ann Seybert, daughter of Jacob Seybert, mouth of Stamping Creek. there were two sons,—Jacob and Samuel Ellis. Samuel Ellis died a soldier in the war.

The daughters of the second marriage were Catherine, who became the wife of Charles Wade, of Green Hill, Virginia; Elizabeth married Jacob Sharp, Esq., near Edray; Miriam married Joseph McClung, of Nicholas County; Magdalen married Dr Robert Williams, of Bath, Virginia.

This brings the chronicles of the venerable pioneer's family down within the memory and observation of the living. His life was of no ordinary interest. His righteous memory should be in everlasting remembrance. He was the first to "wail with judicious care" amid these mountains the hymns sung by his ancestry amid the moors of Scotland,—the Men of the Moss-Hags.

But very little, if any, of the lands he pre-empted has passed out of the possession of the relationship, now in the third and fourth generation,—a very remarkable circumstance in the history of American families. W. T. P.

The Sin of Profanity.

The Wise Man said: "There is nothing new under the sun," and so we find it. Certainly the use of profane language is not new, tho there are times and places that seem to be terribly prolific of this wide-spreading evil. And people who speak profanely (if they use the pen at all) are apt to write profanely,—even printed books, good in other respects, are not unfrequently marred by the irreverent use of God's holy name.

It is a long time ago that our Mighty Maker drew up by the hand of His servant Moses ten safe rules for man's obedience. Among these ten there is one specially devoted to the keeping of God's holy name, with severe warnings to breakers. Would that the 3d Commendment were written in letters of fire before the eyes of all who speak God's name lightly! Under the old Jewish dispensation this sin was punished with death; and in the 24th chapter of Leviticus we read of an instance of this kind.

A thought has sometimes presented itself to me, that if it is indeed true of spoken words going on forever before us, the sound really never ceasing as the ripple on the water made by a pebble; and these spoken words, every single one, to meet us at the end of mortal career, in presence of the Great Judge at His bar,—what will the swearer do then when all his wicked oaths come up to him?

Some persons under great excitement of feeling or to make their speech more emphatic (as they imagine) will utter God's name lightly, persons who cannot be called swearers, in the common acceptation of the term, yet they are wrong, all wrong in this, and commit sin in this for the name of God is holy.

God's goodness is great to us,—each single breath we draw a separate mercy,—and shall we use that very breath in insulting him, our Maker and our best friend?

A few men were once in company, and all swore save one; said he at last, "I notice you use peculiar language in turns, but I 're not had my turn—you 'll allow me that." Agreed, and, as he seemed in no hurry to utter an oath, they bantered him for delay; to which he solemnly replied: "My friends, when I can see the wisdom or use of flying in the face of the great and mighty God,—and till then I beg you leave off so foolish and so wicked a thing." And unwonted silence fell upon the company.

A. L. P.

The Union Soldiers.

In a recent number of THE POCAHONTAS TIMES, over the nom de plume of "A. B. C." an article appeared relative to the Union soldiers, or the men who enlisted in the Union Army from this county as regular volunteers, to serve for three years, or during the war of the Rebellion;—their names and rank.

Twenty Pocahontas men enlisted in Company I, 3d West Virginia Volunteer Cavalry, viz:

John Kelly, Sargent.
Perry Buzzard, "
W. H. Sims, "
C. O. W. Sharp, "
Peter H. Grimes, "
Frank Grimes, Corporal
Abraham Sharp, "
C. N. Kelly, "
J. B. Hannah, "
Beverly Waugh, 1st Lieutenant.

Privates in said Company.

D. K. Sims,
Zane B. Grimes,
Calvin Kelly,
J. H. Duncan,
William Moore,
Alfred D. Gay,
George W. McCarty,
Clark Grimes,
W. A. Kelly,
John W. Tyler.

Then there were soldiers from this county in other regiments, viz:

Andrew Wanless
Nelson Wanless
John Curry
Thomas Akers
William Cutlip
Jeremiah Sharp
Armenius Buzzard
Clark Kellison
Andrew Kellison
James Kee
William Duffield
William Duncan
Jasper Moore
David Moore
Milton C. Sharp
Brown Arbogast
George Arbogast
James E. Johnson.

It would be well for soldiers of both armies, now fellow citizens of our county would endeavor to collect the names of all in the war between the States.

Many of our people had great-grandfathers in the Revolution and in the War of 1812, yet we are not satisfactorily aware of it because pains were not taken to remember their names and deeds by their friends.

Let us try to let our descendants know our history,—they will be more than pleased to have it,—and they will keep us from being forgotten in years to come. Thirty years or more have elapsed since the war. The war being over, and no need of us anymore as soldiers, we came home and resumed our different callings in life. Many of those that were the blue are now voting with those who were the grey, and vice versa. S. W.

"The word Jingo seems to have established its place in the language, and has taken on a certain character of legitimacy which may give it permanence. 'By Jingo' is a common Basque oath as means 'By God,' the dialectic forms of the word being Jingo, Jinco, Jainco, Jinco, Jinco, and Yainco. The 'Jingoes' (in a strict etymological sense) are therefore the swearers, those without moderation or restraint, prone to greater expressions, beautiful, calm, unprejudiced."—New York Tribune.

"MAYBE it is Mr Hanna that is to bring prosperity after he gets into the Senate."—Atlanta Constitution.

The West Virginia University.

Mr Waitman Barbe, the Field Agent of our State University, has requested some members of the Law Class of '96, including the writer, to furnish articles to the several County papers setting forth as best they may the work and scope of this now eminent school.

It is difficult to state succinctly and clearly the various phases of University life and growth. They are as manifold and many-complexioned as the various types of human nature, whose after lives are fashioned under their influence. A school is not to be classed or designated by endowment or architecture, but by the lives and deeds of men. Thus, the history of any institution of eminence is, in a measure, the index to to the advancement, secular and otherwise, of that section of country where its influence is most directly exercised. And as the people are advanced socially and intellectually by such institution, so it will reap the uniform increase of patronage.

Such, in brief, is the experience of the University of West Virginia. A child of the war, like the State, whose name it bears, its progress has been co-equal with the progress of our Commonwealth; and if West Virginia occupies to day an important place in the coterie of States, likewise its chief school holds an enviable position among the colleges of the country. The University however cannot lay claim to the title of venerable. Its first alumni are yet comparatively young men. And its critics, of whom there are nota few, especially in this section, that a just comparison of schools cannot be accomplished without reference to their past history, and the varying fortunes thro which they have passed. An institution is not to be condemned for its youth, nor too freely praised for its age. As an instance of the latter, we may mention the venerable William and Mary, which leans too heavily upon its staff of distinguished founders and advertises its age rather more than merit.

The endowment and equipment of our University are ample, and the statute laws upon the question of taxation have passed, so it is reasonably certain that it will never stand in need of pecuniary assistance. It has now six large and modern buildings, equiped and furnished with all the necessary apparatus for philosophic and scientific study. Its student capacity in most departments is taxed to the utmost; but its friends have recent assurance from the Legislature, now in session, that those departments will be enlarged.

Its faculty can lay claim to some distinguished and eminent men in their respective spheres. Professors Reynolds, of the chair of Metaphysics, Aldrich, of the chair of Applied Mathematics, and Brooke, of the chair of Common Law, are masters in their respective branches and have few equals. That its faculty is held in high esteem by contemporary schools is shown by the fact that they have had several calls from the leading colleges of the country.

Its location is ideally beautiful, healthy. Morgantown is a flouring town of some 4000 inhabitants, situated upon the sloping east bank of the Monongahela river, and from a scientific standpoint it cannot be excelled in the State. It has all the modern improvements and combines many of the advantages of a large city with the freedom and health of the country. A society that is rapidly becoming highly intellectual and refined is one of the most important attributes of the town and the student who is the least inclined socially may reap a lasting benefit in this direction from his stay there.

We bespeak a brilliant future for it. A school whose quota of students has increased with such unprecedented rapidity must have lasting merit. Its growth has not been spasmodic, but steadily progressive; and we are convinced that the young alumni, who reach old age, will have every reason to be proud of the Alma Mater of their youth.

The record of Pocahontas there is well known and does not need repetition. Its athletics, as well as its class rooms, she has established an enviable record. And her young men, who hope to be college-bred, will do well to cast their influence and patronage with a school so worthy and capable of fostering their noblest ambitions.

S. E. S.

STILL DISSATISFIED.—"Well, remarked the wife of the man who has changed his mind about coming to Congress, "you have a nice commission, anyhow."

"I never liked it," was the rueful reply. "But a clear conscience was all what I was running for."—Washington Star.

...las Times.
EDITOR
Feb. 26, 1897.
DOLLAR in ad-
within the year
...
...office at Martin-
...nd class matter.

...preventing deer
...ve years has pass-
...of the legislature

...timmons fight
...March 19th. We
...killed.

...d that while Mr
...ceased to lecture
...ict, he will be a
...metallic leagues o
...ions which woul
...ights. In this wa
...o in sight, one t
...ause, and the oth
...own dinner pot
...he silver agitation
...what vitality the
...and if the quest
...ears to be as live
...Republican friends
...k for all that is in
...not be much left for
...do in a very short

...olph Tucker.

...ning, February 13,
...Randolph Tucker
...ane in Lexington,
...e 75th year of his
...ne of his death he
...e the most distin-
...an of the period.
...at Winchester, Vir-
...e 24, 1823, a mem-
...he most prominent
...ginia history. After
...l at Richmond and
...y of Virginia, very
...began his renown-
...marked ability and
...ience in the State-
...rch. As Attorney-
...ginia and as mem-
...ss for twelve years,
...erator and statesman
...tional reputation.
...sion of polygamy in
...ely due to his efforts.
...tical circles he was
...ous, and some of the
...he addresses of the
...made by him at the
...ntennial, in 1888, at
...e ... encouraged
...r another center.
...—on the part per-
...Presbyterian usages
...church government
...the way for civil and
...ty in America.
...years were spent as
...Law in Washington
...versity. Much of his
...e to the study of the
...several years he in-
...ass of two or three
...lends and citizens in
...He was intimately ac-
...h the foremost men of
...in all parts of our
...; and wherever the
...ligion was broached,
...e no uncertain words
...avowing his faith in
...e this remarkable man
...he was first-class and
...by all classes and con-
...y people.
...g scene of his life was
...with his eventful histo-
...ecessions that his de-
...just at hand, he gath-
...bered around his bed-
...ren and grand-children,
...ounded them to the
...father's special care in
...deep, earnest feeling
...nding power.

...Wilson Kilgar
...delegate of the gold-bug
...ck, it is said, has put
...of men to work, has been
...these prosperity times
...ervation, and it is well
...greatest blessing that
...for years. We hope
...and of true, the road
...e is near the dead bod
...ersons which still live
...that it has been the
...have benefited and
...ublic service. Now that
...e dead let the people
...death of many one
...ave forgotten the ac-
...former party has been
...ve most if it honestly
...ge is at once changed
...the trust is no longer
...ervative & Vindicator.

...Harrison, who sup-
...Democratic District in
...ongressional fight in
...ar, died of congestive
...ay, February 15th.
...and Democrat in Mon-
...He took an ac-
...e campaign just be-
...ion and he was one
...ho campaigned for gov-
...in both rain and wind

SENATORS AND THINGS.

It is a great relief to pass from the House of Representatives to the Senate, at Washington. That is the Senate is more like a decent body of men. The journey from the House to the Senate is a long, painful walk to the country gentleman who has large and tender feet, which being accustomed to delightful mud-walks of a country neighborhood, get very sore when called upon to carry a full-sized man, with a heavy load, over the solid pavements of a city. To tell the reader, therefore, that it is a long walk from the House in one end of the Capitol to the Senate extension in the other, he can form an idea what a gigantic building he Capitol of the United States is.

Pursuing his way thro marble halls, he reaches the elevator, asks the conductor whether the Senate is in executive session, and finding that the senate is in a position to be viewed, is lifted to the gallery floor; and after passing numerous doors upon which are labeled a number of legends, finds by diligent searching a door over which are the words "Gentleman's Entrance." Believing himself to belong to the class commonly denominated as gentlemen or "gents," in he walks and sits down by the side of a very affable idiot from Somewhere, who possessed a vast amount of misinformation about the Senators. He was from the neighboring State of Massachusetts, and was gifted with a desire to change the names of various citizens, evidently thinking it no robbery. Being possessed with an inordinate desire to see Stephen B. Elkins, tho we differ in politics, we formed the acquaintance of the man from Massachusetts, tho he did look like an insufferable imbecile. He was quite equal to the occasion and instantly pointed out that fanatic Tillman as Elkins, who was once a cabinet member.

Now while the man we are speaking of differs from Elkins in his every-day politics, he is not such a bigoted fool as not to know that Elkins is a man for West Virginia to be proud of; and he knew the one-eyed man with a crazy face was not Elkins. Therefore, he did not pursue his inquiries any further with that man.

On his left sat a very intelligent looking [illegible] of the U. S. Infantry. He proved to be familiar with the faces of the Senators, and to him the man owes the most satisfaction of his visit to the Senate. If, by some remarkable coincidence, this meets his eyes, he will know that his country neighbor holds him in grateful remembrance. He pointed out Tillman at once, and said he had the face of a fiend. Elkins was not present. With his aid Faulkner, with his hateful chin-whiskers, was found deep in a sort of gossippy conversation with a Western Senator.

David B. Hill was spotted at once. He is the shrewdest schemer of the Senate. He would strike any observer as a very smooth citizen. This interesting man can best be described to the people of our county, perhaps, by telling them that he is a man of apparently about the same age and appearance as Lock McClintic, our Pocahontas statesman. He was certainly, in spite of his bald head, the youngest-looking member in the Senate that day.

Teller droned away on some uninteresting appropriation bill, and the man in the gallery studied some of the faces. John Sherman sat like a statue, and it was impossible to tell from his general appearance whether he had any sense or not. Lodge, from Massachusetts, was the neatest-looking man; and Call, from Florida, looked like a citizen of Webster County. Away over on the other side was a wild-looking man with a long, silky beard on his chest, reaching down to the hem of the garment called the vest, yet without he was clean and nice looking. It was Peffer, the Rights man from Kansas. Quay did not look like a fool. Daniels had a wonderful resemblance to a clergyman. Sherman has the most venerable looking face that he has ever seen. Bill Chandler, whom the southern people regard as an unmitigated villian of Rebeldom, was the secretary of the State of West Virginia. It is believed that they do appoint him within one month after the close of the next presidential term and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this unit. Yours,

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
Wm. M. & J. W. McAllister p. q.

For [illegible] notice.

owing to his crudeness may be of interest to Pocahontas people. Being seated in the middle of a section, rather than cause the whole line to move he stepped on a rather dingy seat, light and easily, and transferred himself to the next row of seats. He was promptly arrested by the Sergeant at Arms, and it was with utmost difficulty that his affability enabled him to pacify the Sergeant at Arms. Just, however, as he was going down in his pocket for a more weighty argument, the Sergeant dismissed him with a blessing, and so hardened was the desperate villain from Pocahontas, that he hurried to the elevator without a single feeling of compunction, and escaped unscathed.

WHAT COULD SHE DO?—An exchange tells of an old lady who, being seriously ill, found herself in a trying position.

"You see," she said to a friend, "my daughter Harriet is married to one o' these homeypath doctors, and my daughter Kate to an allypath. If I call in the homeypath, my allypath son-in-law and his wife get mad, an' if I call in my allypath son-in-law, my homeypath son-in-law an' his wife get mad; an' if I go ahead an' get well without either of them, then they'll both be mad, so I do n't see but I had better die and be done with it."

THE New York Mail and Express is one of the most thoroughly orthodox of American newspapers on seligious subjects. Unlike Dr Abbott, it accepts without reserve the inspiration of the scriptures and treats every miricle recorded therein as a divine fact With reference to the somewhat jocular manner in which Dr Abbot has alluded in his sermons to Jonah and the whale and other biblical narratives. The Mail add Express says:

"Those who reject the supernatural may ascend with slow steps to the luring heights of human knowledge, but when they stand upon the apex they have only constructed a magnificent machine without any adequate motive power to drive and direct it. To discard the infallible authority of the Bible in religion and theology is to ignore that which constitutes the real essence of Revelation, the secret of its unity and source of its vitality. The Christian religion does not condemn reason, but it requires the exercise of reason within certain designed limitations. The reason must ever remember that its intellect is finite, and, therefore, is not able to discover or comprehend the principles of these truths, which are related in the accusation, existence and manifestation to the infinite."

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONNAS COUNTY, }

At Rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on Monday, February 1st, 1897.

William M. McAllister, . . Plaintiff.
vs.
Levi Gay, late Sheriff of Pocahontas County, and as such administer of J. W. W. Bias, deceased; Kate E. Cowan (nee Bias), wife of ——— Cowan; Mary Florence Adams (nee Bias), wife of Thomas Adams; Margaret B. Long (nee Bias) wife of — Long; and Warwick G. Bias, heirs at law of said J. W. W. Bias and said Thomas Adams, — Long, and — Cowan, C. R. McDonnald, Executor of Mary C. Bias and Eliza J. Warwick, and J. W. Warwick, her husband . . . . . Defendants

The object of this suit is to have a decree against the Administrator, J. W. W. Bias in favor of plaintiff for $372.17 with legal interest thereon from the 1st day of January, 1885, till paid, due by bond, less $26.28 paid December 15, 1890, and to have sale of undivided interest in the residue of a tract of 1,000 acres devised by M. C. Bias to be sold, and the interest of said J. W. W. Bias in another tract of 57½ acres and a tract of 700 acres devised of said M. C. Bias, and, if necessary, a sale of the interest of said J. W. W. Bias in the entire one half interested in the residue of said tract of land of 1,000 acres, whereof Margaret Gatewood died seized and possessed.

This day came the plaintiff by his attorneys, and on their motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed that the said defendants, Kate E. Cowan and —— Cowan, her husband; Mary Florence Adams and Thomas Adams, her husband; Margaret B. Long and —— Long, her husband; Warwick G. Bias, C. R. McDonnald, executor of Mary C. Bias; Eliza J. Warwick and J. W. Warwick, her husband, are non residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the first publication of this decree and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit. Teste

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
Wm. M. & J. W. McAllister p. q.

Trustee's Sale

By virtue of a deed of trust executed to George K. Gay, trustee, by Marquis G. Waugh and Susan H. Waugh, his wife, dated on the 5th day of July, 1878, and recorded in the Clerk's office of the County Court of Pocahontas, West Virginia, in Deed Book No. 13, Page 45,—to secure the payment of three certain promissory notes, fully mentioned and described therein,—and default having been made in the payment thereof, and being required so to do by the holders of said notes;—I, George K. Gay, trustee, will on the 6th day of April, 1897, that being the first day of Circuit Court, commencing at 1 o'clock, p. m., at the front door of the Courthouse of said Pocahontas County, W. Va., proceed to sell by way of public auction to the highest bidder the property conveyed by said deed, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy said indebtedness.

Said real estate lying and being in the 2d District, Pocahontas County, West Virginia, containing two hundred and forty acres, adjoining the James Waugh lands on Greenbrier River, it being the same land upon which the said M. G. Waugh now resides, and is fully referred to and described in said deed of trust.

TERMS OF SALE: Sufficient cash in hand to pay costs of sale, and balance in two equal payments, at six and twelve months from day of sale; purchaser to give bonds for deferred payments, with approved personal security, with interest from date, title retained as ultimate security. GEORGE K. GAY.
By Attorney.
March 4, 1897. 4t

WE PAY POSTAGE.

Free of all charges, we will mail to anyone our advance illustrated catalog for 1897 (just issued.) It contains 554 illustrations of Furniture, Carpets, Lace Curtains, Bedding, Stoves, lamps, Refrigerators, Baby Carriages, etc. You save the middleman's profits by trading with the manufacturer, as you are paying local dealers double our prices. Drop a postal now for our money-saver.

Julius Hines & Son,
Baltimore, Md.

NOTICE

Big Auction Sale of New Goods!

I will be in Marlinton on Tuesday and Wednesday, the 2d and 3d days of MARCH, 1897,—

COUNTY COURT DAYS,

with the largest and best stock of goods that I have ever sold at auction in the county, consisting of——

Dry Goods, ladies' dress Goods, Notions, Boots Shoes Rubber Hats, Caps, Men's and Boys' Clothing Underwear of all kinds, Comforts and Blankets. $500 worth o Ldies' and Childrens CLOAKS AND CAPES! all Sizes, Latest Styles.

Keep your eye on the Cloaks and Capes, for there are bargains and comfort in them.

I invite all to come. Ladies and gentlemen, it will pay you to come twenty-five miles—if you want bargains.

Those goods will be sold, regardless of cost, at

MARLINTON,
MARCH 2D and 3D, 1897.

C. B. SWECKER,
The Silver Tongued Auctioneer.

VALUABLE

Property for Sale Privately.

One of the most complete residences in the county, situated in the village of Hillsboro, is offered for sale privately, on good terms.

This would be especially valuable to any doctor who wishes to locate in one of the best sections of the State. The owner, a physician, wishes to retire, for private reasons that will be perfectly satisfactory to any proposed purchaser.

Further information cheerfully afforded any inquirer by the editor of this paper.

Trustee's Sale

—OF—

Valuable Real Estate,

Situate in the Counties of Webster, Pocahontas, and Randolph, in the State of West Virginia.

By virtue of a deed of trust made by Marsenus H. Briggs and Elizabeth W. Briggs, his wife, to me as trustee, dated April 1st, A. D. 1893, I will sell at public auction at the front door of the court-house of Webster County, State of West Virginia, on

Sat. February 27, 1897

Commencing at 10 o'clock a. m. the following described property, to-wit: Beginning at a lynn and two sugars on the divide between Gauley River and Leatherwood, in a line of a 3033 acre tract, and running up said divide N. 72¼ W. 50 poles to a beech; S. 7 E. 20 poles to two beeches; N. 82 E. 24 poles to two beeches; N. 56 E. 18 poles to a beech; N. 55 E. 31 poles to a sugar; S. 70 E. 40¼ poles to two maples and small lynn on a knob in a line of said 3033 acres; with same N. 28 E. 24 poles to the corner of said 787 acre tract, survey continued N. 28 E. 28 poles to a birch and beech; thence running through said 787 acres N. 69 E. 31 poles to a cherry; N. 84 E. 29 poles to a sugar by a large rock; N. 77 E. 36 poles to a beech; N. 64 E. 59 poles to a beech and yew pine; S. 66 E. 32 poles to a beech and pine by a path; S. 38 E. 43 poles to two sugars from one root on a knob; S. 75 E. crossing the county line between Webster and Randolph at 10 poles, in all 100 poles to two beeches and two small spruce pines; N. 65 E. 52 poles to two small beeches with a birch pointer; S. 84 E. 24½ poles to a pine and spruce; South 62¼ East 80 poles to two pines on a cliff; S 72½ E. forty-one poles to two pines in a line of said 787 acres, with same S. 80 E. 17 poles to two pines and a beech, corner of same near the Pine Camp; S. 77 E. 25 poles to two bunches with pine pointers; S 50 E. 22 poles to a pine; S. 65¼ E. E. 19 poles to a sugar; N. 88 E. 70 poles to a beech and birch; S. 40 E. 27 poles to a beech and pine; S. 35 E. 22 poles to a large maple; S. 42 E. 40 poles to a maple and beech in a line of said Moore Survey of 750 acres, with same S. 50 W. 4 poles to a maple, two pines and service corner of said Hughart Survey of 1000 acres made on the first day of April, 1853; thence with said survey and leaving said divide S. 88 W. 120 poles to a maple, beech, and two pines by a small chain of Leatherwood; N. 2 E. 29 poles to two dead pines on a high cliff; S. 88 E. crossing the county line between Randolph and Pocahontas at 88 poles, in all 147 poles to a pine and two beeches by a small branch; S. 2 W. 42 poles to a dead pine, and two beeches and pines between two small branches; S. 88 E. 168 poles to a birch, beech, and two pines on the west brow of the said divide facing main Elk; N. 65 W. 180 poles to two beeches, two pines, and five beeches on the said county line between Randolph and Pocahontas; N. 5½ W. 406 poles to two small beeches with pointers and a fallen pine and three fallen beeches; N. 21 W. 698 to two beeches, two pines, and a birch, corner of said Snyder tract of 1000 acres, with same N. 21 W. 140 poles to four pines; N. 24 W. 345 poles to a spruce and beech between two small hallows, branches of Big Run, on a line of the Moore 750 acre tract, with same North 7 E. about 133 poles to an oak and maple on top of a mountain; N. 26 W. 215 poles to a beech and cherry; S. 37¾ W. 50 poles to a maple and double birch, same course S. 37¾ W. 80 poles to a stake, corner of the Moore Survey of 600 acres, with same N. 23¼ W. 14 poles to three small chestnuts with a beech point er; S. 41¼ W. crossing Big Run at 205 poles and Bergoo at 797 poles, in all 827 poles to a lynn and fallen sugar in a small hollow on a north hillside; S. 27½ W. crossing right hand fork of Bergoo at 767 poles and passing two large cherries, sugar, and beech at four hundred and twenty one poles, corner to said 3033 acre tract, in all 1116 poles to the beginning, containing by actual survey, 10,012 acres, exceeding by the ten thousand and twelve acres, be the same, however, ever so much more or less.

Said tract of 10,012 acres of land is *composed of the following sur*veys and tracts;

No. 1, 3,033 acres surveyed for Hughart and Snyder,

No. 2, 787 acres surveyed for Peter Conrad.

No. 3 415 acres surveyed for J. Arnold,

No. 4, 1,000 acres surveyed by J. P. Hughart,

No. 5, 750 acres surveyed for Henry C. Moore,

No. 6, 1000 acres surveyed for W. A. Snyder,

No. 7, 778 acres and 600 acres surveyed for Henry C. Moore.

And being the same land conveyed to said Marsenus H. Briggs by John T. McGraw by deed of April 1st, 1893, to which reference is here now specially made.

TERMS OF SALE: One third of the purchase money, and as much more as the purchaser may elect to pay in cash, and the balance in three equal installments, in six, twelve, and eighteen months from day of sale, the purchaser giving his notes with interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, with approved personal security, and the title to be retained or deed of trust given upon the property as additional security.

CHARLES H. DURBIN,
Trustee.
T. S. Riley, Wheeling, W. Va., Attorney.

The Greatest Medicinal Whiskey the World has Ever Known.

BRADDOCK PURE RYE
AND BARLEY MALT.

SMOOTH, SOFT, RICH, RIPE, MELLOW AND CHEMICALLY PURE, A RECOMMENDATION IN ITSELF.

TRY A GALLON AT $2.00

Mail Orders solicited either great or small and receive our personal and prompt attention. Drop us a postal for price list. Don't use inferior goods but mail us your orders; we can save you money and perhaps your health.

JAS CLARK DISTILLING CO., JNO. McQUAIDE Mngr.

Distillers of Braddock Pure Rye. Wholesale and Retail Liquor Dealers.
20 and 22 South New St., Staunton. Va.

Duke! Duke!

HIGH GRADE BICYCLES!

1896 Model.

Frame long head and wheel base. Made from best cold drawn steel tubing, narrow tread, 28inch wheels, Wood Rims, Nickeled Spokes, M and W. Quick-Repair Tire. All connexions drop forged steel. Ball bearing to every part; bearings made from the best steel, tempered and ground, dust proof, 6 inch cranks, Rat trap or Rubber Peddles, one-fourth inch Humber Chain with hardened rivets and centers. Drop-forged steel sprockets, T pattern saddle post, Garford Sadddle, 68 inch gear, weight 24 lbs.

Price, $50.00.

1895 Model Duke, 27lbs., Price, $40.00

A full and complete stock of Bicycle Sundries and Repairs, eye lometers, Lamps, Bells, &c. Repairing of all kinds a specialty
Send us your broken bicycles and we can make them good as new
RESPECTFULLY,

RONCEVERTE, W VA Eagle AND Ott.

We have a plan by which Farmers can get
TOOL CHESTS FREE

Containing of first-class quality (guaranteed) cross cut saw, Axe, Saws and Planes (no black-smoke to mark) chisels, mortise or hand, a hammer, screw driver, gauge, rule, oil stone, and all tools required for particulars. Farrell Implement & Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.

FURNITURE FACTORY

AND

Furniture Store.

Fine Furnitnre Made to Order.

STOCK ALWAYS ON HAND.

I am occupying the Temporary Court-house and am prepared to make to order all kinds of Furniture at lower prices than can be obtained elsewhere. Don't be cheated in Furniture but buy from a reliable cabinet maker who works up the native woods.

I can order you furniture from the city at better terms than you can to save your life. Whenever you need anything in my line you will save money by giving me a call.

W. J. Killingsworth.

he Pocahontas Times.

FEBRUARY 20, 1897.

Local Events.

WHEN writing to advertisers mention THE TIMES.

DIED: Hubert, only son of Dr. James A. Lucas, of Hillsboro, Pocahontas County, on Friday, February 19th.

MARRIED: At the residence of the bride's mother, in Hillsboro, Rev W. T. Price, Mr. William Lucas, of Edray, to Miss Verdie B. Clark.

THE Marlinton school closed its regular session of five months on Wednesday. Miss Shearer will continue to teach a subscription school. She is a good teacher and would have the patronage of the people.

A PENNY in the pocket is a good companion—sure thing!—but to have a half-dollar in that same pocket is better. To get it buy six pounds of coffee for one dollar at the GOLDEN STORE, and see how easy it is to save the half-dollar.

FORMEY BEARD of Academy was near being fatally injured last week by the ice his wagon slipped over a high bank. He jumped in the opposite direction, and escaped injury. The wagon performed two somersaults, but neither horses or wagon were materially damaged.

THERE was a terrific thunderstorm about the head of Swago last Sunday afternoon, between 3 and 4 o'clock, moving from South to North. Houses shook and the windows rattled, but the rain was not very heavy. The scene was truly sublime and interesting, viewed as it was from a safe distance.

THE Ronceverte News speaks as an assignment made by Merrick A. Burr, on February 13, for the benefit of his creditors. J. M. Price is the trustee; assets $4,200, liabilities 2,100. Mr Burr has been doing a general merchandise business in the Hurxthal house, near the County bridge over the Greenbrier.

THE successful man always sticks to one thing until he gets there—So does the postage-stamp. From February 22d to 27 we will give absolutely free to every one buying as much as one dollar's worth of goods 1 pound best green coffee. This is our loss and your gain. Remember this is a cash sale. L. D. SHARP.

ANDREW YOUNG ADKISSON, only surviving brother of the late Joseph Adkisson, of Swago, has been just heard from after an interval of nine years. He is in Oklahoma and has been blown out of house and home by a cyclone. He gathered up the fragments and rebuilt, and is getting along nicely. His wife was a daughter of the late John Auldridge, on Laurel Creek.

WE learn that Captain Peters has finished sliding and is about ready for water. The landing is at the Burr place, in Burr's Valley, about six miles from the Greenbrier by way of Laurel Creek. The creek is about as crooked as a lariat-rope, and the driving may be slow and hazardous. It will be something uncommon if the Captain fails to be on time.

WHEN we sent those statements to subscribers outside the county, we expected responses to most of them. Quite a number responded with the cash, and many paid up a year in advance; but the majority have not been heard from yet. Hurry up, gentlemen, we will appreciate settlements made at this time. Our home subscribers are urgently requested to pay up. Do not wait for the bills we shall send out soon.

ROBES & Co. and The Rodes-Morton Co. and Col. John Driscoll assigned in favor of their creditors last week. The firm did a general merchandise and furnishing business and was one of the largest out in this part of the State. They had a large Pocahontas trade and were well liked by all of their customers to whom they were very obliging and considerate. Col John Driscoll was intimately connected with the lumber business in this county, first as a jobber and then as President of the M. & L. Railroad & Lumber Co. He is respected and liked by all of the many people he had business with and who have ever been employed by him and was fairly idolized by the men who have worked under him. The special cause of the assignment is not known, but the hard times brought it about.

THE Staunton and Lewisburg papers speak feelingly admiringly of the decease of Dr. J. E. Arbuckle, at New Hope, in Augusta county, aged 63 years. He was greatly esteemed as a gentleman and physician. He was reared near Lewisburg and is survived by his wife and one daughter, about two years old. Messrs John D. and Alexander Arbuckle are his brothers. Dr Arbuckle began his medical career at Green Bank, and for a year or two lived in Woodrow, in this county, where he married Miss Nannie Patrick, daughter of the late Maj. Wm. Patrick. He seems to have been a worthy member of one of the oldest families in Greenbrier, whose history we intersperse with that of the county from the earliest period given to the present.

PERSONEL.

Miss Annis King is teaching a privates school in Col Levi Gay's family.

John Gibson, of Elk, was in Marlinton Saturday, and his visit to THE TIMES office is much appreciated. He reports everything lovely and prosperous in his neighborhood.

O. E. McKeever is arranging to move to Huntersville in a few weeks and become a resident of that place.

J. W. Kinnison, near Hillsboro, was a welcome visitor at THE TIMES office last Thursday.

The venerable Daniel Kellison, of Dry Branch, past his 80th year, has in a measure rallied from his late spell of prostration from la grippe, and is passing his old age serenely and comfortably. He is highly esteemed by all his acquaintances as a worthy man in all the relations of life.

Captain Jim McNeil's numerous friends will be pleased to hear that in the main he has passed a comfortable winter. He loves his country with all the ardor of his patriotic heart, but is sorry to say that he can see nothing good in the golden fancies entertained by our fellow citizens in power. He does not think the confidence is anywhere, outside of the better world, to be found to run a hundred billion business on a billion basis. Such a policy may answer when the millennium comes, but not before.

Mrs Clark Kellison, a devoted reader of THE TIMES, has been an invalid all winter, but is at present much better, and hopes to be well when the weather settles.

The Brush school (colored) taught by J. W. Renick, closed on Friday last. Renick, by perseverence and industry, has advanced himself to the forefront of the intelligent negro population of this county. He takes charge of the colored school in the Levels soon.

Mr W. S. Wysong leaves this week for Addison, Webster County where he will locate for the practice of his profession.

Ms and Mrs Andrew Price have returned from their bridal tour. While absent they visited Washington and Richmond and intermediate points.

High Water.

The people of Marlinton were put to considerable trouble and inconvenience by the rise of the waters occasioned by the sudden thaw and the unusual atmospheric conditions the first part of the week.

The early settlers, who have passed unscathed through several "floods," were not much scared; but the later population were more or less alarmed,—some moving to higher ground Monday night.

The waters continued at flood for an unprecedented length of time, owing to melting snow. Razed fencing, washed roads, and a few outbuildings carried away, with flooded cellars and mud over everything comprises the extent of the damage here.

These floods appear to materialize at periods of about ten years, and the residents of Marlinton bear the loss of their property with what philosophy they may; and by the pleasure they took in looking at the spectacle of the rushing waters seemed to recompense themselves for the inconvenience and loss of sleep they were put to.

The logs of Smith & Whiting's drive are pretty widely scattered over fields adjoining Marlinton.

DESCRIBED BY "S. A. P."

Some years ago, when Marlinton was only talked about, before it had become the real thing it is now; somebody, I forget who, predicted that the town would be washed away, down the river somewhere,—odor, starch, and everything be taken out at one washing.

Remembering the prediction, we begin to get uneasy when it looks like rain. The river looked very ugly Monday evening. Residents of Marlinton thinking, perhaps, they had gotten into a bad bargain —a town that wont wash,—sat up with themselves all night Monday night, thinking fearfully of the water in the river.

The morning disclosed a good deal of water spewed over the bottoms, but nobody washed away.

Sticklers for good measure may complain of a little shrinkage in the town; several wood-piles missing, some sheds and fences and pieces of walk gone, while in one place the road seems to be washed around the house and on for the church, nobody complains,—we are as stiff as ever.

On Tuesday the youth and beauty of Marlinton, quick to take advantage of the rise in the river, enjoyed the rare sport of boating in their neighbors' corn-fields and gardens. Many a boat load of young ladies and gentlemen, one being at the hotel steps, sailed serenely over the former site of Dr. Cunningham's wood pile, down to C. A. Yeager's corn-field and back, their glad voices making any what would have otherwise been only a desolate scene of ruin and rotted water, desolate scene about through the fields.

Low Rates to Washington.

Round trip tickets Millinery to Washington and return, $5.75 on sale Jan. 30, and 31 of March. For Presidential Inauguration.

NO MONEY REQUIRED.

All the Editor Needs is Thanks, and He Will Get Out the Paper.

It takes money to run a newspaper.—St. John (Kansas) News.

What an exaggeration, what a whopper. It has been disproved a thousand times; it is a clean case of airy fancy. It does n't take money to run a newspaper. It can be run without money. It is a charitable institution, a begging concern, a highway robber. If Godfrey a newspaper is a child of the air, a creature of a dream. It can go on and on and on, when any other concern would be in the hands of a receiver and wound up with cob-webs in the windows.

It takes wind to run a newspaper, it takes gall to run a newspaper. It takes a scintillating, emphatic imagination, and a half-dozen white shirts, and a railroad pass to run a newspaper. But money —heavens to Betsy and six hands round, who ever needed money in conducting a newspaper! Kind words are the medium of exchange that do business for the editor, kind words and church notices and puffs. When you see an editor with money watch him. He 'll be paying his bills and disgracing his profession. Never give an editor any money. Make him trade it out. He likes to swap.

Then when you die, after having stood around for years and sneered at the editor and his little jimcrow paper, please send your wife in four three extra copies for your weeping children, and when they read the generous and touching notice about you, forewarn her not to send 15 cents to the editor. It would overwhelm him. Money is a corrupt thing,—the editor knows it,—and what he wants is your heartfelt thanks. Then he can thank the printers and they can thank their grocers.

Take your job work to the job office and then come and ask for half rates for the church notices. Get your lodge letter heads and stationary printed out of town and then flood the editor with beautiful thoughts in the shape of respect and cards of thanks. Then make such spicy reading and when you pick it up filled with these mortuary articles, you are so proud of your little local paper!

But money—scorn the filthy thing. Do n't let the pure, innocent editor know anything about it. Keep that for the sordid trades people who charge for their wares. The editor gives his bounty away. The Lord loves a cheerful giver. He 'll take care of the editor. Do n't worry about the editor. He has a charter from the state to act as a door mat for the community. He will get the paper out some how and stand up for the town and whoop it up for your enterprise for office and lie about your pigeon-toed daughter's tacky wedding and blow about your big footed sons, when they get a $4 a week job, and weep over the remains of your deceased wife when death releases your family obligations, and smile over your joy at your second marriage. Dont worry about the editor; he 'll get on. The Lord knows how—but some how.—The Emporia Gazette.

Notice.

All parties knowing themselves indebted to me will please come forward and settle up by the 15th of March, 1897, as I intend to make some change in my business.

GEORGE W. GINGER.

Huntersville, W. Va. 4t

Notice.

We hereby notify all persons not to trespass on our land, by hunting, laying down fences, or in any other way.

NATHAN, SHEARER & CO.

Notice.

All parties endebted to the late Pocahontas Herald on subscription, will settle before the 25th of Feb. 1897, and save costs.

ORIS W. SLAVIN.

Marlinton, W. Va.

LOCAL.

CLOVER CREEK.

The sick in this vicinity are improving.

Feed is plentiful and stock looking very well.

It is hard to please the young ladies, tho some of them were over their valentines.

Mrs Sallie Ligon is improving and is able to walk about the house.

Jesse Meeks has moved from Driftwood, where he has finished sawing mills for the new church, which is being built slowly.

Miss Mary Brown's school closed last Friday, at Driftwood.

Dr Ligon has been kept very busy for the past few weeks, visiting the sick of that locality and doing his own feeding.

Sam Higgin's hounds ran a fox thro Andy McColpin's yard, the other day.

Dr Ligon crossed Elk Mountain in rough last week. He is the first man to come with a team this winter. He sized and turned once several times, but he came out on top every time.

Died: Gracie Meeks, child of James Meeks, on Friday night February 5, aged 1 months and 20 days. "The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away, blessed be the name of the Lord."

A FRIEND.

KNAPP'S CREEK.

There are more cattle-buyers than cattle, in this neighborhood.

Harry Wade, of Valley, was visiting in this section last week.

John Waugh passed down the Creek on Monday.

Sheriff Hill is in this section on business.

Messrs. Hannah, Hevner, Peterson and Johns were on the Creek buying cattle.

Miss Lillie Curry, of Huntersville, is visiting I. B. Moore.

Price Moore was at Marlinton J. B. Moore went to Dunmore on business last week.

Miss Lucy Sharp, of Driscol, is attending school at Frost.

D. B. McElwee and son went down the Creek last week.

There is plenty of feed here.

The people are beginning to make sugar.

Ham Moore has moved to Covington, Virginia.

There will be singing at Mt. Vernon next Sunday, every one is invited to attend.

Boys, do n't stay out late at night. The rabbits will catch you before you can get home.

Sherman and Will Gibson have rented Dennis Dever's farm. Mr Dever is talking about going West for his health, in the spring.

Prof. Lantz's school will be out in about five weeks. BILL.

DRY BRANCH.

We have had lots of snow and plenty of weather in the past two weeks.

Jack Miller is on the sick list.

Died: An infant child of Mr and Mrs Mac Wood.

Some of our friends attended the closing of Professor Simmons' school, on last Friday.

French Beal has gone to Webster to see his best girl.

Anyone wanting sleds on short notice is invited to call on Cameron Beal and Joe Miller, they can make one in three weeks.

Dave Linzsay is still at work.

W. B. McCloud and B. B. Earnhart have been trading horses.

Files Ware will move to J. B. Wandlys place soon.

Mary Arthur Lawson, of Mingo, has gone to his home in England.

The Elk Ironclads and the Mingo Red Shirts will play a game of football soon.

Clark Sharp has returned from Beverly. He reports the roads to be in a very bad condition.

There will be some weddings on the Branch, soon.

F. P. Marshall was here on business, last Saturday.

Mack Moore, of Elkins, is moving to his former home on Dry Branch. WHISTLE CAT.

YELK.

News is scarce at this waiting.

Plenty of snow and cold weather. Feed plenty and stock wintering well.

The schools have all closed. T. M. McCarty's school closed on Friday. After partaking of a sumptuous dinner, prepared by the mothers, they played a game of foot ball, and then had a spelling bee.

S. M. Gibson is clearing for L. D. Sharp.

J. N. Hite made a flying trip to Beverly for L. D. Sharp our cheap merchant. He purchases the best of coffee at 17, 18 and 19 cents. Of him buy your coffee and fine tea. Here is your chance to buy a good pair of pants for $1.

G. L. Hannah is attending court in Webster. JOHN.

Order of Publication.

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONTAS COUNTY, }

At rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on Monday, the 1st day of February, 1897.

Wm. M. McAllister ..... Plaintiff
vs.
Mary Florence Adams, Thomas Adams, her husband, and C. R. McDannald, Executor of Mary C. Bias, deceased, ... Defendants.

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree against the defendant, Mary Florence Adams, for the sum of $626.16, with interest from the 1st day of January, 1885, on $497.26 part thereof, and the cost of this proceeding; to require C. R. McDannald, Executor of Mary C. Bias deceased, to sell the remainder of the lands devised to him for that purpose and apply the interest of said Mary Florence Adams to the discharge pro tanto of said debt and to bring said proceeds and said interests in his hands; and to attach the undivided interest of said Mary Florence Adams as an heir of Margaret Gatewood, deceased, in the lands in Pocahontas County, whereof the said Margaret died seized and possessed, to wit: The undivided one-half interest in 1,000 acres, lying on Big Spring Run, in Pocahontas County, and to have a sale made of said undivided interest, and the proceeds applied to the discharge of said debt.

It is this day ordered the plaintiff, by his attorneys; and on their motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed that the said defendants, Mary Florence Adams, Thomas Adams, her husband, and C. R. McDannald, Executor of Mary C. Bias, deceased, are non-residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order, and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
H. S. Hacker, p. q. 4t

Is France, wagon tires vary from three to ten inches in width, usually from four to six, depending upon the weight of the load. Were such tires compulsory in America, the present good road movement would receive a tremendous impetus.—Scientific American.

OIL NEWS.—Messrs Haler and Stargardter, of Washington, representing the Ronceverte Oil Co., who have been in this section examining the geological formation, have returned to Washington. Mr Haler, who is an oil expert, says that there has been a tremendous upheaval in this section in ages past, and that it is impossible to determine except by actual test whether oil exists in paying quantities. The company, however, is willing to spend at least $5,000 in the test of a body of land, say two miles wide, extending from Muddy Mountain east to Grassy Knobs in Irish Corner district, can be leased.

The company wishes to begin operations by March 1, and we would suggest that those land owners, who have not given leases (within the area mentioned) should do so within the next ten days, so that the operations may begin at the date mentioned, or the enterprise may be delyed or perhaps wholly abandoned.—The Ronceverte News.

MR WARD L. SMITH, of Fredricktown, Mo., was troubled with chronic diarrhoea for over thirty years. He had become fully satisfied that it was only a question of a short time until he would have to give up. He had been treated by some of the best physicians of Europe and America but got no permanent relief. One day he picked up a paper and chanced to see an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He got a bottle of it, the first dose he ped him and its continued use cured him. For sale by druggists.

$25 Reward.

I will pay the above sum for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who wilfully and maliciously shot the saw at my mill on Laurel Creek.

HAMP. GALFORD.

Valuable Land for Rent

A valuable grazing farm of more than 300 acres for rent,—well watered and under good fence. Will rent or take in cattle by the month.

For further information call on or address

ALLIE B. MCLAUGHLIN,
15tf Edray, W. Va.

CLOSING OVT SALE!

X

Intending to remove from Marlinton as soon as I can get my business closed out, I will sell my present stock of goods at a lower rate than goods have ever been sold here before. Come in and get bargains.

All persons owing me will call and settle, or their accounts will be placed in the hands of an officer.

S. W. HOLT

MARLINTON, W. VA.

800 Bushels of Good Seed Oats are for Sale at GOLDEN'S.

$5.00 LOOK MOTHERS A RARE TREAT FOR YOU ALL. Boys Sampson Suit, with Extra Pair of Pants, for $2.76
AND WE PAY EXPRESS CHARGES TO YOUR DOOR.
REMEMBER, You buy direct from one of the largest Wholesale Clothing Manufacturers in America, and not from a Retail Store.

R. ROSENBURGER & CO., 264 & 266 S. New York C

I HAVE given Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a fair test and consider it one of the very best remedies for croup that I have ever found. One dose has always been sufficient, altho I use it freely. Any child my children contract yields very readily to this medicine. I can conscientiously recommend it for croup and colds in children.—GEO. E. MOLTY, Clerk of the Circuit Court Ferdinands, Fla. Sold by druggists.

SUE—What would this world be without love? HE (remembering the opera and the supper of the night before)—It would be a blessed sight cheaper, for one thing.—Cleveland Leader.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria,

Harvesting Machines.

I will furnish the JOHNSTON HARVESTER and MOWERS this year from $60.00 to $65.00, according to the length of cut.

Yours respectfully,

C. J. HILL, Agent.
LOBELIA, W. VA. [12 6m

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONTAS COUNTY, }

At rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on Monday, February 1st, 1897.

Clifton Forge Grocery Company, a corporation under the laws of Virginia ..... Plaintiff,
vs.
C. C. Arbogast, W. B. Ellis & Ellis & Co., A. Elkart, C. G. Joyner and M. H. Witz, partners trading as Elkart, Joyner, & Co; E. M. Brown, George Bleuse and George J. Bleuse, partners trading as George Bleuse & Son; S. R. Sutton, H. S. Hacker, Charles P. Jones, J. H. Shears, J. W. Lukins, P. D. Arbogast, C. O. Tracy, Emma A. Tracy, J. Wesley Hevener, Old Dominion Building and Loan Association; and J. Taylor Ellyson and W. A. Beatton, Trustees ..... Defendants

The object of this suit is to subject the land of the defendant C. C. Arbogast, lying near Green Bank, in Pocahontas County, W. Va., being 181 acres, more or less, to the payment of the liens thereon, and for general relief. This day came the plaintiff by its attorney, and on his motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed that the defendants, the Old Dominion Building and Loan Association, J. Taylor Ellyson, Trustee, and C. P. Jones, are non-residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the date of the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
H. S. Hacker, p. q. 4t

Lost! Lost! Lost!

Money Lost

by not trading with us. We mean business, as you will find if you give us a trial.

"The proof of the pudding is in the eating."

Buy one bill of us for your own special benefit.

THE MONEY WE DO NOT SPEND PAYING TRAVELLING MENS' BILLS IS SHARED WITH OUR CUSTOMERS. WE SEEK NO TRADE THAT IS NOT OURS BY VIRTUE OF LOW PRICES AND HONEST GOODS. OUR REPUTATION AS Spot Cash Buyers bring us bargains that credit never saw. We give bargains; the prices tell the people, and the people tell the prices.

We will sell wire nails, from 4 to 20 penny at $1.50 per keg.

Best Granulated Sugar at 5¢.

Every Grocer Uses at 10¢.

Corn Starch 5¢ a box.

Highest grade Tobacco 25¢ to 50¢ per pound.

We will buy beeswax, and for thoroughbred lice timber. Friends do n't forget to give us your trade.

Yours respectfully,

L. D. Sharp,
LINWOOD, W. VA.

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, Feb. 26, 1897.

Subscription ONE DOLLAR in advance. If not paid within the year $1.50 will be charged.

Entered at the post office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

County Directory

Judge ..... J. M. McWhorter
Pros. Attorney ... L. M. McClintic
Sheriff ..... R. W. Hill
Clerk County Court .. S. L. Brown
Clerk Circuit Court, J. H. Patterson
Assessor ..... J. H. Buzzard
Com'rs. Co. Ct. { Amos Barlow / C. E. Beard / J. R. Warwick
Surveyor ..... George Baxter
Coroner ..... George P. Moore

BOARD OF HEALTH—Dr J. W. Price, L. M. McClintic, M. J. McNeel, R. W. Hill.

JUSTICES—Uriah Bird, Marlinton; A. C. L. Gatewood, Linwood; P. D. Arbogast, Green Bank; W. H. Grose, Huntersville; G. R. Curry, Academy; T. A. Bruffey, Labelia.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

Business Rules.

When a subscriber orders his poper discontinued he is, of course, expected at the same time to pay up all arrearages.

No attention will be paid to anonymous communications. You need not sign your real name, but it must always accompany your communication.

On all job work our terms are cash, except in cases of merchants and others with whom we have running accounts.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

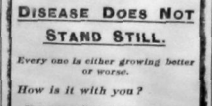
J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

Poetry.

Help that Comes too Late.

'Tis a wearisome world, this world of ours,
With its tangles small and great,
Its weeds that smother the springing flowers,
And its hapless strifes with fate;
And the darkest day of its desolate days
Sees the help that comes too late.



Ah! we for the word that is never said
Till the ear is too deaf to hear,
And we for the lack to the fainting head
Of the ringing shout of cheer;
Ah! we for the laggard feet that tread
In the mournful wake of the bier.

What booteth help when the heart is numb?
What booteth a broken spar
Of love thrown out when the lips are dumb
And life's bark drifteth far,
Ah, far and fast from the alien past,
Over the moaning bar?

A pitiful thing the gift to-day
That is dross and nothing worth,
So it had come but yesterday,
It had brimmed with wine the earth
And the dying rose in a death-cold hand,
That perished in want and dearth.

Who fain would help in this world of ours,
Where sorrowful steps must fall,
Bring help in time to the waning pow'rs
Ere the bier is spread with the pall,
Nor send reserves when the flags are furled,
And the dead beyond recall.

For baffling most in this weary world,
With its tang'es small and great,
Its lonesome nights and its weary days
And its struggles forlorn with fate,
Is that bitterest grief too deep for tears
Of the help that comes to late.
—[Margaret E. Sangster.

DISEASE DOES NOT STAND STILL.

Every one is either growing better or worse.

How is it with you?

You are suffering from

KIDNEY, LIVER or URINARY TROUBLES.

Have tried doctors and medicine without avail, and have become disgusted.

DON'T GIVE UP!

Warner's Safe Cure

WILL CURE YOU.

Thousands now well, but once like you, say so. Give an honest medicine an honest chance.

Large bottle or new style smaller one at your druggist's. Write for free testimonial blank to-day. Warner's Safe Cure Co., Rochester, N. Y.

BEWARE OF OINTMENTS FOR CATARRH THAT CONTAIN MERCURY,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to them good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure beasre you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by druggists, price 75c per bottle.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Gloom

Of ill health, despondency and despair, gives way to the sunshine of hope, happiness and health, upon taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, because it gives renewed life and vitality to the blood, and through it to the whole system. That tired, languid feeling, with nervousness, gives way to vigor and energy to the whole body. Read this letter:

"Hood's Sarsaparilla helped me wonderfully, changed sickness to health, gloom to sunshine. No pen can describe what I suffered. I was deathly sick, had sick headaches every few days and those terrible tired, despondent feelings, with heart troubles so that I could not go up and down stairs without clasping my hand over my heart and resting. In fact, it would almost take my breath away. I suffered so I did not care to live, yet I had much to live for. There is no pleasure in life if deprived of health, for life becomes a burden. Hood's Sarsaparilla done for more than advertised. After taking one bottle, it is sufficient to recommend itself." MRS. J. E. SAYER, Beloit, Iowa.

Sunshine

to

Hood's

Sarsaparilla

Hood's Pills

WANTED—AN IDEA

A Fortune in Prospect.

(Clifton Forge Review.)

This letter was addressed to Geo T. McClintic, of Covington, Va., by his relatives, A. J. and R. E. Daggs, lawyers at Phoenix, Arizona, October 7, 1896. Mr McClintic is a near relative of the Daggs family, and his many friends will be glad to hear of his getting a proportionate share of this hundred million of dollars:

To Mr Geo. T. McClintic, late post master at Covington, Va:

We take the privilege to address you upon a subject in which your interests are identical with ours. There lies in the heart of Baltimore, Md., a tract of land estimated one hundred million of dollars, that belongs to the decendants of Reuben Daggs and his wife, whose maiden name was Lydia Rodney.

This property was leased for the term of ninety-nine years which lease has now expired and we have almost completed our chain of evidence, but for lack of funds we have been greatly delayed in this matter.

Now, what we desire is co-operation of each of the heirs to this estate in giving us any information traditional or otherwise, about Ruben Daggs or his wife, (who was a daughter of Caesar Rodney, a signer of the Declaration of Independence.)

Send us any information you may have on the subject, also your pedigree showing your relationship to the Daggs family (however remote), which will show your right to inherit this estate; also send us two dollars or any sum you see fit, as a donation to assist us financially while we are devoting our time to the case. Upon receipt of the same we will register you as one of the heirs-at-law in this case, and as soon as we receive pedegrees of all the heirs we will have them printed in book form and your remittance will be credited as a payment on the book of pedagrees, and you will in at least know how many and who are your relatives.

Also send each of your relatives a copy of this letter or send us their names that we may be able to do so.

You can readily feel the importance of this matter, and will want the book of pedagrees. We estimate that the heirs will not exceed one thousand. We desire the co-operation of every relative, either by blood or by marriage. Help us if you can. Yours truly,

DAGGS AND DAGGS.

Footwear Nevers.

Dr Samuel Appleton, in Health Culture, gives fourteen of them, which every person will derive comfort in heeding:

1. Never wear a shoe that will not allow the great toe to lie in a straight line.

2. Never wear a shoe with a sole narrower than the outline of the foot traced with a pencil close under the rounding edge.

3. Never wear a shoe that pinches the heel.

4. Never wear a shoe or boot so large in the heel that the foot is not kept in place.

5. Never wear a shoe or boot tight anywhere.

6. Never wear a shoe or boot that has depressions in any part of the sole to drop any joint or bearing below the level plane.

7. Never wear a shoe with a sole turning up at the toes, as this causes the the cords of the upper part of the foot to contract.

8. Never wear a shoe that presses up into the hollow of the foot.

9. Never have the top of the boots tight, as it interferes with the action of the calf muscles, makes one walk badly, and spoils the shape of the ankle.

10. Never come from high heels to low heels at one jump.

11. Never wear one pair of shoes all the time, unless obliged to do so. Two pairs of boots worn a day at a time alternately give more service and are much more healthful.

12. Never wear leather sole linings to stand upon. White cotton drilling or linen is much better and healthful.

13. Never wear a short stocking or one which after being washed is not, at least, one-half inch longer than the foot. Bear in mind that stockings shrink. Be sure that they will allow your toes to spread out at the extreme ends, as this keeps the joints in place and makes a very strong and attractive foot. As to the shape of stockings, the single digital, or "one-toed stocking" is the best.

14. Never think that feet will grow large from wearing proper shoes. Pinching and distorting makes them grow not only large but unsightly. A proper natural use of all the muscles make them compact and attractive.

Weyler is getting things organized in Cuba that he can put down the rebellion in an escape, take a week.—Philadelphia Ledger.

There are a few fanatics who will not be satisfied unless Congress appropriates money to build a fence around the Capitol grounds to that Major McKinley can be let home to it when he is inaugurated, just as Thomas Jefferson is said to have done—Washington Post.

Old Grumbler to New Girl.

Bike! Bike! Bike!
O'er the hard street stones, O Shc!
And I would that my tongue could utter
The thoughts that arise in me!

O well for the newspaper boy
That he scoots on his cycle away!
O well for the butcher lad
That pedals "purchase it may pay!"

But when stately girls get on
All a-crouch, with the prospect of spill,
It is oh for the touch of a wee soft hand,
And the sound of a voice of that could thrill!

Bike! Bike! Bike!
With thy foot on the pedal, Oh Shc!
But the girlish grace that the wheel struck dead
Will never come back to thee.
—[Punch.

"A WILD passion for castor oil," says the Pittsburg Dispatch, "would, if introduced into one of Mr W. S. Gilbert's libretti, rank as one of his most topsy-turvy conceits; but such a thing is an actual fact, a case being known in which a man contracted the same sort of craving for the stuff that others do for intoxicating liquors. A well-known physician mentions several other cases of extraordinary forms of inebriety. For instance, the wife of a Baptist minister was in the habit of dosing herself with Epsom salts and at last to such an extent that she frequently took a pound and a half a day. Another curious case is that of a student who became inordinately fond of spirits of lavender, which he took in large quantities. A recent celebrated case revealed the fact that arsenic was immoderately indulged in as a pick-me-up by some miguided persons; and there is a case on record in which a boatman plying for hire on a Scottish lake was in the habit of refreshing himself with a quantity sufficent to kill four ordinary men. Nothing is too nauseous for some depraved tastes. Paraffin, iodin, and cod-liver oil are known to exercise sway over certain unhappy mortals; while others are equally slaves to capsicum or ginger essence."

The Cost of It.

War will come high if we must have it, for the House Committee on Military Affairs reports to Congress that it costs for powder and projectile alone $164 to fire one round from an eight-inch rifle, $322 to fire one round from a ten-inch rifle, $561 to fire one round from a twelve-inch rifle, and $850 to fire one round from the fifteen-inch pneumatic gun. The cost of one round from a twelve inch mortar is $219. Here is another argument in favor of arbitration.—Boston Evening Transcript.

Twenty Years....

For more than twenty years we have been telling how Scott's Emulsion overcomes the excessive waste of the system, puts on flesh, nourishes and builds up the body, making it the remedy for all wasting diseases of adults and children, but it isn't possible for us to tell the story in a mere stickful of newspaper type.

We have had prepared for us by a physician a little book, telling in easy words how and why Scott's Emulsion benefits, and a postal card request will be enough to have it sent to you free. To-day would be a good time to send for it.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

MONEY MAKES MONEY!

So do we but we make it for you. How? By saving you the middle man's profit. We practically charge you a small commission for attending to your purchases, and as we have advantages for buying that an ordinary purchaser does not enjoy, we can save money for you.

Cash must always accompany the order, and any excess will be promptly remitted.

Quotations furnished and correspondence solicited. Groceries in original pakages a specialty.

Charleston Purchasing Agency.

Charleston, W. Va.

MEDICAL

THE DREADE
TION CAN B

T. A. Slocum, M. C. and Specialist, Offic
Afflicted, bros
Newly-Discover
to Cure Cons
...ll Lung

Nothing could be authentic or carry a than the offer of Dr. T. A. Slocum, of 183 Pearl street N
Confident that he h absolute cure for con
pulmonary complaint
great merits known,
three bottles, to any
CAMPHOR TABLE, wh chest, bronchial tubes
lessness or consumption.

Already this "new of medicine" has p
wonders of appreciation.

The Doctor conside duty—a duty which h
fully—to donate his infl to introduce freely, a herent strength, is cer
it, and more so is the of the great chemist a edition.

He has proved sign
curable disease beyon
There will be no one
the mistake will be in generous invitation
his American and Eu
rief—unimaginable of those cured, in all part

Delays are dangero
A. Slocum, M. C., 183
York, and when writin
please give express an dress, and mention re
in The POCAHONTAS T

MARLINTON

Located East En

Terms.
per day - 1,
per mea

Good accommodatio at 25 cents
Special rates made by month.

C. A. YEAGER.

Lee Military A

Spring term of 18 we ruary 1st. Pupils can
A first-class school
pares for college or bu
ough academic, prepara
some courses.
Located in a fine grov
tian influences, no saloo
tions.
Tuition, $50 and $25.
$10 to $15 per month.
JAMES M. LE
Lewisburg, W. Va.

Old Dominion Build Association

Richmond, - -

J. TAYLOR ELLYSO
E. A. BARBER, Treas
DIRECTORS.
J. Taylor Ellyson, N
pelph, Dr. Wm. Farrell, J
Frank T. Sutton.

Authorized Capital.....
Subscribed Capital.....
Paid Up Cash Capital.....
Assets.....

Depository—State Bank
Investment stocks cost $1 membership fee, and month afterwards—with reserves for payments in event of the death of t
H. A. YEA
MARLINTON, W.

ONE DOLLAR
FOR THE WHE
Weekly Intell
West Virginia's Leading

The coming year promises of great moment to ever citizen. An important label in the administrat affairs. There will probl ual session of Congress mak lowing the inauguration
President. The tariff, cu matter of wool and coal, w
under discussion, and legi ing to the restoration o finances to a sound basis duced. There will also b administration in West V
there is every reasonable es of great importance to welfare will be set on foot
The proposed river improv be begun. New railroads and new material resour kind developed. The year tend to be one of the golden
There is every reason to where success, and the INTELLIGENCER will evidence of great opportun hopes.

Every family should h
best weapon of their kind the old and well-tried head must know all of the p
the greatest advancing that h

TERMS AND PRI

The WEEKLY INTELL
one year in advance.
The WEEKLY INTELL
to subscribers at $1.00 a 4 copies one year and extra person getting up club.
10 copies one year and extra
20 copies one year and extra
To copies one year and extra Address all letters and to the WEEKLY INTELLIGEN papers getting up clubs.
Specimen copies sent free any address desired. It is to have a copy sent to friends, or to those who to subscribe. Address
WEEKLY INTELLIGENCER,
Wheeling, W. Va.

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, Feb. 26, 1897.

Subscription ONE DOLLAR in advance. If not paid within the year $1.50 will be charged.

Entered at the post office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

County Directory

Judge ..... J. M. McWhorter
Pros. Attorney .... L. M. McClintic
Sheriff ..... R. W. Hill
Clerk County Court .. S. L. Brown
Clerk Circuit Court, J. H. Patterson
Assessor ..... J. H. Buzzard
Commr's. Co. Ct. { Amos Barlow / C. E. Beard / J. R. Warwick
Surveyor ..... George Baxter
Coroner ..... George P. Moore

BOARD OF HEALTH—Dr J. W. Price, L. M. McClintic, M. J. McNeel, R. W. Hill.

JUSTICES—Uriah Bird, Marlinton; A. C. L. Gatewood, Linwood; P. D. Arbogast, Green Bank; W. H. Grose, Hunterville; G. E. Curry, Academy; T. A. Bruffey, Lobelia.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

Business Rules.

When a subscriber orders his paper discontinued he is, of course, expected at the same time to pay up all arrearages.

No attention will be paid to anonymous communications. You need not sign your real name, but it must always accompany your communication.

On all job work our terms are cash, except in cases of merchants and others with whom we have running accounts.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEILL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Courts of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. S. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. E. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office and floor to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

DISEASE DOES NOT STAND STILL.

Every one is either growing better or worse.

How is it with you?

You are suffering from

KIDNEY, LIVER OR URINARY TROUBLES.

Have tried doctors and medicine without avail, and have become disgusted.

DON'T GIVE UP!

Warner's Safe Cure

WILL CURE YOU.

Thousands now well, but once like you, say so. Give an honest medicine an honest chance.

Large bottle or new style smaller one at your druggist's. Write for free treatment book to-day. Warner's Safe Cure Co., Rochester, N. Y.

BEWARE OF OINTMENTS FOR CATARRH THAT CONTAIN MERCURY,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to they good you can possively derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure beasre you get tee genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by druggists, price 75c per bottle.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Gloom

Of ill health, despondency and despair, gives way to the sunshine of hope, happiness and health, upon taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, because it gives renewed life and vitality to the blood, and through that imparts nerve force and vigor and energy to the whole body. Read this letter:

"Hood's Sarsaparilla helped me wonderfully, changed sickness to health, gloom to sunshine. No pen can describe what I suffered. I was terribly sick, had sick headaches every few days and those terrible tired, despondent feelings, with head troubles so that I could not go up and down stairs without clasping my head over my head and reeling. In fact, it would almost take my breath away. I suffered so I did not care to live, yet I had much to live for. There is no pleasure in life if deprived of health, for life becomes a burden. Hood's Sarsaparilla does for me all you claim and more than you claim about it. After taking one bottle, it is sufficient to recommend itself." Miss J. C. SMITH, Beloit, Iowa.

Sunshine

Hood's

Sarsaparilla

Hood's Pills

WANTED—AN IDEA

Poetry.

Help that Comes too Late.

'Tis a wearisome world, this world of ours,
With its tangles small and great,
Its weeds that smother the springing flowers,
And its hapless strifes with fate,
And the darkest day of its desolate days
Sees the help that comes too late.

Ah! we for the wood that is never said
Till the ear is too deaf to hear,
And we for the lack to the fainting head
Of the ringing shout of cheer;
Ah! we for the laggard feet that tread
In the mournful wake of the bier.

What boots the help when the heart is numb?
What boots a broken spar
Of love thrown out when the lips are dumb
And life's bark drifteth far,
Far and fast from the alien past,
Over the moaning bar?

A joyful thing the gift to-day
That is given and nothing worth,
'Tis it but come but yesterday
It hast brimmed with ashes the earth
And ding rose in a death cold hand,
That perished in want and dearth.

Who fain would help in this world of ours,
Where sorrowful steps must fall,
Bring help in time to the waning pow'rs
Ere the bier is spread with the pall,
Nor send reserves when the flags are furled
And the dead beyond recall.

For baffling most in this weary world,
With its tangles small and great,
Its lonesome nights and its weary days
And its struggles forlorn with fate,
Is that bitterest grief too deep for tears
Of the help that comes to late.

—Margaret E. Sangster.

A Fortune in Prospect.

(Clifton Forge Review.)

This letter was addressed to Geo T. McClintic, of Covington, Va., by his relatives, A. J. and R. E. Daggs, lawyers at Phoenix, Arizona, October 7, 1896. Mr McClintic is a near relative of the Daggs family, and his many friends will be glad to hear of his getting a proportionate share of this hundred million of dollars:

To Mr Geo. T. McClintic, late post n aster at Covington, Va:

We take the privilage to address you upon a subject in which your interests are identical with ours. There lies in the heart of Baltimore, Md., a tract of land estimated one hundred million of dollars, that belongs to the decendants of Reuben Daggs and his wife, whose maiden name was Lydia Rodney.

This property was leased for the term of ninety-nine years which lease has now expired and we have almost completed our chain of evidence, but for lack of funds we have been greatly delayed in this matter.

Now, what we desire is co-operation of each of the heirs to this estate in giving us any information traditional or otherwise, about Ruben Daggs or his wife, (who was a daughter of Caesar Rodney, a signer of the Declaration of Independence.)

Send us any information you may have on the subject, also your pedigree showing your relationship to the Daggs family (however remote), which will show your right to inherit this estate; also send us two dollars or any sum you see fit, as a donation to assist us financially while we are devoting our time to the case. Upon receipt of the same we will register you as one of the heirs-at-law in this case, and as soon as we receive pedegrees of all the heirs we will have them printed in book form and your remittance will be credited as a payment on the book of pedagrees, and you will then be entitled to a copy, so you will at least know how many and who are your relatives.

Also send each of your relatives a copy of this letter or send us their names that we may be able to do so.

You can readily feel the importance of this matter, and will want the book of pedagrees. We estimate that the heirs will not exceed one thousand. We desire the co-operation of every relative, either by blood or by marriage. Help us if you can. Yours truly,

DAGGS AND DAGGS.

Footwear Nevers.

Dr Samuel Appleton, in Health Culture, gives fourteen of them, which every person will derive comfort in heeding:

1. Never wear a shoe that will not allow the great toe to lie in a straight line.

2. Never wear a shoe with a sole narrower than the outline of the foot traced with a pencil close under the rounding edge.

3. Never wear a shoe that pinches the heel.

4. Never wear a shoe or boot so large in the heel that the foot is not kept in place.

5. Never wear a shoe or boot tight anywhere.

6. Never wear a shoe or boot that has depressions in any part of the sole to drop any joint or bearing below the level plane.

7. Never wear a shoe with a sole turning up at the toes, as this causes the the cords of the upper part of the foot to contract.

8. Never wear a shoe that presses up into the hollow of the foot.

9. Never have the top of the boots tight, as it interferes with the action of the calf muscles, makes one walk badly, and spoils the shape of the ankle.

10. Never comes from high heels to low heels at one jump.

11. Never wear one pair of shoes all the time, unless obliged to do so. Two pairs of boots worn a day and a time alternately give more service and are much more healthful.

12. Never wear leather sole linings to stand upon. White cotton drilling or linen is much better and healthful.

13. Never wear a short stocking or one which after being washed is not, at least, one half inch longer than the foot. Bear in mind that stockings shrink. Be sur that they will allow your toes to spread out at the extreme ends, as this keeps the joints in place and makes a very strong and attractive foot. As to the shape of stockings, the single digital, or "one-toed stocking" is the best.

14. Never think that feet will grow large from wearing proper shoes. Pinching and distorting makes them grow not only large but unsightly. A proper, natural use of all the muscles make them compact and attractive.

WEYLER is getting things systemized in Cuba that he can put down the rebellion, on an average, twice a week.—Philadelphia Ledger.

THERE are a few Senators who will not be satisfied unless Congress appropriates money to build a fence around the Capitol grounds so that Major McKinley can hide his horse to it when he is inaugurated, just as Thomas Jefferson used to hide his nag.—Washington Star.

Old Grumbler to New Girl.

Bike! Bike! Bike!
O'er the hard street stones, O She!
And I would that my tongue could utter
The thoughts that arise in me!

O well for the newspaper boy
That he scoots on his cycle away!
O well for the butcher lad
That pedals perchance it may pay!

But when stately girls get on
All a-crouch, with the prospect of spill,
It is oh for the touch of a wee soft hand,
And the sound of a voice of that could thrill!

Bike! Bike! Bike!
With thy foot on the pedal, Oh She!
But the girlish grace that the wheel struck dead
Will never come back to thee.

—(Punch.

"A WILD passion for castor oil," says the Pittsburg Dispatch, "would, if introduced into one of Mr W. S. Gilbert's libretti, rank as one of his most topsy-turvy conceits; but such a thing is an actual fact, a case being known in which a man contracted the same sort of craving for the stuff that others do for intoxicating liquors. A well-known physician mentions several other cases of extraordinary forms of inebriety. For instance, the wife of a Baptist minister was in the habit of dosing herself with Epsom salts and at last to such an extent that she frequently took a pound and a half a day. Another curious case is that of a student who became inordinately fond of spirits of lavender, which he took in large quantities. A recent celebrated case revealed the fact that arsenic was immoderately indulged in as a pick me-up by some misguided persons; and there is a case on record in which a bostman plying for hire on a Scottish lake was in the habit of refreshing himself with a quantity sufficent to kill four ordinary men. Nothing is too nauseous for some depraved tastes. Paraffin, iodin, and cod-liver oil are known to exercise sway over certain unhappy mortals; while others are equally slaves to capsicum or ginger essence."

The Cost of It.

War will come high if we must have it, for the House Committee on Military Affairs reports to Congress that it costs for powder and projectile alone $164 to fire one round from an eight-inch rifle, $329 to fire one round from a ten-inch rifle, $561 to fire one round from a twelve-inch rifle, and $650 to fire one round from the fifteen-inch pneumatic gun. The cost of one round from a twelve inch mortar is $219. Here is another argument in favor of arbitration.—Boston Evening Transcript.

Twenty Years....

For more than twenty years we have been telling how Scott's Emulsion overcomes the excessive waste of the system, puts on flesh, nourishes and builds up the body, making it the remedy for all wasting diseases of adults and children, but it isn't possible for us to tell the story in a mere stickful of newspaper type.

We have had prepared for us by a physician a little book, telling in easy words how and why Scott's Emulsion benefits, and a postal card request will be enough to have it sent to you free. To-day would be a good time to send for it.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

MONEY MAKES MONEY!

So do we but we make it for you. How? By saving you the middle man's profit. We practically charge you a small commission for attending to your purchases, and as we have advantages for buying that an ordinary purchaser does not enjoy, we can save money for you.

Cash must always accompany the order, and any excess will be promptly remitted.

Quotations furnished and correspondence solicited. Groceries in original pakages a specialty.

Charleston Purchasing Agency.

Branch Store, Montgomery.

Charleston, W. Va.

MEDICAL WISDOM.

THE DREADED CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

T. A. Slocum, M. C., the great Chemist and Scientist, Offers to Send Free, to Afflicted Ones Bottles of His Newly-Discovered Remedies to Cure Consumption and all Lung Troubles.

Nothing could be fairer, more philanthopic or carry more joy in its wake than the offer of T. A. Slocum, M. C., of 183 Pearl street New York City.

Confident that he has discovered an absolute cure for consumption and all pulminary complaints, and to make its great merits known, he will send, free, three bottles, to any reader of the POCAHONTAS TIMES, who is suffering from chest, bronchial, throat and lung troubles or consumption.

Already this "new scientific course of medicine" has permanently cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases.

The doctor considers it his religous duty—a duty which he owes to humanity—to devote his life to this noble cure.

Offerered freely, apart from its inherent strength, is enough to commend it, and more so is the perfect confidence of the great chemist making the proposition.

He has proved consumption to be a curable disease beyond any doubt.

There will be no mistake in sending—the mistake will be in overlooking the generous invitation. He has on file in his American and European laboratories testimonials of experience from those cured, in all parts of the world.

Delays are dangerous. Address T. A. Slocum, M. C., 183, Pearl street New York, and when writing to the Doctor, please give express and postoffice address and mention having this article in The POCAHONTAS TIMES.

MARLINTON HOUSE.

Located East End of Bridge.

Terms,
per day - 1.00 & 1.50
per meal - - - 25

Good accommodations for horses at 25 cents per feed.

Special rates made by the week or month.

C. A. YEAGER, Proprietor

Lee Military Academy.

Spring term of 18 weeks begins February 1st. Pupils can enter any time. A first-class school for boys. Prepares for college or business. Two high academic, preparatory and business courses.

Located in a fine grove. Best christian influences, no saloons, no distractions.

Tuition, $50 and $25. Board from $10 to $15 per month.

JAMES M. LEE, Principal.

Lewisburg, W. Va.

Old Dominion Building & Loan Association.

—OF—

Richmond, - Virginia.

J. TAYLOR ELLYSON, President.
E. A. BARBER, Treasurer.

DIRECTORS.

J. Taylor Ellyson, Normon V. Randolph, John B. Purcell, John S. Eliet, Frank T. Sutton.

Authorized Capital	$20,000,000.
Subscribed Capital	5,000,000.
Paid Up Cash Capital	1,500,000.
Assets	2,000,000.

Depository—State Bank of Virginia. Investment stocks cost $1.00 per share membership fee, and 60 cents per month after one—withdrawable after twelve monthly payments, and sooner in event of the death of the stockholder. C. A. YEAGER, Agent.

MARLINTON, W. VA.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR
FOR THE WHEELING
Weekly Intelligencer,
West Virginia's Leading Newspaper.

The coming year promises to be one of great moment to every American citizen. An important change is at hand in the administration of public affairs. There will probably be a special session of Congress immediately following the inauguration of the new President. The tariff, especially in the matter of wool and coal, will be at once under discussion, and legislation looking to the restoration of the national finances to a sound basis will be introduced. There will also be a new administration in West Virginia, and in every position that enterprise of great importance to the public welfare will be set on foot in the state. The proposed river improvements will be begun. New railroads will be built, and new material resources of every kind developed. The year 1897 promises to be one of the golden years of the State and Nation. Business will everywhere revive, and the columns of the INTELLIGENCER will teem with the evidence of great opportunities for business.

Every family should have a live newspaper at the head of the table, so that the old and young of the household may know all of the particulars of the great awakening that is at hand.

TERMS AND PREMIUMS.

The WEEKLY INTELLIGENCER, one year in advance.....$1 00
The WEEKLY INTELLIGENCER, six months in advance.....50
6 copies one year and extra copy to person getting up club.....$5 00
12 copies one year and three extra copies to person getting up club. 10 00
The DAILY INTELLIGENCER, one year, with Sunday issue.....$6 00
The DAILY INTELLIGENCER to person getting up club.....20 00

The premium copies will be sent to any address desired. It is equivalent to a cash commission, as the cash readily be paid and the money retained by the person getting up the club. It is necessary for all the names in the club to come from one office, and if it exceeds the number required, names may be added at any time. Subscriptions may be sent as fast as received, one or more at a time, and a record of them will be kept at this office. The premium copies will be sent at the request of the agent as soon as he has sent sufficient subscribers to obtain them.

Specimen copies of either edition of the Intelligencer sent free to any address. Send in your subscriptions at once.

We want an Agent at every postoffice in Wood, Pleasants, Ritchie, Doddridge and Tyler counties. Address

INTELLIGENCER PUBLISHING CO.
WHEELING, W. VA.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other baneful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have regular medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY,
Boston, Mass.
ALLEN C. SMITH, Pres.,

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

Simms & Co.,

RONCEVERTE, W. VA.

Silver Steel Plow, Syracuse Chilled Plows, Imperial Chilled Plows.

PLOW REPARS OF ALL KINDS AT LOWEST PRICES EVER OFFERED HERE

RED WARRIOR POLL AXES			65c
GREENBRIER	"	"	60c
CHAMPION	"	"	50c
4 No. 2 Horse-shoes for 4 No. 4 "	15c	4 No. 3 Horse-shoes for 4 No. 5 "	18c 16c

COOK-STOVES OF ALL KINDS

1 doz. 8x10 Window Glass 35c | Berea Grindstone 1 1-4c
Paints, Oils, Varnishes, etc.

Our goods are all first class, no shoddy or job-lots, or damaged goods. Strike us for prices before you buy.

Simms & Co.,
Opposite Passenger Depot. Ronceverte, W. Va.

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED BIDS will be received by the undersigned at his office in the town of Marlinton, W. Va., until 12 o'clock m., March 2, 1897, for putting up and keeping in suitable order 9 miles of the Huntersville and Warm Springs Turnpike road, commencing at the residence of Mrs Carter and extending to the State line on top of Alleghany Mountain, for the period of 5 years.

All bids to be accompanied with a bond in the penalty of $500.00, conditioned for the faithful keeping up of said road, and the return of said road, at the end of 5 years, to this Court in good suitable order.

The Court reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

S. L. BROWN, Clerk County Court

FEED, LIVERY AND SALE STABLES.

First-Rate Teams and Saddle-Horses Provided.

Horses for Sale and Hire.

SPECIAL ACCOMODATIONS FOR STALLIONS.

A limited number of Horses boarded.

All persons having horses to trade are invited to call. Young horses broke to suit.

J. H. G. WILSON,
Marlinton, W. Va.

Farmers' Home Fire Insurance Co., of West Virginia.

J. M. SYDENSTRICKER ... President.
S. P. RITTENHOUSE ... Sec'y & Treas.

INCORPORATED.

By the People and for the People.

For Isolated Property only. No Solicited Officers to Support. No capital to Watch. Low Rates. No Extravagant Salaries. Losses Promptly Paid. Insurance at all times. Cost less than one fifth of what is paid in old companies, and is No Better in policies. In case of successful operation in all of the adjoining States. Desirable risks solicited.

T. L. RITCHIE, Gen. Agent, Lewisburg, W. Va.

Mr McKinley will endeavor to make the next Cabinet not only better, but longer than usual.—Washington Star.

Notice.

I hereby notify all persons from trespassing on my land by hunting, laying down fences, or in any other way. JOSEPH S. SMITH.

SPECIAL POTATO FERTILIZER

and High Grade General Phosphates made from

VEGETABLE and ANIMAL MATTER,

Every farmer should write for prices, terms, and circulars.

AMERICAN REDUCTION CO.,
Pittsburg, Pa.

Raw Fur Skins WANTED.

Highest market prices paid. Write for price list and Shipping Tags. Send for Circular.

THE A. E. BURKHARDT FUR & HAT CO.,
4 West 5th Street, Cincinnati, O.

Scientific American Agency for PATENTS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

Scientific American

The Pocahontas Times.

& Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

14, NO. 32 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, MARCH 5, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

00.00 CASH AND PRIZES GIVEN FREE EACH MONTH FOR Sunlight SOAP WRAPPERS

As follows:

ring 12 mos. 1897, $40,800.00

RULES.

OBTAIN THEM.

OF DISTRICT.

NUMBER

se Talking

ABOUT HARD TIMES.

e Dollar will Buy as much at Sol Davis' re, as Two Dollars will Buy at other Stores.

plunged the knife into my former low prices to quicken sales seen in the increased number of customers at my store. De are in the Bargains now offered in Clothing, Boots, and Shoes, ohnson's Furnishing Goods, Dry Goods, Underwear, etc.,—if so call at me on a few things:

L DAVIS' Big Store.

GET YOUR BARGAINS.

ants well made and durable 75c worth 1.50
Pants from 1.25 up worth double ter from 4.00 up worth 8.00
75c worth 1.25
pants 4.50 were sold for 8.50
r of Ladies Shoes for 1.00
oks and Capes, this year's styles, at correspondingly low y thing else.

I invite those who have not dealt with us. Come one, come all! ch sales and short profits. Thanking you for past patronage we

Yours Truly,
SOL DAVIS, Proprietor.
ank, W. Va. Jan '29

The Pocahontas Times,

All Home Print,

The People of Pocahontas County one best papers for the price in the State.

oo per Year

ES YOU YOUR COUNTY PAPER.

UBSCRIBE!

Rise your Wares and Wants ates are always low enough rrant your patronage.

Department has been renewed, and antee satisfaction. Wedding invita- all kinds of work done on short notice

E THE BEST PRINTING PLANT OUT A LARGE TOWN IN THE STATE.

e time to Subscribe!

ave a plan by which Farmers can get OOL CHESTS FREE

THE WEEKLY LETTER.

For a number of weeks the writer of the Weekly Letter has failed to place before the readers of this paper the usual hotch-potch with which he tried to astonish the people. He had a good excuse. For four weeks I was in the throes of La Grippe. She did not use me well. In fact I did not care very much whether school kept or not. The day I got better a wedding was duly solemnized in which the writer was directly interested; and having conceived the original idea of going to the city of Washington as a most unusual place to be visited on a bridal tour, a number of nice people were kind enough to say they hoped to see some account of the visit in the paper when we had come home.

Arrived in Washington, of course, a hotel was the first thing to be thought of. In a city as full of hotels as Washington, a long list was available to choose from. The St. James had a very attractive advertisement in a magazine which coming our way on the train caused us to choose that caravansary. Moral: Advertise. The money squandered there by your humble servant no doubt went far towards paying for that advertisement.

Washington suited even our fastidious Marlinton taste. It is the prettiest city in the country. They expect sight-seers there, and the visitor taxi has any business to be there is the man who has not any business to attend to, but to see things and marvel. Everybody there is so used to sight-seers that every door opens to them as tho they touched a secret spring. The reason probably is that every man in Washington appreciates the fact that the excursionists drop millions of good dollars in the city every year. The most diffident man in the world could find his way about Washington, without feeling that he was a stranger in a strange place.

The first thing to be considered was to go to the theater. Again the advertisement was necessary, and from the list a laughable comedy, 'The Side-walks of New York' was chosen. The laughing it affords the infrequent theater-goer clears away the cobwebs and mental miasma that may have been forming for want of a hearty laugh and is better than paying a doctor-bill, as the patent-medicine advertisements have it.

The next day the various places of interest were visited,—which have been described in former articles. There is much to interest the visitor outside of the show places. For instance, to find so much noise and confusion on the Sabbath day appeared rather strange to the Pocahontas man. Thousands of stores were open and drays were going all day. The street-cars were all running. In fact if the noise of streets stopped day or night I did not hear it,—to use an Irish expression. The cars seem to be propelled by either cable or horses. I did not see an electric car in the city. I learned to know some teams of the street-cars very well. A span of grays, one of bays, and a roan and bay passed my window repeatedly—all the most miserable equine ruins that could be imagined. A villainous-looking driver goes them cruel pace with a whip, curse and oath; and I could gladly have seen those horses consigned to an early boneyard, rather than to think that they will have to keep up that incessant trot over the hard pavements of the city streets until they drop in their tracks.

The Chinamen of the city interested me. They have their laundries in every part of the place, with such euphonious names as "Hop Sing," "Ah Lee," and "Chi Bung" on their signs. The Chinese store on Pennsylvania Avenue is a novel place to visit. There were five heathens in it, who seemed to be clerks or proprietors. Everyone had a long coil of hair on his head. For dress they each had, as did every other Chinaman I saw, an elegant pair of black pants and Chinese shoes, but their upper parts were more or less neglected. Instead of coat and vest they wore a number of greasy blouses, giving them them the appearance of a man with a number of shirts on,—none of which were tucked in.

In the store was sold a variety of vegetables and meats and dried fish, some of which I had ever seen before. The book-keeper put down my small purchase in an account book, by taking a brush and painting a row of hieroglyphics up and down the page. Having made that entry, he resumed his adding up of a long column of chicken-tracks, using a set of buttons on wires, such as a teacher in primary schools uses, called an 'abacus.'

At the the Navy Yard, 'a darkey of the old school' told us that we would see guns that would carry up and kill at a distance of "Anyway from seventy-five to one hundred miles." The distance was reduced on inquiry to thirteen miles. The gun-shop has the most complicated machinery of any factory in the country. A fifty-foot gun with a bore of thirteen inches is made as carefully and accurately as a Winchester rifle, and at a cost of $80,000. The cost of firing once is $400.

None can describe the elegance of the new library building. The observer feels that Solomon's temple was as nothing to the magnificence of this building.

For weeks past the people of Washington have been looking forward to the inauguration, and the crowds that will attend. Window from which the parade may be seen command almost fabulous prices. The two front windows of a small store could not be hired for the day for seventy-five dollars. The man who sees anything that day will have to pay for the privilege. In 1889 several citizens of Droop went to see General Harrison inaugurated and did not see either him or any of the ceremonies.

Space does not permit me to gossip longer about Wasington, and next week I hope to write something about Richmond.

A Royal Boor.—Louis XVI. of France was "a mere boor, and a surly, ill-conditioned one at that, fitter to carry a hod than to rule a state." Such is the opinion of Baron Thiebault (late Lieutenant-general in the French army) whose "Memoirs" have just appeared in book form. Baron Thiebault proceeds to enforce this opinion by relating an incident which took place just after the Bastille had fallen. One morning the baron saw the King "taking the air" on the Tuileries terraces, and the following happened:

"Just then a lady came through the gate. She had a pretty little spaniel with her, which, before she noticed it, ran close up to the King. Making a low courtesy she called the dog back in haste; but, as it turned to run to its mistress, the King, who had a large cane in his hand, broke its back with a blow of his cudgel. Then, amid the tears and screams of the lady, and as the poor little beast was breathing its last, the King, delighted with his exploit, continued his walk, slouching rather more than usual, and laughing like any lout of a peasant."

This incident is interesting if only as a contrast to the usual verdict passed upon Louis XVI.: that he was an amiable, good, and well-meaning man, but unfortunate.

DANGERS FROM THE GRIP.

The greatest danger from La Grippe is of its resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care be used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for the grip, we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that this remedy is a certain preventive for that dread disease. It will effect a prompt cure in less time than any other treatment. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by all druggists.

FROM CRIPPLE CREEK.

After the big fire at Cripple Creek I took a very severe cold and tried many remedies without help, the cold only becoming more settled. After using three small bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, the cold and cough left me, and in five days afterward it took a mortification remedy to do any good—all in consequence of the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For sale by druggists.

Laraboo.

"I'll tell the tale of 'Laraboo' as it was told to me."

In the eastern part of the great Sahara Desert two tribes dwelt,—if roaming, restless human beings can be said to dwell. These tribes, the Tuaricks and Tibboos,—whose names were on the atlas in my school-days, and may be there yet,—were hostile to each other, and the Tuaricks were the stronger. At intervals they swooped down like the eagle to his prey, and we then to the Tibboo man, woman, or child that could not hide or in some way escape killing, and even worse—capture.

Of the Tibboos was Laraboo, and a happy young savage woman was she according to her lights and understanding. I suppose dispositions vary among the rude and uncivilized as with the opposite,—at any rate, Laraboo's earthly lord and master found no occasion to ply the lash, as she cheerfully bood the maine, with her beautiful brown baby securely fastened to her side or back,—not clasped to her bosom as her white sisters incline more affectionately, but more wearisome too,—and he, Laraboo's husband, reclined serenely in the sultry tropic heat or dreamed of maine pudding beneath the tall and graceful palm.

Why should Laraboo complain or fret her happiness away. Did not all her fore-mothers do as she was doing? and what was there to trouble Laraboo except the fearful cry that all Tibboos dreaded,—"the Tuaricks are coming!"

And that cry came at last. Then all was confusion and dismay. The running and the shrieking, the killing and the prisoner-parceling, the dividing of families, and all horrors! Poor Laraboo and her child were led off among the captured, and a slow tramp across the desert sands her lot and that of many. With broken spirit she seemed no longer the same unwearying woman: her captors perceiving the slow, dragged step instantly snatened the infant and cast it far off in the sandy waste. Now, indeed, was sorrow come to Laraboo. We must call her a savage, for she was low in the scale of human races, but in her heart the maternal feeling was strong;—not instinct, if you please, that word belongs to animals, and how soon in them is this instinct outgrown. To my mind nothing proves more conclusively the lack of soul in brutes. But a mother is a mother long, on heathen or on Christian soil.

A little farther march and bereft Laraboo sank down exhausted, and was left to perish in the desert. Her's was a swoon, and she finally dragged herself up and onward alone and aching in heart and body to search vainly for her child. Thirst and hunger and longing for rest asserted their strong sway, and glimpsing faintly the blessed green of an oasis, fair island of the desert, thither tired Laraboo bent her eager steps. The leafy shade and cooling waters were grateful as they only can be to the perishing, and a sequestered cave lured by invited her to enter and seek worn nature's sweet restorer, balmy sleep.

How long she slept no record told, but on awakening she found the entrance of the cave filled by the reclining limbs of some huge animal, a panther, doubtless!

Horrors! what must our beset Laraboo do! Bravely as possible she advanced without delay that gives more pain and less decision, and laid her hand upon the animal's soft, rich fur, stroking it as one who likes a cat would stroke.

The cat-nature of this big occupant responded to the caress, and growled gently at Laraboo's feet. Thus began a warm and continued friendship that helped the lonely woman much. Berries, the supplied her food, and when the four-footed friend had found its watercup, it returned to Laraboo gentle as a kitten and not unlike one in gambols and graceful movements. There came a day when grey failed this pet of the caves and began preying; Laraboo found a difference in the panther—growls and a flashing eye beside instinctive cruelty; but this passed and she was spared.

Time passed, and this strange desert life must end. Laraboo was walking listlessly under the tender leaves and trailing vines, with mind far off and back to loving scenes once her own, the soft-stepped feline moving on ahead, when suddenly a flash, a sound, and Laraboo's panther fell, shot dead!

A hunter showed himself and wonderingly heard the story of Laraboo and the tamed animal. He bade her think its end was timely, for treachery belongs to this species. He brought her word of her own tribe, and conducted her, moreover, to her old scenes and husband who had mourned her as dead.

Laraboo's babe lay somewhere in the desert with bleached bones, lost to her; and in one Tibboo tent thereafter hung the gorgeous fur of panther kind.

A. L. P.

THE VOICE OF THE CROW.

Sentiments Inspired in the Breast of a New Englander.

It is the voice of the crow! It is heard at intervals all winter—for the crow is loyal to his home—whenever there is a spirit of Thaw (one of our northern gods) is abroad; but it is really a harbinger of spring, when the streams are released, and the clouds are loose and high-sailing, and th wooing south wind makes all the trees uneasy to take on color and burst their buds into bloom. On any day when the sun, climbing northward, attacks the frost, and the snow and ice slide with a thunder-rumble from the steep New England farm-house roofs, the crow is abroad calling us to new life. It is the harshest voice in the whole orchestra of birds, yet it is homelike and sincere, and has in it a note of wild freedom, of indefinite promise. The crow has never yielded to the modern demand for culture, and his "caw" is almost the only thing in civilized life that can take us back to the untrained and primeval years. He belongs to the forests, to the free, buccaneering life we all secretly long for. When we walk in the woods in the spring, it is the call of the crow that interprets for us our wild desires. For myself, I confess that he stirs in me more memories and sets me in a more sympathetic thrill with nature than any other of her voices. He is not for me the raven of poetry—the dark-winged symbol of a maiden's hair—nor the ancestral rook, but the plain New England crow. Perhaps he is the gypsy of our staid region. He is called a thief, because he digs where he has not planted, like a stock operator, and an outlaw with a price on his head; but as I hear his voice on a day when there is a smell of new earth and a wide awakening over the liberated land, I forgive him all the defects of his qualities. When I consider his ways, his military-like discipline, his shrewdness, his contempt of the scarecrows of this world, his refusal to be tamed in our decadent civilization, I am very grateful for his example.

There are two charges against the crow: He is despised because he is poor, and he is hated because he is not edible. But many men are as poor as they are a dollar. If the crow were not both, we would exterminate him. His refusal to be civilized in these respects is his protection. He sets us an example of poverty borne with self-respect and he shows his wisdom in making his diet so miscellaneous that no one desires to eat him. Even in the matter of diet he is better than the decayed fish eaters of the arctic regions, and I have no doubt he prefers good clean corn when he can get it, and he often risks his life to pull it out of the corn hills. In fact, the crow has character, and we cannot tell what he might not become if he were well fed and decently treated. We may examine his voice—tho I hope its note of wild freedom may never be changed—but I have heard some orchestras which would be improved by the introduction of his "caw." I wish I could sing the crow! No poet has ever done it, not even Walt Whitman, who might have had a surer hold on immortality by singing the crow than by singing himself.—Charles Dudly Warner, in Harpers Magazine.

RHEUMATISM QUICKLY CURED.

After having been confined to the house for several days and getting out but a short time when I got out all in the cold, Mr. Frank Dobson, of Santa Maria, Mich., was cured by one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, costing 25 cents and has not since been troubled with rheumatism. For sale by druggists.

A Revolution in Cotton Handling.

The question of cotton baling is now attracting universal attention in cotton-growing, cotton-handling and cotton-manufacturing circles. The plans that have been matured for introducing the cylindrical-bale system, after several years of preliminary work, indicate that in the near future the method of cotton-handling will be improved, and that all cotton must be better baled and better handled, whether it be compressed by the old system or the new. With the new system, that puts up a round bale of uniform size and weight, that is proved to be almost fire-proof, in active operation, no one can afford to put up a badly covered bale, clumsy, dirty, and very inflammable hereditare. The new system must, it seems, force a better handling of all cotton, to the great advantage of the cotton-growers, because clean, well baled cotton must always command the highest market price. Mr Edward Atkinson, in a treatise upon "The Cotton Bale and Its Improvement," has said: "The man who first conceived a cylinder bale, made lap by lap, with the air excluded, has done more to modify and improve the treatment of the cotton throughout its course from the field to the fabric than any man who has existed since Whitney invented the cotton gin." This week's issue of the Manufacturer's Record, of Baltimore, devotes five pages to a full illustrated description of the new system, as compared with the old, which is the first comprehensive report ever made upon the subject, and in closing, says: "The mechanism for making round, rolled bales of cotton at last has been brought to such practical perfection that its almost immediate general use may be set down as a foregone conclusion." The inauguration of such a revolution in cotton-handling as this would make a change in the marketing of the South's great staple of universal interest.

Victor Hugo.

Like all great thinkers, Victor Hugo was content with very little. Quiet and simple in his ways of life, he had lavished about him in his works, as in the apartments reserved for special guests, the attractions, treasures and refinements of any tendency to a spirit of luxury he might possess. He kept himself two retreats, one of them by the sea, one for work, the other for rest. The latter contains a low bed, a chest of drawers, a trunk, a few knickknacks, and one or two chairs. The "Lookout," where he wrote, consists of a glass cage. Its white wood floor is pierced by an elliptical hole containing a thick pane of glass, which lights the stairway of the house. A gracefully shaped earthenware stove of the time of Louis XV., surmounted by the small statue of a nude woman, seated and holding flowers in her hands, constitutes the sole ornament. The walls are covered breast high with Dutch tiles, simple and varied in design, and large dresses are placed one above another facing the sea. The chimneys of the house rise to the right and left of this retreat, whereon the thought of one of the most wonderful men of all time floated out upon the world.

In this study, then, the giant worked. In summer the sun bloomed there from morning to evening; no drapery could withstand it, and one after another was discolored and burned away. Victor Hugo himself remained there for fifteen years. From this cabin, or vertebra, eagle's nest, cyer hanging space the first and pilot of humanity read the way in the stars.—Scribner's Magazine.

My son, follow not in the steps of the leader, and make no comparison of him who was born tired, for verily I say unto you their business is overstocked, the seats on the counters are all taken and whittling the top of the dry goods box away from the cigarette habit, for by thy breath standeth like a glue factory, and thy whole appearance is less intelligent than a stockdummy. Yea, thou art a leader with the dog knocked off.

The following has been going the rounds of the press for some time, and of course all the boys ought to be familiar with it: "An electric comet has recently been discovered. It is constructed in such a manner that when a fellow steps his arm around the girl's waist, he presses the button, this bounces a spring in the comet, throws one end down in his back, and then one of down where an india rubber bending spring ready to start him into the."

Now is the time to subscribe!

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, Mar. 5, 1897.

Subscription ONE DOLLAR in advance. If not paid within the year $1.50 will be charged.

Entered at the post-office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

A PROMINENT citizen, of Driscol, killed six coons last Sunday.

THE United States and Spain are not likely to fight.

IN Tyler County a speak-easy and bawdy-house was burned and all the inmates perished.

A LOSS of over a million dollars resulted from the flood on the Monongahela.

THE whole story concerning the resignation of Consul-General Lee seems to be a fake. Virginia office holders seldom resign.

THE employees of the Alexander Lumber Company have gone on a strike on account of back pay being due.

THE Governor vetoed the bill passed by the legislature defining a tollable road. Had this bill become a law it would have placed every road in this county on the list of non-tollable roads.

AN old lady in Lincoln County was pottering around in the meat-house and the loft holding 600 bushels of ears of corn fell in on her and did not hurt her in the least. Remarkable escape, or else a newspaper fake paragraph.

THE most important newspaper published by and for colored people is the Richmond Planet of which John Mitchell, Jr., is editor and proprietor. He has a magnificent printing office and gets out a fine weekly paper, each edition of which comprises about ten thousand copies. There are about 20 printers employed in the office, each of whom is colored. Besides its circulation, the plant has an important advertising and job trade. The existence of such an excellent paper as the Richmond Planet indicates the great progress in the education of the negroes. Of the original matter of its columns those relating to the colored race are of course of the greatest interest. We append several extracts:

"Colored men should be encouraged by the outlook. Our friends are multiplying. It is only ourselves that we must learn to control.

"Some of the lower classes of white people in the South are mean enough for the devil to run off with them to his dominions without waiting for them to undergo the usual operation of dying."

"Colored men should aspire to office, but should not neglect their legitimate employment in so doing. Our advice is, that our people should seek for every thing that the white man seeks for, both in science, art, religion and governmental management."

"Colored men, let us be respectful and courteous to white people. Let us be equally so to each other. It will pay in the long run, when unaccompanied by the elements of servility, but sparkling with the principals of true manhood and common sense."

The lower branch of the South Carolina legislature has passed a "Jim Crow Car" bill and it now goes to the Senate of that State. The patron of that measure had better tar and feather himself and rest on the spire of the State House until his ardor cools, and his prejudice is wafted away."

Where Land is Cheap - A large weather-map hangs in the senate chamber at Washington, and the senators gather before it in the morning, studying the conditions for the day. Many a good story is there told regarding the climate of different localities. To Senator Kyle, of South Dakota, the New York Sun accredits such a story. If the Sun is a true reporter in this case Senator Kyle must have about as large of a fraction.

Dakota weather is so bad, Senator Kyle is reported as saying, that farmers are often glad to get rid of their land. One of my neighbors saw a stranger looking it over along one day. The two soon began to talk, and soon a trade was made. The farmer offered the stranger two hundred acres of land for the cow.

When the stranger who could not read took the deed to Aberdeen to be recorded, he found it to call for four hundred acres instead of two hundred. He went back to the farmer, explained and tried to get the deed changed, but the farmer held out. Knowing the climate, he could see no use in making the farmer, and the stranger was forced to take the four hundred acres.

She Point of View.

THE LEGISLATURE, BY S. A. P.

Said the Appropriation Bill to the High Hat Bill,

As they met in the law-books blue:
"I have n't an idea who I am,
And who in the world are you?"
Said the High Hat Bill to the Appropriation Bill:
"I 'll tell you what I think:
We came into being one day this year
When there was too much to drink."

Too much water that is. Do not let this extract from Parodies Almost Lost carry a wrong impression. It would be a monstrous thing to think that any member of that great and luminous body of men known to us a great ways off as the Legislature was ever under the influence of anything but water during the late session.

There are some people who think the legislature is composed of a noble lot of men, thoroughly able to judge as to what we shall do and shall not do; even competent to decide the all-important question, which has so much to do with the degradation of a state, as to what women shall wear on their heads. Then I have met people who firmly believed that the legislature was made up of men who had talked themselves more or less silly to get there—mostly young nobodies who after a small sojourn in that, to a stranger, wilderness of dry bones, (Charleston), return to their native heath wearing a necktie that would bring a thunderstorm out of a clear sky, and which forces one to concentrate his whole mind on its study. While the fame of the honorable member depends chiefly upon his having done something which he ought not to have done, and which no other white man would have done.

This is an unhealthy state of mind with which to regard a member of the legislature. It often leads the person who has it to determine not to send somebody else but to go himself next time. That is a good idea, for nobody can do your legislating for you as well as you can do it yourself.

Members should pray earnestly that they be not talked about by reason of their being in the legislature. No news is the only good news you can hear of one of those. It is a mistake greatly to be deplored that the public will not take the member at his own estimate of himself. He has been on an animated bust for lo! these many weeks, and his home people consider it their solemn duty to take him down a peg or two, and so he may meet fronch faces and cold shoulders in the spring. Well is it then that he has people who dare not be cruel to him.

The best luck that a member could wish then is to go and return a good deal like a galley-slave at night—exciting no comment, drawing his pay with mechanical regularity, and so conducting himself that he may return by the same route he went.

Are You Thin?

Look about you! See for yourself! Who suffer most from sleeplessness, nervousness, nervous dyspepsia, neuralgia, despondency, general weakness? Who are on the edge of nervous prostration all the time? Those who are thin. Opium, chloral, bromides, headache powders, only make matters worse. Iron and bitters are only stimulants. To be cured, and cured for good, you need a fat-making food. You want new blood, rich blood, and a strong nervetonic.

SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites is all this. It feeds the tissues, makes rich blood, and strengthens the nerves.

Book about it free for the asking.

For sale by all druggists at 50c. and $1.00.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

A FREE BOOK. KNIT AND KNOW HOW KNITTING. 96 pages, over 50 engravings of original designs illustrated, beautiful new patterns in cluny, honiton, point lace, etc., have been published by The Home Knitting Co., Boston, Mass., and will be sent with a subscription to that paper. The Home is a 16-page monthly filled with interesting stories, fashions and domestic papers and articles. Its largest feature is Fancy Work in separate helpful and elegant designs each issue. Every new and elegant design each issue. Every new and elegant design each issue. Every new and elegant design

...las Times.

EDITOR

..., Mar. 5, 1897.

DOLLAR in ad-
within the year

...e-office at Martin-
...ond class matter.

...itizen, of Driscoll, ...ot Sunday.

...tates and Spain ...ight.

...ity a speak-easy ...was burned and ...ersched.

...a million dollars ...flood on the Mo...

...ry concerning the ...nual General Lee ...s. Virginia office ...ssign.

...of the Alexandr...y have gone on a ...of back pay be...

...vetoed the bill ...islature defining ...Had this bill be...uld have placed ...a county on the ...tate.

Lincoln County ...and in the meat...left holding 600 ...f corn fell in on ...hurt her in the...ble escape, or else ...paragraph.

...ortant newspaper ...l for colored peo...mond Planet of ...hell, Jr., is editor ...He has a mag...office and gets out ...per, each edition ...ws about ten thou...ers are about 20 ...ed in the office, ...colored. Besides ...the plant has an ...rinting and job ...tomers of such an ...as the Richmond ...the great prog...ration of the ne...riginal matter of ...relating to the ...f course of the ...We append ...

...should be encour...ck. Our friends ...It is only our...ust learn to com...

...lower classes of ...he South are mean ...devil to run off ...donations with...them to undergo ...an of dying."

...should aspire to ...not neglect their ...spect in so doing. ...that people ...every thing that ...seks for, both in ...ion and governm...ent."

...let us be respect...to white people ...so to each oth...in the long run ...ained by the cle...ty, but sparkling ...ds of true wom...n sense."

...ach of the South...are has passed a ...bill and if now ...e of that State ...that measure had ...ellow himself and ...ere of the state ...ge could, and ...rafted away."

...Cheap.—A large ...gs in the senate ...ington, and the ...efore it is the ...g the conditions ...ng a good story in ...g the climate of ...To Senator ...Dakota, the New ...a pack a day. M...reporter in this ...e must have often ...

...e is so bad. Some...said on saying, that ...ished to get rid of ...of my neighbors ...ding a sore along ...ne night when ...the strongest two ...ed for the new ...night, who could ...e devil to keep ...he, he found it to ...ith sores back of ...ed and ghoul ...disappeared, but the ...ing the dictates ...the two fore...

Are You Thin?

Look about you! See for yourself! Who suffer most from sleeplessness, nervousness, nervous dyspepsia, neuralgia, despondency, general weakness? Who are on the edge of nervous prostration all the time? Those who are thin. Opium, chloral, bromides, headache powders, only make matters worse. Iron and bitters are only stimulants. To be cured, and cured for good, you need a fat-making food. You want new blood, rich blood, and a strong nerve-tonic.

SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites is all this. It feeds the tissues, makes rich blood, and strengthens the nerves.

Book about it free for the asking.

For sale by all druggists at 50c. and $1.00.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

A NEW BOOK. "KNIT THIS AND CROCHET THAT," of 96 pages, over 50 original designs illustrated, beautiful new patterns shown, books, pockets, the best published by Mrs. Emma M. Black, of Chicago. Name and address and 2 cents in stamps for that paper. The Boston is a 32-page monthly, filled with original stories, fashions and fancy work and receipts. Its regular price is 50 cents a year, but to introduce it into new homes we will send it three months for 10 cents. Both papers, one year, for 50 cents. Address, The Boston, 144 Tremont Street, Boston, Mass.

She Point of View.

THE LEGISLATURE, BY S. A. P.

Said the Appropriation Bill to the High Hat Bill,

As they met in the law-books blue:
"I have n't an idea who I am,
And who in the world are you?"
Said the High Hat Bill to the Appropriation Bill:
"I 'll tell you what I think;
We came into being one day this year
When there was too much to drink."

Too much water that is. Do not let this extract from Parodies Almost Lost carry a wrong impression. It would be a monstrous thing to think that any member of that great and luminous body of men known to us a great ways off as the Legislature was ever under the influence of anything but water during the late session.

There are some people who think the legislature is composed of a noble lot of men, thoroughly able to judge as to what we shall do and shall not do; even competent to decide the all-important question, which has so much to do with the degradation of a state, as to what women shall wear on their heads. Then I have met people who firmly believed that the legislature was made up of men who had talked themselves more or less silly to get there—mostly young nobodies who after a small sojourn in that, to a stranger, wilderness of dry bones, (Charleston), return to their native heath wearing a necktie that would bring a thunderstorm out of a clear sky, and which forces one to concentrate his whole mind on its study. While the fame of the honorable member depends chiefly upon his having done something which he ought not to have done, and which no other white man would have done.

This is an unhealthy state of mind with which to regard a member of the legislature. It often leads the person who has it to determine not to send somebody else but to go himself next time. That is a good idea, for nobody can do your legislating for you as well as you can do it yourself.

Members should pray earnestly that they be not talked about by reason of their being in the legislature. No news is the only good news you can hear of one of those. It is a mistake greatly to be deplored that the public will not take the member at his own estimate of himself. He has been on an animated bust for lo! these many weeks, and his home people consider it their solemn duty to take him down a peg or two, and so he may meet frozen faces and cold shoulders in the spring. Well is it then that he has people who dare not be cruel to him.

The best luck that a member could wish then is to go and return a good deal like a galley-slave at night—exciting no comment, drawing his pay with mechanical regularity, and so conducting himself that he may return by the same route he went.

Obituary.

The death of Herbert Laurue, the only son of Mr and Mrs Larue, of Hillsboro, on the 19th of February, is very deeply felt by his parents and sister—the only surviving child. He was aged about thirteen years, and has been an invalid most of his young life, and required the constant attention of his parents by day and night at frequent periods. He was very fond of reading the Bible and showed a surprising acquaintance with the contents of the Book of Books for one of his years. He was morbidly conscientious, and nothing seemed to shock him so much as to meet with profane words in a newspaper or book. He would shudder at the sight, and would not touch the paper again.

Upon hearing of the sudden death of a person he knew well from an epileptic attack, he looked sadly surprised and lost his usual cheerfulness for some days. His father became anxious to know what his trouble was. He said:

"Father, do you think I will die like Mr B—— died?"

"I do not know, my son; it might be you would, but no one can tell as to that. But, Herbert, would you be afraid to die?"

"Oh no, father, I am not afraid to die, for then I know I shall be heaven; but it makes me sorry to think of leaving you and mother."

"By cool Siloam's shady rill
How sweet the lily grows,
How sweet the breath beneath the
Of Sharon's dewy rose. [hill

"And such the child whose early feet
The paths of peace have trod;
Whose secret heart with influence sweet
Is upward drawn to God."

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONTAS COUNTY, }

At Rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on Monday, the 1st day of March, 1897.

Davis Wanless, Dora E. Rich (nee Wanless), and Sally Swintzel (nee Wanless).....Plaintiffs.
vs.
John T. Wanless, William Wanless and a sister whose name is unknown, heirs at law of Stephen Wanless, deceased; Ralph W. Wanless, Stephen H. Wanless, the unknown heirs of George P. Wanless, deceased, and Margaret E. Wanless, children and heirs at law of Ralph Wanless, deceased; The unknown heirs of William Wanless; the unknown heirs of Betsy M. Hatter, (nee Wanless); the unknown heirs of Lida M. Vires: all the foregoing defendants being heirs at law of a certain James Wanless, deceased; Newton M. Fertig, and Jacob H. Shrader, and all the other unknown heirs of James Wanless, Sr., deceased.....Defendants

The object of this suit is to have partition of the lands in the bill and proceedings mentioned, of which James Wanless, Sr. died siezed and possessed, and which are now in the possession of the said John F Wanless; and to assign to the plaintiffs their respective interests in said lands, and to this end to take all necessary and proper proceedings.

This day came the plaintiffs by their attorneys, and on their motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed that the said defendants, William Wanless, Margaret E. Wanless, the heirs of George P. Wanless, the unknown heirs of William Wanless, the unknown heirs of Betsie M. Hatter, the unknown heirs of Lida M. Vires, and the unknown sister of said John T. Wanless are non residents of the state of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the date of the first publication hereof, and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
Wm. M. & J. T. McAllister p. q.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONTAS COUNTY, }

At rules held in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court for said county on Monday, March 1st, 1897.

A. Barlow .....Plaintiff
vs.
George W. McDonald, and others .....Defendants.

The object of this suit is to attach and sell for the debt of the plaintiff the interest of George W. McDonald in that portion of three tracts of land, towit: 1635, 324, and 167 acres in the bill and proceedings described, which said land has been divised by order of court in the chancery cause Hall vs. Hall, and assigned to said McDonald, and which according to that division is still yours.

This day came the plaintiff by his attorney, and on his motion and it appearing by affidavit filed, that Mrs Emma P. McDonald, the widow of John A. McDonald, deceased, and their children, whose names are unknown to affiant, are now of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the date of the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
B. S. Turk p. q.

For your subscription

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

By virtue of a decree entered in the chancery cause of R. S. Turk, Commissioner, vs. B. M. Yeager, et als., pending in the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, on the 21st day of October, 1896, the undersigned special commissioner will proceed on Tuesday, the 6th day of April, 1897, in front of the court-house door of said county to sell publicly to the highest bidder the following tracts of land lying in Pocahontas County, towit:

40 acres lying on the west side of Buffalo Mountain,

80 acres on said Buffalo Mountain,

184 acres and 14 acres lying on Alleghany Mountain, which formerly belonged to William G. Gilkeson and lay close to or adjoining the old Yeager place on Alleghany Mountain. There are some improvements on these lands which make them quite valuable.

TERMS OF SALE: Cash in hand sufficient to pay cost of suit and sale, and for the residue a credit of six and twelve months, the purchaser to execute bond with approved personal security, bearing interest from date, a lien to be retained as ultimate security.

For further information inquire of R. S. Turk, Staunton, Va.

R. S. TURK,
Special Commissioner.

State of WEST VIRGINIA, } towit:
County of POCAHONTAS }

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of the county afore said, do certify that the above named commissioner has given the bond required of him in the decree under which he is acting.

Given under my hand this 4th day of March, 1897.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

Commissioner's Sale of Valuable Lands

IN

POCAHONTAS COUNTY, W. V.

By virtue of a decree of sale entered on the 22d day of October, 1896, in the chancery cause of R. S. Turk, Special Commissioner, versus John T. McGraw, and others, pending in the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, the undersigned special commissioner will proceed on

TUESDAY, APRIL 6th, 1897,

in front of the court-house door of said county, to sell publicly to the highest bidder the following real estate situated in Pocahontas county, towit:

3900 ACRES OF LAND.

Lying on Knapp's Creek in said county, adjoining the lands of William Curry and others, formerly belonging to the estate of William Skeen, deceased. This land is covered with virgin forests of white-oak, white-pine, and other valuable timbers, and is also reputed to have coal & valuable iron ore.—It lies along the bank of Knapp's Creek in such a way that the lumber can be easily floated from it to market.

TERMS OF SALE: One-third of the purchase money cash in hand and for the residue bonds with approved personal security will be required, falling due in six and twelve months from day of sale, with interest from date, a lien to be retained as ultimate security.

R. S. TURK,
Special Commissioner.

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, do certify that the commissioner above has executed bond as required by law.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

The World.

The world's a printing-house; our words are thoughts,
Our deeds are characters of several sizes;
Each soul is a compositor, of whose faults
The Levites are correctors, hea'n revises.—Old Play.

LIFE ought to be a succession of happenings, a matter of outward fortunes, but a cumulative inward growth and accumulative power of productivity.—Hamilton W. Mabie. (Essays on Nature and Culture.)

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kidney remedy fulfils every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following the use liquor, beer, or wine, and over comes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet both sent free by mail. Mention The Pocahontas Times and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

Lightning Hot Drops—
What a Fancy Name!
Very True, but it Kills All Pain.
Send Everywhere, Every Day—
Without Relief, There is No Pain.

Tutt's Pills Cure All Liver Ills.

ARE YOU BANKRUPT in health, constitution undermined by extravagance in eating, by disregarding the laws of nature, or physical capital all gone, if so,

NEVER DESPAIR

Tutt's Liver Pills will cure you. For sick headache, dyspepsia, sour stomach, malaria, torpid liver, constipation, biliousness and all kindred diseases.

Tutt's Liver Pills
an absolute cure.

Trustee's Sale

By virtue of a deed of trust executed to George K. Gay, trustee, by Marquis G. Waugh and Susan H. Waugh, his wife, dated on the 5th day of July, 1878, and recorded in the Clerk's office of the County Court of Pocahontas, West Virginia, in Deed Book No. 13, Page 45,—to secure the payment of three certain promissory notes, fully mentioned and described therein,—and default having been made in the payment thereof, and being required so to do by the holders of said notes;—I, George K. Gay, trustee, will on the 6th day of April, 1897, that being the first day of Circuit Court, commencing at 1 o'clock, p. m., at the front door of the Courthouse of said Pocahontas County, W. Va., proceed to sell by way of public auction to the highest bidder the property conveyed by said deed, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy said indebtedness.

Said real estate lying and being in the 2d District, Pocahontas County, West Virginia, containing two hundred and forty acres, adjoining the James Waugh lands on Greenbrier River, it being the same land upon which the said M. G. Waugh now resides, and is fully referred to and described in said deed of trust.

TERMS OF SALE: Sufficient cash in hand to pay costs of sale, and balance in two equal payments, at six and twelve months from day of sale; purchaser to give bonds for deferred payments, with approved personal security, with interest from date, title retained as ultimate security. GEORGE K. GAY.
By Attorney.

March 4, 1897. 4t

WE PAY POSTAGE.

Free of all charges, we will mail to anyone our advance illustrated catalog for 1897 (just issued.) It contains 554 illustrations of Furniture, Carpets, Lace Curtains, Bedding, Stoves, lamps, Refrigerators, Baby Carriages, etc. You save the middleman's profits by trading with the manufacturer, as you are paying local dealers double our prices. Drop a postal now for our money-saver.

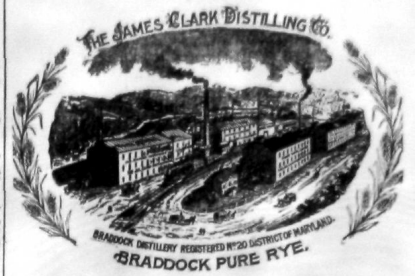
Julius Hines & Son,
Baltimore, Md.

C. B. SWECKER,
General Auctioneer
and Real Estate Agent
Iseli Coal, Mineral and Timber Lands, Farms and Town Lots a specialty. 21 years in the business. Correspondence solicited. Reference furnished. Postoffice—Dunmore, W. Va.—or Alexander, W. Va.

VALUABLE

Property for Sale Privately.

One of the most complete residences in the county, situated in the village of Hillsboro, is offered for sale privately, on good terms.



This would be especially valuable to any doctor who wishes to locate in one of the best sections of the State. The owner, a physician, wishes to retire, for private reasons that will be perfectly satisfactory to any proposed purchaser.

Further information cheerfully afforded any inquirer by the editor of this paper.

The Greatest Medicinal Whiskey the World has Ever Known.

BRADDOCK PURE RYE
AND BARLEY MALT,

SMOOTH, SOFT, RICH, RIPE, MELLOW AND CHEMICALLY PURE, A RECOMMENDATION IN ITSELF.

TRY A GALLON AT $2.00

Mail Orders solicited either great or small and receive our personal and prompt attention. Drop us a postal for price list. Don't use inferior goods but mail us your orders; we can save you money and perhaps your health.

JAS CLARK DISTILLING CO., JNO. McQUAIDE Mngr.

Distillers of Braddock Pure Rye, Wholesale and Retail Liquor Dealers.
20 and 22 South New St., Staunton, Va.

Duke! Duke!

HIGH GRADE BICYCLES!

1896 Model.

Frame long head and wheel base. Made from best cold drawn steel tubing, narrow tread, 28inch wheels, Wood Rims, Nickeled Spokes, M and W. Quick-Repair Tire. All connexions drop forged steel. Ball-bearing to every part; bearings made from the best steel, tempered and ground, dust proof, 6 inch cranks, Rat trap or Rubber Peddles, one-fourth inch Number Chain with hardened rivets and centers. Drop-forged steel sprockets, T pattern saddle post, Garford Saddle, 68 inch gear, weight 24 lbs.

Price, $50.00.

1895 Model Duke, 27lbs., Price, $40.00

A full and complete stock of Bicycle Sundries and Repairs, eye lometers, Lamps, Bells, &c. Repairing of all kinds a specialty. Send us your broken bicycles and we can make them good as new

RESPECTFULLY,

RONCEVERTE, W VA Eagle AND Ott.

We have a plan by which Farmers can get
TOOL CHESTS FREE
Containing of first-class quality (guaranteed) every tool—Axes, Saws and Planes included—necessary to repair vehicles, houses or build a house. Tools, chests and the same of this vast required for particulars. Powell Fertilizer & Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.

FURNITURE FACTORY

AND

Furniture Store.

Fine Furniture Made to Order.

STOCK ALWAYS ON HAND.

I am occupying the Temporary Court house and am prepared to make to order all kinds of Furniture at lower prices than can be obtained elsewhere. Don't be cheated in Furniture but buy from a reliable cabinet maker who works up the native woods.

I can order you furniture from the city at better terms than you can get it for your life. Whenever you need anything in my line you will save money by giving me a call.

W. J. Killingsworth.

The Pocahontas Times.

MARCH 3, 1897.

Local Events.

DR WILLIAM P. BLAND, Clarksburg, is dead at the age of eighty-one years.

NO ONE remembers the time when so much corn and hay was in Pocahontas, as the present spring.

MR J. S. MOORE trapped two large eagles last week. They were eating a dead sheep. A large number of eagles have been killed on his farm.

THE recent rise in Knapp's Creek did not do much damage, outside of a few water gaps and some fencing, and all can be repaired without much inconvenience.

A FORTUNATE juncture of concurrent agencies enabled Captain Peters to double-quick it down Laurel Creek, and he now stands supreme on his hustling heels ready for other fields to conquer.

IT looks as if there will be a great rush in farming operations when the spring fairly opens up, as so little has been accomplished during the winter in clearing, ploughing, and repairing fences.

PUT not off till tomorrow that which you can do to-day. If you have not yet bought any goods at THE GOLDEN STORE do n't let the grass grow under my feet till you have bought the best goods for the least money.

IMPORTANT MILLINERY NOTICE.—Mrs J. M. Cuningham is now in Baltimore laying in a large and attractive stock of spring Millinery which will be ready for the inspection of her customers by the last week in March.

THE "Religious Outlook" is the name of a monthly magazine, published at Columbia, S. C. It claims to present in a pointed way the religious movements of the day and their tendencies. Thirty-five names of distinguished ministers and writers are given in a partial list of contributers. Subscription $1.00. BRYAN PRINTING CO., P. O. Drawer 31, Columbia, S. C.

HON SAMUEL WOODS, of Philippi, died on February 17, aged 75 years. He was a native of Canada but has been a resident of West Virginia since his youth. He voted for secession in the Virginia convention of 1861. He was a member of the West Virginia Constitutional convention, and a Judge in the Court of Appeals from 1883 to 1889. He was for many years a devout member of the M. E. church.

THE disappearance of the logs and the timber-men have made a great change in the appearance of things between Marlinton and Driscol. Our old acquaintances, the logs, will hardly be recognizables when they return in a year or two as furniture, bedsteads, and picture frames. It makes great difference with logs, as well as boys, to go abroad, remain awhile and then come back to serve some useful or ornamental purpose.

By judicious and persevering effort, we see the younger generation building up comfortable and substantial homes on portions of the old homesteads, adding thus to the number of homes where the turmoil and confusion of these eventful times pass undecoded by. It is one of the pleasing omens of the future that so many nice and comfortable homes have been rearing in various parts of our county, where the Bible and newspapers are read and sacred music is to be heard.

AS usual Pocahontas County suffered loss from floods than the rest of our world. It is certainly because we have so much timber. At Elkins the water was higher by 16 inches than in the destructive flood of last July. At Buckhannon it was two feet higher—the highest in thirty-five years. Great damage was done the Alexander Lumber Company. Charleston was almost completely submerged and the legislature was compelled to adjourn. The Capitol was surrounded by four feet of water.

ON the mountain-summit overlooking Hillsboro from the west is seen an opening once occupied by a person who called himself Harry Mossenberg. He owned a few slaves and at rare intervals he would come over to the Levels. He seemed very polished in his manners, quite intelligent, and possessed quite a library of very select books on Swedenborgianism, history, poems, and travels. It seemed to give him pleasure to have persons visit him who could talk with him about his books and the newspapers. The impression prevailed that he was originally from Norfolk, and had met with persecution from this county who had been in camp near Norfolk during the war of 1812. His preference seemed to be for the Swedenborgian faith, and it is possible he obtained the view that the exclusion of the race from everyone's minds would be most helpful in developing the spiritual possibilities under the guidance by emissaries Swedenborgian. Years altogether he was one of the most mysterious characters ever resident in our county, and would be a fitting subject for an interesting romance.

S. VARNER, Esq., of Linnwood, has gone to Rockbridge after a drove of cattle.

IT is reported that Mr E. L. Beard, a Hillsboro merchant, had some dressed lumber taken away by the recent rise in the Greenbrier.

THE robins and crows have appeared in great numbers about Driscol. The robins flock about the tepid springs at that place, and seem to be glad to get back, where water is so pure, warm and nice as the Lockridge and other springs.

MR R. K. BURNS, of Hillsboro, can probably carry off the cake in the matter of attending bridegrooms upon marriage occasions. He has performed in this capacity some eighteen times. Could the eighteen couple be assembled at once the display would be quite imposing and surprising.

THE attention of the writer was called by John Roarke, the Greenbrier pilot, to two magnificent specimens of geodes, picked up on the Johnson Place near town. A geodo, as the learned reader will know, is the name given to those rounded stones which have a cavity in the centre, often lined with superb crystals. Also to some corn which seemed curious, its strangeness consisting in each grain having a double kernal. We are not advised whether this is a freak of nature or a species of corn.

THE bill establishing a home for incurables passed the legislature. It is destined to afford a retreat for those who are disabled by disease, and have no means to afford a quiet retreat for their last days. It was one of the projects of Mrs Joseph Ruffner, a lady who, tho by nature a philanthropist, has achieved an unenviable reputation as a woman lobbyist—the she has never approached the legislature on anything except for the passage of some eleemosynary measure. She has peculiar faculty for making a speech, and enjoys the reputation of finding more happiness in doing good through public means than in the domestic circle.

ONCE more the West gives back to Pocahontas her own. R. E. L. Doyle went to Oregon last December to locate and his family was to follow him in the spring. Last Tuesday he came back, having had enough of Oregon, while his trip cost a good deal, and it will probably be of great value to him. Besides the experience and the new things seen, he appreciates the fact that it is often distance that lends enchantment to the view. About one half of the emigrents that go from Pocahontas turn wiser and poorer, and are rightly glad to get back. It is only those who have burt the bridges behind them and cannot return who succeed and are generally terribly homesick.

THE marriage of Mr William A. Mann and Miss Verdie Blanche Clark, of Hillsboro, on the morning of February 24th, was a very pleasant society event. The bride was the youngest daughter of Mrs Ann Clark, relict of the late Samuel Clark, Esq., of Hillsboro. She is a very popular and successful teacher in our public schools—one of the four sisters who have distinguished themselves as teachers in various sections of our county. The company consisted mainly of the family and some of the more relatives and neighbors. The dinner was bountiful and very elegant in all of its appointments. Soon after dinner, Mr and Mrs Mann set out to the residence of William C. Mann, Esq., near Edray, where a cordial reception awaited them that evening. Nice presents, hearty congratulations, and sincere wishes for their happiness touchingly signify the esteem in which these worthy young people are held.

AT the present time there is a prisoner in jail at Marlinton, named Miller, from the neighborhood of Frost, who is in even worse condition than those who are imprisoned for debt in the early days of the nation. In this case a young boy at Frost swore out what is known as a peace-warrant, declaring that he—a young man able to take care of himself—was afraid of this young Miller doing him a bodily injury. The complainant was required to go into court and embodied as Miller, and as able to do Miller an injury as Miller was to hurt him, but still there had been the valorous utterances on the part of Miller that are common to to young men in the pride of youthful strength and health, and these could be interpreted by the court and the magistrate could do nothing more than bind him not to carry out those wonderful threats in the penalty of $100. Had Miller had any friend who would have jeopardized that sum for one year, nothing of any particular importance would have resulted. Miller is unable, and there was nobody except a widowed mother who depended on him for support. The consequence was that this hale and hearty young man has been incarcerated in the public jail as a common malefactor for four months at the expense of the county—which sometimes runs to dozens of dollars—and not to speak of the loss of time and labor to the county.

Jacob Nottingham, who has been ill with pneumonia, is improving.

Will Greathouse is ill with pneumonia at Harry Hunter's on Back Alleghany.

The health of our community is getting back to where it was before the grip struck us.

Albert Beckingham is at home on a short visit from Missouri.

PERSONAL.

Mrs J. M. Cunningham and John Pullins are attending the inaugural ceremonies at Washington.

E. H. Smith, student at Lexington, went to Washington to see the inauguration.

George Tacy, of Driftwood, was in Marlinton on business.

E. D. King has gone to Addison to work on the new hotel in building there.

Mr Oscar Slavin will return from the West this week.

Lyman Gage, the new Secretary of the Treasury, has been spending some weeks at the Hot Springs.

Mrs Maggie Lockridge is not well. There has been much sickness in her family in the past few weeks, but all are much better.

Dr Lockridge has about recovered from his severe attack of incipient pneumonia.

Mrs Laura Herold closed a very successful school at Sunset, two weeks since.

Dennis Williams has gone to the Concord Normal School.

"Brother" C. Z. Hevner, once a conspicuous resident of Marlinton, is in charge of the McNeel smithery, near Hillsboro, and may settle there this spring. When we met our friend a few days since he was just finishing a ride of thirty miles in order to come eight miles. He looked very solemn, and talked as properly as if he was about to to step from the anvil and take to traveling work.

John Doyle called at this office Wednesday.

DR J. W. PRICE, while experimenting in his drug-store at this place, brought on an explosion of some cayenniculs. The doctor has had his attention turned to ringworm in horses on account of a favorite mare going lame with it, and he was concocting a kill or cure medicine of various acids. A quantity of vitriol being added to an already horrible mess, the explosion occurred. The mixture shot up to the ceiling barely missing the experimenter's face, and penetrated through the plastering. A fearful smell prevailed throughout the vicinity for a day or two, but no serious damage was done. The accident will probably result in the invention of a new explosion more dangerous than anything hitherto known.

SWECKER'S auction on Court day was larely attended and everything brought good prices.

Correspondence.

KNAPP'S CREEK.

Messrs S. B. Hannah, Jake Hevner, Peterson and Jones have been buying cattle in this section.

Dave Corbett, of Highland, was around selling churn-dashers that will make butter out of milk weed.

Miss Lillie Curry of Huntersville, is visiting at I. B. Moore's.

Misses Myrtle Herold and Lucy Sharp have enroled as pupils at the Frost school.

Prof. Lantz is getting nicely with his school.

There will singing at Mt Vernon next Sunday evening. Let every body attend.

Sheriff Hill was around inviting a few people to Marlinton on Court day.

We are informed that Frank Dever, son of Hugh Dever, was married in Nebraska, on January 24. Sherman Gibson made a flying to Highland last week. MUD.

Rain, snow, cold weather, and the wild geese going north.

Rev Echols will preach his farewell sermon at Mt Vernon on next Sunday.

James Reed passed up the Creek last Sunday, singing "Sweet Elva."

We wonder why some people go buggy riding on Sunday and have to load the horse part of the way.

The debating society at Cove Hill is flourishing.

Martin Beverage is a welcome visitor among his friends on Knapps Creek.

A. V. Bond says the is not very icy except at Frost, but it is 'pretty lcie' up there.

D. W. Dever expects to sell a lot of young cattle, farming implements & etc, on the March 23.

Look out Mr Mace—or the Bunard will fly off with Harry Guinn.

Capt Smith's gray team passed up the Creek, but alas it was Cozie in John going to Frost.

S. & H.

GREEN BANK.

February has gone without any ground hog weather.

North Fork showed itself to be a stream to be feared. She broke a number of dams and flooded the flats, causing some people to hurry their houses and seek higher ground, so the no serious damage was done. All the fences on the creek side of J. H. Patterson's lot was taken down and all the bank washed away. The same with 14 inches of Dr Auto's house.

Jacob Nottingham, who has been ill with pneumonia, is improving.

Will Greathouse is ill with pneumonia at Harry Hunter's on Back Alleghany.

The health of our community is getting back to where it was before the grip struck us.

Albert Beckingham is at home on a short visit from Missouri.

WANLESS.

Geo. Tracy saw his shadow on ground hog day. All Pocahontas note the result.

Uncle Allan Galford has been very sick, but is better now and he says he wants to kill one more deer. He has killed many deer and some time ago offered a dollar for a pair of horns.

Zack Swink has been very sick but has recovered. He has made flying trip to his Wanless farm in the interest of his cattle.

Joe McLaughlin and Sallie Burner were married lately.

The old McLaughlin church is being repaired. The people in this community will now have a good church. Will Geiger is doing the work.

Charlie Swink wants a "King heater."

Wash Oliver has a petition to build a foot bridge across the Greenbrier at the mouth of Leatherbark. The bridge is very much needed and all should take an interest in it. We wish Mr Oliver much success in this undertaking, which is for the good of the county. VIRGINIA.

FROST.

Plenty of rain and mud. The farmers are making some sugar.

S. C. Peterson, of McDowell, is in this part buying cattle.

The Cove Hill school, taught by W. B. Sharp, closed last week. Mr Sharp expects to attend the Concord school.

The Frost school is progressing nicely under the able management of Professor J. H. Lantz.

Miss May Herold has closed her school on Douthard's Creek. She came home accompanied by Miss Lucy Sharp, and both are now attending school at Frost.

Harry Wade, of Virginia, was at Frost last week.

Miss Kate Dever, who has been visiting relatives in this vicinity, returned to her home last week.

There seems to be some great attraction in Highland for some of the Frost boys.

J. A. Moore moved W. H. Moore to Covington last week. Mr Moore expects to spend the spring and summer with his daughter, Mrs. Lamb.

Denis Deaver has rented his farm to the Gibson brothers. He will start for the West early in the spring. We are sorry to lose Mr Dever from our neighborhood.

Peyton Moore is very anxious to purchase a new buggy harness. BILLEY.

R. W. Hill was in this vicinity last week, summoning the people to Court.

Jake Nottingham's auction was largely attended, consequently every thing went high.

Miss Lena Kinnison will close her school at Mt. Zion on the 4th of March.

W. B. Hannah was in this vicinity collecting money last week. He is a fine merchant, and we hope he will re-locate at Frost.

Prof. Lantz's spelling matches are a success.

Sugar making is the order of the day with those who have a camp.

The Frost and Oak Grove foot ball teams will play a match game on March 6, at Clark Dilley's. We expect plenty of music and a large crowd. Come one, come all!

The Cove Hill debating society, which was largely attended and enjoyed by all present, closed last Friday night. The subject discussed was, "Resolved that we should remain on a single gold standard." The captains were W. B. Sharp, affirmative, and J. A. Reed, negative. The greatest difficulty encountered was the selection of judges. After a wise selection was made, the subject was taken up and ably discussed. After which the judges gave their decision in favor of the affirmative. BILL.

DILLEY'S MILL.

Mike Wellingham, the Irish peddler, is traveling in this part again. He had quite a severe attack of la grippe, and has not been able to peddle any this winter.

Brad. Sharp closed his school the 19th instant, with pleasant exercises. This is his second school taught at Cove Hill with good results.

James McCarty closed his school at Tabor, and has gone to Academy to attend school.

W. H. and J. W. Carpenter were in this part, returning from Marlinton where they had been driving logs.

George Bumbrick and J. W. Grimes made a trip to Mill Point for flour last week.

Rev C. M. Anderson and family passed through this part enroute for Lobelia, where he will remain until his health is improved.

Rev Clutterbuck will preach at Mt Zion the 7th instant for the last time this conference year.

Food seems plentiful in this part and stock has wintered remarkably well.

Born to Mr and Mrs F. M. Dilley a son, also to Mr and Mrs C. W. Fertig.

The freezet freshet did some little damage, but nothing to speak of compared with other places.

Allow us space to congratulate Dr. Gillespie upon his accomplished bride. May their lives be one of continued sunshine.

TABOR FOOL.

Now is the time to subscribe!

DUNMORE.

Rain, slush, and mud.

Miss Dora Brownlee will close the Dunmore school this week.

Prof John A. McLaughlin will close the McLaughlin school this week.

Auctioneer Swecker will sell all the personal property of Dennis Dever on the 23d day of March, 1897.

Sol Davis, C. O. and Major Arbogast, and W. A. Gladwell, of Green Bank, spent most of the week at Marlinton. Also Commissioner J. R. Warwick.

A great deal of damage has been done roads by the high waters lately.

Stonewall spent several days in town lately.

Arthur Noel and D. B. Taylor left Tuesday, for the University of Virginia, where Mr Noel has gone for medical treatment.

Billy Sheets got back one week before the Inauguration.

R. B. Nottingham's sale was largely attended and stock brought good prices. Mr Nottingham will open up a store at Dunmore about the 1st of May.

Bennie Ferguson and Miss Alice McLaughlin were married on the 3d, near Dunmore, by Rev C. C. Arbogast.

We are glad to note that the sick are improving.

LOBELIA ITEMS.

Cold, muddy, and changeable, and everybody waiting to make sugar. I would say to everyone, make all the sugar you can. This helps to make times better. Let us not depend on McKinley too much, but let every man do the best he can. We will have a railroad in this county in the near future—mind what I say.

Squire Bruffey closed his school on the creek last Saturday, with a big crowd in attendance.

Mr A. O. McCarty tore his shirt—its a big boy!!

Mrs Caroline Dean is much better since Dr McClintic has been waiting on her.

We congratulate our Dear Editor,—may they live long and happily.

Some of the boys have found the passage of Scripture which says it is not good for men to live alone—in this section.

Plenty of feed in this section, and some to spare.

David Sullivan, Jr., started to Missouri last Tuesday to put out a crop. The family will go in the fall.

Mason Taylor, of Greenbrier, is in the employ of G. W. Whiting, of Mount Murphy.

John Eagle has returned from Ronceverte. He says work will begin on the new railroad about April 1st.

Your correspondent has received a letter from a friend at Camden-on-Gauley, and true report is engineers have finished locating a road to the mouth of Cherry River—twenty-eight miles from here. Work will begin soon. If Brother Editor and Jack McCoy will come we can fish down in one and a-half days, about May.

I reckon the legislature will not pass a law to prohibit us from eating all the ramps we want.

More coming. PILOT.

Charles W. Slavin Pardoned.

As we go to press we receive a letter from Mr H. M. Lockridge, who is attending the Circuit Court of Kanawha, saying that Charles W. Slavin who was sentenced in October, 1895, to eleven years penal servitude, for killing Ham Collins, has been pardoned by the now Ex-Governor MacCorkle.

D. W. DEVER

Sale of

Personal PROPERTY

On the 23rd day of March, 1897, I will offer for sale at my residence on Knapps creek all the personal property belonging to me, viz:

10 Cows, & other stock.
3 good Work-Horses.
1 Set of Harness
2 Wagons
1 Mowing Machine and Rake
1 Buggy and Harness

A lot of Hay, Wheat, Corn, and Oats. A lot of Bacon, and other things, too numerous to mention.

Terms made known on day of sale.

D. W. DEVER.

March 5, 1897.

Swecker Auctioneer.

$25 Reward.

I will pay the above sum for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who wilfully and maliciously shot the saw at my mill on Laurel Creek.

HAMP. GALFORD.

Valuable Land for Rent

A valuable grazing farm of more than 300 acres for rent.—well watered and under good fence. Will rent or take in cattle by the month.

For further information call on or address

ALLIE B. MCLAUGHLIN.

15tf Edray, W. Va.

Notice.

All parties knowing themselves indebted to me will please come forward and settle up by the 15th of March, 1897, as I intend to make some change in my business.

GEORGE W. GINGER.

Huntersville, W. Va. 4t

Notice.

We hereby notify all persons not to trespass on our land, by hunting, laying down fences, or in any other way.

NATHAN, SHEARER & CO.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

I HAVE given Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a fair test and consider it one of the very best remedies for croup that I have ever found. One dose has always been sufficient, altho I use it freely. Any cold my children contract yields very readily to this medicine. I can conscientiously recommend it for croup and colds in children.—GEO. E. WOLFF, Clerk of the Circuit Court Ferdinanda, Fla. Sold by druggists.

Notice to Mail Carriers.

THOSE contracting to carry the mails on routes leading over the Marlin to Bottom & Huttonsville, Turnpike from Marlinton to the Randolph County line, and from Marlinton to Claiborne McNeil's, or over Greenbrier Bridge, will take notice that they will have to pay their legal rates of toll by the trip, and in contracting should take this into consideration.

G. W. MANN,
Toll Contractor.

Notice to Horse-Traders.

ON April 6th, 1897, first day of Court, in front of the Court-house, at Marlinton, W. Va., I will offer for sale my thoroughbred Hamiltonian stallion, on 30 days time, purchaser giving bond and good security. This horse is well known in Pocahontas and Greenbrier Counties, and will be in good trim for the season of 1897.

Respectfully,

W. W. TIBBS.

Marlinton, W. Va.

MR WARD L. SMITH, of Fredericktown, Mo., was troubled with chronic diarrhoea for over thirty years. He had become fully satisfied that it was only a question of a short time until he would have to give up. He had been treated by some of the best physicians, but obtained no relief, but got no permanent relief, until he got a paper and obtained to see an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He got a bottle of it, he says, and before he had used the contents of the bottle he was entirely cured. For sale by druggists.

D. W. DEVER

Sale of

Personal PROPERTY

On the 23rd day of March, 1897, I will offer for sale at my residence on Knapps creek all the personal property belonging to me, viz:

10 Cows, & other stock.
3 good Work-Horses.
1 Set of Harness
2 Wagons
1 Mowing Machine and Rake
1 Buggy and Harness

A lot of Hay, Wheat, Corn, and Oats. A lot of Bacon, and other things, too numerous to mention.

Terms made known on day of sale.

D. W. DEVER.

March 5, 1897.

Swecker Auctioneer.

WASHINGTON hand-PRESS. THE POCAHONTAS TIMES has for sale a most convenient, easiest-running, Washington Hand-Press, at a price about one-third of its real worth. This press would form the nucleus of a profitable country newspaper business. Its capacity is a six-column folio, and for years did the work of THE TIMES office. The concensus of opinion of all the printers who have ever operated this press is that more impressions can be made with greater ease than on any other press ever operated by them. This press is of no value to THE TIMES, owing to being supplanted by a power press.

Also the proprietors will sell for a fair price the good-will, machinery, and material of the business known as THE POCAHONTAS TIMES printing plant—consisting of the most complete printing outfit outside of a town or city in the State.

Harvesting Machines.

I will furnish the JOHNSTON HARVESTING MACHINERY & MOWERS this year from $60.00 to $65.00, according to the length of cut.

Yours respectfully,

C. J. HILL,
Agent.

LOBELIA, W. VA. (12 6m

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONTAS COUNTY, }

At rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on Monday, February 1st, 1897.

Clifton Forge Grocery Company, a corporation under the laws of Virginia ..... Plaintiff,

vs.

C. C. Arbogast, W. B. Ellis & Ellis partners trading as W. B. Ellis & Co., A. Elhart, C. G. Joyner and M. H. Witz, partners trading as Elhart, Joyner, & Co.; E. M. Brown, George Bleene and George J. Bleene, partners trading as George Bleene & Son; S. R. Sutton, H. S. Fowler, Charles P. Jones, J. H. Shears, J. W. Lukins, P. D. Arbogast, C. O. Tracy, Emma A. Tracy, J. Wesley Hevener, Old Dominion Building and Loan Association; and J. Taylor Ellyson and W. A. Bratton, Trustees ..... Defendants

The object of this suit is to subject the land of the defendant C. C. Arbogast, lying near Green Bank, in Pocahontas County, W. Va., being 181 acres, more or less, to the payment of the liens thereon, and for general relief. This day came the plaintiff by its attorney, and on his motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed that the defendants, the Old Dominion Building and Loan Association, J. Taylor Ellyson, Trustee, and C. P. Jones, are non-residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the date of the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit.

Teste:

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

H. S. Rucker, p. q. 4

Order of Publication.

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONTAS COUNTY, }

At rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on Monday, the 1st day of February, 1897.

Wm. M. McAllister ..... Plaintiff

vs.

Mary Florence Adams, Thomas Adams, her husband, and C. B. McDonald, Executor of Mary C. Bias, deceased, ... Defendants.

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree against the defendant, Mary Florence Adams, for the sum of $826.16, with interest from the 1st day of January, 1885, on $467.26 part thereof, and the cost of this proceeding; to require C. B. McDonald, Executor of Mary C. Bias, deceased, to sell the remainder of the lands devised to him for that purpose and apply the interest of said Mary Florence Adams to the discharge pro tanto of said debt, and to attach said proceeds and said interests in his hands; and to attach the undivided interest of said Mary Florence Adams as an heir of Margaret Gatewood, deceased, in the lands in Pocahontas County, whereof the said Margaret Gatewood owned seized and possessed, as well: The undivided one-half interest in 1,000 acres, lying on Big Spring Run, in Pocahontas County, and to have a sale made of said undivided interest, and the proceeds applied to the discharge of said debt.

This day came the plaintiff, by his attorneys; and on their motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed, that the said defendants, Mary Florence Adams, Thomas Adams, her husband, and C. B. McDonald, Executor of Mary C. Bias, deceased, are non-residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order, and do what is necessary to protect their interests in this suit.

Teste:

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

H. S. RUCKER, p. q. 5

Lost! Lost! Lost!

Money Lost

by not trading with us. We mean business, as you will find if you give us a trial.

'The proof of the pudding is in the eating.'

Buy one bill of us for your own special benefit.

THE MONEY WE DO NOT SPEND PAYING TRAVELLING MENS' BILLS IS SHARED WITH OUR CUSTOMERS. WE SEEK NO TRADE THAT IS NOT OURS BY VIRTUE OF LOW PRICES AND HONEST GOODS. OUR REPUTATION AS A Spot Cash Buyers bring us bargains that credit never saw. We give bargains; the prices tell the people, and the people tell the prices.

We will sell, wire nails, from 4 to 20 penny at $2.40 per keg.

Best Granulated Sugar at 4¢.

Fancy Green Coffee at 10¢.

Corn Starch for a dime.

Elegant good Tobacco 25¢ to the pound.

Cut Plug best Tobacco 50¢ to the pound.

We will buy beeswax and for throughout the winter. Friends, do n't forget to save your rags for us.

Yours respectfully,

L. D. Sharp.

LEWISBURG, W. VA.

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, Mar. 5, 1897.

Subscription ONE DOLLAR in advance. If not paid within the year $1.50 will be charged.

Entered at the post office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

County Directory

Judge ..... J. M. McWhorter
Pros. Attorney .... L. M. McClintic
Sheriff ..... R. W. Hill
Clerk County Court .. S. L. Brown
Clerk Circuit Court, J. H. Patterson
Assessor ..... J. H. Buzzard
Com'rs. Co. Ct. { Amos Barlow, C. S. Beard, J. R Warwick
Surveyor ..... George Baxter
Coroner ..... George P. Moore

BOARD OF HEALTH—Dr J. W Price, L. M. McClintic, M. J. McNeel, R. W. Hill.

JUSTICES—Uriah Bird, Marlinton; A. C. L. Gatewood, Linwood; P. D. Arbogast, Green Bank; W. H. Grose, Huntersville; G. R. Cavalry, Academy; T. A. Bruffey, Lobelia.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

Business Rules.

When a subscriber orders his paper discontinued he is, of course, expected at the same time to pay up all arrearages.

No attention will be paid to anonymous communications. You need not sign your real name, but it must always accompany your communication.

On all job work our terms are cash, except in cases of merchants and others with whom we have running accounts.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. Va.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. Va.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

B. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. Va.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. Va.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. Va.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. Va.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. Va.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. Va.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. E. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, Va.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. HEYWOOTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. Va.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in this Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. Va.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

Poetry.

An Old Valentine.

Out of the heart of long ago,
Faded and yellow by time you know,
But cherished still in shadow and shine
Cometh to me her valentine.
Here is the couplet, quaint and true,
The rose is red
The violet's blue—
And I dream in the gloaming soft and low
Of the lass who penned it long years ago.

A little maid with the blnest eyes,
That ever danced 'neath winter skies;
A roguish miss whose love was told
To the sound of a kiss in a moonlit wold.

But here is the rest of her riming tune,
Love is sweet
And so are you.
And a boy's cheek flushed at the final line
At a rustic sweetheart's valentine.

Nay in the past, but dimly hid,
Behind a soft eye's drooping lid,
Quivers the arrow that Cupid keep Shot at the cast e of might have been.
And plainer still grows the couplet true
The rose is red,
The violet's blue—
And laughter low, which is half divine
Ripples across her valentine.

With a cherished thought for the love it told
I tenderly open each yellow fold,
And my heart beats fast as it beat one day,
In a past that is hallowed and far away
I can see the eyes that were deep and blue,
Love is sweet,
And so are you—
So thought the lass as she penned each line,
And sealed with a kiss her valentine.
—[Exchange.

A THOUGHT THAT KILLED A MAN!

He thought that he could trifle with disease. He was run down in health, felt tired and worn out, complained of dizziness, biliousness, backache and headaches. His liver and kidneys were out of order. He thought to get well by dosing himself with cheap remedies. And then came the ending. He fell a victim to Bright's disease! The money he ought to have invested in a safe, reliable remedy went for a tombstone.

Warner's Safe Cure

is the only standard remedy in the world for kidney and liver complaints. It is the only remedy which physicians universally prescribe. It is the only remedy that is backed by the testimony of thousands whom it has relieved and cured.

THERE IS NOTHING ELSE THAT CAN TAKE ITS PLACE

FEED, LIVERY —AND— SALE STABLES.

First-Rate Teams and Saddle-Horses Provided.

Horses for Sale and Hire. 21

SPECIAL ACCOMODATIONS FOR STALLIONS.

A limited number of Horses boarde.

All persons having horses to trade are invited to call. Young horses broke to ride or work

J. H. G. WILSON,
Marlinton w. Va.

Farmers' Home Fire Insurance Co., of West Virginia.

J. M. SYDENSTRICKER - - - President.
R. P. KITTINHOUSE - Sec'y & Treas.
INCORPORATED.

By the People and for the People.

For Isolated Property only No Salaried Officers to Support. No capitalists to Furich. No Loss, no Expense. Fair and Honorable Adjustment of all Losses. Costless than one fifth of what is paid stock companies, and is five times as secure. In most successful operation in all of the adjoining States. Thousands saved to farmers.

T. L. REYNOLDS & SONS, agents Lewisburg, W Va

SPECIAL POTATO FERTILIZER

aos High Grade General Phosphates made from

VEGETABLE and ANIMAL MATTER.

Every farmer should write for prices, terms, and circulars.

AMERICAN REDUCTION CO.
Pittsburg, Pa.

WANTED AN IDEA

A SERMONETTE.

Rejoice, Oh young man in thy youth; and let thy heart cheer thee in the days of thy youth and walk in the ways of thy heart and in the sight of thine eyes: but know that for all these things God will bring thee into judgment. Therefore, remove sorrow from thy heart, and put away evil and hurtful excesses from thy flesh: for childhood and youth are vanity.—ECCLESIASTES XI. 9-10.

The most interesting of all things within the scope of human observation are the young people of any community. The teachings of history illustrate and confirm this significant fact that it is usually the case that when the youth of a nation become frivolous, reckless, and unpromising that then calamities are sure to follow, and will continue until all be corrected by the stern discipline administered. There are no surer omens of impending national evils than pride, idleness, and fullness of bread, (mere sensual enjoyment) become the fashion of the times.

It is to correct this and to ward off the smitings of the divine hand that overrules the destinies of nations that we are taught to pray from childhood, "Lead us not into temptation." That is to mean,—help us so to live and improve our lives that chastisements may not be needed to keep us in the way of duty and restrain from excesses.

The whole duty of man, "from youth to hoary age," is to fear God and keep his commandments.

Among civilized pagans like the Athenians there was no graver charge to be preferred than to be accused of being a "corruptor of youth," and for which the people seemed more ready to wreak condign punishment. The old Greeks felt it was of no use for warriors to bleed, statesmen to plan, and laborers to toil, if all at last were to come into the hands of persons whose tastes and pleasures were on a level with what beasts care most for—mere sensual indulgence. If pagans could feel that way, why should it be surprising that Bible-reading people should feel the greatest possible interest in the future of their sons and daughters, and of the country when it comes into their hands when ours must let go at the grave.

Were it all of life to live,—were the poet's dream that life is beauty all that he did find out,—then the text would have no practical significance. Beauty and pleasure about all that the poet was conscious of; while he slept he dreamed that life is beauty, when aroused from slumber he found that life is duty.

One who had remained in the dreamy state of life too long, by closing his ears to such voices as make a person think that there may be something in store for him in the hereafter.

Upon becoming conscious of the reality of life this was the sad refrain that gave expression to his feelings:

"For men must work and women must weep,
And the sooner its over the sooner to sleep,
And good-by to the bar and its moaning."

Life grows sad and disappointing to persons just in the measure in which it seems that they have only this world to live for, and nothing to do in it but to work and to enjoy. Life is not to be understood except as related to the hereafter to come. "Treat human life as a thing of time only, then it is terrible to consider the sufferings through which the living must pass. For many it is too much, and thinking the sooner life is over the sooner to sleep again, and so getting some appliance of self-destruction they bid "good-by to the bar and its moanings."

But head the text and treat life as a link in an eternal process, and life here as a training-school for high, unceasing service hereafter, and that the existence of sorrow is to be justified by its everlasting results, not by present, apparent effects. One of the noblest characters that ever lived took this view of life, and he says:

"I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us."

Should we let our hearts cheer us all they possibly can in the days of our youth, and walk in the ways of our hearts, or as we have our minds to, and in the sight of our eyes, nevertheless disappointments will come, the most precious things will slip through our hands, our riches take wings, the sturdiest of adversity feel their way into our souls. We cannot hope to escape such a universal experience, and only two states of mind will be possible then. In one state of mind a person will feel as one exclaimed: "I am in the grip of a demon who delights in my agony." The other state of mind has this calm and trustful expression:

"Hard as all this is, dark as it seems, it is the work of a Father who is training me for a world in which all these things shall bring forth their abundant and glorious fruit."

From all this it appears that in the finality of our lives we must be either hopeful or hopeless,—there is no middle way which can be held all thro our lives. We are all shut up to this sooner or later that we must have either 'the hope that maketh not ashamed,' the 'anchor which is sure and steadfast, entering into that within the veil'; or be without God and without hope in the world. And which it shall be depends upon ourselves to make the decision, whether it be wiser to suffer affliction with the people of God or enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season with those who forget him.

An incident of pathetic interest transpired in one of our mountain homes not many weeks since. A letter was received by the mother from an absent son, written on his birthday:

"DEAR MOTHER,—To-day I am —— years old, and oh, how I do wish to spend the next —— years in a way different from the past —— years; and by God's help, in answer to your prayers and mine, I am going to live more to God and less for myself. For — years I have let my heart cheer me in the days of my youth, and have been walking in the ways of my heart and in the sight of my eyes, and all that time, I now see that I have been on my way to Hell, and if God had let me alone and not kept me alive these —— years, I would now be in the lost world."

This devoted son of many parental prayers now feels and knows what this text means. May it be God's pleasure to bring us all into judgment so that we like this young man on his late birth-day, realize that when given over to sinful excesses, childhood and youth are vanity; and like him by faith and prayer strive to remove sorrow from our hearts and put away evil from our flesh by living and doing as Christ would have us, as best we can. SENEX.

February 13, 1897.

Bachelor Buttons.

A FEW SAMPLES SEWED ON HUMANITY'S COAT BY A LONE MALE.

A man never knows what he can do till he does n't get the chance.

Somehow the wittiest girl is n't the one a man picks out to marry.

Some women won't be happy in heaven because they can't go to church.

A man never knows surely that he is in love till he thinks that she is n't.

The most honest man in the world will lie about what he pays for his cigars.

When a woman is said to be a good housekeeper, it is meant that she has a place for everything except her husband.

The older a man gets the more use he has for a good piece of meat and a canton-flannel nightgown.

As soon as a man shows that he knows much about women a girl begins to think he has a past.

Some well-meaning people go thro life as badly misunderstood as a cross-eyed girl under the mistletoe.

A girl is known by the company she does n't keep.

When a girl makes up her mind that she wants a man, she begins to pretend to be interested in his work.

One of the main advantages of going to college is that you can go on a bat and have it called an escapade.

After a girl has been married six months she 's a good deal more likely to talk about the weather than about communion of souls.—New York Press.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of catarrh that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, Ohio.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions, and financially able to carry out any obligations made by their firm.

WEST & TRAUX, Wholesale druggists, Toledo, O.
WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and the mucous surfaces of the system. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by druggists. Testimonials free.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Pay your subscription.

MEDICAL WISDOM.

THE DREADED CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

T. A. Slocum, M. C., the great Chemist and Scientist, Offers to Send Free, to Afflicted, three Bottles of His Newly-Discovered Remedies to Cure Consumption and all Lung Troubles.

Nothing could be fairer, more philanthopic or carry more joy in its wake than the offer of T. A. Slocum, M. C., of 183 Pearl street New York City.

Confident that he has discovered an absolute cure for consumption and all pulminary complaints, and to make its great merits known, he will send, free, three bottles, to any reader of the POCAHONTAS TIMES, who is suffering from chest, bronchial throat and lung troubles or consumption.

Already this "new scientific course of medicine" has permanently cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases.

The Doctor considers it his religious duty—a duty which he owes to humanity—to donate his infallible cure.

Offered freely apart from its inherent strength, is enough to commend it, and more so is the perfect confidence of the great chemist making the proposition.

He has proved consumption to be a curable disease beyond any doubt.

There will be no mistake in sending—the mistake will be in overlooking the generous invitation. He has on file in his American and European laboratories testimonials of experience from those cured, in all parts of the world.

Delays are dangerous. Address T. A. Slocum, M. C., 183 Pearl street New York, and when writing to the Doctor, please give express and postoffice address, and mention reading this article in The POCAHONTAS TIMES.

MARLINTON HOUSE.

Located East End of Bridge.

Terms,
per day - 1.00 & 1.50
per meal - - - 25

Good accommodations for horses at 25 cents per feed.

Special rates made by the week or month.

C. A. YEAGER, Proprietor.

Lee Military Academy.

Spring term of 18 weeks begins February 1st. Pupils can enter any time.

A first-class chool for boys. Prepares for college or business. Thorough academic, preparatory and business courses.

Located in a fine grove. Best Christian influences, no saloons, no distractions.

Tuition, $50 and $35. Board from $10 to $15 per month.

JAMES M. LEE, Principal.

Lewisburg, W. Va.

Old Dominion Building & Loan Association.

—OF—

Richmond, - - Virginia.

J. TAYLOR ELLYSON, President.
E. A. BARBER, Treasurer.

DIRECTORS.

J. Taylor Ellyson, Normon V. Randolph, John B. Purcell, John S. Ellet, Frank T. Sutton.

Authorized Capital..... $20,000,000.
Subscribed Capital..... 5,000,000.
Paid Up Cash Capital..... 1,500,000.
Assets..... 2,000,000.

Depository—State Bank of Virginia. Investment stocks cost $1.00 per share membership fee, and 60 cents per month afterwards—withdrawable after twelve monthly payments, and sooner in event of the death of the stockholder. H. A. YEAGER, Agent.

MARLINTON, W. VA.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONNAS COUNTY, }

At Rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on Monday, February 1st, 1897.

William M. McAllister, Plaintiff.
vs.
Levi Gay, late Sheriff of Pocahontas County, and as such administer of J. W. W. Bias, deceased; Kate E. Cowan (nee Bias), wife of ——— Cowan; Mary Florence Adams (nee Bias), wife of Thomas Adams; Margaret S. Long (nee Bias), wife of — Long; and Warwick G. Bias, heirs at law of said J. W. W. Bias and said Thomas Adams, — Long, and — Cowan, C. R. McDaniel, Executor of Mary C. Bias and Eliza J. Warwick, and J. W. Warwick, her husband ..... Defendants

The object of this suit is to have a decree against the Administrator, J. W. W. Bias, in favor of plaintiff for $372.17 with legal interest thereon from the 1st day of January, 1883, and the costs, due by bond, less $26.28 paid December 15, 1886, and to have sale of undivided interest in the residue of a tract of 1,000 acres devised by M. C. Bias to be sold, and the interest of said J. W. W. Bias in another tract of 314 acres and a tract of 700 acres devised of said M. C. Bias, and, if necessary, a sale of the interest of said J. W. W. Bias' estate in the one half interest in the residue of said tract of land of 1,000 acres, devised Margaret Gatewood died seized and possessed.

This day came the plaintiff by his attorneys, and on their motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed that the said defendants, Kate E. Cowan and ——— Cowan, her husband; Mary Florence Adams and Thomas Adams, her husband; Margaret S. Long and ——— Long, her husband; Warwick G. Bias, C. R. McDonald, Executor of Mary C. Bias; Eliza J. Warwick and J. W. Warwick, her husband, are non residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the date of the first publication of this order, and do what is necessary to protect their interest in the suit. Teste

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
Wm. M. & J. T. McAllister p. q.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSBORN,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have a few drug specialties, what we have personally tested we know to be the best. We are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY,
BOSTON, MASS.
ALLEN C. SMITH, Pres.,

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York.

Simms & C

RONCEVERTE, W

Silver Steel Plow, Syracuse C
Plows, Imperial Chilled Pl

PLOW REPARS OF ALL KNDS AT LOWEST PRICES EVER OFFE

RED WARRIOR POLL AXES

GREENBRIER " "
CHAMPION " "

4 No. 2 Horse-shoes for 15c | 4 No. 3 Horse-Shoes
4 No. 4 " " 25c | 4 No. 5 " "

COOK-STOVES OF ALL KINDS

1 doz. 8x10 Window Glass 35c | Berea Grindstone
Paints, Oils, Varnishes, etc.

Our goods are all first-class, no shoddy or job-lots, or dam
Strike us for prices before you buy.

Simms & Co
Opposite Passenger Depot. Ronceverte,

A $5.00 LOOK MOTHERS A RARE TREAT FOR YOU AL
Boys Sampson Suit, with Extra Pair of Pants,
AND WE PAY EXPRESS CHARGES TO YOUR DOOR.
REMEMBER, you buy direct from one of the largest Clothing Manufacturers and by so doing you save three Profits.

FREE TO EVERYBODY

E. ROSENBURGER & CO., 204 & 1024 B. New Y

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 14, NO. 33 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, MARCH 12, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

$3,400.00 CASH AND PRIZES GIVEN FREE EACH MONTH FOR Sunlight SOAP WRAPPERS

As follows:

4 First Prizes, each of $100 Cash - - - $ 400.00
20 Second " " " $100—2 $25 Bicycles - 2,000.00
40 Third " " " $ 25 Gold Watches - - 1,000.00
Cash and Prize given each month - - $3,400.00 12
Total given during 12 mos. 1897, $40,800.00

HOW TO OBTAIN THEM. RULES.

1. Every month there will be awarded to each of the 4 districts prizes will be awarded as follows:

2. Any person who sends in the largest number of Sunlight Soap Wrappers from any district in which they live, will be entitled to the First Prize in that district; the next largest number to the Second Prize, and so on to the Fourth Prize.

3. The Contest will Close the Last Day of Each Month during 1897. Contests received too late will not be counted, but will be held over into the next month's competition with the next prize.

4. Competitors who obtain wrappers from would kindly state which they prefer.

5. A printed list of Winners in Competition's district will be forwarded to Competitors in about 10 days after each competition closes.

6. Lever Brothers, Ltd. will endeavor to award the prizes fairly to the best of their ability and judgment, but it is to be understood that all competitors agree to accept the award of Lever Brothers, Ltd., as final.

No. of District	NAME OF DISTRICT.
1	New York City, Brooklyn, Long and Staten Islands, New Jersey.
2	New York State (outside of N. Y. City), Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Vermont, Maine, Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia and District of Columbia.
3	Ohio, Kentucky, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Utah, Nevada, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, Oregon, Washington, California, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, Indian Territory, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia.
4	The New England States.

Note.—Sunlight Soap Wrappers are Perfectly Free from Poisonous Substances, and are Guaranteed to Contain No Injurious Ingredients.

LEVER BROS., Ltd., New York.

No Use Talking

ABOUT HARD TIMES,

When One Dollar will Buy as much at Sol Davis' Big Store, as Two Dollars will Buy at other Stores.

I have literally plunged the knife into my former low prices to quicken sales and the result is seen in the increased number of customers at my store. Do you want to share in the Bargains now offered in Clothing, Boots, and Shoes, Ladies' and Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods, Dry Goods, Underwear, etc.,—if so call at

SOL DAVIS' Big Store.

AND GET YOUR BARGAINS.

We quote prices on a few things:

Working pants well made and durable 75c worth 1.50
Cassimere Pants from 1.25 up worth double.
Suits for men from 4.00 up worth 8.50
Boys' Suits 75c worth 1.75
Men's Overcoats 4.50 were sold for 8.50
A good pair of Ladies Shoes for 1.00
Ladies' Cloaks and Capes, this year's styles, at correspondingly low prices as every thing else.

We especially invite those who have not dealt with us. Come one, come all! Our motto: Quick sales and short profits. Thanking you for past patronage we remain

Yours Truly,
SOL DAVIS, Proprietor.
Jan 29
Green Bank, W. Va.

The Pocahontas Times,

A Home Print,

Affords the People of Pocahontas County one of the best papers for the price in the State.

$1.00 per Year

GIVES YOU YOUR COUNTY PAPER.

SUBSCRIBE!

Advertise your Wares and Wants Our rates are always low enough to warrant your patronage.

Our Job Department has been renewed, and we guarantee satisfaction. Wedding invitations and all kinds of work done on short notice

WE HAVE THE BEST PRINTING PLANT OUT SIDE A LARGE TOWN IN THE STATE.

Now is the time to Subscribe!

We have a plan by which Farmers can get TOOL CHESTS FREE.

THE WEEKLY LETTER.

Leaving Washington from the Union Depot, where Garfield was shot, the place where he fell being marked by a gold star let into the floor, the tourist takes a cross-country railroad to Richmond by way of Fredericksburg. The train eases itself across about a mile of water called the Potoman, and directly arrives in Alexandria, and runs through a dismal street. From what can be seen from the steam-car windows, Alexandria is a fallen down, decayed town. It is said that portions of the city are very beautiful, but it is certain that there must be a great deal of misery in the midst.

The main point of interest on the route from Washington and Richmond is Fredericksburg where so much fighting was had; where the "Song of the Rappahannock" was sung by the minie-balls and shells. One line of that song was continually being repeated by the shells as they came buzzing over the river, saying, "Which un, which-un, which-un—you!"

Let us draw a veil over the memory of the barren moorland and dank morass which lies between our two objective points and is called for politeness sake the country. A native assured me that grows did fly across it often, but none were to be noticed the day I passed over. A blind man in the smoking-car seemed to enjoy himself, while the rest of the passengers only brightened up at the stations.

Richmond was reached at last. I say "at last," for no matter if a man is more used to driving about a mountainous country at the paltry rate of four or five miles an hour, a train seems often to fairly creep with him. This is hard to understand, but it is nevertheless true with almost everyone. Richmond, the fairest city in the two Virginias; around which so many memories cluster, the Capitol of the Confederacy, the centre of civilization, is truly an 'historic spot,' as the young man called the square of carpet upon which his fate stood when he was first introduced to her. It is a beautiful city with an immense business, and, is one of the first tobacco markets in the world. About 100,000 people live at that postoffice, and they frequently have a wedding and a funeral on the same day.

The city is built on hills—that is a comfort. Hills out here are very much of a bore, but the eyes ache for something against which they may rest in East Virginia.

The noble James River flows at the foot of the streets. Richmond is at the head of navigation. The river is so still that the moon affects it and draws up its waters and forms the tide. The thriving city right opposite across the river is Manchester. The oldest portion of the city is what is called, at a safe distance, "Rocketts," and to the faces of the inhabitants Fulton, and is situated on the banks of the river.

The capitol building in which so much has been done for the weal or woe of the Southern people, is certainly an insignificant-looking state building. Beside it is situated the city hall, erected at an expense of a million and a half dollars. The new library building is very beautiful, with a lot of pictures of the great men of Virginia.

Nobody is in the city long before he hears a lot of a man who is never tired of spending money on improvements, and who has done more for Richmond, in a material sense, than any one living there. Yet the middle-aged people of the town can remember when this millionaire sold tobacco and cigars from a little stand, and when he was worth very little in money. The man referred to is Major Ginter, of cigarette fame. For years the little sallow faced children, pulling away at the vile cigarettes, have vouched Ginter, and Ginter has vouched the city up at least three notable improvements. His residence is a marvel of elegance and completeness, the Jefferson Hotel is one of the best hotels in the United States, and it is mentioned in such style that Richmond cannot afford to make it a paying concern, and the result is that it is the pride and ornament of the city, and not much more. Last, but greatest, is Ginter's improved grounds outside the city, with its nine miles of the finest road in the country, and other things in proportion. The prettiest hedges and lawns border these roads, and a visit to Richmond is not complete without a drive over this wonderful estate.

The Soldiers' Home is of interest to Pocahontas people, as in that retreat Josephus F. Snyder, one of the most brilliant attorneys who have ever practiced at this bar, spent the last year of his life.

Major N. V. Randolph, President of the Board of Trustees, the man who has done most to bring this home into existence, and who works now as hard as ever to maintain it, was one of the famous eighteen men of Mosby's men who swore they would never surrender.

The object in view in establishing this retreat was to save from the alms-houses and the disgrace of pauperism those Confederate veterans who had done good service for the cause. Over two hundred men are fed, lodged, and clothed each year. The camp is conducted in semi-military order. We are sorry to say that the battle-scared veterans seem very ungrateful for the benefits bestowed upon them. To care for such a cantankerous set of old men makes the charity seem all the more beautiful.

A word concerning the street-cars may be in place. Richmond has electric cars from "way-back." There are yet a few mule-cars in the city, and we were glad to see that the stock looked sleek and fat. While in the city we had a practical illustration of the utility of the "cow catcher" on the front of the "deadly trolley car." Riding down Broad Street the car was brought to a sudden stop by striking a horse which was hitched to a cart. The horse was deposited, legs up, before the platform and no injury was done him, tho the shafts of the cart were broken and the harness stripped off.

Unconsciously we have brought our tale to a sufficient length, and we will will have to close this attempted sketch of the city of Richmond in its state of incompleteness.

TOM WATSON sums up Bryan's "first battle" with the words "Fought, fought, and fizzled," and that the whole story.—The Inter-Ocean, Chicago.

THE Jonah story is too good to be discredited. The Democratic Party has gotten rid of the biggest Jonah it has had since its foundation.—The Constitution, Atlanta.

THE African Methodist Episcopal Church will provide the Bible upon which President McKinley will be sworn into office; but the appointed office a few months hence will need no Bible to swear on.—The Age (Afro-American), New York.

THERE is a popular notion that money can save a man from the penalty of his crime. But there was a man hanged in Missouri the other day for murder and he was a millionaire. His money could not save him. All honor to Missouri.—The Republican Springfield.

HUMAN happiness has no perfect security but freedom; freedom none but virtue; virtue none but knowledge; and neither freedom, virtue, nor knowledge has any vigor or immortal hope except in the principles of the christian faith and in the sanctions of the christian religion.—Josiah Quincy.

My Daily Life.

What is the meaning of my daily life,
Its drudgery, its endless petty strife,
Oh, deadly certainty of common things!
Oh, hours with heavy, lagging wings!

Oh Thou, oh Carpenter of Galilee,
Touch me Thy secret; let me learn of Thee.

Send visions of those days when Thou didst share
The toil of workingmen, for some hear

Help me to feel that Thou dost work with me,
In country fields, in heavenly I with Thee.

And pray, dear Lord, with Thee it always heaven.

I see my craftsmen for both Nazareth and Galilee.

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

Fifty years ago one of the most active public men in lower Pocahontas was David Little Ruckman. Constable of the Levels District.

He was tall and wiry in person, quick and nervous in his movements, and usually rode in a rapid trot. He always meant business, and when he went to collect a debt the money or property had to be in evidence. Were an arrest to be made, he nearly always found the person that was wanted. His home was in the cove near Marvin to the right of the road passing to Mill Point, and is now occupied by Col John W. Ruckman and son, Matthews. His ancestry is traceable, according to Colonel John W. Ruckman's recollection, to David Ruckman, an Englishman, who settled in New Jersey. His son, David, born in New Jersey, and married to a Miss Little, came to Bath County, and was one of the first settlers in the Back Valley of Back Creek, on a farm now in the possession of William P. Campbell.

David Ruckman, the settler, began in the unbroken forest and built up a home. He died there, and was buried near the public road on a beautiful knoll.

It was here that David L. Ruckman was born and reared. He had three brothers who lived to be grown. Samuel Ruckman, of Mill Gap, Highland County, whose son Colonel David V. Ruckman is widely known in our county. John Ruckman went to Ohio. James Ruckman, another brother, settled in Illinois.

D. L. Ruckman also had these sisters: Fannie married John Gum. She was the mother of Mrs Samuel Harper, on Knapp's creek, and Mrs Martha Ginger, whose son, George W. Ginger, now resides in Huntersville. Mr Ginger, her husband, was killed during the war. Mary Ann Ruckman went with her brother John to Ohio.

David L. Ruckman came to Pocahontas in 1832, and located at the place already pointed out. He married Priscilla Wade, daughter of Otho Wade, of now Highland. She was a very superior person in the grip, we have yet to learn of a case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusive by that this remedy is a certain preventive for that dread disease. It will effect a permanent cure in less time than any other treatment. For 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by all druggists.

MR WARD L. SMITH, of Fredericktown, Mo., was troubled with chronic diarrhoea for over thirty years. He had become fully satisfied that it was only a question of a short time until he would have to give up. He had been treated by some of the best physicians of Europe and America but got no permanent relief. One day he picked up a paper and chanced to see an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He got a bottle of it, the first dose he got him and its continued use cured him. For sale by druggists.

living on the old homestead near Marvin. He was born in Highland, 1824, and was eight years old when the family moved to this county. He married Miss Margaret Ann Moore, daughter of William and Christina (Dobbs) Moore, near Edray. Mr Moore was a son of the distinguished pioneer hunter and scout Moses Moore.

Colonel J. W. Ruckman's son, Mathews, married Miss Margaret Hogsett, only daughter of Josiah T. Hogsett, Esq., and father and son dwell under the same prosperous and happy roof.

Many years since Colonel Ruckman lost his hearing. Lately one of his eyes was seriously affected. Before he was overtaken by these afflictions, none seemed to have better prospects for wealth and advancement and social prominence.

James Wade Ruckman, the another daughter of David L. Ruckman's family. He first married Miss Caroline Bradley, daughter of Patrick Bradley, Esq., near Stony Creek. By this marriage there was one son, William Wallace Ruckman, who now resides near Mill Point, the wife was Miss Louise Patton. James W. Ruckman's second wife was Miss Caroline Arbogast, from near Green Bank. Her sons were Renick and Otho Ruckman. Otho lives near Buffalo Mountain, beyond Green Bank, and is well known as an industrious citizen and a good singer.

Her daughter, Nancy Priscilla Ruckman, is now Mrs Winfield Slaven, near Mill Point. Her son Orin is a skillful printer.

In the war between the States James W. Ruckman espoused the Confederate cause, and belonged to Captain William L. McNeel's company. While on a scout near Edray, early in 1864, he was captured and sent to Fort Delaware. Thence he was sent to Richmond for exchange, and died before leaving the city.

Otho Wade Ruckman, another son of David L. Ruckman, first married a Miss McClung, of Nicholas County. Her daughter became the second wife of Levi Waugh, near Edray, and she is survived by three children, two daughters and a son, Grover Waugh.

Otho W. Ruckman's second wife was Miss Mary Erances Twyman, near Edray, whose father perished in the "Twyman Flood." She is a descendant of Alexander Waddell, the pioneer, a great-granddaughter by her mother's side, the late widow of Thomas Nicholas, on the Indian Draft.

Clarissa Ruckman, eldest daughter of David L. Ruckman, married Peter Overholt, and is now dead.

Mary Ruckman, another daughter, married Jacob Cackley, whom she survives, and she resides on Stamping Creek, with her nephew Wallace.

Catherine Ruckman married Peter McNeel. She is dead, but is survived by her daughter, Mrs J. S. Moore, near Marvin.

David Ruckman, Jr., the youngest of D. L. Ruckman's sons, was a faithful Confederate soldier. He first belonged to Captain Smith's command, in Greenbrier County. For a good while his company was assigned to General Loring's bodyguard. Finally it was attached to a cavalry battallion and ordered to Tennessee. He was mortally wounded near Morristown, Tennessee, and died in a few days thereafter.

Thus closes the narrative for the present. Characters have passed under our notice that illustrate what may be achieved by persons who diligently make use of their opportunities. These people were patriotic, industrious, and endowed with good minds, and have left their impress upon their community that makes for good morals, conservative citizenship, and intellectual improvement. We believe the few that survive will see to it that the Ruckman reputation will lose nothing by them. W. T. P.

Pearls of Thought.

To live always as in the presence of God is to have the highest blessing and the greatest power possible to the believer.

He who believes nothing achieves nothing.

He who serves willingly serves gracefully.

Nothing pays smaller dividends in spiritual results than making a specialty of discovering the shortcomings of others.

Experience alone is unconquerable conviction.

Social or public prayer is like dwelling in the outer court; secret prayer like entering the inner temple. None enters the inner temple who is not found in the outer court. Every want, every grief, every anxiety, every temptation, every friend, and every foe should be objects of prayer. But prayer for spiritual blessings for ourselves and others is the essence of prayer. And spiritual blessings consist chiefly in the gift of the Holy Ghost. Nothing is given us but by the Holy Spirit. He is the messenger. He takes of the things of Christ and gives them to us.—Mary Lyon.

CHRISTIAN.

"Brother," said the teacher, "can you tell me anything about the shape of the earth?"

"Only what my father found out in the newspaper."

"What is that?"

"He says it's in a mighty bad shape at present."—The Star Weekly.

Willingness to Serve.

"A simple willingness to serve the Master." It was a petition in a good and wise man's prayer, which falling on the ear of the writer, has long dwelt in her memory.

In this busy, hurrying age when so many are working at fever-heat in the Church, as well as out of it, when our books and papers, the sermons we hear, even intercourse with friends, all seem to stimulate to yet greater activity, that prayer for simple willingness falls like a balm upon the overwrought. There are some of us—and a few—whose hands are not idle, but who chafe and fret against the bounds of our appointed place, and look longingly towards what we deem nobler, larger work. Do not the words "mission," "a higher sphere of activity" so much in everyone's mouth nowadays, too often steal between us and a simple willingness? We are too prone to look too eagerly beyond to some great work we should love to do for the Master, while we count as nothing and useless what He himself has laid before our hands. We pant to serve Him amidst the throng, He calls us to the desert place.

"The daily task forgetting"

"Do not pray for strength to bear the tortures of the Inquisition," said Spurgeon, "when what you need may be strength to darn the family hose."

We may fondly think, (and deceive ourselves), how grandly we might serve the Master in such and such a place. "If I were free from care," sighs one; "If I had only my health," moans another; "If the Lord would but lift this cross," wails a third. Yet how we forget that what we need for service anywhere is simple willingness to "do the next thing," whatever or whenever it may be.

A simple willingness to serve the Lord Christ in the bypaths as well as upon the highway! How would the Church, aye the world, grow in grace if the servants of the Lord more frequently and sincerely lifted and practised this beautiful petition.

"More careful not to serve Thee much,
But to please Thee perfectly."

—Lucy Randolph Fleming, in The Central Presbyterian.

A Lesson for America.

The present condition of Spain, which made its surprise the insurrection in Cuba in spite of the most heroic sacrifices, chiefly because the nation has reached the end of its material resources, should be an admonition to the United States in one important respect. Among the many causes that have operated to bring about the decline of Spain's power and wealth, one of the chief causes is the wanton destruction of forests.

Elisee R clus, an accepted authority on the changes which are going on upon the earth's surface, shows that the Caucasus, as well as nearly the whole of plateau region of Spain, once supported a dense population. On the Tagus and Guadiana were, not many generations ago, large towns which have shrunk into small villages. The Tagus was once navigable to Toledo, but is so no longer; indeed, its bed is often bare, while its floods are terribly destructive.

Whole cities in Estremadura have disappeared, and their sites are covered with furze and broom, if not with drifting sand. A great part of New Castile is a desert, and vast tracts of shifting sand extend along the southern foot of the Sierra de Guadarrama.

"The decrease of population," says Reclus, "was unfortunately attended by a return toward barbarism. In the province of Salamanca, once famous for its industry and its culture, are now to be found the 'barbarous Batuecas,' who are charged with not being able to distinguish the seasons. They sow upon till the arid and rocky soil, which yields but a wretched harvest.

Decline is characteristic in the whole country except the provinces of Navarra, whose people are of a different race. Catalonia practically supports the rest of Spain. Where the population increases, with industry and wealth, largely thru the care of the earth and forests, which the Castilians have unscrupulously neglected.

Spain, by allowing its soil to degenerate into a desert, has wasted the resources which might be dug, it they had been considered, by supporting with nature the ground and dead trees which the nation is undergoing. The Rhine, Rhone, Weser and other rivers are constantly improved, and the Rhine is now navigable for vessels of one thousand tons burden. Spain, by allowing its forests to disappear, has destroyed the springs which replenish its forests in many districts in ruin. If the trees are ever went doing."—The Times.

If the Greeks bearing gifts were to be feared, so the old adage says, they were to what it is to read what they bring the home impressed in passing other. The Chronicle.

...ocahontas Times.

...E PRICE, EDITOR

...e, Friday, Mar. 12, 1897.

...space, ONE DOLLAR in ad-...ff not paid within the year ...be charged.

...ed at the post office at Marlin...Va., as second class matter.

...LIAM McKINLEY, the 25th ...ent of the United States, ...augurated under the most ...us and imposing auspices, ...ith, in the presence of a ...ncourse of people. It is ...ised by the press generally ...surpassed all previous oc... of the kind, as the weather ...spitious and the enthusiasm ...ing phenomenal. As organ... reported for the present ...binet is as follows: John ...an, of Ohio, Secretary o... Lyman J. Gage, of Illinois ...ry; Russel A. Alger, of Mich...War; John D. Long, of Mas...etts, Navy; Joseph M. Ken... Colorado, Attorney-General ... Wilson, Iowa, Agriculture; ... A. Gary, Maryland, Post... General; Cornelius N. Bliss ... York, Secretary of Interior.

The latest news from the Gre...trouble with Turkey is of a ...exciting character. Our read... will remember that the Allied ...s had demanded that Greece ...d withdraw her troops in a ...ays from Crete, and cease all ...l demonstrations. This was ...ised by Greece calling out ...reserves, ordering two Greek ...of war to sail from the Piraeus ...sealed orders. The whole ...ation is gathering from the ... and farms and starting at ...peed for the Turkish frontier. ...nts of the University of ...a, representing the influen...outh of the nation, are mak...speeches declaring it the de...ination of the Greeks to per...either than submit to the tyra...of the great powers. Fashion...ladies are in training for ser...as military nurses. In Thes... men and women alike are ...ng themselves. There seems ...e no doubt that "King George ...kes the field in person, and ...little while Icon up as the ...remarkable man of these ...ful times. Everything at this ...ng looks as if the world is ...t to witness most wonderful ...traordinary scenes of patri...self-sacrifice, before which the ...dies of historic Marathon will ...in comparison.

INAUGURAL.

...r McKinley in his Inaugural ...es opposition to all combina...s of capital organized in trusts ...otherwise to control arbitrarily ...conditions of trade among our ...zens. He speaks in favor of ...h legislation as will prevent the ...ration of all such schemes to ...ross the people by undue char...on their supplies or by unfair ...s for the transportation of their ...ducts to market. He avows ...determination to do all in his ...er to carry all this out by the ...cement of the laws now in ...stence, and the recommendation ...y support of such new statutes ...may be necessary to carry it ...effect.

Early and earnest attention is ...ommended to the question of inter...national bimetallism, and it will ...his constant endeavor to secure ...by cooperation with the other ...ading commercial powers of the ...rld. All kinds of currency must, ...owever be kept at par with gold, ...d he understands this to be the ...erdict of the people and must be ...eyed.

No more subjects of internal ...ation must be added to those al...eady taxed. Tariff taxation is ...d has been the latest demand ...f the people, and no raising of ...evenue from imports is needed ...ore for American interests and ...American labor, and we give ample ...otection and encouragement to ...he industries and development of ...he country. He favors reciprocity ...granting concessions to the ...products of other lands that may ...be needed and cannot produce our ...own, and the use of which permits ...the free introduction of those ...which we do not produce, but ...rather tend to increase employ...ment.

The new President claims that ...foreign policy should be conducted ...on the same high plane that has ...characterized the administrations ...of the past. Chances of future ...peace and international amity ...appear to him to depend upon ...a right understanding as to the ...Monroe doctrine. We will not ...interfere with the rights or ...established possessions of any ...foreign power in this hemisphere ...while preserving our own rights ...by every means in our power. ...We look with no covetous eyes ...upon the possessions of other ...powers in this hemisphere and ...we desire no more territory. ...But the safety of our institutions ...and the integrity of our power ...must not be permitted to be ...impaired, and we can not ...consent to the loss of any ...possessions or the establishment ...of any power on this continent ...by any European power in any ...way menacing to our welfare.

The Two Sides of a Tale.

Forty or fifty years ago waggoning had reached a state of high perfection in the Valley of Virginia. The rich valley was thickly peopled and one of the most magnificent turnpikes in the world had been built up and down this garden spot. The wayfarers, who are now carried by passenger-trains, passed up and down the Valley in the four-horse stage-coaches, and the freight was transported by means of the heavy wagons often loaded with as much as a hundred hundred-weight. The tremendous draft-horses of those days are dead but the long old blue New Town wagon-beds are still being used, together with the harness made of bread pieces of leather—enough almost to protect the horse from the cold.

Our people know what waggoning is; how the wagon serves as a house on wheels for a week's trip to the depot, and many of us have lain all kinds of nights underneath the running gear, with the horses feeding over and about us; what it is to get up in the morning and kindle a fire with a fence-rail kindly lent by a neighboring fence, and make strong scalding coffee and fry a few slices of "sow-belly" for breakfast, and know that you never enjoyed a sweeter night's sleep or had a better breakfast. But the railroads came to the Valley of Virginia. The land was encumbered with people. No woods were left, and having everything at hand, many people became like the man whom Sir Walter Scott tells about, who had never been twelve miles away from the place in which he was born.

It was a boon then to a boy when some of the older men who had wagoned up and down the Valley pike to Winchester seventy miles away met at that clearing-house, the store, and the bowels of their conversational powers being loosed, they talked of those days.

There was one story I heard reported often, and it never lost its charm. It was about one of the favorite tricks of the wagoning-train: whenever they met a stranger to not give him any road, but to force him into the fence, and then for each driver to show his expert driving by shaving his hubs as closely as possible without wrecking the stranger's wagon. Sometimes they scraped his hubs very closely, and the torments the nervous man would have to undergo while a train of forty or more wagons passed him were very excruciating. On one particular occasion the homeward-bound wagons met a likely-looking two-horse wagon with a stranger driving it, and they proceeded to force him into the fence and practise upon the hubs of his wheels. This man poked an ugly-looking Colt's revolver into the faces of the drivers and the leaders were pulled "gee" in a most tremendous hurry.

I had not thought of the story for years until the other day I heard it again from the man who had stood the wagoning gang off with the gun. He is one of the best known men of Pocahontas County, and he still enjoys recalling his triumph over the waggoners that day, forty years ago. His having a pistol was altogether accidental; and as usual in cases where pistols are effective, not only was it not loaded but so badly rusted that it would have been impossible to load it. As a child I have always regarded that man as dangerous, and respected him as such, but now find it was a joke on his part as well.

Hon. W. R. Atkisson was duly inaugurated Governor of West Virginia, on March 4. The ceremonies were imposing, and the Charleston journals pronounce the occasion one of the most memorable in the history of the state. In his inaugural, the Governor tried to realize his responsibility as governor of all the people, with no friends to reward or enemies to resent. Tho we are attached to a different political party, yet we are ready to make the most of his virtues and trust he may administer the affairs of the state, actuated by pure and patriotic impulses.

I have given Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a fair test and consider it one of the very best remedies for croup that I have ever found. One dose has always been sufficient, altho I use it freely. Any cold my children contract yields very readily to this medicine. I can conscientiously recommend it for croup and colds in children—Geo. E. Wolff, Clerk of the Circuit Court Ferdinanda, Fla. Sold by druggists.

RHEUMATISM QUICKLY CURED.

After having been confined to the house for eleven days and paying out $25 in doctor bills without benefit, Mr Frank Dolson, of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., was cured by one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm costing 25 cents and has not since been troubled with that complaint. For sale by druggists.

Commissioner's Sale of Valuable Lands.

Pursuant to a decree made in the chancery cause of A. W. Rider's Administrator vs John Rider and others, pending in the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on the 22th day of October, 1896, the undersigned special commissioner will on Tuesday, the 6th day of April, 1897, at the front door of the court house of Pocahontas County, proceed to sell by way of public auction to the highest bidder, the following described real estate, it being a re-sale of the same in the said suit: The lands of which Alexander W. Rider died seized, consisting of two tracts of land containing respectively situated on Alleghany Mountain, near the line of Bath County, and comprising both farming and timber land. There are on said land a dwelling house and other buildings, it being the property now occupied by R. D. Rimel.

183 ACRES AND 22 ACRES,

TERMS OF SALE: Cash.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
Special Commissioner.

State of West Virginia,
Pocahontas County, to wit:

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, do certify that the above-named special commissioner has executed bond as required by said decree.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

[redacted]

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONTAS COUNTY, }

At rules held in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court for said county on Monday, March 1st, 1897.

A. Barlow ..... Plaintiff
vs.
George W. McDonald, and others ..... Defendants.

The object of this suit is to attach and sell for the debt of the plaintiff the interest of George W. McDonald in that portion of those tracts of land, town 1633, 354, and lot ... in the bill and proceedings described, which said land has been divided by order of court in the chancery cause Hall vs. Hall, and assigned to said McDonald, and which according to that division is his property.

This day came the plaintiff by his attorney, and on his motion and it appearing by affidavit filed, that Geo. Francis F. McDonald, the wife of John A. McDonald, deceased, and their children, whose names are unknown, are non-residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the date of the first publication of this order, and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

...ATTERSON, Clerk.

FROM CRIPPLE CREEK.

After the big fire at Cripple Creek I took a very severe cold and tried many remedies without help, the cold only becoming more settled. After using three small bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, the cold and cough left me, and in this high altitude it takes a meritorious remedy to do any good.—G. B. Henderson, editor of Daily Advertiser. For sale by druggists.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

By virtue of a decree entered in the chancery cause of R. S. Turk, Commissioner, vs. B. M. Yeager, et als., pending in the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, on the 21st day of October, 1896, the undersigned special commissioner will proceed on Tuesday, the 6th day of April, 1897, in front of the court house door of said county to sell publicly to the highest bidder the following tracts of land lying in Pocahontas County, towit:

40 acres lying on the west side of Buffalo Mountain,

80 acres on said Buffalo Mountain,

183 acres and 14 acres lying on Alleghany Mountain, which formerly belonged to William G. Gilkeson and lay close to or adjoining the old Yeager place on Alleghany *Mountain. There are some improve*ments on these lands which make them quite valuable.

TERMS OF SALE: Cash in hand sufficient to pay cost of suit and sale, and for the residue a credit of six and twelve months, the *purchaser to execute bond with ap*proved personal security, bearing interest from date, a lien to be retained as ultimate security.

For further information inquire of R. S. Turk, Staunton, Va.

R. S. TURK,
Special Commissioner.

State of West Virginia, } towit:
County of Pocahontas }

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of the county aforesaid, do certify that the above named commissioner has given the bond required of him in the decree under which he is acting.

Given under my hand this 4th day of March, 1897.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

Commissioner's Sale of Valuable Lands
—IN—
POCAHONTAS COUNTY, W. V.

By virtue of a decree of sale entered on the 22d day of October, 1896, in the chancery cause of R. S. Turk, Special Commissioner, versus John T. McGraw, and others, pending in the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, the undersigned Special Commissioner will proceed on

TUESDAY, APRIL 6th, 1897,

In front of the court-house door of said county, to sell publicly to the highest bidder the following real-estate situated in Pocahontas county, towit:

3900 ACRES OF LAND.

Lying on Knapp's Creek in said county, adjoining the lands of William Curry and others, formerly belonging to the estate of William Skeen, deceased. This land is covered with virgin forests of white-oak, white-pine, and other valuable timbers, and is also reputed to have on it valuable iron ore. It lies along the bank of Knapp's Creek in such a way that the lumber can be easily floated from it to market.

TERMS OF SALE: One-third of the purchase money cash in hand and for the residue bonds with approved personal security will be required, falling due in six and twelve months from day of sale, with interest from date, a lien to be retained as ultimate security.

R. S. TURK,
Special Commissioner.

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, do certify that the commissioner above has executed bond as required by law.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty four hours: a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kidney remedy fulfils every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following the use of liquor, beer, or wine, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to pass water. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty cent and one dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet telling all about it, both sent free by mail. Mention this Paper and address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

Tutt's Pills Cure All Liver Ills.

To those living in malarial districts Tutt's Pills are indispensible, they keep the system in perfect order and are an absolute cure for sick headache, indigestion, malaria, torpid liver, constipation and all bilious diseases.

Tutt's Liver Pills

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONTAS COUNTY, }

At Rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on Monday, the 1st day of March, 1897.

Davis Wanless, Dora E. Rich (nee Wanless), and Sally Swintzyel (nee Wanless).....Plaintiffs.
vs.
John F. Wanless, William Wanless and a sister whose name is unknown, heirs at law of Stephen Wanless, deceased; Ralph W. Wanless, Stephen H. Wanless, the unknown heirs of George P. Wanless, deceased, and Margaret E. Wanless, children and heirs at law of Ralph Wanless, deceased; The unknown heirs of William Wanless; the unknown heirs of Betsy M. Hatter, (nee Wanless); the unknown heirs of Lida M. *Vires; all the foregoing defend*ants being heirs at law of a certain James Wanless, deceased; Newton M. Fertig, and Jacob H. Shrader, and all the other unknown heirs of James Wanless, Sr., deceased.....Defendants.

The object of this suit is to have partition of the lands in the bill and proceedings mentioned, of which James Wanless, Sr, died seized and possessed, and which are now in the possession of the said John F. Wanless; and to assign to the plaintiffs their respective interests in said lands, and to this end to take all necessary and proper proceedings.

This day came the plaintiffs by their attorneys, and on their motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed that the said defendants, William Wanless, Margaret E. Wanless, the heirs of George P. Wanless, the unknown heirs of William Wanless, the unknown heirs of Betsie M. Hatter, the unknown heirs of Lida M. Vires, and the unknown heirs of James Wanless, Sr., deceased, are non residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the date of the first publication hereof, and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
Wm. M. & J. T. McAllister p. q.

WE PAY POSTAGE.

Free of all charges, we will mail to anyone our advance illustrated catalog for 1897 (just issued.) It contains 554 illustrations of Furniture, Carpets, Lace Curtains, Bedding, Stoves, lamps, Refrigerators, Baby Carriages, etc. You save the middleman's profits by trading with the manufacturer, as you are paying local dealers double our prices. Drop a postal now for our money-saver.

Julius Hines & Son,
Baltimore, Md.

C. B. SWECKER,
General Auctioneer
and Real Estate Agent

I sell Coal, Mineral and Timber Lands, Farms and Town Lots a specialty. 21 years in the business. Correspondence solicited. Reference Furnished.

Postoffice—Dunmore, W. Va., or Alexander, W. Va.

VALUABLE

Property for Sale Privately.

One of the most complete residences in the county, situated in the village of Hillsboro, is offered for sale privately, on good terms.

This would be especially valuable to any doctor who wishes to locate in one of the best sections of the State. The owner, a physician, wishes to retire, for private reasons that will be perfectly satisfactory to any proposed purchaser.

Further information cheerfully afforded any inquirer by the editor of this paper.

The Greatest Medicinal Whiskey the World has Ever Known.

BRADDOCK PURE RYE AND BARLEY MALT.

SMOOTH, SOFT, RICH, RIPE, MELLOW AND CHEMICALLY PURE, A RECOMMENDATION IN ITSELF.

TRY A GALLON AT $2.00

Mail Orders solicited either great or small and receive our personal and prompt attention. Drop us a postal for price list. Don't use inferior goods but mail us your orders; we can save you money and perhaps your health.

JAS CLARK DISTILLING CO., JNO. McQUAIDE Mngr.

Distillers of Braddock Pure Rye, Wholesale and Retail Liquor Dealers.
20 and 22 South New St., Staunton, Va.

Duke! Duke!

HIGH GRADE BICYCLES!

1896 Model.

Frame long head and wheel base. Made from best cold drawn steel tubing, narrow tread, 28inch wheels, Wood Rims, Nickeled Spokes, M and W. Quick-Repair Tire. All connexions drop forged steel. Ball bearing to every part; bearings made from the best steel, tempered and ground, dust proof, 6 inch cranks, Hat trap or Rubber Peddles, one-fourth inch Humber Chain with hardened rivets and centers. Drop-forged steel sprockets, T pattern saddle post, Garford Saddale, 68 inch gear, weight 24 lbs.

Price, $50.00.

1895 Model Duke, 27lbs., Price, $40.00

A full and complete stock of Bicycle Sundries and Repairs, eye lometers, Lamps, Bells, &c. Repairing of all kinds a specialty Send us your broken bicycles and we can make them good as new

RESPECTFULLY,

RONCEVERTE, W VA Eagle AND Ott.

We have a plan by w... Farmers can get
TOOL CHEST FREE
Containing of first-class quality guaranteed: every tool... to repair vehicles, machines or build a house. Write... for particulars. Powell Fertilizer & Chem. Works (Incorporated) Powell's Point, Md. and Va., Baltimore, Md.

FURNITURE FACTORY

AND

Furniture Store.

Fine Furnitnre Made to Order.

STOCK ALWAYS ON HAND.

I am occupying the Temporary Court house and am prepared to make to order all kinds of Furniture at lower prices than can be obtained elsewhere. Don't be cheated in Furniture but buy from a practical cabinet maker who works up the native woods.

I can order your furniture from the city at better terms than you can and save your life. Whenever you need anything in my line you will save money by giving me a call.

W. J. Killingsworth.

...ontas Times.
...CH 12, 1897.

Events.

...LY is said to have s...
...ard from and observ...comises surprisingly ...ontas County.

...Roberts left Marlin...to run the arks on ...ver for Capt. John ...

...Messrs Tyler & Son...ave reopened their ...and are now turning ...ap, and substantial ...line.

...aboohood of Valley ...s excited concerning ...of its two stores, one ...ek. It is believed to ...of some incendiary. ...e buildings nor any ...was covered by insur...

...n sale, managed by C...t Marlinton, during ...crowded and a great ...business disposed of ...ne and unlimited coin...tomes for the time be...

...ng camp, consisting of ...pped cable at Marlin...morning and floated to ...Beaver Creek. The ...ected more snow in...hat of an Ocean ste...New York pier on the ...

...ose were seen flying ...last week. One of the ...announced by compe...ers to be the largest ...eeting in that vicinity ...ck seemed bewildered ...and was on a wild...for some hours, but it ...d its desired bearings ...ay to the north.

...rt is that Rev. R. M. ...me near being drown...ossing Deer Creek at ...recently, near the res...B. Hannah. It is al...at his mother died, a ...since, at her home in ...He is heartily congra...n his escape from the ...ters, and most concern...tined with in the be...that has come upon ...relations.

...er's attention was called ...ley to a very gorgeous ...hich spends a great deal ...a before a looking-glass, ...to the porch-roof, and ...position in front of a ...aks at himself for hours ...He is very fond of ...the pride he shows in ...parlionable. Sometime...ange darkey was hired ...e, and was taken sick ...eral. He lay in the room ...the bird looked so long ...ity in at his window he ...e conclusion that he was ...le, and was much trouh...d. He says that if the ...and "bollered" he thinks ...have died.

...ess Courageous," (if ...months to see that the ...was plural), is the name ...rd Kipling's American ...e idea of an Englishman ...novel in the dialect of a ...merica was regarded by ...presumptuous, but it is ...and no one can describe ...delight with which the ...e fortunate enough to ...

I can only say that those ...not read it have some...to look forward to in the ...e plot can be given in a ...The pampered son of ...ness multi-millionaire, or ...Sloan, and no only child, ...d dwelling sought from a ...who had his connection...taken it on the American ...s sank gone to the side to ...and fade nearbound into ...

...The steamer was passing ...fishing grounds and he is ...up by a boat fishing for ...ers immediately demands ...ent back to Boston, going ...Gibraltar and sailing four ...He was never known to be in a ...youth. He always kept things be...him, and yet few have gone ...to show in the way of useful re...sults. It seemed to be his idea if ...one wishes to work a long while ...not to undertake too much at ...once. A little well done is of ...more satisfaction than a great deal ...imperfectly done, and not near so ...much worry, wear, and tear that ...shortens life.

...Mr Samuel Harper and Mrs ...Margaret J. Harper, at Harper's ...Ferry, on an interesting event ...ple. He is in his 85th year and ...she in her 83rd. Mr Harper has ...worked very industriously all his ...life; farming, milling and black...smithing, having all three of these ...occupations carried on at the same ...time and getting them for personal ...attention. Mrs Harper is a grand...daughter of the late Robert Harper, ...founder of Harpers Ferry. Some ...of the descendants of Richard Evans ...of Jefferson county, Va., (now ...Berkeley) married daughters of ...Mr Harper. In her youth she went as a ...girl to an aunt in Pickens, Ohio, ...where she attended school eight ...years. In her return to ...Virginia she visited an aunt in ...Kanawha County, where she was ...persuaded to remain and teach ...school and she did for several ...years. She has lived a quiet ...life and

PERSONAL.

Withrow McClintic started with a nice drove cattle to market, last week.

Prof. J. A. McLaughlin has finished his school duties at Green Bank and at Thomas Creek, and is now at his home in Marlinton.

Prof. M. G. Mathews, a veteran teacher of public schools, once county superintendant, and one of the successful of the profession, is now at Hotel McLaughlin, under medical attention.

Miss Alice McLaughlin, of Dunmore, has closed her school at the Dice school house, east of Linwood, and recently spent a few days visiting her Marlinton friends. She is enthusiastic in her calling and merits complimentary mention for her faithful services.

Miss Allie Baxter is teaching an interesting school in her father's family, near Edray, and is getting along very successfully.

Prof Barlow closed the Edray school on Tuesday, with his accustomed success.

Miss Birdie Baxter finished her school on Clover Creek, at Price's school house, on Thursday, and is at home enjoying a well deserved vacation.

Mrs James Hebden, of Mingo, is expecting her sister, Miss Forster, to arrive from England on a visit.

The engagement of Mr Lanty Toke and Miss Washburn has been announced. Miss Washburn visited Mrs Jas. Hebden last fall and is now in Florida.

The firm of Jelenko Bros. & Loeb of Charleston has failed; E. W. Knight is receiver.

Mr E. B. Ferguson, formerly of Chattanooga, Tennessee, was married to Miss Allie B. McLaughlin, March 3d, at the residence of the bride's mother, near Green Bank, by the Rev C. C. Arbogast. Only a few friends of the contracting parties were present to witness the ceremony. Mr and Mrs E. B. Ferguson are at home to their friends near Green Bank.

Mr Arthur Lawson, of Mingo, left suddenly for England a short time ago. Astonishing his agent, Mr D'Acres, by telling him to "shear the sheep," he was gone, taking with him his red fox. His friends suppose that he was moved to immediate action by reading of some meeting of fox-hounds in his country, and that he had no time to lose if he wished to be there. He disposed of his own kennel of hounds by giving some away and killing the rest to keep them quiet. He interred their bodies, with those of a number of dead sheep, in a compost heap for fertilizer. The sheep killed his own and his mule Bob is now enjoying a well-deserved rest, which will be indefinitely prolonged. We hope to see Mr Lawson back soon, for he is always up to something which relieves the monotony of our times.

Among the venerable and worthy citizens of our county deserving of special mention is Morgan Grimes, Esq., near Frost. He settled in the woods and built up a nice and attractive village. He has also made a good deal of his limited opportunities to improve his mind and heart, so as to have a good influence in his neighborhood, and be useful to his neighbors as a friend and counselor when wills are to be made or controversies to be considered. Years ago there lived an aged man near Glade Hill who settled like Mr Grimes on "thin land" in the woods, built up a nice home, and reared his family. Old Father Arbogast used to remark that he thanked the Lord every day for his poor land, for if it had not been so thin it would never have been his to work with. Pocahontas citizens should be proud of such useful persons, and no doubt will be.

It seems from the general opinion that very grave suspicion is directed against Trout Shue as being the murderer of his wife. He was arrested for the crime and placed in jail at Lewisburg. The coroner's inquest held by his predecessor are about as follows: The woman, who was Shue's third wife, died suddenly at their home, at Levisay's Mill, where Shue operated a blacksmith shop. Certain unnatural expressions uttered by Shue on the day of his wife's death caused suspicion. It is said that he superintended the laying out of the dead body, and that whenever the head was to be moved he moved it. Some other words let fall by him at the burying decided some citizens to have the body disinterred and a post-mortem examination over it. The result of the discovery was made that the work was broken and the windpipe mashed. On this threat were the marks of fingers indicating that the foul deed was clinched. When it was known that the woman had come to her death by violence, Shue was arrested. Shue was bound and placed in the county jail at Lewisburg. He was sentenced to the penitentiary for horse stealing. He has a brother-in-law who resides here and his wife visited him here. It is said that he was very much attached to his wife, and that he only threatened to whip her. Shue was a man of powerful build and was considered able to break a horse to ride in a single day. He was about 40 years old.

Correspondence.

TWO MILES NORTH OF TRAVELERS REPOSE

Jack Flenner is still on the mend—thanks to a providential dispensation.

I learn that Dr J. P. Mooman is out again, and is on the road day and night.

Mrs Martha Keller is still on the mend, at the place called Pine Hollow, east of Grassy Ridge.

The weather at this time is very rough, but feed is plenty.

There is a gentleman at P. D. Yeager's on the hunt for mice and rats, and more than rats. He has with him forty traps.

G. A. Kellar is absent from home at this time to see his mother.

C. M. Kellar has moved to a place purchased by him on Brush Run.

Miss Sula Burner is at home. Her school at the Big Fill closed the 20th ultimo.

Our school, taught by Miss May Maxwell, is one of the best ever taught at this place.

The foot-bridge at Travelers Repose is unsafe, as the abutments were washed away by the recent rains.

The Times is read with great interest by our people.

A Friend.

DILLEY'S MILL

The Mt Zion School, taught by Miss Lena M. Kinnison, closed March 4. The school was opened under rather inauspicious circumstances, yet we are pleased to note that a more successful school has not been taught there for years. The closing exercises were beautiful and imupressive, consisting of declamations, essays, spelling, etc. G. S. Wilford made a speech on "Education." Mr Weiford was one of our very best teacherr. It has been a good while since he taught school, but he had not forgotten how to express his ideas on the school question. Over 100 persons were present.

Miss Enola Shrader closed her school March 5th.

George E. Moore, who is teaching at the Sulphur Spring School, will close the 12th instant.

We congratulate The Times on its improvement. The Pocahontas Times should be welcomed in every home in the county.

Truly yours, Peaffi.

YELK.—Delayed.

Elk is on a boom—we are going to have a blacksmith shop at L. D. Sharp's in the near future.

H. B. Sharp is on the sick-list at this writing.

G. L. Hannah is attending school on Dry Branch.

H. C. Sharp has purchased a fine horse. He is going to hunt a girl that takes his eye.

J. N. Hite has purchased a farm in Randolph County, and will move to it soon.

S. H. Higgins has returned from Gauley, he reports the snow deep in that section.

Sheldon Hannah has been sick but is improving.

Miss Allie McLaughlin's school will close next week.

John Slanker is working for Hugh Sharp.

Dr M. B. Griffin is getting lots of practice.

You can buy at the Slaty Fork store men's good coarse shoes for $1; men's overalls, 45c; children's shoes 30 to 50 cts; white linen table-cloth, 35c per yard; dress ginghams, 5½c per yard. Other goods very low.

J. A. Sharp is off to Beverly with the wagon for a load of merchandise.

We learn that the two stores owned by Bing & Sherman and Hamilton & Conrad, at Valley Head, were burned one day last week. John.

To the Editor of The Times:

I desire to thank my friends and neighbors through the medium of your paper for their kind attentions during my late illness.

Reuben Pennell.

Your Cough,

like a dog's bark, is a sign that there is something foreign around which shouldn't be there. You can quiet the noise, but the danger may be there just the same. SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil is not a cough specific; it does not merely allay the symptoms but it does give such strength to the body that it is able to throw off the disease.

You know the old proverb of "the cause of prevention?" Don't neglect your cough. A book which will tell you more on the subject will be sent on request.

Your druggist keeps Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil. Put up in 50c. and $1.00 sizes.

Scott & Bowne, New York.

The County Court.

Loring Kerr appointed road surveyor instead of Chas. Wooddell in precinct no. 24 in Green Bank district.

Jasper E. Friel appointed surveyor of road on Greenbrier river.

Ashby H. Sharp appointed constable in Huntersville district.

Sealed bids to be advertised for a foot bridge across the Greenbrier at the mouth of Leather Bark Creek.

Dr J. W. Price allowed license to keep drugstore at Marlinton.

A. R. Kinnison qualified as surety of B. W. Hill.

W. H. Grose and S. B. Scott Jr. appointed committee to examine books of Clerk's office.

R. L. Crummett contractor for toll from Huntersville to Top of Alleghany Mountain.

The Travelers Repose foot-bridge ordered to be repaired; P. D. Yeager commissioner.

$1000 dollars appropriated for road leading from Stony Creek road to Waugh's mill.

C. E. Beard authorized to close the old road down Stamping Creek it being replaced by the new one.

Sealed bids to be received by the Clerk for the copying of the land books of the County.

$100 to be expended on the road near Major J. C. Arbogast's, at Green Bank; J. R. Warwick, commissioner.

Geo. M. Kee, Wm. M. Sharp, and Aaron Kee appointed to assess tolls on roads under G. W. Mann and W. C. Mann and on the Greenbrier bridge.

Ordered, that a desk be purchased for the use of the County surveyor.

Salaries of County officers: Clerk of Circuit Court, $200; Clerk of County Court, $200; Prosecuting Attorney, $100; Assessor, $375; Jailor, $75.

John R. Hevener and Wm. J. Yeager appointed commissioners to let 2700 poles of new road on Phillips Hill, between Dunmore and Green Bank.

The above orders include all orders made by the Court, with the exception of the changing of a few road surveyors and hands which are not of general interest

D E N T I S T R Y.—Dr J. H. Weymouth, of Elkins, W. Va., will be at Edray Mar. 19th, and remain 3 days; Buckeye (Clark Kellison's) March 23d, 3 days; Mill Point, 26th, 3 days; Huntersville, 30th, 2 days; Green Bank, April 1st, 3 days; Marlinton April 5th, 4 days. On account of a press of business since locating at Elkins, he has been unable to make his visits to this county on time, but in the future he will make them regularly every spring and fall.

DANGERS FROM THE GRIP.

The greatest danger from La Grippe is of its resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care be used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for the grip, we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that this remedy is a certain preventive for that dread disease. It will effect a permanent cure in less time than any other treatment. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by all druggists.

Mr Ward L. Smith, of Fredricktown, Mo., was troubled with chronic diarrhoea for over thirty years. He had become fully satisfied that it was only a question of a short time until he would have to give up. He had been treated by some of the best physcians of Europe and America but got no permanent relief. One day he picked up a paper and chanced to see an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He got a bottle of it, the first dose he ped him and its continued use cured him. For sale by druggists.

D. W. DEVER

Sale of

Personal PROPERTY

On the 23rd day of March, 1897, I will offer for sale at my residence on Knapps creek all the personal property belonging to me, viz:

10 Cows, & other stock.
3 good Work-Horses.
1 Set of Harness
2 Wagons
1 Mowing Machine and Rake
1 Buggy and Harness

A lot of Hay, Wheat, Corn, and Oats. A lot of Bacon, and other things, too numerous to mention.

Terms made known on day of sale.

D. W. DEVER.
March 5, 1897.

Swecker Auctioneer.

$25 Reward.

I will pay the above sum for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who wilfully and maliciously shot the saw at my mill on Laurel Creek.

Hamp. Galford.

Valuable Land for Rent

A valuable grazing farm of more than 300 acres for rent,—well watered and under good fence. Will rent or take in cattle by the month.

For further information call on or address

Allie B. McLaughlin,
15tf Edray, W. Va.

Notice.

All parties knowing themselves indebted to me will please come forward and settle up by the 15th of March, 1897, as I intend to make some change in my business.

Georgie W. Ginger.
Huntersville, W. Va. 4t

Notice.

We hereby notify all persons not to trespass on our land, by hunting, laying down fences, or in any other way.

Nathan, Shearer & Co.

Notice to Horse-Traders.

On April 6th, 1897, first day of Court, in front of the Court-house, at Marlinton, W. Va., I will offer for sale my thoroughbred Hamiltonian stallion, on 30 days time, purchaser giving bond and good security. This horse is well-known in Pocahontas and Greenbrier Counties, and will be in good trim for the season of 1897.

Respectfully,
W. W. Tyree.
Marlinton, W. Va.

WANTED!

MEN TO TAKE CONTRACTS

for skidding logs to tramway by the thousand. I have from 6 to 8 million feet which I wish to let out in contracts of five hundred thousand to 2 million feet each to reliable jobbers who own good teams and are willing to push the work. Parties interested are requested to come and see me and look at the work.

Respectfully,
Peter Dow.
Jack, W. Va., Feb. 27, 1897.

800 Bushels of Good Seed Oats are for Sale at GOLDEN'S.

Washington hand-press. The Pocahontas Times has for sale a most convenient, easiest-running, Washington Hand-Press, at a price about one-third of its real worth. This press would form the nucleus of a profitable country newspaper business. Its capacity is a six-column folio and for years did the work of The Times office. The concensus of opinion of all the printers who have ever operated this press is that more impressions can be made with greater ease than on any other press ever operated by them. This press is of no value to The Times, owing to being supplanted by a power press.

Also the proprietors will sell for a fair price the good will, machinery, and material of the business known as The Pocahontas Times printing plant—consisting of the most complete printing outfit outside of a town or city in the State.

Harvesting Machines.

I will furnish the Johnston Harvesting Machinery & Sowers this year from $40.00 to $45.00, according to the length of cut.

Yours respectfully,

C. J. HILL,
Agent.
LOBELIA, W. VA. f12 6m

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

State of West Virginia, } ss.
Pocahontas County, }

At rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on Monday, February 1st, 1897.

Clifton Forge Grocery Company, a corporation under the laws of Virginia ..... Plaintiff,

vs.

C. C. Arbogast, W. B. Ellis & Ellis partners trading as W. B. Ellis & Co., A. Ebart, C. G. Joyner and M. H. Wiz, partners trading as Ebart, Joyner, & Co.; E. M. Brown, Geo. Bloine and George J. Bloine, partners trading as George Bloine & Son; S. R. Sutton, H. S. Rucker, Charles P. Jones, J. H. Shears, J. W. Lukins, P. D. Arbogast, C. O. Tracy, Emma A. Tracy, J. Wesley Hevener, Old Dominion Building and Loan Association; and J. Taylor Ellyson and W. A. Bratton, Trustees ..... Defendants

The object of this suit is to subject the land of the defendant C. C. Arbogast, lying near Green Bank, in Pocahontas County, W. Va., being 181 acres, more or less, to the payment of the liens thereon, and for general relief. This day came the plaintiff by its attorney, and on his motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed that the defendants, the Old Dominion Building and Loan Association, J. Taylor Ellyson, Trustee, and C. P. Jones, are non-residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the date of the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
H. S. Rucker, p. q. f5

Lost! Lost! Lost!

Money Lost

by not trading with us. We mean business, as you will find if you give us a trial.

'The proof of the pudding is in the eating.'

Buy one bill of us for your own special benefit.

THE MONEY WE DO NOT SPEND PAYING TRAVELLING MENS BILLS IS SHARED WITH OUR CUSTOMERS. WE SEEK NO TRADE THAT IS NOT OURS BY VIRTUE OF LOW PRICES AND HONEST GOODS. OUR REPUTATION AS Spot Cash Buyers brings us bargains that credit never saw. We give bargains; the prices tell the people, and the people tell the prices.

We will sell wire nails, from 4 to 20 penny at $2.50 per keg.

Best Unsweetened Sugar at 5¢.

Fancy Green Coffee at 10c.

Corn Starch 3 for 10c.

Ringed gourd Tobacco 25c to 35c per pound.

We will buy hides.

We will buy beeswax and fur throughout the winter. Friends, do not forget to give us your trade.

Yours respectfully,

L. D. Sharp,
Linwood, W. Va.

s Times.
EDITOR
Mar. 12, 1897.

LLAR is advthis the year

ics at Marlintion matter.

ectory

I. McWhorter
M. McClintic
. G. W. Hill
S. L. Brown
H. Patterson
J. H. Bozard
ms Barlow
M. Beard
R. Warwick
eorge Baxter
rge P. Moore
—Dr. J. W
. M. J. Mc-

lford, Warlick, Linwood; n Bank; W. G. R. Carr, Bradley, Le-

RTS.

venues on the ; third Tuesday in venues on the ary, March, Tuesday in

Rules.

orders his s, of course, time to pay be paid, to ations. You t name, but mpany your r terms are f merchants n we have

S.

LAW, VA.

, VA.

rts of Pocahontas and in f the State of

LAW, VA.

RY PUBLIC W. Va.

rts of Pocahontas the Supreme

LAW, VA.

rts of Greenbrier. Prompt ion collection

LAW, VA.

nions given

LAW, VA.

LAW, VA.

ervice promptly

LAW, VA.

ness solicited

ness of Monroe

ness of Summers

ness of Mercer

ness of Raleigh

ness of Fayette

ness of Kanawha

ness of Nicholas

ness of Webster

ness of Braxton

ness of Clay

ness of Roane

ness of Jackson

ness of Mason

ness of Putnam

ness of Cabell

ness of Wayne

ness of Lincoln

ness of Boone

ness of Logan

ness of McDowell

ness of Wyoming

ness of Mingo

ness of Wetzel

ness of Marion

ness of Monongalia

ness of Preston

ness of Taylor

ness of Barbour

ness of Tucker

ness of Randolph

ness of Upshur

ness of Lewis

ness of Harrison

ness of Doddridge

ness of Ritchie

ness of Gilmer

ness of Calhoun

ness of Wirt

ness of Pleasants

ness of Wood

ness of Tyler

ness of Pocahontas

ness of Greenbrier

ness of Pendleton

ness of Hardy

ness of Grant

ness of Hampshire

ness of Morgan

ness of Berkeley

ness of Jefferson

ness of Mineral

ness of Hancock

ness of Brooke

ness of Ohio

ness of Marshall

ness of Monroe

ness of Summers

ness of Mercer

ness of Raleigh

ness of Fayette

ness of Kanawha

ness of Nicholas

ness of Webster

ness of Braxton

ness of Clay

ness of Roane

ness of Jackson

ness of Mason

ness of Putnam

ness of Cabell

ness of Wayne

ness of Lincoln

ness of Boone

ness of Logan

ness of McDowell

ness of Wyoming

ness of Mingo

ness of Wetzel

ness of Marion

ness of Monongalia

ness of Preston

ness of Taylor

ness of Barbour

ness of Tucker

ness of Randolph

ness of Upshur

ness of Lewis

ness of Harrison

ness of Doddridge

ness of Ritchie

ness of Gilmer

ness of Calhoun

ness of Wirt

ness of Pleasants

ness of Wood

ness of Tyler

ness of Pocahontas

ness of Greenbrier

ness of Pendleton

ness of Hardy

ness of Grant

ness of Hampshire

ness of Morgan

ness of Berkeley

ness of Jefferson

ness of Mineral

ness of Hancock

ness of Brooke

ness of Ohio

ness of Marshall

THE MASON'S CHILD.

CHAPTER I.

Faster and faster spread the flames, and now the ship was enveloped in a fiery sheet. Men and women rushed madly over the side to meet a quicker, but less painful death. The boats, with one exception, had been overladen and capsized. There were hasty prayers and heart rending cries of misery and distress. Death hovered, vulture like, over his victims; some clung desperately to the vessel's side, some supported themselves in the water by articles snatched from the burning ship, and with which they had leaped into the sea. The captain sang through his trumpet: "Take heart and sustain yourself as long as possible. A ship is coming to our relief."

James Durant stood upon the almost deserted deck with his only child, only four years old, folded closely in his arms. His eyes swept the horizon in search of the ship to which the captain had alluded. He discovered it at last, but it was at least four miles off. Before the ship could arrive, they must be burned to death; or, if he sprang into the water, as others had, he and the child would be drowned, for he was no swimmer.

The little arms were twined about his neck, the pale cheek rested confiding against his own, but the brave child never trembled.

"Oh, my God is there no help?" cried the despairing father, as the flames crept nearer and he felt that his present condition could be held but a little longer.

"Here give the child to me, and I will save her," said turning quickly Mr Durant stood face to face with a stranged who had a life-preserver in his hand.

"Quick! there is no time to be lost! The child can have my life-preserver, and it will float her easily. Yonder is another; I have been watching it for the last five minutes. It will reach us in half an hour at the most. There, that is fastened securely. Now, little girl, I am going to throw you into the water. You are not afraid?"

"No, no, but papa?"

The father caught her frantically in his arms.

"My darling Eva, you may never see your father again; but do not fear—God will guard you, and somebody will find you and take care of you. If you never see your papa again, remember he is in heaven with mamma."

"Has she no relatives?" asked the stranger.

"None in this country; I am from England, and am traveling for her health."

"Take that pin from your bosom and fasten it to her clothing."

"Heaven thank you for that thought!" said the father; and in a moment the square and compass was glistening on the bosom of the child, and the stranger took her from her father's arms saying, "I am stronger than you; she must be cast beyond the reach of these drowning wretches or they will rob her of the life-preserver."

The white drapery fluttered thro the air, and sank beneath the water; then rising, it floated lightly on the water. James turned to the stranger with tearful eyes.

"May God bless and preserve you noblest of men. But you, as well as myself must be lost."

"No, I am a good swimmer, and here is a board with which can sustain yourself until help arrives."

The father cast another glance at the white speck floating away, and with an inward "God preserve her" sprang into the sea, followed by the stranger; but the two floated in different directions and they saw each other no more.

Two hours later James Durant awoke as from the sleep of death, and found himself in the cabin of a strange ship, with kind and sympathizing faces around him. In a moment he realized all that had passed, and said, eagerly, the feebly, "My child, little Eva; is she safe?" There was no response and a few moans escaped the father's lips.

"Courage, sir," said a lady with tearful eyes, "some of the passengers were saved by another ship."

The father's countenance lighted. "Glad must that she is safe."

Durant recovered his strength in a few hours, and sought among the saved for the stranger who had proved himself so true a Masonic Brother, but was not to be found.

"He must be on the other ship," said Mr Durant, "and he will take care of Eva."

Both ships were at port on the following day, but the Mr Durant found the stranger who befriended him, and who pleased to be called Wallace, from a necessary step. Eva was seen by no one and given up as lost.

CHAPTER II.

"Here wife, is a child that has just been washed upon the beach. She is cold and stiff, but I think she is not dead. Let us have some warm flannels immediately and tell Thomas to run for Dr Hunt."

It was one day before the opening of the fall and fashionable gathering of the resort gave token that summer would close its efforts of fascinations, but to end by the fall of the leaves and the snow that would follow. Mrs Turner, the speaker, was a fashionable woman of the world, and the doctor. "She has a delicate constitution, and will require the best of care."

"Poor child!" said Mrs Turner, I do n't wonder she is nearly dead; but who can she be? Some terrible accident must have occurred at sea."

"You had better examine her clothing," said the doctor, "perhaps you may find some clue to her relations."

Mrs Turner lifted the gossamer white dress and turned it over and over. The square and compass placed there by Mr Durant flashed upon all at once. The doctor and Mr Turner looked at each other, but neither spoke, and Mrs Turner did not notice the tear that glistened in her husband's eye.

The doctor's fear that Eva would not recover rapidly proved to be well founded: days and weeks of fever succeeded in awakening her to the burning which she talked incoherently of "papa" and "poor mamma" and of the 'burning ship' and of 'hunger.' She finally awoke to consciousness, and asked many questions as to where she was and how she came in the dark room, and who were those that attended her, but Dr Hunt forbade her being questioned until she was stronger.

How interested were all in the little convalescent, whom the elements had cast into the little seaboard town! The ladies declared that never before did a child possess such lovely eyes or such beautiful curls, while the gentlemen seemed no less interested and brought her gifts of everything that might please her fancy.

"My dear little girl," said Dr. Hunt, when was at length able to ride out, "will you tell me your name?"

"Eva," said the child, "I thought you knew it."

"Yes, I know your name is Eva, but I want to know the rest of your name—your father's name."

"Eva Durant. Mr Durant is my father."

"Yes, I want you to tell me all you can remember about your father and mother."

Eva's eyes filled with tears. "Oh my mama died and to live with the angels. And I do n't know where papa is. He said if I never saw him again I must know that he had gone to mamma."

"Where were you when he told you this?"

"On the ship; and oh, the fire burned me so; and papa held me in his arms until a strange man took and tied something under my arms and threw me into the water, and I have not seen papa since. O, sir, can you tell me where he is?"

"No, dear child, but perhaps we may find him."

And this was all that Eva's new friend was able to discover. It was plain that she had come from the ship which had been burned a week before; that she had been cast up by the sea and floated to the shore but where was her father? Had he been saved and was he searching for his child? Every possible effort was now made to find him. The circumstances of the case with the statement of the child was published fully in the newspapers of the neighboring cities, but the grief-stricken father, believing his child to be lost, had sailed a week before for Europe, and it soon became settled in the minds of Eva's protector that he had perished. But the little one still prattled about her "papa," and said he would come by and by. Those who believed differently would not pain her by contradiction.

The square and compass that had been found upon her clothing was regarded as a powerful appeal from a Mason to his brethren to care for his child. So it came to pass that Eva became the special charge of Hiram Lodge 93. Mr Turner would gladly have taken the entire charge of the little waif, and the wealthy Senator W. requested to be allowed to adopt her as his daughter, but the brethren in the Lodge assembled, declared by a vote that Eva should be reared, educated, and protected by the Lodge, and that as providence had placed her in brother Turner's hands that should be her home.

And so years went by, and Eva became a beautiful young child, flitting here and there, and everywhere meeting the warmest of welcomes. The Masonic Hall was but a few rods from Mr Turner's residence, and Eva often went with him as far as the door, and then returned alone, always bidding the Tiler "Take good care of pa, Turner; and send him home early."

CHAPTER III.

The six years that followed the death of his wife and the loss of his child passed wearily to James Durant. He visited nearly every country in the old world seeking among scenes of natural beauty and grandeur, as well as of historic interest for the wonted rest which could never be found. Once more he turned his steps toward America, and sought in vain for Eva and Wallace still. Finding that gentleman about starting with his family on a journey to the Atlantic coast, Mr Durant accepted an invitation to accompany them to Saratoga and Niagara, then to New York, and thence to the Hudson. He left Wallace and Mr Durant at the former place, and the latter, with his family, proceeded to the Hudson, where they remained for some weeks, and then returned to the city.

A few days after the arrival of the family in the city, Mr Durant, while walking down Broadway, met a gentleman whose face was familiar to him, but he could not recall his name. The gentleman, however, recognized him at once, and greeted him warmly.

"Why, Durant, I thought you were dead. Where have you been all these years?"

"Traveling in search of rest, but I have found it not. Where have you been?"

"Oh, I have been in Europe for the last two years, and have just returned. Have you seen Wallace since you left Saratoga?"

"No, I have not seen him since we left the springs. I wrote to him from Albany, but received no answer. I suppose he has returned to his home in Virginia."

"Yes, I saw him a few days before I left Saratoga, and he told me he was going home. He has a beautiful daughter, I believe, about the age of your little girl."

"Yes, I remember her well. She was a beautiful child, and I was very much attached to her. Poor little Eva! I wonder if she would have grown to be like her?"

"Poor child! Wallace's daughter is dead. She died about a year ago."

"Dead!" exclaimed Durant, starting back in horror. "Dead! Why, I thought you said Wallace's daughter was living?"

"Yes, I said his daughter was dead. Why, what is the matter with you, Durant? You look as if you had seen a ghost."

"Nothing, nothing," said Durant, recovering himself with an effort. "I was thinking of my own child, that is all. Good-bye, I must go now."

"Good-bye, Durant. Call and see me when you have time."

"I will," said Durant, as he turned away.

"Poor fellow!" said the gentleman, looking after him, "I wonder what ails him? He looks as if he had seen a ghost. I must call and see him."

Durant walked rapidly down Broadway, and turning into a side street, he leaned against a lamp post, and gave way to his feelings. He had found his child, but she was dead. Wallace had deceived him, and had taken his child from him. Why had he done so? Durant could not imagine, but he resolved to find out. He would go to Virginia and see Wallace. He would demand his child. He would—

"Why, papa, what is the matter?" said a sweet voice at his side.

Durant looked up, and saw a beautiful child standing by his side, looking up at him with a look of anxiety and alarm.

"Eva, my child, my child!" cried Durant, as he caught the child in his arms and pressed her to his heart.

"Papa, papa, what is the matter?" said the child, as she looked up into her father's face.

"Nothing, my child, nothing," said Durant, as he set the child down and looked at her. "I was only thinking of your mother, and I was sad. But I am glad now, very glad. Come, Eva, let us go home."

Durant took the child by the hand and walked rapidly down the street. He had found his child, and he would not lose her again.

MEDICAL WISDOM.

THE DREADED CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

T. A. Slocum, M. C., the great Chemist and Scientist, Offers to Send Free, to Afflicted, Iron Bottles of His Newly-Discovered Remedies to Cure Consumption and all Lung Troubles.

Nothing could be fairer, more philanthropic or carry more joy in its wake than the offer of T. A. Slocum, M. C., of 183 Pearl street New York City.

Confident that he has discovered an absolute cure for consumption and all pulmonary complaints, and to make its great merits known, he will send, free, three bottles, to any reader of the Pocahontas Times, who is suffering from chest, bronchial, throat and lung troubles or consumption.

Already this "new scientific course of medicine" has permanently cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases.

The Doctor considers it his religious duty—a duty which he owes to humanity—to distribute this valuable cure.

Offererd freely, apart from its inherent strength, is enough to commend it, and more so is the perfect confidence of the great chemist making the proposition.

He has proved consumption to be a curable disease beyond any doubt.

There will be no mistake in sending—the mistake will be in overlooking the generous invitation. He has on file in his American and European laboratories testimonials of experience from those cured, in all parts of the world.

Delays are dangerous. Address T. A. Slocum, M. C., 183 Pearl street New York, and when writing to the Doctor, please give express and postoffice address, and mention reading this article in The Pocahontas Times.

MARLINTON HOUSE.

Located East End of Bridge.

Terms.

per day - 1.00 & 1.50

per meal - - - 25

Good accommodations for horses at 25 cents per feed.

Special rates made by the week or month.

C. A. YEAGER. Proprietor.

Lee Military Academy.

Spring term of 18 weeks begins February 1st. Pupils can enter any time. A first class school for boys. Prepares for college or business. Thorough academic, preparatory and business courses.

Located in a fine grove. Best Christian influences, no saloons, no distractions.

Tuition, $50 and $25. Board from $10 to $15 per month.

JAMES M. LEE, Principal.

Lewisburg, W. Va.

Old Dominion Building & Loan Association.

—OF—

Richmond, - - Virginia.

J. TAYLOR ELLYSON, President.
E. A. BARBER, Treasurer.

DIRECTORS.

J. Taylor Ellyson, Harmon V. Randolph, John B. Purcell, John S. Ellet, Frank T. Sutton.

Authorized Capital..... $20,000,000.
Subscribed Capital..... 5,000,000.
Paid Up Cash Capital..... 1,500,000.
Assets..... 2,000,000.

Depository—State Bank of Virginia. Investments can be made $1.00 per share membership fee, and 60 cents per month afterwards—withdrawable after twelve monthly payments, and sooner in event of the death of the stockholder.

H. A. YEAGER, Agent.

MARLINTON, W. VA.

SPECIAL POTATO FERTILIZER and High Grade General Phosphates made from VEGETABLE and ANIMAL MATTER. Every farmer should write for prices, terms, and circulars.

AMERICAN REDUCTION CO., Pittsburg, Pa.

FEED, LIVERY —AND— SALE STABLES.

First-Rate Teams and Saddle-Horses Provided.

Horses for Sale and Hire.

SPECIAL ACCOMODATIONS FOR STALLIONS.

A limited number of boarding horses taken.

All persons having horses to trade are invited to call. Young horses broke to ride or work.

J. H. G. WILSON,
Marlinton W. Va.

Farmers' Home Fire Insurance Co., of West Virginia

J. M. SYDENSTRICKER - - - President.
R. P. MITTENHOUSE - Sec'y & Treas.

INCORPORATED.

By the People and for the People. For Isolated Property only. No Salaried Officers to Support. No capital to Lie Idle. No Loss to Expense. Fair and Honorable Adjustment of all Losses. Cost less than one fifth of what is paid by old companies, and a Loss is secure. In most successful operation in all of the adjoining States. Thousands saved to farmers.

T. L. REYNOLDS & SONS, agents Lewisburg, W Va

Lightning Hot Drops—What a Funny Name! Very True, but it Sells Its Fame. Sold Everywhere, Every Day—Without Rebuff, There is No Fear

Scientific American Agency for PATENTS

Scientific American

What is

CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY,
Boston, Mass.
ALLEN C. SMITH, Pres.,

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

Simms & Co.,

RONCEVERTE, W. VA.

Silver Steel Plow, Syracuse Chilled Plows, Imperial Chilled Plows.

PLOW REPARS OF ALL KNDS AT LOWEST PRICES EVER OFFERED HERE

RED WARRIOR	POLL AXES		65c
GREENBRIER	"	"	60c
CHAMPION	"	"	50c

4 No. 2 Horse-shoes for 15c | 4 No. 3 Horse-shoes 18c
4 No. 4 " " 23c | 4 No. 5 " 16c

COOK-STOVES OF ALL KINDS

1 doz. 8x10 Window Glass 35c | Berea Grindstone 1 1-4c lb
Paints, Oils, Varnishes, etc.

Our goods are all first class, no shoddy or job-lots, or damaged goods. Strike us for prices before you buy.

Simms & Co.,
Opposite Passenger Depot. Ronceverte, W. Va.

A $5.00 LOOK MOTHERS A RARE TREAT FOR YOU ALL. Boys Sampson Suit, with Extra Pair of Pants, for $2.76
AND WE PAY EXPRESS CHARGES TO YOUR DOOR.
REMEMBER, you buy direct from one of the largest Wholesale Clothing Manufacturers in America, and by so doing you save three Profits.

The above mentioned $5.00 Boys Sampson Suit with Extra Pants is guaranteed to be made from an Imported Wool Cheviot, in Jet Black, Dark Blue, Oxford Grey and Olive Brown, in sizes from 3 to 9 years of age. They are made up as per below in double-breasted with Sailor Collar, braided with wide soutach Braid, lined with a fast black Albert Twill Sateen Lining, Trimmings and Workmanship throughout first class, and nearly fast proof. Coat has 3 Side Pockets, a Watch and Cash Pocket. Pants have 2 Hip Pockets and an Extra Pocket for Pocket Pieces on all Pants, also Patent Waist Fasteners.

In sizes from 10 to 15 years of age made up as per opposite cut. Double Breasted with extra Pants at same Price $5.00.

To Measure Money Order or Registered Letter and for garments made to order. Send age of Boy at time you order and if height and weight are known, so much the better.

Send for our Free Illustrated Catalogue containing Rules for Self Measurement, Price Lists, Samples of Cloth, etc. Address

Boys' Suits from $2.00 to $5.00
Youths' " " 3.00 to 6.00
Men's Suits from $4.00 up
Mens Suits from $6.00 up

OUR FACTORIES.

E. ROSENBURGER & CO., 204 & 1024 N. New York C

IT TICKLES YOU
THE INSTANT RELIEF YOU GET FROM
LIGHTNING HOT DROPS.
CURES Colds, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Pain, Chills, Malaria, Fevers, Changes of Water, etc.
HEALS Cuts, Burns, Scalds, Bruises, Sprains, Sores of all kinds, Rheumatic Pains, etc.
BREAKS UP Bad Colds, La Grippe, Inflammation, Fevers, Bowel Troubles, etc.
SMELLS GOOD. TASTES GOOD.
Sold Everywhere at 25c and 50c Per Bottle. At Druggists, or Post.
HERB MEDICINE CO. (Formerly of Weston, W. Va.) SYRACUSE, N.

THE MASON'S CHILD.

CHAPTER I.

Faster and faster sped the storm, and now the ship was enflamed in a fiery sheet. Men and women rushed madly over the side to meet a quicker, but less painful death. The boats, with one exception, had been overladen and capsized. There were hasty prayers, and heart rending cries of misery and distress. Death hovered, vulture-like, over his victims, some being desperately in the vessel's hold, some supported themselves in the water by articles snatched from the burning ship, and with which they had leaped into the sea. The storm sang through his trumpet. "Take heart and sustain yourself as long as possible. A ship is coming to our relief."

James Durant stood upon the most deserted deck with his only child, only four years old, folded tightly in his arms. His eyes swept the horizon in search of the ship which the captain had alluded. He could see it at last, but it was at least four miles off. Before the ship could arrive, they must be turned to death; or, if he sprang into the water, as others had, he and the child would be drowned, for he was no swimmer.

The little arms were twined about his neck, the pale cheek rested confiding against his own, but no brave child never trembled.

"Oh, my God is there no help?" fired the despairing father, as the flames crept nearer and he felt that the last preservation could be held out a little longer.

"Here give the child to me, and I will save her," and turning quickly Mr Durand stood face to face with a stranger who had a life-preserver in his hand.

"Quick! there is no time to be lost! The child can have my life-preserver, and it will float her easily. Yonder is another; I have my eye watching it for the last five minutes. It will reach us in half an hour at the most. There, that is fastened securely. Now, little girl, I am going to throw you into the water. You are not afraid?"

"No, no, but papa?"

The father caught her frantically in his arms.

"My darling Eva, you may never see your father again; but do not fear—God will guard you, and somebody will find you and take care of you. If you never see your papa again, remember he is in heaven with mamma."

"Have she no relatives?" asked the stranger.

"None in this country; I am from England, and am traveling for her health."

"Take that pin from your bosom and fasten it to her clothing."

"Heaven thank you for that thought!" said the father; and in a moment the square and compass on the bosom of the child, and the stranger took her hand. "Now, my child, you must be brave, for your father's arms say-ing, "I am stronger than you; she must be out beyond the reach of those drowning wretches or they will drag her of the life-preserver."

The white drapery fluttered there in the air, and sank beneath the water, then rising, it floated lightly on the water. James turned to the stranger with tearful eyes.

"May God bless and preserve you, sir!" he said. "But you, sir, how in mercy's name be fed."

"No, I am a good swimmer, and one is a board with which can sustain yourself until help arrives."

The father cast another glance at the white speck floating away, and with an inward "God preserve her" sprang into the sea, followed by the stranger; but the two floated in different directions and they saw each other no more.

Two hours later James Durand broke to from the sleep of death and found himself in the cabin of a strange ship, with kind and eager attendants around him. In a moment he realized all that had passed, and said eagerly, the first, "My child, little Eva; is she safe?" There was no response and a low moan escaped the father's lips.

"Courage, sir," said a lady with kindly eyes, "some of the passengers have saved another ship."

The father's countenance lighted. "And sweet that she is safe."

Durand scrutinized his strength in their looks, and sought among the crowd for the stranger who had saved himself to save a human brother, but was not to be found.

"He must be on the other ship," said Mr Durand, "and he will take care of Eva."

Both ships were at rest on the calm sea, and the Mr Durant found the stranger who befriended him, and who proved to be a Mr Wadsworth, from a Southern city. He was seen by no one and gone up to bed.

CHAPTER II.

"Your wife, is a child that had been washed upon the beach. She is cold and stiff, but I think she is not dead. Let us have warm flannels immediately, and tell Mrs Wadsworth. Finding that gentleman about starting with his family on a journey to the Alleghanies and the feeble fluttering of the heart gave token that nature still retained the efforts of Restoratives but to end in the fair child was restored to her father that he was overjoyed to see his child in a comfortable way and then he was overjoyed to see his child in a comfortable way and then he was overjoyed to see his child in a comfortable way and then

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 14, NO. 34 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, MARCH 10, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

IT TICKLES YOU
THE INSTANT RELIEF YOU GET FROM
LIGHTNING HOT DROPS.

CURES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.
HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Bites of Animals, Rattlesnake, Dogs, etc.
BREAKS UP Bad Colds, La Grippe, Influenza, Croup, Sore Throat, etc.
SMELLS GOOD, TASTES GOOD.
HALF DISTANCE AT 25c AND 50c PER BOTTLE. NO RELIEF, NO PAY.
HERB MEDICINE CO. (Formerly of Wheeling, W. Va.) SPRINGFIELD, O.

No Use Talking
ABOUT HARD TIMES,
When One Dollar will Buy as much at Sol Davis' Big Store, as Two Dollars will Buy at other Stores.

I have literally plunged the knife into my former low prices to quicken sales and the result is seen in the increased number of customers at my store. Do you want to share in the Bargains now offered in Clothing, Boots, and Shoes, Ladies' and Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods, Dry Goods, Underwear, etc.,—if so call at

SOL DAVIS'
Big Store.
AND GET YOUR BARGAINS.

We quote prices on a few things:
Working pants well made and durable 75c worth 1.50
Cassimere Pants from 1.25 up worth double.
Suits for men from 4.00 up worth 8.50
Boys' Suits 75c Worth 1.25
Men's Overcoats [illegible]
A good pair of Ladies Shoes for 1.00
Ladies' Cloaks and Capes, this year's styles, at correspondingly low prices as every thing else.

We especially invite those who have not dealt with us. Come one, come all! Our motto, Quick sales and short profits. Thanking you for past patronage we remain

Yours Truly,
SOL DAVIS, Proprietor.
Green Bank, W. Va. Jan 29

The Pocahontas Times,
All Home Print,
Affords the People of Pocahontas County one of the best papers for the price in the State.
$1.00 per Year
GIVES YOU YOUR COUNTY PAPER.
SUBSCRIBE!
Advertise your Wares and Wants Our rates are always low enough to warrant your patronage.

Our Job Department has been renewed, and we guarantee satisfaction. Wedding invitations and all kinds of work done on short notice

WE HAVE THE BEST PRINTING PLANT OUT SIDE A LARGE TOWN IN THE STATE.
Now is the Time to Subscribe!

We have a plan by which Farmers can get TOOL CHESTS FREE

THE WEEKLY LETTER.

"As a man soweth, so also shall he reap," or words to that effect, are found in the Bible. With us farmers, however, in a farming sense, we go back of sowing to the plowing, and on that depends what we shall reap; and now, as the county papers inform the gentle reader, is the time to do your plowing. Probably the most pleasant work of the year is the first plowing done in the spring. After a winter of discontent, the first warm days come as a boon, and then the tiller of the soil instinctively gets down his horses harness, greases them, rigs up a double-tree, and has a long hunt for that missing-link—the clevis. In a day or two the loading-mind on the farm pronounces the ground in fit condition to be plowed, and with a good team of horses, the plowman follows the plow with feelings akin to pleasure.

So strong is the instinct to plow upon the farmer in the spring that no matter if he has been engaged in other pursuits so long that he has forgotten how to farm, if he has ever had to put in every pretty day in early spring plowing, he is very apt to feel at this time of year that he is neglecting something, and he will rouse up from a fit of abstraction thinking that he should be out plowing.

Retrospection brings before me the days when I followed the furrow in the smooth sod-land that was so nice to plow, and, with the soil encrusted in my shoes, dreamed of days maybe when I might triumph over the drudgery of plowing. Then there were other days passed amidst roots and stumps, when the plowman thought of nothing but how to keep from cussing too much when the horses became restive and the plow-handles, or "stiles," as the Romans called it would punch your insides out when meeting a stump.

Then again in my mind's eye I see a yoke of white Tuckahoe cattle, yoked to a pole and the pole connected by links to the plow. How everything went well until the oxen having plowed one or two rounds considered the matter and refused to work. A thornbrush did not effect them. When a pitch-fork was brought and they were prodded until their sides were flecked with gore, they responded by "turning the yoke" with a dexterity that would have earned them great applause in a circus. Then the meek-eyed oxen patiently waited for whatever other torture the dismayed plowboy and his helper might devise for them. The yoke being righted, their tails were lashed together, so that the vertebræ cracked the cattle could not turn the yoke.

Then a second pitch-fork being brought the contest was continued. The field was right "forninst" a patch of woods. The oxen finding themselves at the wrong end of the flocks suddenly started and heading for the woods went one on either side of a scrub-oak, broke their yoke in two, abandoned the plow, and took each his share of the yoke. Under such circumstances the plowman homeward plods his weary way, or else lies down and dies in his impotent wrath.

It makes me feel so sad when I think how much profanity oxen are responsible for. How those words never cease to vibrate in the air but go echoing down the ages. Those who have never worked oxen think of the placid life the ox-driver leads and do not know that perseverance is bound up in the heart of an ox.

The long, long thoughts of plowmen have done much to shape the code of nations, for it is not from amid the distractions of the city that the greatest number of intellectual giants have come, they had too much time lost to become famous. It is the farm that produces the leaders of men, and not any of the first citizens of the community will have seen Sunday when they are walked in the furrow all day with the dirt encrusted in their shoes.

The article on plowing leads the writer to look up something about the antiquity of plowing, and there is a lot to interest one in the writings of the old Grecian and Roman authors about the plowing done in those days. One of Homer's immortal passages advises the farmer to have two plows, so that if one broke he might not be delayed in getting out a crop. Homer was, no doubt, well-fitted for his position as editor of the Olympia Stocker and Farmman. He prospered exceedingly until he advised the farmers to put on a bigger crop than ever one season, which was considered a sacrilege in those days. The Virgilance Committee called on him and committed his body to the leafy branches of a plow-tree. In those days a plow was made from the branches of a tree, and young trees were trained to grow into the proper shapes. Virgil speaks about the plow frequently.

The Greeks and Romans plowed either three or four times for each crop. The first plowing or proscindere threw the soil up in long furrows; the second or offrigere crossed these furrows, and in these the seed was sown; and the third plowing, called lirare, covered the seed and left deep furrows for the water to run off. They employed oxen to plow with, generally; but Ulysses, who did not want to go on the Trojan War for fear of getting one of his pneumatic tubes punctured with a spear, staid at home and plowed with a horse and ox yoked together. This circumstance is carefully preserved as a choice bit of history. By doing so he displayed the spirit of the Mosaic law, which prohibits yoking of such a heterogeneous, cast Virginia team. That law reads: "Thou shalt not plow with an ox and an ass together." The reason of this law is supposed to be that the Jewish farmers wished to be good, and so that could work such a team and remain pious.

This seasonable article owes its existence, dear friends, to the fact that there was nothing better suggesting itself to the writer's mind at that moment. While he has not plowed for several years, the plowing fever comes to him each spring and remains for an appreciable length of time, and he thinks "it would n't be so worse" to shake off the wear and tear of the newspaper business and go in again for plowing and things.

Young Criminals.

Recent French statistics show that while the number of adult criminals increased eleven per cent during the last dozen years, the number between the ages of sixteen and twenty increased twenty-five per cent. In Paris more than half of the criminals arrested are under twenty-one.

Similar tendencies are manifest in England and Germany and this country. American criminologists have repeatedly called attention to the increase of juvenile crime.

Probably a variety of causes operate to produce this result; but in all the countries mentioned, and in ours not least, one of the chief causes is the publication of sensation details of crime. The president of the New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, in his last report, declared that the chief agency in training the young in vice is vicious journalism. The papers which print lurid stories of crime, vividly illustrated, and give elaborate sketches of criminals, lead young readers to imagine that there is something heroic or romantic in a criminal career.

All criminologists agree that indirect suggestion is one of the surest ways of inciting to crime; and an eminent French writer has published a volume on the "Contagion of Murder," in which he traces cases of homicidal insane induced by pictures of assassination.

The regular reader of many modern newspapers might imagine that the world is much worse than it used to be. This would be a mistake. The difference is not only that the newspapers exaggerate, and sometimes invent details of crime, but that the facilities for collecting news are so much better than formerly that every thing is reported. The is no sort of news paper of any day which can be more profoundly shocked than the reported recitation of crime; and no matter how great a capacity for it any of the evil things in the world should not be taken into any home.
—The Youth's Companion.

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

Rev William T. Price, Marlinton, West Virginia. My Dear Sir—"The Pocahontas Times" of last week has been received, and as a great-grandson and namesake of John McNeel, Sr., I take this method of sincerely thanking you for the biographical sketch that you have prepared and published of this man who so terrified and killed. I have ever been taught to hold in this highest esteem.

The knowledge I have of my great-grandfather is purely traditional, but with one link of truth. Him and that one my father, the late Paul McNeel, of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, was personally acquainted. My father left home when I was [illegible] years old when he died,—his death occurring in the year 1825. Paul McNeel was born within sight of his grandfather John's house, in the year 1803. He was consequently 22 years of age at his grandfather's death. There was an intimacy between th s two people, as I have often learned from my father, that was only equaled by the death of the elder McNeel.

Paul McNeel was taken at an early age to live with his grandparents. I have heard him relate an incident, to fix his very earliest recollections of his grand-parents, which was this: His grandmother had given him a piece of wheat-bread and butter, (quite a luxury then), and set the little boy down to eat it. When left alone a large tom-cat came up to divide the bread meal. A fight followed, and the boy threw the cat in the fire where there happened to be a bed of coals. The coals stuck to the cat's fur—the cat ran and screamed until the boy was scared out of his wits. He too ran home as fast as he could. This occurred when Paul McNeel was 6 years old, in the old house in the rear of the Hon M. J. McNeel's present residence.

As I say, Paul McNeel, at a tender age, became an inmate of his grandparents home, and to a great degree received his early training from them. The death of his mother, Mrs Rachel McNeel, that occurred in 1818, when he was only 15 years old, rendered his dependence on his grand-parents the more necessary. There is a field belonging to the estate of the late Jacob McNeel that my father has frequently, in passing, pointed out to me which he said his grandfather planted in corn, (they doing the dropping), in May, 1825, and in connexion he told how active of body and sound of mind his grand-father was at eighty, and soon after this the old gentleman was seized with pneumonia and died.

I have related these two incidents—the beginning and ending of the acquaintance of these two people,—to show you how thoroughly I have been taught, both by "legend and lay," to know and revere the character of the venerable pioneer. The exact spots where the "White Pole Church" and the "First Camp" were built have been pointed out to me; and, as you suggest, both should be marked by a slab of the marble which is found in such abundance close by.

Martha Davis, the wife of this gentleman, was a Welch girl,—a Calvinistic Methodist,—born in the year 1742, being therefore three years older than her husband. She survived him five years, being 89 years old at the time of her death. You speak of the death of her child during the absence of her husband to Point Pleasant. Of this I have frequently heard, and that she with her own hands prepared the body of her child and performed the first burial rites ever performed at the McNeel grave-yard.

There was another matter this lady was the first to do, and for which her name deserves to be kept in dear remembrance, and by this latter act to the living generations she has set an example of the highest Christian character, and that was to bring with her to her new mountain home as a part of her dowry, a Bible printed in the Welsh dialect. A noble example! This is the first Bible that there is any record of having ever been brought to the waters of the Greenbrier, and with it the first Welch settler to think about old Bible, there have been many emigrating sonsfolks some died there. If Captain McNeel and Dr Mark Wilson have each sufficiently recovered from their recent sickness, I should like you to call on the Captain and get him to relate to you about the Doctor undertaking to read the Bible to one of his patients, an elderly lady whose affections were more imaginary than real.

Isaac Jordan, a one-armed man, was the first Justice to marry in the McNeel family.

The date found in my copy of the first deed to Paul McNeel is 1824, and not 1825, as you have it. He was then in his 21st year, and now when we now reflect that this was the year succeeding that this was the year succeeding when the Indians had made the most fearful massacre of the white people in most all the Valley counties, and that the country between the Valley of Virginia and the Ohio River was an unbroken wilderness, we wonder at the adventurous spirit of this remarkable man.

Of the traditional history that I have heard of him, the thing that impressed me most of all was his wonderful sincerity of character and strength of purpose in his daily life. This feature of his character had a powerful influence on his associates. Paul McNeel was a member of the same Church with his father, and was a [illegible] years.

And in conclusion will say that during the twenty-seven years it was my pleasure to know my father, I never heard him mention the name of John McNeel, Sr., but with the words of praise upon his lips. And the deep hold that Methodism has built in the Little Levels of Pocahontas for the last hundred years can be explained when I say that the man and woman who built the "White Pole Church" laid the foundation of the Methodist Church; and let us trust that the influence of this humble Christian man and woman will descend from generation to generation, and like the mantle of Elijah prove a blessing on whomsoever it shall fall.

Very truly your friend,
JOHN A. McNEEL.
Cove's Creek, Va., March 1, 1897.

Nil Desperandum.

Do n't despair! Hope on, hope ever, dark and forbidding the clouds above you, if need be, hope against hope, for hopefulness is helping and despair is crushing,—killing. Nil desperandum! let this be thy motto.

There was a large amount of good sense and fine philosophy, yea of Christian practice, in the manner, tone of voice, and action of a clergyman on a disabled vessel, amid a crowd of panic-stricken passengers who had given up all hope of outriding the storm in their ship's shattered condition. Despair was on every face, and all effort for life had ceased. At this supreme moment one man, calm, hopeful, nerved to greater action by the necessities of the case, arose and spoke words of cheer. I am not relating the shipwreck in which the great and blessed Apostle Paul stood forth and helped that crew by his good will and Christian hope. My incident is of modern times.

The clergyman aforesaid continuing his hopeful words to the frightened and endangered people all gathered on the deck and ready to leap into the sea, calmly took his watch out and began to wind it. "he thinks we may be saved; let us work for it!" was the general feeling that like an electric current ran through the circle, and dull despair, flapping his leaden wings, left the space for the buoyant, white-winged dove of hope. And all those people and the ship itself outrode the storm and lived beyond it. "Nil desperandum" had nearly been forgotten. It was the wise, good clergyman who remembered and whispered hope into his fellows.

On term times the instances are numerous wherein a hopeful spirit imparts itself to despairing souls and fills them with new energy for the battle of life. In cases of sudden illness of distressing accidents how blessed it is to find a calm and hopeful friend who can speak cheerily and kindle the fire of hope in the cold, black chamber of despair. Not the least help of a good physician in times of sickness and trouble is the cheerful, hopeful look upon his face and in his voice and manner as he goes to work for the benefit of the suffering. Surely that will reward the faithful, hard working doctor for the manner hopefulness he brings into the chamber of pain and its frequent accompaniment of more or less despair.

Hope is of God and it belongs to heaven. Thanks be to God that in this oft-troubled and storm-racked world it is possible for hope to live and grow and flourish.

A. L. P.

Physical Endurance.

Physical endurance is a quality which varies remarkably with different individuals. The performance of feats of great physical strength depends for the most part on the condition to which the muscles have been brought by previous exercise. The power of endurance, on the other hand, is largely a question of inherited constitution. Persons subjected to the same strain, such as a long walk or a foot race, "play out" at nearly the same stages, the difference in their training and manner of living having been identical.

In every-day life the same thing is observed. Men following a [illegible] form the same work with decidedly differing degrees of ease. It is a matter of common observation that as a workman, a gentleman, or as every-day toiler, he who has quality of physical endurance in greatest measure will excel. The same is true in professional life. Ordinarily it is found that the man who outstrips his fellows has the ability to labor long hours together without exhaustion.

Most men who have been distinguished for great physical endurance have inherited or acquired a state of mind which is doubtless one secret of their ability, namely, freedom from worry. Worry distracts the mind, so that its energies, instead of being concentrated, are divided between two or more trains of thoughts. To the extent of avoiding worry—needless dwelling upon matters that cannot be helped—the power of endurance may be acquired.

Every man's strength has a definite limit, a limit not determined by that of others. His physical endurance may be above the average; it may be below it. He should not go beyond it, whatever it is. Before his physical powers are exhausted, not afterward, he should rest and recuperate. Each individual must of necessity learn his own limits.

The best work is perhaps accomplished by long continued application, but not the point of exhaustion.

Exhaustion may often avoided by changing one work for another, just as difficult, perhaps, but involving another set of faculties.

Mental labor consumes the vital properties of the blood just as muscular labor does, and hence it is as important to avoid exhaustion in mental as in physical employment.

Wonderful as the power of endurance appears to be in certain men, it must be remembered that every one is fettered by the law that rules all organized beings. Life moves in a series of circles, and apart of each circle must be devoted to recuperation. Great powers of endurance are, for the most part, the gifts of a vigorous ancestry, to be used in reason and not abused.—The Youth's Companion.

Substitute for Rubber.

The discovery of a substitute for rubber, which is said, can be produced in large quantities at less than a quarter of the cost of genuine rubber, is announced by a Sonoma county, (Cal.), journal.

The substitute is the product of a tree which grows abundantly in the central part of the state, and was discovered by accident. The tree is tapped near the base, and the sap, which is quite a dark color, is caught in a vessel. After being exposed for a day or two a layer of tough, elastic substance, closely resembling rubber, is formed. If this is taken off another layer will form.

This substance will vulcanize like rubber and, when properly treated, is a perfect substitute for the genuine article. It has been tested by several persons who say it will take the place of rubber for almost any purpose.

A company is being formed to put this new material, which has not been named, on the market. The method of treatment is secret. The discoverer says the supply is inexhaustible.

A CLASSIFY OF "A."—It will hardly do to call the new cabinet a set of jags, under any construction of that phrase. But it will be a [illegible] as well as notable for its Mr's. There are in the list:

1. Sherman.
2. Gage.
3. Long.
4. McKenna.
5. Alger.
6. Wilson.
7. McCook.

General Alger's name suggests an I, but it has the T turned over enough.—The Record, Boston.

The State of Virginia last year pensioned 1,561 ex-Confederates, ranging in sum from $15 to $100.

Now is the time to subscribe.

...and was $20. Horse Had known ...e had traded for ...ar-old from Andy

GEORGE ROARKE.

the sorrel to be sound;—the mare to have the heaves.

THE DEFENSE.

The defendant was not present at the trial in person, a motion for continuance on his part having been lost.

THOMAS COURTNEY.

Had known the mare. Had worked in the woods with her on the same tote-path. Did as good work as any. Knew the horse and had considered him sound until he had tried to trade for him last fall. Noticed a crease on his neck, and Roarke had told him that John Buckley had pronounced his horse to have a bad case of the heaves. Had offered Roarke one of the nicest little sorrel mares in the country and $10 for his horse; considers horse worth $60 or $65. Witness would not price the mare. Did not have any of that kind himself.

KEN COURTNEY.

Had seen the mare at work in the woods on the same beat with himself, and she did as good work as could be done.

HOWARD BIRD.

Had heard conversation between Roarke and Irvine when Roarke wished to rule bargain. Plaintiff had said the mare had a cough, and defendant said that it was true and that he had told plaintiff that when trading.

Counsel for defendant here moved an adjournment of the case until 6 o'clock p. m. to wait for defendant, but not being able to give the Justice any assurance that defendant would be back then, the motion was overruled.

The case was then argued by the attorneys, and the jury returned the verdict as set out above.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urin and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following the use liquor, beer, or wine, and over comes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet both sent free by mail. Mention The Pocahontas Times and send your address to Dr Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

Commissioner's Sale of Valuable Lands.

Pursuant to a decree made in the chancery cause of A. W. Rider's Administrator vs John Rider and others, pending in the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on the 22th day of October, 1896, the undersigned special commissioner will on Tuesday, the 6th day of April, 1897, at the front door of the court house of Pocahontas County, proceed to sell by way of public auction to the highest bidder, the following described real estate, it being a resale of the same in the said suit. The lands of which Abram W. Rider died seized, consisting of two tracts of land containing respectively situated on Allegheny Mountain, near the line of Bath County, and adjoining each farming and timber land. There are on said land a dwelling house and other buildings, it being the property now occupied by D. Rexrode.

167 ACRES AND 23 ACRES,

TERMS OF SALE: Cash.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
Special Commissioner.

State of West Virginia,
Pocahontas County, to wit:

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, do certify that the above named special commissioner has given the bond required of him in the decree under which he is acting.

Given under my hand this 4th day of March, 1897.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

Tutt's Pills Cure All Liver Ills.

A Strong Fortification.
Fortify the body against disease by Tutt's Liver Pills, an absolute cure for sick headache, dyspepsia, sour stomach, malaria, constipation, jaundice, biliousness and all kindred troubles.

"The Fly-Wheel of Life"
Dr. Tutt; Your Liver Pills are the fly-wheel of life. I shall ever be grateful for the accident that brought them to my notice. I feel as if I had a new lease of life.
J. Fairleigh, Platte Cannon, Col.

Tutt's Liver Pills

J. H. CLARK

House and Sign Painter, Hillsboro, W. Va., does his work well. Uses the new discovery for binding White Lead. No Chalking or Scaling.—Give him a trial.

m19 6m

Notice.

We hereby notify all persons not to trespass on our land, by hunting, laying down fences, or in any other way.

NATHAN, SHEARER & CO.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

By virtue of a decree entered in the chancery cause of R. S. Turk, Commissioner, vs. B. M. Yeager, et als., pending in the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, on the 21st day of October, 1896, the undersigned special commissioner will proceed on Tuesday, the 6th day of April, 1897, in front of the court house door of said county to sell publicly to the highest bidder the following tracts of land lying in Pocahontas County, towit:

40 acres lying on the west side of Buffalo Mountain,

80 acres on said Buffalo Mountain,

183 acres and 14 acres lying on Alleghany Mountain, which former ly belonged to William G. Gilkeson and by close by adjoining the old Yeager place on Alleghany Mountain. There are some improvements on these land- which make them quite valuable.

TERMS OF SALE: Cash in hand sufficient to pay cost of suit and sale, and for the residue a credit of six and twelve months, the purchaser to execute bond with approved personal security, bearing interest from date, a lien to be retained as ultimate security.

For further information inquire of R. S. Turk, Stanton, Va.

R. S. TURK,
Special Commissioner.

State of West Virginia, } towit:
County of Pocahontas }

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of the county aforesaid, do certify that the above named commissioner has given the bond required of him in the decree under which he is acting.

Given under my hand this 4th day of March, 1897.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

Commissioner's Sale of Valuable Lands

—IN—

POCAHONTAS COUNTY, W. V.

By virtue of a decree of sale entered on the 23d day of October, 1896, in the chancery cause of R. S. Turk, Special Commissioner, versus John T. McGraw, and others, pending in the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, the undersigned special commissioner will proceed on

TUESDAY, APRIL 6th, 1897,

in front of the court-house door of said county, to sell publicly to the highest bidder the following real estate situated in Pocahontas county, towit:

300 ACRES OF LAND.

Lying on Knapp's Creek in said county, adjoining the lands of William Curry and others, formerly belonging to the estate of William Green, deceased. This land is covered with virgin forests of white-oak, white-pine, and other valuable timber. It is expected to have on it a valuable iron ore. It lies along the bank of Knapp's Creek in such a way that the timber can be easily floated from it to market.

TERMS OF SALE: One-third of the purchase money cash in hand and for the residue bonds with approved personal security will be required, falling due in six and twelve months from day of sale, with interest from date, a lien to be retained as ultimate security.

R. S. TURK,
Special Commissioner.

J. J. C. Pate as. Clerk of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, do certify that the commissioner above named has executed bond as required of him by law.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

RHEUMATISM QUICKLY CURED.

After having been confined to the house for eleven days and paying out $25 in doctor bills without benefit, Mr Frank Dolson, of Sault Ste Marie, Mich., was cured by one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm costing 25 cents and has not since been troubled with that complaint. For sale by druggists.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONTAS COUNTY, }

At rules held in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court for said county on Monday, March 1st, 1897.

A. Barlow ..... Plaintiff
vs.
George W. McDanald, and others ..... Defendants.

The object of this suit is to attach and sell for the debt of the plaintiff the interest of George W. McDanald in that portion of three tracts of land, towit: 1633, 324, and 167 acres in the bill and proceedings described, which said land has been divided by order of court in the chancery cause Hull vs. Hull, and assigned to said McDanald, and which according to that division is 958 acres.

This day came the plaintiff by his attorney, and on his motion and it appearing by affidavit filed, that Mrs Emma P. McDanald, the widow of John A. McDanald, deceased, and their children, whose names are unknown, are non-residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the date of the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
R. S. Turk p. q.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONTAS COUNTY, }

At Rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on Monday, the 1st day of March, 1897.

Davis Wanless, Dora E. Rich (nee Wanless), and Sally Swintzyel (nee Wanless) .... Plaintiffs.
vs.
John F. Wanless, William Wanless and a sister whose name is unknown, heirs at law of Stephen Wanless, deceased; Ralph W. Wanless, Stephen H. Wanless, the unknown heirs of George P. Wanless, deceased, and Margaret E. Wanless, children and heirs at law of Ralph Wanless, deceased; The unknown heirs of William Wanless; the unknown heirs of Betsy M. Hatter, (nee Wanless); the unknown heirs of Lida M. Vires; all the foregoing defendants being heirs at law of a certain James Wanless, deceased; Newton M. Fertig, and Jacob H. Shrader, and all the other unknown heirs of James Wanless, Sr., deceased ..... Defendants

The object of this suit is to have partition of the lands in the bill and proceedings mentioned, of which James Wanless, Sr. died seized and possessed, and which are now in the possession of the said John F. Wanless; and to assign to the plaintiffs their respective interests in said lands, and to this end to take all necessary and proper proceedings.

This day came the plaintiffs by their attorneys, and on their motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed that the said defendants, William Wanless, Margaret E. Wanless, the heirs of George P. Wanless, the unknown heirs of William Wanless, the unknown heirs of Betsie M. Hatter, the unknown heirs of Lida M. Vires, and the unknown sister of said John F. Wanless are non residents of the state of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the date of the first publication hereof, and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
Wm. M. & J. T. McAlister p. q.

C. B SWECKER,
General Auctioneer and Real Estate Agent

Sell Coal, Mineral and Timber Lands Farms and Town Lots a specialty. 15 years in the business. Correspondence solicited. References furnished.

Office—Deanmore, W. Va., or Alexander, W. Va.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

State of West Virginia, } ss.
Pocahontas County, }

At rules held in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court of said county, on the 2nd Monday in March, 1897.

C. P. Kerr and Lee Ervine ..... Plaintiffs.
vs.
Phillip B. Ruder, James Mck. Kerr, Perry A. Tracy, John Tutty, and O. P. Clay ..... Defendants.

The object of this suit is to subject the real estate of the defendant, Phillip B. Ruder, to the payment of the judgments and other liens against said estate.

This day came the plaintiffs by their attorney, and on their motion and it appearing by affidavit filed, that the said O. P. Clay is a non-resident of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the date of the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect his interest in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
R. S. Turk p. q.

The Greatest Medicinal Whiskey the World has Ever Known.

BRADDOCK PURE RYE + + + AND BARLEY MALT.

SMOOTH, SOFT, RICH, RIPE, MELLOW AND CHEMICALLY PURE, A RECOMMENDATION IN ITSELF.

TRY A GALLON AT $2.00

Mail Orders solicited either great or small and receive our personal and prompt attention. Drop us a postal for price list. Don't use inferior goods but mail us your orders; we can save you money and perhaps your health.

JAS CLARK DISTILLING CO., JNO. McQUAIDE Mngr.
Distillers of Braddock Pure Rye, Wholesale and Retail Liquor Dealers.
20 and 22 South New St., Staunton, Va.

Duke! Duke!

HIGH GRADE BICYCLES!

1896 Model.

Frame—long head and wheel base. Made from best cold drawn steel tubing, narrow tread, 28inch wheels, Wood Rims, Nickeled Spokes, M and W. Quick-Repair Tire. All connexions drop forged steel. Ball-bearing to every part; bearings made from the best steel, tempered and ground, dust proof, 6 inch cranks, Rat trap or Rubber Peddles, one-fourth inch Humber Chain with hardened rivets and centers. Drop-forged steel sprockets, T pattern saddle post, Gatford Saddle, 68 inch gear, weight 24 lbs.

Price, $50.00.

1895 Model Duke, 27lbs., Price, $40.00

A full and complete stock of Bicycle Sundries and Repairs, eye lo-meters, Lamps, Bells, &c. Repairing of all kinds a specialty
Send us your broken bicycles and we can make them good as new
RESPECTFULLY,

RONCEVERTE, W VA Eagle AND Ott.

We have a plan by which Farmers can get
TOOL CHESTS FREE
Containing of first-class marks (guaranteed) every trade-Axes, Saws and Planes including everything to repair vehicles, machines or build a house. Every farmer should have one. Write us name of this paper and we will send you full particulars. Farmers Fertilizer & Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.

FURNITURE FACTORY

AND

Furniture Store.

Fine Furniture Made to Order.

STOCK ALWAYS ON HAND.

I am occupying the Tennessey Court house and am prepared to make to order all kinds of Furniture at lower prices than can be obtained elsewhere. Don't be swindled in Furniture but buy from a reliable cabinet maker who works up the native woods.

I can order you furniture from the city at better prices than you can to save your life. Whenever you need anything in my line you will save money by giving me a call.

W. J. Killingsworth.

as Times.

, 1897.

Cyclus.

has troubled ed Sulphur dis purchased the

on the mount has arranged to droves of cattle

ks, both com
g in.

the Inaugura busy hunting
Baltimore. So I ward will come ands. You will
Mr. P. G.

has struck the ad for a week or ed a few of the thing on stilts citizens tried to y with a good fitted on reliable

ndens for cause,
or no changes
th post master.
her officials until t the terms for holders are now

threw a dollar
e—we will make
hey. We are un

You can buy ished granulated or lb; Arbuckle
reen Coffee 15ct.
low. Yours re
SHARP.

surrance compa
A. Gilmore the dgement rendered the June term of
The judgement
$2634.64, and the suit $745.48, di

Plaintiff's costs
dant's costs $202.
paid under the ounded the plain

BURNER, Esq., is e our grateful ac
for a copy of ed "Minneapolis ce," 1857–1896. To his beautiful affair
Minneapolis Board
be seen and read of anything yet
notice in point
y and unique me
ies exquisitely half and the donors.

readers will be lded to learn that n Curry, of Hun
ecently removed to k of influenza, and omparatively com
and bodily vigor.
y held in highest people all over the ense and faithful
al life, unblemished highest breath of e honor and appro
good and faithful cheerfully accorded has been received r A. Barner, now

ongolis, Minneso
to be hungry for e Times, having but ot that there was e earth. He wants be back somewhere
laine and as many as may be in sight

In conclusion he
as been eighteen rt West Virginia to e in this State of there being over by actual count, in
of the land of hard which oft is made the er by far world, and ast to every civilized world. Pillsbury's
he acts even in the
the midnight sun."

BLANTS has schem
llatic prizes, having
, and is now at his ape, in the northern ntry. He now will ongolis, Minneso
ministering, and he
ost aware of the off
so we trust he has
n for the Superin
ureau Hon Collins
g of whom he was
Census of thirteen years, supposed to regard him Whom Nature first
e pleased with the ele
ent of confidence
ust in the fellow
ir work in the fly and to the proportional e manners we must e how he had a se
of gubernatory nomin
ed out for door
ecretary to serve of the Senate and
ve the governorship ors, but Mr. Bob ed that he could ed to be governor
ia, and Mr. Bob
ed to be Senator
ia, and Mr. Bob
ed to be Senator
ia, and Mr. Bob
ed to be Senator

Pocahontas Times.

EDITOR.

...ton, Friday, Mar. 12, 1897.

...ription ONE DOLLAR in ad... If not paid within the year ...ll be charged.

...ed at the post office at Marlin... Va., as second class matter.

...nty Directory

...J. M. McWhorter
...ttorney ... L. M. McClintic
... R. W. Hill
...County Court ... S. L. Brown
...Circuit Court, J. H. Patterson
...or ... J. H. Buzzard

...Amos Barlow
...ers, Co. Ct. { C. E. Beard
... J. B. Warwick
...ner ... George Baxter
...r ... George P. Moore

...RD OF HEALTH—Dr. J. W. ...L. M. McClintic, M. J. Mc... S. W. Hill.

...TICES—Uriah Bird, Martin ... C. L. Gatewood, Dogwood ... Arbogast, Green Rank; W. ...ers, Huntersville; G. R. Cur... Sidney; T. A. Bruffey, Le...

...E COURTS.

...CUIT COURT convenes on the ...Monday in April, third Tues... June, and third Tuesday in ...er.

...NTY COURT convenes on the ...Tuesday in January, March, ...e, and second Tuesday in ...July is levy term.

...siness Rules.

...n a subscriber orders his ...discontinued he is, of course, ...ed at the same time to pay ...arrearages.

...attention will be paid to ...mous communications. You ...ot sign your real name, but ...ld always accompany your ...unication.

...ll job work our terms are ...cept in cases of merchants ...here with whom we have ...g accounts.

LAW CARDS.

...M'NEILL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

...practice in the Courts of Poca... and adjoining counties and in ...rt of Appeals of the State of ...rginia.

...McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

...practice in the Courts of Poca... and adjoining counties and in ...reme Court of Appeals.

...RUCKER,
AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
...CENTERVILLE, W. VA.

...practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme ...t of Appeals.

...ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
...LEWISBURG, W. VA.

...practice in the courts of Green... and Pocahontas counties. Prompt ...ion given to claims for collection ...Greenbrier county.

...BEATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

...ful and careful attention given ...egal business.

...NEW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
MARLINTON, W. VA.

...be found at Times Office.

...B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

...egal business "will receive prompt ...

...LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
...CENTERVILLE, W. VA.

...ful and careful attention given ...ll work.

...YSICIANS' CARDS

...J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

...from Pocahontas County at least ...a year. The exact date of his ...ll appear in this paper.

...H. HEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
...SLATON, W. VA.

...from Pocahontas County every ...and fall. The exact date of ...ll appear in The Times.

...DAVIDSON, M. D.,
...L. D. S. GRADUATE,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

...from Pocahontas County every ...and fall. The exact date of ...ll appear in The Times.

...A. T. McNEEL, M. D.,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

...w Fur Skins
...NTED.
...C. ROSENBERG FUR & HAT CO.
...ne for Home Excursions &...

Poetry.

All Things New.

Old sorrows that sit on the heart's seal... ed gate,
Like sentinels grim and sad,
While out in the night damp, weary and late
The King with a gift divinely great,
Is waiting to make us glad.

Old fears that hang like a changing cloud
Over a sunless day;
Old burdens that keep the spirit bowed,
Old wrongs that rankle and clamor
Shall pass like a dream away.

In the world without and the world within
He maketh the old things new.
The touch of sorrow, the stain of sin
Shall flee from the gate when the King come in.
From the chill night's damp and dew

Anew in heavens the sweet stars shine,
On earth new blossoms spring;
And deep in the life divine,
"Thy will be mine, as will be thine,"
In the song which the new hearts sing.

—The Washington Post.

"Buy my English posies!
Ye that have your own
Buy them for a brother's sake
Overseas alone.
Words to trample underfoot
Flouts his heart shrine—
Bird ye never heeded,
Oh, she calls his dead to him!
Pan and Far our homes are set round
the Seven Seas.
Woe for us if we forget, we that hold by these!
Unto each his mother-teach, bloom,
and bird, and land—
Masters of the Seven Seas; oh, love and understand!"—Kipling.

1 OUT OF EVERY 3

Persons you meet every day,

WILL DIE

OF BRIGHT'S DISEASE

or some trouble of the kidneys, urinary or female organs.

THIS IS STARTLING, BUT IT IS TRUE.

WHAT CAN BE DONE?

In such a serious condition you must secure the best remedy you can find in the market AT ONCE.

There is only one absolutely sure cure for these troubles, and that is

Warner's Safe Cure

"It has stood the test of time."

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONTAS COUNTY, }

At rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on Monday, February 1st, 1897.

Clifton Forge Grocery Company, a corporation under the laws of Virginia ..... Plaintiff.
vs.
C. C. Arbogast, W. B. Ellis & H. ...ts partners trading as W. B. El... & Co., A. Elliott, E. G. Jor... ner and M. H. Witz, partners trading as Elliott, Joyner, & Co.; E. M. Brown, George Blome and George J. Blome, partners trading as George Blome & Son; S. B. Sutton, H. S. Rucker, Charles P. Jones, J. H. Sheary, J. W. Lukins, P. D. Arbogast, C. O. Tracy, Emma A. Tracy, J. Wesley Hevener, Old Dominion Building and Loan Association; and J. Taylor Ellyson and W. A. Beatton, Trustees ..... Defendants

The object of this suit is to subject the land of the defendant C. C. Arbogast, lying near Green Bank, to Pocahontas County, W. Va., being 161 acres, more or less, to the payment of the lease thereon, and for general relief. This day came the plaintiff by its attorney, and on his motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed that the defendants, the Old Dominion Building and Loan Association, J. Taylor Ellyson, Trustee, and C. P. Jones, are non-residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the date of the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTESON, Clerk.
H. S. Rucker, p. q. 6

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had children, she gave them Castoria.

R·I·P·A·N·S

SERMONETTE.

So then, faith comes by hearing, and hearing by the word of God.—ROMANS x. 17.

WHOEVER reads understandingly this tenth chapter of Romans, and learns the Apostle's opinion about faith will attain the knowledge that makes wise unto eternal life. Our blessed Savior positively declared that only those who hear and understand are savingly benefitted by the Word. (See Mathew xiii. 23.)

We are also assured that without faith it is impossible to please God. (Hebrews xi. 6.)

Hence it is that so much importance is attached to faith, and religious teachers lay out their strength in books, sermons, and personal conversation trying to explain what faith is; and after all their millions of explanations they turn out to be explanations that do not explain. These explanations of what faith is are about as useful in helping one to see what faith is as clouds and mists are helpful in helping us to see what the sky is. In looking at the clouds and mists we look towards the sky but do not see the sky; so in listening to efforts trying to explain what faith is we may have our attention drawn as it were in the direction of the thing talked about but we do not see it or realize what it is.

Instead, then, of wasting words, and trifling away time, and inducing serious people to attempt an impossibility and be discouraged by failure, or deluded by a phantom, the writer of the text teaches us how faith comes and how it is to be obtained in the fulness of its blessed results.

The first thing to be done by those who want saving faith and desire to have Scriptural evidences of a saving state of grace is to hear God's word. That is become informed in the teachings of the Old and New Testaments. Find out by all the means in our power by reading regularly and prayerfully and hearing evangelical preaching, and conversing with those who are familiar with the Bible for information—not for sake of argument or disputation, but to really know what God would have us do—how he would have us conduct ourselves towards Him and towards our fellow-beings, and what kind of characters we should strive to have ourselves to be.

In our attempts thus to hear God's word faith will come, and when faith comes we will be fully convinced that the best way to live in this world will be to live, be, and do what Christ would have us to be and do.

We will see when faith comes that Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that ...lieveth. We will also learn that it is our privilege to begin where Christ left off—at the cross.

Seeing matters in this new light then we confess with our mouths the Lord Jesus, and believe with our hearts that God has raised him from the dead. Thousands of instances have been known where persons having the faith referred to in the text could not be kept away from Christ. They would be threatened with imprisonment, with death by grievous tortures at the stake or on the rack; still they would confess with their mouths the Lord Jesus, and had no doubts about his resurrection from the dead, for the assurance was that such should be saved, and whosoever (such as they) should call on the name of the Lord should be saved, beyond all question. For with the heart man believes unto righteousness and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation.

A very touching account comes down from ancient times of a young Christian woman who had made the teachings of this chapter her prayerful study. When her faith came and she had shown it by confessing with her mouth the Lord Jesus, and had no doubts of his resurrection by the power of God from the dead, her friends used every effort to prevent her from being a Christian. Her husband plead with her, her aged father wept when he begged her to deny Christ, but she remained firm in her confession to fear and die in the faith that had come by hearing, and the hearing that came by the Word of God.

She was taken to the stake to be torn and devoured by hungry lions. Thousands of spectators were in the galleries. The roaring of the hungry beasts could be heard and by measure for fear. It was rendered to make one more effort to turn her away from her faith in Christ. Her little boy, two years old, was placed in her arms. The little boy tried to call her his mother, she pressed him to her heart. She was assured if she would renounce her faith in Christ she would be spared to her little child.

"Oh, my precious darling, none can tell how much I love you; but I love my Savior more, and cannot deny him or give up my hope in his precious blood."

The little boy was carried away, the raging beasts were unchained, and the guardian angels led her spirit away to paradise.

This is the victory that overcomes the world, even the faith that comes by hearing. May such a faith be ours, and may none of us, dear friends, ever rest contented with anything less. The faith that leads us to love God with all the heart, the soul, the mind, and strength, and our neighbor as ourselves. SENEX.

March 9, 1897.

Uncle Oatcake Explains.

"Say, Uncle Oatcake," said the little boy who was staying at the farm, "what makes you go to bed now?"

The time was 8:15 on a winter's evning, and Farmer Oatcake, according to his life-long custom, having wound the kitchen clock, thrown the cat into a snow drift and read a chapter from Hezekiah, was preparing to go to bed, says Truth.

"What makes me go to bed now"? repeated the agriculturist in blank amazement. "Why so I can get up early."

"But, uncle, now that there is no work on the farm, what is there to do so early?"

"Glad bless the boy!" said Farmer Oatcake. "Do? Why light the fires, to be sure."

"But what do you want the fires for so early?"

"Har, har!" laughed the farmer. "Well, now, do n't that beat all? Ef you do n't have no fire, how are you going to git breakfast?"

"But, uncle," persisted the boy, "what's the good of having breakfast so early?"

"The good of it!" cried Uncle Oatcake. "By gosh, sonny, of you was to get up at four on a winter's morning, you would n't want to be kept waitin' round for your breakfast! No, sirree!"

"But you said you only got up to light the fires?"

"That's it," assented the farmer. "And you only light the fire so as to get breakfast?"

"That's right."

"And you only get breakfast because you are up so early? Aren't you arguing in a circle?"

"Are n't I which?" said the farmer.

"Arguing in a circle—a vicious circle?"

"See here, bub," said Uncle Oatcake sternly, "I've been working hard on this place for nigh forty year and, by gum, I ain't going to have a young whippersnapper like you telling me my life's vicious. I git up because I've got to git up, and do n't let me hear no more of your dumned fool questions!"

Saying which, Farmer Oatcake took down his bootjack from its hook and retired.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of catarrh that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, Ohio.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions, and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.
WEST & TRAUX, Wholesale druggists, Toledo, O.
WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and the mucous surfaces of the system. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by druggists. Testimonials free.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

THE ODELL TYPE WRITER.

$20 will buy the ODELL TYPE WRITER with 78 characters, writes as rapid as the best and does as good work as any machine made.

It occupies SIMPLICITY WITH DURABILITY, SPEED, EASE OF OPERATION, wears longer without cost of repairs, does any other machine. May be sold on easy terms, by operator. It is VISIBLE, INTERCHANGEABLE, nickel-plated, perfect and is adapted to all kinds of writing, from a personal letter to a manifold, from a printing office to a ...pondence, sharp, clear, legible manuscripts. Two or ten copies can be made at one writing. Any intelligent person can learn to operate it in two hours. Send for illustrated catalogue and testimonials. Reliable Agents and Salesmen want... ed. For Complete giving Indorsements, etc., address

ODELL TYPE WRITER CO.
253-264 Jackson St. CHICAGO, ILL.
Mention this paper.

Lightning Hot Drops—
What a Funny Name!
They Trick, but it Kills All Pain.
Sure Everywhere Every Day—
Without Relief, There is No Pay.

MEDICAL WISDOM.

THE DREADED CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

T. A. Slocum, M. C., the great Chemist and Scientist, Offers to Send Free, to Afflicted, Three Bottles of His Newly-Discovered Remedies to Cure Consumption and ...ll Lung Troubles.

Nothing could be fairer, more philanthropic or carry more joy in its wake than the offer of T. A. Slocum, M. C., of 183 Pearl street New York City.

Confident that he has discovered an absolute cure for consumption and all pulmonary complaints, and to make its great merits known, he will send, free, three bottles, to any reader of the POCAHONTAS TIMES, who is suffering from chest, bronchial, throat and lung troubles or consumption.

Already this "new scientific course of medicine" has permanently cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases.

The Doctor considers it his religious duty—a duty which he owes to humanity—to donate his infallible cure.

Offered freely, apart from its inherent strength, is enough to commend it, and more so is the perfect confidence of the great chemist making the proposition.

He has proved consumption to be a curable disease beyond any doubt.

There will be no mistake in sending—the mistake will be in overlooking the generous invitation. He has on file in his American and European laboratories testimonials of cures from those cured, in all parts of the world.

Days and nights. Address T. A. Slocum, M. C., 183, Pearl street New York, and when writing to the Doctor, please give express and postoffice address, and mention reading this article in The POCAHONTAS TIMES.

MARLINTON HOUSE.

Located East End of Bridge.

Terms.
per day - 1.00 & 1.50
per meal - - - 25

Good accommodations for horses at 25 cents per feed.

Special rates made by the week or month.

C. A. YEAGER, Proprietor.

Lee Military Academy.

Spring term of 18 weeks begins February 1st. Pupils can enter any time. A first class school for boys. Prepares for college or business. Thorough academic, preparatory and business courses.

Located in a fine grove. Best christian influences, no saloons, no distractions.

Tuition, $50 and $35. Board from $10 to $15 per month.

JAMES M. LEE, Principal.

Lewisburg, W. Va.

Old Dominion Building & Loan Association.

—OF—

Richmond, - - Virginia.

J. TAYLOR ELLYSON, President.
E. A. BARBER, Treasurer.
DIRECTORS.
J. Taylor Ellyson, Norman V. Randolph, John B. Purcell, John S. Ellett, Frank T. Sutton.

Authorized Capital..... $20,000,000.
Subscribed Capital..... 5,000,000.
Paid Up Cash Capital..... 1,500,000.
Assets..... 2,000,000.

Depository—State Bank of Virginia. Investment stocks cost $1.00 per share membership fee, and 60 cents per month afterwards—withdrawable after twelve monthly payments, and sooner in event of the death of the stockholder.

E. A. YEAGER, Agent.
MARLINTON, W. VA.

SPECIAL POTATO FERTILIZER and High Grade General Phosphates made from

VEGETABLE and ANIMAL MATTER.

Every farmer should write for prices, terms, and circulars.

AMERICAN REDUCTION CO., Pittsburg, Pa.

FEED, LIVERY —AND— SALE STABLES.

First-Rate Teams and Saddle-Horses Provided.

Horses for Sale and Hire.

SPECIAL ACCOMODATIONS FOR STALLIONS.

A limited number of Horses boarded.

All persons having horses to trade are invited to call. Young horses broke to ride or work.

J. H. G. WILSON,
Marlinton, W. Va.

Farmers' Home Fire Insurance Co., of West Virginia.

J. M. SYDENSTRICKER ..... President.
H. P. BITTINGER ..... Sec'y & Treas.

INCORPORATED.

By the People and for the People. For Isolated Property only. No Salaried Officers to Support. No capitalists to Lynch. No Loss, no Kicks. Rates low. Best Risks only. Insurance at cost. Dividends annually. Settlement of all Losses. Cost less than one fifth of what is paid by stock companies for like protection on same property. Its most successful operation is in the hands of the adjoining States. Thousands now insured in Farmers.

T. L. REYNOLDS FOR SCOTT, agents Lewisburg, W. Va.

Scientific American Agency for PATENTS

TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

Scientific American

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY,
Boston, Mass.

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

Simms & Co.,

RONCEVERTE, W. VA.

Silver Steel Plow, Syracuse Chilled Plows, Imperial Chilled Plows.

PLOW REPARS OF ALL KNDS AT

LOWEST PRICES EVER OFFERED HERE

RED WARRIOR POLL AXES 65c
GREENBRIER " " 60c
CHAMPION " " 50c

4 No. 2 Horse-shoes for 15c | 4 No. 3 Horse-shoes 18c
4 No. 4 " " 25c | 4 No. 5 " 16c

COOK-STOVES OF ALL KINDS

1 doz. 8x10 Window Glass 35c | Beres Grindstone 1 1-4cth
Paints, Oils, Varnishes, etc.

Our goods are all first class, no shoddy or job-lots, or damaged goods. Strike us for prices before you buy.

Simms & Co.,
Opposite Passenger Depot. Ronceverte, W. Va.

$5.00 LOOK MOTHERS A RARE TREAT FOR YOU ALL. $2.76
Boys Sampson Suit, with Extra Pair of Pants, for
AND WE PAY EXPRESS CHARGES TO YOUR DOOR.
REMEMBER, you can direct from one of the largest Wholesale Clothing Manufacturers in America.

FREE TO EVERYBODY

E. ROSENBURGER & CO., 204 & 1024 N. New York C

$3,400.00 CASH AND PRIZES GIVEN FREE EACH MONTH FOR Sunlight SOAP WRAPPERS

As follows:

4 First Prizes, each of $100 Gold ..... $ 400.00
20 Second " " 25 " " 500.00
25 Third " " 10 " " 250.00
Cash Prizes given each month $1,150.00

Total given during 12 mos. 1897, $40,800.00

HOW TO OBTAIN THEM.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 14, NO. 33 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, MARCH 26, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

$3,400.00 CASH AND PRIZES GIVEN FREE EACH MONTH FOR Sunlight SOAP WRAPPERS

As follows:

4 First Prizes, each of $100 Cash . . $ 400.00
20 Second " " " $100 Gold Watches . 2,000.00
40 Third " " " $25 Gold Watches . 1,000.00
Cash and Prizes given each month . . $3,400.00
Total given during 12 mos. 1897, $40,800.00

HOW TO OBTAIN THEM.

RULES.

1. Every month during 1897 in each of the 4 districts named below we will give away in prizes as follows:

2. Competitor who sends in the largest number of Sunlight Soap Wrappers from his district by which they are counted, will receive the First Prize.

3. Competitor who sends in the next largest number of wrappers from his district will receive the Second Prize, and so on to the end of the list.

4. In case of a tie, each tying competitor will receive the full amount of the prize tied for.

5. A printed list of Winners in Competitor's district will be mailed to each winner in that district, as soon as the awards of Lever Bros., Ltd., are made.

6. Lever Brothers, Ltd., will endeavor to award the prizes fairly to the best of their ability and judgment, and their decision upon all points connected with the competition is to be accepted as final.

LEVER BROS., Ltd., New York.

1897. THE SUN. 1897

BALTIMORE, MD.

THE PAPER FOR THE PEOPLE, FOR THE PEOPLE AND WITH THE PEOPLE.

HONEST IN MOTIVE.
FEARLESS IN EXPRESSION.
SOUND IN PRINCIPLE.
UNSWERVING IN ITS ALLEGIANCE TO REPUBLICAN AND DEMOCRATIC RIGHT PRINCIPLES.

The Sun publishes all the news all the time, but it does not allow its columns to be degraded by unclean, immoral, or merely sensational matter.

Editorially, The Sun is the consistent and unchanging champion and defender of popular rights and interests against political machines and monopolies of every character. Independent in all things, extreme in none. It is for good laws, good government and good order.

By mail Fifty Cents a month, Six Dollars a year.

The Baltimore Weekly Sun.

The Weekly Sun publishes all the news of each week, giving complete accounts of all events of interest throughout the world. As an AGRICULTURAL paper The Weekly Sun is unsurpassed. It is edited by practical farmers, and what farmers want in an agricultural journal. It contains regular reports of the work of the DEPARTMENTAL experiment stations throughout the country, of the proceedings of farmer's clubs and institutes, and of discussions of new methods and ideas in agriculture. Its Markets Reports, Poultry Department, and Veterinary column are particularly valuable to consumers. Every issue contains Stories, Poems, Household and Puzzle Columns, a variety of interesting and instructive selected matter, and other features, which make it a welcome visitor in city and country homes alike.

One dollar a year. Inducements for getting up clubs for the Weekly Sun. Both the Daily and Weekly Sun mailed free of postage in the United States, Canada and Mexico. Specimens invariably in advance. Address,

A. S. ABELL COMPANY,
Publishers and Proprietors,
Baltimore, Md.

J. H. CLARK

House and Sign Painter, Hillsboro, W. Va., does his work well. Uses the new discovery for binding White Lead. No Chalking or Scaling.—Give him a trial.

m19 6m

R·I·P·A·N·S

Packed Without Chaser. TEN FOR FIVE CENTS.

Scientific American Agency for PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Weekly, $3 a year; $1.50 six months. Specimen copies and HAND BOOK ON PATENTS sent free. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

SPECIAL POTATO FERTILIZER

and High Grade General Phosphates made from

VEGETABLE and ANIMAL MATTER.

Every farmer should write for prices, terms and circulars.

AMERICAN REDUCTION CO., Pittsburg, Pa.

Old Dominion Building & Loan Association.

Richmond, Virginia.

J. TAYLOR ELLYSON, President.
L. A. HARDEE, Treasurer.

J. Taylor Ellyson, Norman V. Sanpsh, John B. Purcell, John S. Ellett, Frank T. Sutton.

Authorized Capital $10,000,000
Subscribed Capital 1,500,000
Paid Up Cash Capital 1,000,000
Assets 3,000,000

Depository: State Bank of Virginia. Investment stocks and all per cent. withdrawable at any time. Loans made on improved real estate security payable by monthly payments, and money in event of death of the borrower.

H. A. HARDEE, Agent.

MARLINTON, W. VA.

Farmers' Home Fire Insurance Co. of West Virginia

J. M. GUSSELMAN, M.D., President.
S. T. MOTHERSHEAD, Sec'y & Treas.

DIRECTORS:

J. M. Gusselman, M.D., S. T. Mothershead, Jas. Sharp, Jr., Jno. Hamilton, Jno. Hamilton, Jr., Jno. Sharp, Sr., Jno. Sharp, Jr., Jno. Sharp, Jr., Jno. Sharp, J

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, Mar 26, 1897.

Subscription ONE DOLLAR in advance. If not paid within the year $1.50 will be charged.

Entered at the post office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

THE Supreme Court has decided that a debtor is responsible if he pays money to a drummer for the house which the drummer represents as salesman, unless such salesman can show authority to act as collector.

THE recent stand taken by King George to defend the Christians of Crete against Turkish persecution looks as if nearly all Europe may be soon involved in war. Should this be the result, the Chicago Tribune is of the opinion that Russian shipments of wheat are sure to cease. Owing to southern Russia being the main competitor with America in the wheat traffic of western Europe this means very much to the American farmer. With Russia out of the market, American wheat must be in greater demand than for years past and if King George is not suppressed too soon a remarkable advance in wheat and wheat products may be expected. So while war is to be deplored, yet if western Europe is thus brought to depend entirely on American farmers for wheat their prospects will be better than they have been since the decline for twenty years past in farm products has been going on, and it is to be hoped during this possible spurt in prosperity farmers may free themselves from the shackles of debt and be free men.

MANY of our readers have no doubt noticed that much has been said about the Japanese changing from their silver basis to the gold basis in their national financial policy. Advices from the Japanese Legation at Washington are to the effect this has not yet been accomplished; that simply a resolution to that end has been introduced in the Japanese Congress, so to speak, and very grave doubts are expressed that it will not be [illegible] Japanese bankers, however, will do all in their power to have the basis changed so that the currency may be contracted and come within their power to manage, and place it where, in their opinion, the money will do the most good by making the poor Japanese poorer and the rich Japanese richer. The Japanese bankers seemed to have caught on and are close after financiers well known to our people who have already put the money of their fellow citizens where in their wisdom they are certain it has done and is doing the most good.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

Mr McKinley regrets the necessity of calling Congress together, but the expenditure of the government is more than is received, and we are increasing the public debt with unlimited means at hand. The fiscal year ending June 30 1895, showed revenues to the amount of $425,868,220 22 with expenditures of $415,953,000 56 leaving an excess of $9,914,459 66. The expenditures included $40,379,467 98 paid to reduce the public debt. After various issuing of bonds, the fiscal year ending June 30, 1895, showed a revenue of $390,273,736 30 and an expenditure of $433,678,426 40, a deficit of $42,906,259 10. A further loan of $100,000,000 was negotiated, the aggregate of bond issues in three years being $262,315,409, yet I am all sources the government lacked in those years $25,316,245 70 of meeting its expenses. The condition has not improved the past year. Besides the annual interest has increased on the public debt $11,487,414 6.

He recommends that a tariff measure be immediately passed to raise a sufficient revenue not only for the ordinary expenses of government but for the interest payment of promises and the extinguishment of the national debt. In raising such a revenue the duties laid upon foreign products will preserve the home markets, protect and increase manufactures, enhance and encourage agriculture, increase our domestic and foreign commerce, and add greatly to our shipbuilding, and render to labor in every field liberal wages and adequate rewards for skill and industry are justly entitled.

THE PRIZE-FIGHT.

"Cæsar had his Brutus, and Corbett had Fitz" will be the way the quotation may read hereafter. That great event, a finished fight to a finish, between representatives of England and America for the "Championship of the World," has taken place, and the hardy Australian, Fitzsimmons, won the belt. While it was brutal, and a disgrace to those who were engaged in it, directly or indirectly, besides being wrong to fight so; it does not worry us, for there are so many things wrong in this world that this exhibition of physical prowess pales in comparison to them. To those who have a taste for fighting we would say, indulge it when you find one of your kind. Just because we milder mannered people have a natural repugnance to being hurt, we should not debar others of that privilege. The Mosaic law regarded it as a matter of course that men should strive together,

The controversy was after this manner. Corbett (who was once a gentleman) made a fine appearance as a perfectly formed athlete. He had practiced boxing and sparring until he could hit his ungainly opponent whenever he chose, but apparently Fitzsimmons did not mind being hit in such a scientific manner, and tho his face was bloody and his mouth bleeding inwardly, he was choking with blood, he continued to fight.

A Mule was once abused by his Owner for Twenty Years, and the Mule waited, until one Day his Hind Foot Went Off and Killed the Man in his Stomach. That is what happened to Corbett. He had the best of it for fourteen rounds and then Fitzsimmons hit him in the stomach and Corbett could not rally in the ten seconds given him. Nobody but Fitzsimmons knew that the fatal blow had been given, and even before Corbett showed signs of it he turned on his audience with a fearsome grin distorting his bloody face, and with a buffoon gesture of that long arm of his seemed to claim the fight. In a moment Corbett had fallen.

"And the great lord of Luna
Fell at that deadly stroke,
As falls on Mount Avernus
A thunder-smitten oak.
Far o'er the crashing forest
The giant arms lie spread,
And the pale augurs, murmuring
Gaze on the blasted head."[low.

One of the characteristics of the days now being numbered by us is the tendency to criticise the Bible and construe it on new lines of illustration. Cogent arguments by ministers of the gospel and teachers in theological schools are jeeringly put aside as mere professional efforts and cunningly-devised special pleadings by interested parties. Some of the foremost persons of the period—statesmen and jurists—are lecturing on the Bible with fine effect. In our country Hon John W. Foster, a few years since Secretary of State, is lecturing in reply to the recent attacks upon the Bible. He reads in his lectures Dr Clifford's beautiful lines, which some of our younger readers would do well to memorize and repeat when opportunity offers, or repeat when hearing anvils ring.

"Last eve I paused beside a blacksmith's door,
And heard the anvil ring the vesper chime;
Then looking in I saw upon the floor
Old horseshoes worn with long service of time.

"How many sevils have you had," said I,
"To wear and batter all these hoofs so?"
"Seven," said he, then said with twinkling eye,
"The sevil wears the hammers out you know."

"And so I thought the anvil of God's word
For ages skeptic blows have beat upon;
Yet tho the noise of falling blows was heard
The anvil is unharmed—the hammers gone."

A RECENT incident is related in connection with the taking of the official oath by the recently inaugurated President of the United States. The Bible was opened at the first chapter of the Book of Chronicles. The President pressed his lips to the 10th verse of the first chapter.

"Give me just wisdom and knowledge that I may go out and come in before this people, for who can judge this thy people that is so great?"

On the Sabbath following he attended church, and the first hymn sung began with the words:

"Wisdom, tell me of the might,
What the signs of greatness are."

Now is the time to subscribe!

LONGFELLOW.

As the writings of the great American Poet is the announced topic for the next assembly of the Marlinton Literary Association, the following may interest our readers:

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, one of the most eminent of the American poets, was a native of Portland, Maine, born in 1807. Upon completing his collegiate course, he spent several years in Europe attending lectures in famous universities and visiting places of historic interest. The remainder of his life was spent as a teacher in colleges and universities. "Hiawatha" is one of his numerous books, and every young person in Pocahontas ought to read it to enable them to realize what beauty the poet could see in mountains and forests and streams, and what pleasure refined and cultured minds can derive from their presence. For moral uses, "The Ladder of St Augustine" is one of the poet's best. In it are the stanzas:

"The heights by great men reached and kept
Were not attained by sudden flight,
But they while their companions slept
Were toiling upward in the night.

"Standing on what too long we bore,
With shoulders bent and dim-eyed eyes,
We may discern—unseen before—
A path to higher destinies.

"Nor deem the irrevocable past
As wholly wasted, wholly vain,
If, rising on the wreck, at last
To something nobler we attain."

Passing of Wilson.

New York Press: The old man took the hand of Herald's Tariff Child in his, and, all unwitting of his whereabouts, dozed away into the past. The fall of Grover the Gruff, the silence of Billy the Boy on Free Wool and Beet Sugar, the perverse ingratitude of the Second West Virginia district, which had retired him first to the mail sack and thence to the stuffbacked chair of a cross-roads college presidency, were forgot.

He saw the lights of the London banquet hall shine. He felt strong men lifting him to their shoulders as they bore him in triumph about the arena of debate. He heard, and his eyes filled, the bird music of the Fifty-third Congress, the cuckoos' transeful call. Once his nostrils dilated, his chest expanded, his shoulders squared themselves, as he cried out to the terror of the wondering Child: "Vast and voluminous schemes of class taxation." In that one moment had he in fancy stood with his good Ways and Means about him, and given the word like a captain and company of lanzknechts over the ruin of the burgher's loaded wains. His eye gleamed once in stern joy over the imagined cries for mercy of the wretched merchant folk. Then it glazed. Once he shuddered, and then the spirit of the last of Free-Trade tariff tinkers fled forth to join those of Springer in the Indian Territory and Mills in the violent ward of the United States Senate.

And the Herald's Tariff Child was left sobbing, solitary in a great lone, Protectionist land.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kidney remedy fulfils every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following the use liquor, wine, or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet both sent free by mail. Mention this paper when writing Dr Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

For Sale.

I wish to sell my property in Hunterville, which I bought of C. F. Moore. I will sell the house now occupied by R. Moore, and the wood land known as "Hickory Hollow."

I also offer about one thousand acres of land on Allegheny mountain, including the lands of H. G. Davis and J. H. Patterson, near Slaty Hill and about three miles from Dunmore. Known as the "Money Tree." Upon which there is from one to two hundred thousand feet of timber, principally spruce, which is now standing and well watered.

I offer for sale another tract of land of 60 acres, adjoining Harry Sutherlin's land and others. Upon which there is a hundred thousand feet of pine and the same amount of red [illegible]

R. S. TURK.

Obituary.

Miss Blanch McLaughlin, aged 17 years, daughter of the late "soldier" James McLaughlin, died near Driftwood March 17th, of pulmonary affection.

"When blooming youth is snatched away
By death's resistless hand,
Our heart's the mournful tribute pay
Which pity must demand."

The Highland Recorder has a long and touching tribute to the memory of John Marvin Jones, the little son of Hon C. P. and Mrs Mattie W. Jones. Marvin was one of ten children. He was born January 10th, 1891, became sick on his birthday this year, and died March 10, 1897, aged 6 years.

"Loveliest of lovely things are they
On earth, that soonest pass away;
The rose that lives its little hour
Is prized above the sculptured flower."

CHURCH NOTES.

The New Hope union Sunday-school will be reorganized on the first Sunday in April at 2 p. m. All are invited to come and join.

Very respectfully,
L. W. HEROLD,
H. LEE WHITE.

DURING the year 1895, fifty-eight white couples were married in Pocahontas County, and two couples of negroes. The ages were as follows:

		Males	Females
No. under 20		..	18
" over 20	under 25	20	22
" " 25	" 30	19	12
" " 30	" 35	10	5
" " 35	" 40	8	3
" " 40	" 45	2	..
" " 45	" 50	1	..
		..	..
		60	60

RHEUMATISM QUICKLY CURED.

After having been confined to the house for eleven days and paying out $25 in doctor bills without benefit, Mr Frank Delson, of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., was cured by one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm costing 25 cents and has not since been troubled with that complaint. For sale by druggists.

Reward! Reward! Reward!

You can HEAR A MUSIC-box for a dollar in part one years. We can save you two this year. We do n't beg for trade—we get it through our low prices.

NEW CUSTOMERS flock to us as soon as they hear of our bargains. If it pays others so well to buy from us, why should n't it pay you?

We make our money not by BEING CLOSE, but by SELLING CLOSE. Whatever you buy from us you will find our prices right.

We Don't Want the Earth!

Only just enough Profit to live on.

How MUCH?

WILL YOU SAVE IN A YEAR BY BUYING FROM 15 TO 35 PER CENT CHEAPER than ELSEWHERE?

WE have our Store Chock full of Bargains. Come one and all, and we will do the best we can to please you.

Yours for Business,
L. D. SHARP
Linwood W Va.

Commissioner's Sale of Valuable Lands.

Pursuant to a decree made in the chancery cause of A. W. Rider's Administrator vs John Rider and others, pending in the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on the 22th day of October, 1896, the undersigned special commissioner will on Tuesday, the 6th day of April, 1897, at the front door of the court house of Pocahontas county, proceed to sell by way of public auction to the highest bidder, the following described real estate, after having a resale of the same in the said suit. The lands of which Abram W. Rider died seized, consisting of two tracts of land containing as follows:

163 ACRES AND 32 ACRES,

situated on Allegheny Mountain, near the line of Bath County, and containing in the lumbering and farming land. There are on said land a dwelling house and other buildings, it being the property now occupied by H. H. Rexrode.

TERMS OF SALE: Cash.

L. H. McCLINTIC,
Special Commissioner.

State of West Virginia, }
County of Pocahontas, } to wit:

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, do certify that the above named special commissioner has executed bond as required by said decree.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

Tutt's Pills Cure All Liver Ills.

Perfect Health.

Keep the system in perfect order by the occasional use of Tutt's Liver Pills. They regulate the bowels and produce

A Vigorous Body.

For sick headache, malaria, biliousness, constipation and kindred diseases, an absolute cure

TUTT'S Liver PILLS

Musical Association.

The Executive Committee of the Pocahontas County Musical Association will meet at Marlinton at the Court-house, on the first day of Circuit Court, April 6, 1897, at 1 p. m., to select a place to hold a place to hold the next meeting of the Association.

A full attendance of the committee is requested.

JOHN WAUGH, President.

MR WARD L. SMITH, of Fredricktown, Mo., was troubled with chronic diarrhoea for over thirty years. He had become fully satisfied that it was only a question of a short time until he would have to give up. He had been treated by some of the best physicians of Europe and America but got no permanent relief. One day he picked up a paper and chanced to see an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He got a bottle of it, the first dose he got him and its continued use cured him. For sale by druggists.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

By virtue of a decree entered in the chancery cause of R. S. Turk, Commissioner, vs. B. M. Yeager, et als., pending in the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, on the 21st day of October 1896, the undersigned special commissioner will proceed on Tuesday the 6th day of April, 1897, in front of the court house door of said county to sell publicly to the highest bidder the following tracts of land lying in Pocahontas County, towit:

40 acres lying on the west side of Buffalo Mountain,

80 acres on said Buffalo Mountain,

184 acres and 14 acres lying on Cheslogg Mountain, which former and by close to or adjoining the old Yeager place on Allegheny Mountain. There are some improvements on these lands which make them quite valuable.

TERMS OF SALE: Cash in hand sufficient to pay cost of suit and sale, and for the residue a credit of six and twelve months, the purchaser to execute bond with approved personal security, bearing interest from date, a lien to be retained as ultimate security.

For further information inquire of R. S. Turk, Staunton, Va.

R. S. TURK,
Special Commissioner.

State of West Virginia, }
County of Pocahontas, } to wit:

I, J. H. Patterson, clerk of the Circuit Court of the county aforesaid, do certify that the above named commissioner has given the bond required of him in the decree under which he is acting.

Given under my hand this 4th day of March, 1897.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

Commissioner's Sale of Valuable Lands IN POCAHONTAS COUNTY, W. V.

By virtue of a decree of sale entered on the 23d day of October, 1896, in the chancery cause of R. S. Turk, Special Commissioner, versus John T. McGraw, and others, pending in the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, the undersigned special commissioner will proceed on

TUESDAY, APRIL 6th, 1897,

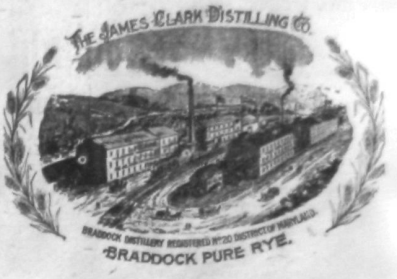
in front of the court-house door of said county, to sell publicly to the highest bidder the following real estate situated in Pocahontas county, towit:

2000 ACRES OF LAND.

Lying on Knapp's Creek in said county, adjoining the lands of Wm. Nate Cary and others, formerly belonging to the estate of William Sharp, deceased. This land is covered with virgin forests, of white-oak, white-pine, and other valuable timber, and is also reported to have on it valuable coal veins. It lies along the bank of Knapp's Creek in such a way that the lumber can be easily floated from it to market.

TERMS OF SALE: One-third of the purchase money cash in hand and for the deferred credits with approved personal security will be required, falling due in six and twelve months from day of sale, with interest from date, a lien to be retained as ultimate security.

R. S. TURK,
Special Commissioner.



I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, do certify that the above named commissioner has executed bond as required by said decree.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

The Greatest Medicinal Whiskey the World has Ever Known.

BRADDOCK PURE RYE AND BARLEY MALT.

SMOOTH, SOFT, RICH, RIPE, MELLOW AND CHEMICALLY PURE, A RECOMMENDATION IN ITSELF.

TRY A GALLON AT $2.00

Mail Orders solicited either great or small and receive our personal and prompt attention. Drop us a postal for price list. Don't use inferior goods but mail us your orders; we can save you money and perhaps your health.

JAS CLARK DISTILLING CO., JNO. McQUAIDE Mngr.

Distillers of Braddock Pure Rye. Wholesale and Retail Liquor Dealers.

20 and 22 South New St., Staunton, Va.

Duke! Duke!

HIGH GRADE BICYCLES!

1896 Model.

Frame long head and wheel base. Made from best cold drawn steel tubing, narrow tread 28inch wheels, Wood Rims, Nickeled Spokes, M and W. Quick-Repair Tire. All connections drop forged steel. Ball bearing to every part; bearings made from the best steel, tempered and ground, dust proof, 6 inch cranks, Rat trap or Rubber Peddles, one-fourth inch Humber forged steel sprockets, T pattern saddle post, Garford Saddle, 68 inch gear, weight 24 lbs.

Price, $50.00.

1895 Model Duke, 27lbs., Price, $40.00

A full and complete Stock of Bicycle Sundries and Repairs, eye to meters, Lamps, Bells, &c. Repairing of all kinds a specialty. Send us your broken bicycles and we can make them good as new

RESPECTFULLY,

RONCEVERTE, W VA Eagle AND Ott.

We have a plan by which Farmers can get TOOL CHESTS FREE

Containing of first-class mortise chisels, firmer chisels, bench axes, framed planes, handled screwdrivers, try squares, spokeshaves, hammers, hatchets, saws, etc., etc., all of the best quality and just what is required for mechanics. Parent Furniture & Chair Stock Co., Baltimore, Md.

FURNITURE FACTORY

AND

Furniture Store.

Fine Furniture Made to Order.

STOCK ALWAYS ON HAND.

I am occupying the Temperance Hall house and am prepared to make to order all kinds of Furniture at lower prices than can be obtained elsewhere. Don't be educated in Yankee ways but buy from a southern manufacturer who works up the native woods.

I can order you furniture from the city of better house than you can have your life. Whenever you need anything in my line you will save money by giving me a call.

W. J. Killingsworth.

The Pocahontas Times.

MARCH 26, 1897.

Local Events.

The town of Elkins had an $80,000 fire,the value which there was little insurance.

You will make no mistake in bringing all your wool to Sol. Davis. He pays 20 cents a pound.

Messrs Holt & Holt, of Academy and Marlinton, had seven wagons at the depot of Roneeverte last week.

WANTED. About thirty head of young cattle to graze on the Warwick place near Edray. Apply to H. L. DOYLE.

A good deal of money changed hands in Marlinton over the recent prize fight. It is estimated that $10,000,000 was bet on the result in the United States.

Your attention is called to the advertisement of Julius Hines & Son, of Baltimore, on this page. Their mammoth catalog is sent free on request.

JAMES ROCK, for more than two years in charge of the McClintic Mill, has resigned his position and gone elsewhere. Hampton Galford is in charge now.

SMITH & WHITING have been particularly fortunate in having had the best of springs to drive their logs to Roneeverte. For fourteen days after leaving Marlinton the river was high enough to furnish driving water.

C. DOUGLAS MCNEILL has two writing classes, one at Buckeye, the second at Marvin. He uses the latest methods of instruction in penmanship and has awakened much enthusiasm among his pupils and good results may be looked for in this useful art.

MRS J. W. BIAIR, who lives at the last house up Greenbrier river, met with a very painful accident at VanBuren Arbogast's place last Monday, by being thrown from a horse. She was found by Mr Arbogast lying in the road in a state of insensibility. She was badly hurt about the head and shoulders.

When one reflects how much depends on the encouragement and success of those who sow the fields, it prompts an earnest desire that the Divine Ruler of the seasons may send prosperity to our farmers by crowning the passing year with his goodness, clothe the pastures with flocks, cover the valleys with corn, and fill the garners with the finest of the wheat.

W. P. VECKAR, of Charleston, the man who, writing under the name of "Arthur Middleton" in the last campaign, maligned Judge Campbell, and other Democratic candidates, has lost his mind and has been adjudged a lunatic. He received an appointment from Governor Atkinson, and the other day he appeared armed with numerous revolvers and took possession of the Governor's office.

THE present month of March is the finest we have ever seen in spite of an unusual amount of rainfall. The roads are fairly good and the grass has started. The buds of a good many plants are swelling. The farmers look upon these signs with distrust, as our Aprils are often cold and disagreeable, and it is believed that there is more of it when March is fair. Alfred Austin, Poet Laureate, has this to say about this time of year:

The crab, the bullace, and the sloe—
They burgeon in the spring.
And when the wind wind starts the snow
The birds begin to sing.
But death's at work in root and root,
He hews the green buds beat,
And when the spring mouse's mate,
He spares the empty nest.
Teach, death,
To ask the master of yard and clown,
Close up the cradle and hammer it down!

"TIP," the subject of this sketch is a well-known dog in the town of Marlinton. His kind is commonly denominated as the "bench-legged fice," but away back in the past Tip had a full blooded Dachshund for a grandfather, and his good blood descended to Tip giving him his long body and short legs. The rest of Tip's blood is just dog. Back in his early puppyhood he is said to have been presented to Mr. L. H. McClintic children by Jack Tip had a heart big enough to take in the whole town, and every householder is willing to offer that Tip spends most of his time with him. The most remarkable thing about this dog is that while he will "square nearly" on intimate terms with the members of the Presbyterian Church he will not associate with the members of the Methodist Church. He avoids his intimate friend when the official board convenes for worship, but if his lawful friends on the street be inconsiderate enough to leave the office and go to church he never fails to follow them in. He appears to be a good dog, except that he is inclined to be quarrelsome and will not allow any other dog to come around when he is eating. He is not a dog fighter, however, and will not fight unless forced to do so. Being of a quiet disposition he never leaves the premises of the owner except he is with a party or on some errand. He would be a valuable dog to have around a store or an office, as he would attract a crowd of boys and would not have himself stolen. He is for sale and has had a number of offers, but will not sell to any one who will not treat him kindly. He is a dog that loves children and is a friend to all.

TRAILING arbutis is in bloom. This is the earliest ever known in this country.

THE recent rains have put the river in fine condition for driving and rafting.

JAS. W. BROWN (Cherry Brown) will remove from Buckhannon to Beverly.

I WENT to see the inauguration, and Mr McKinley told me to pay 20 cents for all the wool I could get. SOL. DAVIS.

ISAAC BARLOW, with his fancy team of greys and a brand-new plow, is doing some extra work in his line of useful industry. Young gentlemen, see the right kind of "advance agents" of true and permanent prosperity.

MISS FANNIE MCNEILL, near Buckeye, has a lock of hair taken from the queue worn by her grandfather, George Coulter. It is more than eighteen inches in length, and of rich auburn hue, and must be nearly a hundred years old.

WE learn from our Greenbrier correspondence that on Saturday night, March 7, while the family were at church, a burglar entered the residence of E. L. Kramer, of Roneeverte, and stole $175 in cash from a bureau drawer.

THERE was a nice concert at Swago last Sabbath afternoon. There are many good voices awaiting development in that vicinity, and how well it would be to have such valuable gifts trained and used in the service of praise.

DR J. M. CUNNINGHAM has purchased the portion of his building owned Mrs M. M. Yeager and will place his office in that part formerly occupied by this paper. He now has a very valuable business property.

THE report is that Capt. Smith has reached Roneeverte with his drive. Materials for Capt Peter's boating camp passed down last week. He had gotten beyond Droop and was making good speed with his drive, according to latest information.

MR H. S. RUCKER, of Huntersville, had some of his Marlinton friends in to dinner last Wednesday. Those present were Mr and Mrs L. M. McClintic, Mr and Mrs Guy Slavin, Mrs O. R. Slavin Mrs S. L. Brown, and S. B. Scott and Andrew Price.

DEPOSITIONS were taken before Commissioner Bratton in the chancery case of William Doyle's Admr vs Elisabeth Doyle's admr. Those present were George N. Tacy John H. Doyle, Gilbert Doyle, Harvey Doyle, Godfrey Geiger, Clark McCloud and James McCloud.

An unusual proceeding was had in the Circuit Court of Tucker County last week. Judge Holt had decided a case adversely to Lawyer A. B. Parsons, and he presented a petition signed by himself and sixty-five others praying that the judgement be set aside. The judge promptly fined Parsons $45, and caused a rule to be issued against the other petitioners for contempt of court.

THE habit of looking at the bright side of things is worth more than a thousand years. Come to the SPRANT STORE, and you can look at both sides of solid gold rings $1.50 to $4.00. Men's suits $3.00 to $8.00. We have a large supply of tobacco from 25c to 35c per lb.; men's coarse shoes 95c to $1.50 per pair. Come one and all and share our bargains.

IF horoscopes were reliable the devil would soon be wearing mourning, but I try to fulfill my promise in a local which appeared in this paper last week thro' mistake. It said tobacco be per pound instead of plug. The tobacco is a bargain at be a plug, but I let some of it go at be per lb to keep my promise, but I take this opertunity to correct the error. P. O.

THE steamer St. Nazaire, sailing from New York to the West Indies, sprung a leak and sank at sea. The crew and passengers, numbering eighty-two, embarked in boats. The smaller boats were soon lost, but the long-boat, in which there were about forty persons, kept afloat one week, and was picked up at last with but four survivors. The rest had succumbed to cold, hunger, and thirst. Some drank the salt water, which so augmented their thirst that they went mad and died.

A TRAGEDY occurred at Parsons last Thursday, in which a prominent lumberman, Colonel B. Kendall, one of Mosby's men, shot and killed Frank E. Thomson, manager of the Blackwater Lumber Company. Both were prominent politicians, Kendall being a candidate for Circuit Judge and Thomson a political leader who was charged with business interests in Tucker County, and the grudge had accented all the previous bad feeling. While waiting for the train at the depot Kendall met Thomson and opened fire with a pistol, killing him instantly. Kendall was arrested by Thomson's brother, who was also shot and killed by Kendall. Kendall was arrested and lodged in Parsons jail, where he now is awaiting trial. Another shot was fired into the crowd by Kendall, which struck Charles Thomson, a brother of the murdered men, in the leg, inflicting a severe wound. Kendall was arrested and put in the lockup at Elkins, but was released on bail. He is a prominent Democrat. The affair has created intense excitement in Tucker county.

PERSONAL.

Mr and Mrs Guy Slavin and Mrs O. R. Slavin left for their home in Kansas, having spent the winter in Pocahontas. Mr O. R. Slavin left for home six weeks ago and did not return, as he had expected, owing to important business. The gentlemen are Pocahontas bred and have done well in the West in the cattle business. They carry in stock about 1500 cattle and have leased and improved a ranch of 7,000 acres. Their ranch, when they first came into possession of it, lacked watering facilities, but by building reservoirs and making cement dams in the streams an abundance of water was secured for the stock at all seasons of the year.

B. M. Yeager is absent.

J. W. Yeager will go to Highland on legal business.

Mr and Mrs Andrew Price went to housekeeping this week in the cottage near the public school house.

Misses Nellie McLaughlin and Mary Gum, of Highland, are visiting Miss Fannie McLaughlin.

Lee McLaughlin, of Lewisburg, passed thro Marlinton on his way to and from Elk, looking after his father's cattle business.

We are sorry to know that Mrs B. M. Yeager has been a great sufferer for the past few weeks, but is some better now.

William Mayse, near Pine Grove, is afflicted by a long and tedious illness, we are sorry to learn.

Messrs T. A. Sydenstricker and Cameron Clark were in Marlinton last week on business.

J. McCloud, of Driftwood, paid this office a visit last week and learned all he could about printing.

J. G. Beard was in Marlinton on important business Tuesday.

Mrs McCoy Malcomb was in Marlinton a few days since and favored this office in a way pleasing to remember.

We learn from the Randolph Enterprise that Miss Constance Forster, of England, has arrived to visit her sister, Mrs James Hebden, of Mingo.

W. B. Hill, a prominent citizen of Lobelia, called at our office Tuesday on his return from a trip to Tucker county, passed the time of day and gave us the news. He had made the trip on horseback by way of the Sinks. We owe several news items to him.

Rev George H. Echols, who has been pastor of the Huntersville Circuit, left to attend Conference, last Wednesday.

Dr J. H. Weymouth, the popular dentist, of Elkins, passed thro Marlinton Tuesday.

Correspondence.

FALLING SPRING, W. VA

To the Editor of THE TIMES:

DEAR SIR.—In your paper week before last, you seem to boast that you saw the President, and that some of us Droop Mountain people had been at the inauguration eight years ago and failed to see him. I, for one, was there, and can say that I certainly saw both the incoming and outgoing President; and, further, I had a good guide and saw considerable of Washington. I must confess that I live on Droop Mountain in the woods, but also there are others in this county who do the same, and the editor not far from some small hills where the familiar voice of the owl is heard.

Please change the address of my paper to Falling Spring.

Respectfully yours,
GEORGE W. WHITING.

BERGOO, W. VA.

J. P. Hamrick, of this place, is out buying cattle this week.

The weather is fine and farmers are busy preparing for their crops.

O. A. Galford went to Cowen this week.

Hannah & Beal, our merchants, are doing a thriving business.

Rumps are on the market and are held by the people of this place to be a necessary perquisite to the development of both body and brain.

W. H. Beal is contemplating a trip to Pocahontas in the near future.

Elk River is on a boom to-day

TOMMIE.

BUCKEYE.

"It's a girl and I don't care who knows it," says Mike Myers.

Joe McNeel, of Academy, was in this part on business last week.

Asa Barlow, of Edray, has been visiting friends in this vicinity.

Oliver Gallaher and wife, of Academy, have been visiting in this section.

Rev. W. T. Price preached a very good sermon to the people of this community last Sunday.

Mrs Columbia Gallaher has been suffering quite from pneumonia, but is some better now.

George Morrison made a trip to Cowen with cattle and potatoes last week.

Marvelous Bostian made a flying trip to Horse Creek on business.

John Young has been breaking in the lumber in the Greenbrier river, where he will raft it to Roneeverte.

REX. BEAM.

DILLEYS MILL.

We have had a great deal of rain but fine weather for farmers, and they seem to be making good use of it; the soil is being turned over in various parts making ready for spring crops. Wheat looks well in this part and should there be no hard freezing nubs for a good crop, which will be much needed, owing to light crop last year.

An interesting Epworth League chapter organized at Mt Zion meets again the 4th of April.

Mr James F. Hively closed his school near Edray Friday and came home Saturday.

Mr John Payne and Miss Nora Kinnison, of Academy, were the guests of Mr Robert Shrader Saturday and Sunday.

In the Frost-Oak Grove football game at Frost, Saturday, Frost won.

Messrs Jimmy McCarty and E. S. Grimes returned from Academy, where they had been attending school.

Mr Howard Bird, of Marlinton, is calling on friends in this place.

Mr Robert Shrader, one of our most enterprising men, has purchased Isaac Gregg's farm.

W. H. Dilley is off to Covington with his second load of apples. There is quite a demand for good apples, of which Mr Dilley has a most excellent assortment.

The sick are convalescing. Miss Blanch Hively has the whooping cough, the only new case in this vicinity.

George Cooper, of Green Bank, was a caller in this part.

Quite a number of people attended the Dever sale.

OLD CORRESPONDENT.

YELK.

Plenty of rain and wind, and more mud than anything else.

Lee McLaughlin, of Greenbrier, made Yelk a flying visit last week.

G. L. Hannah is off to Greenbrier for a few days.

Misses Mary Gum and N. L. McLaughlin, of Meadow Dale, Va., spent last week with Miss Allie McLaughlin of this place.

Dennis Dever spent Saturday and Sunday in this part visiting his girl.

William Gibson has taken his sheep to summer quarters.

Sugar making seems to be a thing of the past on Elk.

Jake Beard passed thro this section enroute for Randolph.

RONALD.

LITTLE LEVELS.

Mr Editor, you have forgotten us, or at least we are not represented any more.

The H. M. & F. A. closed Monday, Prof. Warwick principal and Miss Daisy Reid assistant.

E. I. Holt has returned from the eastern markets, and brought back with him a large stock of goods.

C. W. Beard, after being down for several weeks with the grippe, is able to be about.

J. W. Beard, of the firm of Sydenstricker & Beard, is Randolph this week.

E. H. Moore, R. W. Hill, G. R. Curry, and Misses Mattie Curry and Eskridge left Tuesday for Conference, which meets at Staunton, Virginia.

Rev Dills left Monday for Conference.

G. W. Whiting will move soon to his new home in Greenbrier. We are sorry to lose him.

Rev. Dr. Sydenstricker has been on the sick list, but preached Sunday from Ps. 137, 5th & 6th verses and is said by those who heard it to be one of the best sermons they ever heard at Oak Grove church.

Miss Georgie Wyatt is a guest at her uncle's, R. L. Hill.

BUMBLE BEE.

FOR SALE.—M. O'Ferrall, Mountain Grove, Virginia, offers for sale his valuable bar-room property at the foot of Alleghany Mountain, in Bath County. Owing to ill-health he is compelled to give up his present location. 49

DENTISTRY.—Dr J. H. Weymouth, of Elkins, W. Va., will be at Edray May 12th, and remain 3 days, Buckeye (Clark Kellison's) March 23d, 3 days; Mill Point, 26th, 3 days; Huntersville, 30th, 2 days, Green Bank, April 1st, 2 days, Marlinton April 6th, 4 days. On account of a press of business since locating at Elkins, he has been unable to make his visits to this county on time, but in the future he will make them regularly every spring and fall.

I HAVE given Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a fair trial and consider it one of the very best remedies for coughs that I have ever found. After those has always been sufficient, since I was a baby. And only children ever fussed or cry medicine, I give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I recommend it to mothers with children.—MRS. E. WOLFF, Clerk of the County Court Rensselaerville, Pa. Sold by druggists.

Notice.

I will be in Marlinton April 6th (Tuesday) prepared to collect notes and open all kinds of deals. Have had 30 years experience in the business, and can handle them to the satisfaction of all concerned. Office at the court house.

C. H. SLAUGH.

Any book selling is out to make northern talking to make up during Court, at the law office of Brown Price or at our new premises, just below the bridge.

...ENTION!

...S OF CORN,
...LS OF GOOD
..., AND 700
...F RYE FOR
...AT

...AVIS'

...OS
...HOLT'S

...licit the trade
...new goods
...wing 17
...ns:
...o to date
...ughout
...ly reliable
...ed
...all
...ed to buy
...fully shown
...ys welcome
...in buying
...ought at low-
...entation
...ways given
...casion for dis-
...n
...owledge how
...choosingstyles
...isfy customers
...ood customer
Golden.

...Times,
...e Print,
...the price in the State.

$1.00 per Year

GIVES YOU YOUR COUNTY PAPER.

SUBSCRIBE!

Advertise your Wares and Wants. Our rates are always low enough to warrant your patronage.

Our Job Department has been renewed, and we guarantee satisfaction. Wedding invitations and all kinds of work done on short notice.

WE HAVE THE BEST PRINTING PLANT OUTSIDE A LARGE TOWN IN THE STATE.

Now is the time to Subscribe!

No. 6, Solid Oak Extension Table, top. The frame is plain, but all exposed parts are handsomely carved and finished in Golden Oak. Has 6 legs and extends 6 feet long when open.

$3.95

(Order by number, No. 6.)

The above is but one of over 1000 bargains to be found in our new 1897 Catalogue. Carpets, Rugs, Furniture, Stoves, Crockery, Glassware, Lamps, Bedding, Refrigerators, Baby Carriages, Bicycles, Sewing Machines, Organs, Pianos, Harness, Saddles, Trunks, Valises, Tents, Awnings, Guns, Revolvers, Fishing Tackle, Base Ball Goods, Musical Instruments, Sporting Goods, Jewelry, Silverware, Clocks, Watches, Optical Goods, Notions, Toys, Dolls, Books, Stationery, Wall Paper, Paints, Oils, Glass, Roofing, Building Material, Groceries, Meats, Canned Goods, Liquors, Cigars, Tobacco, Etc., Etc. Everything you can possibly need, and more than you can find anywhere else. Everything you purchase from us guaranteed to be as represented or money refunded. Our prices are the lowest. Our goods are the best. Our methods are the most liberal. Our business is conducted on the principle of "Live and let live." Our catalog is free. Send for it. Write us a postal for your copy to-day.

Julius Hines & Son,
BALTIMORE, MD.

BIG SHOW

Marlinton, April 6 & 7

We will show you largest and best line of implements and harvesting machinery ever exhibited in the county if you will attend Court on the above days. We make a specialty of McCormick Harvesting and Cirsus Cutting machinery, and Hoosier & Thomas Hay-Rakes, Grain-Drills, and Wagons. Can furnish you anything in the line of vehicles, wagons, etc. We handle the famous Star Brands of Fertilizer, manufactured by Allison & Addison, for corn and wheat. Come to Court, see our goods and be convinced that they are the best.

Hoping to receive a part of your patronage, we remain,

Yours respectfully,
SYDENSTRICKER & BEARD.

Notice.

All persons having toll by the year on the first five-mile section of road from Clarkson McNeil's to Marlinton, and on the bridge across Greenbrier River at Marlinton, will please come prepared to pay in advance at the April Term of Court, or they will be charged regular prices by the trip until their assessment of tolls have been paid.

W. C. MANN & SON, Contractors.
W. W. TURNER, Toll Collector.
Marlinton, W. Va.

DANGERS FROM THE GRIP

The greatest danger from the grip is pneumonia. It frequently follows, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for the grip, we have yet to hear of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that this remedy is a certain preventive for that dread disease. It will effect a permanent cure in less time than any other treatment. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by druggists.

Valuable Land for R

A valuable grazing farm of [illegible] acres for rent, well timbered and under good fence. For rent or sale in cattle by the year. For further information apply or address

ALLIE B. McLAUGHLIN,
Edray, W. Va.

Notice to Horse Traders.

On April 6th, 1897, Brock Court, in front of the Court House at Marlinton, W. Va., I will for sale my thoroughbred Jack horse stallion, to 30 days to purchaser giving bond with good security. This horse is well known in Pocahontas and Greenbrier Counties, and will be on hand for the season of 1897.

Respectfully,
W. W. [illegible]
Marlinton, W. Va.

Harvesting Ma

I will handle the JUNIATA MOWER and Reaper, the best machine in the market. Can furnish you anything in the line of Harvesting Machinery. Come and see me before you buy. Yours respectfully,

O. J. MIL
A
LOBELIA, W. VA.

Notice

We hereby notify all persons not to trespass on our premises, hunting, fishing or in any other way.

Raw Fur
WANTED,

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, Mar 26, 1897.

Subscription ONE DOLLAR in advance. If not paid within the year $1.50 will be charged.

Entered at the post office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

County Directory

Judge ..... J. M. McWhorter
Pros. Attorney ... L. M. McClintic
Sheriff ..... B. W. Hill
Clerk County Court ... S. L. Brown
Clerk Circuit Court, J. H. Patterson
Assessor ..... J. H. Buzzard
Com'rs. Co. Ct. { Amos Barlow, C. K. Beard, J. R. Warwick
Surveyor ..... George Baxter
Coroner ..... George P. Moore

BOARD OF HEALTH—Dr. J. W. Price, L. M. McClintic, M. J. McNeel, R. W. Hill.

JUSTICES—Uriah Bird, Marlinton; A. C. L. Gatewood, Linwood; P. D. Arbogast, Green Bank; W. H. Grose, Huntersville; G. R. Cardwell.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July to levy term.

Business Rules.

When a subscriber orders his paper discontinued he is, of course, expected at the same time to pay up all arrearages.

No attention will be paid to anonymous communications. You need not sign your real name, but it must always accompany your communication.

On all job work our terms are cash, except in cases of merchants and others with whom we have running accounts.

LAW CARDS.

S. C. McNEILL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. Va.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. Va.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. Va.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. Va.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. Va.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. Va.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. Va.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

B. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. Va.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. G. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. REYNOLDS,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
HAMLIN, W. Va.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. Va.

Office and house next door to C. A. Yeager's. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

Raw Fur Skins WANTED.

THE C. C. WORKMAN FUR & HAT CO. 4 West 4th Street, Cincinnati, O.

Poetry.

A LAST PRAYER.

Father, I scarcely dare to pray,
So clear I see, now it is done,
That I have wasted half my day,
And left my work but just begun;

So clear I see that things I thought
Were right or harmless, were a sin;
So clear I see that I have sought,
Unconscious, selfish aims to win:

So clear I see that I have hurt
The souls I might have helped to save
That I have slothful been, inert,
Deaf to the calls thy leaders gave.

In outskirts of thy kingdom vast,
Father, the humblest spot give me;
Set me the lowliest task thou hast,
Let me repentant work for thee!

—Helen Hunt Jackson.

Constipation

is a disease which afflicts over 75 per cent. of the American people. It is a dangerous disease because it not only poisons the blood but causes heaviness, oppression, and dulls the intellect. Then follow chronic headache, loss of appetite, slow digestion, nervousness, bad breath, dingy complexion, and low spirits. It will eventually bring on fever and kidney disease in some incurable form. But sufferers from this dreadful malady are speedily

Cured by

Warner's SAFE Cure and Warner's SAFE Pills. Leading physicians the world over, have acknowledged this fact, and thousands of people throughout the land have testified to it.

Warner's

SAFE Cure puts a stop to backaches, headaches, constipation, loss of appetite, dyspepsia, tired feelings and sleeplessness. It builds up the exhausted system. It is a sure cure for liver and kidney complaint in any form, and the only remedy that has ever been able to cure Bright's disease.

If you are feeling the need of such a remedy, you cannot do better than try this king of remedies, the great

Safe Cure

WASHINGTON Hand-Press for Sale.

THE POCAHONTAS TIMES has for sale a most convenient, easies running, Washington Hand-Press at a price about one-third of it real worth. This press would form the nucleus of a profitable country newspaper business. Its capacity is a six-column folio, and for years did the work of THE TIMES office. The concensus of opinion of all the printers who have ever operated this press is that more impression can be made with greater ease than on any other press ever operated by them. This press is of no val to THE TIMES, owing to being supplanted by a power press.

Also the proprietors will sell fo a fair price the good-will, machin ery, and material of the busines known as THE POCAHONTAS TIMES printing plant—consisting of the most complete printing outfit out side of a town or city in the State

VALUABLE

Property for Sale Privately.

One of the most complete residences in the county, situated in the village of Hillsboro, is offered for sale privately, on good terms.

This would be especially valuable to any doctor who wishes to locate in one of the best sections of the State. The owner, a physician, wishes to retire, for private reasons that will be perfectly satisfactory to any proposed purchaser.

Further information cheerfully afforded any inquirer by the editor of this paper.

State of West Virginia, } ss.
Pocahontas County, }

At Rules held in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court of said county, on the first Monday in March, 1897.

C. P. Kerr and Lee Ester, Plaintiffs,
vs.
Phillip B. Rader, James McN. Kerr, Fetty A. Tracy, John Tracy, and O. F. Chew, Defendants.

The object of this suit is to subject the real estate of the defendant, Phillip B. Rader, to the payment of the judgments and other liens named.

This day came the plaintiffs by their attorney, and on their motion and it appearing by affidavit filed, that the said O. F. Chew is a non-resident of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that the publication heretofore made in this cause do appear herein once a week for four successive weeks, and that a copy hereof be forthwith mailed to the said O. F. Chew at his last known place of residence, and that he do appear here within one month after the date of the first publication hereof, and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
A. M. PATTERSON, Clerk
L. M. McCLINTIC, p. q.

LONGFELLOW.

As the writings of the great American Poet is the announced topic for the next assembly of the Marlinton Literary Association, the following may interest our readers:

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, one of the most eminent of the American poets, was a native of Portland, Maine, born in 1807. Upon completing his collegiate course, he spent several years in Europe attending lectures in famous universities and visiting places of historic interest. The reminder of his life was spent as a teacher in colleges and universities. "Hiawatha" is one of his numerous books, and every young person in Pocahontas ought to read it to enable them to realize what beauty the poet could see in mountains and forests and streams. And what pleasure refined and cultured minds can derive from their presence. For moral uses, "The Ladder of St Augustine" is one of the poet's best. In it are the stanzas:

"The heights by great men reached and kept
Were not attained by sudden flight
But they while their companions slept
Were toiling upward in the night.

"Standing on what too long we bore,
With shoulders bent and downcast eyes,
We may discern—unseen before—
A path to higher destinies.

"Nor deem the irrevocable past
As wholly wasted, wholly vain,
If, rising on the wreck, at last
To something nobler we attain."

Passing of Wilson.

New York Press: The old man took the hand of Herald's Tariff Child in his, and, all unwitting of his whereabouts, dozed away into the Fifty-third Congress, the cuckoos' transeeful call. Once his nostrils dilated, his chest expanded, his shoulders squared themselves as he cried out to the tenth of the woudering Child: "V and voluminous schemes of taxation." In that one m ment had he in fancy stood w his good Wave and Means ass districts grim, glowering like captains and company of Janiz ver the ruin of the burgher's ed wains. His eye gleamed ot in stern joy over the imagined cr ty mercy of the wretched merchal folk. Then it glazed. Once shuddered, and then the spirit the last of Free-Trade tariff ti ers fled forth to join those Springer in the Indian Territ and Mills in the violent ward the United States Senate.

And the Herald's Tariff Ch was left sobbing, solitary in a gr lone, Protectionist land.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Pill a bottle or common glass w your water and let it stand twen four hours: a sediment or settli indicates an unhealthy condition the kidneys; it it stains your li it is evidence of kidney trouble; frequent desire to pass it or pa the back is also convincing pr that the kidneys and bladder out of order.

What to Do.

There is contigt in the Kidneys so often expressed, that Kilmer's Swamp Root, the g kidney remedy fulfil s every wi relieving pain in the back, kid liver bladder and every part o urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urin and scalding in passing it, or bad effects follo ing the use of liquor, wine, beer and over comes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to g many times during the night to urinate. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have it. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet both sent free by mail. Mention reading this generous offer in The Pocahontas Times.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of catarrh that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, Ohio.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions, and financially able to carry out any obligations made by their firm.

WEST & TRAUX, Wholesale druggists, Toledo, O.
WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and the mucous surfaces of the system. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by druggists. Testimonials free.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

The West Virginia University.

THE following has been received from the president of the West Virginia University, with request to print:

The report has been widely circulated that West Virginia Legislature, at its recent session, abolished the Preparatory School of the University.

This is not true. No department of the University was interfered with. As liberal appropriations were made for the support and development of the University as for any of the other State institutions.

The idea is prevalent that a partisan Board of Regents was created. This is a mistake. The Board of Regents will continue to be composed of nine members—five of one party four of the other.

The University is in a flourishing condition, with the largest attendance in history, and will probably reach 475 for most of this year. Young men and young women, of this State, needing an education, can make no mistake by coming to the University and availing themselves of its splendid advantages.

J. L. GOODKNIGHT, President.

Nourish Him.

That's the whole secret in a word. We can cure no disease unless we can keep up the patient's strength. And there's only one way to do that—feed him. But if the system refuses food? Then use SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites. It goes STRAIGHT TO THE BLOOD, stops the wasting, rekindles the vital fire, makes new flesh and so renders a hopeful fight possible against ANY disease.

Especially is this so in bronchial and lung troubles, in the relief and cure of which Scott's Emulsion has won its reputation. Book about it free.

Scott's Emulsion is no mysterious mixture. It is palatable, non-nauseating and infinitely preferable to the plain oil. The genuine has our trademark on salmon-colored wrapper. Get the genuine.

For sale at 50 cts. and $1.00 by all druggists.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONTAS COUNTY, }

At Rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on Monday, the 1st day of March, 1897.

Davis Wanless, Dora E. Rich (nee Wanless), and Sally Swintzyel (nee Wanless) ..... Plaintiffs,
vs.
John F. Wanless, William Wanless and a sister whose name is unknown, heirs at law of Stephen Wanless, deceased; Ralph W. Wanless, Stephen H. Wanless, the unknown heirs of George P. Wanless, deceased, and Margaret E. Wanless, children and heirs at law of Ralph Wanless, deceased; The unknown heirs of William Wanless; the unknown heirs of Betsy M. Hatter, (nee Wanless); the unknown heirs of Lola M. Vires; all the foregoing defendants being heirs at law of certain James Wanless, deceased; Newton M. Fertig, and Jacob H. Shrader, and all the other unknown heirs of James Wanless, Sr., deceased ..... Defendants.

The object of this suit is to have partition of the lands in the bill and proceedings mentioned, of which James Wanless, Sr. died seized and possessed, and which are now in the possession of the said John F. Wanless; and to assign to the plaintiffs their respective interests in said lands, and to this end to take all necessary and proper proceedings, or same.

This day came the plaintiffs by their attorneys, and on their motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed that the said defendants, William Wanless, Margaret E. Wanless, the heirs of George P. Wanless, the unknown heirs of William Wanless, the unknown heirs of Betsy M. Hatter, the unknown heirs of Lola M. Vires, and the unknown sister of said John F. Wanless are non residents of the state of West Virginia it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the date of the first publication hereof, and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
Wm. M. & J. T. McAllister p. q.

FEED, LIVERY SALE STABLES.

First-Rate Teams and Saddle-Horses Provided.

Livery for Sale and Hire. [illegible]

SPECIAL ACCOMMODATIONS FOR STALLIONS.

A limited number of Horses boarded at reasonable rates.

All persons having horses to feed or to be boarded will find it to their advantage to call at

J. G. G. WILSON,
Marlinton, W. Va.

MEDICAL WISDOM.

THE DREADED CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

T. A. Slocum, M. C., the great Chemist and Scientist, Offers to Send Free, to Afflicted, Free Bottles of His Newly-Discovered Remedies to Cure Consumption and Lung Troubles.

Nothing could be fairer, more philanthropic or carry more joy in its wake than the offer of T. A. Slocum, M. C., of 183 Pearl street New York City.

Confident that he has discovered an absolute cure for consumption and all pulmonary complaints, and to make its great merits known, he will send, free, three bottles, to any reader of the POCAHONTAS TIMES who is suffering from chest, bronchial, throat and lung troubles or consumption.

Already this "new scientific course of medicine" has permanently cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases.

The Doctor considers it his religious duty—a duty which he owes to human suffering—to send this infallible cure.

Offered freely, apart from its inherent strength, is enough to commend it, and more so is the perfect confidence of the great chemist making the proposition.

He has proved consumption to be a curable disease beyond any doubt.

There will be no mistake in sending—the mistake will be in overlooking the generous invitation. He has on file in his American and European laboratories testimonials of experience from those cured, in all parts of the world.

Delays are dangerous. Address T. A. Slocum, M. C., 183, Pearl street New York, and when writing to the Doctor, please give express and postoffice address, and mention reading this article in The POCAHONTAS TIMES.

MARLINTON HOUSE.

Located East End of Bridge.

Terms.
per day - 1.00 & 1.50
per meal - - - 25

Good accommodations for horses at 25 cents per feed.

Special rates made by the week or month.

C. A. YEAGER, Proprietor

Lee Military Academy.

Spring term of 18 weeks begins February 1st. Pupils can enter any time.

A first class chool for boys. Prepares for college or business. Thorough academic, preparatory and business courses.

Located in a fine grove. Best Christian influences, no saloons, no distractions.

Tuition, $30 and $35. Board from $10 to $15 per month.

JAMES M. LEE, Principal.
Lewisburg, W. Va.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONTAS COUNTY, }

At rules held in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court for said county on Monday, March 1st, 1897.

A. Barlow ..... Plaintiff
vs.
George W. McDanald, and others ..... Defendants.

The object of this suit is to attach and sell for the debt of the plaintiff the interest of George W. McDanald in that portion of three tracts of land, towit: 1633, 324, and 167 acres in the lill and proceedings described, which said land has been divided by order of court in the chancery cause Hall, ex. Hall, and assigned to said McDanald, and which according to that division is 958 acres.

This day came the plaintiff by his attorney, and on his motion and it appearing by affidavit filed, that Mrs Emma P. McDanald, the widow of John A. McDanald, deceased, and their children, whose names are unknown, are non-residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the date of the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
R. S. Tuck p. q.

C. B. SWECKER,
General Auctioneer and Real Estate Agent

Tract Coal, Mineral and Timber Lands, Farms and Town Lots a specialty. 21 years in the business. Correspondence solicited. References furnished.

Postoffice—Dunmore, W. Va., or Alexander, W. Va.

THE most conspicuous thing in the city of Washington at the present time is the man who was not originally for McKinley.—The Journal.

THE ODELL TYPE WRITER.

$20 will buy the ODELL TYPE WRITER with which any one can do good work in any business.

It combines simplicity with durability, speed with ease of operation. Does not get out of order, nor require expert attention to keep it in working condition. Has fewer parts than any other machine. Any one can learn to operate it in an hour. Any two letters can be used to print a word. Any size paper can be used, from a postal card to legal cap. Is adapted to all kinds of work, such as correspondence, manifolding, cards, labels, bill heads, envelopes, ledger work, etc. Has a perfect alignment. Type bar cannot get out of line. Any size letter desired can be had. Has universal keyboard. Writing always in sight. Has automatic spacer. Has ribbon reverse. Has two colors. Has type guide. Has paper fingers. Has double case shift. Has two sets of type. Has interchangeable type wheels. Has direct inking. Has no escapements. Has no complicated parts. Has no springs to break. Has no weights to get out of order. Has no pads to harden. Has no ribbon to wear out. Has no type to break off. Has no type to get out of order. Has no type to get out of line. Has no type to get out of alignment. Has no type to get out of adjustment. Has no type to get out of repair. Has no type to get out of shape. Has no type to get out of place. Has no type to get out of sight. Has no type to get out of mind. Has no type to get out of hand. Has no type to get out of pocket. Has no type to get out of town. Has no type to get out of state. Has no type to get out of country. Has no type to get out of world. Has no type to get out of universe. Has no type to get out of existence. Has no type to get out of memory. Has no type to get out of history. Has no type to get out of record. Has no type to get out of book. Has no type to get out of print. Has no type to get out of publication. Has no type to get out of circulation. Has no type to get out of use. Has no type to get out of fashion. Has no type to get out of style. Has no type to get out of date. Has no type to get out of time. Has no type to get out of season. Has no type to get out of year. Has no type to get out of century. Has no type to get out of age. Has no type to get out of world. Has no type to get out of universe. Has no type to get out of existence. Has no type to get out of memory. Has no type to get out of history. Has no type to get out of record. Has no type to get out of book. Has no type to get out of print. Has no type to get out of publication. Has no type to get out of circulation. Has no type to get out of use. Has no type to get out of fashion. Has no type to get out of style. Has no type to get out of date. Has no type to get out of time. Has no type to get out of season. Has no type to get out of year. Has no type to get out of century. Has no type to get out of age.

Has no type to get out of world. Has no type to get out of universe. Has no type to get out of existence. Has no type to get out of memory. Has no type to get out of history. Has no type to get out of record. Has no type to get out of book. Has no type to get out of print. Has no type to get out of publication. Has no type to get out of circulation. Has no type to get out of use. Has no type to get out of fashion. Has no type to get out of style. Has no type to get out of date. Has no type to get out of time. Has no type to get out of season. Has no type to get out of year. Has no type to get out of century. Has no type to get out of age.

Has no type to get out of world. Has no type to get out of universe. Has no type to get out of existence. Has no type to get out of memory. Has no type to get out of history. Has no type to get out of record. Has no type to get out of book. Has no type to get out of print. Has no type to get out of publication. Has no type to get out of circulation. Has no type to get out of use. Has no type to get out of fashion. Has no type to get out of style. Has no type to get out of date. Has no type to get out of time. Has no type to get out of season. Has no type to get out of year. Has no type to get out of century. Has no type to get out of age.

Has no type to get out of world. Has no type to get out of universe. Has no type to get out of existence. Has no type to get out of memory. Has no type to get out of history. Has no type to get out of record. Has no type to get out of book. Has no type to get out of print. Has no type to get out of publication. Has no type to get out of circulation. Has no type to get out of use. Has no type to get out of fashion. Has no type to get out of style. Has no type to get out of date. Has no type to get out of time. Has no type to get out of season. Has no type to get out of year. Has no type to get out of century. Has no type to get out of age.

Has no type to get out of world. Has no type to get out of universe. Has no type to get out of existence. Has no type to get out of memory. Has no type to get out of history. Has no type to get out of record. Has no type to get out of book. Has no type to get out of print. Has no type to get out of publication. Has no type to get out of circulation. Has no type to get out of use. Has no type to get out of fashion. Has no type to get out of style. Has no type to get out of date. Has no type to get out of time. Has no type to get out of season. Has no type to get out of year. Has no type to get out of century. Has no type to get out of age.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms, allays Feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

Simms &

RONCEVERTE,

Silver Steel Plow, Syracuse Plows, Imperial Chilled Plows

PLOW REPARS OF ALL KINDS

LOWEST PRICES EVER

RED WARRIOR POLL

GREENBRIER "

CHAMPION "

4 No. 2 Horse-shoes for 15c | 4 No. 3
4 No. 4 " 25c | 4 No. 5

COOK STOVES OF ALL KINDS

1 doz. 8x10 Window Glass 35c | Beres G
Paints, Oils, Varnishes,

Our goods are all first class, no shoddy or jobs. Strike us for prices before you buy.

Simms
Opposite Passenger Depot. Ro

A $5.00 Boys Sampson Suit, LOOK MOTHERS A RARE TREAT FOR YOU AND WE PAY EXPRESS CHARGES TO YOUR HOME, you buy one of our suits at the regular price, and we pay you back from the express office the amount you paid for the suit. REMEMBER, you buy one of our suits at the regular price, and we pay you back from the express office the amount you paid for the suit.

In fast Black Dark Blue Oxford Grey or Olive Brown

STRICTLY ALL WOOL

FREE TO EVERYBODY

B. ROSENBURGER & CO., 104 & 106 N. 10th St.

IT TICKLE

LIGHTNI
HOT DR

CURES
HEALS BREAKS UP

HERB MEDICINE CO.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montesemper Liberi!" Andrew Pri

VOL. 14, NO. 36 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, APRIL 2, 1897. $1.00 PER Y

THE WEEKLY LETTER.

THE time is once again when so many of the victorious political party have it in their minds to serve their country by the faithful performance of the duties of some office, for which they will receive an adequate reward, and Mr McKinley finds that he has a herculean task before him to fill those offices, with so many good men for each office to be supplied. The President said emphatically, in his inaugural address, that "Reforms in civil service must go on"; but he has not been taken seriously it would seem when there are over one hundred thousand letters on file in the various departments asking for appointments.

We, the people, do not realize what changes have been brought about in the civil service in the last four years. The New York Sun says that "this law's scope was enlarged and widened by President Cleveland to such an extent that it is now almost an impossibility for a cabinet officer to find a place for a political friend with a salary large enough to warrant him in accepting it." There are only seven thousand federal employees outside of the jurisdiction of this law.

The last annual report of the Civil Service Commissioner states that of the 178,717 positions in the civil branch of government service 87,107 are in the classified service. This leaves 91,610 unclassified, but of these 66,725 are postmasterships of the fourth-class, which are hardly worth having. It has been semi-officially announced that the new Administration will make few if any changes in the civil service until the finances of the government are in a better condition.

We who belong to that party which was overwhelmed only by superior numbers last year, can afford to to regard the situation with equanimity, or as the French say, serenite d'esprit, but it will be a blow to that class with which all parties are so abundantly blessed, known as chronic office-seekers, who, tho they may fail, know all the exhileration of the seeking an appointment. The hope for months buoys their spirits up, and they make desperate but delightful pilgrimages to the seat of government to supplicate those who have the power of appointing.

Now all that is changed. With the exception of those princely appointments with which the President rewards the leaders of his party, and which are given after wise deliberation and accepted by gentlemen unafraid, the bestowing of offices seems to be changed.

The office - seeker who having nothing to recommend him beyond the fact that he wants work will meet with less forbearance than ever before.

It is said that Cleveland fell into his suicidal policy of holding that a public office is a public trust, and having had no Congressional experience to teach him that the disbursement of the millions among the office-holders of the country was the business of the government, he generally got thro with his other work before he hunted up places for his self - elected friends. The unjustly called down the wrath of those of his party who wished to retain the votes and influence of those disappointed politicians, but it must be the right thing to do for we find the conscientious Mr McKinley ready to pursue the same plan. Since his election he has almost been worried into an early grave by the importunities of the place seekers.

On the other hand, Captain Dovener, Member of Congress from the 1st West Virginia District, has taken a short cut out of his difficulties by severing postmasters right and left—that is the name of the man whom he will endorse at the proper time. He believes in spoils for his party, and he makes one of the doctrines of an influential Democratic leader who said four years ago that they "would disturb no honest Republicans in the discharge of his duties, but that they did not expect to find any honest Republicans." This is a great deal worse than the views of a good many Pocahontas Democrats who claim that they believe in selecting the best man to a county office but for some reason or other the best man is found to be a Democrat.

Others take the view that seeking to serve the government is not dishonorable, and that rotation of officers is one of the principles of our form of government. They, a young men should have a chance and we should avoid breeding up a set of "barnacles" who would seem to have a claim for employment from the federal authorities.

The Cincinnatti Enquirer, for one, denounces Clevelands reform as British class laws, and says the working Republicans are entitled to the rewards, and that the party will err if they perpetuate those civil service reforms. Anyway why should the spoils of office belong exclusively to those who have them now, any more than to the vast army of unemployed which the Republican party would not admit existed during the last campaign. Mr McKinley probably knows now that there are numerous unemployed men of high and low degree in the United States.

As the spoils system is operated now there are not more than 4,81 of the remaining possibilities is the unclassified list that offer strong inducements, "But as these become available," says the Boston Journal, a leading Republican paper, "it will not be strange if President McKinley before the anniversary of his inauguration comes around feels to know that his party is largely an organized thirst."

It would be a grand day for the country if the unseemly scramble for offices ceased to be. Any man would pick up a piece of money which he saw at his feet, but many of the more refined would hesitate if they had to scramble for it with a horde of hungry beggars who were straining every nerve to secure it. This has held many a man aloof. There should be a little less self-esteem, and the office should to a decent extent at least seek the man.

In viewing this question, a man who voted for Bryan and free-silver sees it from a singularly disinterested standpoint,—unless he be holding one of those positions —and then it is likely to be a profound secret as to how he voted. His party is generally portrayed by the cartoonist as a hungry donkey who has the appearance of not being fed for a month viewing a fat elephant the g. o. p. gobbling good things.

A SCOTTISH banker, who is very fond of his dog Black, forgot him and left him at the bank one day. He was nearly home before he remembered Black, so he went into a telephone office and called up his clerk. "Is Blackie in the office?" "Yes, sir." "Bring him to the telephone please." no sooner said than done. The master whistled and called, "Blackie, Blackie, come here!" The dog barked and wagged his tail, trotted out of the door and was at home within an hour.—Exchange.

THE German Emperor insists upon coercing Greece—Cable dispatch.

I'm a war lord,
A Hohenzollern,
I can knock my sister's husband
higher'n a kite
Do not detain me,
For I am going
To set the streamlets
Of blood a-flowing;
I'm a war lord,
A Hohenzollern.

I am spoiling, I am spoiling for fight.—N. Y. Tribune.

MRS. TERESA CARRENO, "the Valkyrie of the piano," tells in an interview in the Music Trade Review how her talent was first discovered. "It was when I was barely three years old we were living in Venezuela, Soth America, for that is where I was born. One day, as I knelt by the parlor window by moving portieres right and left—that is the name of the man whom he will endorse at the proper time. He believes in spoils for his party, and he makes one of the doctrines of an influential Democratic leader who said four years ago that they "would disturb no honest Republicans in the discharge of his duties, but that they did not expect to find any honest Republicans." This is a great deal

---

MARLINTON.

Thursday, March 25.

Jake Beard Esq. went to Rosverte Tuesday on business.

Dr C. W. Eskridge is visiting relatives in Staunton. He took the Baltimore Conference with there.

The sick folk are all reported improving. Miss Nola McCoy, who has been quite ill is better. N McCoy, who had the misfortune get his ribs broken is getting al as well as could be expected.

Our farmers are afraid that wheat will be damaged in this section, as it looks too fine for season.

J. W. Warwick Esq. left Randolph Monday where he pects to peddle for some. He be absent about three months.

Mrs Andrew Price and Miss Price are visiting Mr Al Clark and family this week.

Mrs Dills is teaching quite successful art class at this place

BUMBLE BEE.

KNAPP'S CREEK.

March came in like a lamb went out lion.

W. W. Moore, of Covington, is visiting here.

We wonder why a young would start to Dunmore, and la up at Driscol?

J. A. Moore, M. F. Herold W. M. Gibson are visiting in Highland.

D. W. Dever sale was largely tended and everything sold hi

There was a big game of ball played on the day of the Miss Lucy Sharp returned ho accompanied by Peyton Moore.

The singing at Frost on Sund was largely attended.

John Jackson has moved fr P. M. Harper's place to Bath.

Zano Moore was down to Point on a visit last week.

D. W. Dever does not expect go west for a while. He wants look at the blue grass farms on for a few more times.

M. A. H.

BUCKEYE

Rev Perry preached an able sermon Sunday.

The Hefner school, taught Earnest Hill, of Jacox, closed Thursday with an entertainme Mr Hill taught an excellent sch and deserves great praise. He ma many friends while with us and will be greatly missed. Left Sunday for his home.

A. W. McNeill was a caller Mr Beverage's Sunday evening.

John Atkison has completed clearing and is about ready to pla

Misses Rhoda and Annie Bennett, of Stony Bottom are visiti friends in this part.

Mrs Clark Kellison, who h been down with neuralgia for t past month, is able to be up a little.

Dr Weymouth was in this pa last week fixing the ladies' teet

MOUNTAIN ROVER.

Q. W. Poage, of Clover Lick, wa in this part on business last week

Singing at the M. E. church b Prof. McKeever next Sunday at o'clock.

Jake Webster has moved to W McClintic's farm, where he will reside for a while.

Miss Sula Auldridge is at home from Yelk, where she has been clerking in George L. Hannah's store.

We are sorry for Alvin Rodgers who went to see his girl Sunday and she was gone!

Rev Jerry Camlin Jeter
Had better have a care.
All is not gold that glitters,
And the Bible says that "the human heart is deceitful above all things and desperately wicked."

JERRY.

DUNMORE.

It rained, the sun shineth, and the big loads mud ... ever made in the ... unto themselves ... Robert H. M. and E. ... John Rider and ... J. T. Maxwell ... in the Circuit ... Conference at Sh ... County, on the ... left in a load ... 1896, the ... Daniel Cupp, ... commissioner will ... of Augusta County ... day of April, ... owner in this county ... court of the county ... self a short time ... County, pas-

The Dever Sale ... of public ... tended, and 15 ... bidder, the ... brought good prices, ... estate, it be ... Sweeker will sell ... some in the mid ... sen's personal ... which ... of April, ... tended, consist ... Mr Cleave's farm, ... land containing ...

George Gregory ...

---

22 ACRES.

We have had many ... this winter—Cabbages, ... and ...

A good deal of ... done. Some of the ... on cold ... been playing ... and ... members ... Society ... Mr. ... about ... will be at Court ... he will surprise ...

COMPOSITION ON "AMERICA."

"My country 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of liberty,
Of thee I sing."

AMERICA was discovered by Christopher Columbus in 1492. It was named after Americus Vespucius, a native of Florence, who sailed after Columbus, and was the first person who drew a map of our country.

The first inhabitants of America were Indians; how they came here is a mystery that never has been solved.

When Columbus discovered this country the forests were full of all kinds of game, and the graceful deer bounded along the mountainside and quenched his thirst from the clear streams that flowed thro the valleys. At this time the only music in America was the sweet songs of the birds, the murmuring of the brooks and rivers, as they hurried on to join the ocean; the howl of the wolf, the scream of the panther, and the loud, blood-curdling warwhoop of the Indians.

People came from Europe and formed settlements here. They at first settled along the Atlantic Ocean, and kept going farther west until now there is one great mass of people from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean.

When England saw how prosperous America was she wanted to get possession of her, but our forefathers were brave and gallant patriots, and were determined not to be governed unjustly. "Give me liberty, or give me death" was their motto. The Declaration of Independence was signed on the 4th of July, 1776, and by this the United States of America declared itself a free country.

The English outnumbered the Americans, but Lafayette, a brave young Frenchman, came from France with an army, in 1777, and helped General Washington drive the British out of our country. There was great rejoicing in America when the last Briton set sail for England.

Since we have gained our independence our form of government is a federal republic, and our chief officer a President, who is elected to office every four years by a vote of the people.

In 1812, the English tried again to take America; but brave General Jackson gained a splendid victory over the British at New Orleans, in 1815.

The darkest days the United States of America ever saw were during the war between the States. Those were dark days indeed; brother against brother, father against son,—and the happiest land the sun ever shone upon, for four long, weary years a scene of bloodshed. But on the 9th of April, 1865, General Lee surrendered his army to General Grant, and thus ended the bloodiest war the world ever witnessed.

America has the largest and most beautiful lakes, the longest rivers, and the loftiest mountains in the world. The United States of America has the best government and is the most prosperous country in the world. It is the home of the free, bought by the blood of thousands of brave patriots that suffered and died that we might have the liberty which we now enjoy.

I believe that this republic of ours has not yet reached the height of its glory. The citizens of our country will live down this party spirit, and we will have such good government and just laws that Canada, Mexico, Cuba, and Central America will see how prosperous we are, and they will join the United States of America and will extend from the Arctic Circle to the Isthmus of Panama; and the beautiful stars and stripes, the emblem of the free, will wave over all this vast continent of ours, and we will be one country, one flag, and one people.

M. EVELYN SHARP, (age 14.)

Mill Point, West Virginia.

AMERICA.

Most of our geographies and histories teach us that the New World was named for Americus or Amerigo Vespucci, and I have always felt and expressed great contempt for his theft, for such it seemed to me; tho he did n't give the name himself, he accepted it at the hands of others, the honor so obviously due to Columbus.

In the Centennial History of our country I find an extract from a paper by ... Atlantic Monthly, which throws a doubt on the statement made above and gives some striking reasons for regarding the name, America, as derived from a word indigenous to the New World. I condense it for the benefit of such of your readers as may have entertained a similar contempt for the "lesser" light, Vespucci. He says:

"The question to be determined is whether the word America or Amerique, designating a part of the terra firma discovered by Columbus on his fourth and last voyage, was known to the great navigator, and consequently to Vespucci by him, or not found in the very brief account he has left us.

"But as the origin of the word has been an enigma, in spite of the different interpretations given of it, and as Vespucci had nothing to do with this name, it being entirely unknown to him—the inventor of the word America was probably living a printer and bookseller in a small town in the Vosges Mountains—it is, perhaps, well to review the facts and to show where lies the probability for a true solution of the origin of this word America.

"The names of places in the Indian dialect of Central America often terminated in igue or ic, which seems to mean 'great,' 'elevated' or 'prominent,' and is always applied to dividing ridges, or to elevated mountainous countries, but not to volcanic regions.

"Now it is a well-known fact that this word, denoting the ridges and ranges of Amerrique, Amerique, or Anerie, is an indigenous word, the terminal igue or ic being common for the names of localities, in the language of the Seneca Indians of Central America, a part of Mexico; and that this name has been perpetuated, without change, since the discovery of the New World, by the complete insolation of the Indians, who live there and who call their mountains by the same word today, as they did in 1502 when Columbus visited them. Amerique Americ.

"These mountains are auriferous and at their feet lie the gold mines of Libertad and San Domingo, and further the gold of the placers is exhausted, washed out by the Indians themselves, and now it is only found in the veins of the quartz rock.

"Columbus says that the Indians named several localities rich in gold, but he gives only the name a province, Ciamba; but it is highly probable that this name, Amerique or Amerigue was often pronounced by the Indians in answer to the pressing demands of the Europeans in their eager search for gold.

"We may suppose that Columbus and his companions on their return to Europe would boast of the rich gold mines they had discovered thro the Indians and that it bay in the region of Amerie.

"The word Amerie, a synonym for this golden country, would become known in the ports of the ... Indies, then in those of Europe, soon ... taste into the interior of the continent ... sent as that a printer at the foot of the Vosges would hear the word Amerie without understanding its meaning as an Indian word. He would become acquainted with it as designating a country of the new Indies, rich in gold.

"Hydrographer of St. Die, ignorant of any printed account, except those of Americus Vespucius, thought he saw in the Christian name Americus the origin of the word America or Amerique.

"In order to accomplish this it was necessary to change nothing but the name from Americus, Americ, Amerique, and Amerigue, which are the different ways of spelling Vespucius' Christian name—in our present word America.

Whether the theory be true or not, it is certainly very ingenious.

MR MCKINLEY says he is bound to live, but he does not tell the rest of Ohio office seekers Administration.

Julius Hines
BALTIMORE

County Dir

Judge ... J. M.
Pros. Attorney ... L.
Sheriff ...
Clerk County Court ...
Clerk Circuit Court, J. ...
Assessor ...
Com'rs, Co. Ct. ... A. ... J. ...
Surveyor ... G.
Coroner ... Geo.

BOARD OF HEALTH
Prine, L. M. McClintic
Neel, R. W. Hill.

JUSTICES—Uriah ... tom; A. C. L. Gatewo ... P. D. Arbogast, Geo ... H. Grose, Huntersvill ... Academy; E. A. ... lelia.

LAW CARD

V. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT
MARLINTON,

Will practice in the C ... Pocahontas county and ... Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT
MARLINTON,

Will practice in the C ... Pocahontas county and ... Supreme Court of A ...

H. S. BUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NO ...
HUNTERSVILLE

Will practice in the ... Pocahontas county and ... Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE
ATTORNEY A
LEWISBURG,

Will practice in the ... Greenbrier and Pocahontas ... attention given to collec ... in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY
MARLINTON,

Prompt and careful ... to all legal business.

ANDREW PRIC
ATTORNEY
MARLINTON,

Will be found at T ...

SAM. B. SCOTT,
LAWY ...

All legal business ... attention.

E. M. LOCKRI
ATTORN ...
HUNTERSVILLE

Prompt and care ... all legal work.

PHYSICIAN

DR. S. J. CLA ...

DR. J. F. WA ...
PHYSICIA ...
MARLIN ...

Will visit Pocahontas ... twice a year. ... visit will appear ...

DR. J. F. WA ...
PHYSICIA ...
MARLIN ...

Will visit Pocahontas ... twice a year. ... visit will appear ...

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICK, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, April 2, 1897.

Subscription ONE DOLLAR in advance. If not paid within the year $1.50 will be charged.

Entered at the post office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

THE mayor of enlarged New York will preside over the municipal destinies of a population nearly as large as European Turkey, equal to that of Saxony, and greater than Bulgaria.

THERE seems to be great joy in New York by the success of the charter for the formation of Greater New York. Hereafter it may be known as the Giant City. Brooklyn, Long Island, in Kings, New York will be rendered more wealthy and wealth greater than those of several European kingdoms.

LAST Thursday morning the Turks attempted to re-enforce and provision Fort Malaxa, about daybreak. The Cretans opposed the advance and attacked the fort. The fort was evacuated about 8 o'clock, and the garrison (sixty men) retreated and was closely pursued. The allied powers bombarded the fort, and the Cretans retired after burning it up. About eighteen of the garrison reached Canea—the rest have perhaps perished. Like the late war between the States, the trouble opened about provisioning a fort.

THERE words were spoken by a person who was justly regarded as one of the wisest men of his generation and whose impress upon the national character is more plainly discerned than almost any other of the famous thinkers of the present century, speaking of young men trained for the business of their lives; he remarked, "Young business men are often educated in two very unthrifty species of contempt—a contempt for small gains and a contempt for hard labor. To do one's own errands, to wheel one's own barrow, to be seen with a bundle, buy or hustle in person—this they can compass by their shrewd heads what their fathers used to do with their heads and hands. The reputable portions of society have maxims of prudence by which the young are judged and admitted to their good opinion. Does he regard his word? Is he industrious? Is he economical? Is he free from immoral habits? The answer, which a young man accountgives to these questions settles his reception among good men." Then the terms "a hard working man," "a laborious man" are employed to mean an honest man, a trustworthy man.

THE CIRCUIT COURT.

The incoming term of the Circuit Court for Pocahontas County is anticipated with much interest. It is believed that the grand-jury will have business of unusual importance up for their consideration. Questions respecting the peace and dignity of the commonwealth are to be settled. The new judge is expected to preside. He is no stranger, however, to our citizenship. As a majority of the voters in the judicial district willed a change, it would have been difficult for their choice to have fallen upon a person more acceptable than Judge Holt. Judge Campbell, the new judge, wishes it to be understood that he, as judge, has no friends to reward and no opponents to punish. He would rather have living friends than dead admirers. None questions his sincerity when he professes the desire to know and do the right.

With a bar that challenges comparison for ability among with most of its class in our State, with jurors carefully selected from the pick and choice of our citizenship, there is every reason to cherish confidence in our court as a worthy and efficient guardian of all that makes life worth living in the present day and generation.

Our citizens will have a responsibility too to fill for the pastoral interests of all sections of our county. The counsel and welfare of one section promotes the highest good of all sections, and this seems to be better and better understood by our people, and the common point of prosperity and progress tends to the current history of our county assembly.

TOBACCO.

"This Indian weed, now withered quite,
Tho green at morn, cut down at night,
Shows thy decay.
All flesh is hay."
Then think and smoke tobacco.

"And when the smoke ascends on high
Then thou beholdest the vanity
Of worldly stuff
Gone with a puff,"
Then think and smoke tobacco."

It is a beautiful study to notice how useful lessons may be derived from familiar objects by a mind trained to see 'good in everything.' The remarkable fact appears that when explorers of the American continent first discovered the almost universal use of Tobacco by smoking, it was, in many cases, associated with the most significant and solemn tribal ceremonies.

The term "tobacco" comes from the use of a peculiar instrument, made for the inhaling of the smoke of the weed called by Oviedo, (1535), "a certain wooden tube shaped like a capital Y, the two points inserted in the nostrils and the main stem held in the smoke of burning tobacco and inhaled. This peculiar inhaler was called "tobacco." Bouzini says in Mexico, (1565), that the name of the herb was "tabacco."

The tobacco plant itself was first carried to Europe in 1558, by Dr Francisco Fernandes, a botanical physician sent by Philip II. of Spain to investigate Mexican products. Jean Nicot, French Minister to Portugal, sent seeds to Queen Catherine de Medici. The active part thus taken by Nicot in spreading a knowledge of the plant has been commemorated in the scientific name of the genus nicotiana, whence the common word nicotine.

While a Spaniard took the tobacco to Europe for medicinal purposes, the habit of smoking as a luxury was introduced by two Englishmen. Ralph Lane, the first Governor of Virginia, and Sir Francis Drake, in 1586, took with them the implements and materials for tobacco smoking, which they presented to the illustrious Sir Walter Raleigh. Governor Lane has the distinction of being the first English smoker. It was thro the influence of the famous Walter Raleigh such [illegible] was taken up by the courtiers of Queen Elizabeth. Sir Walter became so fond of his pipe that the historian says he "took a pipe of tobacco a little before he went to the scaffolde."

The history of tobacco usage shows that in the seventeenth century indulgence in tobacco spread with marvellous rapidity throughout all nations, and that too in spite of the most resolute opposition of statesmen and priests. The "counterblaste" of a great monarch, penal enactments of the most severe description, the knout, excommunication from church membership, and capital punishment.

If persons devoted to the smoking habit were to moralize on it like the Rev Ralph Erskine, whose verses appear at the head of this article, good might come of it. Mr Erskine was an Englishman, born at Monilaws, Northumberland County, on Sabbath, March 15, 1680, at three o'clock in the afternoon, and baptized at Chirnside on the 5 of April following, by the Rev William Vichand. He was a lively baby to make his appearance in church three weeks old with his parents. In concluding his thoughtless smoking he says:

"Was this smoke plant for thee cut down,
So was the Tree of cure
For noble ends,
Thou think and smoke tobacco.

"In vain the unlighted pipe you blow—
Your pains in vain and money are so,
Till here my lies
Your pipe inspire.
Thou think and smoke tobacco.

"The smoke like burning incense leaves
So should a praying heart of yours,
With sighed rise
Surmount the skies.
Thou think and smoke tobacco."

S. C. S.

OUR CONTEMPORARIES.

Malcolm, in 3.

He shall sit as a refiner and watch the furnace glow
He shall purify the silver,
Brought from their ashes below.

His people are the silver
Which he must purify,
His furnace of affliction
Their characters will try.

He'll not a grain give for wasting
And purging all the dross,
He will have the gem a perfect—
He'll take them to no loss.

And when we in mind and passion,
Reflecting his image shine,
We'll acquiesce in his refining
And glory in his grace.

Editor Enquirer.

TO MY OLD BLUE DRESS.

Farewell, old dress! It's a sin's fashion
That the best of friends are parted;
But you 're stained and torn,
And your stiff wing's gone,
And there are new fashions started.

Because you 're faded, old, and blue
My friends get in a passion.
They say: "That gown
Keeps our spirits down.
It 's so far behind the fashion!"

Old dress, long years have fled since that bright day
When you and I were fitted.
You 've been strengthened with pins—
One of the number 'ers sins
Which your backless owner committed.

And you were with me that day, old dress,
When a rash school boy elected
To tempt the fates,
To match hearts, not mates,
And how you are rejected.

It 's your turn, old dress, with all the world,
Some flimsy words to face;
Shelved out of sight,
Forgotten quite,
"Another takes your place."

S. A. P.

Mrs Harry Burner.

Mrs Harry Burner, of Laramie, Wyoming, departed this life March 19, 1897, aged 28 years. She leaves surviving her, her husband and seven year old son. This lady was her husband were born and reared in this county, her father being Robert N. Gum, of Green Bank. Harry Burner is a son of C. [illegible] Burner, of Traveler's Repose. They removed to Laramie shortly after their marriage in 1889. From copies of the Daily Boomerang, of Laramie, we clip the following account of the funeral services:

The funeral of the late Mrs Harry Burner was held at the Methodist church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Friends of the family met at the home at two o'clock. The local lodge of Incomfire firemen and the Knights of the Maccabees turned out in a body.

Rev J. W. Taylor preached an appropriate, practical and withal and eloquent discourse from Paul's second letter to Timothy. The church was crowded. The beautiful casket was embowered with flowers.

Among the many and beautiful floral offerings enumerated, we notice a bouquet of lillies and roses from Mr and Mrs Walter Yeager, of Cheyenne.

Two years ago R. J. Warren, druggist at Pleasant Block N. Y. bought a small supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He says of the result as follows: "At that time the goods were unknown to this section; to-day Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a household word." It is the same in hundreds of communities, where ever the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy become known the people will have nothing else. For sale at the Marlinton Drug Store.

Notice to Horse-Traders.

On April 6th, 1897, first day of Court, in front of the Court house at Marlinton, W. Va., I will offer for sale my thoroughbred Hambletonian stallion, on 30 days time, purchaser giving bond and good security. This horse is well-known in Pocahontas and Greenbrier Counties, and will be in good trim for the season of 1897.

Respectfully,
W. W. TEREE.
Marlinton, W. Va.

Harvesting Machines.

I will furnish the JOHNSTON HARVESTING MACHINERY & [illegible] this year (1897) by 145.98, according to the length of cut.

Yours respectfully,
C. J. HILL,
Agent.
LOBELIA, W. VA.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

Thousands of people will acknowledge as others experienced, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, beer, wine or cider, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night for water. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle sent free by mail. Mention The Pocahontas Times and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

Reward! Reward! Reward!

You are REWARDED by trading with us. Where we save you [illegible]

The Greatest Medicinal Whiskey the World has Ever Known.

BRADDOCK PURE RYE
AND BARLEY MALT.

SMOOTH, SOFT, RICH, RYE, MELLOW AND CHEMICALLY PURE, A RECOMMENDATION IN ITSELF.

TRY A GALLON AT $2.00

Mail Orders solicited either great or small and receive our personal and prompt attention. Drop us a postal for price list. Don't use inferior goods but mail us your orders; we can save you money and perhaps your health.

JAS CLARK DISTILLING CO., JNO. McQUAIDE Mngr.
Distillers of Braddock Pure Rye, Wholesale and Retail Liquor Dealers.
20 and 22 South New St., Staunton, Va.

Duke! Duke!
HIGH GRADE BICYCLES!

1896 Model.

Frame long head and wheel base. Made from best cold drawn seamless tubing, narrow tread. 28inch wheels, Wood Rims, Nickeled Spokes, M and W. Quick Detach Tire. All connections drop forged steel. Ball bearing in every part; bearings made from the best steel, tempered and ground, dust proof, 6 inch cranks, Rat trap or Rubber Pedales, one-fourth inch Hunter chain with patented rivet and centers. Drop forged steel sprockets, 7 pattern, nickle plate, Garford Saddle, 68 inch gear, weight 24 lbs.

Price, $50.00.

1895 Model Duke, 27lbs., Price, $40.00

A full and complete stock of Bicycle Sundries and Repairs, eye to meters, Lamps, Bells, &c. Repairing of all kinds a specialty. Send us your broken bicycles and we can make them good as new RESPECTFULLY,

RONCEVERTE, W VA Eagle AND Ott.

We have a plan by which Farmers can get
TOOL CHESTS FREE

FURNITURE FACTORY
AND
Furniture Store.
Fine Furnitnre Made to Order.
STOCK ALWAYS ON HAND.

I am occupying the Temporary Court house and am prepared to make to order all kinds of Furniture at lower prices than can be obtained elsewhere. Don't be cheated in Furniture but buy from a reliable cabinet maker who makes up the quality goods.

I can refer you to parties from the city at better terms than you can save your R. R. fare. Whenever you need anything in my line you will save money by giving me a call.

W. J. Killingsworth.

The Pocahontas Times.

APRIL 2, 1897.

Local Events.

THE game and fish warden appointed by Governor Atkinson is E. F. Smith, a railway engine driver, of Hinton.

W. S. COFFE, who was being tried for the murder of Rasley in Circuit Court, had an apoplectic stroke while his trial was in progress.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH will be at Marlinton on April 5th, and remain 4 days, and can be found at the Marlinton House opposite the postoffice.

WHEN you come to Court next week put up at C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Good attention, nice clean rooms, good table, and your horses well sheltered, fed, and groomed.

CHICAGO, wheat 71½, corn 23 and oats 16. Toledo, wheat 92½. Dole, he wheat seems to be coming our way. Biscuits will get to be good again and corn dodgers will be fashionable.

TO WALK IT MAY CONCERN:—The public is notified that the best and cheapest goods of all kinds are to be found at J. D. PULLIN & COMPANY'S.

J. D. PULLIN & Co. are just receiving their new spring stock of goods, and are ready to furnish their customers with the best goods at lowest cash prices.

FROM the Greenbrier Independent we learn that F. M. Gum was seized with rheumatism on his return from the depot. He left his team in charge of a friend, hired a buggy and hastened home, and has been suffering very much ever since.

THE town of Hinton is dry. The County Court refused to grant license. The question was argued by lawyers on one side and preachers on the other; the reader will probably know how they were divided. Hinton will have to change its ways or it will be unable to get anymore political conventions.

THE Bath News announces up installment of Col. Gatewood's narrative of the Both Squadron in its issue of this week. The particulars of the Stony Point raid will be given. On this raid 2500 cattle were captured within a few miles of Gen. Grant's headquarters.

DR. WEYMOUTH, who is now on his professional rounds, feels very sure there will be a rail-road in the limits of our county during the year 1897. The conjecture is that it will come in by the way of the Seneca. This has been one of the best talked of points of all the possible ways of approach. It may however be an illustration of the saying, "The first shall be last and the last first."

ROBERT BARNES, a farmer of Wyoming county, was returning home from Oceana late Friday evening on horseback. While passing thro a forest, two men caught his horse by the bridle and demanded money. Mr Barnes resisted and one of the robbers knocked him senseless, took over $118 from him and left him senseless in the road. He was found by James White and taken to a neighbors house, where restoratives were applied with success.

THE Greenbrier Independent says that M. N. McCoy, of Locust, was badly hurt at Hillsboro a few days since, at 10 o'clock at night. His horse took fright and threw him, and his foot catching in the stirrup, he was dragged for some distance before he could extricate himself. His calls for help soon brought many to his assistance. Two ribs were broken on his left side and other injuries received. He was sent home in a sleigh, and at last reports, was doing reasonably well.

THE greatest flood of the country is now on in the Mississippi river. Millions already lost by this flood, the greatest of any on record that has ever occurred in the United States. Scores of lives have been lost, miles railroad track washed away, numerous bridges destroyed, hundreds of farms totally submerged, many towns depopulated, thousands of people homeless and hungry. What the state of things will be two weeks hence, none can venture to surmise as the flood has not yet reached its highest in the lower Mississippi.

THE attention has been called to a scheme by which a postoffice near Henry Barlow's and because of the feasibility of the project we wonder that all this time has passed without its having been consummated. As the mail route now runs, it is four miles from Marlinton to Edray. If this mail route goes up the back road it will add not over a mile to the route, and by so doing would establish a postoffice where the Williams River road joins the Edray road. Owing to the established route of the mail at Marlinton and also at the Williams River people come to Marlinton on business across the Stony Creek road, and thus have to make a mile or so out of their way to call at Edray for mail. We understand that Mr. H. F. Moore will favor this project, that is, remove from the office at Edray, if asked to by petitioners. The present mail route of the new office is Marlinton to Edray.

WANTED: About thirty head of young cattle to graze on the Warwick place near Edray. Apply to R. E. L. DOYLE.

R. S. BEARD, of Academy, has for sale choice Berkshire hogs any age. He is the only breeder of thoroughbred Berkshires in the County.

CLARK KELLISON, of Buckeye, a Union veteran, has been allowed a pension, amounting to $6 per month and twenty-two months back pay.

A NEW road is to be made on the east side of Valley River, Randolph. Phillips has contracted from A. C. Logan's to Taylor's lot, and has commenced work near Mingo.

C. N. Wood, assisted by J. B. Skidmore and Willie Cull, is building a two-story school-house at Mingo. G. H. Wood will move the old house to one of his lots and hold it for rent.

MRS. CUNNINGHAM is receiving the largest and most complete line of stylish millinitry ever brought to the county. Having made the selections herself at the leading millinery houses in Baltimore, her stock includes a varied assortment of the latest novelties.

FROST was from Oak Grove at football, the score being 3 goals to 1. The Frost team seems to be largely a Sharp family affair—seven of the players bearing that name. An attempt will be made to arrange a Frost – Marlinton match, to be played at Frost sometime during the present month.

THE "rubin-storm" and much beautiful snow were the things most talked about the past few days, attended by winds that were chilling and roared like a phantom lion. On the mountains overlooking Marlinton the snow was from four to six inches Saturday morning.

A VERY sad occurrence took place near Mingo a few days since when Harmon Snyder's four-year-old son was drowned in Valley river. The child fell, unobserved, from a footlog. The body was found two or three hundred yards below by John B. Snyder.

INFORMATION comes that the town of Hinton and the rest of Summers County will have no saloons this year, as the court by a vote of two to one refused license. Pocahontas County, it would thus seem, is not the only county that has a good court. Our court, however, goes one better,—3 to 0,—and so might it always be.

POCAHONTAS COUNTY is to be congratulated for the number of young ladies in the various homes who can perform nicely with a broom, expertly on the sewing machine, beautifully on the cottage organ, and what may be found the best of all in the near future, can run a wash-tub or cooking stove for all these useful things are worth.

THERE is great excitement in Kansas over the precious minerals found in the Wichita Mountains. Gold bearing quartz running $91 per ton, silver in paying quantities and many soft asphalt lakes. Treaties with the Indians prevent the whites from entering the reservations, and so trouble is brewing for the Comanches and the Kiowas.

MR ALEXANDER GILLESPIE, one of the oldest residents of the Green Bank vicinity, died a short time since, aged about 82 years. His illness was long and very painful. Mr Gillespie belonged to one of the oldest families of Pocahontas and in his decease our county loses one of its most substantial and upright citizens.

THE POCAHONTAS CAMP OF CONFEDERATE VETERANS, No. 873, will meet at Marlinton, on Tuesday, April 6, (Court-day), 1897, for the purpose of transacting important business. All members of the camp will please come prepared to settle up their last year's dues. It is the wish of the Commander that there be a full attendance. By order of A. C. L. Gatewood, Commander. H. P. MCLAUGHLIN, Adjutant.

Only One Standard

You and we may differ as to money at stake and out of our very 50 cennos good easy come. But we won't differ as to the merits of one standard emulsion of cod liver oil.

SCOTT'S EMULSION has won and held its way for nearly 25 years in the world of medicine until to-day it is almost as much the standard in all cases of long trouble, and every condition of wasting whether in child or adult as quinine is in cases of fevers.

Differ on the money question if you will, but when it comes to a question of health, perhaps of life and death, get the standard.

You can get Scott's Emulsion, 50 cents and $1.00, of any druggist anywhere.

PERSONAL.

Marcellus Dorman, of Swago, was in Marlinton last week and favored us with a visit that was highly appreciated.

A. W. Rodgers, of Buckeye, was in town Friday on business did not forget to pay us a welcome visit.

Mrs C. E. Miller, near Buckeye, is having improvements made that will make her premises attractive and comfortable.

We are sorry to learn that Mrs. Carter, near Pine Grove, is suffering from serious dropsical troubles.

Miss Nellie McLaughlin, eldest daughter of the late John McLaughlin, of Hunterville, while on her recent visit to Marlinton, received a severe sprain, that has caused her much suffering and greatly marred the pleasures of her visit which has been so agreeable to her numerous friends. Miss McLaughlin is a very worthy young lady, a good school teacher and an expert milliner. She is industriously making herself useful and independent.

Asa Barlow will go to housekeeping in the George H. McLaughlin mill property this week.

H. A. Gum, of Highland, James Stretch, of Green Bank, and Mrs S. C. Ratcliff, of Green Hill, were welcome visitors at our office this week.

Mrs O. R. Slavin arrived at her home at Vine Creek, Kansas, from a visit to Marlinton, to find that her father, Mr William Kuhn, had died the day before. Her many Pocahontas friends sympathize with Mrs Slavin in her bereavement.

NOTICE.—J. D. Pullin & Co. have made an alteration in their manner of doing business, by which they will do only a cash business in the future. No books will be kept. Goods sold at low est market prices for cash only, or good marketable produce.

APRIL, derived from the Latin word aperio—to open. With the incoming of April Mother Earth opens wide her portals sending forth her riches. I am opening up my goods, and will have them ready by Court to show you. I invite you to come and look at the goods. P. GOLDEN.

WE learn from our exchanges that three West Virginia towns have through their councils passed curfew regulations, going into effect March 22. From April 1 to October 1 the court-house bells are to be rung at 9 in the evening, and for the other months at 8. The parent or guardian of any youth, male or female, that may be found on the streets will be fined five dollars for the first offense and twenty dollars for each subsequent offense. These fortunate towns are West Union, Buckhannon, and Hinton. As moral ties relax the necessity for stringent measures becomes needful for the protection of society from the hoodlumism of the times.

MR S. L. BROWN opened a tin tomato-can last week and discovered the following letter in the contents. It was written on a piece of foolscap paper in a legible hand and wrapped in a piece of tinfoil. It read: "Please answer this who gets this can. Object, correspondence and matrimony. VIRGINIA ROBINSON, Springwood, Virginia, August 9, 1896." Virginia was unfortunate in having her mystic can opened in Pocahontas, where she has so many beautiful girls to oppose her, but she must have long since despaired of receiving an answer from an eligible young man. She has done the consumer of tinned goods a favor tho, in giving them an intimation of time the contents were in the can before it was opened. We feel sure that this heroine of the tomato-can has ere this found some one to minister, for where there is a will there is a way!

AMERICANS are the most inventive people on earth. To them have been issued nearly 600,000 patents, or more than one third of all the patents issued in the world. No discovery of modern years has been of greater benefit to mankind than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy, or has done more to relieve pain and suffering. J. W. Yeagle, of Oakton, Ky., says: "I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in my family for several years, and I find it to be the best medicine I ever used used for cramps in the stomach and bowels. For sale by druggists.

Special.

A Miss Seiler at Mrs Cunningham's, good style and quality, trimmed in all silk ribbon, for only 25 cents. Never before sold for less than 40 cents.

A nice bighorn in black or cream for 25 cents. Call and examine.

Musical Association.

The Executive Committee of the Pocahontas County Musical Association will meet at Marlinton at the Court-house, on the first day of Circuit Court, April 6, 1897, at 1 p. m., to select a place to hold a place to hold the next meeting of the Association.

A full attendance of the committee is requested.

JOHN MCCOY, President.

Correspondence.

LITTLE LEVELS.

Overholt & Kinnison have started up their saw mill at the Auldridge not Monday. It has been idle for several weeks for want of repairs.

At the residence of the bride's father, William Miller, by Rev. D. S. Sydenstricker, Mr Landes and Miss Neva Miller were married on Thursday, March 25.

Jake Beard Esq. went to Rencerverte Tuesday on business.

Dr C. W. Eskridge is visiting relatives in Staunton. He took in the Baltimore Conference while there.

The sick folk are all reported to improving. Miss Nola McCoy, who has been quite ill, is better. N. G. McCoy, who had the misfortune to get his ribs broken, is getting along as well as could be expected.

Our farmers are afraid that the wheat will be damaged in this section, as it looks too fine for this season.

J. W. Warwick Esq. left for Randolph Monday where he expects to peddle fruit trees. He will be absent about three months.

Mrs Andrew Price and Miss Anna Price are visiting Mr Alvin Clark and family this week.

Mrs Dills is teaching quite a successful art class at this place.

BUMBLE BEE.

KNAPPS CREEK.

March came in like a lamb and went out lion.

W H. Moore, of Covington, is is visiting here.

We wonder why a young man would start for Dunmore, and land up at Driscol?

J. A. Moore, M. F. Herold and W. M. Gibson are visiting in Highland.

D. W. Dever sale was largely attended and every thing sold high.

There was a big game of foot ball played on the day of the sale.

Miss Lucy Sharp returned home accompanied by Peyton Moore.

The singing at Frost on Sunday was largely attended.

John Jackson has moved from P. M. Harper's place to Bath.

Zane Moore was down to Mill Point on a visit last week.

D. W. Dever does not expect to go west for a while. He wants to look at the blue grass farms on Elk a few more times. M. & H.

BUCKEYE

Rev Perry preached an able sermon Sunday.

The Hefner school, taught by Earnest Hill, of Jacox, closed last Thursday with an entertainment. Mr Hill taught an excellent school and deserves great praise. He made many friends while with us and he will be greatly missed. Left on Sunday for his home.

A. W. McNeill was a caller at Mr Beverage's Sunday evening.

John Atkison has completed his clearing and is about ready to plant.

Misses Rhoda and Annie Barnett, of Stony Bottom are visiting friends in this part.

Mrs Clark Kellison, who has been down with neuralgia for the past month, is able to be up a little.

Dr Weymouth was in this part last week fixing the ladies' teeth.

MOUNTAIN ROVER.

Q. W. Poage, of Clover Lick, was in this part on business last week.

Singing at the M. P. church by Prof. McKeever next Sunday at 1 o'clock.

Jake Webster has moved to W. McClintic's farm, where he will reside for a while.

Miss Sula Ashbridge is at home from Yelk, where she has been clerking in George L. Hannah's store.

We are sorry for Alvin Rodgers who went to see his girl Sunday and she was gone!

Rev Jerry Camlin Jeter
Had better have a care.
All is not gold that glitters,—
and the the Bible says that "the human heart is deceitful above all things and desperately wicked."

JAKE.

DUNMORE.

It mineth, the sun shineth, and the big tools make a joyful noise unto themselves.

H. M. and E. S. Moore and Rev J. T. Maxwell left Monday for Conference at Staunton. Rev Geter left in a boat for Roneverte.

Daniel Capp, a wealthy citizen of Augusta County, and a landowner in this county, hung himself a short time ago.

The Dever Sale was largely attended, and things generally brought good prices. Auctioneer Swecker will sell all of Capt Cassel's personal property on the 21 of April. Adam Geiger bought Mr Cassel's farm.

George Gregory was in town Monday.

We have had nineteen moves this winter—eighteen inches.

A good deal of plowing has been done. Some of the farmers have been playing hooked in their members.

The silver tongued Auctioneer will be at Court. Look out for him—he will surprise you.

Lightning Has Design—When a Place Suits! You Trust, but it Gets An Para Good Composition Every Day—Without Relief. There is No Pen

DRISCOL.

Jacob Leary, who has been working in the lumber camps on Williams river, is at home now.

Cam McElwee made a business trip to Marlinton last Saturday.

Miss Bertha Sharp is visiting her sister, Mrs John Campbell, of Covington, Virginia.

Miss Ella Sydenstricker has returned from an extended visit to relatives and friends in the Levels.

Peyton Moore, of Sunset, is a frequent visitor at this place.

Quite a crowd of young people from Sunset and Driscol attended the singing at Huntersville Sunday.

Stirling, youngest son of D. B. McElwee, has been very sick for the past week, but is improving. Dr Lockridge is attending him.

M. J. White is at home now.

B. F. White expects to build a house on the Seebert place soon.

Miss Anna Lee Irvine gave a recital on March 24, which was attended by about 25 of her young friends.

Mrs Nora Riley Burns closed her school on Browns mountain last week and will go to her new home in Virginia soon.

James W. Leary has been kept very busy lately.

We noticed Prof. James Reed, of Frost, on the streets last Saturday.

Miss Lucy Sharp, who attended Prof. Lantz's school, is a home.

The road between Huntersville and Driscol is in a very bad condition. DOGGY.

YELK.

We are having lots of cold weather and plenty of snow. It looks favorable for sugar-making again. The people have laid their plows by until spring comes again.

H. B. Sharp, Silas Sharp, Willie Morgan, and Charles McCoy killed some fine trout last week.

L. D. Sharp says he is not quite able to whip Fitzsimmons yet—it's a girl.

John Baughman was out from Gauley last week.

John Slanker, an old and estimable citizen of Linwood, was thrown from his horse last week.

Sam Gibson is still able to handle an ax.

C. P. Reckless is on the sick-list—she has a corn on her toe.

H. C. Sharp is prospering under the McKinley administration. He has five bail calves to date.

It looks like William Gibson would have to take his sheep back to winter quarters.

Levi Gibson had his ears laid back Sunday. He went somewhere.

People on Elk will soon peel off—the ramps are up.

A man from Upshur County went over Gauley hunting a deer-hide. He wanted it to patch his horse so it would last until money gets plenty.

Dr Griffin has gone into the mill business.

Charles Curtis will move to his new home this week.

Robert Gibson had a wood-chopping last week.

Frank Gibson has been putting cream on his face for the cats to lick! JOHN.

MRS A. INYEEN, residing at 702 Henry St., Afton, Ill., suffered with sciatic rheumatism for over eight months. She doctored for it nearly the whole of this time, using various remedies recommended by friends, and was treated by the physicians, but received no relief. She then used one and a half bottles of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which effected a complete cure. This is published at her request, as she wants others similarly afflicted to know what cured her. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by druggists.

For Sale

The Gem Soap Factory, with all fixtures. Established over thirteen years. Good reason for selling.

Address, R. GARCIN,
1446 E. Franklin Street,
Richmond, Va.

Cotton Plants.

Send two stamps to mail seed and directions how to grow cotton plants North. Address Seed Department, Seaboard Air Line, Pinebluff, (Winter health Resort), N. C.

Notice.

I will be in Marlinton April 6th (Court-day) prepared to castrate and spay all kinds of stock. Have had 10 years experience in the business, and can furnish recommendations from the largest stock raisers in Bath and Augusta Counties. C. H. ULEEK.

Notice.

All persons having bail by the year on the first five-mile section of road from Claibourne McNeill's to Marlinton, and on the bridge across Greenbrier River at Marlinton, will please come prepared to pay it to me once at the April Term of Court, or they will be charged regular prices by the top until their assessment of bills haven't been paid.

W. C. MANN & SON, Contractors.
W. W. TYLER, Toll Collector.
Marlinton, W. Va.

FOR SALE.—M. O'Friel, Mountain Grove, Virginia, offers for sale his valuable property at the Hot Springs, Bath County. Owing to ill health he is compelled to give up his general business.

LOOK! LOOK! LOOK!!

Biggest Auction in the COUNTY!

JUST BACK FROM BALTIMORE AND NEW YORK, AND WE HAVE MORE GOODS THAN WE HAVE ROOM FOR; AND I WILL CLOSE OUT SEVERAL THOUSAND DOLLARS worth OF ALL KINDS OF GOODS AT

Marlinton,

APRIL 6, 7, AND 8

You may blow about goods and bargains, but I will beat all records heretofore or hereafter for bargains this time. We have the goods and must sell them. Save your money and came to MARLINTON, APRIL 6, 7, & 8. Look out for the Red Flag—it indicates bargains. I invite you all to come. LADIES SALES IN THE AFTERNOON. Tell everybody you see, and those you don't see send word to.

C. B. SWECKER, General Auctioneer.

P. S. We expect to have with us one of the finest Auctioneers in the U. S. A., and if he gets here there will be a contest between him and Swecker for the Championship of the World, that will excite more curiosity that the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight.

New, Stylish, Good,

These words describe our new Spring Stock of 1897.

It is worth your while to trade with us even if you live in the uttermost parts of the county.

Do not fail to make it a part of your business to come and examine our goods and get prices when you come to court or have a visit to make to the clerk's office.

A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK

Of seasonable goods for old and young, rich and poor.

S. W. HOLT.

I respectfully solicit the trade to examine my new goods for the following 17 Reasons:

1 The stock is up to date
2 It is new throughout
3 It is thoroughly reliable
4 It is right priced
5 My profit is small
6 Nobody is urged to buy
7 Stock is cheerfully shown
8 Visitors always welocme
9 Cash power in buying quantity
10 Everything bought at lowest price
11 No misrepresentation
12 Full values always given
13 Never any occasion for dissatisfaction
14 Thorough knowledge how to buy
15 Judgment in choosing styles
16 Ability to satisfy customers
17 Never lose a good customer

Paul Golden.

Your ATTENTION!

1200 BUSHELS OF CORN,
1000 BUSHELS OF GOOD SEED OATS, AND 700 BUSHELS OF RYE FOR SALE CHEAP AT

SOL DAVIS'

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, April 2, 1897.

Subscription ONE DOLLAR in advance. If not paid within the year $1.50 will be charged.

Entered at the post office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

Business Rules.

When a subscriber orders his paper discontinued he is, of course, expected at the same time to pay up all arrearages.

No attention will be paid to anonymous communications. You need not sign your real name, but it must always accompany you communication.

On all job work our terms are cash, except in cases of merchants and others with whom we have running accounts.

THE COURTS

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

1897. THE SUN. 1897

BALTIMORE, MD.

THE PAPER FOR THE PEOPLE, FOR THE PEOPLE AND FOR THE PEOPLE.

HONEST IN MOTIVE.
FEARLESS IN EXPRESSION.
SOUND IN PRINCIPLE.
UNSWERVING IN ITS ALLEGIANCE TO EIGHT THOUGHTS AND RIGHT PURPOSES.

The Sun publishes all the news of the time, but it does not allow its columns to be degraded by unclean, immoral, or purely sensational matter.

Editorially, The Sun is the consistent and unchanging champion and defender of popular rights and interests against political machines and monopolies of every character. Independent in all things, extreme in none. It is for good laws, good government and good order.

by mail fifty Cents a month; Six Dollars a year.

The Baltimore Weekly Sun.

The Weekly Sun publishes all the news of each week, giving complete accounts of all events of interest throughout the world. As an AGRICULTURE at paper The Weekly Sun is unsurpassed. It is edited by writers of practical experience, who know what farming means, and what farmers want in an agricultural journal. It contains regular reports of the work of the AGRICULTURAL experiment stations throughout the country, of the proceedings of farmer's clubs and institutes, and the discussion of new methods and ideas in agriculture. Its Market Reports, Poultry Department, and Veterinary column are particularly valuable to country readers. Every issue contains Stories, Poems, Household and Puzzle Columns, a variety of interesting and instructive selected matter, and other features, which make it a welcome visitor in city and country homes alike.

One dollar a year. Inducements to getters-up of clubs for the Weekly Sun Both the Daily and Weekly Sun mailed free of postage in the United States, Canada, and Mexico. Payment invariably in advance. Address,

A. S. ABELL COMPANY,
Publishers and Proprietors,
Baltimore, Md.

SPECIAL POTATO FERTILIZER

and High Grade General Phosphates made from

VEGETABLE and ANIMAL MATTER.

Every farmer should write for prices, terms, and circulars.

AMERICAN REDUCTION CO.,
Pittsburg, Pa.

MARLINTON HOUSE,

Located East End of Bridge

Terms,
per day - 1.00 & 1.50
per meal - - - 25

Good accommodations for horses 50 cents per feed.

Special rates made by the week or month.

C. A. YEAGER, Proprietor

R·I·P·A·N·S

Tabules Without Gloss.
No. 1000, 1000, 1000.

Lightning Hot Drops—
What a Funny Name!
Very True, but it Kills All Pain
Sore Everywhere, Every Day—
Without Relief, There is No Fun

Poetry.

John Hay's Noted Poem.

The appointment of John Hay to be ambassador to England gives interest to the reproduction of his most noted poem, 'Jim Bludso, of the Prairie Bell.'

Wall, no! I can't tell what he lives,
Because he don't live, you see;
Leastways he's got out of the habit
Of living like you and me.
What have you been for the last three year,
That you haven't heard folks tell
How Jimmy Bludso passed in his checks
The night of the Prairie Bell?

He weren't no saint—them engineers
Is all pretty much alike—
One to handle the Nacheses under the hill
And one down here in the Lake;
A keerless man in his talk was Jim,
And an awful hard man to row,
Yet he never flinched and he never lied—
I reckon he never knowed how.

And this was all the religion he had—
To treat his engine well;
Never be passed on the river;
To mind the pilot's bell;
And if ever the Prairie Bell took fire—
A thousand times he swore,
He'd hold her nozzle agin the bank
Till the last galoot's ashore.

Through the hot black breath of the burnin' boat
Jim Bludso's voice was heard,
And they all had trust in his cussedness
And knowed he would keep his word.
And, sure's you're born, they all got off
Afore the smokestack fell;
And Bludso's ghost went up alone
In the smoke of the Prairie Bell.

He warn't no saint, but at Judgement
I'd run my chance with Jim
'Longside of some pious gentlemen
That wouldn't shook with him.
He saved his duty—a dead sure thing—
And went for it thar and then;
And Christ ain't a-going to be too hard
On a man that died for men.

WASHINGTON Hand-Press for Sale.

THE POCAHONTAS TIMES has for sale a most convenient, easiest-running, Washington Hand-Press, at a price about one-third of its real worth. This press would form the nucleus of a profitable country newspaper business. Its capacity is a six-column folio, and for years did the work of THE TIMES office. The consensus of opinion of all the printers who have ever operated this press is that more impressions can be made with greater ease than on any other press ever operated by them. This press is of no value to THE TIMES, owing to being supplanted by a power press.

Also the proprietors will sell for a fair price the good will, machinery, and material of the business known as THE POCAHONTAS TIMES printing plant—consisting of the most complete printing outfit outside of a town or city in the State.

VALUABLE

Property for Sale Privately.

One of the most complete residences in the county, situated in the village of Hillsboro, is offered for sale private-y, on good terms.

This would be especially valuable to any doctor who wishes to locate in one of the best sections of the State. The owner, a physician, wishes to retire, or private reasons that will be perfectly satisfactory to any proposed purchaser.

Further information cheerfully afforded any inquirer by the editor of this paper.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

State of West Virginia, } ss.
Pocahontas County, }

At rules held in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court of said county, on the first Monday in March, 1897.

G. P. Kerr and Lee Irvine, Plaintiffs.
vs.
Philip C. Ruder, James McN. Kerr, Percy A. Tracy, John Tracy, and O. F. Ilse, Defendants.

The object of this suit is to subject the real estate of the defendant, Philip C. Ruder, to the payment of the judgments and other liens enforced herein.

This day came the plaintiffs by their attorneys, and on their motion and it appearing by affidavit filed that the said defendants, William Tracy, Margaret E. Warfield, the heirs of George P. Warfield, the unknown heirs of Wilson Goodlow, the unknown heirs of Dotson M. Hogsett, the unknown heirs of Lida M. Wyant, and the unknown widow of said John F. Wanless are non-residents of the state of West Virginia; it is ordered that the appearance herein and answer shall be due at the first publication hereof, and by what is ordered to be posted at the front door of the court house of this county. Teste:

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
Wm. M. & J. T. McCLINTIC, p. q.

Civil Service Examinations and Answers.

There is just now an increasing interest in the Civil Service law and examinations among the noble army of patriots who are ambitious to serve their country in public office. President Roosevelt, of the New York Police Board, has given out answers obtained at recent Civil Service examinations of men applying for positions on the police force, and some of these we print below for the benefit of those of our Republican friends who are "studying up" just now. Mr Roosevelt says:

"For example, one question we asked was to name five of the states which seceded from the Union in 1861. One answer was 'New York, Albany, Pennsylvania, Philadelphia and Delaware.'

"Name five of the New England states. One answer was 'England, Ireland, Scotland, Whales and Cork.' Another answer was 'London, Africa and New England.'

"Name four of the executive departments of this government.' Among the answers was one of two words: 'Exactive commite.'

"Upon what written instrument is the government of the United States founded? The conclusion one bright competitor reached was expressed in the brief word 'Paper.' Another was, 'Into what three branches is the government of the United States divided?' Rather a common answer to this during the heat of the last campaign was, Republicans, Democracy and Populists.'

"Another question on this line recently asked was, 'What is the highest branch of the judiciary department of the United States?' This drew out a fine crop of replies. Which included 'Fiar Department,' 'Sir Pream court,' 'senitor,' 'exzegative,' 'General Secession,' 'The Postmaster,' and 'The Jury must.'

"Yet another question was, 'Why were July 4 and February 22 made legal holidays?' One answer read, 'The day of George Washington landing and crossing the Delaware,' another 'On them days the country was freed;' another 'The President takes his seat;' and yet another 'July 4th was the end of the ware.'

"Another question was, 'In case of the inability or disability of the mayor, who would perform his duties?' One man, evidently puzzled by the spelling, simply wrote 'Mair.' Another, with deft flattery, names President Roosevelt, while the opinions of others varied from 'board of escumbrances' to 'any police captain who wants to.'

"Mr Roosevelt quotes the replies received to the request for a letter about Abraham Lincoln: 'One man had him assassinated by Thomas Jefferson, another by Garfield, and yet another by Ballington Booth. Guiteau, of course, figured conspicuously as his assassin. One answer was that he 'Fanght one of the worst battles doing this war Dutch Hooker hill.' Another applicant said that 'Lincoln freed the South and let the donkey go free and he was shot by Garfield.' Another applicant made rather a good shot when he wrote: 'The greatest of historical emancipators.' Another applicant stated that 'the Hon Mr Lincoln, the diocreased, was a brave man and coregees. He was a intelligent man and I think this country would be as bad as Cuba or Ireland, Scotland, or Whales if he did n't take action.' One of the was evidently a cynic, for he wrote: 'Pigt of corse he was not the great man that the people taught he was and in my opinion I think he did not due the people whom elected him as much justes—as he migh of don' As a final answer I will give the following: 'Kind Gentlemen—In reference to the life of Abraham Lincoln would say that I am not personally acquainted with him. He was a clerc in the grocery store and could lick any of the village boys. He at one time had a very bad friend who at the end killed him.'"

Has You Dyspepsia Your Enemy?

Monongalia Centenarian.

Yesterday, Hezekiah Thomas made one of his infrequent visits to Morgantown. He lives nine miles from here, near Lock No. 9, but of late years has rarely had business calling him to the county seat, says the Morgantown Monogalian. Mr Thomas is nearly 103 years old, and this is the first time that the cold little leaden messengers of thought have spelled his name. He is active, alert, and looks not so aged as his son, Sam Thomas, who is better known in Morgantown than his father, and is considered an old man.

Hezekiah Thomas was born in Monongalia County, not far from where Laurel Run empties into the Monongahela, July 1, 1794. He has been a farmer and riverman all his life, chews tobacco, drinks two cups of coffee three times a day, takes a nip of liquor occasionally, never wore an overcoat, overshoes, woolen gloves or a pair of shoes—always boots;—has been fearfully exposed to freshets when running rafts down the river, and was never farther away from home than Lock No. 4. With it all he is really more sprightly than many men of 60. At the time of the breaking out of the war between the State his application for enlistment was refused because he was too old. To this day he refers to the old veterans as 'them youngsters.' He has sons and daughters older who had reached more than 65 years.

This centenarian is a product who has breathed the air of other sections never said of other counties even only at rare intervals. Education never bothered his head much, tho he can read.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hear in will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Hall's Family Pill are the best.

J. H. CLARK

House and Sign Painter, Hillsboro, W. Va., does his work well. Uses the new discovery for binding White Lead. No Chalking or Scaling. Give him a trial.

m19 6m

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONTAS COUNTY, }

At Rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on Monday, the 1st day of March, 1897.

Davis Wanless, Dora E. Rich (nee Wanless), and Sally Swilvent (nee Wanless)..... Plaintiffs.
vs.
John F. Wanless, William Wanless and a sister whose name is unknown, heirs at law of Stephen Wanless, deceased; Ralph W. Wanless, Stephen H. Wanless, the unknown heirs of George P. Wanless, deceased, and Margaret E. Wanless, children and heirs at law of Ralph Wanless, deceased; The unknown heirs of William Wahlenpaugh; the unknown heirs of Betsy M. Hatter, (nee Wanless); the unknown heirs of Lida M. Wyant all the foregoing defendants being heirs at law of a certain James Wanless, deceased; Newton M. Feetig, and Jacob H. Shooker, and all the other unknown heirs of James Wanless, Sr., deceased..... Defendants.

The object of this suit is to have partition of the lands in the bill and proceedings mentioned, to which James Wanless, Sr. died seized and possessed, and which are now in the possession of the said John F. Wanless; and to assign to the plaintiffs their respective interests in said lands, and to this end to take all necessary and proper proceedings.

This day came the plaintiffs by their attorneys, and on their motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed that the said defendants, William Tracy, Margaret E. Warfield, the heirs of George P. Warfield, the unknown heirs of Wilson Goodlow, the unknown heirs of Dotson M. Hogsett, the unknown heirs of Lida M. Wyant, and the unknown widow of said John F. Wanless are non-residents of the state of West Virginia; it is ordered that the appearance herein and answer shall be due at the first publication hereof, and by what is ordered to be posted at the front door of the court house of this county. Teste:

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
Wm. M. & J. T. McCLINTIC, p. q.

Monongalia Centenarian.

Yesterday, Hezekiah Thomas made one of his infrequent visits to Morgantown. He lives nine miles from here, near Lock No. 9, but of late years has rarely had business calling him to the county seat, says the Morgantown Monogalian. Mr Thomas is nearly 103 years old, and this is the first time that the cold little leaden messengers of thought have spelled his name. He is active, alert, and looks not so aged as his son, Sam Thomas, who is better known in Morgantown than his father, and is considered an old man.

Hezekiah Thomas was born in Monongalia County, not far from where Laurel Run empties into the Monongahela, July 1, 1794. He has been a farmer and riverman all his life, chews tobacco, drinks two cups of coffee three times a day, takes a nip of liquor occasionally, never wore an overcoat, overshoes, woolen gloves or a pair of shoes—always boots;—has been fearfully exposed to freshets when running rafts down the river, and was never farther away from home than Lock No. 4. With it all he is really more sprightly than many men of 60. At the time of the breaking out of the war between the State his application for enlistment was refused because he was too old. To this day he refers to the old veterans as 'them youngsters.' He has sons and daughters older who had reached more than 65 years.

This centenarian is a product who has breathed the air of other sections never said of other counties even only at rare intervals. Education never bothered his head much, tho he can read.

MEDICAL WISDOM.

THE DREADED CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

T. A. Slocum, M. C., the great Chemist and Scientist, Offers to Send Free, to Afflicted, Sufferers Bottles of His Newly-Discovered Remedies to Cure Consumption and all Lung Troubles.

Nothing could be fairer, more philanthropic or carry more joy in its wake than the offer of T. A. Slocum, M. C., of 183 Pearl street New York City.

Confident that he has discovered an absolute cure for consumption and all pulminary complaints, and to make its great merits known, he will send, free, three bottles, to any reader of the POCAHONTAS TIMES, who is suffering from chest, bronchial, throat and lung troubles or consumption.

Dr. Slocum's new scientific course of medicine has permanently cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases.

The Doctor considers it his religious duty to the world to prove to humanity—to donate his infallible cure.

Offerred freely, apart from its inherent strength, is enough to commend it, and more so is the great confidence of the great chemist making the proposition.

He has proved consumption to be a curable disease beyond any doubt.

There will be no mistake in sending—the mistake will be in overlooking the generous invitation. He has on file in his American and European laboratories testimonials of experience from those cured, in all parts of the world.

Delays are dangerous. Address T. A. Slocum, M. C., 183, Pearl street New York, and when writing to the Doctor, please give express and postoffice address, and mention reading this article in The POCAHONTAS TIMES.

FEED, LIVERY —AND— SALE STABLES.

First-Rate Teams and Saddle-Horses Provided.

Horses for Sale and Hire.

SPECIAL ACCOMODATIONS FOR STALLIONS.

A limited number of Horses board

All persons having horses to trade are invited to call. Young horses broke to ride or work.

J. H. G. WILSON,
Marlinton W. Va

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONTAS COUNTY, }

At rules held in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court for said county on Monday, March 1st, 1897.

A. Barlow ..... Plaintiff
Vs.
George W. McDanald, and others ..... Defendants.

The object of this suit is to attach and sell for the debt of the plaintiff the interest of George W. McDanald in that portion of three tracts of land, towit: 1633, 324, and 167 acres in the bill and proceedings described, which said land has been levied by order of court in the chancery cause Hall vs. Hall, and assigned to said McDanald, and which according to that division is 958 acres.

This day came the plaintiff by his attorney, add on his motion and it appearing by affidavit filed, that Mrs Emma P. McDanald, the widow of John A. McDanald, deceased, and their children, whose names are unknown, are non-residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the date of the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
R. S. Turk p. q.

C. B. SWECKER,
General Auctioneer
and Real Estate Agent

I sell Coal, Mineral and Timber Lands Farms and Town Lots and specialize 25 years in the business. Correspondence solicited. Reference furnished.

Postoffice—Dunmore, W. Va., or Alexander, W. Va.

Farmers' Home Fire Insurance Co., of West Virginia

J. M. SYDENSTRICKER - - - President
R. P. RITTENHOUSE - Sec'y & Treas.
INCORPORATED.

By the People and for the People.

For Isolated Property only. No Salaried Officers to Support. No expenses to be Taxed. No Losses to Expense. Fair and Honorable Adjustment of all Losses. Cost less than one fifth of what is paid a stock company, and is five times as secure. In most successful operation in all of the adjoining States. Business solicited. Satisfaction assured to Insurers.

T. L. REYNOLDS & SONS, agents
Lewisburg, W. VA

THE ODELL TYPE WRITER.

$20 will buy the ODELL TYPE WRITER with Typewriters, wire ribbon, and good work as any one needs.

It combines superiority with durability, speed, ease of operation, wears longer without cost of repairs than any other machine made. Has but 38 parts to adjust to all kinds of work, is interchangeable, speed, guaranteed, permanent alignment, visible writing, universal keyboard, and is adapted to all kinds of work. Weighs only 7 pounds. Price complete with cover, $20. Send for circulars and testimonials from Leading and Reliable Agents and Salesmen Wanted. The Foremost Writing Machine on the Market.

ODELL TYPE WRITER CO.
203-205 Broadway, N. Y. Mention this paper.

What is

CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly said me of its good effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consult their best interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY,
Boston, Mass.

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

Simms & Co.

RONCEVERTE, W. VA

Silver Steel Plow, Syracuse Chilled Plows, Imperial Chilled Plows.

PLOW REPARS OF ALL KNDS AT

LOWEST PRICES EVER OFFERED HERE

RED WARRIOR POLL AXES			65
GREENBRIER	"	"	60
CHAMPION	"	"	50
4 No. 2 Horse-shoes for	15c	4 No. 4 Horse-shoes	1
4 No. 4 " "	25c	4 No. 5 "	1

COOK-STOVES OF ALL KINDS

1 doz. 8x10 Window Glass	35c	Beres Grindstone	1-4c
Paints, Oils, Varnishes, etc.

Our goods are all first class, no shoddy or job-lots, or damaged goods. Strike us for prices before you buy.

Simms & Co.,
Opposite Passenger Depot. Ronceverte, W. Va.

$5.00 LOOK MOTHERS A RARE TREAT FOR YOU ALL. Boys Sampson Suit, with Extra Pair of Pants, for $2.76
AND WE PAY EXPRESS CHARGES TO YOUR DOOR.
REMEMBER, you buy direct from one of the largest Boys' Clothing Manufacturers in America, and we do away with Retail Profits.

E. ROSENBURGER & CO., 204 E. 103d St., New York C

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 14, NO. 37 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, APRIL 9, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 8. Solid Oak Extension Table, polished top, 8 square legs six inches thick. The frame and slides are constructed, framed and finely ornamented. Top 42 inches in diameter. Extends 6 feet long when opened. Special Price,

$3.95

(Orders promptly filled.)

The above is but one of over 100 bargains to be found in our new catalogue. It contains all kinds of Furniture, Stoves, Carpets, Refrigerators, Baby Carriages, Organs, Sewing Machines, Bicycles, Guns, Revolvers, Etc., Etc. Also we pay the freight on all orders amounting to $25 or more. Does a postal for our great money saving catalogue which we mail free of all charges. Read what the manufacturers say when you write them for prices. Then see how much you can save by buying your household goods.

Julius Hines & Son,
BALTIMORE, MD.

County Directory.

Judge ..... J. M. McWhorter
Pros. Attorney ..... L. M. McClintic
Sheriff ..... B. W. Hill
Clerk County Court ..... S. L. Brown
Clerk Circuit Court, J. H. Patterson
Assessor ..... J. H. Buzzard
Com'rs. Co. Ct. { Amos Harlow, C. S. Beard, J. E. Warwick
Surveyor ..... George Baxter
Coroner ..... George P. Moore

BOARD OF HEALTH—Dr J. W. Price, L. M. McClintic, M. J. McNeel, B. W. Hill.

JUSTICES—Uriah Bird, Marlinton; A. C. L. Gatewood, Linwood; P. D. Arbogast, Green Bank; W. H. Grose, Huntersville; G. B. Cutlip, Academy; F. A. Bruffey, Lobelia.

LAW CARDS.

S. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATT'Y AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BEATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

KARL B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business of counties joining attended to.

B. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. W. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County as soon as he is able to do so after his return from the war.

DR. J. H. HEYSINGER,
ASSISTANT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact time of each visit will appear in The Times.

DR. J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office and residence in C. A. Yeager's building, formerly occupied by Dr. Barlow. All calls promptly answered.

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

This paper is devoted to the memory of two persons whose numerous descendants have formed an influential element of our citizenship for the past 75 years.

Felix Grimes, the pioneer, and his wife, Catherine, were natives o' Ireland. The ship on which they sailed came near being lost during a storm in midocean. At one time the masts were touching the waves and the water pouring in over the ship's side. The passengers and some of the sailors were in frantic terror, some were praying, some cursing and swearing, and some wildly screaming with fright. The captain and some of the crew were self-possessed enough to urge the passengers to the opposite side of the vessel, and it righted at once, and the voyage was made in safety thereafter. It took about three months to make the crossing. The landing was at New Castle, most probably, and some time was spent in Pennsylvania. Following the tide of emigration, these persons finally located a home on the uplands overlooking the valley of Knapp's Creek from the west, nine or ten miles from Huntersville. It is believed they settled here about 1770.

The original name was Graham, but it came to be abreviated to Grimes, and has been so written and pronounced all along.

Felix Grimes settled in the unbroken forest on lands now occupied by Morgan Grimes, the heirs of the late Davis Grimes, and others in their vicinity. The original site is now (1897) in the possession of Margaret Grimes, near Mt. Zion church. "Traces of the pioneer home are yet discernable near her residence. It is probable the Grimes relationship will have a reunion before long at the place, and will mark the spot with a memorial stone. It was here these worthy persons reared their family consisting of five sons and four daughters: Margaret, Mary, Sally, and Nancy; Arthur, John, Charles, Henry, and James.

Margaret Grimes married William Montgomery, and settled in Licking County, Ohio.

Nancy Grimes was married to Rev Samuel C. Montgomery, a Methodist minister in the same county.

Mary Grimes was married to Henry Montgomery, of Ohio; and Sally married a son of Alexander Waddell, the Marvin pioneer, and moved to Gallipolis, Ohio.

Arthur Grimes, eldest son of Felix, married Miss Mary Sharp, a sister of the late William Sharp, near Verdant Valley. Their children were: Rachel, who married Solomon Buzzard; Henry, who married Hester Buzzard, daughter of Reuben Buzzard, of Pendleton County. Henry's sons were Peter and Franklin, now in Iowa; Zane and Hugh, near Frost; David, in Harrison County. Hugh and David were Union soldiers, and Zane also.

Jane married Leonidas Bowyers. She died in Highland County. Her sons, Cicero and James Leonard Bowyers, went to Parkersburg, West Virginia.

John, son of Arthur Grimes, died in Buckhannon during the late war between the States.

David G., of Arthur, married Mary Grimes, daughter of James Grimes, of Felix, the pioneer. Their son, Hanson, married Mary Nottingham, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Harvey Nottingham, near Glade Hill. Hanson's only child, Minnie Grimes, is now Mrs Earl Arbogast, of Green Bank.

Margaret, a daughter of David G., first married W. H. Stone. After his decease she married Hanson Wilfong, now living near the Hot Springs, Virginia, and is the mother of fourteen children.

Amanda, another daughter of David Grimes, married Charles O. W. Sharp, near Frost. She is the mother of eight children. Her son Hanson is in Central America, and Frank is in Tennessee.

Leah, another daughter of David G. of Arthur of Felix, the settler, married Rev George F. Hansucker, now in Upshur County. She is the mother of seven children, four living and three dead. Mr Hannah is an esteemed and useful minister of the M. E. Church.

Rebecca, daughter of Arthur of Felix the elder, married Thomas Drinnan, settled in Buckhannon, thence to Parkersburg, thence to Chillicothe, Ohio. She was the mother of four children. One son, Franklin; and three daughters, names not remembered.

Arthur Grimes, Jr., son of Arthur of Felix, the settler, married Rebecca Cumpston, and lived awhile on the old homestead, then moved to Upshur County. His son Newton died young. Lavinia married Silas Helmick. Rebecca Jane is married and lives in Upshur. Angeline is the youngest.

Hon John Grimes, son of Felix, the pioneer, married Elizabeth Burner, of Travelers Repose, and lived near Hillsboro on the farm now owned by Pocahontas County for an infirmary. There were six children. Henry died in youth. Abraham married Miss Callison, and finally moved to Galla County, O., so did Wesley and Fletcher. Nancy married a Mr Morrison and settled in Upshur County, West Virginia. Elizabeth married William McCoy and went to Ohio. Late in life Mr Grimes went to Ohio to be with his sons.

Hon John Grimes was a person of fine appearance, and possessed natural endowments of a high order, and made the most of his limited opportunities for mental improvement. He represented Pocahontas as a Democrat in the House of Delegates, 1841–42. Upon his motion charters were granted for three academies—Hillsboro, Huntersville, and Green Bank. He was also a very prominent member of his church—the Methodist Episcopal.

Charles Grimes, the third son of Felix the emigrant, married Martha Buzzard, daughter of Reuben Buzzard, Sr., of Glade Hill. His family consisted of ten children. John Wesley died young. Morgan married Jane, daughter of Major Daniel McLaughlin, near Green Bank. Morgan's children are John Wesley, at home. Ceres is the wife of the Rev Jasper N. Sharp, a member of the West Virginia M. E. Conference, and is now in Preston County. Mantie is Mrs Geo. Bambrick, near Dilley's Mill, and Onie Jane is at home with her parents. Morgan Grimes, Esq., was a Union soldier during the late war between the States, and so was his relative W. C. Grimes.

William Davis E. F. Grimes, another son of Charles of Felix, married Margaret Paugh, and settled on a section of the old homestead. He recently died, and is survived by his widow and two children,—Ida Missouri, who married Clay Dropperd, and Elmer E. Grimes, for two years past a student at the Hillsboro high school.

Susan L., a daughter of Charles Grimes of Felix, married Samuel Auldridge. She was the mother of five children. Tillotson Morgan lives at Buckeye, Charles died in Greenbrier, Luther lives near Mill Point, Keaney near Hillsboro, Elizabeth married William Clendennin and resides near Hillsboro.

Margaret Montgomery Grimes, daughter of Charles Grimes of Felix married Hugh Mc. Carpenter and settled near Dunmore, on Thomas Creek. She was the mother of five children. Charles went to Texas, Hanson and Fletcher live near Dunmore; Rachel married Craighin Grimes, a prominent teacher of public schools, who lives near Mill Point.

Elizabeth Catherine, another daughter of Charles Grimes, died during the war,—a young woman of much amiability of character.

Another daughter of this Charles Grimes, Mary Cullum, was married to Rev George Pence Watkins, a widely known and much esteemed Methodist minister of the M. E. Church. Towards the close of his long and useful ministerial service he was Presiding Elder of the Roanoke District. At his death he was a citizen of Montgomery County, Virginia. Her children were Rosa Lavelle, wife of Beauty Alleyne, of Price's Fork, Va., who was killed while at work on New River Bridge. Belle Watkins married William Snedigar, on Droop Mountain, who is now a merchant at Lafayette, Montgomery County, Virginia. Samuel Watkins is a young Methodist minister recently licensed. Virgie Watkins is the wife of U. S. A. Hevener, a Methodist minister now in Tennessee. Fannie Watkins died young.

Another daughter of Charles Grimes of Felix the emigrant was named Loretta Jane. She is the wife of William Jefferson Moore, who lives on a part of the Moore homestead. She is the mother of nine children. George E. Moore, a well known teacher of the public schools and vocal music; Charles E., Rose and Ira Hays Moore, Martha E., Carrie F., Fannie M., who is the wife of Christopher McLaughlin, near Dunmore; Myrtle, and Hattie M.

Rachel A. Grimes, another daughter of Charles Grimes, was married to A. Jackson Moore, Esq., on Back Alleghany. She has seven children. Forest, Minnie Virgie, now Mrs John Silver, Cass, Mill Point; Samuel, Elmer, Lelie, and Lanty.

Martha S. Grimes, a daughter of Charles, of Felix, became the wife of Peter H. Grimes, and settled at Origin Iowa. The names of her six children are Thelia, Sella, Mary, Ezra, Brumbery, and Henry.

Henry Grimes, son of Felix, died in youth.

James Grimes, the last of the sons of Felix, the pioneer, married Mary Burner, of the Upper Tract, a sister of the late Hugh Burner, Esq. James settled on that section of the Felix Grimes landed now held by Mrs Mary Price. There were nine children: Mr. Abraham, who married Margaret Brady, daughter of Samuel Brady, and settled in Webster County, West Virginia, and raised a large family. Rev Addison Grimes, book agent, one of Abram's sons. Abraham died a year ago, since aged seventy years.

Another son of James of Felix, Allen Grimes, married Francis Weiford, and after her death, married Fannie Silva and lived on Stamping Creek. His children are Craigin B. Grimes, Elizabeth, who is the wife of Thomas Rigsby, in Webster County; Georgiana, the wife of Harvey Bobbitt, on Stamping Creek; J. Barnett Grimes, of Hill's Creek, a prominent teacher; James Grimes on Stamping Creek; Mary, the wife of Willard Overholt; and Luey, the wife of Emmet Nottingham, on Stamping Creek.

George Grimes, of James, married Nancy Friel, daughter of the late Josiah Friel, and settled above Mill Point.

George C. Grimes of James married Eleanor Weiford, and moved to Iowa, and reared seven children. Rettie, Scott, Granville, William, Esta, and Zuna are the names now remembered by their friends.

Harvey Grimes, of James, of Felix, married Henrietta Thurman, in Upshur County, where he lived and died.

Bryson, of James, died in youth, just before the War.

Catherine, of James, married Leonard Bowyer as his second wife.

Mary, of James, married David Grimes.

Elizabeth, of James, married James Weiford, of Hillsboro.

These two, Brown and Nixon Weiford, are her sons; also the Rev Gentian S. Weiford, of Dilly's Mill.

This brings the chronicles of the Grimes relationship within the memory and observation of their living friends, and a basis is furnished for the use of some future compiler. The writer gratefully appreciates the patient and efficient assistance rendered him by Morgan Grimes and Mrs Montie Bambrick.

Jacob Warwick and Felix Grimes began to have been on very friendly terms. He soon asked Jesse Grimes what he would charge for managing his affairs while Jesse was hoping to ascertain what he would be willing to do it for. Mr. Warwick suggested that all he required for what he was doing was what he could eat and wear.

Elder Grimes and Lord Moore, son of Levi the pioneer, and also afterwards a member of the Legislature, went on a scout to Clover Lick to see if Indians were around. Seeing no sign, they went to the house, placed their guns just outside the door, and finding a bed within laid down and fell asleep. Arthur dreamed of being bitten by a rattlesnake, sprang out of bed, and awakened Moore. The dog was growling at Indians stealing towards the house. The men seized their guns and escaped, leaving the dog shut up in the house. The Indians soon came to them, however. The Indians fired the building and killed the dog. The men managed themselves by stripping the feathers from two fire roosters to see their antics.

When they reported to Jacob Warwick about the affair, he told them that whenever he dreamed of wild turkeys he was sure of having trouble with the Indians very soon.

W. T. P.

PROCRASTINATION.

Few minor bad habits are worse and few more common than the habit of putting off. Delaying till tomorrow (cras) or later than the morrow what should be done immediately or in today. Thoughtlessly indolently, or intentionally putting off one's work or duty or little kindness is an every-day fault; certainly it is not so bad as lying or stealing, swearing or liquor drinking, but procrastination is an evil thing and often followed by deplorable consequences.

When the French Empress Eugenie (once Empress) was called to mourn the death of her only child, once the Prince Imperial, who had gone with the British troops to the South of Africa, her great desire was to stand, herself, on the very spot of ground where her young son fell, pierced by the cruel assegai of a Zula warrior. Eugenie went there, and like any other stricken mother,—(did we not see our friend, Mrs S. B. H., traveling in her illhealth over a good portion of Pocahontas County to talk with her son's physician, and gather every little word and item concerning her boy M——, dying at the timber-camp)—Eugenie must hear any word that dropped from the Prince's lips ere he fell under by the savage Zulu's spear.

"Madame, we were reconnoitering, there was danger of ambushed Zulus, and we warned the Prince to return to camp. 'Yes,' he replied pleasantly, 'on dix minutes.' " Alas! before ten minutes had passed the fatal assegai laid him low.

"How like my son," said Eugenie. From a child, he would ever defer things, and his frequent saying was 'on dix minutes.' " (In ten minutes.) And by this habit he probably lost his life.

Worse than that, we doubt not, many souls are lost by the deplorable act of putting off the search for the search for the Lord Jesus Christ who has said to-day is the accepted time. Remember now thy Creator.

A. L. P.

Essay on Journalism.

A bright little boy who attends one of the city public schools was told by his teacher to write an essay on 'Journalism,' and the next day he handed in the following:

"Journalism is the science of all sorts of journals is good things except when they is bad journals and then they is just awful. My ma, she takes a fashion journal what is always full of the pictures of bowed old maids with the ugliest dresses on I ever saw. The fashion journal is a heap greater than the bad journal. Once the bad journal stops the train and the fashion starts it. The fashion journal don't stop nothin' but a broken window light and pa's bank account.

"There is sheep journals and hog journals and brass journals, too, and ye bee gets a journal down at the store where he lives, cause he is about fifteen years old. Engineers and Firemen's Journal. Then we had a witness at the last to attend both Journal. She was the hardest journal I ever see. She was a hard journal.

"They don't no more journals than I have mentioned.

"I should like to say that a man what goes into one of the new places is called a journalist. Press and Printer."

THE WEEKLY LETTER.

At this season of the year the anxious housekeeper casts about for something new to have for dinner. There is so little variety. Eggs have lost their charm. Beans is an old song. Potatoes have ceased to please. Those who have a taste that way flee to ramps while the cost sail for something to grow in the garden.

The quandary of the cook, though not so bad is that of the writer who has to set a new dish before the people each week. Once and a while I have a contribution [illegible] my editor's locks of composition. I was not handicapped by any such thoughts. For instance, the teacher said write a composition on "trees," and the result was about as follows for the opening lines:

"There are manny kinds of trees, such as the oak, ash, sicermore, pine, hickery, pear, peach, apple, walnut, cherry, and chestnut. Some trees grows wild and some is planted. When a lot of apple trees is planted in a field it is called a orchard. Trees is sometimes cut down and sawed up in lumber. The man takes the lumber and builds a house and lives in it. Sometimes lightning strikes trees and tears them all down. They say that lightning don't never strike twice in the same place. My pa says it is because it don't have to. Trees has many different uses. The cows gets under the shade to be shaded, and the birds roost in the limbs. Some trees bears fruit and some don't have nothing on them but leaves. Some trees stays green all winter," etc., etc.

All this valuable information I would read before a more or less informed audience, and every word of it was true. Then the next would be "Flowers," and the composition would start off in this unique fashion: "There are many different kinds of flowers," etc.

Somebody suggested that when I was casting about for some new thing to thrust upon an unwilling public, to write about our Greenbrier river. It may be that I have mentioned this noble stream in these columns before, but perhaps the stream has never been immortalized in "The Weekly Letter," so O river, of thee I sing; and, as a member of the legislature of Rome said, flumen orationis aureum (a golden tide of words) is now in order.

The apostrophe to our beautiful river must be written by another hand than mine. All I know to say in praise of our beautiful river is that I verily believe it is the finest stream in the world, with clearest, purest, coldest water, flowing thro the most magnificent mountain scenery.

There be some that say the river drains the county, taking out always and bringing nothing in, but we can hardly imagine our county without the Greenbrier. People of little counties may marvel when we claim over seventy miles of river frontage in one stream, and that not counting the winding or meandering of the same.

We have all seen it when its tide was so low with drouth that the wayfaring man could pass over dryshod, and again at another season when the horseback rider could hardly choose a day for wades at a time when he could find this silent and swift flowing stream.

To the river the county owes its lumbering operations, which have been carried on so extensively in the past fifteen or twenty years, and which has led a good many men to become pilots on the river. These men undertake the dangerous work of rafting on a swift and rocky river; and from one of the most successful rivers a-on I warrant, on the other by the names of the curious points on the river by which they can locate any occurrence of a trip to the C. & O. railway. These, as remembered, give an index about a considerable wealth of language, and many of the names have, probably, never been recorded before. These points starting at the head of navigation, about forty miles above Marlinton (to Rosecrans are about as follows:

Starting at Peter's Landing on Back Alleghany, we come to the Cunninghams Rapids, the Whirlpool, Hevener's Landing, Cassell Island, Lakin Island—this took its name from one of the very few mishaps of that old river man, Captain Lakin, who was quartered on it a day and a night after a wreck. Then to Leatherbark, Alfred's Ford, Deer Creek Islands, Ray's Eddy, Stony Bottom, MacCalpin's Islands, Beaver Pond, Clover Creek, Malcomb Eddy, Johnson Eddy, Bridger Place, Hooper Eddy, Frost's Crossing, Thorney Creek, Crooked Bend, Milling, Marlin Ford, Josh Rose Island, Duncan Rocks, Buckley Ford, Beaver Creek Islands, Cattle Dam, Stamping Creek Towhead, Sister Rocks, Deming Landing, Brook-neck, Side Suck Bend, Copperhead Rock, Perkin's Towhead, Spice Run Bend, Davy Run Rapids, Glen Rocks, Black Pond Island, McClure Rocks, Pine Island, Bird's Dam, Gamer's Fields, Falling Spring Bridge Jamison, Bush Islands, Horseshoe Bend, Miller's Eddy, Tumbling Rocks, Three Island Ford, Free Bridge, Calhoun Islands, Slippery Ford, Dry Prong, Keister's Landing, Blankenship's, Huff Dam, Side-Suck-on-the-Right, Sliding Bend, Bore's Landing, Suck Lick Islands, Hickory Top, Chestnut Island, Caldwell Pond, Stone-horse Islands, Cat Rocks, (end of drive), Caldwell Bridge, Splash Dam, Iron Bridge, Head of Piers, Roneverte.

Having duly recorded the names of points of interest on the river, a review of the fishing will be in order, for there is grand fishing in the Greenbrier. The fish have wholly changed from old times to this. Forty years ago the river swarmed with catfish, trout, and suckers; but these receded before the inroads and encroachments of the black bass, until thousands are caught every year. The protection of the bass up until June 15 of each year will not only allow them time to spawn; but will prevent them being butchered by pot fishers. During the spawning season they can be caught by the clumsiest bungler. If a bass be lingering in shallow water near the spawning place, the fisherman has only to approach boldly and drop some sort of bait near it, and the fish is destroyed without a struggle.

In regard to sport, Greenbrier river has furnished the deer-hunter the most magnificent stream imaginable for the chase. Those who took advantage of the method before it became unlawful, know that on a number of mountain-streams the roar of the water prevents the slumber from hearing the hounds or the noise which a deer makes bounding thro the woods; or what is worse, the rushing of the waters conjure up any sound, from the baying of a deer-hound to hearing of innumerable voices, or the reverberations of a 44-56 on the next stand. But the Greenbrier is not so. It sings along so silent as the woods themselves, and the deer is heard while yet a long way off. Again when he gets fairly in the bed of the stream to hide the scent, the river is so broad that the most unskillful marksman can have a dozen or so shots before the game can regain the cover of the woods.

There have been other times on benches this. In the spring a large number of ducks and other waterfowl appear and rest temporarily on the waters of this stream. A number of wild geese have been killed at this point, one a few weeks ago, and one three years ago.

The formation of the county is such that the river has few bottoms. The bottoms of Marlinton are, in fact, the only bottoms of any considerable importance in the whole course. Therefore, with the exception of an occasion at that point, the river can do what it pleases and it will not hurt the people generally, and Marlinton itself is ready to unite hands with Knapp's Creek.

Locusts Wanted. The Times have time and room for a few, for them, unless we find others but we want a few.
LOCUST.

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlington, Friday, April 9, 1897.

Subscription ONE DOLLAR in advance. If not paid within the year it will be charged.

Entered at the post office at Marlington, W. Va., as second class matter.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

MARCH 31 the Dingley Bill went thro the House at 4.25, 205 to 121—not voting 23. Five Democrats voted for the bill—three from Louisiana and two from Texas.

FROM Madrid the news comes that Cuban reforms will be introduced during the month of April. The Baltimore Sun is not sanguine about the prospects of success for the insurgents.

IT appears the blockade of Crete is not enforced as rigidly as it would be in time of actual war, and that small craft are landing supplies constantly, and while this fighting without war goes on troops and supplies will get into Crete and keep the Cretans encouraged to hold out.

PRINCE CONSTANTIN of Greece started for the front a few days since. In spite of all efforts to keep the matter somewhat private, it was found out and very thrilling scenes were witnessed by the people overwhelmed with enthusiasm for war, demonstrating their wishes for the success of their leader. He gave them to understand that if matters did not turn out as they wished it would not be his fault.

It looks as if the people of South Africa may have serious trouble before the year closes. President Kruger, a Cromwellian old Dutchman, does not talk to please his English neighbors by any means. He smiles on one side of his mouth and squints the opposite eye towards Germany, and tells his neighbors if they will let him alone he will let them alone, but he is not going to put up with any more foolishness like the Jameson visit. The neighbors it would seem do not think such visits foolishness, but just the proper thing to do when things get ready. It is reported that 60,000 red-coats and white breeches are under instructions to be ready to move on short notice somewhere.

MAJOR MCKINLEY of the Wetzel Democrat is a man that touches a tender spot in our sympathies when he gets after the New York pugilistors and reviews what they have done and are doing by their fiery eloquence and hyper-critical strictures. Last summer and autumn they emptied the vials of their righteous wrath on William J. Bryan, and described him as a greater than Samson feeling for the pillars supporting the Temple of Liberty. Voters enough responded and led the giant away to the fabled obscurity of Salt River, where he could do no present harm effectively. With Bryan out of the way, now they are for putting Boss Bob, and even Mr and Mrs Adam out of sight, too, as entirely too much for ethical and esthetical sensibilities senile and refined as theirs are, and thus the illustrious Ingersoll is about to lose the job he has worked at industry and sinner for so many years.

MATTERS appear to be growing on as and more serious in the affairs of Crete and Greece. The Turks seem to think they have the sympathies and approval of the leading powers, and show no reassuring signs of treating Christians with due humanity. It is appalling to think what new complications may await the appeal that rises to the heavens from the blood of one hundred thousand victims, whose main offense or performance for the year of grace was that of the pent mews of the false Prophet. In a general statement between the Turks and Greeks it was found that a European officer was in command of the Turks. If this become official we think by the removal of the governments, especially the republics of the Western Empires may be regarded as on the fair road to. How and the peace of the world and the lives of thousands should rest be in such hands.

EASTER BELLS.

Such is the title of a charming collection of poems from the facile pen of Mrs M. E. Sangster, just issued by Harper & Brothers—one of the most celebrated publishing firms in the civilized world.

But few if any of the living writers of verse are more extensively read or more affectionately esteemed by their readers than Mrs Sangster, for she is such a skillful interpreter of the emotions that so many experience in their personal history. As nothing is newer than a new spring-time, so these verses have all the charm of something new and fitly expresses the impressions of every one who has an eye to what is passing around us.

AWAKENING.

"Never yet was a spring time,
Late tho lingered the snow,
That the sap stirred not at the whisper
Of the South wind, sweet and low;
Never yet was a spring time
When the buds forgot to blow.

"Ever the wings of summer
Ag folded within the bough,
Life that has known no dying
Is love's to have and to hold,
Till sudden the bourgeoning Easter
The song, the green, and the gold."

There are about seventy-five of these "Easter Bells" chiming in this 16 mo. volume of 150 pages, cloth ornamental. These poems originally appeared in the several publications of Messrs Harper & Bros., or in The Cosmopolitan, The Youth's Companion, The Congregationalist, The Christian Intelligencer, and The Sunday-School Times.

A year or two since Mrs Sangster spent some weeks in our county, and in so far as she was able to become acquainted with our people, she was most pleasantly impressed, and often refers to the pleasure it affords her to remember the Pocahontas acquaintances made during her visit.

The book is adorned with four exquisite illustrations, executed in the highest style of artistic beauty. "Never yet was a spring-time when the buds forgot to blow." "Maiden Bertha," "The dear old gardens where mother used to potter about," and "In the fields are silence and perfume" are the subjects of these illustrations.

Many of our readers the past few years have been called upon to follow their dear mothers to the grave, and all such will read these verses and feel as if they had been written specially for their comfort and consolation.

FOLDED HANDS.

"Pale, withered hands, that more than four score years
Had wrought for others—soothed the hurt of tears,
Rocked children's cradles, eased the fever's smart,
Cupped tender-cut balm in many a aching heart—
Now stirless folded, like wan rose-leaves pressed
Above the snow and silence of her breast.
In mute appeal they tell of labors done
And well earned rest that came with set of sun;
From the worn brow the lines of care are swept
As if an angel's kiss the white she slept
Had smoothed the cobweb wrinkles quite away
And given back the peace of childhood's day."

THE following lines from an old English poem is peculiarly suited to the condition of the office-seeker of to-day. The name of the author is unknown to the editor:

"Be political a thing is neither a state!
Most miserable man, whom wicked fate
Hath brought to count to age; for dust I fear,
That few have found and many missed!
Full little knowest thou, that hast not tried,
What hell it is, in suing long to bide:
To lose good days that might be better spent;
To waste long nights in pensive discontent;
To speed to-day, to be put back to-morrow;
To feed on hope, to pine with fear and sorrow;
To have thy prince's grace, yet want her peers;
To have thy asking, yet wait many years;
To fret thy soul with crosses and with cares;
To eat thy heart through comparisons despites;
To have, to crave, to want, to nothing;
To speed, to grow, to want, to be nothing.

MRS A. ISTARS, residing at Dr Shoer Ft., Ala., Ill., suffered with eczema pronounced by the very expert doctors the worst case coming to their notice. She declared her case was beyond cure. Some one suggested a trial of the S. S. S. and she procured a bottle, and was surprised to notice an improvement after the first dose had been taken. She continued the use of the remedy, and after taking a half dozen bottles was entirely cured. Being a lady of wide influence among the best people in the country, her case was the talk of the neighborhood, and many were led to use S. S. S. with the same happy results.

Mrs Margaret J. Preston.

One of the most impressive events of the passing days was the decease of Mrs Margaret J. Preston, in Baltimore, Sunday, March 28, aged about eighty years.

She was the eldest daughter of Rev Dr George Junkin, some years President of Washington College, Lexington, Va., and in 1858 she became the happy wife of Colonel J. T. L. Preston, one of the original professors of the Virginia Military Institute, and who suggested the movement that led to the establishment of that noted institution.

The Baltimore Sun publishes a long and beautiful tribute to her memory, and the Central Presbyterian performs the same duty in a manner not to be surpassed for truthfulness of statement and charm of expression. Reference is made to her home in Lexington in which there was a rare combination of piety, culture, and happiness, and where she was the centre and mistress, dispensing a charming hospitality, and repeating to the world her cheering and timely poetic words.

In her life's experience were blended elegant culture, extensive reading, and wide travel. What is of peculiar interest in the biography of this lady was that her education was mainly acquired at home, under her father's personal attention, and affords a much needed and impressive illustration of what pleasing results may be hoped for from home instruction, when faithfully performed.

As the world becomes older and wiser her mission as a poetess and didactic writer will be still better understood and appreciated more and more. Her aim was to reach the intellect of her reader through the affections, and thus by a skillful blending of the romantic and the intellectual improve both the hearts and the minds of those who read and appreciated her literary work. To make such an aim the work of her life, avoiding what may have been glaring and sensational for mere present effect, convinces beyond all question that Mrs Preston was a poet of genuine inspiration. We feel that when our readers have carefully perused the following selection from her poems they will have a knowledge of what manner of spirit this greatly esteemed lady was:

"I would be ready, Lord,
My house in order set,
None of the work Thou gavest me
To do unfinished yet.

"I would be watch ng, Lord,
With lamp well trimmed and clear
Quick to throw open wide the door
What time Thou draweth near.

"I would be waiting, Lord,
Because I cannot know
If in the night or morning watch
I may be called to go.

"I would be working, Lord,
Each day, each hour for Thee;
Assured that thus I wait Thee well,
Whene'er thy coming be.

"I would be living, Lord,
As ever in Thine eye;
For whose lives the holiest life
Is fittest far to die."

A GREAT deal of nonsense has been written—and believed, about blood purifiers. What purifies the blood? — — —

THE KIDNEYS PURIFY THE BLOOD AND THEY ALONE.

If diseased, however, they cannot, and the blood continually becomes more impure. Every drop of blood in the body goes through the kidneys, the sewers of the system, every three minutes, night and day, while in action.

Swift Cure

puts the kidneys in perfect health, and keeps them so. The heavy, dragged-out feeling, the listless appetite, headaches, nervous prostration, will all be caused by poisoned blood, will disappear when the kidneys properly perform their office.

There is no doubt about this. Thousands prove it beyond a doubt. The theory is right, the cure is right and health follows as a natural sequence. In all convenient forms, at druggists.

TAX PAYER sign E. J. WHITE, Assessor of Pocahontas County, W. Va.

Tutt's Pills Cure All Liver Ills.

Prevention

better than cure. Tutt's Liver Pills will not only cure, but if taken in time will prevent dyspepsia, biliousness, malaria, constipation, jaundice, torpid liver and kindred diseases.

Sick Headache,

TUTT'S Liver PILLS
ABSOLUTELY CURE.

M. E. Conference.

The recent sessions of the Baltimore Conference, M. E. Church, South, as reported in Baltimore Sun and Staunton Spectator and Virginian were of marked interest. The place of meeting was Staunton, Va. This city is suggestive of historic memories that were duly noticed by Rev. James E. Armstrong Conference Historian. It was at Staunton, March 13, 1861, that this Conference severed its connexion with the M. E. Church.

The general M. E. Conference, many years before, adopted a rule making non-slaveholding a condition of membership in the church. This led to a division in the church. Baltimore Conference adhered to the old church, but a large element of the membership was dissatisfied with the rule. In 1861 an independent relation was assumed and maintained through the war between the States, and in 1866 the Conference united with the M. E. Church South.

Methodism was planted in Maryland by Rev Robert Strawbridge. One of his earliest converts was the first minister to carry the gospel to Greenbrier territory and to rear the first log church reared there, with the possible exception of one by the Baptists.

LEWISBURG DISTRICT.

Presiding Elder, J. D. Martin.
Lewisburg—T. W. Brown.
Frankford—R. H. Wilson, Henry Lawson.
Blue Sulphur—H. M. Roane.
Green Sulphur—G. H. Echols.
Hinton—H. A. Brown.
Talcot—G. R Mays.
Alderson—J. M. Hawley.
Greenville and Peterstown—A. C. McNeer, G. W. Richardson.
Union—O. F. Burress.
Ronceverte and White Sulphur—L. R. Markwood, H. M. Canter.
Alvon—A. C. Shandil.
Meeting and Missions—L. B. Atkins, C. L. Leach.
Covington—C. H. Buchannon.
Clifton Forge—J. R. VanHorne.
Millboro—H. D. Bishop.
Lewelton—J. H. Dills.
Hunterville—B. L. Parrott.
Green Band—J. M. Emery and and one to be supplied.
Gilletts—M. P. Weikle.
Hot Springs—W. W. Newberry.
Rev J. C. Thrasher goes to Stephens City; Rev W. H. Bullen goe to Capon Springs; Rev C. M. Sarver, Petersburg, W. Va.; Rev C. Sydenstricker, Romney, W. Va.; Rev J. W. McNeel, Cradbottom; Rev J. W. Maxwell supernuated.

Obituary.

On Wednesday evening, March 31, 1897, the spirit of Mrs Carter, widow of Dr Carter, left the body in the home of her son, Lee Carter, one mile from Edray, and winged its flight to worlds on high.

She was not only loved by her family but by all who knew her. We may truly say of her: "too pure for earth, she has gone to heaven."

In the shadows of evening, we doubt not that she found a time of light in which to leave a world of care and sorrow, for the angels land above to sing with the loved ones gone before, and to wait the coming of others on the way. Seventy-two years were given her in which to work for the Master, and when the summons came she was ready, and we doubt not has heard the welcome "Well done," and has entered into the City of God.

A light has been extinguished in the home circle, but it is a beautiful star still radiant in glory—to guide the son and daughter up to the land where ties are never broken.

We would say to her loved ones "weep not," for while you mourn your loss she sings in exultant strains the songs of the sainted in the far away home of the soul.

She was one who, while in health, enjoyed life; but when affliction came she was submissive and she fell asleep to wait the waking to a day that knows no decline. She is not dead, but sleeping.

A. T. S.

AMERICANS are the most inventive people on earth. To these have been owned nearly 100,000 patents, or more than one third of all the patents issued in the world for the past century. Among the most important patents have been many of the greatest benefit to mankind, such as Dr Richardson's Cure, Cleaners, and Diarrhoea Remedy, or less commonly known as Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It never fails to relieve pain and suffering in all forms of bowel complaints, and it has been used in the hospitals of Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is for sale by druggists, and it has been in use for many years. For sale by druggists.

Reward! Reward! Reward!

You are REWARDED by trading with us. Where we saved you a dollar in previous years, we can save you two this year. We do n't beg for trade—we get it through our low prices.

NEW CUSTOMERS flock to us as soon as they hear of our bargains. If it pays others so well to buy from us, why should n't it pay you?

We make our money not by BEING CLOSE, but by SELLING CLOSE. Whatever you buy from us you will find our prices right.

We Don't Want the Earth!

Only just enough Profit to live on.

How MUCH?

WILL YOU SAVE IN A YEAR BY BUYING FROM 15 TO 35 PER CENT CHEAPER than ELSEWHERE?

WE have our Store Chock full of Bargains. Come one and all, and we will do the best we can to please you.

Yours for Business,
L. D. SHARP
Linwood W Va

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONTAS COUNTY, }

At rules held in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court for said county on Monday, March 29th, 1897.

Thomas L. Conchah, ... Plaintiff
vs.
Daniel O'Connell, N. S. Alderman, Alcinda J. Alderman, Henry S. Holt, trustee; E. S. Turk, Will Sim L. McNeel, and Jesse Auldridge, Defendants.

The object of this suit is to subject to the payment of the liens thereon a four-sixths interest in a tract of land lying on Dunbard's Creek, in said county, containing 220 acres belonging to the said defendant, Daniel O'Connell.

A G it appearing by affidavit filed that the defendants, Harry W. Holt, trustee, and E. S. Turk, are non-residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect their interests in said suit.

Witness, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of said Court, this 29th day of March, 1897.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
W. A. Bratton,
Attorney for Plaintiff.

Old Dominion Building & Loan Association.

Richmond, - - Virginia

J. TAYLOR ELLYSON, President.
E. A. BARBER, Treasurer.

DIRECTORS.

J. Taylor Ellyson, Norman V. Randolph, John B. Purcell, John S. Ellett, Frank T. Sutton.

Authorized Capital..... $20,000,000
Subscribed Capital..... 5,000,000
Paid Up Cash Capital..... 1,500,000
Assets..... 2,000,000

Depository—State Bank of Virginia. Investments stocks cost $1.00 per share; membership fee, and 60 cents per month on each share—which after twelve monthly payments, and sooner in event of the death of the stockholder, will mature $100.

MARLINTON, W. VA.

Harvesting Machines.

I will furnish the JOHNSTON HARVESTING MACHINERY & MOWERS this year—mow $40.00 to $45.00, according to the breathed Pack.

Yours respectfully,
C. J. HILL,
Agent.
LOBELIA, W. VA. (14 6m)

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or transparent glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is no reason to doubt the value so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great Kidney remedy fulfils every wish, in curing pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following the use of liquor, wine, or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures in the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet, both sent free by mail. Mention this Publication and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

The Greatest Medicinal Whiskey the World has Ever Known.

BRADDOCK PURE RYE AND BARLEY MALT.

SMOOTH, SOFT, RICH, RIPE, MELLOW AND CHEMICALLY PURE, A RECOMMENDATION IN ITSELF.

TRY A GALLON AT $2.00

Mail Orders solicited either great or small and receive our personal and prompt attention. Drop us a postal for price list. Don't use inferior goods but mail us your orders, we can save you money and perhaps your health.

JAS CLARK DISTILLING CO., JNO. McQUAIDE Mngr.

Distillers of Braddock Pure Rye, Wholesale and Retail Liquor Dealers.

20 and 22 South New St., Staunton, Va.

Duke! Duke!

HIGH GRADE BICYCLES!

1896 Model.

Frame long head and wheel base. Made from best cold drawn seamless tubing, narrow tread 28inch wheels, Wood Rims, Nickeled Spokes, Mand W. Quick-Repair Tire. All connexions drop forged steel. Ball bearing to every part; bearings made from the best steel, tempered and ground, dust proof, 6 inch cranks, Rat trap or Rubber Pedlles, one-fourth inch Humber Chain with hardened rivets and centers. Drop-forged steel sprockets, T pattern saddle post, Garford Soddale, 68 inch gear, weight 24 lbs.

Price, $50.00.

1895 Model Duke, 27lbs., Price, $40.00

A full and complete stock of Bicycle Sundries and Repairs, eye to meters, Lamps, Bells, &c. Repairing of all kinds a specialty. Send us your broken bicycles and we can make them good as new

RESPECTFULLY,

RONCEVERTE, W VA Eagle AND Ott.

We have a plan by which Farmers can get TOOL CHESTS FREE

FURNITURE FACTORY

AND

Furniture Store.

Fine Furnitnre Made to Order.

STOCK ALWAYS ON HAND.

I am supplying the Temperance Grand lodge and am prepared to make to order all kinds of Furniture at lower prices than can be obtained elsewhere. Don't be cheated in Furniture but buy from a reliable workman who makes up the entire goods.

I can order you furniture from the city at better terms than you can buy your selfe. Whenever you need anything to say how you will save money by giving me a call.

W. J. Killingsworth.

ahontas Times.

PRIL 9, 1897.

al Events.

...was a war in town last ...ccasioned by the free ...l and skulls.

...n Sayre (colored,) has ...t to the Brush church for ...ar. Rice Graves moved.

...s. Levi Gay and Pebly ...rned from Rockbridge ...day with a large drove of ...Richmond Spike & Iron ...of Richmond will put ...on, in the near future, ...dust at Iron Gate.

...Harrisonburg Free Press ...over 1,000 horses have ...ght up and taken out of ...ey during the last five

...nse and all the contents ...n Sharp, on Point Moun... burned last week. No ...s insured. The owner is a ...tus County man.

...Supreme Court has handed ...decision in the case of ...M-Laughlin and others ...Urich Hevener, Admr. of ...fetlaughlin, affirming the ...of the Circuit Court.

...MITTEE appointed by citi... Buchanan, Virginia, to ex... the bridge across James riv... at point, report it unsafe, ...board of supervisors has ...consideration the erection ...e bridge here.

...authoritively stated that ...olden, of this place, receives ...ools at Millboro depot this ...ee merchant who hauls from ...nd it supplies parts of four ...s. This is not one of Gol... supposedly constructed ad... ments, but a news item.

...of the best bits of newspa... work we have ever seen was the ...chronistic report of the Mon... unty Watchman of the Crot... der case. This affair read ...romance and after an extri... al of eleven days, the jury ...ed Crotty's action in shooting ...g. The verdict was received ...spectators in the court room ...great acclamations of joy.

...cerning to the recent deci... of the Supreme Court the dis... boundary lines between ...ers, Monroe and Greenbrier ...been established in the same ...formerly accepted as the lines ...on the east side. The strikes ...being very fortunate, as the ...ing of the lines would neces... ...ssettle the interests of the ...e living in the disputed ter...

...G. D. Purinton, a former ...dent of West Virginia Uni... ity, was found dead in a hotel ...t Louis, having, there is rea... ble ground to believe, died ...a prussic acid. He was suffer... from insomnia, and was exper...ting with prussic acid. He ...a bottle of bromide which ...ed like his bottle of prussic ac... He must have gotten the bot... exchanged in the night. He ...an applicant for a chair in the ...shington & Lee University.

...a worthy contemporary. The ...bland Recorder had no snake ...ies but it had this my about ...Jones: "One night last week ...s. Hull, Chem and Will Jordan ...t to McNulty mountain to have ...hunt. After being out some ...e the dogs trailed something ...ich the be a coon, to a large tree ...y cut the tree down and while ...y emerged they heard a preat... noise in the tree. On investiga... they found a hole in the tree ...the ground, in which there ...re seven young red foxes."

...A band of outlaws has been dis... ...overed at Montgomery, W. Va. ...several have been arrested and are ...in jail. The details are so ne... ...ous that we forbear going into ...discussion. We would say, how... ever, that we borrow going into ...Montgomery from a policeman sent ...to the families that read The ...Times as to regard the doings of ...these detestable characters. A com... ...munity that will tolerate mission... ...ers, strange hawkers and ...peddlers, and not demand the ...name of the trade board ...plies of the four kings, as has ...been the case in Montgomery, seems ...a wonder at the happenings of ...things that fasten themself to her ...to be caught at.

...The German steamer Kaiserin ...Maria sunk and 500 of ...persons perished at New York, ...having by a strange passenger ...list, counted 1,000. How true it ...is that some are registered, and of all the ...names from Bunyan to our ...foreign born send in the west also ...must be interested in the ...prosperity of the country. On the ...other hand, the Bethlehem ...Advance which found room in your ...columns for a long list of ...names, has learned a lesson ...which would do many to pon... ...der, namely, that the ...Almighty and Omniscient, ...who knows and sees all, has ...not taken account of the ...names submitted to the ...Advance, with which to fill a ...book of life. Please pass on ...to the heroic Bethlehem ...Advance the blessing of prosperity ...and the assurance of the great ...mercy of the Lord, who ...knows the number of the hairs ...of the head and counts ...every sparrow that falls to ...the ground. Where are spoke... Keith ...Ellis, Cole ...Hull, Jordan ...Hull, Chem ...Hull, Will ...Jordan, Mc... ...Nulty, Mc... ...Nulty, Mc... ...Nulty

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, April 9, 1897.

Subscription ONE DOLLAR in advance. If not paid within the year $1.50 will be charged.

Entered at the post office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

Business Rules.

When a subscriber orders his paper discontinued he is, of course expected at the same time to pay up all arrearages.

No attention will be paid to anonymous communications. You need not sign your real name, but it must always accompany your communication.

All job work our terms are cash, except in cases of merchants and others with whom we have running accounts.

THE COURTS

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is here now.

1897. THE SUN. 1897

BALTIMORE, MD.

THE PAPER FOR THE PEOPLE.
FOR THE PEOPLE AND WITH THE PEOPLE.

HONEST IN MOTIVE.
FEARLESS IN EXPRESSION.
SOUND IN PRINCIPLE.
UNDER NO IN ITS ALLEGIANCE TO REGULAR DEMOCRATIC PRINCIPLES.

The Sun publishes all the news all the time, but it does not allow its columns to be degraded by unclean, immoral, or patently sensational matter.

Editorially, The Sun is the consistent and unchangeable champion and defender of popular rights and interests against political machines and monopolies of every character. Independent in all things, extreme in none. It is for good laws, good government and good order.

By mail Fifty Cents a month. Six Dollars a year.

The Baltimore Weekly Sun.

The Weekly Sun publishes all the news of each week, giving complete accounts of all events of interest throughout the world. As an AGRICULTURAL paper The Weekly Sun is unsurpassed. It is edited by writers of practical experience, who know what farming means, and what farmers want in an agricultural journal. It contains regular reports of the work of the AGRICULTURAL experiment stations throughout the country, of the proceedings of farmers' clubs and institutes, and the discussion of new methods and ideas in agriculture. Its Markets Reports, Poultry Department, and Veterinary column are particularly valuable to country readers. Every week contains Stories, Poems, Household and Puzzle Columns, a variety of interesting and instructive selected matter, and other features, which make it a welcome visitor in city and country homes.

One dollar a year. Inducements to getting up of clubs for the Weekly Sun Both the Daily and Weekly Sun mailed free of postage in the United States, Canada, and Mexico. Payment invariably in advance. Address

A. S. ABELL COMPANY.
Publishers and Proprietors,
Baltimore, Md.

SPECIAL POTATO FERTILIZER

Also High Grade General Phosphates made from

VEGETABLE and ANIMAL MATTER.

Every farmer should write for prices, terms, and circulars.

AMERICAN REDUCTION CO.,
Pittsburg, Pa.

MARLINTON HOUSE.

Located East End of Bridge

Terms,
per day - 1.00 & 1.50
per meal - - - 25

Good accommodations for horses and mules on reasonable terms.

Special rates made by the week or month.

C. A. YEAGER, Proprietor.

R·I·P·A·N·S

Lightning Hot Drops
What a Funny Name!
Very True, but It Kills All Pain.
Sold Everywhere. Every Drop
Without Rival. There is No Pain

Scientific American
Agency for
PATENTS

Scientific American

$3,400.00 CASH AND PRIZES GIVEN FREE EACH MONTH FOR Sunlight SOAP WRAPPERS

As follows:

4 First Prizes, each of $100 Cash - - $ 400.00
20 Second " " " 50 " - - 1,000.00
30 Third " " " 25 " - - 1,000.00

Cash and Prizes given each month - - $2,400.00

Total given during 12 mos. 1897, $40,800.00

HOW TO OBTAIN THEM.

Cut out the Large Wrapper with SUNLIGHT SOAP Trademark on two colors. Cut out the Trademark and send with your name and address to us. Each Wrapper will be numbered and the number will be published in the Distribution Lists to be issued.

Next Largest Numbers of wrappers from the distribution will receive the next largest prizes, and so on, until the 4 Cash Prizes are awarded.

Distribution Lists will be issued on the 15th of each month, beginning March 15th, 1897, and will contain numbers of Wrappers entitled to prizes.

The 2 Competitors who send in the next largest numbers to those published in the Lists in which they appear will receive the 2 Cash Prizes offered for that month, and so on, in the order named.

Should two persons send in the same number, the one whose number is received first will be given the preference.

NUMBER OF DISTRICT.

No. of DISTRICT.	NAME OF DISTRICT.
1	New York City, Brooklyn, Long Island and Staten Island.
2	New York State (outside of N. Y. City), Connecticut and Rhode Island.
3	Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, Virginia and District of Columbia.
4	The New England States.
5	The States of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Utah, Nevada, Wyoming, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, California, New Mexico, Arizona, Indian Territory, Oklahoma, Alaska, Hawaiian Islands, Mexico, Canada, Cuba, Porto Rico, Australia, New Zealand, Japan, China, Europe, Africa, Asia, and all other countries.

1. Every person, except members of the Lever Brothers Company, may send in as many Wrappers as they can collect. Cut out the Trademark and send with your name and address to us. Each Wrapper will be numbered and the number will be published in the Distribution Lists to be issued.

2. Competitors who send in the next largest numbers to those published in the Lists in which they appear will receive the next largest prizes offered for that month, and so on, in the order named.

3. Should two persons send in the same number, the one whose number is received first will be given the preference.

4. Lever Brothers, Ltd., will undertake to award the prizes fairly and honorably, and the decision of the Judges appointed by them will be final.

5. Lever Brothers, Ltd., will undertake to award the prizes in the order named, as soon as possible after the Distribution Lists are issued, but it is understood that all who compete agree to accept the decision of Lever Brothers, Ltd., as final.

LEVER BROS., Ltd., New York.

Served Him Right.

We are in receipt of a beautiful lecture and we do not doubt the object was, in life, all that the author claimed for him, but about three years ago we solicited the father of the deceased to become a subscriber to this paper, and he refused, giving as a reason that he was taking so many papers that he could not afford to take the Chronicle and at any rate he could get a New York paper much cheaper. In view of the fact, among all the papers, he certainly can get the beautiful tribute to the memory of his son, which consists of a sketch of his life and six verses of beautiful poetry, published without intruding upon that, which, by right, belongs to our patrons. In fact, he should send it to the city paper, which he claims is so much better. —Calhoun Chronicle.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Hall's Family Pill are the best.

A Wonderful Sign.—A writer says in regard to the Premium of fifty cents each, that it had a state Lottery, and in every town, large or small, was a collector appointed to sell tickets. One day a servant girl came to the collector in Hagen, and asked if she could buy No. 27.

He did not have it in his possession but as the girl seemed very much in earnest and refused to be put off with any other number, he tried to obtain it from some other of the collectors in the town and finally succeeded.

The drawing took place and Hagen rose to a state of feverish excitement when it was known that this girl had become the winner of a large sum of money. She found herself, for a time, the chief object of interest in town. She was of course asked how she came to fix upon No. 27. The reason he gave was simple and lucid enough.

"I dreamed one night No. 7, and I dreamed night I dreamed No. 7 under a third night again. So I thought, Three times seven makes twenty-three, and I bought that number.

UNION, W. Va., March 31. Lewis County has been terrorized by the Monroe Circuit Court for the killing of Walter Pauley. Every one in the court room shed tears of sympathy for Crisly. The defense proved that Pauley had complained with two women by the name of Lucy Bell Crisly, and that they went to the room that afternoon for such a purpose, when Pauley met his death.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla
Makes Pure Blood

Nothing if not European.

"New York—bless its little heart—is nothing if not European. Its joy would be ecstatic should it have a real live duke for governor, and a right honorable earl for mayor; and should the noble duke—"dook" being the New York-East London vernacular—be presented with a son and heir during his term of office, the loyalty of the State might find expression in the lines of the bard of Seventy Street:

Bless 'is heyes, and bless 'is nose;
Bless 'is fingers, bless 'is toes;
Bless 'is lungs, and bless 'is liver;
Bless hour noble dook forever.

"But inasmuch as the Constitution of the United States prohibits the use of titles of honor in all or any of its offices, the good people of New York State are debating upon the propriety of abolishing that blessing of medieval Europe, a censor of the press. A bill for the creation of that august office is pending in the General Assembly of what, in so far as its ecclesiastical tendency is concerned, aptly is called the Empire State.

"It is none of our business. If New York wants a censor let it have one. Few who are not residents of New York ever read the New York newspapers. Some of its journals that boast of the largest circulation may be made more decent, but can not be made more silly, by supervision of a censor of the press, while the two virile papers of the city and State will find in his pragmatic rule a fine and perpetual source of gayety. Let the Empire State have its censor of its gyres."—The Inter Ocean, Chicago.

He Moved On.—The Chicago Times Herald quotes a Colonel Richardson as telling a war story, which all the readers will be glad to believe true.

There was an old fellow, a Pennsylvanian, on our flank in Libby Prison. He was tall, angular, stoop-shouldered, and had somehow acquired the regular North Carolina dialect. Nearly everybody liked him, and all talked with him. He had been a prisoner for some time; his suit of blue had become a bunch of rags. By some means he managed to get a new suit of butternut-colored clothes, and after that we called him "Old North Carolina." One of the prisoners asked him when he was going to join his "tar-heel" regiment.

"You jest wait and watch."

In those days it was a common thing for citizens to accompany Major Turner, who had charge of the prison, on visits to the prisoners. One afternoon half a dozen citizens of Richmond were with him, and when they marched out our old tar-heel fell in and went with them. He was standing by the door in Major Turner's room when that officer, noticing him, asked: "Well, sir; what do you want here?"

"Oh, nothin' particular; just thought I'd look around the prison a little."

Well, you can't look around the prison a little, and you had better move on."

But Cope—that was his name—walked there looking as innocent as a boy on his first visit to town. Then Turner lost his patience and said, "Come, move on! Get out of here!" and gave him a push into the street.

As Cope passed out into the road where we could see him from our windows he took off his hat, made a low bow and started on a gentle shamble out of town. He made his escape. After that there was a good demand for butternut goods, but no more could be smuggled in to the prison.

Long Sessions.—There are many colored pastors in the South, and the size they put on are sometimes amusing.

A negro had been preached at recalling elsewhere and sermons the pastor proved to be very long. The old pastor got on his discourse and kept on and on. Finally he got to the end of his sermon and said:

"Brudder Jones will now lead in prayer."

Brudder Jones got on his knees and began to pray. He prayed and prayed and prayed. Finally he got up and said:

"Brudder Smith will now lead in prayer."

Brudder Smith got on his knees and began to pray. He prayed and prayed and prayed. Finally he got up and said:

"Brudder Brown will now lead in prayer."

Brudder Brown got on his knees and began to pray. He prayed and prayed and prayed. Finally he got up and said:

"Brudder Johnson will now lead in prayer."

Brudder Johnson got on his knees and began to pray. He prayed and prayed and prayed. Finally he got up and said:

"Brudder Williams will now lead in prayer."

Brudder Williams got on his knees and began to pray. He prayed and prayed and prayed. Finally he got up and said:

"Brudder Thompson will now lead in prayer."

Brudder Thompson got on his knees and began to pray. He prayed and prayed and prayed. Finally he got up and said:

"Brudder Anderson will now lead in prayer."

Brudder Anderson

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Ed

VOL. 14, NO. 38 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, APRIL 16, 1897. $1.00 PER YEA

No. 8, Solid Oak Extension Table, polished like a piano—has six massive legs, the four outside legs are massive oil, brand and finely ornamented 12 inches in Length when closed, 6 feet long when opened. Special Price,

$3.95

(Orders promptly filled.)

The above is but one of our 100 bargains to be found in our new catalogue. It contains all kinds of Furniture, Stoves, Chairs, Carpets, Refrigerators, Lounges, Baby Carriages, Sewing Machines, Organs, etc. You are paying from dealers double our prices. Send a postal for our great money-saving catalogue which will be mailed free of all charges. Deal with the manufacturers and you will make the big profits you are now paying your local dealers.

Julius Hines & Son,
BALTIMORE, MD.

County Directory

Judge ..... J. M. McWhorter
Pros. Attorney ... L. M. McClintic
Sheriff ..... R. W. Hill
Clerk County Court ... S. L. Brown
Clerk Circuit Court, J. H. Patterson
Assessor ..... J. H. Buzzard
Com'rs. Co. Ct. { Amos Barlow / C. K. Beard / J. H. Warwick
Surveyor ..... George Baxter
Coroner ..... George P. Moore

BOARD OF HEALTH—Dr J. W. Price, L. M. McClintic, M. J. McNeel, R. W. Hill.

JUSTICES—Uriah Bird, Marlinton; A. C. L. Gatewood, Linwood; P. D. Arbogast, Green Bank; W. B. Grose, Hunterville; G. R. Curry, Academy; T. A. Bruffey, Lobelia.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. McCLUNG,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. D. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal work.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
SURGERY DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County semi-annually, spring and fall. Exact date of visit will appear in this paper.

J. M. CLEARY-BEEK, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. & O. Freight House. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

One of the most widely known of Pocahontas families in former years was that of the ancestor of the Lockridge relationship, at Driscol, four miles east of Huntersville. It was a place of resort for judges of the courts and visiting lawyers to and from Huntersville on public occasions. Pleasant mention is made of the kind treatment received and of the nice and bountiful table comforts enjoyed in the memoir of the late Howe Peyton, Esq., and in some published reminiscences of George Mayse, Esq., of the Warm Springs.

Lancelot (Lanty) Lockridge, the progenitor of the name in our county, came from the Lower Bull Pasture, in Highland County, Virginia, about four miles up the river from Williamsville, Bath County. Mrs Lockridge was Elizabeth Benson, of the same vicinity. Some of her near relatives migrated to Ohio, from whom Joseph Benson Foraker traces his name and ancestry, and who is now in the Senate of the United States, colleague of M. A. Hanna, Esq., Senator from Ohio.

Mr and Mrs Lockridge were of pure Scotch-Irish ancestry. Early in the century they settled on Knapp's Creek and built up a prosperous home and reared a large family, four sons and five daughters. Andrew, Matthias, Lancelot (Lanty), James T., Elizabeth, Nelly, Harriet, Rebecca, and Martha.

Andrew Lockridge married Elizabeth Gilllian, daughter of John Gillilan, Esq., near Mill Point, and moved to Missouri.

Matthias Lockridge went to Missouri in early manhood, married Miss Crow, a Missouri lady, and settled there.

Lanty Lockridge married Miss Caroline Cleek, daughter of Mr and Mrs John Cleek, and first settled on the "Gay Place," near Sunset, then on the "Harper Place," near Sunset, finally moved to Otoe, Nebraska, where his sons Lee and Augustus now reside.

Colonel James T. Lockridge married Miss Lillie Moser, of South Carolina, and occupied the homestead which was his home during life. He was a citizen of marked prominence,—Colonel 127 Virginia Militia, magistrate, merchant, sheriff, and member of the Virginia House of Delegates.

Their children—two sons and two daughters—are Horace M. Lockridge, Esq., of Huntersville; Mrs Florence Milligan, Buena Vista, Virginia; Dr J. B. Lockridge and Mrs Laura Herold, at Driscol. She is the wife of L. W. Herold, Esq., a popular teacher of the public schools and instructor in instrumental music.

Elizabeth, eldest daughter of Lanty Lockridge, Senior, became the wife of the late Henry Herold, who moved to Nicholas County, where most of her family settled. The late Washington Herold, near Frost, was one of her sons.

Nelly Lockridge, the second daughter, was married to the late Jacob Sisson, of Travelers Repose. Their children were four sons and eight daughters: Lanty, Randolph, Warwick, Winfield, Harriet, Elizabeth because Mrs Judge William T. Gunnison, late of Odessa, Missouri; Ellen first married George W. Arbogast, second marriage to William L. Brown, Esq., now near Green Bank. Martha Sisson married Josiah T. Hogsett. Mildred Sisson was first married to the late Peter Sisson, of Travelers Repose, and afterwards became Mrs Alexis Hartman, now of Kansas. Alice died in early womanhood at Meadow Dale, Highland, where the family were sojourning during the war. Margaret Sisson married J. H. Patterson, who is now Clerk of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County. Mary (Polly) Sisson married Jesse Sisson, of Highland County.

Harriet Lockridge, third daughter, was married to the late John McNeel, near Mill Point. The two sisters in that Nelly and Harriet were married the same day—a double wedding. Their family were large families—and their daughters, Jane, Heather John, Caroline, who was married to the late Andrew D. Amiss, of Buckeye. Mr Amiss was clerk in one of the government departments at Washington and attended to considerable public business in Pocahontas during his life. Rachel McNeel was married to Dr Matt. Wallace of Mill Point. Elizabeth McNeel married Jacob Crouch, of Randolph County, West Virginia.

Rebecca Lockridge, the fourth daughter, was married to the late Joseph Seybert, and lived first on the Waddell place, near Mill Point then on the place occupied by Henry Sharp on Douthard's creek, and lastly on the farm now held by William L. Harper, near Sunset. Their sons were Lanty and Jacob. Lanty died a prisoner of war at Elmira, New York. Jacob married Miss Mary Jones, of Greenbrier County, and lived a prosperous citizen of Rockbridge County.

Mr and Mrs Seybert had two daughters, Maria and Elizabeth.

Maria Seybert was married to Andrew Herold, Esq., and now lives near Frost. Her sons and daughters are mentioned in the sketch of the Herold family.

Elizabeth Seybert was married to the late William D. Gibson, of Monterey, Highland County.

Joseph, William, and Kemper Gibson are her sons. Eva Rebecca Gibson married David Kyle, of Rockbridge, Virginia. Clara Maria Gibson is a teacher in the public schools of Highland. Elizabeth Gibson married Hon J. M. Colaw, of Monterey, Va. Catherine Gibson is a popular teacher in the Rockbridge public schools.

Martha Lockridge, the fifth daughter, was married to Roger Hickman, Esq., of Bath County, as his first wife. Her children were Lanty Hickman, now of Tucker County, West Virginia, and Elizabeth, who is Mrs Stuart Rider, of Bath County.

The compiler of this sketch is mainly indebted to Mr and Mrs Andrew Herold and their son, L. W. Herold, for the materials used in its preparation. It has been a pleasure to him to write it, for many of the persons mentioned therein were among the cherished friends of his youth.

As to the personal appearance of this venerable man, it was a common remark of those who had seen Henry Clay that there was a striking resemblance in the form and features of the two men, and that those who had portraits of Henry Clay had nothing to do but scratch out the name and write Lanty Lockridge in place of it, and they would have his picture and one that everybody would recognise. The writer never saw Henry Clay, but he has been often impressed with the portrait he has seen, and is always reminded of our venerable friend by the striking resemblance so apparent to those who were acquainted with him.

W. T. P.

MANSFIELD'S OPINION.—Hon W. L. Mansfield, editor of the Wayne County News, and one of the Democratic members of the Constitutional Commission, states the following, as, in his opinion, the most important changes needed in our organic law:

1. To provide for a thorough and efficient registration of voters, and stop as much corruption in the elections.

2. Re-district the State for Circuit Judges that the inefficient and expensive criminal courts may be abolished.

3. Pay all officers, both State and county, fixed salaries and provide that all fees be covered into the State and county treasuries.

4. Pay members of the Legislature a fixed salary and limit the session of the Legislature only to not less than sixty days.

5. Increase the salary of the Judges of the supreme Court of Appeals, in order to secure the best material for the court of last resort.

6. Abolish the irredeemable school fund and provide that the present fund be distributed to the counties per capita to stated amount each year, and let the distributable fund be a constant, and avoid the error in estimating it, and to be paid in ordinary way and for no purpose except to pay teachers and relieve the people to that extent of the burden of district levies.

PROPHETIC THOUGHTS.

Among the most interesting things now read about in the papers, to Bible-reading people, is the state of things in Crete, an island about six miles from Greece. Such readers believe that they can see the truths of the Bible illustrated and confirmed by what they read in the news of the day. They also read Daniel and Revelation for light to be thrown upon the Eastern question, in whose solution the whole world, sooner or later, is to be involved. It is not strange they should do so when it is remembered by our intelligent readers that Constantinople is the chief city of the Turks, whose faith is Islam.

Now Islam is a religious system, made up of politics and religious fanaticism or hysterical zeal. The Turks who hold this faith have been the most hostile and dangerous of all enemies to Christ and his true followers. The Turk has been "the Jailer of Palestine" and the down-trodder of Bible-lands.

Revelation speaks of a persecuting power arising, and continuing 42 months, and as long ago as the Crusades this was understood to be Islam. It is now a settled opinion among our chief authorities on the interpretation of prophecy that 42 months, 1260 days, symbolizes 1260 years of historic time.

The systematic oppression of Eastern Christians began in 637, when Omar proclaimed his infamous Edict. Now 1260 years added to 637 would bring us to 1897. Now it does seem reasonable that some decisive event may be looked for during 1897 that may lead to the end of Turkey's persecuting Islam.

Then, too, in connexion with this it is interesting to notice what our Lord says in Luke xxi. 24: "Jerusalem shall be trodden down of the Gentiles until the times of the gentiles be fulfilled." Now when our Lord said this Jerusalem had already been trodden down by three of the four world-powers, represented by Nebuchadnezzars dream, described in Daniel second chapter, namely: Babylon, Persia, and Greece; and was in our Lord's time being trodden down by the fourth power, the Roman.

The Roman empire lost its power over Palestine and Jerusalem through the conquests of Omar, in A. D. 636-7. Now should we measure from the time when the Jews first became tributary to Babylon, B. C. 625, up to, A. D. 636 we find that 1260 years, or three and a-half times, was the duration of the ascendancy of Daniel's four world-powers in Palestine or Holy Land.

The Turks succeeded them, and in this year 1897 the dominion of Islam will have continued 1260 years more, or three and a-half times more. In Leviticus, 26th, seven times were specified as the term of gentile treading down, 7 times meaning 2520 years, so allowing three and a-half times to the four world-powers and three and a-half to Islam, the 7 times close out in 1896.

Whoever lives ten or fifteen years longer should be prepared not to be surprised at what may occur in human affairs. Every believer in the Bible should be profoundly interested in the current events of the times, at home and in foreign lands, and especially the Holy Land. S. C. R.

SUNNY CANTON! Loveliest village of the plain,
Where Hanna hauled the lards by special train.
Where workingmen on rich bought tickets went,
As on an errand by employers sent.
Where smiling statesmen spring time visits paid,
With many votes and delegates to trade.
Where parting moment brought the thousands on
To hunt for votes and to tramp the lawn.
How many hats have blessed its happy day.
When bid vanishing lost its tears to pay.
When all the village folk their in her wound
To bustles on the soft encumbrance.

—T. S. Tarkson in The Journal, Chicago.

"The First Battle."

From all sources we learn that Bryan's book, "The First Battle," is selling with great success. The publishers report they have been unable to fill orders as fast as they have come in. Mr Bryan's royalty the first month was $16,000. He donates half of this to a bimetallic society for the circulation of bimetallic literature. A large share of what he gets from his lectures and articles for the newspapers, takes a similar direction. Wherever he speaks large audiences greet him and pay well for the privilege. He is expected to address the students of the Virginia University in June. His theme, as announced, will be "Jefferson still lives." It is anticipated that it will be one of the finest efforts of his oratorical career.

"The First Battle" embodies a careful presentation of the rise and development of the silver movement, a history of the campaign of 1896, a review of the political situation, an analysis of the election returns, an account of Mr Bryan's famous tour, his biography by Mrs Bryan, his most important speeches, and the addresses of other eminent political leaders.

One of the interesting features of the book is his biography by Mrs Bryan. Referring to Mr Bryan's well known fondness for quoting scripture, she says:

"The time came when it seemed proper to have a little conversation with my father, and this was something of an ordeal, as my father is rather a reserved man. In his dilemma, William sought refuge in the Scriptures, and began: Mr. Bard, I have been reading Proverbs a good deal lately, and find that Solomon says: 'Whoso finds a wife finds a good thing, and obtaineth favor of the Lord,' Father, being somewhat of a Bible scholar himself, replied: 'Yes, I believe that Solomon did say that, but Paul suggests that 'While he that marrieth doeth well, he that marrieth not doeth better.' This was a shower of rain, but the young man saw his way thro. 'Solomon would be the best authority on this point,' he rejoined, 'because Paul was never married, while Solomon had a number of wives. After this the battle was fought and the matter satisfactorily arranged."

Civil Service.

From every indication, it is more than probable the policy of Civil Service will be a very live question in politics, stirred up by the 'outs' in opposition to the 'ins'. When it comes down to actual facts, this has been about the main issue for twenty years in political agitation. In his book, Bryan put himself on record in the following terms:

"Without entering into details, I suggest that it is possible to place the civil service upon a substantial foundation by providing a fixed term of appointments—with the possibility of one reappointment in case of special merit—and appointments to be divided among all political parties in proportion to their political strength, and among the States in proportion to their population. In this way a person entering the service would know that by efficiency he could secure a second term, and, knowing that his service would close at the end of the second term, could make preparations for the future. At present, a clerk when discharged without warning, is often left in a position of financial embarrassment. Then, too, when each party has its proportionate representation in civil service, there will be no opposition to undue

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, April 16, 1897.

Subscription ONE DOLLAR in advance. If not paid within the year $1.50 will be charged.

Entered at the post office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

BATTLE-SHIPS of the best quality have been constructed at New Port News, and now it seems measures will soon be taken to establish a cannon factory there that may rival Kropp's famous establishment.

IT would look as if the arbitration treaty has been wrecked in the national Senate by process of amendment. The promoters and friends of the original measure have no hopes of its adoption in any acceptable form. This grieves all persons who were hoping that the world is growing more peaceably inclined.

GENERAL WILLIAM R. TERRY, one of the last commanders of the Stonewall Brigade, died March 28 in Chesterfield County, Va. He was a conspicuous figure in Pickett's charge at Gettysburg, where the highwater mark was reached in the bloody tide of war between the States and where the ebb began in favor of the Union cause.

MINISTERS representing the concerted powers at Constantinople have decided to send "collective notes" to the Greek and Turkish governments requesting that each call off their troops from the frontier, which will, most likely, add fuel to the flame and hasten hostilities. These ought to have been sent several weeks ago if peace was the thing they wanted.

THE devotees of Mohammedanism in Morocco are feeling badly at being kept from a pilgrimage to Mecca, the present year. Their Sultan has prohibited this on account of the plague that is so threatening in dire results. Thousands of these enthusiastic people would rather risk the plague than miss the opportunity to pray at the tomb of the Prophet. This is something that has never happened before, and may be significant of coming events.

A Child Elopement.

A sensational marriage occurred in Georgia a week two so since. John P. Atkinson, son of the present Governor of Georgia, aged 16 years and 1 month, eloped with Ada Byrd, aged 12 years, and were married by a justice of the peace. The parties have been courting for two years. It was only recently that matters assumed an aspect to attract attention. About a month ago Governor Atkinson was at a Sam Jones meeting, word was sent him that Johnny was trying to get away with little Ada Byrd. He left before meeting was over, and he and Mr Byrd agreed on this plan to break off the match, which was to send Ada to school where Johnny would not know where she was and thus separate them for a time, and they might forget about their resolution to marry.

Johnny soon found out her rural retreat, he went where she was last day of March, and she was soon lost to the sight of parents and guardians, and a friendly magistrate opened the golden gate.

The parents at first agreed to have the marriage annulled, but Mr Byrd, after sleeping over the question reconsidered the agreement after their return from Rome, Ga., where he and the Governor found the young couple quietly entertained at a hotel. Mr Byrd said: "The heart of my daughter is at stake. I did all I could to prevent the marriage. I am reconciled with the governor in every respect, but now that I have exhausted every effort by hiding my daughter in a school where I thought she would be safe, and the governor's son has pursued her there and led her into this entanglement, I cannot consent to anything but that the marriage shall be fully and freely recognized." The governor studied over it awhile and finally yielded the point, dismissed the policemen who had his son under guard, and the young folks were united here.

"After all," remarked the Governor, "it is best to love young. I am proud of my son. He is a young man of talent. He has passed the examination of girls, and I will do all I can to assist the couple in their onward career in the world. Time is with the young. We and Mrs Price and Mrs Atkinson are happy and the young folks are happy and we can only pray that they may be as much so in the future as they are now."

CIRCUIT COURT.

State of West Virginia
vs
A E Halliday, felony, forgery.

Misdemeanors.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

A J Hock, 3 cases.
Jacob Sheets, 2 cases.
William Colley
Theo Carr
Henry Shinneberry
Aaron Thomas
James Tacy.

LIQUOR.

Bernard Hamrick, 5 cases
D W Sharp, 4 cases
Sidney Collins, 6 cases
Sherman Curry, 1 case
John Barner, 2 cases
Thomas Crouse, 2 cases.

DISTURBING WORSHIP.

D W Sharp,
Ash May,
Andrew Sheets,
Jacob Sheets.

DEADLY WEAPONS.

James Miller,
Harve Guinn,
Ash May,
Cornelius McLaughlin,
John A McLaughlin,
Henry McLaughlin,
Willis Sheets,
Luther Perkins, 2
R W Hill.

PETIT LARCENY.

George Dolan,
Frank Babbett,
Charles Blankenship,
Charles Wesley Cutlip.

Law Orders.

Frederick Wallace, H. S. Van Sickler and E. C. Eagle qualified to practice law in this county.

State vs Oscar Williams, nolle.

State vs Rimel, jury,—we, the, dict guilty, $20 and costs.

State vs Burgess, confessed, $25 and costs, and confinement in jail one hour.

State vs Jacob Gulford, confessed—$1 and costs.

State vs George Stewart, jury,—not guilty.

State vs Frank Dilley and Joe Dilley, jury, not guilty.

State vs Charles Beverage, confessed—$1 and costs.

State vs Preston Dunlap, confessed—$1 and costs.

State vs Clifton Sharp, confessed—$1 and costs.

Kelley vs Barber, unlawful detainer, continued.

Cleek vs McComb, dismissed on appellant's motion.

W H Grose and S B Scott Jr appointed committee to examine clerk's office.

Paul Sharp vs U S Johnson, unlawful detainer, hung jury.

White vs Gay, demurrer overruled and cause continued.

Paul Golden naturalized.

Sharp vs Allen, judgment for plaintiff $42.50 and costs.

State vs M A Dunlap, nolle.

Chancery.

Augusta National Bank vs Tardy report of Commissioner J. T. Mc Allister confirmed.

A. D. Oliver vs J W Oliver, decree of sale.

Clifton Forge Grocery Company vs C C Arbogast, referred to a commissioner.

Quintilla M Barrows vs A G Barrows, decree of divorce granted.

Andrew Price appointed commissioner in chancery, vice W H Grose, resigned.

Paul Barr's heirs vs Barr exor, etc, rule made absolute and decree of sale ordered.

State vs 100 acres and 15 acres, referred to commissioner.

R S Tark, special commissioner, vs B W Yeager, sale confirmed.

J W Waggoner vs J B Waggoner's heirs, sale confirmed.

Doyle's Administrator vs Doyle's Heirs, commissioner's report confirmed, etc.

Levi Gay vs Skeen, etc, recommitted to commissioner.

Bank of Lewisburg vs Andrew Herold, sale confirmed.

A C Wooddell's admr vs Frank Chapman, writ of possession is awarded Levi Gay purchaser.

W H Hall vs C B Collins, referred to commissioner.

Charles vs Cutler, recommitted to commissioner.

John B Moore vs James E Johnson, decree of sale.

W H Hall vs Mary E Tallman, referred to commissioner.

Warwick's exors vs Warwick's exors, order of reference.

McAllister vs Adams, demurrer and report and bill dismissed.

W H Hall vs J K Hinkle, decree of sale.

Lowry vs McComb, etc, rule ordered.

Report of commissioner reports as to land therein containing 136 acres 100, 1000, and 581 acres respectively.

Studley vs Barker, et als, sale confirmed at 333 to R H Tark and G S Barker.

Brown vs Rowland, et al, decree of sale.

Brightwood, receiver, vs McDaniel, et al, report of commissioner confirmed.

B C Yeager vs Peter A Dilley, decree of sale.

Sally D Beard vs G W Yeager et al, decree of sale.

Report of commissioner reports offer to sell piece of land, decree of sale ordered.

R S Tark, special commissioner, vs Mary E Sharp, decree of sale.

Report of sale of Mary E. et al, to Levi Gay, confirmed to report.

Report of sale of land to Levi Gay confirmed.

Commissioner's Notice

Office of S. B. Scott, Jr., Comm'r. } Marlinton, W. Va. April 16, 1897 }

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, W. Va., made on the 8th day of April, 1897, in a cause therein pending entitled

William H. Hull
vs.
C. B. Collins, et als,

I will proceed at my office in the town of Marlinton, W. Va., on the

15th DAY OF MAY, 1897,

to take, state and report the following matters of account as ordered in said decree, viz:

1st—An account showing the liens, by judgment or otherwise, on the lands in the bill and proceedings mentioned, with their dates, dignities, and priorities.

2d—A statement giving the local description of the lands on which said liens rest and which should be subjected to their payment.

3d—Any other matters to be specially stated, deemed pertinent by myself or required by any party in interest to be so stated.

S. B. SCOTT, Jr., Commissioner.

NOTICE TO LIEN HOLDERS.

To all persons holding liens, by judgment or otherwise, on the real estate or any part thereof of C. B. Collins.

In pursuance of a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County made in a cause therein pending to subject the real estate of the said C. B. Collins to the satisfaction of the liens thereon, you are hereby required to present all claims held by you and each of you against the said C. B. Collins which are liens on his real estate or any part of it, for adjudication to me at my office in the town of Marlinton, Pocahontas County, W. Va., on or before the 15th day of May, 1897.

Given under my hand this the 16th day of April, 1897.

S. B. SCOTT, Jr., Commissioner.

Commissioner's Notice.

Office of S. B. Scott, Jr., Comm'r. } Marlinton, W. Va. April 16, 1897 }

State of West Virginia . . . Plaintiff
vs
Joseph F. Moore, E. M. Buzzard, Perry A. Buzzard, Armenius Buzzard, William A. Buzzard, Sarah D Grimes, Mary A. Buzzard, W. A. G. Sharp, J. A. Sharp, E. N. Moore, Isaac Shinneberry, Joseph Sharp, J. W. Rider, Belle Rider, Laura Irene Rider, John Smith, Josiah Dilley, Ralph Dilley, William Dilley, Mary Barlow Lindsay H. Sharp, Jeremiah Dilley, Clayton Dilley, Clark Dilley, Margaret M. Sutton, Mahala Friel, the unknown heirs of Rosanah Rider, deceased; the unknown heirs of Mary Hartman, deceased; the unknown heirs of Ann McCollum, deceased; the unknown heirs of Letetia Bird, deceased; the unknown heirs of Jane Sweeley, deceased; the unknown heirs of Nancy Moore, deceased; Nancy Wamsley, Eric E. Smith, James Sharp, Andrew Sharp, Crawford Sharp, Hardin Sharp, Asariah Sharp, Jordan Sharp, and Robert Sharp.
. . . . . Defendants.

The plaintiff and each and all of the above named defendants, and all unknown owners and claimants of any part or parcel of the lands mentioned in the plaintiff's bill in the above entitled cause, will take notice that on the

20th DAY OF MAY, 1897,

at my office in the town of Marlinton, Pocahontas County, W. Va., I will commence the discharge of my duties under the decree of reference in the above entitled cause, a copy of which decree is published with this notice, at which time and place you and each of you can attend and protect and defend any interest you may have in the lands or any of them in question in this suit.

Given under my hand this the 15th day of April, 1897.

S. B. SCOTT, Jr., Commissioner.

State of West Virginia
vs
John Sharp, Sr., Heirs, et als.

This cause, which has been regularly matured and now and set for hearing, came on this day to be heard on the bill and exhibits therewith filed and the joint answer of Joseph F. Moore, E. M. Buzzard, Perry A. Buzzard, Wm. C. Buzzard, Mary A. Buzzard, Sarah D. Grimes, and E. N. Moore. The bill taken for confessed as to the rest of the defendants, and argument of counsel.

On consideration whereof it is ordered that this cause be referred to S. B. Scott, one of the commissioners of this court, to take, state, and report the following matters and things as to the 2300 acres of land in the bill to be factored for the non payment of the taxes thereon for the year 1892.

1st—For what years of years the said land has been forfeited for the non payment of taxes thereon, and whether the same is included in the lands of West Virginia for the non-payment of the taxes thereon and required to be sold for the benefit of the school fund.

2d—The amount of taxes, interest, costs, and damages due and unpaid thereon.

3d—Whether the interests of said land is unincumbered, and, if so, by what incumbrances.

4th—Whether the said land is subject to sale in one or more parcels, and if so, by what boundaries the same should be severally sold.

5th—Such other matters and things as said commissioner may deem pertinent and any of the parties in interest may require.

And it is further ordered that the said commissioner before proceeding to execute this decree shall give notice to the parties interested and all unknown owners and claimants of said land of the time and place when and where he will proceed to execute this decree, which notice shall be published in the "Pocahontas Times," a newspaper published in Pocahontas County, for four successive weeks before commencing said account.

Commissioner's Notice.

Office of S. B. Scott, Jr., Comm'r. } Marlinton, W. Va., April 16, 1897 }

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas county, W. Va., made at the April Term of said Court, 1897, in a cause therein pending, entitled—

W. H. Hull
vs.
E. N. Ervine, et als,

I will proceed at my office in the town of Marlinton, W. Va., on the—

17TH DAY OF MAY, 1897,

to take, state, and report to Court the following matters of account, as directed in said decree, viz:

1st—The liens against the lands of said E. N. Ervine, with their dates, dignities, priorities, and to whom due.

2d—The real estate owned by said E. N. Ervine, which may be subjected to the payment of said liens, and 3d—Any other matter to be specially stated, deemed pertinent by myself, or required by any party in interest to be so stated.

S. B. SCOTT, Jr.,
Commissioner.

NOTICE TO LIEN HOLDERS.

To all persons holding liens by judgment or otherwise on the real estate or any part thereof of E. N. Ervine:

In pursuance of a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas county, made in a cause therein pending to subject the real estate of the said E. N. Ervine to the satisfaction of the liens thereon, you are hereby required to present all claims held by you and each of you against the said E. N. Ervine, which are liens on his real estate, or any part thereof, for adjudication to me at my office in the town of Marlinton, Pocahontas County, W. Va., on or before the 18th day of May, 1897.

Given under my hand this the 16th day of April, 1897.

S. B. SCOTT, Jr., Commissioner.

Commissioner's Notice.

Office of S. B. Scott, Jr., Comm'r. } Marlinton, W. Va., April 16, 1897 }

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas county, W. Va., made on the 6th day of April, 1897, in a chancery cause therein pending entitled:

Clifton Forge Grocery Co.
vs.
C. C. Arbogast, et als.

I will proceed at my office in the town of Marlinton, W. Va., on the

10TH DAY OF MAY, 1897,

to take, state, and report to court the following matters of account, as ordered in said decree, viz:

1st—The liens against the lands of C. C. Arbogast, with their dates, dignities and priority and to whom due.

2d—Any other matter to be specially stated, deemed pertinent by myself or required by any party interested to be so stated.

S. B. SCOTT, Jr.,
Commissioner.

NOTICE TO LIEN HOLDERS.

To all persons holding liens by judgment or otherwise on the real estate or any part thereof of C. C. Arbogast:

In pursuance of a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas county, made in a cause therein pending, to subject the real estate of the said C. C. Arbogast so the satisfaction of the liens thereon, you are hereby required to present all claims held by you and each of you against the said C. C. Arbogast, which are liens against his real estate or any part of it, for adjudication to me at my office in the town of Marlinton, Pocahontas County, W. Va., on or before the 18th day of May, 1897.

Given under my hand this the 16th day of April, 1897.

S. B. SCOTT, Jr., Commissioner.

Commissioner's Notice.

COMMISSIONER'S OFFICE, } Marlinton, W. Va., } April 13, 1897.

B. M. Yeager
vs.
J. H. Buzzard, Constable and others.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, W. Va., rendered at the April term 1897, of said Court in the above entitled case, I will proceed at my office in the town of Marlinton, W. Va., on the 17 day of May, 1897, to take, state, and report to the June Term of said Court the following matters of account, to wit:

1—An account showing what amounts were due from said J. C. Sergent, S. F. C., to the several school districts in this county on the 1st day of July, 1893.

2—An account showing what amount was due from said J. C. Arbogast, as shown by this court to said districts when the land books referred to in the bill were turned over to Levi Gay.

3—What amount said Levi Gay has paid on said indebtedness.

4—What amount of capital and interest remains due and unpaid on said liens, if any, and to whom due.

5—Whether or not B. M. Yeager became chargeable with any of the indebtedness from said J. C. Arbogast, S. F. C., to the several school districts in this county on the 1st day of July, 1893.

6—Whether or not J. C. Arbogast was insolvent when said bond of $10,000 given under section 49 of chapter 54 of the code, on which B. M. Yeager and Adam Arbogast are sureties, became executed.

7—Whether or not J. C. Arbogast was insolvent when said bond of $10,000 given under section 49 of chapter 54 of the code, on which B. M. Yeager and Adam Arbogast are sureties, became executed and delivered to said J. C. Arbogast, and when the same was approved by the court in said bond, and when each of the sureurs had the means of the same.

8—To what the title of said land is now vested, by forfeiture or otherwise, and who, if any one, is entitled to redeem said land.

9

The Pocahontas Times.

APRIL 18, 1897.

Local Events.

Horace M. Lockridge is quite ill at his home in Hunterville.

FOR RENT. I have a good store house to rent at Edray. A fine location for a store. J. R. POAGE.

A STOCK company has been formed at Harper's Ferry to bore for oil.

THE precipitation for the month of March, taken at Harrisonburg, Virginia, was 2.4 inches.

Josiah Gulbert is preparing to move from Brown's Creek to occupy a thirteen feet lease near Mack Irvine's, on Brown Mountain.

E. I. HOLT is now ready to show you a complete stock of spring and summer goods, new, nobby and up to-date.

J. E. PERL, of Valley Head, who died suddenly last week, expressed his belief, before he died, that he had been poisoned.

THE Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co. is painting its passenger cars blue, thus making this color distinctive to that road.

Go to J. D. Pullin & Co. for shoes, dry goods and notions. Their stock is complete, and their prices cheap.

E. I. HOLT is prepared to show you a line of Hats, Millinery and Notions in correct styles and at irreproachable prices.

MISS J. C. GAY, of Elk, and her little grandson, Raleigh Gay, paid the Times office a visit that is more than pleasant to remember appreciate.

THE bids for the new locks and dams in the Monongahela River will be opened on the 27th of this month, and work will probably begin in May.

THE trial of George Dolan fell thro last Monday, owing to a clerical defect in the drawing of the indictment. He was indicted for willfully killing a hog, the property of Mrs Andy Rose.

AN old silver halftime was found by Joe McNeel on Young Mountain bearing date 1830, with the initials W. Y. cut on it. It is supposed to have been lost by William Young, who died about forty years ago.

ATTENTION is called to law card of Mr Fred Wallace, of Lewisburg. He will be regular in his attendance in our courts and is ready to attend to any law business that is entrusted to him, either in this or Greenbrier County.

THE Circuit Clerk has received the costs due from the insurance company to witnesses in the case of S. A. Gilmor vs. the Peabody Insurance Company, and is distributing the same.

N. C. MCNEIL.

NEVER be cast down by trifles. If a spider breaks his web twenty times, twenty times he will mend it. Make up your mind to do a thing and you will do it. Make up your mind to enlarge your pocket-book. You can do it by trading with us. L. D. SHARP.

MISS J. H. DILLS is now teaching a class in art at Academy, W. Va. Lessons are given in crayon, oil, water colors, and pastel. Mrs Dills has studied art in Philadelphia and Richmond, Va. She has taught successfully for more than ten years. This is a rare opportunity offered the people of this section. Terms: $6 for twelve lessons.

A PLEASANT society event transpired Wednesday morning, April 7, near Edray, when Mr Samuel Moore, of Waukon, and Miss Ida V. Smith were married at 7 o'clock by Rev William T. Price. Miss Smith is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs Josiah Smith, and is held in highest esteem by her friends and acquaintances. She was the recipient of many tokens of their best wishes for her happiness and prosperity in the future. Mr Moore is a worthy young man, now in Academy of Music, Class of Book Al-bookery in upper Pocahontas.

THE School Board in Morgantown got into a scrape with an insurance company about the old academy building recently injured by fire. The company proposed to repair it, which would cost less than the insurance amount. On the night before the work was to begin the building was applied by some democratic wag and the building was consumed. It was the intention of the Board to have a new building on a more eligible site. It looks now as if the money may be wasted, as repairs will not be attempted, as the building now is.

THE Confederate Soldier's home, in the suburbs of Richmond, Virginia, has received from the State of Virginia $50,000 according to the appropriation of that State for the maintenance of that institution. The property belongs to the State in almost every sense. The last annual report showed that about 60 per cent of all the inmates from the Confederate States were from Virginia. How much of this will otherwise be going to the Soldiers' Home in Washington, and what proportion will be spent in Richmond, remains to be seen. The Home is situated in Richmond, and is under the management of a board of managers appointed by the Governor of Virginia. The Home is supported by the Confederate pensions and the appropriation just mentioned. The pension rate is about forty cents of the most valuable supplies and would Richmond

COL. ROBERT EASTHAM, who was held for killing Frank R. Thomson in Tucker County, was refused bail.

OIL has been struck near Princeton, in Mercer County, with indications that it is there in paying quantities.

SAVANNAH, GA., expects to boom this summer with ice at 5cents per hundred pounds, and beer 5 cents per keg.

J. D. PULLIN & Co. have made unusual efforts to secure the best the market affords and is very well equipped to supply all your wants.

WE have heard that there is a saloon keeper at Renton, W. Va., who is clearing $1000 per month out of a small whiskey shop business.

THE central sections of Texas were devastated by a cyclone a few days since wherein many lives were lost and buildings overthrown or greatly damaged.

A BOILER explosion occurred at Newbergh, Preston County, in which three men were killed and Henry Miller, the proprietor, was seriously injured.

JEREMIAH FEIEL, a respected citizen on Greenbrier River, a few miles above Marlinton, died March 10, 1897, at no advanced age. He was quiet, honest, and industrious person.

MARRIED, at the residence of the bride's father, J. B. Trainer, Esq. in Pocahontas county, Hermit L. Buzzard and Miss Ida F Trainer, April 8, 1897.

DR J. M. CUNNINGHAM has fitted up a fine set of offices in his new building and has furnished the rooms with numerous conveniences for the practice of medicine and surgery.

CAPTAIN S. J. BOGGS, late of Anthony's Creek, has bought J. C. Loury's stock of merchandise, rented the store-house, and has moved his family to Hunterville. Capt. Boggs has had some years experience in the business.

J. H. LANDES desires the public to know that he has discontinued his shoe-making business, on account of illhealth and a press of work in other departments. Shoes neatly mended, as heretofore. He is better prepared than ever to make your photograph.

THE appeal case of A. M. Byrd against Thomas C. Courtney, involving an order on Gunther, the contractor of stonework on the court house, was tried Monday and resulted in a verdict for the defendant. What the defense relied upon that the plaintiff had not used due diligence in collecting the same.

THE Supreme Court of this State has decided a branch of the case of Gay vs Lockridge, allowing Mrs J. T. Lockridge her dower in the Dr. J. B. Lockridge case. It was on this point an appeal was taken. Messrs McClintic and Jones represented the appellant and the contest was made by the Bank of Buena Vista, with Wm. M. and J. T. McAllister, attorneys.

MONDAY evening Mrs Crummett gave a reception to the "sassiety" people of the place. Nearly all of the lonesome but honorable members of the unmarried set were present, and made the hours all too short with games, music, and conversation. Those from out of town attending were Miss Grace Campbell, of Hunterville, and Messrs Charles Steinmeyer, Ligon Marshall, and Dr Byrd.

JOHN ROBER, who lives near Marlinton, seems to be a born geologist, and frequently brings his findings to this office. Among his latest is a curious specimen of chrystal quartz found in a globular matrix of yellowish sandstone of almost finely hardness. He reports also the discovery of slate-colored marble on the Johnson Place, near his dwelling, which he gave to A. M. McLaughlin, who was attending court last week. The marble is on Mr McLaughlin's land.

THE way to success is to keep reliable goods, to sell them at fair prices, to represent them just as they are, by word of mouth and through the press. I am on the right path. Come and look over my line of ladies' trimmed hats. They will please you, they are up to date. I have a big lot of soiler hats in white and black; my ladies walking hats are beauties. I want all the witness tickets in the Peabody case; I will pay cash money on them. FANNY GOLDEN.

MR. WATERSON MCCLINTIC was painfully injured last week at his camp on Williams River. He was engaged with a force of hands in quarrying a landing, and in jumping aside to escape a log slipped and fell to the path of another and was struck by the latter's descent. The log struck him on the left leg, just above the ankle, and broke it in two places. The bone was not broken, however, and the limb will soon be as strong as before the accident.

Minutes of the P. C. C. V. No 873

Pocahontas Camp of Confederate Veterans No. 873 met at Marlinton on April 6, pursuant to notice, Col A. C. L. Gatewood in the chair and H. P. McLaughlin, Adj., acting as secretary.

The object of the meeting being explained. The purpose being to subdivide the above camp into 4 or more camps, in order that there may be camps enough in this State to form a division, which will be known as the West Virginia Division of United Confederate Veterans.

On motion of M. J. McNeel that the Pocahontas Camp be subdivided into four or more camps. The motion was seconded and carried.

On motion that the Pocahontas Camp remain intact as a Regimental organization.

M. J. McNeel was appointed to organize a sub-comp in the Levels district at Academy on April 17, 1897. Lieut. Col. Levi Gay was appointed to organize a sub-camp in Edray District at Marlinton on Saturday April 17, 1897. Lieut. Col Sam'l B. Hanna appointed to organize a sub-camp in the Green Bank District at Green Bank on April 17 1897. T. J. Williams appointed to organize a sub-camp in Huntersville District at Huntersville on April 17, 1897.

After the organization of the sub-camps, the commander will appoint a committee of two from each camp as delegates to the State meeting at Charleston, on May 4, 1897 for the purpose of organizing a Division, to be known as the West Virginia Division of U. C. V. It is earnestly desired that all members on the different districts would attend the above meetings promptly, and aid in the organization.

A. C. L. GATEWOOD,
Commander and Chairman.
H. P. McLaughlin,
Adjt. and Sec'ty.

Surgical Operation.

A surgical operation of a grave and serious character was performed by Drs. Cunningham and Price at this place last Tuesday, at which time a fibroid tumor weighing 22½ pounds was taken from the body of Mrs Francis McCoy, of Beaver Dam. As far as can be ascertained, the patient will recover from the effects of the operation. The growth of the tumor has occupied fifteen years. Undergraduates A. M. Byrd and John Yeager assisted in the operation.

"Henry Fletcher Killed.

Authentic information has been received that Joshua Douglas shot and killed Henry Fletcher at the latter's lumber camp on Turkey Creek in Webster County. Douglas is the father of Kenos Douglas who was tried for the murder of Thomas Reed in Greenbrier and Fletcher was an important witness.

SWAGO.

Every thing looks as spring had come to stay.

Some of our people have been attending court.

Miss Cora Clonnan, who makes her home at Dr Wallace's, is visiting friends in this section.

Miss Neva McNeill, one of our accomplished young ladies and school teachers, has been visiting her aunt for the past week.

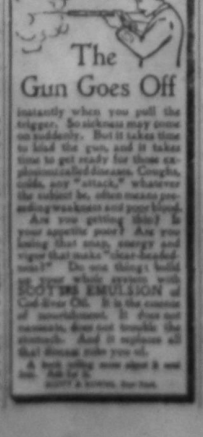
Rev Sharp preached an interesting sermon on Sunday morning.

The people had a social singing on Sunday evening.

W. B. Hill was in this neighborhood last week.

Owen Kellison made a trip to Webster last week.

Sam Sheets was here Sunday.



Elbert Simmons spent Sunday and Sunday night with his friends.

Rev Price will preach at the upper church next Sunday evening.

Miss Allie Sheets, who has been making her home for some time at Mr Cassell's, is at home now.

J. I. Beverage is talking of going to Webster soon. TOTEM.

THE Emperor of Russia, to all appearance, is apprehensive of something uncommon going to happen at Constantinople, and has issued instructions to concentrate two hundred thousand troops in South Russia.

instantly when you pull the trigger. So sickness may come on suddenly. But it takes time to kind the gun, and it takes time to get ready for those exceptional cold diseases, Coughs, colds, any "attack," whatever the subject be, often means preceding weakness and poor blood.

Are you getting thin? Is your appetite poor? Are you losing that vital energy and vigor that make "healthy-feeling?" Do one things hold up your whole system with SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil. It is the essence of nourishment. It does not overtax, does not trouble the digestion. It enriches the blood, and that means make you well.

A book telling more about it sent free. Ask for it.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

Correspondence.

MILL POINT.

Winter is gone, we hope, and spring is welcomed by all, both rich and poor.

The Epworth League at Marvin Chapel, which is a meeting of very much interest, seems to be proceeding very nicely.

Joseph Smith, who has very feeble in health for several months, is no better at this writing, but it is hoped that the appearance of the summer's sun will bring relief.

Henry McClure is recovering from a severe illness.

Mrs John Burgess is also recovering from a bed sick spell of five weeks.

D. A. Gladwell says he is going leave us and go to the lumber camps of Webster.

E. L. Smith has been away all week attending Court.

Sherman Piles has gone to work for D. O'Connell.

How many young persons in Pocahontas, or else where, are going to pass the teacher's examinations this summer? How many want to go to a preparatory school? All who want to go can find out particulars by writing to W. H. Shafer, Mill Point, W. Va. The school will be taught at Buckeye, provided there are enough in attendance to justify one to teach. The exact time and other particulars will be advertised in THE TIMES later on.

There will be a spelling contest at McClure's school house Saturday night, April 17. MEX.

CLOVER CREEK.

A little rain and some mud.

Some of the farmers have sown their oats.

Samuel Hannah, of Green Bank, was on the Creek on his way home from Marlinton.

Several of the people are attending Court this week.

Misses Edna and Eva Kramer have returned from Gillespie where they were visiting friends.

Walter Malcomb is on Clover Creek visiting friends, at this writing.

Several large droves of cattle from the Valley of Virginia have passed thro this part.

R. Dudley, of Augusta County, is on the Creek looking about his farm.

George Hannah made a flying trip to Clover Lick this week.

The gentleman that rides the large black had better look up or he will come out behind time in this part.

Rev Caldwell preached for us at the Price school-house on Sunday.

The Sunday School, I think, is a thing of the past.

The sugar season is past.

Mr and Mrs Vint gave a pleasant social for the young people of Clover Creek and Driftwood.

The church at Driftwood is progressing slowly. VINA.

LAUREL CREEK.

Rain, mud, sleet and snow. Laurel Creek is on a boom and all our neighbors are back from Court.

J. C. Bowers has moved from George White's saw mill to H. Nathan's farm.

William Taylor is moving to James White's farm.

Colbert Pritt expects to occupy the house recently vacated J. C. Bowers.

James white is running his saw mill on wet days.

The farmers of this section are preparing to sow oats and plant corn.

H. Nathan has one hundred acres to plow, but is progressing rapidly.

J. L. McNeel is clearing extensively for corn.

J. McCallister will resume work on Hamp Galford's saw mill soon

H. L. Moore, Webster's prosperous merchant, was in our neighborhood last week and reports good times under the McKinley Administration.

George White has suspended sawing on account of a defective throttle valve, which he sent to Roneverte to have it fixed.

A. N. Taylor has rented and moved to H. S. Bucher's farm.

J. L. McNeil expects to build a new house in the near future.

W. F. Dilley expects to go to Roneverte this week.

W. E. Sharp has returned from the Levels and reports the roads very muddy.

James and Emery White are clearing a new field.

We understand that G. P. Gilmore's wife is not expected to live.

We earnestly hope that the post-office that has been spoken of near the residence of Mr Henry Barlow will be established, as it would be two miles nearer for the people of Laurel Creek to get their mail.

PITKINSBURG.

YELK.

Quite a number of our business men attended court last week and some of them.

Henry Sharp has gone to Beverly for a load of goods for G. L. Barlow.

N. B. Hutton was in this vicinity on last Wednesday and Thursday.

Log rolling seems to be the order of the day and with cheap flour most logs have been rolled.

B. A. Sloan returned home last Sabbath with some cattle for his mountain.

W. M. Varner and a few other farmers have finished sowing oats.

J. D. Gay, of Edray, was in this part Sunday.

Paddy Gay has just returned from Rockbridge with some fine cattle.

William Cochran and J. Barlow passed here today (Monday) en-route for Beverly. APRIL.

We are having rain, snow and cold weather; farmers are ready to sow their oats. The farmers are preparing to put out a good crop this year.

S. M. Gibson had a log rolling. If you want a mess of fish, call on Willie Morgan.

Henry Rose's youngest son came near killing himself by falling out of a barn.

Charles McCoy understands his business of late.

A Sunday school was organized at Slaty Fork last Sunday.

If the girls will let Frank Gibson alone, he will overcome his troubles.

Bill Shelton's girl says he is a charming swain, but heart fails him.

J. D. Sharp, of Slaty Fork, is bringing on a large stock of goods. He is doing a good business.

James Gibson, Jr., has moved Henry Waugh to his farm on Dry Branch. PEG.

DUNMORE.

The weather is a little frosty.

This is the month that all overseers should work the roads. A good many roads are dangerous to travel. The road between Dunmore and Hunterville is in a very bad condition. When roads are worked the dirt should be put in the centre of the road, all mud holes filled, and the ditches cleaned out. Keep the water out of the roads if you want to have better roads. All new road should be built before the first.

We notice that some of the merchants get very hot over the big auctions that C. B. Sweeker makes at Marlinton. The beauty and advantage in buying at auction is you buy at your own price, and when the merchant sells he sells at his price. If he sells an article for 85 that cost 31, no one is hurt; but if the honest auctioneer sells an article for 31 that cost him 25 he is a humbug.

Sweeker will be at the June Court with a fine stock of auctions.

Howard Armstrong is out buying horses.

Rev Envey, the new preacher for this circuit, was in town one night last week.

The Sunday school at Baxter church was organized on Sunday last with a full attendance.

There is a scheme on hand to have a mail route from Frost to Green Bank by way of Glade Hill.

Billy Sheets was out to Beverly with the wagon last week.

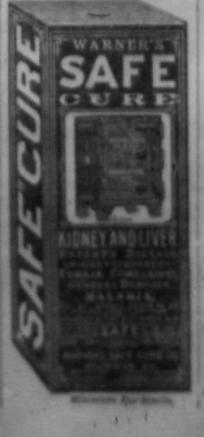
B. C. Hill was up from the Levels last week with a load of flour.

Messrs B. B. Hamrick and Charles Cassell sold out last week. Mr Cassel goes to Huttonsville.

Michael McElwee is out from the Hot Springs.

The planing mill is in full blast this week. Bring on your lumber if you want it dressed.

John R. Warwick and wife were visiting in Bath last week.



Rev J. T. Maxwell will move to Staunton, Va.

Nottingham's new store-house is building rapidly. SNAKE.

GRECIAN affairs seem to be becoming more and more unsettled, the complications hindering agreement among the "concerted" powers are perplexing and bewildering, and war on the Grecian frontiers may open at any time after the 6th of April. Every one appears surprised at the turn affairs have taken except students of prophecy. With them the long expected seems to be just what is transpiring.

FOR SALE.—M. O'Ferrall, Mountain Grove, Virginia, offers for sale his valuable bar-room property at the foot of Alleghany Mountain, in Bath County. Owing to ill health he is compelled to give up his present location. 41

THE ADVANCE AGENT OF HEALTH

PLEASE NOTICE.

I have bought out Joe Loury's entire stock of goods, and will do business at the same place.

I will replenish my stock with new goods from time to time, and will give you the Best Bargains you ever got. Call and see me before you buy. I will take all kinds of Country Produce that I can sell—Butter, Grain, Eggs, Wool, etc., at best prices. To give you an idea of my [illegible] and all other [illegible] right and show you my goods.

J. BOGGS,
W. Va.

tylish,
od,
r now Spring Stock
o trade with us even parts of the county.
part of your busi-
our goods and I'll e
ourt or have a visit
COMPLETE and young, rich
HOLT.
the trade
w goods ng 17
o date ghout reliable d ll
d to buy ully shown welcome
in buying ught at low-tation ays given sion for dis-wledge how oosing styles fy customers od customer olden.

Attention

1200 BUSHELS OF CORN.
1000 BUSHELS OF GOOD SEED OATS, AND 700 BUSHELS OF RYE FOR SALE CHEAP AT

Sol. Davis'

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. Va.

Will practice in the courts of this and adjoining counties.

WILLIAM J. BEARD has associated himself with the practice of the profession, upon which he has been engaged for the past two years in Augusta, Va. He may be found at the office of the undersigned, and will attend to business entrusted to him. He has a thorough training for the profession, and will endeavor to merit a liberal share of patronage.

JOHN T. BEARD.

IT TICKLES YOU
THE INSTANT RELIEF YOU GET FROM
LIGHTNING HOT DROPS.
CURES Colds, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, &c.
HEALS Pain, Burns, Wrinkles, Scratches, Bites of Animals, Serpents, Bugs, etc.
BREAKS UP Bad Colds, La Grippe, Influenza, Croup, Sore Throat, etc.
SMELLS GOOD. TASTES GOOD.
SOLD EVERYWHERE AT 25c AND 50c PER BOTTLE. NO RELIEF, NO PAY.
HERB MEDICINE CO. (Formerly of Weston, W. Va.) SPRINGFIELD, O.

J. H. CLARK,

House and Sign Painter, Hillsboro, W. Va., does his work well. Uses the new discovery for brushing. White Lead. No Chalking or Scaling. Give him a trial.

jn19 6m

17. THE SUN. 189

BALTIMORE, MD.

THE PAPER FOR THE PEOPLE.
THE PEOPLE AND WITH THE PEOPLE.

HONEST IN MOTIVE,
FEARLESS IN EXPRESSION,
SOUND IN PRINCIPLE.
UNSWERVING IN ITS ALLEGIANCE TO RIGHT THOUGHT AND RIGHT PRACTICE.

The Sun publishes all the news—time, but it does not allow itself to be degraded by unclean, sensational, or purely sensational matter. Especially, The Sun is the consistent unchanging champion and defender of popular rights and interests—political, social, mechanical and monopolistic character. Independent in politics, extreme in none. It is for honest, good government and good men.

The Sun, a mail Fifty Cents a month. Sixty cents a year.

Address, THE SUN, Baltimore, Md.

The Baltimore Weekly Sun

The Weekly Sun publishes a selection of each week giving contents of all events of interest the world. As an Agricultural paper The Weekly Sun is second to none, while its Literary Department is conducted with great care, and contains only such matter as is particularly valuable to every member of the family circle. Every issue contains a number of Stories, Sketches and Poems, Household and Fashion Items, a variety of interesting and instructive selected matter, and other matter, which makes it a welcome visitor to every country home at only one dollar a year. Subscriptions, accompanied by the money, may be sent at the risk of the publisher. Address all orders to The Weekly Sun, Baltimore, Md.

Terms of clubs for the Weekly Sun: Six copies, one year, $5; Twelve copies, one year, $10; Twenty copies, one year, $15; and one extra copy to the person getting up the club. Remember that The Weekly Sun is sent to clubs for a full year, and that no subscriptions are taken for a shorter period than one year. Specimen copies sent free. Payments to be made invariably in advance. Address,

A. S. ABELL COMPANY,
Publishers and Proprietors,
Baltimore, Md.

SPECIAL POTATO FERTILIZER

High Grade General Phosphate made from

ACID PHOSPHATE and ANIMAL MATTER

Any farmer should write for prices, and circulars.

AMERICAN REDUCTION CO
Pittsburg, Pa.

CHARLINTON HOUSE,

Located East End of Bridge

Terms.

Per day . 1.00 & 1.5
Per meal - - - 2

Accommodations for Horses and Cattle at reasonable rates.

Free coach made to the cars and boats.

J. YEAGER, Proprietor

R·I·P·A·N·S

Ripans Tabules

THE ODELL TYPE WRITER.

$20 TYPE WRITER with

PATENTS

Scientific American Agency for

Patents
Trade Marks
Designs
Copyrights &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

DISTURBING.

D W Sharp,
Ash May,
Andrew Sheets,
Jacob Sheets.

DEADLY WEAPONS.

James Miller,
Harry Union,
Ash May,
Cameron McLaughlin,
John A McLaughlin,
Perry McLaughlin,
Willis Sheets,
Luther Perkins, 2
R W Hill.

PETIT LARCENY.

George Dolan,
Frank Babbett,
Charles Blankenship,
Charles Wesley Cutlip.

Law Orders.

Frederick Wallace, H. S. Van Sickler and E. C. Eagle qualified to practice law in this county.

State vs Oscar Williams, nolle.

State vs Rimel, jury,—verdict guilty, $20 and costs.

State vs Burgess, confessed, $25 and costs, and confinement in jail one hour.

State vs Jacob Galford, confessed—$1 and costs.

State vs George Stewart, jury,—not guilty.

State vs Frank Dilley and Joe Dilley, jury, not guilty.

State vs Charles Beverage, confessed—$1 and costs.

State vs Preston Dunlap, confessed—$1 and costs.

State vs Clifton Sharp, confessed—$1 and costs.

Kelley vs Barker, unlawful detainer, continued.

Cleek vs McComb, dismissed on appellant's motion.

W H Grose and S B Scott Jr appointed committee to examine clerk's office.

Paul Sharp vs U S Johnson, unlawful detainer, hung jury.

White vs Gay, demurrer overruled and cause continued.

Paul Golden naturalized.

Shorey vs Allen, judgment for plaintiff $42.50 and costs.

State vs M A Dunlap, nolle.

Chancery.

Augusta National Bank vs Tardy report of Commissioner J. T. McAlister confirmed.

A. D. Oliver vs J W Oliver, decree of sale.

Clifton Forge Grocery Company vs C C Arbogast, referred to a commissioner.

Quintilla M Barrows vs A G Barrows, decree of divorce granted.

Andrew Price appointed commissioner in chancery, vice W H Grose, resigned.

Fred Butts bows vs Barr exor, etc, rule absolute and decree of sale ordered.

State vs 100 acres and 15 acres, referred to commissioner.

R S Turk, special commissioner, vs E M Yeager, sale confirmed.

J W Waggoner vs J B Waggoner's heirs, sale confirmed.

Doyle's Administrator vs Doyle's Heirs, commissioner's report confirmed, etc.

Levi Gay vs Skeen, etc, recommitted to commissioner.

Bank of Lewisburg vs Andrew Arbogast, order rendered.

"Farmers' Home Fire Insurance Co., of West Virginia

J. M. SYDENSTRICKER - - - President
E. F. KITT-BALDWIN, Sec'y & Treas

INCORPORATED.

By the People and for the People.

For Insured Property only. No Stock and Officers to Support. No capital save the Assets. No Loss, no Pay. Fair and Reasonable Adjustment of all Losses. Cost less than one fifth of what is paid by a stock company, and is free from stock jobbers. In most cases equally reasonable in rates of the old companies. Thousands of dollars saved to insured.

Office, Thomas, Tucker Co., W. Va.

Insures Dwellings, Farm Property, Merchandise, Churches, Schools, Etc.

Agents Wanted in Every County.

SERMONETTE.

The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom: a good understanding have all they that do His commandments. His praise endureth forever.—Psalm cxi. 10.

The fear of the Lord, or sincere, genuine religion, is the first principle—the head and chief attainment, of wisdom. That which prepares us for present duty, the hour of death, and for whatever is to come after this life.

In the Bible the word "beginning" often means the chief, and so true religion may be at the same time the first element of wisdom and its chief fruit. To be so far acquainted with God as to walk humbly, love mercy, and act justly is really the greatest of all the applied sciences. Whoever has attained this is the best off of all living men, no matter who it may be, the crowned ruler or the toiling, humble citizen living from hand to mouth on honest bread.

"A good understanding have all they that do his commandments."

Obedience to God proves that all who render conscientious obedience have very sound judgment (and are the most level-headed people in the world. Reason, itself, convinces persons like Socrates, Plato, and Aristotle, who had never seen a Bible, that the Lord of all should be obeyed if we could but only know or find out what He requested us to do. In their opinion, surely people lacking in good sound sense would ever think of rebelling against God's laws.

As one of the greatest men of the nineteenth century says: "Men may know and be very orthodox, they may talk and be very eloquent, they may reason and be very deep and profound, but the best proof of their intelligence must be found in their actually doing the will of God as revealed in the ten commandments."

One of the most intellectual, as well as one of the most spiritually-minded ministers that ever adorned the Christian ministry in modern times. No one had more influence with the thinking men of our country than the person who commented in this way on these words: "'A good understanding have all they that do his commandments.' They who do the commandments have a good understanding; not they who speak of the commandments, nor they who write of the commandments, nor they who preach the commandments, but they who do the commandments have a good understanding. The rest have a false understanding, a vain understanding, an understanding like that of the scribes and Pharisees, which was enough to condemn them but not to save them."

His praise endureth forever. As God's words, works, and ways will be always worthy of admiration, and hence produce adoration in the minds of the truly wise, the praises of God will never cease,—will endure forever. Tho this be the case, still there is reason for thinking that this sentence may refer or apply to those who fear the Lord,—their praise shall endure forever.

It is a blessed truth and very encouraging that the sincerely pious, those who live obedient lives, shall obtain honor of the Lord and commendations which will abide forever. A well-done good and faithful servant, from the mouth of God will be an honor which will outshine all the decorations which kings and emperors can bestow in the greatness of their power. May the blessed Lord who hears and answers prayer help us to study and do his commandments, and consider his providential dispensations, and see his ruling hand in all the events of our lives, and henceforth may we breathe out praises to his holy name so long as we live in this life, and in the life to come.

By way of making a practical application of what has been presented, we select from a Richmond paper the following pertinent reflections along the same line of thought:

"As a man's life consistently and in the obedience of the things which he prescribes, so the life of a community has not been attained until the religious element is developed and the appropriate demonstrated by its influence from it. Beyond all these is the whole of this topic, using the three remedies recommended by Swede, and was treated by the physicians, but succeed as well, the case need use such a half bottle of Dr. Miles's New Heart Cure. Sold by druggists on guarantee first bottle benefits or money back. This is guaranteed of by druggists, so that you can't afford to suffer with heart disease when you can get relief so cheap. Book and opinion free. Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

true of the community, because religion is but another name for the right use of all the faculties—physical, intellectual, and moral,—holding them in harmonious balance, developing them in due proportion, freeing them from the blinding power of prejudice, passion, and evil habits; giving them wholesome exercise, training them all to keep step to the music of duty, and inspiring them with an intelligent and well-directed aim for the good of others."

Thus writes the Rev Dr Hoge in the Richmond Times:

"It is one of the pleasing and hopeful features of the higher order of secular journals that more and more attention seems to be given to the opinions of persons eminent for their piety, eloquence, purity and personal integrity. Journalism conducted on a plane so elevated will in due time concentrate the support and influence of the genuine piety and intelligent patriotism of our citizenship. It will all prepare for that coming day when sincere religious character will be deemed of requisite, practical importance in promoting social reforms, moral institutions, and measures devised by statesmanship."

Thus explained it does surely seem that—

"Religion is the chief concern
Of mortals here below,
O may I its great importance learn
Its sovereign virtue know."

April 9, 1897. SENEX.

The Panama Canal Under Construction.

Now that the Nicaragua canal has been talked to death by its injudicious friends, it is interesting to learn from a letter of Mr. C. C. Adams, in the New York Sun, that the Panama canal has continued under construction from 1894 to the present time, and will, perhaps be completed in the next six years. The waterway has been extended sixteen miles eastward from Colon and four miles eastward from Panama, so that only a fraction of the work—do a large one—is yet to be done. The original plan of a sea level canal is, of course, abandoned. The scheme, as now being pushed, contemplates ten locks, the higher locks being supplied with water from vast reservoirs which will receive and relieve the floods of the Chagres River. The strictest economy is being practiced. No kite-flying is indulged in, but work is being pushed quietly and steadily. Dredges are excavating at a good rate and new hoisters were recently purchased in New York with a capacity of 50,000 cubic metres per day. As many as 3,000 laborers are now, it is stated, on the canal management's pay-roll. The Panama canal, in a work, is not so dead as it seemed to be a few years ago. There is a prospect of its being pushed from sea to sea. It has been called an impracticable project, but in the opinion of the business men now in control it is an eminently practicable enterprise.

Where does the money come from to reanimate an undertaking deemed bankrupt a few years ago? When the original Panama Company went into liquidation in March, 1889, the French public had invested in it 260,000,000, of which $120,000,000 had been "absorbed" by Paris politicians, editors, and out-and-out thieves. Much of the $140,000,000 spent on the canal itself had been wasted, but Dutch, Belgian, and French engineers took to the isthmus after the collapse, estimated that some $90,000,000 had been usefully expended and $150,000,000 more would complete the canal, with locks. Much patient work was done to get down to facts. De Lesseps was dead and the glory of the thing was gone, but it was concluded to keep the concession alive and go on with the enterprise until the French public should renew its interest in it. The government lent its good offices. It was left to be incumbent on Frenchmen to win the two greatest feats in the world—the Suez and Panama. Some cash in hand induced Colombia, in October, 1894, to extend the concession for ten years, tho it was said six years would suffice to complete the work. In the month just named a new company was organized. Holders of $2,000 shares of the old issued $4,000,000 of new money in it. Pressure brought to bear on Reyn, Eiffel Reinach's executors and others who had wrecked the old company caused the disgorgement of millions, so that the new company had $7,000,000 to begin with. The new company, M. Mackay, remained digging on the Culebra section, and work has been continuous since 1894, except during part of 1896, when the laborers included in a riotous and commercial strike.—Baltimore Sun.

MRS A. INYARD, residing at 702 Henry St., Allen, Ill., suffered with chronic rheumatism for over eight years. She assumed to be nearly dead when she began to use Dr. Miles's New Heart Cure, using the three remedies recommended by Swede, and was treated by the physicians, but succeed as well, the case need use such a half bottle of Dr. Miles's New Heart Cure. Sold by druggists on guarantee first bottle benefits or money back. This is guaranteed of by druggists, so that you can't afford to suffer with heart disease when you can get relief so cheap. Book and opinion free. Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

Lightning Hot Drops—
What a Power Hidden!
Very True, but it Does Not Pain.
Sure Knockouts, Every Drop—
Without Distress, There is No Pain.

MEDICAL WISDOM.

THE DREADED CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

T. A. Slocum, M. C., the great Chemist and Scientist, Offers to Send Free, to Afflicted, Three Bottles of His Newly-Discovered Remedies Is Sure to Cure Consumption and All Lung Troubles.

Nothing could be fairer, more philanthopic or carry more joy in its wake than the offer of T. A. Slocum, M. C., of 188 Pearl street New York City.

Confident that he has discovered an absolute cure for consumption and all pulmonary complaints, and to make its great merits known, he will send, free, three bottles, to any reader of the Pocahontas Times, who is suffering from chest, bronchial, throat and lung troubles or consumption.

Already this "new scientific course of medicine" has permanently cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases.

The Doctor considers it his religious duty—a duty which he owes to humanity—to donate his infallible cure.

Offerered freely, apart from its inherent strength, is enough to commend it, and more so is the perfect confidence of the great chemist making the proposition.

He has proved consumption to be a curable disease beyond any doubt.

There will be no mistake in sending—the mistake will be in overlooking the generous invitation. He has on file in his American and European laboratories testimonials of experiences from those cured, in all parts of the world.

Delays are dangerous. Address T. A. Slocum, M. C., 188, Pearl street New York, and when writing to the Doctor, please give express and postoffice address, and mention reading this article in The Pocahontas Times.

ForSale

The Gem Soap Factory, with all fixtures. Established over thirteen years. Good reason for selling.

Address, R. GARCIN,
1446 E. Franklin Street,
Richmond, Va.

Cotton Plants.

Send two stamps to mail seed and directions how to grow Cotton plants North. Address Seed Department, Seaboard Air Line, Pinebluff, (Winter health Resort), N. C.

C. B. SWECKER,
General Auctioneer
and Real Estate Agent.

Tuoll Coal, Mineral and Timber Lands Farms and Town Lots a specialty. 21 years in the business. Correspondence solicited. Reference furnished.

Postoffice—Dunmore, W. Va., or Alexander, W. Va.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONTAS COUNTY, }

At Rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on Monday, the 1st day of March, 1897.

Davis Wanless, Dora E. Rich (nee Wanless), and Sally Swinizer (nee Wanless) ..... Plaintiffs.

vs.

John F. Wanless, William Wanless and a sister whose name is unknown, heirs at law of Stephen Wanless, deceased; Ralph W. Wanless, Stephen H. Wanless, the unknown heirs of George P. Wanless, deceased, and Margaret E. Wanless, children and heirs at law of Ralph Wanless, deceased; The unknown heirs of William Wanless; the unknown heirs of Betsy M. Hatter, (nee Wanless); the unknown heirs of Lida M. Vires: all the foregoing defendants being heirs at law of a certain James Wanless, deceased; Newton M. Fertig, and Joseph H. Shrader, and all the other unknown heirs of James Wanless, Sr., deceased ..... Defendants

The object of this suit is to have partition of the lands in the bill and proceedings mentioned, of which James Wanless, Sr., died seized and possessed, and which are now in the possession of the said John F. Wanless; and to assign to the plaintiffs their respective interests in said lands, and to this end to take all necessary and proper proceedings.

This day came the plaintiffs by their attorneys, and on their motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed that the said defendants, William Wanless, Margaret E. Wanless, the heirs of George P. Wanless, the unknown heirs of William Wanless, the unknown heirs of Betsie M. Hatter, the unknown heirs of Lida M. Vires, and the unknown sister of said John F. Wanless are non residents of the state of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the date of the first publication hereof, and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit. Teste:

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
Wm. M. & J. T. McAlister p. q.

AMERICANS are the most inventive people on earth. To them have been issued nearly 600,000 patents, or one to every one hundred of the patents issued in the world. No discovery of modern years has been of greater benefit to mankind than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy, as has been proved by the unknown facts of thousands of people. Mrs. A. W. Yeager, of Delton, Ky., says: "I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy for years and have found it to be the best medicine I ever used. I recommend it to all my friends." For sale by druggists.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Cherry, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our stuff not dropping what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY,
Boston, Mass.
ALLEN C. SMITH, Pres.,

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

Simms & Co.,

RONCEVERTE, W. VA.

Silver Steel Plow, Syracuse Chilled Plows, Imperial Chilled Plows.

PLOW REPARS OF ALL KNDS AT LOWEST PRICES EVER OFFERED HERE

RED WARRIOR POLL AXES		65c
GREENBRIER	"	60c
CHAMPION	"	50c

4 No. 2 Horse-shoes for	15c	4 No. 3 Horse-shoes	18c
4 No. 4 " "	23c	4 No. 5 "	16c

COOK-STOVES OF ALL KINDS

1 doz. 8x10 Window Glass 35c | Beres Grindstone 1 1-4c lb
Paints, Oils, Varnishes, etc.

Our goods are all first class, no shoddy or job-lots, or damaged goods. Strike us for prices before you buy.

Simms & Co.,
Opposite Passenger Depot. Ronceverte, W. Va.

The Pocahontas Times,

All home Print,

Affords the People of Pocahontas County one of the best papres for the price in the State.

$1.00 per Year

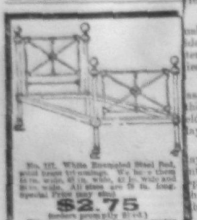
GIVES YOU YOUR COUNTY PAPER.

SUBSCRIBE!

Advertise your Wares and Wants Our rates are always low enough to warrant your patronage.

Our Job Department has been renewed, and we guarantee satisfaction. Wedding invitations and all kinds of work done on short notice

WE HAVE THE BEST PRINTING PLANT OUT SIDE A LARGE TOWN IN THE STATE.



Now is the time to Subscribe!

We have a plan by which Farmers can get TOOL CHESTS FREE

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 14, NO. 39 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, APRIL 23, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 127. White Enameled Steel Bed, good brass trimmings. We be t thing in it world, if in, will be sold for $3.75, while they last. Special Price

$2.75

Freight paid by R. & O.

Price current of Stoves we are saying without values or call on. Their construction could not be more modern and luxurious. Every heating contingency is completely provided for. Drop a postal, look for complete catalogue of Furniture, Carpets, Oil Cloths, Rugs, Mattresses, Refrigerators, Stoves, Feed Cutters, Buggies, Spring, etc. The cheapest goods you desire and we pay all freight. Our Mission Oak Suit for dollar by dealing with the manufacturer.

JULIUS HINES & SON, BALTIMORE, MD.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

LAW CARDS.

S. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. EUCKER,
ATT'Y AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals

J. W. MENCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. E. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of holding court will appear in this paper.

DR. J. E. WHITCOTT,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
HAMNS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County semi-annually. The exact time of holding court will appear in the Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office over door to C. & P. Telegraph Office. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

Roberts and Wife.

The people of this town were never more excited than over the strange and unaccountable behavior of George W. Roberts and his wife, who came to this neighborhood, last Saturday morning, and we will begin at the beginning and tell what gave rise to conjecture and suspicion among our people.

George W. Roberts kept books in Peter's camp last winter, and is a native of Pennsylvania. Last summer he married Rose Lindsay, of this county, aged 15 years. Her extreme youth caused those who looked over the registry of marriages in the County Clerk's office to notice the event particularly. Last Saturday the couple arrived at Uriah Bird's hotel. The wife was sick and kept her room, requesting everyone who knocked at the door not to enter. Sounds of a struggle were heard by those in the hotel, but no inquiries were made. Sunday morning, when Roberts went to the livery stable to arrange for a conveyance to Addison, Mrs Roberts came down carrying a small grip, and seemed to be making an effort to run away from him. After she had gone, the room which they had occupied was examined, and the walls, floor, and furniture were found splattered with blood, and a slop-bucket was half full of blood and water.

The woman was next heard of at Edgar Sharp's, about ten miles from Marlinton, whither she had walked Sunday morning. She asked Mr. Sharp to put her over Greenbrier River, and told him she was in trouble. She cried bitterly and the blood was dripping from her hand and her arm was bound up. While she was resting there her husband came up and claimed that she was his sister who had run away from her husband. She retired to a distant corner of the yard and talked with him; while Edgar Sharp, noting the suspicious actions of the parties, looked in her valise and saw there a shirt-waist which had been saturated with blood, showing that the entire sleeve of the waist had been split with a knife. Sharp helped the woman to dress her wounds and saw that she had received a terrible cut in the arm from a knife. The woman went with Roberts to the house of Caroline Smith, a distance of seven miles, where they had supper. Here Roberts said that it was his neice whom he had with him. Thence they went to the house of Dave Sharp, about four miles farther, where they made arrangements to spend the night. The woman was in very delicate health, was under treatment of a physician, and had walked on Sunday—over these mountain roads—twenty-one miles, with a cruel gash and bleeding wound. When she lay in bed was marked with blood.

At her request Mrs Sharp allowed her to share the bed of her daughter. Roberts sat up until about one o'clock, and upon his intrusion into the room he was wished to go to bed. Dave Sharp took him by the coat collar and thrust him out into the night. At Roberts' commands, his wife arose about two o'clock and dressed herself and went with her husband.

After leaving the house a pistol shot was fired, and nothing more was seen or heard of them by the next morning, when Roberts appeared from the shelter of a laurel thicket to William B. Johnson, where he was at work. Johnson is his nearest neighbor. Roberts' clothes were covered with blood. He told who could not see the blood on them. Roberts had no blood on his clothes when he left Sharp's and it was then thought that the worst might have happened. Some parties went to see the dead and found no sign of blood and a wood knife-handle covered with blood.

A warrant was issued when the above facts had been reported to the justice and a posse consisting of W. W. Tyree, Jr., Will McLaughlin, John Tyree and W. B. King started for Roberts' home on Wild River Mountain. He was not at home, but the appearance of his wife and her boy-husband at the house of a man who had the loud reputation of being a desperate character in his native State, the appearance of having been in an unnecessarily hurry and was accompanied by a pistol shot, and Bird's Hotel caused a number of the party to suspect that he had killed his wife and then fled. Roberts was not to be found at the house of Roberts.

This was the exaggerated story which was current here. The truth of the case when the facts are known will exonerate Roberts of all crime save that of eloping with a girl under age. The girl's parents opposed the match, and it was to avoid their opposition that the marriage was kept secret. Roberts and his wife were married by Rev. Mr. Lindsay, father of the bride, on Thursday, March 25th, and left for Marlinton on the following day. Mrs. Roberts was taken sick on the road, and was compelled to stop at Bird's Hotel within a mile of Marlinton. After leaving Dave Sharp's the night he pressed the muzzle of the pistol to her head and told her that she was about to be killed. At that moment she evidently suffered all the terror of those who constantly to violent deaths. He discharged the pistol while it rested against her head, and turning in her hand beat her face into a pulp. The shot was that heard by Sharp.

The poor woman is threatened with blood poisoning. Her wounds are terrible. The principal cut extends the whole length of her arm. It gapes an inch or more and is to the bone. There are other cuts one in the breast and the other across the wrist—which are serious. She was beaten about the head with the pistol, the hammer of which made some sore and wounds in the back of the head. Her face is almost in a pulp. Owing to their lack of surgical attendance they could not be sewed up at the time when a doctor attended her. Her nose was broken also. There is something supremely touching in her effort to hide or shield her husband when the wounds were first made.

The prisoner waived examination and was placed in jail. Bail has not yet been fixed. He begged to be taken to jail, saying he feared some violence might be done him by indignant citizens and public sentiment is very intense. The wife is a nice-looking girl of slight form. Roberts is rather intelligent-looking and seemingly nervous disposition. When taken to jail he was trembling so that he could hardly stand. He presented the appearance of a man about to have delirium tremens and he had been drinking.

William Irvine, of this place, knew Robe ts in Pennsylvania and says that he came from Lockport, Indiana County.

Webster County.

To the Editor of The Times:

I write from our camp in the woods of Webster.

Peter Dow is one of the most prominent contractors in this county.

James Roche is the finest man that ever entered the woods.

Al Dow has just arrived from Cass to assist his brother.

J. B. McNeill, the book keeper, is at home on a visit.

J. J. Dugan is the black smith.

A. S. McNeill is going to move to his new camp shortly.

Frank Thompson is in Pocahontas county on business this week.

The West Virginia Hardwood Mills are under full blast.

The Gauley Company's mills are losing no time.

In the fierce controversy now going on about the scriptures our readers should remember that the "higher critics" are mainly concerned about how and by whom the Scriptures were written. The "lower critics" are mainly concerned about the meaning of the scriptures—what they teach. It turns out that both acknowledge that the Old Testament as we now have it comes precisely the same, word for word, as our Savior read in the synagogue. Now we have not a single doubt that if we use the Bible as He used it, and follow His example and observe his instructions we will come out all right in the end. Christ's idea of the sum and substance of Bible truth was to love God with all the heart, soul, mind, and strength, and the neighbor as ourselves, and he said to one inquirer for everlasting life, This do and thou shalt live. This being so, it will show a great work for us to be troubled about the sayings and doings of the ephemeral and flippant newspapers.

MRS A. LUTZKO, residing at Tiffany Mo., Adair, 10., suffered very severe rheumatism for many years. She says: "I was confined to my bed for a long time, being treated by the most noted physicians, but received no benefit. I then began using Chamberlain's Pain Balm and was effected a complete cure. This is published at her request, as she wishes others similarly afflicted to know what caused her relief." For sale by druggists.

SERMONETTE.

Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom' teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord. And whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by him.—Colossians iii. 16-17.

It seems very reasonable to everyone who deems it important to know and do what the scriptures would have us know and do to attach much importance to the teachings of our Lord. And not only so, but to have great regard for the teachings of his apostolic servants, like John, Peter, and Paul. Our Lord most positively teaches that only those who hear and understand are savingly benefitted, and this should never be out of our minds when we may be seeking to know what we must do in order to be and live in a saving state of grace.

The text advises us to let the word of Christ dwell in us richly in all wisdom. When we do this we will do all we can to find out what are the main facts insisted upon by Christ and his apostolic teachers, and make use of them as the power of God unto our salvation. When we do this we will see that those teachers who were selected, taught, and trained by our Lord, did all in their power to persuade their hearers to believe this first, last, and all the time, that Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the JUST for the UNJUST, that he might bring us to God,—1 Peter, iii. 18. In first Corinthians fifteenth chapter, one of Christ's specially prepared teachers says:

Moreover, brethren, I declare unto you the gospel which I preached unto you, which ye also have received and wherein ye stand. By which also ye are saved if ye keep IN MEMORY what I preached unto you, unless ye have believed in vain. For I delivered unto you first of all that which also I received: how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures. And that He was buried, and that he rose again the third day, according to the scriptures. . . . And last of all he was seen of me also, as one born out of due time."

How very essential then it appears we should desire and pray for understanding hearts, retentive memories, and studious minds—since so much is made to depend upon the hearing and use of such faculties. All this goes to show, too, that it is a matter of the first importance to find out and make use of the truth of the gospel as the Holy Spirit presents it to us —in the word of Christ." An eminent Bible student, who had made the "word of Christ" his chief study, gives it as his opinion that to change God's order of truth is quite as dangerous and far more subtle than the denial of truth itself. In fact, to reverse the order is to deny the truth. We are not not merely to maintain both Christ's work and the Spirit's work in their individual integrity, but also in their exact scriptural order.

Perhaps we can get at the idea held by Bible writers and those best informed in Bible studies as to the importance of receiving the gospel truths in the order the word of Christ recommends by an illustration of this character. Place a loaf of nice, nourishing bread and a package of one of the deadliest poisons now known side by side on the same table. Chemistry informs us that the elements composing the bread and the poison are the same, but differently arranged as to proportions. Take those several elements and arrange them after another order and we have deadly fatal poison. If we take the truths of the gospel as the Bible presents them, and as illustrated by Bible writers, we will receive the knowledge of the word of Christ in this order: first, the life-giving and soul-saving truth that the blood of Jesus Christ, God's son, cleanseth us from all sin. This is the great all important, central truth that pours a flood of light on the whole system of divine revelation given in the word of Christ. Atonement by the blood-shedding of Christ is the sole foundation of genuine, saving Christianity.

Churchianity may have other foundations, but for christianity, which is the love of God with all the heart, soul, mind, and strength and our neighbor as ourselves, there is but one foundation for an unsaved soul's peace with God,—the blood of Jesus. We who were at one time far off, . . . are made nigh by the blood of Christ: for He is our peace.—Ephesians ii. 13-14.

Hence it was when the word of Christ dwelt richly in the Apostles and Bible teachers, the first thing urged inquiring people to do was to believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and be saved right now. And if we follow their example, in whom the word of Christ dwelt richly, we will look to Christ alone as our Savior and seek first of all an outward change—a justified state or condition—in order to receive a sanctified heart and become new creatures in Christ Jesus. It is by this arrangement we are brought near to God.

According to the "Word of Christ," repentance is a change of mind or a new mind about God. Regeneration is a change of heart, or a new heart towards God; conversion is a change of life, or a new life for God; adoption is a change of family, or a new relationship to God; sanctification is a change of employment, or a consecration of all to God; glorification is a change of place or a new condition with God; but justification, which is a change of state or a new standing before God, must be regarded by us as coming FIRST OF ALL, for being "accepted in the Beloved" is the foundation and cause of all the Christian graces, so termed. Or, perhaps, more properly speaking, Justification is the "precious seed" from which Repentance, Regeneration, Conversion, Adoption, Sanctification, and Glorification spring, blossom, and bear fruit.

When the word of Christ dwells in us richly, then we will desire to know God in all the glory of his being and attributes, and by prayer and meditation on the word of Christ dwelling in us richly we will grasp that manifestation of God's glory as it is embodied and displayed in the person of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Our Savior declares: Neither any man the knoweth Father save the Son and he to whom the Son will reveal Him.—Mathew xi. 27.

May it be is our hearts to admonish and teach ourselves and others by this one of the best spiritual songs ever written by one in whom the word of Christ dwelt so richly.

A mind at perfect peace with God,
Oh what a word is this,
A sinner reconciled through blood
This, this indeed is peace.

By nature and by practice far—
How very far—from God,
But now by grace brought nigh to
Thro faith in Jesus' blood. [him

So nigh, so very nigh to God
I cannot nearer be,
For in the person of His Son,
I am as near as He.

So dear, so very dear to God
More dear I cannot be;
The love wherewith He loves the
Such is his love to me. [Son

Why should I ever grovel be
Since such a God is mine,
He watches over me night and day
And tells me "Mine is thine."

March 26, 1897. F. J. Sexton.

His letters came so seldom that I somehow sort o' knowed
That Billy was attempting on a mighty rocky road;
But never once imagined he would bow my head in shame,
As in the dust of welter he or daddy's honored name.
His letter from out to Denver, so the story is mighty short,
I just can't tell his mother, it 'll
crush her poor old heart;
As as I reckon, parson, you might break the news to her—
But it is in the highthour, but he doesn't say what for.
—Kissy Wilson.

Income Tax,

Mr Bryan in his book, "The First Battle," thus speaks of the Income Tax:

"Our opponents endeavored to make it appear that the income-tax plank of our platform assailed the Supreme Court. This criticism was entirely without foundation. The platform commended the income tax, and suggested the possibility that the court might hereafter reverse its decision and return to the early precedents. It is easier to believe that the court will someday return to the construction placed upon the Constitution for a hundred years than it would have been, three years ago, to suppose that the court would render the decision which it did. A future court has a right to declare a similar income tax constitutional. Even the present members of the court have a right to change their opinions on this subject, as judges have in the past changed their opinions. Therefore it is neither treason or sacrilege to express the hope that an income tax law may some day be enforced, even without a change in the Constitution. If I may be pardoned for expressing my opinion, I will add that I have in the past advocated, and do now advocate, an amendment to the Constitution, which will specifically authorize the collection of an income tax, to the end that the burdens of the Federal Government may be equally distributed among those who enjoy the protection of this Government."

Bimetallism.

"The First Battle" has this to say about what Mr Bryan means by the the term bimetallism:

"In a speech made in Ohio, I think in 1895, Senator Sherman (God language something like this (I read it in the press despatches at the time and quote it from memory): "The parity between gold and silver can only be maintained by the use of gold as a standard, with silver coined in limited quantities as a limited legal tender. This can properly be called bimetallism.' This definition of bimetallism has, within the past four years, become quite common among those who oppose gold standard, but are not willing to be known as monometallists. Bimetalism means two metalism, just as certainly as the word means an animal with two feet. It means the use of two metals as standard money, and to be standard money they must be treated alike. If to use gold as a standard, with silver coined in limited quantities as a limited legal tender, is bimetallism, then England has bimetallism now. If that system can properly be called bimetallism, then the use of copper in limited quantities as a limited legal tender along with such a system would constitute trimetallism. It seems to me that the absurdity of Mr Sherman's definition must be apparent to any one who will give the subject a moment's consideration. It was the attempt of the opponents of free coinage to misconstrue the terms formerly used that led to the adoption of a specific ratio. Then, too, many insisted upon calling themselves bimetalists who were unwilling to vote for bimetallism without an international agreement. This made it necessary to coin some means of distinguishing between independent bimetallists and international bimetallists."

THROUGH the thoughtful consideration of Professor A. S. Kieffer of Dayton, Virginia, we have on our table two of the latest publications of Rudolph, Kieffer & Co., at Dayton. The Vocal Gem and Crowning Day No. 2, published in both systems of notation. The Vocal Gem is for the special use of beginners. Crowning Day is a book of gospel songs. The latter contains popular gospel songs, old and new, by some of the most distinguished music writers of the day. If learners patiently use the course of instruction given in the Vocal Gem they will have a good foundation for very satisfactory attainments in the theory and practice of vocal music. A dime and a quarter will get a sample copy of each to any address. Mention notation desired.

But, my dear, you positively must follow my directions. You must take an ice-cold bath every morning."

"Why, doctor, that's just what I was doing."

"It is—or will, then you must stop it."—Piteguille Bazaar.

"I guess there is the silver might field in Washington," suggested the thought.

Dear me! answered Miss Cayenne, "how could you want here here?"—Washington Star.

Among the Mountains.

Gray heavens, gray earth, gray sea, gray sky,
Yet rifted with strange gleams of gold;
Downward, all's dark; but up on high
Walk our white angels—host of old.

Strong faith in God and trust in man;
In patience we possess our souls;
Eastward gray gloom may linger a bit,
But westward, look! the shadow rolls.

Life's broken urns with none are clad,
And grass springs greenest over graves;
The shipwrecked sailor reckons glad
Not what he lost, but what he saves.

Our sun has set, but in his ray
The hilltops shine like saints new-born;
His after glow of night makes day,
And when we wake it will be morn.

—By the author of "John Halifax, Gentleman."

NEWS NOTES.

AN advertisement in a Baltimore paper by Miss Ella R. Pierpoe, of Staunton, found her a husband in Dr E. S. Stanhaugh, of Hanover, Pa.

One of the greatest objections to the present Constitution of this State is the important jurisdiction given to the justice of the peace.

"CAP" HATFIELD was convicted of involuntary manslaughter at the late term of the Mingo Circuit Court. His step son, who confessed to the murder of Elliott Rutherford and Henderson Chambers, was sent to the reform school.

THE Reno Oil Development and Construction Company, with a paid up capital of $1,000,000, has bought $500,000 worth of coal lands in Preston County and leased 18,000 acres of oil land.

SENATOR DANIEL VOORHEES, of Indiana, died of heart disease in Washington, April 10.

CHARLES O. SCULL, general passenger agent of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, has resigned his position.

THE convention to nominate a governor of Virginia will probably consist of 1217 delegates, or one third smaller than the last, owing to the fact that Governor O'Farral received only 127,940 to his predecessors 164,612 votes. The basis of representation is one delegate to every one hundred Democratic voters.

RICHARD WOODS, of Huntington, presented a pistol carelessly at his sweetheart, Miss Flora Tuebert. It was discharged, killing the young lady instantly. Both were prominent society people.

THE Virginia Bell Telephone Company is offering to rent phones and service at $6 per month.

A YOUNG lady in New York recently sold a finger for $1000. A wealthy lady wished to have the finger grafted to here.

He who would reach the summit
Must turn not left or right;
He must keep up heart and courage
And keep the blue in sight.
Little by little the summit
Grows bright in his steadfast eye,
And at last he stands with the victors
As you may, if you try. [ors, —Ellen E. Rexford.

AWAY at the head waters of the Little Kanawha river on Lynn run an extensive lead deposit was discovered last week by Chales Haymond. The deposit is in an almost impassible place, but the proposed Little Kanawha Valley railroad will reach it. It will seek out the hiding places of many rich mineral deposits and will be a means of opening up the rich valley to mankind.—Parkersburg Journal.

THE WINNING RECIPE.—The English Society of Arts offered a prize of $100 for the best process of cleansing silk, woolen and cotton fabrics, one that would not change their color or injure them in any way. The winning receipe was as follows: Grate two good sized potatoes into a pint of water, rub soft matter through the strainer, allow the starchy fluid from the sediment and it is ready for use. Rub the articles gently in the liquid, squeeze out the water, rinse dry and press.—Philadelphia Press.

A NEWSBOY meekly claimed the only a few days ago and purchased from a dealer three cents worth of which he took home, and after putting a log on it marked $14, made a present of it to a Methodist missionary whose church his family attended. The thousand gentlemen took the package home, opened it and examined the contents. The next day he took the document, with the log attached, back to the grocery and said meek, "I see you gave in this week's issue to distribute a receipt for making an excellent cement, and if you have the ingredients I should like to secure it and keep fourteen dollars worth in the house." The newsboy made the morning feel superior Saturday.

...hontas Times-

...ENTS

...day, April 23, 1897

...ONE DOLLAR is al-
...paid within the year
...charged.

...s post office at Marlin-
...second class matter.

...en declared between ...treaty.

...prominent Chilian
..., General Canto and
...n, fought a duel near
...April 14. Colonel Ri-
...in the head, but will
...dispute arose out of
...s.

...Democratic victor-
...rections of the cities o
...indicate that the next
...that State will
...in which recent Sout
...ill fail in his well kn
...election.

...manifest that Eng
...s lead in favor of hi
...Mr Balfour asserts
...ely that there is noth-
...estination that would
...uppose that anything
...ed by Great Britain
...ed in promoting an
...bimetallic confer-
...s a case where blood
...cted from a turnip.

...W. VOORHEES died
...on City the 10th inst
...funeral obsequies
...ed in Washington on
...his prayer the chap-

...Senate, the blind
...Milburn, referred in
...l feeling terms to Mr
...a person of brilliant
...assioned ardor, kind-
...s, genuine patriotism
...lish dedication of his
...to every cause, hu-
...ne, that enlisted his
...ne buried at Terre
...te, last Friday.

...From the latest ac-
...ws that the Greek Ir-
...been acting in a very ...successful manner in
...ry operations within
...frontier. The Grecks
...occupied important
...sitions by means of
...iars within Turkish
...ire war has been for-
...d. The Greeks now
...four routes leading
...nsulaion frontier in
...of Grevena, which
...dered as the Turkish
...pathway of the Greeks
...to very reverse of the
...ated by the late Cre-
...ete. The Confederate-
...mercifree men to hold
...to Greeks risk their
...positions,—and so far
...direct success, and the
...sition will be inside
...ir frontier, and pre-
...sentation of the cur-
...the frontier. This
...ealer gain" was well
...skillfully carried out.

...ational Commission.
...ington met in Charles-
...ed. R. E. Peel, then
...mons. The commis-
...the rules of the house
...substantially. Hous-
...offered preparing
...such as.
...for the payment of
...the legislature by the
...ion of the length of
...recording or abolish-
...of attorney.
...ed from a justice the
...ed by party or with-
...
...registration of voters
...t mandatory upon
...ations to provide a
...
...ngged to be taken
...ment of a justice to
...ort as a matter of
...a case tried by a

...the number of ac-
...the fee
...concerning by way
...ion by electing an
...district, and the s
...
...from becom-
...ports and changing
...for the collection of
...
...during a term
...ly forfeiture of
...ing a term
...ing, which
...ecting to modify
...ment, which
...ving, being a
...ing, and
...ion, which
...ing, and
...ion, which
...ing, and
...ion, which

...as Times.

...Events.

...ked better in the spring.

...came as usual ...ent on the pride ...ying of easter ...gs by the ladies

...KSTRICKER, as... ...l Dills, of the ...st Church, held ...ice last Saturday ...ademy.

...t week of May ...ive 5 per cent ...with the excep... ...ercentage to the ...g the two Meth... ...ference.

...n't Co. vs. Bros... ...n Page Circuit ...l by the Supreme ...in which the de... ...uit Court was re...

...line stock of new ...g a rushing busi... ...e is giving sligh... ...mons under cut... ...can stand up be... ...minutes.

...ARP, wife of John ...n Hill, was stricken ...on April 10 and ...ons and helpless ...ed. Grove Evans ...g her friends that ...ver.

...of Dunmore, fell ...les last week, hav... ...e disease from a ...store. Before he ...s liable to take the ...ness first came on, ...kely that the dis... ...ll spread in that

...s been made that ...l this paper failed ...mmes of those in... ...of court. In ex... ...lish to say that du... ...es they have had ...have made it a rule ...the shame anyone ...hem not to do so.

...LEAN, Esq., as ag... ...spected citizen has ...from the illness ...him some months ...tedly and industri... ...his old age in his ...n Bank's Mount... ...west of Marlinton. ...settled here, clear... ...ed a comfortable ...holstead once fac... ...planted fruit trees

...ick Harvesting Ma... ...ery will ship to the ...county three car... ...very this season, al... ...ng getting in value

This company is ... T. A. Sydenstrick... ...oard, in the Levels ...icts, and D. B. Mc... ...nce, in the upper ...of the county. The ...ery includes eight

...n Dunn has decided ...ill recommend to a ...t officers in this di... ...pen yet, the four ...lines are Lewisburg, ...ellwell and Mont... ...in this section will ...Marlinton, W. W. ...y, Will Burns; Ad... ...ge: Frankford, C. ...ring Spring, W. P. ...ge, P. O. Wick... ...e. H. S. Lowther ...d that in most of the ...not succeeded will ...rm of four years.

...e personal proper... ...Kenrick deceased, ...ril 13, at Falling ...fifty head of fine... ...brought $4.55 per ...ld for $4.50 per ...a lot of yearlings ...each, four 2-year ...The sheep, 45 in ...brought $3.00, 4... ...each. The sale ...d from thirty to fifty ...John D. Bruce ...auctioneer, sold at $4... ...Lowe among bought ...ows at $30. In addi... ...stock, the machine... ...was sold.

...ge planned wedding ...Hunnewell on last ...at the residence of ...ther, Rev. E. Lough... ...ing. Miss Bessie ...ughter of Rev. Mr. ...Bessie, to whom ...Pennsylvania, last ...ing county for the ...ing. The groom is ...ge of Pennsylvania, ...ge county for the ...ing. The bride is ...ly respected and ...ing county, and has ...ny friends who will ...ess their congratu...

Wife Beater!

He Cuts his 15 yr. old Wife with a Knife

And beats her Head into Jelly with the Butt of his Pistol.

The Strange Case of George W. Roberts and Wife.

The people of this town were never more excited than over the strange and unaccountable behavior of George W. Roberts and his wife, who came to this neighborhood, last Saturday morning, and we will begin at the beginning and tell what gave rise to conjecture and suspicion among our people.

George W. Roberts kept books in Peter's camp last winter, and is a native of Pennsylvania. Last summer he married Rosa Lindsay, of this county, aged 15 years. Her extreme youth caused those who looked over the registry of marriages in the County Clerk's office to notice the event particularly. Last Saturday the couple arrived at Uriah Bird's hotel. The wife was sick and kept her room, requesting everyone who knocked at the door not to enter. Sounds of a struggle were heard by those in the hotel, but no inquiries were made. Sunday morning, when Roberts went to the livery stable to arrange for a conveyance to Addison, Mrs Roberts came down carrying a small grip, and seemed to be making an effort to run away from him. After she had gone, the room which they had occupied was examined, and the walls, floor, and furniture were found splattered with blood, and a slop-bucket was half full of blood and water.

The woman was next heard of at Edgar Sharp's, about ten miles from Marlinton, whither she had walked Sunday morning. She asked Mr Sharp to put her over Greenbrier River, and told him she was in trouble. She cried bitterly and the blood was dripping from her hand and her arm was bound up. While she was resting there her husband came up and claimed that she was his sister who had run away from her husband. She retired to a distant corner of the yard and talked with him; while Edgar Sharp, noting the suspicious actions of the parties, looked in her valise and saw there a shirt-waist which had been saturated with blood, showing that the entire sleeve of the waist had been split with a knife. Mrs Sharp helped the woman to dress her wounds and saw that she had received a terrible cut in the arm from a knife. The woman went with Roberts to the house of Caroline Smith, a distance of seven miles, where they had supper. Here Roberts said that it was his niece whom he had with him. Thence they went to the house of Dave Sharp, about four miles farther, where they made arrangements to spend the night. The woman was in very delicate health, was under treatment of a physician, and had walked on Sunday—over these mountain roads—twenty-one miles, with a fresh and bleeding wound. Where she lay in bed was marked with blood.

At her request Mrs Sharp allowed her to share the bed of her daughter. Roberts sat up until about one o'clock, and upon his intrusion into the room when he wished to go to bed, Dave Sharp took him by the coat collar and thrust him out into the night. At Roberts' commands, his wife arose about two o'clock and dressed herself and went with her husband. Sharp offered her protection from her husband, which she refused.

After leaving the house a pistol shot was fired, and nothing more was seen or heard of them until the next morning, when Roberts appeared from the shelter of a fence thicket to William B. Johnson, where he was at work near his house. Johnson is Sharp's nearest neighbor. Roberts' clothes were covered with blood. He asked who could convey him to Addison. Roberts had no blood on his clothes when he left Dave Sharp's and it was then thought that the worst might have happened. Sometime prior to about the hour fixed, and found a pool of blood and a woman's handkerchief covered with blood.

A warrant was issued when the above facts had been reported to the justice and a posse composed of W. W. Tyree, J. W. Yeager, Will McLaughlin, John Yeager, and W. B. King started Roberts and Wife on Dave Sharp's trail to Mount Mountain. His wife was with him, and the appearance of her face would have appalled to any one who had the least trace of humanity in his nature. It had the appearance of having been beaten so unmercifully and was so swollen, and bruised that the people at Edgar Sharp could hardly recognize her as the same woman. The pistol with which the deed was done was found in the road, through which the wife of Sharp's Monday at 2 o'clock when questioned about the face she was apparently under the influence of Roberts.

[illegible] the suspicious conduct of the man when the posse [illegible] Tuesday. The posse [illegible] so acting was past comprehending. Was he drunk, crazy, or possessed of a devil; and was the woman clinging to him as women often do to the man who most illuses them or was she intimidated?

The writing of this report will be finished when the trial is over. The above are the circumstances that have roused the people of this section in behalf of the woman, she she does not seem to feel or know of any injury to herself except that of the arrest of her husband.

The mysterious silence of the woman ceased when she found herself surrounded and encouraged by sympathizing members of her sex at Marlinton, and she tells a fearful story. Briefly related, her statement is that Saturday her husband, in an insane fit of jealousy, made a murderous attack on her at Bird's Hotel with a knife. After leaving Dave Sharp's that night he pressed the muzzle of the pistol to her head and told her that she was about to be killed. At that moment she evidently suffered all the terror of those who come smilingly to violent deaths. He discharged the pistol while it rested against her head, and turning it in her hand beat her face into a pulp. The shot was that heard by Sharp.

The woman is threatened with blood poisoning. Her wounds are terrible. The principal cut extends the whole length of her arm. It gapes an inch or more and is to the bone. There are other cuts—one in the breast and the other across the wrist—which are serious. She was beaten about the head with the pistol, the hammer of which made some some bad wounds in the back of the head. Her face is almost in a pulp. Owing to their lack of surgical attention they could not be sewed up at the time when a doctor attended her. Her nose was broken also. There is something supremely touching in her effort to hide and shield her husband when these wounds were first made.

The prisoner waived examination and was placed in jail. His bail has not yet been fixed. He begged to be taken to jail, saying he feared some violence might be done him by indignant citizens, and public sentiment is very intense. The wife is a nice-looking girl of slight form. Roberts is rather intelligent-looking and of seemingly nervous disposition. When taken to jail he was trembling so that he could hardly stand. He presented the appearance of a man about to have delirium tremens and he had been drinking heavily.

William Irvine, of this place, knew Robe.ts in Pennsylvania, and says that he came from Lockport, Indiana County.

Webster County.

To the Editor of The Times:

I write from our camp in the woods of Webster.

Peter Dow is one of the most prominent contractors in this county.

James Roche is the finest cook that ever entered the woods.

Al Dow has just arrived from Canada to assist his brother.

J. B. McNeill, the book keeper, is at home on a visit.

J. J. Dugan is the black-smith.

A. S. McNeill is going to move to his new camp shortly.

Frank Thomson is in Pocahontas county on business this week.

The West Virginia Hardwood Mills are under full blast.

The Gauley Company's mills are leasing no time.

The Webster lumber company is preparing to start its mills.

John Silva will be here in a few days to commence his job of skidding for Peter Dow.

There is one case of the measles in this vicinity.

Business is increasing.

Men can get employment here at good wages without any trouble.

G. S. Gladwell.

Jack, Webster County, W. Va.

Consumption

Out-door life and Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites have cured thousands of cases of consumption in the early stages. They cure old, advanced cases too; but not so many, nor so promptly. When a case is so far advanced that a cure cannot be made, even then SCOTT'S EMULSION checks the rapidity of the disease, relieves the pains in the chest, reduces the night sweats, and makes the cough easier. In these cases it comforts and prolongs life. Don't experiment with cases that destroy the digestion. Plenty have faith in the one remedy which has been THE STANDARD FOR OVER 20 YEARS.

[illegible]

LIGHTNING HOT DROPS

CURES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhoea, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.

HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Bites of Animals and Bugs, etc.

Tastes Good. Smells Good.

BREAKS UP A COLD.

SOLD EVERYWHERE—25c AND 50c PER BOTTLE. NO RELIEF, NO PAY.

HERB MEDICINE CO. (Formerly of Weston, W. Va.) SPRINGFIELD, O.

Terrible Accident in Renick's Valley.

James Brown, a son of Allan Brown, of Spring Creek, was instantly killed while firing an engine in Renick's Vally, in the upper end of Greenbrier County, Friday, April 16. His death was due to the breaking of the main belt of the saw mill. He was standing immediately behind the engine and had been replenishing the fire. He had used iron poker and had placed to his right hand. At that instant the band parted and in jerking back, caught the poker in its folds and struck him in the forehead, crushing the skull and causing instant death.

The victim was a man of about thirty years and unmarried. He was an expert engineer and had been in the sawmill business for a long time. In person he was of very striking appearance, being a large, well made man, weighing about 220 pounds.

The mill he was on working belonged to Shirkey & Wright and located at the foot of Spring Creek Mountain, on Charles Bright's land and sawing Abraham Beard's timber.

This accident calls to mind a similar occurrence in the same mill about two weeks ago. At that time the same belt broke and caught a double-bitted axe in the hands of a mill hand named Copenhaver and whirling it in the same manner cut the skin of Copenhaver's throat, while the handle of the axe broke his fore finger.

An Old Gun.

To the Editor of The Times:

G. W. Ginger, Esq., of Huntersville, has in his possession a shotgun that was brought from Germany by his great-grandfather. At his death it became the property of George's grandfather, who lived in Rockbridge County, Va., and, doubtless, this gun was used to rid that county of the numerous bears and wolves of those days. Then it descended to George's father, who was killed during the war. When George was a small boy he had a great anxiety to go hunting, so his mother gave him the old shotgun, and he started out for a hunt. He had not gone far when he spied a squirrel on a tree, and taking aim, fired; and down fell the squirrel. He picked it up and ran home to his grandmother, showing his game, and had forgotten his old shotgun in the woods.

The gun is still in good shooting order.

H. W.

A Recommend.

In an old "deed poll" made in 1795 for a tract of land now embraced in Pocahontas County the parties contract by what they call a "recommend," which seems to have been the report of the prospector, agent, and surveyor. The parties seem to have both lived in Pennsylvania, and this prospector, "one Daniel McCue," had penetrated to this county and reported in his "recommendation" as follows on this tract. The county was then a part of Harrison County.

"This or parcel of Land Lays Situate in the County of Harrison on the Western of William's River. Containing one thousand seven and is Land of ye first rait and quality and is Well Watered and Well Timbered. The right of said land is good it being Warranted in four eighty-two by Benjamin Cyphard. In verey cheer of Stone and Iron for Timber coloured of Walnut and Buckeye the underbrush Brush is chiefley Spicewood and this is the true character of said land as witness my hand this 8th day of October, 1795.

No. 345. DANIEL McCue."

The ink on this old scrap of paper is as clear and readable as when it was first written.

Any information concerning the said Daniel McCue will be of interest to the history department of this paper.

Mr Frank McCue, who is at the Marlinton Infirmary, suffering a critical operation, is doing very well, indeed. There is much reason for hoping that his convalescence will be rapid and unchallenged. This will afford his numerous friends throughout the county much satisfaction.

Mr Frank McCue, who is at the Marlinton Infirmary, suffering a critical operation, is doing very well, indeed. There is much reason for hoping that his convalescence will be rapid and unchallenged. This will afford his numerous friends throughout the county much satisfaction.

LITTLE LEVELS.

Our vicinity was visited by some cattle buyers last week and we understand S. H. Clark and L. M. Beard sold at gather good prices. We hope to hear of all of our cattle men making good sales.

Our people were well represented at James Renick's sale Tuesday and some good stock came this way.

Mr Alvin Clark made a business trip to Frankford last week.

John Pickering, of Falling Spring, spent a few days in our midst last week.

Charles Gilliam and son were the guests of W. W. Beard for several days last week.

G. R. Curry was down to Lewisburg last week attending to his business.

Andrew Price and wife spent Sunday in the Levels.

Miss Lillie Curry was visiting relatives here last week.

Miss Susie Simmons has located at Hillsboro.

J. H. Maxen, traveling agent for the McCormick H. M. Co., passed thro the Levels on his way to Lewisburg, Saturday. He reports 50 sales so far in Pocahontas County.

Mrs H. W Hill and and her two sons, Anthony and David left Friday to visit friends and relatives in Greenbrier County.

Some of our people want to know why Willis Baxter goes to Huntersville so often. We suppose it is to meet the "Lodge."

Ed Jackson was in our town last Sunday and Monday.

BUMBLEBEE.

YELK.

Easter is over and quite a number of eggs have been broken.

Very few farmers are done sowing oats owing to the wet weather.

Miss Ettie Moore, who has been staying with her sister, Mrs John Gibson, has gone home.

Constable A. P. Cay was in this part Saturday.

Walter Mann has brought his cattle to William Gibson's to be grazed this summer.

Will Varner has completed a very nice dairy at the cold spring next to his home.

John Hull has been in this part for some time and has done several small jobs of work.

Jim Gibson had a big log rolling, but the most enjoyable part was two fine turkeys prepared for the occasion with a great many other good things. Several ladies assisted Mrs Gibson, but they all kissed the almanac that they would not tell who made the kettle of dumplings.

Floyd Ware has moved to Jake Gibson's farm for one year. Jake says one year is long enough to rent a time, for a body don't know when some girl might say "Yes!"

There has been more clearing done on Elk this winter than has been done in several years.

Amos Doyle says he is not discouraged.

Charley McCoy has returned from somewhere.

Grass.

Big Bargains at Bullin's.

Calicoes, 4 1-2c.
Ginghams 6c.
Ladies' 6 1-2c
Ladies' Linen, 8c.
Linen, 10c.
Cheese Cloth, 4c.
Towels Goods, 18c.
Linen Table Covers 35c.
Men's Suits from $2.50 up.
Boys' Suits, from $1.00 up.
Mens Pants, 45c.
Mens Pants, $1.
Good Mackinaw Pants, worth $1.75 for 59c.
Overshirts, 19c.
Mens Dress Shirts, 37c.
Drawers, 21c.
Boys' suits, 6 pair for 25c
Mens Hats, 25c or 45c a pair.
Mens' Boots, $1.
Good Shoes Mullins, 72 1-2c.
Calfskin Boots, $2.
Good Shoes.
A Corn Cutter, for only.
Oil Carpets, 45c per yard.
Linoleum Carpets, 35c.
Ingrain Carpets.
Two Pounds of Prunes, 25c.

Big bargains in Tin and Glassware. Also a full line of Groceries that is selected from the best. Call and be convinced. All kinds of country produce taken.

Lightning Hot Drops—What a Funny Name! They Work, And It Kills All Pain. Best Liniment Ever Discovered. Without Rival, There is No Equal.

PLEASE NOTICE.

I have bought out Joe Leary's entire stock of goods, and will do business at the same place.

I will replenish my stock with new goods from time to time, and will give you the Best Bargains you ever got. Call and see me before you buy. I will take all kinds of Country Produce that I can sell—Butter, Grain, Eggs, Wool, etc., at best prices.

To give you an idea of my prices—Prints, 3c, and all other goods in proportion.

Call and see me. I will treat you right and show you my goods with pleasure—whether you buy or not.

S. J. BOGGS,
Huntersville, W. Va.

I respectfully solicit the trade to examine my new goods for the following 17 Reasons:

1 The stock is up to date
2 It is new throughout
3 It is thoroughly reliable
4 It is right priced
5 My profit is small
6 Nobody is urged to buy
7 Stock is cheerfully shown
8 Visitors always welcome
9 Cash power in buying quantity
10 Everything bought at lowest price
11 No misrepresentation
12 Full values always given
13 Never any occasion for dissatisfaction
14 Thorough knowledge how to buy
15 Judgment in choosing styles
16 Ability to satisfy customers
17 Never lose a good customer

Paul Golden.

Attention

1200 BUSHELS OF CORN,
1000 BUSHELS OF GOOD SEED OATS, AND 700 BUSHELS OF RYE FOR SALE CHEAP AT

Sol. Davis'

THE OSBORNE SPRING TOOTH HARROW

The frames are made in one piece of steel angle bar, and formed to withstand all strain without buckling or warping.

The teeth in this Harrow are so spaced that they will not foul each other, Pulverizing the ground thoroughly.

The steel pigs teeth bars are mounted in malleable boxes secured to the frame, and will not bend or break.

The peculiar shape of the teeth curling two-thirds about the bar gives the greatest amount of spring possible without straining the teeth, and leverage of their shape and fastening they are stronger than used on any other harrow.

By the levers, the depth of the work can be regulated while the Harrow is in motion.

The draft is steady and direct, as the Harrow has no side motion.

ALL THESE FEATURES COMBINED HAVE MADE THE OSBORNE CELEBRATED.

It has no EQUAL. It never will have a SUPERIOR.

Call and examine the Osborne line consisting of—

MOWERS, HORSE RAKES, TEDDERS, HARROWS AND CULTIVATORS.

The most complete line of Farming Implements to be found the State.

For sale by

EAGLE & OTT,

Marlinton, W. Va.

$3,400.00 CASH AND GIVEN FREE PRIZES EACH MONTH FOR Sunlight SOAP WRAPPERS

As follows:

4 First Prizes, each of $100 Cash, - -		$ 400.00
20 Second " " " $100 Gold Watches,		2,000.00
40 Third " " " $25 Gold Watches, -		1,000.00
Cash and Prizes given each month - -		$3,400.00
Total given during 12 mos. 1897,		$40,800.00

HOW TO OBTAIN THEM. RULES.

1. Every month there will be issued [illegible]

NAME OF DISTRICT.

No. 1. North Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Washington and Alaska.
No. 2. Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa and Illinois.
No. 3. Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah and Nevada.
No. 4. Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas, Indian Territory, Oklahoma and Texas.
No. 5. Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia and Tennessee.
No. 6. Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and Delaware.
No. 7. The New England States.

Next Largest Number to Competitor's District. [illegible]

LEVER BROS., Ltd., New York.

In the East.

When Greek meets Greek,
Then for the tug of war;
When Greek meets Turk,
Then for lots of gore.
When the powers meet both,
And draw the line of chalk,
Well, that 's different—
Then talk, talk, talk!

—North American.

AMERICANS are the most inventive people on earth. To them have been issued nearly 600,000 patents, or more than one third of all the patents issued in the world. No discovery of modern years has been of greater benefit to mankind than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, or has done more to relieve pain and suffering. J. w. Vaughn, of Oskiton, Ky., says "I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in my family for several years, and I find it to be the best medicine I ever used used for cramps in the stomach and bowels. For sale by druggists.

The Sun.

The First of American Newspapers, Charles A. Dana, Editor.

The American Constitution, the American Idea, the American Spirit, These first last, and all the time, forever.

DAILY, by mail, - - - $6 a year
DAILY and SUNDAY $8 a year

THE
Sunday Sun

is the greatest Sunday Newspaper in the world.

Price 5c. a copy. By mail $2 a year

Address THE SUN, New York.

FEED, LIVERY —AND— SALE STABLES.

First-Rate Teams and Saddle-Horses Provided.

For Horses for Sale and Hire, [illegible]

SPECIAL ACCOMMODATIONS FOR STALLIONS.

A limited number of Horses boarded.

All persons having horses to trade are invited to call. Young horses for sale or trade or cash.

J. H. G. WILSON,
Marlinton, W. Va.

Farmers' Home Fire Insurance Co., of West Virginia.

J. M. McCOMBS, Esq., - - President
E. T. BEARD, Esq., - - Sec'y & Treas.

INCORPORATED.

By the People and for the People.

For Insurance, Property only. No Salaried Officers to Support. No capital stock to Watch. No Loss, no Expense to Policy Holders. Economical management of all losses. Good rates and prompt settlements. Agents wanted in every county. Call on or address the Secretary for full particulars.

T. J. BRANDON & CO., Agents,
Lewisburg, W. Va.

THE ODELL TYPE WRITER.

$20 will buy the ODELL TYPE WRITER with [illegible]

Sport.

What is true sport? What is sportsmanlike conduct and what is not? These are questions which really need to be answered. The great increase of interest in athletics within recent years has made the whole subject of recreation so important that even the gravest minds are concerning themselves with it.

Let us take a prize-fight and see if we cannot distinguish the qualities by which it is distinguished from an athletic contest of a wholly unobjectionable sort. The differences ought not to be hard to find.

There is, in the first place, the prize itself. Money is undoubtedly the object for which the professional pugilist chiefly exerts himself; it is this fact that makes him a "professional." Other motives may influence him, such as the desire for notoriety, for the sort of fame which can be won with the fists. The love of fighting may itself predominate in a course and brutal nature. But money is the main consideration; and whenever this consideration is given weight the contest is not sport but business.

Brutality is the second objectionable feature of a prize-fight. The pugelist wins by injuring his antagonist. The ability to take punishment is part of his own equipment. To draw first blood is one of the objects he has in mind at the outset; and to strike a blow which shall disable the other temporarily and which may endanger his life is the highest evidence of skill. Thus the contest by which victory is won, no less than the motive of the contest, stamp it as immoral and unfit for gentlemen to engage in or to witness.

But a contest may be free from brutality and free from the mercenary motive and still be degrading if improperly conducted. It may be won by unfair devices. What is fair and what is unfair, of course, depends in every instance upon the rules of the game itself. In general, however, fairness means the careful observance, not merely of the letter, but of the spirit, of the rules. A fair tennis player, for example, will not serve the ball while his opponent is enveloped in a cloud of dust from a sudden puff of wind. A fair football player will not profit by an obvious mistake of the markers of the side lines, nor a fair baseball player by an error of the umpire.

Fairness in this truer and larger sense includes courtesy. It implies a consideration of the rights of an opponent instead of a blind striving to win by means which the rules do not clearly prohibit. When courtesy and fairness prevail there is no sting in defeat and no shame in victory.

It is of the first importance that the sports in which the youthes of the country engage in should be unobjectionable in the three respects which have been mentioned: that they should be without any mercenary motive, that they should not be brutal, and that they should be conducted in a spirit of fairness. If it is worth while to adopt courses of study which train the mind for manhood, it is certainly worth while to pay attention to games which aim at a matter of fact, sleeping characters. There is no better discipline in manliness than the habitual restraint of trying to be fair on the playground.—Youth's Companion.

A UNIQUE advertisement appeared in the Dyersburg (Tenn.) Gazette. It was as follows:

On Tuesday, March 16, my dwelling house, thirteen miles above Christiansville, was carried from its foundation and floated down the Mississippi River. It is a one story frame, painted white, and built in a V shape, with a hall in the center and a two story frog pen in the rear and a one story front porch. It contained all my household and kitchen furniture, including one square with J. C. engraved on the instrument. Any one knowing the whereabouts of the above described property will confer a favor on the undersigned by informing him of the same, and he will liberally reward him for his trouble. Any one knowing the whereabouts of said house will confer a favor on the undersigned by informing him of the same, and he will liberally reward him for his trouble.

Books Read at Sing Sing.

CHARLES READE'S "NEVER TOO LATE TO MEND," A TALE OF PRISON LIFE, IS MOST POPULAR AMONG CONVICT READERS.

Many records have been made among different people to obtain "the favorite author." None has revealed more astonishing results than a two-month's record kept by the librarian of Sing Sing Prison.

The most popular author in Sing Sing, year in and year out, is Charles Reade, and the most popular book is "Never too Late to Mend." There are about thirteen hundred convicts in the prison, and in two months 463 of them read this book, which has been responsible for many reforms in prisons. Next on the list comes "Yourself in His Place," with 436 readers.

Charles Lever's "Charles O'Malley" comes next in favor, with the same author's "Tom Berke of Ours" following, which is pushed hard by Bulwar Lyttons "Paul Clifford."

Samuel Lover's "Rory O'More" is next. Dumas' "Monte Christo" is his most popular book. Dickens ranks next, with "David Copperfield" in the lead, and "The Tale of Two Cities," with its wonderful convict pictures, third in favor.

Conan Doyle, with "Sherlock Holmes," is the first modern author at all in favor. Captain Kings "Deserter" comes next. Captain Maryatt's "Mr Midshipman Easy" leads the sea tales. Wilkie Collin's "Moonstone" and Black's "Shandon Bells" are next in demand. Then come "Lorna Doone" and "Vanity fair. Love stories are not wanted.

Be a Thinker.

To think is not an instinct; it is a development. A man may possess a quick mind without the power of intelligent, connected thought. To reason correctly one must understand himself. He must be able to analyze the basis of his conclusions to see whether or not, in the last analysis, he is not influenced by prejudice or self-interest rather than logic.

The man who does not think is at the mercy of the man who does. He is the instrument to carry out the wishes of others. In ancient times when thinkers were rare, the power which they yielded was almost unlimited. We read to-day with incredulous wonder how France's great minister, Richelieu, held the destines of that nation in his hand. He knew human nature, he could reason logically, he alive at the door of his heart upon prejudice and passion. France was his only mistress, power his only God. Unscrupulous he was, but thoroughly master of himself.

Few men need to be more intelligent thinkers, better reasoners, than the doctor. He is an emergency man. Medicine is an inexact, undeveloped science. Few absolute precedents have been laid down for us. Many of our pet proceedures are waiting for the eagle eye of the master, the logical thinker, to come along and suggest an improvement. It is this power of thought, with complement of skill, which makes certain physicians eminent while others remain obscure.

Learn to think. Do not attempt to reason until you have an actual basis of facts to start from. Do not reject any person or thing because you do not like him or it. The only question is whether that person or thing is well adapted to fulfill the purpose intended. A spirit of tolerance, of dispassionate investigation is essential to arrive at Truth. In making inferences and deductions they must coincide with probabilities, must bear their natural relation to the known facts. Isolated links in reason's chain, perverted from their normal connection, have been made responsible for a great deal of harm.—Medical Brief.

BEIDE—Here is a telegram from papa.

Groom—what does he say?

Bride—(tenderly) do not return and all will be forgiven.—Philadelphia Press.

Warner's Safe Cure

IN LARGE OR SMALL BOTTLES.

Owing to the many requests from its patrons, Warner's Safe Cure Co. have put on the market a smaller size bottle of Safe Cure which can now be obtained at all druggists at half the price of the large bottle.

Safe Cure

is not only a scientific vegetable preparation and does all that is claimed for it, but it is the only Kidney and Liver medicine used by the best people of four continents. A medicine that bears the stamp of the world's approval, and remember Safe Cure for a fifth of a century has never sparingly passed [illegible]

MEDICAL WISDOM.

THE DREADED CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

T. A. Slocum, M. C., the great Chemist and Scientist, Offers to Send Free, to Afflicted, Two Bottles of His Newly-Discovered Remedies to Cure Consumption and all Lung Troubles.

Nothing could be fairer, more philanthopic or cheer more joy in its wake than the offer of T. A. Slocum, M. C., of 183 Pearl street New York City.

Confident that he has discovered an absolute cure for consumption and all pulminary complaints, and to make its great merits known, he will send, free, three bottles, to any reader of the POCAHONTAS TIMES, who is suffering from chest, bronchial, throat and lung troubles or consumption.

He freely says "new scientific course of medicine" has permanently cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases.

The Doctor considers it his religious duty—a duty which he owes to humanity—to donate his infallible cure.

Offered freely, apart from its inherent strength, is enough to commend it, and more so is the perfect confidence of the great chemist making the proposition.

He has proved consumption to be a curable disease beyond any doubt.

There will be no mistake in sending—the mistake will be in overlooking the generous invitation. He has on file in his American and European laboratories testimonials of experience from those cured, in all parts of the world.

Delays are dangerods. Address T. A. Slocum, M. C., 183, Pearl street New York, and when writing to the Doctor, please give express and postoffice address, and mention reading this article in The POCAHONTAS TIMES.

AMONG the many railroad enterprises in prospect, reported by the Railway Age, are the following: The Little Kanawha Valley, from Parkersburg to Burnsville, ninety miles; Roaring Creek & Charleston, 7 miles; Charleston, Clendennin & Sutton, Clay Court House to Sutton, 50 miles; West Virginia Short Line, Clarksburg to New Martinsville, 65 miles; West Virginia & Pittsburg, Camden-on-Gauley to Cherry River, 15 miles. It is thought that a new railroad will be built from Pennsylvania thro West Virginia via Clarksburg within the next four years.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hear in will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Tole-lo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Hall's Family Pill are the best.

"He said that when he left college he would hitch his chariot to a star."

"He did so; but unfortunately he selected a fixed orb for that purpose.—N. Y. Truth.

HER FATHER—Has my daughter encouraged you, sir?

Suitor—Yes, she said she was an only child and your estate would approximate a million.—Adams Freeman.

Two years ago R. J. Warren, a druggist at Pheasant Brook, N. Y., bought a small supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He sums up the result as follows: "At that time the goods were unknown in this section; to-day Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a household word." It is the same in hundreds of communities. Where ever the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy become known the people will have nothing else. For sale at the Marlinton DRUG Store.

WILLIE—Are you the the nearest relative I've got, mamma?

Mother—Yes, love, and your pa is the closest.—Tid-Bits.

C. B. SWECKER,
General Auctioneer and Real Estate Agent

Will Cry Sales, Personal and Timber Lands, Farms and Town Lots a specialty. If you are in the business. Correspondence solicited. Reference Bank of Marlinton, Druggists, Dr. Va., or Alexander, W. Va.

Old Dominion Building & Loan Association.

Richmond, - - Virginia.

J. TAYLOR ELLYSON, President.
E. A. BARKER, Treasurer.

A. Taylor Ellyson, Benjamin F. Ryan, John B. Purcell, John A. Elliott, Frank T. Bohon.

Authorized Capital, - - $10,000,000
Subscribed Capital, - - 1,500,000
Paid Up Capital, - - 1,000,000
Shares, - - 1,500,000

Depository: State Bank of Virginia, Richmond, Va. Shares may be paid for in monthly dues, and may be withdrawn at any time, and interest allowed on amount of the withdrawing shares.

MARLINTON, W. VA.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatuleney. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY,
Boston, Mass.
ALLEN C. SMITH, Pres.

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

Simms & Co.,

RONCEVERTE, W. VA.

Silver Steel Plow, Syracuse Chilled Plows, Imperial Chilled Plows.

PLOW REPARS OF ALL KNDS AT LOWEST PRICES EVER OFFERED HERC

RED WARRIOR POLL AXES			65C
GREENBRIER	"	"	60c
CHAMPION	"	"	50c
4 No. 2 Horse-shoes for	15c	4 No. 3 Horse-shoes	18c
4 No. 4 " "	20c	4 No. 5 " "	16c

COOK-STOVES OF ALL KINDS

1 doz. 8x10 Window Glass 35c | Beren Grindstone 1 1-4c lb
Paints, Oils, Varnishes, etc.

Our goods are all first class, no shoddy or job-lots, or damaged goods. Strike us for prices before you buy.

Simms & Co.,
Opposite Passenger Depot. Ronceverte, W. Va.

The Pocahontas Times,

All home Print,

Affords the People of Pocahontas County one of the best papres for the price in the State.

$1.00 per Year

GIVES YOU YOUR COUNTY PAPER.

SUBSCRIBE!

Advertise your Wares and Wants Our rates are always low enough to warrant your patronage.

Our Job Department has been renewed, and we guarantee satisfaction. Wedding invitations and all kinds of work done on short notice

WE HAVE THE BEST PRINTING PLANT OUT SIDE A LARGE TOWN IN THE STATE.

Now is the time to Subscribe!

We have a plan by which Farmers can get TOOL CHESTS FREE

The Pocahontas Times.

rman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

O. 40 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, APRIL 30, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

AMONG the persons whose industry, economical habits, and wise management of diversified useful industries did much for the development of our county, the name of Henry Harper, Senior, is richly deserving of respectful notice. He was a native of Pendleton County, West Virginia, a son of Nicholas Harper, a native of Germany, who lived on the South Branch. Henry Harper's wife was Elizabeth Lightner, daughter of William Lightner, Sr., on Back Creek, now Highland County, Virginia. For a few years after his marriage he lived on the Branch. About 1812, Nicholas Harper bought two hundred acres from Robert Duffield and Colonel John Baxter, on Knapp's Creek, and on this purchase Henry settled.

The young settlers from Pendleton only found a few acres of cleared land. The thickets of thorn and crab-apple and wild-plums were almost impenetrable. The sheep, pigs, and calves had to be penned by the house to protect them from wolves and bears. By patient and persistent effort land was cleared and a home reared.

At his suggestion, William Civey, of Anthony's Creek, sunk a tan-yard. Then Mr Harper established a blacksmith-shop and built the first tilt-hammer in this region. This shop was carried on under his own personal supervision. Ralph Wanless, George Hevener, of Pendleton County; the late Anthony Lightner, of Swago, and others, learned the trade with him, and were all good blacksmiths. Mr Harper also reared a flouring mill which was operated by himself and son Samuel, chiefly. Father and son were smiths and millers and alternated in their work. The late William Gibson, of Huntersville, and Henry Harper, were the contractors that built the Warm Springs and Huntersville turnpike sixty years ago. Captain William Cochran, late of Stony Creek, was their principal foreman and manager in construction. In the meanwhile the farm was duly attended to and much land cleared for grain and hay. Additional lands bought and a splendid estate became his.

He had a passion for hunting, which he indulged in merely for recreation.

He died in 1859, aged 70 years. Mrs Harper followed her husband in 1876, aged 86 years.

In personal appearance Mr Harper was of medium stature, somewhat stooped in the shoulders. His voice was soft and flute-like in tone, very quiet and retiring in his manners, and leisurely in his movements, and yet his establishment was a hive of busy industry and all moved on like clock-work.

His family consisted of five sons and four daughters,—Elizabeth, Anna, Sally, and Susan. The sons were Jacob, Nicholas died at fourteen, William, Samuel, and Henry.

Jacob Harper married Lydia Civey, daughter of George Civey, of Anthonys Creek, and settled on Meadow Creek, Greenbrier County, and finally moved to Monroe County, where his family yet reside.

William Harper married Elizabeth Civey, sister of Jacob's wife, and settled on the farm now held by William L. Harper, near Sunset. His last years were passed on Greenbrier River at the First place where his son William now resides.

Samuel Harper married Malinda, daughter of the late Isaac Moore, near Frost, and lived on the old homestead and where he yet resides in the 80th year of his life. Their daughter Elizabeth Louisa is the widowed wife of the Rev James E. Moore. Sarah Ann married Washington Herold, near Frost. Matilda married Frances Dever, Esq. Their son, Preston Harper, married Lucretia Gum, daughter of Henry Gum, late of Frost. Frank Wilson Harper married Anna Gum, sister of Mrs Preston Harper. William Light and Harper married Emma Hamilton, daughter of George Hamilton, near Sunset.

Samuel Harper's second wife was Margaret Ann, daughter of John Gum, of Highland County. Her daughter, America, married R. D. Rimel, and Virginia died of diphtheria at the age of five years.

Henry Harper Junior,—married Phebe Sharp, daughter of Joseph Sharp, near Frost, and lived on the place now owned by Reddy Goelet at Sunset. Their children were Peter and Rachel Ann. Peter died in early manhood. Rachel Ann married William Herold, of Muddlety, Nicholas County, where she now lives. Henry Harper, Junior, died of an accidental wound, while repairing a gate.

Elizabeth, eldest daughter of Henry Harper, Senior, married the late James R. Poage, and lived first in the Little Levels on land now held by Preston Clark, and then near Edray, where they both recently died. She was an invalid for seventeen years from rheumatic affection—most of the time too weak to help herself. Her husband for years spent most of the days and all of the nights a patient and helpful watcher at her bedside.

Her sons were J. R. Poage, who married Mary Gibson, now residing at Edray; the late Henry Poage, who lived on another section of the homestead; and William Poage, who also settled on part of the homestead. Henry married Martha Baxter, daughter of William Baxter, Esq. William married Hester Kee, sister of Aaron Kee, near Marlinton.

Their daughters were Elizabeth Poage, the first wife of Rev George P. Moore; Mary Poage, the wife of Amos Barlow, Esq., Huntersville, W. Va.; Sarah Ann Poage, first wife of George Baxter, near Edray; and Amanda Poage, first wife of Levi Waugh, on the old homestead.

Anna Harper, daughter of Henry Harper, Senior, was the first wife of A. Washington Moore, near Frost. Her daughter Sally married Zachariah Gum, son of the late Henry Gum. Her husband was killed by a falling limb, and she was left a widow with three small children.

Mary Moore married John Varner, at the Big Spring of Elk. Elias Moore married Benjamin Varner, and now lives in Iowa. Anna Moore is at home with her father, the venerable Washington Moore, near Frost. Newton Moore lives on Knapp's Creek, and Zane Moore, another son, also resides on Knapp's Creek.

Sally Harper, third daughter of Henry Harper, Senior, married James Malcomb and located in Nicholas County, where her family now reside, so far as known.

Susan Harper, the fourth daughter, married the late John D. McCarty near Hillsboro. Their children are Ellis McCarty and Mrs G. H. Curry, and Della McCarty who died a few years since.

Thus close for the present the notes of the Harper family.

Something as to the improvements made under Henry Harper's supervision may be interesting. The tannery shop was built by William Civey, son of George. George Civey built the grist mill.

Robert Irvine and John Irvine built the saw-mill and the same parties put up the tilt-hammer and shop. The residence near the road was built by John Irvine, and Chesley K. Moore erected the dwelling beyond the creek.

The mill-stones first used in the Harper Mill were made by Adam Sharett, near Fried's, on Greenbrier River. This person lived at the Sharett place, three or four miles up the Greenbrier from Marlinton, where he died a mill. The first burrs were bought at John Bradshaw's side, near Huntersville. These having been used for years, Mr Harper replaced them by burrs brought from Rockingham County, Virginia. The Bradshaw burrs are now in Highland County, taken there years ago by Mr Hinkle. The Harper Mill succeeded the Poage Mill, owned by Peter Lightner. The rocks used by that mill are now in Cumming's Creek, near Huntersville, taken there by the late Peter McCoach, and therefore must be among the oldest in the county of their description. W. P. P.

THE PENDING CRISIS.

Our reflecting readers should give close attention to the existing state of things bearing upon the social and political conditions of themselves and their fellow citizens. We are confronted by a social problem that is one of the most important that can claim human attention. Its elements must be clearly understood before sensible and proper attempts can be made to work it out on correct principles. There is a difference between a question and its proper answer. We must first understand the question and then look around for an answer to meet what the question requires.

In discussing the problem of the times, much is said for and against socialism. Now what is most needed by voters and their leaders is to get rid of what is a very superficial idea, that the social problem, with whose solution comes the most serious crisis that has ever confronted American citizens, that the social problem should be so mixed up with socialism that they are one and the same thing. The social question is a problem, socialism is its solution as is recommended by means of some form of co-oppertive effort. Now to those looking for the reality of things it appears very strange that the problem and the proposed method of solving it should be regarded as one and the same thing. Socialism as now discussed may be a part of the social problem, but it is not the problem. The labor question may be an element of the the social problem, but it is not the social problem.

Besides socialism and the labor question, the social problem involves the interests of education, ethics, and even of religion. Hence it is truly social, because it involves all the work[illegible] and all the concerns of [illegible] ing the all-important [illegible] sorbing question of society must be, and is, the social problem of the age.

A careful examination of the social problem reveals the working of certain elemental forces of human nature. Human beings in virtue of their nature strive to preserve their existence and attain well-being. This is simply an effort to survive, and that too under the best possible conditions. Were we to rest in the opinion that the grievous discontent and unrest of the times have been caused by agitators and partisan publications and regard them as artificial, foreign to human nature, external and superficial, and destined to calm down and vanish when the people come to their senses, this will merely show that we have not understood the question under consideration and are blind to the meaning of the most portentous, astonishing uprising of our day and generation. Along with the unrest, the discontent, class antagonism, and revolutionary tendencies, it is too true that one may find much unreason, great prejudice, violent passion, and even something that looks as if tainted with a demoniac spirit such as no right minded person can diagnise or defend. These are the destructive forces which appear in all serious crises.

Properly understood in its truest and deepest sense the social movement that has raised the social problem is an effort of human nature to realize itself, to fulfil the prophecy concealed in humanity, to give expression and exercise to the innate powers, and to make the inborn possibility an actuality. The divine spark must be quenched—human nature must be changed—before the struggle to rise into better condition can be checked. All that is needed is for people to come to themselves to make such a struggle as natural as it is for the sun to arise. Education awakens people, gives them ideals of what they ought to be and enjoy, and it impels them to transform the reality so as to correspond with the ideal. Any further enlightenment increases and intensifies such aspirations. Hence it is that by some the discord, and by many regarded a wise purpose[illegible] has been made to deprive the working people of the advantages of education in order to keep them in their place. More education means greater demands and more determined efforts to realize them. The social problem, rightly looked at, is the most pronounced mark of progress in human concerns. People are outgrowing their past like boys outgrow their clothes, and must have new and better. The present age insists on an environment worthy of a higher and broader manhood and womanhood.

Foreign writers express the opinion that before the social problem is fully understood and solved that American agitations and troubles may be even worse than what they will have in Europe. They regard the character of our government, the army and police arrangements, as specially favorable for revolutionary changes.

However this may be, one thing is certain, the problem itself is growing, the interest in it is rapidly developing among all conditions of people, and so serious are the apprehensions it creates that all thoughtful, conscientious, patriotic citizens should do their best to understand what it all means, and work for its just, peaceable, and satisfactory solution. S. C. R.

THE reports from the flooded districts continue to be of a very distressing character. The planters have no present hope of realizing a crop from the submerged lands and this may mean an additional loss of a million or more to those millions already swept away. As a usual thing the Mississippi does not reach the flood tide until the middle of June, and this gives rise to much apprehension that the worst has not yet been realized in the more southern districts. Truly there is enough going on throughout the world to cause the

---

SENATOR EDWARD O. WOLCOTT, of Colorado; Hon Charles Paine, of Boston; and ex-Vice President Stevenson have been appointed commissioners to an international monetary conference. This appointment is under authority of the act approved in March for the promotion of an international agreement for bimettalism. The committee will soon organize and will go abroad soon after the first of May, and have business matured by the time winter comes. And the next winter will be a winter of very dangerous discontent if something satisfactory be not placed in reach or sight of the millions so hungry for money and what money brings.

"Do you think Skinner can make a living out there?"

"Make a living! Why, he 'd make a living on a rock in the middle of the ocean—if there was another man on the rock."—Tit-Bits.

"And how did he die?" asked the lady who had come west to inquire after the husband she had lost.

"Er—by request, ma'am," said the gentle cowboy, as mildly and regretfully as possible.—Indianapolis Journal.

MRS SPAT.—Your husband is an inventor, I believe?

Mrs Spotter—Yes. Some of his excuses for coming home late at night are in use all over the country.—Philadelphia North American.

MRS YEAST—I wish I could think of some thing to keep my husband at home at nights.

Mrs Puncheon—Get him a bicycle.

MRS YEAST—That would take him out more than ever.

Mrs Puncheon—Oh, no, it would not; my husband got one the day before yesterday and the doctor says he won't be out for a month.—Household Words.

"Trouble is jealous of his prerogatives, is n't he?"

"What makes you say so?"

"He got angry the other night and told me not to be a fool."—New York Sun.

"Oh did not mind the threats of Mr Hogan explained, "as much as to mention subjects at his remarks."

"And what did he say?" asked Mr Dolan.

"He says to me, 'Hogan,' says he 'in a great notion I have to jump on you and knock your face into shape.'"—Indianapolis Journal.

A SOLDIER'S LETTER.

Some weeks since a fallen soldier's letter was published in this paper. It is our pleasure now to lay before the reader a war-letter written nearly thirty-four years ago, whose author still lives. He is now Adjutant Pocahontas Camp of Confederate Veterans.

CAMP NEAR MADISON C. H., }
July 30th, 1863. }

Dear Sister Nancy Jane,—I take the present opportunity this morning to drop you a few lines to let you know that I am well at present, hoping that these few lines may reach you in good health when they come to hand. I have not much to write at this time. I am in camp to day near Madison Court House. We just came here last night, but we don't know how long we will stay here. I have had a hard time of marching ever since I left home. I have had but a few days rest. I was guarding a mill over in the Valley and have been in two battles,—the battle of Winchester, Va., and the battle of Gettysburg, Pa., and have come out safe. I did not get hurt. The tincup that was in my haversack was hit by a musket-ball. There were three wounded in my company. Two of my mess were wounded—James Akers and Wi liam—and were left in the hands of the enemy. I had the hardest time when we had to fall back from Pennsylvania that I have had since the war.

I was in twenty miles of Harrisburg, the capitol of the State. It is a very fine country over there, and I have never seen such country for wheat as that is. We could get plenty to eat when I was over there. They were very clever people in Maryland and a good many secessionists there. We had to wade the Potomac River, and it was up to our arms, and the army had to cross it in the night. I crossed about daylight in the morning. We had traveled all the night before, and had been on skirmish forty-eight hours before, and that was why we had no rest. The 25th Regiment is skirmisher for [illegible] Brigade to the battle of Gettysburg. I stood forty-eight round. We stayed into the fight about sun-down and fought until about 10 o'clock that night, and then we were out of ammunition. It was a very hard place to fight the Yankees, they were strong and fortified on the mountain. Gen. Johnson, that was on the Alleghany, was with us in the charge and he got his horse shot and killed under him. But we got safe back to Virginia and I was glad of that. We have come across the Blue Ridge again. Imboden's Brigade is still in the Valley. I heard from Musto Corbett yesterday and he was well. His company was in a fight over in Maryland and his Captain and thirty of his men were taken prisoners and Brison Moore that was from Pocahontas was killed. He was a good soldier and I hated to hear of his death.

We had some killed and wounded out of the 25th Regiment, the 31st Regiment lost but few men. I wish I could get back to Imboden again. We have very hard times in this big army for something to eat. We do n't get more than half enough, and we all are out of money and means to buy any with. We have no tents, we have to take the weather as it comes. The army is in a bad condition, heap of them are barefooted. I am just about that, and have but one pair of socks and they are full of holes, so you can send me a pair if you have any. Tell Rob to write to me. I would write to him now but I have a bad place to write and I am tired and broken down marching. I would like to be out there now to get some good apples to eat and get some berry pies. I got a letter from home, and it said that E. M. Ware was dead. I was sorry to hear of his death, I did n't think he would get over it when I was there. This letter is as much to mother as it is to you. You must read it to her. But if you have time answer it as soon as it comes to hand and let me hear from you all at home. I have gotten a letter from Pocahontas, and you can move write to me. I am Co. D., 25 Va. Regiment, Jackson's Brigade, Johnson's Division, Ewell's Corps, and it will come to me, so there is nothing more at present.

H. F. M. GUTHRIE.

"Do you say a man is weakest when he gets out of bed in the morning?"

"That 's not so. If he was n't as strong as a bear he would n't be able to crawl out."—Kansas City World.

"A man never makes any mistake by being born in Ohio."

"How do you know?"

"I've tried it."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

NEWS NOTES.

BUFFALO gnats have been killing horses and mules in Kentuckey.

THE entire Democratic ticket was elected in the city election of Newburg, Preston County.

PRESTON COUNTY is to have a new Republican newspaper located at Kingwood or Rowlesburg.

MAJOR GEEEN PEYTON, proctor of the University of Virginia, died at his home April 18, aged sixty-eight years.

A NATIONAL Fish Congress will meet at Tampa Florida, January 19, 1898, in the interest of the fishing industry.

A WOMAN has qualified as county clerk of a county in Missouri, the Supreme court having decided that she was eligible.

THE work of construction of the Little Kanawha Valley railroad will begin inside of sixty days and at least forty miles will be completed this season.

THE work of displacing fourth-class postmasters has begun. The first batch of West Virginia included nine post offices in different parts of the State.

THE Berkeley County Fruit Growers Association have declared war on the San Jose Scale. This scale is one of the worst fruit tree pests known.

THE convicts of Indiana have been divided according to age; those under thirty having been placed in the State Prison at Jeffersonville.

A BODY, found floating in the Kanawha river near Handly, was identified as that of John Cochran, of Montgomery, who has been missing since last February.

NATHAN KING, a Jew of Louisville was "churched" for not paying his dues and he sued the congregation of B'nai Jacob for $1000 for damages done his feelingses.

RICHMOND has never given Virginia a Governor, but the chances seem to favor Hon Taylor Ellyson, of Richmond, as the next Democratic nominee.

[illegible] Brown, who feloniously assaulted Mrs Pugliest [illegible]ster, Fayette County, confessed and was sentenced to be hung on June 25th next.

HENRY BALLARD, a wealthy lumberman of Logan County, committed suicide by jumping head first into a well. Recent losses are ascribed as the cause.

IN Portsmouth, Va., only those Democrats are allowed to vote in the primary for Governor who supported Wm. J. Bryan last year. We think this is a very righteous distinction to be made between the two parties.

THE air ship comes nearer. Seven reliable citizens of Parkersburg declare that the mysterious air ship which has been seen in so many different parts of the country passed over that city about ten o'clock one night recently.

A NEGRO named Charles Harrison died from the effects of a drinking contest with two others of his color, at Hagerstown, Md. He drank a quart and a gill and the others about the same quantity. Harrison sank down in a fit of apoplexy and never recovered consciousness.

ETTA ROBINS is on trial for her life, at Huntington, indicted for the murder of A. J. Call and his daughter, Nettie. These two persons were found murdered with an axe on a house boat on the Ohio River. The woman confessed to the murder of Call in self defense, but claims to be totally ignorant how the daughter came to her death.

THE fact that importers have been stirred to such immense exertions to import goods before the Dingley law be passed, indicates conclusively that the tariff has a real and very decided effect upon the sales of goods in America. In anticipation of the new law, all the available sugar in the world has been bought by our sugar importers. The payments on withdrawals in the New York custom house amounted one day to half a million dollars.

THE case from Webster County of Taylor vs. Dorr was decided recently in the Supreme Court, in which the judgement of the Circuit Court was confirmed. This was a suit brought by Taylor against [illegible] Dorr for settlement of partnership affairs. Taylor had been a partner of Dorr for one year. The Circuit Court found a balance of $97.40 in favor of Dorr and the plaintiff appealed. Messrs. Mollohon and McClintic, of Charleston, represented the defendant. In their brief they quoted the decision of Chancellor Judge who said that "It was to the interest of the Republic that such litigation should cease."

Pocahontas Times.

EW PRICE, EDITOR

ton, Friday, April 30, 1897

cription ONE DOLLAR in ad
If not paid within the year ill be charged.

ed at the post office at Marlin Va., as second class matter.

xx Moss has been appoint office Commissioner of New to fill the vacancy occasion y Theodore Roosevelt's ap ment as assistant Secretary of avy. Moss is a protege of ss R. Parkhurst.

e eleventh commandment is ucky is in substance as fol
"Thou shalt not throw eggs
y public speaker whatsoever penalty has been made a felo one year's confinement in th tentiary if the egg to be goo ive if the egg be bad.

he Constitutional Committee about the nicest job that any f statesmen ever provided for selves in a small way. They be absent from home, pay expenses in that delightful
Charleston, and not be accus of doing any damage. They little or no responsibility rest upon them.

the death of Hon. William de Holman, M. C., from Indi the American people have been ived of one of their truest ds. He died last Thursday, il 22, in Washington of spinal ingitis, after an illness of nev weeks, in the 75th year of his

He was serving the sixteenth gressional term, the longest ser ever rendered by any one, and few as efficient. He was called "Watch dog of the Treasury" obvious reasons. He rose from respectable obscurity of a coun home by close attention to all duties, and diligent improve ut of limited opportunities an he made a record unparalelled American public life. He was rried at the age of nineteen s Holmon was well known and ch esteemed in Washington.
e died two years ago aged 73,
d the pecoting of the aged peo
e for each other was very beauti
Mr Holman was of a genial unquenchable disposition, and e did much to reconcile his col gues, when he was persistently posed to their wishes, specially the matter of appropriations e was carried back and buried on old homestead, near Aurora, diana, at a spot overlooking the hio River.

THE IRISH FAIR.

The American Irishmen and eir sympatizers on the "old sod" e projecting a magnificent fair to e opened in New York at an ear date. It will be a unique and teresting affair and of special in rest to the friends of the Irish ople that form such an impor nt and influential element of ew York citizenship. The inten on is to provide funds for the rection of a magnificent building r the use of all Irish-American ganizations in the Giant City.

Among the exhibits will be a iece of the genuine Blarney one, occupying a conspicuous ace in the big booth occupied by he New York Journal and Adver
ser. It claims to be the first gen ine specimen of its kind ever en in America. For four hun red years the Blarney Stone has een famous, and every dictionary recognizes the verb "to blarney."

Blarney Castle is in a village of Monster, four miles from Cork, nd was built by Cormick McCar hy, in 1449. It is located on a pre ipitous ridge of limestone rock rising from the deep ravine of the ee-Martin. To him their stone was believed to be the means of se uring all the gifts of eloquence and persuasion necessary to com plete success in a person's life.
The stone is so placed under the parapet that to touch it with the lips it is necessary to hang by the heels from a dizzy height, and but few people are daring enough to go that even for the privilege of ever after having the stone with its wondrous virtues.

Up to a few days ago the Irish Parliament has steadily refused per mission for any part of this stone to be cut away. It seems to have been made an exception and super intended the cutting of the stone himself, and this shows his interest in the cause represented by the fair. There is no intention what ever of the castle surrendering its stone, whether before or after you.

From Elkins, W. Va.

To the Editor of THE TIMES:

Would you like to hear some thing from this side of the moun tains? Your good people ought to have a kindred feeling for ours, seeing we are equally interested in building up the Mountain State, and by laying the foundations of future cities are mutually contrib uting to her development. Our repeated communication and inter change of visits, as well as the ex change of inhabitants, occasional ly, brings the two new "capitals" very near each other, and I am sure the kindest sentiments go out from our mountain city to her younger sisters in good old Poca hontas.

"The Times," has just arrived, (sent, doubtless by some kind friend), and has much of interest —especially in the "Biographic Notes" by W. T. P.; for whatever adds to to the already rich volume of Scotch-Irish history must ever be of absorbing interest to any one in whose veins is a trace of that noble blood. Many of the names are familiar to your correspondent, and in some we recognize another of the links that bind Randolph and Pocahontas, uniting families whose rugged character and staunch fi delity have helped to lay the broad foundations in these grand old mountains upon which the "new development" has been able the more easily to build.

After a long winter of business inactivity, which has sorely tried the patience of our enterprising people, the outlook now seems more promising. It is true we have had a disastrous fire—one of the most disastrous that ever swept a place of this size—entailing loss of property and loss of precious time, which to business men is of ten worth more than property, but we are not discouraged. Our peo ple, with wonderful zeal and deter mination, have set to work to re pair the loss, at once, and already a number of the business houses are occupying new quarters, good and serviceable but only temporary, for the burnt buildings will, in the near future, be replaced by hand some brick structures, and we be lieve the fire will eventually prove a blessing in disguise to our city.
It certainly will if it results in se curing for us a good system of wa ter works and a well-equipped fire department. The building already beginning is furnishing labor to numbers who have been out of employment, and the sound of pick and hammer rings out a cheerful hope of a really active season once more.

In the R. R. shops the men are working on full time and the work is piling up, offering probably a better outlook in that direction than we have had since the severe pressure of the last season set in.
Some changes are being made in the railroad arrangements with a view to facilitating traffic, and pre paring for a lively season. All this is hopeful, but it is to soon to prophecy any very remarkable re sults until the general business outlook become brighter.

The great proposition from capi talists for the founding of a Pres byterian College is by no means lost sight of by our good people, but the work of raising funds to duplicate the generous offer made the church, was necessarily sus pended during the political cam paign and the severe stringency of the times. The "committee" are by no means discouraged, and do n't intend to "give up the ship."
When I men are hard, those who have money are timid about their investments and are very slow in their charitable contributions.

This is a beautiful home for such an institution as it is proposed to establish, and the failure so secure it would be a vital loss to the whole
State of West Virginia.

One grand improvement in our town and commends it to all new comers—on the 1st of May the se lectmen take their departure from the corporation, and the law-abid ing citizens can once more feel that to commend our town as a de sirable home can be honestly and sincerely done. Dens vobiscum.
ARGUS.

Warner's Safe Cure

Has for a FIELD of a Century
Carried all forms of . . .

KIDNEY and LIVER DISEASES.

THE DREAD BRIGHT'S DISEASE

In the Incipient Kidney Disease
Either an Impurity
Built up by Cold
If Wasted in time with Warner's
Safe Cure.

From appearances, it looks as if the wool rulsers and the carpet weavers are at logger-heads, and are snapping each others wool, in figurative sense.

From recent advices it would seem that one New York lady has had more situations than she could master, as the times now are. She had nine husbands and gave her self up to the police; money is too hard to make for the support of such a numerous family of hus bands.

So far as we can see, there ought to be no serious objection were the constitutional committee to submit an amendment for the ladies of West Virginia to be al lowed to have votes. If our free mountaineers do not want it, they can show it and no one will be in jured.

Much comment has been made concerning the conduct of a jury in a case in the United States Court at Lynchburg, Va. The case was that of Halsey vs Jose, and it was the settlement of a large account.
Major Halsey, of Virginia, ship ping to the firm of Jose in Eng land. When the jury took the case they retired to their room and were led in prayer by one of the jury men. He made a touching appeal for guidance, and the jury almost immediately decided, tho the trial had lasted a month, that the de fendants should recover of the plaintiff $2,500. This must have been somewhat of a surprise to the plaintiff, of whom it will be said in after days that he lost his suit. The prayer in the jury room has called forth much unfavorable comment, and hints have been made that it was done for effect. We do not take this view of the case. What could the poor harassed jurors do?
They had been listening to weary lawyers with endless tongues for a month, and the jury on the trial before had disagreed. They may have socked it to the man who brought the suit, but the public observance of what should be in every good man's mind at every mon entous occasion of his life, did not have a tendency to keep them from righting the wrong.

Some of the hardest figthing that was done near Milouna Pass, Sat urday, April 17, was under the leadership of Hafiz Pasha, who fell during the engagement. He was eighty years old, and while pressing the Greeks at the head of his troops he was located on to dismount and rest. The veteran replied: "During the Russian war
I never dismounted, and why should I now?" Soon General Ha fiz was wounded in the arm, but he remained in the saddle. Later a second bullet struck him on the hand, but still the old warrior re fused to retire; finally a third bul let broke his back and he rolled from his saddle in death. This is told of another commander, who charged the block - house, Junes Effendi. He and his men had gone twenty - six hours without food or drink. In preparing for the assaults he said to his soldiers:
"All those who love God must ad vance to the assault." Whereupon, the Turks, with loud, exultant shouts, dashed forward in the di rection of the block-house which they stormed in a few minutes. He must be the Stonewall of the Turks.

Big Bargains at Sullin's.

Calicoes, 4 1-2c.
Gingham, 7c.
Outing, 4 1-2c.
Ladies Hose, 8c.
Linen, 9c.
Cheese Cloth, 4c.
Paste Goods, 18c.
Linen Table Covers 35c.
Men's Suits, from $2.50 up.
Boys' Suits, from $1.09 up.
Mens Pants, 48c.
Boys Pants, 24c.
A good Moleskin Pants, worth $1.2... for 59c.
Overshirts, 19c.
Mens Dress Shirts, 37c.
Drawers, 19c.
Mens socks, 4 pair for 25c
Ladies Vests, 8c or 15c a pair.
Mens Dust Brooms, 5c.
Good Straw Mattings, 12 1-2c.
Cuticle Soap, 10 cts a cake
Solid Soap,
A Boys Collar, 1cts each.
All Carpets, 34c per yard.
Ingrain Carpets, 19c.
Stair Carpets, 2 1-2c.
Two Papers of Pins, 2c.

Big bargains in Tin and Glass
Ware. We have other bargains that will interest you. Our goods are new and fresh. Call and be convinced. All mail orders receive our prompt attention.

Lightning Hot Drops!
What a Fever Heat!
They Treat, but a Rose Air Path,
Bear Everywhere, Every Day!
Wisdom Rules, Then in My Pen!

THE GIANT SERIES.

Every new subscriber, as well as any one paying up all arrearages and one year in advance, is entitled as a premium to any one of the fol lowing books by standard authors, delivered by mail free of charge.

These books are quarto size, printed on good paper, with hand some covers, and are

COMPLETE AND UNABRIDGED.

An examination of this list will show that they are the cream of English Literature.

Sold for 25 cents per copy.

Westward Ho, by Charles Kings
ley; The Count of Monte Christo,
Alexander Dumas; The Wandering
Jew, Eugene Sue; The Mysteries of Paris Eugene Sue; Don Quixote,
Cervantes; The Arabian Nights'
Entertainment; Les Miserables, Victor Hugo; Vanity Fair, William
M. Thackeray; On the Heights,
Berthold Auerbach; Pickwick Pa pers, Charles Dickens; Robinson
Crusoe, Daniel Defoe; The Children of the Abbey, Regina Maria Roche;
Lorna Doone, R. D. Blackmore;
The Life of Christ, F. W. Farrar;
The Freres, Mrs Alexander; The Swiss Family Robinson; Charles
O'Malley, the Irish Dragoon, Chas.
Lever; Handy Andy, Samuel Lov
er; East Lynne, Mrs Henry Wood;
John Halifax, Gentleman; Miss Ma
lock; Under Two Flags, "Ouida";
A Woman Hater, Charles Reade;
Matrimony, W. E. Norris; All Sorts and Conditions of Men, Walter Be sant and James Rice; Lady Aud
ley's Secret, Miss M. E. Braddon; Jane Eyre, Charlotte Bronte; Good for Her, Sweetheart Rhoda Brough ton; Daniel Deronda, George Eliot;
The Initials, Baroness Tautphoeus;
Minnie Grey, J. F. Smith; Gus
Howard, J. F. Smith; The Poor Girl, Pierce Eagan; Hagar Lot, Pierce Eagan; The Last Days of Pompeii, Sir E. Bulwer Lytton;
Harry Dunbar, M. E. Braddon;
Ten Thousand a Year, Samuel
Warren; The Diary of a Physician,
Samuel Warren; The Executor, Mrs
Alexander; Not Like other Girls,
Rosa Nouchette Carey; Uarda, G.
Ebers; File No 113, Emil Gaboriau;
Tom Brown's School Days, Thomas
Hughes; The Deerslayer, J. Feni more Cooper; David Copperfield,
Charles Dickens; Ivanhoe, Sir Wal ter Scott. By Alexander Dumas—
The Three Musketeers, Twenty Years After, The Vicomte de Brag elonne, Ten Years Later, Louise de la Vadliere, The Man in the Iron Mask.

Commissioner's Notice.

COMMISSIONERS OFFICE,
Marlinton, W. Va.,
April 13, 1897.

B. M. Yeager
vs.
J. H. Fuzzard, Constable and others

Pursuant to a decree of the Cir cuit Court of Pocahontas County,
W. Va., rendered at the April term 1897, of said Court in the above en titled case, I will proceed at my office in the town of Marlinton, W.
Va., on the 17 day of May, 1897, to take, state, and report to the June Term of said Court the following matters of account, to wit:

1—An account showing what amounts were due from J. C. Ar bogast, S. P. C., to the several school districts in this county on the 1st day of July, 1893.

2.—An account showing what amount was due from said J. C.
Arbogast, as sheriff of this county,
to said districts when the tax tick ets referred to in the bill were turn ed over to Levi Gay.

3.—What amount said Levi Gay had paid on said indebtedness.

4.—What amount of outstanding school orders drawn by said dis tricts there now are, and to whom due.

5.—Whether or not B. M. Yeager became chargeable with any of the balances due from said J. C. Arbo gast, S. P. C., to said districts at the date when the new bond of said became operative.

6.—Whether or not J. C. Arbo gast was insolvent when said bond of $10,000 given under section 46 of chapter 45 of the code, on which B.
M. Yeager and Adam Arbogast were his sureties, became operative.

7.—Whether or not there was any election made by J. C. Arbo gast to charge himself under the new bond with the balances found due from him under the old bond, and whether said election was ratified by the said several districts.

8.—Whether or not money col lected by Levi Gay on the tickets turned over to him by J. C. Arbo gast is in his hands, collected from tax tickets of 1893, 1894, 1895.

9.—Any other matter especially stated, deemed pertinent by him self or required by any party in terest to be so stated.

At which time and place you may attend. W. A. BRATTON,
Commissioner.

MARLINTON HOUSE.
Located East End of Bridge.
Terms,
per day - 1.00 & 1.50
per meal - - - 25
Good accommodations for horses
Special rates made by the week or month.
C. A. YEAGER, Proprietor.

For Sale
The Gum Soap Factory, with all fixtures. Established over two years. Good trade. For terms,
Address, R. HARRIS,
1446 E. Franklin street,
Richmond, Va.

Tutt's Pills
Cure All
Liver Ills.
Prevention
better than cure. Tutt's Liver Pills will not only cure, but if taken in time will prevent
Sick Headache,
dyspepsia, biliousness, malaria, constipation, jaundice, torpid liver and kindred diseases.
TUTT'S Liver PILLS
ABSOLUTELY CURE.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONTAS COUNTY, }

At rules held in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court for said county on Monday, March 29th, 1897.
Thomas L. Coulehan, ... Plaintiff,
vs.
Daniel O'Connell, N. S. Alderman,
Alcinda J. Alderman, Henry W.
Holt, trustee; R. S. Turk, Wil liam L. McNeel, and Jasper Auldridge, ... Defendants.

The object of this suit is to subject to the payment of the liens thereon a four-sixths interest in a tract of land lying on Shanhardt's Creek, in said county, containing 220 acres belonging to the said defendant,
Daniel O'Connell.

A G it appearing by affidavit fil ed that the defendants, Henry W.
Holt, trustee; and R. S. Turk, are non-residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month af ter the first publication of this or der and do what is necessary to protect their interests in said suit.

Witness, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of said Court, this 29th day of
March, 1897.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
W. A. Bratton,
Attorney for Plaintiff

Commissioner's Notice.

Office of S. B. Scott, Jr., Comm'r.,
Marlinton, W. Va., April 16, 1897.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas county, W. Va., made on the 8th day of April, 1897, in a chancery cause therein pending en titled:

Clifton Forge Grocery Co.
vs.
C. C. Arbogast, et als.,

I will proceed at my office in the town of Marlinton, W. Va., on the

10TH DAY OF MAY, 1897,

to take, state, and report to court the following matters of account, as order ed in said decree, viz:

1st—The liens against the lands of C.
C. Arbogast, with their dates, dignities and priorities and to whom due.

2d—The real estate of said C. C. Ar bogast subject to said liens, and 3d—Any other matter to be specially stated, deemed pertinent by myself or required by any party in interest to be so stated.

S. B. SCOTT, Jr.,
Commissioner.

NOTICE TO LIEN HOLDERS.

To all persons holding liens by judg ment or otherwise on the real estate or any part thereof of C. C. Arbogast:

In pursuance of a decree of the Cir cuit Court of Pocahontas county, made in a cause therein pending, to subject the real estate of the said C. C. Arbo gast to the satisfaction of the liens thereon, you are hereby required to present all claims held by you and each of you against the said C. C. Arbogast, which are liens against his real estate or any part of it, for adjudication to me at my office in the town of Marlinton, Pocahontas County, W. Va., on or be fore the 10th day of May, 1897.

Given under my hand this the 16th day of April, 1897.

S. B. SCOTT, Jr., Commissioner.

Reward! Reward! Reward!

You are REWARDED by trad ing with us. Where we saved you a dollar in previous years, we can save you two this year. We do n't beg for trade—we get it through our low prices.

NEW CUSTOMERS flock to us as soon as they hear of our bar gains. If it pays others so well to buy from us, why should n't it pay
you?

We make our money not by RE
TAINING CLOSE, but by SELLING CLOSE. Whatever you buy from us you will find our prices right.

We Don't Want
the Earth!
Only just enough Trade to live on.

How MUCH?
WILL YOU SAVE IN A YEAR BY BUYING
FROM 15 TO 35 PER CENT CHEAPER than ELSEWHERE?

WE have our Store
Chock full of Bar gains. Come one and all, and we will do the best we can to please
you.

Yours for Business,
L. D. SHARP
Lunwood W. Va.

The Greatest Medicinal Whiskey
the World has Ever Known.

BRADDOCK PURE RYE + AND BARLEY MALT,

SMOOTH, SOFT, RICH, RIPE, MELLOW AND CHEMICALLY PURE, A RECOMMENDATION IN ITSELF.

TRY A GALLON AT $2.00

Mail Orders solicited either great or small and receive our personal and prompt attention. Drop us a postal for price list. Don't use inferior goods but mail us your orders; we can save you money and perhaps your health.

JAS CLARK DISTILLING CO., JNO. McQUAIDE Mngr.
Distillers of Braddock Pure Rye, Wholesale and Retail Liquor Dealers.
20 and 22 South New St., Staunton, Va.

FURNITURE FACTORY

AND

Furniture Store.

Fine Furnitnre Made to Order.

STOCK ALWAYS ON HAND.

I am occupying the Temporary Court-house and am prepared to make to order all kinds of Furniture at lower prices than can be obtained elsewhere. Don't be cheated in Furniture but buy from a reliable cabinet maker who works up the native woods.

I can order you furniture from the city at better terms than you can to save your life. Whenever you need anything in my line you will save money by giving me a call.

W. J. Killingsworth.

Commissioner's Notice

Office of S. B. Scott, Jr., Comm'r.,
Marlinton, W. Va., April 16, 1897.

Pursuant to a decree of the Cir
cuit Court of Pocahontas County,
W. Va., made on the 8th day of April, 1897, in a cause therein pending entitled

William H. Hall
vs.
C. B. Collins, et als.,

I will proceed at my office in the town of Marlinton, W. Va., on the

15th DAY OF MAY, 1897,

to take, state and report the follow ing matters of account as ordered in said decree, viz:

1st—An account showing the liens, by judgment or otherwise, on the lands in the bill and proceed ings mentioned, with their dates, dignities, and priorities.

2d—A statement giving the local description of the lands on which said liens rest and which should be subjected to their payment.

3d—Any other matters to be spe cially stated, deemed pertinent by myself or required by any party in interest to be so stated.

S. B. SCOTT, Jr., Commissioner.

NOTICE TO LIEN HOLDERS.

To all persons holding liens, by judgment or otherwise, on the real estate or any part thereof of C. B.
Collins.

In pursuance of a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas Coun ty, made on a cause therein pending to subject the real estate of the said C. B. Collins to the satisfac tion of the liens thereon, you are hereby required to present all claims held by you and each of you against the said C. B. Collins, which are liens on his real estate or any part of it, for adjudication to me at my office in the town of Marlinton, Pocahontas County, W. Va., on or before the 15th day of May, 1897.

Given under my hand this the 16th day of April, 1897.

S. B. SCOTT, Jr., Commissioner.

Harvesting Machines.

I will furnish the JOHNSTON HAR
VESTING MACHINERY & MOWERS
this year from $40.00 to $45.00, accord ing to the length of cut.

Yours respectfully,

C. J. HILL, Agent.
LOBELIA, W. VA. f12 6m

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowl edge so often expressed, that Dr.
Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inabi lity to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects follow ing the use of liquor, beer, or wine, and over comes that unpleasant ne cessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to uri nate. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon real ized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures in the most distress ing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet telling all about it, also many testimonials from sufferers. Mention The Pocahontas Times and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

Pocahontas Times.

APRIL 30, 1897.

Recent Events.

...has been resumed on the ...arch.

...Smoot was indicted for ... in the first degree by the ...ury of Greenbrier County.

RENT: I have a good store ... rent at Edray. A fine lo... for a store. J. R. Penn...

...of the Marlinton boys go ...to this week to enter games ...ore on Saturday, May 1.

...infant child of H. W. Mac... was hurt by the falling of a ...e upon its arm, resulting in ...ken arm.

...ring the first week of May Golden will give 5 per cent ...cash sales (with the excep... of staple groceries) to the ...ditor building the new Meth... Church at Marlinton.

...LLIAM SIPLE, road surveyor, ... large force of hands at work ... the bridge towards Hunters...

They were all, almost, advo... for the Alternate Road Law ... they had worked very long.

...ccess be unborn than un... but, for ignorance is the root of ...ortune. Be wise and examine ... stock of goods. We will teach ... that our goods and prices suit ... Men's shirts @ 25 to 50c; 2 ... tin-buckets @ 15c; men's ... @ $2.75 to $8.00.

THE Greenbrier Presbytery ...ts at Alderson, Wednesday, ... 5. Dr S. P. Patterson and ...er J. H. Doyle are delegates ... Huntersville Church. Rul... Elders George A. Baxter and ...W. Holt are the representatives ...he Marlin's Bottom Church.

...he Baltimore Sun says that a ...uch line will be built at once ...necting the railroad to Horton, ...Va., to the Chesapeake & Ohio. ...this road is built Pocahontas ...ld derive the greatest benefit of ...h a branch, as it would split ... county from one end to the ...er.

WORK.—Everybody has to work ...a living in some way, and those ...t work are the persons that ...e to have work done in my line ...especially farmers and others. ...ve just gotten my blacksmith ...p completed, and guarantee ...tisfaction in every particular. ...ke shoeing a specialty. C. L. ...ETTIS, Slaty Fork, W. Va.

LUTHER HAYMOND has an arti... in the Clarksburg Telegram ...on locusts, and, according to his ...nophecy, we may prepare for their ...ppearance this year. They first ...ppeared in this neighborhood, he ...ys, in May 1766, and again in ...ay 1812, in May 1829, in May ...846, in May 1863, and in May 18... and they are likely to appear in ...ay 1897, or every seventeen years ...ey come out for them.

THE floods of last winter have ...ade material changes in the fish...g waters and bathing pool at the ...outh of Knapps Creek. Until ...his year there was a pond pool... from six to seven feet deep and ...bout ninety feet in diameter. Ma... a large catfish and bass have ...een taken from it. The floods ...have carried in sand until it is al...most entirely filled and there is ...one of the main or deeper portion ...of the pool remaining.

THE Chesapeake & Western Railroad in Rockingham County has won the fight in the test case in the Circuit Court against those who subscribed stock in the road in that county to the amount of $150,000. The railroad was completed between Bridgewater and Elkton and it is said has been run at a loss of $15 per day. The stock-holders refused to pay, alleging misrepresentation as to the benefit the road was to be built for, and the wealth of the company. Of the seven grounds of defense Judge McLaughlin ruled six out as improper, and on the other the jury found for the railroad company.

AS THE game and fish law is construed by Warden E. F. Smith, it is unlawful to catch or destroy any brook-trout, hare, hen or quail from any moment between the first day of September and the first day of January of each year. Nor is it lawful to catch, in any manner, any variety of bass, black perch, or willow, pike or pickerel between the 15th of April and the 15th of June. The only things allowed for catching these fish during the closing season are spearing or rod, hook and line. Bucket seines, gaffers, and dynamite may be taken at any time by any person, and anyone, except Tygart's Valley River south of the Taylor County line. It is unlawful to catch (either by rod-lines, or kill only and bear by spear or gig between the first day of April and the first day of September following. This is prohibited to protect the young fish that have become numerous enough that the new law does not proceed to prohibit taking fishes of any kind from any of the waters of the State at any season of the year with hook and line.

S. J. Boone, the new Huntersville merchant, started for Baltimore Monday morning.

WANTED, INDIAN RELICS.—Arrows, spears, hatchets, pipes, etc., in good condition. Apply at this office.

GREAT excitement has taken place in the wheat market. Wheat in Chicago passed the dollar mark for the first time since 1891.

A NEW line of Millinery will be received this week at Mrs Cunningham's, including every variety of Sailors worn during the season.

MARLINTON was very much in evidence in Huntersville Sunday afternoon, in the presence of a dozen or more of the beaux and belles attending the concert led by Messrs Reed and Rimel.

B. A. WALTON, who has been working on the Fayette Republican, will go to Summerville, Nicholas County, to take a case on the new Republican weekly to be started there.

HENRY FLETCHER is not dead as reported, but alive and well, and the report that was published first in the Charleston Gazette that he had been killed by Joshua Douglas is a mistake.

DEPOSITIONS were taken by the defendant in the road case Melorn Carr vs Henry Shinneberry last Tuesday. This road lies thro Henry Shinneberry's land, and was the subject of an injunction suit some years ago.

FAYETTE criminal court sentenced Clark Lewis and Albert Viars to be hanged on June 25. Wilbur Slaughter, who turned State's evidence, was given a life sentence. This is a part of the Montgomery gang.

THE report comes from the great West that a preacher has just married a bride eleven years of age. If the report be true, it merely illustrates the truth of the old proverb that some of the clerics have a special appetite for spring chickens.

A PERSON will die for want of air in five minutes; for want of sleep, in ten days; for want of water in a week; and for want of food at varying periods, dependent on circumstances. Thus it appears we are most dependent on air we breathe, and nothing is so plentiful and free and convenient as air.

WE would like to hear who that industrious person is who has taken the time and pains to look into the political aspect of the forty-five legislatures. He reports 3465 Republicans, 2200 Democrats, 530 Populists, and 215 Fusionists as matters now stand. We hope he may keep this up and let us hear by next December how the figures may be at that time.

TYLER COUNTY, bordering on Ohio River, south of Wheeling, having about the same area as Pocahontas and a few more thousand in population, seems to be the banner county for indictments. Eleven hundred indictments were made by recent juries, and mostly for the illicit sale of spirituous liquors, with more material in soak to be squeezed out.

TWO of the Commissioners of the County Court of Mercer have been indicted. The indictment is made on the alleged crookedness of the letting the contract for keeping the paupers of the county. The county does not own a poor-farm, and the contract was awarded to one man at $1,400 when another had bid $950.

THE colored congregation in the Brush are preparing to build a new and elegant parsonage for the accommodation of their hartyred pastor, Rev C. W. Scott, who was murdered so despitefully used by the Levels negroes. That efficient steward, Joseph H. Wilson, has the matter in hand, and it is certain that his able financiering will make the effort a success, as the cash outlay for the new building is not to exceed twenty dollars.

Bicycle for Sale.

AN 1895 "Monarch" in first-class order—warranted. Inquire at this office.

Thin, Pale Children

One satisfaction in giving Scott's Emulsion to children is that they never object to it. The fact is, they soon become fond of it. Another satisfaction is because it will make them plump, and give them growth and prosperity. It should be given to all children who are too thin, or too pale. It does not make them overfat but plump.

It strengthens the digestive organs and the nerves, and for sudden catarrhal for rich blood.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Hunt Kee has a position as warden in the Weston Asylum.

J. H. Patterson was absent at Green Bank this week.

Captain and Mrs Smith spent last week in Ronceverte.

A. P. Gay called at The Times office Tuesday.

H. P. Patterson, of Huntersville, was in this place Monday.

J. W. Bolton, of Locust, was in Marlinton, last week, and dropped in to see The Times press at work.

James F. White, Editor of the Fayette Republican, has been appointed postmaster at Fayetteville.

Mrs Nancy J. Ward, of Pocahontas County, has been awarded a pension as an original widow of a Union soldier.

Mrs Francis McCoy is recovering rapidly. She is able to sit up, and will soon be able to return to her home at Beaver Dam.

Misses Virgie Sydenstricker and Georgie Wysong, of Academy, spent several days with friends in Marlinton.

William S. Wysong, in addition to his partnership with Attorney H. C. Thurmond, is associate editor of the Webster Echo, at Addison.

George Dunkle, a faithful worker in the skidding crew for Smith & Whiting, has recovered from his recent illness at Mr Henry Sharp's near Driscol.

Mr A. I. Dold, from Harrisonburg, has been diligently at his business in and around Marlinton the past two weeks. He represents the National Building & Loan of Staunton.

Hon John W. Stephenson of the Warm Springs, has been appointed commissioner from the 10th Congressional District to attend to Virginia interests at the coming Tennessee Exposition.

Lieut J. J. Beard's friends will be more than gratified to learn that his health is so far restored that he can be about and busy at work on his premises from "early morn to dewey eve."

Miss Grace Campbell, who has been spending the winter in Huntersville with her relatives, Mr and Mrs J. H. Doyle and others, has returned to her home in Belington, W. Va. Her departure is regretted by quite a number, it seems.

Mrs Levi Gay had some of her young friends in to dinner Friday, the 23d, and entertained them handsomely. The girls had a pleasant time, and all agree that Mrs Gay knows what pleases girls. Those present were Misses Annie King, Emma King, Hattie Patterson, Gertrude Bird, Maud Yeager, Daisy Yeager, Annie Hannah, Lexie Gibson, Mollie Smith, and Susie Price.

Mr H. P. Cootes, of Staunton, made a bicycle tour of the county as agent for a Staunton house dealing in pianos and organs. They intend to establish a branch store in Lewisburg. While coming down Droop Mountain Mr Cootes ran into a common dog and his wheel was thrown against a stump, breaking the rim and bending the spokes "every which way." By the aid of a skillful blacksmith at Academy the damage was repaired.

Golden's Offer.

The problem is solved how to contribute to the new church at Marlinton, and at the same time purchase your goods at prices that can not be beat. P. Golden offered in last issue 5 per cent. of his cash sales, during the first week of May, for the benefit of the new church.

Marlinton, W. Va., April 28, 1897.—We believe that Mr Golden will donate five per cent. of his cash sales, as he advertises.

URIAH BIRD } Committee
H. A. YEAGER }

Two years ago R. J. warren, a druggist at Pleasant Brook, N. Y., bought a small supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He sums up the result as follows: "At that time the goods were unknown to this section; to-day Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a house-hold word." It is the same in hundreds of communities, where ever the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy become known the people will have nothing else. For sale at the Marlinton Drug Store.

DURING the war of 1812 there was an army contractor named Elbert Anderson. It was also a regulation that when anything was bought from a contractor it be inspected by an inspector before any goods are such as the contract calls for, and that the government gets full value. The inspector's name in this case was Samuel Wilson, and he was always called "Uncle Sam." Whenever the inspector found all to be right the package or cask was marked E. A. & S. W. They had developed a fine by facial manner of letting do the marking, and when he was asked by somebody what the letters meant he replied, "Elbert Anderson and Uncle Sam." Wilson and others thought it very funny, and so it got into the papers, and before the war ended it was known and laughed about all over the country. And thus the U. S. service received the name "Uncle Sam." Wilson, the original "Uncle Sam," died at Troy, N. Y., in 1854, aged eighty-four years.

The Black Bass.

The new law must mean in spirit if not in letter that anyone shall be guilty of a misdemeanor who shall destroy a bass between the dates April 15 and June 15. It cannot mean that if an unfortunate man fishing with angle-worms for chubs should catch a bass he must be fined for it, for it is well known that bass do not hanker after fishing-worms, and it would be an impossibility to catch one with a fishing-worm maliciously and feloniously. Hear then the tale of how a bass was caught by accident and returned to its native element unharmed.

To him who is especially hungry for fresh fish in early spring, *Knapps Creek has some minor in*ducements to offer in way of fishing for chub, a fish which if taken home forthwith and fried crisp before it spoils has a fishy taste. This fish is peculiar in the fact that it is the only fish of our waters that can make a noise. When this fish is taken from the hook it makes a sort of "cheeping" noise not unlike a young chicken just out of the shell, and quite as loud. When the chub gets older it becomes the "horny-head," a fish with small bony protuberances on its head, and a color in the face as tho it was addicted to the use of strong drink. Fishing for chub in Knapps Creek is a good deal like trout-fishing, and the enthusiastic trout fisher can "make believe" tolerably well.

Last Saturday the writer went out after these unprotected fish and succeeded in catching a goodly number. The event of the trip was the unlawful catching of a large bass with a fishing-worm. The place was a bit of deep water in front of a back-channel. The wilful bass would have his way, and it was either surrender tackle or pull him out. Such a bass has been rarely caught in these waters. It was large enough to afford a dish for a family. The fight was to a finish, and the temptation to keep the fine fish was great but not worth having an indictment hanging over your devoted head for a year, and after a few minutes contemplation the bass was put back in the water unhurt. The surrendering of such a fish is enough to break a man's luck the whole season.

The wisdom of the law protecting bass until the spawning season is over is apparent in this remark*able instance*. It is certain that this bass was at its spawning place, and that the bait being placed close to it it took it. Its manner of biting indicated this, for it took the worm gently and not in the spirited style of a bass in the proper season, and there was nothing to indicate until the bass was hooked that there was even the smallest of fishes at the line.

The Horse.

Dr Neff, V. S., of Bridgewater, Va., gave a highly instructive and entertaining lecture upon the horse and his diseases, at the temporary court-house, last Monday night. This gentleman is a graduate of the Toronto, Canada, Veterinary College, and is well informed on the subject of horses. Farmers should not fail to hear him if they have an opportunity of attending his lectures. His remarks on the hoof should be heard by every one who shoes horses. He specially deplores the practice of cutting or altering the frog in the least, as it is nature's protection against a contracted hoof. Also the "bars" of a horse's hoof strengthen the frog and should in no instance be cut away. The horse should be shod ten or twelve times a year. The shoe should be large enough, and in all cases the shoe should be altered to fit the hoof, and not the hoof to fit the shoe. Small nails should be used as the nails destroy the circulatory system of canals, with which the hoof is provided, doing damage to the hoof. The enamel of the hoof should never be touched. Spasmodic colic he treats with a hypodermic injection of morphine, three to four grains, according to the size of the horse, and uses a purgative, such as aloes. Spasmodic colic is distinguished from flatulent colic by the swelling occasioned by the latter. In flatulent colic the ordinary punches the right side. The lecturer paid his respects to those who believed in the popular fallacies of baths in horses, and hollow-horn and wolf's tail in cattle. He claims that the ordinary doctoring of horses causes more deaths than it cures. To illustrate his point he told of a case coming under his notice where a horse had received doses for bots, and then for colic. The horse had received drenches of milk, coal-oil, and tobacco-juice, black lye, tansy and the entrails of a chicken. He emphasized the folly of this treatment by showing what a man would think of such treatment for stomach troubles. It would be well if every farmer in Pocahontas could hear this lecture, and it is certain that the condition of our live stock would be improved by it.

GEORGE W. ROGERS, who is in jail charged with cutting his wife with intent to kill, feared for the first few days. He talked to no one except the justice, to whom he made a lucid explanation that he was crazy. On the third day he began to take notice of what was going on and could be supported out. His wife is recovering rapidly from her injuries.

DELAYED CORRESPONDENCE.

Green Bank.

The weather has been very cool. On Tuesday night there was quite a freeze, and fears for the fruit are entertained by many, but it is hoped that it is not frozen.

Mr Yancey, of Virginia, passed thro our village on last Saturday.

Rev. Maxwell and family left on Monday morning for Staunton, where they expect to live for a time.

L. H. Moomau returned home from Baltimore, where he had been attending a medical college.

J. W. Oliver and Mr and Mrs John R. Warwick went to Monterey on business last week.

Wise Herold of Frost, was in this vicinity on Tuesday.

An interesting easter party was given to young people of Green Bank by Misses Cordie Wooddell and Grace Ralston, at the home of Miss Ralston. Interesting parlor games were played until 10:30 when all repaired to the dining room, where an excellent supper was prepared and eggs being the most prominent dish. The party was enjoyed by all.

LETTIE LEIGH.

Ditley's Mill.

Farmers are busy sowing oats. The weather has been quite cool.

G. E. Moore has closed his writing school.

Mr Marple, of Staunton, is in this part taking orders for tombstones.

Anderson Grimes is contemplat*ing the building of a new house in* the near future.

James Reid is teaching a singing class at Oak Grove.

George Bambrick is off to Webster this week on business.

J. L. Carpenter was at Marlinton on April 19, to look after his interest in the Peabody Insurance Company.

J. W. Grimes was in Marlinton on business last week.

Levi Sharp and Miss Bertha Hively are on the sic klist.

Born to Mr and Mrs William Shrader, a boy.

Clayton Dilley and his grand*daughter were visiting near* Dunmore on Sunday.

Rev Parrott failed to fill his appointment at Bethel on April 18.

J. C. Dilley and A. W. Curry are burning their second lime kiln.

Some new cases of whooping cough in the Frost community and near Bethel.

There is good attendance at the Epworth League.

The people of this county should fell very grateful to Rev. W. T. Price for the 'Biographic Notes,' which are cherished by many as speaking mementoes of their relatives.

Peter Grimes, formerly of this county, now of Ola Iowa, has been very sick the past few months.

The smoke of fire in the mountains is seen in several places. The people of this part are on the watch for the persons setting out fire.

OLD FRIEND.

Buckeye.

Rev Perry preached here last Sunday.

Professor Rorke sang for the people Sunday evening.

Miss Hattie Shelton is at home for a few days. She has been sowing at Dr Wallace's.

A. P. Landes was a caller at Clark Kellison's on Sunday.

The Sunday School will be organized next Sunday morning, at the M. E. Church.

B. B. Doyle preached at Rocky Point last Sunday evening.

A. W. McNeill was a visitor at Mr Beverage's Sunday.

Owen Kellison will start to Ron*ceverte Tuesday with* W. McClintic's wagon.

John Adkison is about done burning logs.

W. N. Courtney was on Dry Creek Sunday.

Mike Myers little girl, who had diphtheria, is about well again.

A. S. Overholt and family will start for Missouri on May 11.

Dry Creek is on a boom.

The farmers are all done sowing oats and are plowing for corn.

We wonder what the young man wanted with the ham and eggs the other day?

Griffey Sheets was on the Creek to see his girl. MAYFIELD.

Yeik.

We are having some warm weather, and the prospect for a big crop of fruit and berries is good.

Davis Hannah is going to move to S. B. Moore's and John Poage's place on Elk River.

Dr W. B. Griffin is off to Edray on a business trip. He had a mill raising, which was a success.

He has the best mill in the county, as soon it has cracked one grain it will jump on another.

L. D. Sharp is accomplishing a great work, he has three men plowing with one team and waste a fourth one; call on him.

J. A. Sharp is as spry as an 'old turkey gobbler.'

J. S. Hite has gone to his farm on Jacox.

Charles Curtis has been prospecting in the mountains for coal, but had no success.

CHURCH NOTES.

Appointments for first Sunday in May: Mt. Vernon, 10:30 a. m. Second Sunday: Huntersville, 11 a. m. P. L. FRANCIS, Pastor.

April

IS A MONTH OF NEW LEAVES.

Why not turn over one yourself and contribute to the New Church by purchasing your goods of Paul Golden the First Week in May.

By so doing you are contributing to help build the House of the Lord,—and you do n't pay any more for your goods at P. Golden's.

Prices Cannot be Beat.

PLEASE NOTICE.

I have bought out Joe Loury's entire stock of goods, and will do business at the same place.

I will replenish my stock with new goods from time to time, and will give you the Best Bargains you ever got. Call and see me before you buy. I will take all kinds of Country Produce that I can sell—Butter, Grain, Eggs, Wool, etc., at best prices.

To give you an idea of my prices—Prints, 3c. and all other goods in proportion.

Call and see me. I will treat you right and show you my goods with pleasure—whether you buy or not.

S. J. BOGGS,
Huntersville, W. Va.

Attention

1200 BUSHELS OF CORN,
1000 BUSHELS OF GOOD SEED OATS AND 700 BUSHELS OF RYE FOR SALE CHEAP AT

Sol. Davis'

THE OSBORNE SPRING TOOTH HARROW

The frames are made in one piece of steel angle bar, and formed to withstand all strain without buckling or warping.

The teeth in this Harrow are so spaced that they will not foul each other, pulverizing the ground thoroughly.

The steel pipe tooth bars are mounted in malleable brass sockets in the frame, and will not bend or break.

The peculiar shape of the teeth curling two-thirds about the bar gives the greatest amount of spring possible without straining the bolts, and because of their shape and fastening they are stronger than used on any other harrow.

By the levers, the depth of the work can be regulated while the Harrow is in motion.

The draft is steady and direct, as the Harrow has no side motion.

ALL THESE FEATURES COMBINED HAVE MADE THE OSBORNE CELEBRATED.

It has no EQUAL—it never will have a SUPERIOR.

Call and examine the Osborne line consisting of—

BINDERS, MOWERS, RAKES, TEDDERS, HARROWS AND CULTIVATORS.

The most complete line of Farming Implements to be found the State.

For sale by

EAGLE & OTT.

Ronceverte, W. Va.

I Leave the Farm.

I'm leaving the farm, boys,
I have something to tell you now I would whisper it low—
I'm thinking of leaving the home
lad,
I be in a hurry to go.
My boy may remember
A thing of the past and sing
Of cares in the cortex of fashion,
And seem the course downward begun.

I'm sure talk of the mines of Kaffirs is They are wealthy in gold, without doubt,
But there's gold in the farm, boys,
If only you choose it out.
The mercantile is a hazard,
The profits are few and thin now
Better risk the old farm a while longer,
Don't be in a hurry to go.

The great busy west has inducements,
And so has the busiest mart,
But wealth is not made in day, boys,
Don't be in a hurry to start.
The bankers and brokers are wealthy,
They take in their thousands or so,
Ah! think of the frauds and deceptions,
I don't be in a hurry to go!

The farm is the safest and surest,
Its products are most certain to pay—
You're free as the air of the mountains,
And monarch of all you survey.
Better stay on the farm a while longer,
Tho the profits come rather slow,
Remember you've nothing to risk here,
Don't be in a hurry to go. [Ex.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they can-not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by con-stitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets in-flamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube re-stored to its normal condition, hear-ing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by ca-tarrh, which is nothing but an in-flamed condition of the mucous sur-faces.

We will give One Hundred Dol-lars for any case of Deafness (caus-ed by catarrh) that cannot be cur-ed by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Hall's Family Pill are the best.

Commissioner's Notice.

Commissioner's Office,
Marlinton, W. Va.
April 14, 1897

Caroline E. Warwick's Executors against
Caroline E. Warwick's heirs.

All persons interested will take notice that pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, rendered in the above styl-ed cause at the April Term, 1897, on the foregoing cause I will pro-ceed at my office in the town of Marlinton, West Virginia, on the 4th day of June, 1897, to take, state, and report to the next term of the Circuit Court of said county the following matters of account, viz:

1.—A settlement of the accounts of John C. Warwick and Emma N. Warwick, Executors of the Last will and testament of the deceased Cat-oline E. Warwick.

2.—Whether or not the personal property of the decedent is sufficient to pay all of the debts of the decedent.

3.—An account of all the liens on the real estate of the decedent and their respective priorities.

4.—An account of all other un-paid debts of the decedent.

5.—An account of the real estate owned by the decedent at the time of her death, subject to the pay-ment of her debts, together with the approximate value of each of said tracts, and whether or not there are any specific liens thereon.

6.—What would be a reasonable fee to the plaintiff's attorney in this case.

7.—Any other matter required by any party in interest, etc.

W. A. BEATTIE,
Commissioner.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

To the creditors of Caroline E. Warwick, deceased:

In pursuance of a decree of the Circuit Court of the County of Po-cahontas made in a cause therein pending, to subject the real estate of the said Caroline E. Warwick to the payment of her debts, you are required to present your claims against the estate of the said Caro-line E. Warwick for adjudication to W. A. Beattie, Commissioner, at his office in Marlinton, in the said county, on or before the 4th day of June, 1897.

Witness, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of said Court, this 14th day of April, 1897.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
[4 w]

WILLIE SLAUGHT—I gave you one of the brother's chair this morning, and he was wild.

Bobby Slaught—Well he won't sit down in such a hurry again.

Willie Slaught—Neither will I.

MRS. A. STUART, residing at 207 Henry St., Alton, Ill., suffered with a severe cold which settled in her eyes, rendering them almost blind. She used Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, and was healed by the use of a few bottles. Price 25 cents. Sold by druggists.

Bryan in Staunton.

Wm. J. Bryan, recent Democrat-ic nominee for President, passed thru Staunton over the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad Wednesday morn-ing. It became known during the afternoon that he was aboard the west-bound train, and about 2,000 people gathered at the depot to see him. He made a brief address while the train stopped, and among other things said:

"I am glad to be in Staunton, because Harry Tucker lives here. He and I used to sit together in Congress and we got along togeth-er very well. I only knew one mis-take he made. When the Wilson bill was passed he said I carried Mr. Wilson around. I think we car-ried him a little too far, and got him out of the party. I hope to have the privilege of coming down here some time and getting ac-quainted with the good people of this community and until then I must bid you good night."—Ex.

Lightning Hot Drops—
What a Funny Name!
Very True, but it Kills All Pain.
Sold Everywhere. Every Day—
Without Relief, There is No Pain

Commissioner's Notice.

Office of S. B. Scott, Jr., Comm'r,
Marlinton, W. Va. April 16, 1897

State of West Virginia ....Plaintiff
vs
Joseph F. Moore, E. M. Barnett, Perry A. Barnett, Amanda Bar-nett, William A. Barnett, Sarah D. Grimes, Mary A. Barnett, W. A. G. Sharp, J. A. Sharp, E. N. Moore, Isaac Shinneberry, Jos-eph Sharp, J. W. Rider, Belle Rider, Laura Irene Rider, John Smith, Josiah Dilley, Ralph Dil-ley, Milton Dilley, Mary Horton Lindsay H. Sharp, Jeremiah Dil-ley, Clayton Dilley, Clark Dilley, Margaret M. Sutton, Mahala Friel, the unknown heirs of Re-becca Rider, deceased; the un-known heirs of Mary Harmon, deceased; the unknown heirs of Ann Mcclung, deceased; the unknown heirs of Letetia Bird, deceased; the unknown heirs of Jane Swadley, deceased; the un-known heirs of Nancy Moore, de-ceased; Nancy Watkins, Evie F. Smith, James Sharp, Andrew Sharp, Crawford Sharp, Hattie Sharp, Asenith Sharp, Jordan Sharp, and Robert Sharp,
.....Defendants.

The plaintiff and each and all of the above named defendants, and all unknown owners and claimants of any part or parcel of the lands mentioned in the plaintiff's bill in the above entitled cause, will take notice that on the

2ND DAY OF MAY, 1897,

at my office in the town of Marlin-ton, Pocahontas County, W. Va., I will commence the discharge of my duties under the decree of reference in the above entitled cause, a copy of which decree is published with this notice, at which time and place you and each of you can attend and protect and defend any interest you may have in the lands or any of them in question in this cause.

Given under my hand this the 16th day of April, 1897.

S. B. SCOTT, Jr., Commissioner.

State of West Virginia
vs. } In chancery
John Sharp, &c., Heirs, et als.

This cause, which has been regu-larly matured at rules and set for hearing, came on this day to be heard on the bill and exhibits thereto, the first and the joint an-swers of Joseph F. Moore, E. M. Barnett, Perry A. Barnett, Wm. C. Barnett, Mary A. Barnett, Sa-rah D. Grimes, and E. N. Moore. The bill taken for confessed as to the rest of the defendants, and ar-gument of counsel.

On consideration whereof it is ordered that this cause be referred to S. B. Scott, one of the commis-sioners of this court, to take, state, and report the following matters and things as to the 2308 acres of land in the bill to be forfeited for the non payment of the taxes there-on for the year 1892:

1st—For what year or years the said land has been forfeited for the non payment of taxes thereon, and whether the same is forfeited to the State of West Virginia for the non-payment of the taxes thereon and subject to be sold for the benefit of the school fund.

2d—The amount of taxes, inter-est, costs, and damages due and unpaid thereon.

3d—Whether the location of any land is ascertainable, and, if so, as-certain the same.

4th—The title or claim of the de-fendants who have answered in this cause to said land, how deriv-ed, the nature and character of the same.

5th—To whom the title of said land should now vest, by forfeiture or otherwise, and when, if any one, is entitled to redeem said land.

6th—Such other matters and things as said commissioner may deem pertinent and any of the par-ties in interest may require.

And it is further ordered that the said commissioner before pro-ceeding to execute the decree shall cause to be published in some news-paper published in Pocahontas County, for four successive weeks notice announcing said account-

MEDICAL WISDOM.

THE DREADED CONSUMP-TION CAN BE CURED.

T. A. Slocum, M. C., the great Chemist and Scientist, Offers to Send Free, to Afflicted, Free Bottles of His Newly Discovered Remedies to Cure Consumption and All Lung Troubles.

Nothing could be fairer, more phil-anthropic or carry more joy in the wake than the offer of T. A. Slocum, M. C., of 183 Pearl street New York City.

Confident that he has discovered an absolute cure for consumption and all pulmonary complaints, and to make its great merits known, he will send, free, three bottles, to any reader of the Po-CAHONTAS TIMES, who is suffering from chest, bronchial, throat and lung trouble or consumption.

Already this "new scientific course of medicine" has permanently cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases.

The Doctor considers it his religious duty—a duty which he owes to human-ity—to donate his infallible cure.

Offered freely, apart from its in-herent strength, is enough to commend it, and more so is the perfect confidence of the great chemist making the propo-sition.

He has proved consumption to be a curable disease beyond any doubt.

There will be no question in mind—the mistake will be in overlooking the generous invitation. He has on file in his American and European laborato-ries testimonials of cures from those cured, in all parts of the world.

Delays are dangerous. Address T. A. Slocum, M. C., 183 Pearl street New York, and you will receive, by return mail, please give express and postoffice ad-dress, and mention reading this article in The Pocahontas Times.

Commissioner's Notice.

Commissioner's Office,
Marlinton, W. Va.,
April 22, 1897.

State of West Virginia
vs. } School Lands
100 acres and 15 acres.

The plaintiff and all of the above named defendants and all unknown owners and claimants of any part or parcel of the lands mentioned in the plaintiff's bill in the above entitled cause, will take notice that on the

21ST DAY OF MAY, 1897,

at my office in the town of Marlin-ton, Pocahontas County, West Virginia, I will commence the discharge of my duties under the decree of reference in the above entitled cause, a copy of which decree is published with this notice, at which time and place you and each of you can attend and protect and defend any interest you may have in the lands or any of them in question in this suit.

Given under my hand this the 26th day of April, 1897.

ANDREW PIGGS, Commissioner.
Brattion, Attorney.

[Copy of decree of April Term, 1897.]

State of West Virginia
vs.
One hundred acres
and
Fifteen acres.

In the matter of forfeited lands.

On motion of B. M. Yeager, Commis-sioner of School Lands for the State of the above cause of the State of West Virginia vs one hundred acres and fif-teen acres is referred to W. E. McNeil, one of the commissioners of this court, who shall take, state, and report to court the following matters of account, viz:

1st—Whether or not the two tracts set forth in the bill as waste and unap-propriated lands are really waste and unappropriated.

2d—If waste and unappropriated, the exact location of said tract s, and all other things required to be reported by Chapter 32, Sec. 7, Code of West Virginia, 1891, as amended by the acts of West virginia, 1895.

But before proceeding to take and state said report he shall publish in the Pocahontas Times, a newspaper pub-lished in the county, and post at the front door of the court house of said county for four consecutive weeks a notice of the time and place of taking said account.

[Copy of decree of April Term, 1897.]

State of west virginia
vs.
One hundred acres and fifteen acres.

This cause came on this day to be further heard on the papers formerly read, and was argued by counsel.

And it appearing to the court that the plaintiff has published in this cause the decree rendered in this cause on the day of April, 1895, but never been reported on, it is adjudged, ordered, and decreed that this cause be referred to Andrew Price, one of the commis-sioners of this Court, with instructions that he report to the next term of this Court of the first Monday in June, what facts required to be reported on by said decree of April, 1895, as fully as if said decree was herein set out in full.

C. B. SWECKER.

General Auctioneer and Real Estate Agent

Land Coal, Mineral and Timber Lands Viewed and Town Lots a specialty. Il-lustrated descriptions of properties a solicited. Reference furnished.

Headquarters—Dunmore, W. Va., or Al-exander, W. Va.

Old Dominion Building & Loan Association,

Richmond, - Virginia

J. T. WISE ELLYSON, President.
L. A. BARKER, Vice-President.
J. RAPER PARKER, Secretary.
A. Taylor Stiles, Treasurer, V. Gun-nels, John S. Parrish, John R. Kent, Frank L. Spence.

Authorized Capital $10,000,000
Subscribed Capital 1,500,000
Paid Up Cash Capital 1,000,000
Assets 1,200,000

Preparatory Series Book of Virginia Incorporated can be had of by any Secre-tary of Building and Loan Association in the State, or by addressing the Secre-tary of the Old Dominion Building and Loan Association, Richmond, Va. Shares are now selling at par, and will be worth a premium of $50 per share in a few years. Will loan money on improved real estate security. Will receive deposits and pay 4 per cent. interest per annum. Will buy and sell first class investment bonds. Will act as agent for property owners in collecting rents, and will attend to the payment of taxes, and will act as agent for non-residents in the purchase and sale of real estate. Will act as executor, administrator, guardian, trustee, assignee, receiver, and in all other fiduciary capacities. Will act as agent for corporations in the transfer of their stocks and bonds. Will act as agent for insurance companies. Will act as agent for manufacturers in the sale of their goods. Will act as agent for persons desiring to purchase property. Will act as agent for persons desiring to sell property. Will act as agent for persons desiring to buy property. Will act as agent for persons desiring to rent property. Will act as agent for persons desiring to lease property. Will act as agent for persons desiring to collect rents. Will act as agent for persons desiring to collect debts. Will act as agent for persons desiring to collect claims. Will act as agent for persons desiring to collect accounts. Will act as agent for persons desiring to collect notes. Will act as agent for persons desiring to collect bills. Will act as agent for persons desiring to collect drafts. Will act as agent for persons desiring to collect checks. Will act as agent for persons desiring to collect money orders. Will act as agent for persons desiring to collect postal notes. Will act as agent for persons desiring to collect express money orders. Will act as agent for persons desiring to collect telegraph money orders. Will act as agent for persons desiring to collect cable money orders. Will act as agent for persons desiring to collect wireless money orders. Will act as agent for persons desiring to collect radio money orders. Will act as agent for persons desiring to collect television money orders. Will act as agent for persons desiring to collect satellite money orders. Will act as agent for persons desiring to collect space money orders. Will act as agent for persons desiring to collect time money orders. Will act as agent for persons desiring to collect eternity money orders.

MARLINTON, W. VA.

Transferring seems to be the leading business in Pocahontas, this week. Several changes in real estate are on foot, but are kept from the public for the present. Mr. Ed Hull has sold his farm on Knapp's Creek to Mr. Jas. Gay, and will move to Marlinton this fall. Mr. Hull has also sold his property in Marlinton, and immediately has another home in view. Mr. Gay is a prosperous young man, and we hope he will make a success of his new purchase. Mr. Hull has been a resident of Pocahontas for many years, and has many friends who will regret to see him leave the county.

IT TICKLES YOU
THE INSTANT RELIEF YOU GET FROM
LIGHTNING HOT DROPS.
CURES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Pain, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.
HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Bites of Animals, Serpents, Bugs, etc.
BREAKS UP Bad Colds, La Grippe, Influenza, Croup, Sore Throat, etc.
SMELLS GOOD. TASTES GOOD.
SOLD EVERYWHERE AT 25c AND 50c PER BOTTLE. BY MAIL, 30 PER.
HERB MEDICINE CO. (Formerly of Keene, N. H.) SPRINGFIELD, O.

What is
CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria. Castoria.

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

Simms & Co.,
RONCEVERTE, W. VA.
Silver Steel Plow, Syracuse Chilled Plows, Imperial Chilled Plows.
PLOW REPARS OF ALL KNDS AT LOWEST PRICES EVER OFFERED HERE
RED WARRIOR POLL AXES 65c
GREENBRIER " " 60c
CHAMPION " " 50c
1 No. 2 Horse-shoes for 15c | 1 No. 3 Horse-shoes 15c
1 No. 1 " 25c | 1 No. 2 " 15c
COOK-STOVES OF ALL KINDS
1 doz. 8x10 Window Glass 35c | Horse Grindstone 1 1-4c lb
Paints, Oils, Varnishing, etc.
One goods are all first class, no shoddy or job lots, or damaged goods. Strike us for prices before you buy.
Simms & Co.,
Opposite Passenger Depot. Roncerverte, W. Va.

$5.00 LOOK MOTHERS! A RARE TREAT FOR YOU ALL. Boys Sampson Suit, with Extra Pair of Pants, for $2.76
SAMPSON SUITS with Extra Pants
2.76
FREE TO EVERYONE
H. ROSENBURGER & CO., 104 Nassau, New York City

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Edito

VOL. 14, NO. 41 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, MAY 7, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 175. White Enameled Steel Bed, brass trimmings. We be a the bed to, with 2 in. rails, 42 in. wide and 56 in. high. All sizes up to 78 in. long. Special Price only

$2.75

Express Prepaid.

Everywhere from Maine are saying wonderful things about us. They come in unsolicited every day. Our catalogue is crammed full of bargains. Mattress, Carpets, Oil Cloths, Rugs, Clothing, Refrigerators, Stoves, Fancy Goods, Bedding, Spring, etc. The catalogue costs you nothing and we pay all postage. Get double value for your money by dealing with the manufacturer.

JULIUS HINES & SON,
BALTIMORE, MD.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

B. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal work.

REED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. G. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WHITCOMB,
SURGEON DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in this paper.

J. H. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Office and house in S. A. Yeager's building. Calls left at the office or at his residence promptly answered.

SERMONETTE.

Owe no man anything but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law. For this Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not kill. Thou shalt not steal. Thou shalt not bear false witness. Thou shalt not covet, and if there be any other commandment it is briefly comprehended in this saying, namely: Love thy neighbor as thyself. Love worketh no ill to his neighbor; therefore love is the fulfilling of the law.—Romans xiii 8-10.

LET it be remembered at the outset when we have read the text that love was not a very strong point with Paul in his early life. The lips that so eloquently declared: "Tho I speak with the tongues of men and of angels and have not love (charity) I am become as sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal,"—these very same lips once breathed out threatenings and slaughter. The hand that wrote about love being greater than faith or hope once held the garments of those stoning Stephen, and they were stained with blood by so doing. More than likely, the first true glimpse Paul ever caught of what is the greatest of all good things was as he saw Stephen dying and heard his last words, "Lord Jesus, lay not this sin to their charge." In answer to this loving, dying prayer Paul was called to more than fill the place vacated by Stephen's sad death and removal. Hence it is not surprising that Paul imbued by the enlightening influences of the Holy Spirit should say so positively: "Love is the fulfilling of the law." Now, dear friends, let those who desire above all things else to be genuine Bible christians try to find out what Paul meant by this wonderful assertion "Love is the fulfilling of the law."

For much of his religious life Paul had been working his way to Heaven, as he supposed, by keeping the letter of the ten commandments, and the one hundred other commandments which the religious teachers of times had fixed up out of the ten given to Moses. But when Paul had learned to count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus his Lord or teacher, he learned a more excellent and much simpler way, and that was if he did one thing he would do the one hundred and ten commandments without even thinking about them.

What a wonderful discovery Paul made, and how strange it should have been hidden from our own eyes so long, that if persons love the love that is referred to in the lesson under consideration they will, unconsciously as it were, fulfil the whole law. And it does seem too that it ought not to be very difficult for us to see and understand how this can and must be the case.

Now let us review the ten commandments in the way Paul looked at them when he found out the "more excellent way." Here is the first: "Thou shalt have have no other Gods before me." It is very plain that if persons preferred God's way of living and doing to every other way, and had more desire to please Him and more attachment for Him than any other Being. Such persons would not require telling, their love for God would fulfil that first commandment.

"Take not his name in vain." Why, if persons loved and respected God they would never dream of taking his name in a disrespectful manner, and it would hurt their feelings to hear his dear name taken in vain by others.

"Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy." When persons have their hearts full of love for God they are only too glad to have one day in seven to dedicate more exclusively to the object of their affections, and to whose house of many mansions they hope to live always. It seems very evident that love (charity) would fulfil all those parts of the law regarding our duty to God. The other six parts or commandments of the ten refer to our duty to our fellow men.

When we come to find a person who longs to follow more in the steps of the lowly Jesus he or she will be found to be more and more filled with the love of God, and will think it worth while to admonish such a one to honor his father and mother, for he could not be persuaded to do anything else. It would be preposterous to tell such a person not to kill It would wound the feelings of such a pervery much were you even gently and politely to insinuate that he should not steal. How could he steal from one he loved. It would be superfluous to visit such a person and entreat him not to bear false witness against his neighbor, for if he loved his neighbor in a truly Christian sense, it would be the last thing he would feel like doing. And if a preacher has reason enough to come in out of the rain or cold, he would never dream of urging a person who loves his neighbor as himself, in the truly christian sense, not to covet what his neighbors might have in and about their homes. Such a christian would rather his neighbors should keep and enjoy what they have than have it himself by questionable means and tricks of trade.

Thus divine wisdom teaches that Love is the fulfilling of the law.

Love is the rule for keeping all rules,—the new commandment or method for keeping all the old commandment, and Christ's grand secret of the christian life. Let us ever be mindful of this, for when the Son of Man comes in his glory and all nations gathered before him, no other charge but lovelessness shall be made against the condemned. The all - tremendous words we all shall one day hear sound not of theology but life; not of churches and saints, but of the hungry and the poor; not of creeds and doctrines, but of shelter and clothing; not of Bible-versions and prayer-books, but of cups of cold water in the name of Christ.

Every one that loveth is born of God, and this love is the fulfilling of the law by which the coming kingdom is to be regulated.

Had I the tongues of Greeks and Jews,
And power speech than Apollo use,
If love be absent, I am found
Like tinkling brass an empty sound.

If love to God and love to men
Be absent, all my hopes are vain;
Nor tongues, nor gifts, nor fiery zeal
The work of love can near fulfil.

April 20, 1897. SENEX.

A Chance for a Fortune in Maple Sugar.

Newlin Williams tells in The Forester how a fortune was once made in maple sugar and may be made again. He writes:

"Some members of the New Jersey Forestry Association may have seen a man who, twenty years or more past, travelled on the Delaware Valley lines of the Pennsylvania Railroad, bent on selling maple sugar. His article was so much in demand that he made a comfortable fortune in selling it, which having been accomplished he immediately invested his accumulations in the oil bubble, then inflating, and lost it to a dollar. Where he got the crude sugar is not known, but by some process, either or improved from New England or originated with himself, he clarified it, moulded it, and sold it in pairs of oblong cakes done up with colored papers into attractive packages. Old folks and children alike professed that the knew no such delicious morsel. The sugar was dark-colored, hard, dry, brittle and free from gritt, of fine strong flavor and as clear as the red and yellow candies so popular to-day with the children at the holidays. The secret seems to have perished with the man, for no one has seen so choice a product before or since."

Mr Williams concludes that a fortune awaits the man who shall discover this lost process, and he commends the matter to the consideration of sugar-producers.

The New Woman.

Here lies a poor woman who always was busy,
Who labored from morning till night,
Who laughed at the follies and fads that arose
Disturbing the quiet of sight.
She believed in Mesmerism and Spas, and Homeopathy, Witchcraft and Dress,
And would none of the knights of the realm
She served for a soulless knave with everlasting and ease.
She quoted and she heralded and made the most
Of every fanatic and fancy, knew nothing of the past,
Applauded Delsarte, was "daughter"
and "mother"
And the noblest man in the land for the top who was born.
She fashioned gods unknown for ages
Out of the mists of the past,
She was up to date and a leader of thought
And the first in the van to the last.
She lived a very busy life, and she died Intensely.
The Philadelphia Record.

THE INIQUITOUS GAME LAW.

From the extreme upper end of Pocahontas comes a complaint of too much protection having been given the deer by the late legislature, and Mr L. M. McClintic, the Prosecuting Attorney of this county, seems to be held responsible for the trespass quare clausum fregit that the deer have been doing a certain man's grass. The letter received explains itself.

GLADY, W. Va., April 25, '97
Prosecutor of Pocahontas County:

Dear Sir,—I hereby give you notis that the deer are destroying all of my grass and eaten up my grass. You must take them off my possessions in ten days or I will sue you for damages. Let me no by return mail what you are going to do.

LORENZA OXLEY.

The precarious condition of Lorenza's grasses does call for some relief, indeed, for it is no fun growing grass for deer life. When deer turn to eating grass, why it is time to turn to that rock in the weary land, the State's Attorney, and see what the law holds for such as he who is overrun by deer.

They are such persistent and fearless animals that Lorenza's grass should be protected against their ravages. If the county officials do not send men with staves fifty or sixty miles to Glady and deliver Lorenza's grass from the ravenous animals, then what more can Lorenza do than to cast himself on the county, and isane having been joined the jury will say whether the "prosecuter," who has been held by gages and pledges, can show wherefore he should be allowed to let his deer by force and arms enter the enclosure of the said Lorenza Oxley and with their feet in walking and otherwise trend down, trample upon, consume and spoil the grass and herbage of the said Oxley, as well as divers other wrong things.

Then the prosecutor will come and defend the wrong, and plead not guilty; and for a special plea he will say that the said deer were like the cat that always came back, and that the said deer were wild by nature—whatever they might be by practice.

But the jury shall retire (after having only taken cat-naps during the trial of the cause) and they shall arise and say that if anyone troubles Oxley he shall pay dearly, and that Lorenza shall be entitled to recover a hill of beans, and that the prosecutor shall take the costs of his trouble out of the hides of the deer.

What Judge Crisp Said.

The passage of the Dingley bill will not settle the matter—will not bring content. In a speech in the House of Representatives on February 4, 1894, the Hon. Charles F. Crisp said: "For thirty years the reign of the protectionist has never been peaceful. It has never been quiet. And so long as men love liberty and equality and right they never will rest under a system which is oppressive and unjust."

The Great Objector.

William Steele Holman, member of the House of Representatives from Indiana, who died last Thursday, was a faithful public servant, a true patriot and an honest man. Fifty-four years of his honorable life were devoted to the public service. He was elected to Congress sixteen times. In all these years he drew his salary and no more. He died in harness and when the end of his political career came he was poorer than at the beginning. It was an honorable poverty and he stood higher in the esteem of his people than if he had accumulated millions. He was a true Democrat and never countenanced the taking away of one cent from the people in unnecessary or wrongful taxation. No needless or unjust appropriation was ever passed by the aid of his vote during all the thirty-two years during which he was in the House. No measure which he believed to be wrong failed to receive his protest. And that protest was so frequently needed that he became known as "The Great Objector." In his work for Democratic simplicity and to his opposition to extravagance he earned for himself the honorable title of "The Watch Dog of the Treasury."

The death of such a man is a loss to the people of the entire land, for there are not many to take his place.—Exchange.

A HUNDRED YEARS HENCE.

We consider ourselves in the year 1897 and write, thinking a few years, at least, divide us from the new coming century.

But, according to the chronology of the Christian era, we are already in the first years of the twentieth century. The closing of a century, especially such a one as the last, and the looming up before us of another hundred years bring many thoughts to the mind of man's work and device. A good minister, looking forward hopefully into the new century, said that he would rather live twenty, thirty or more years of it than go to Heaven now. And another said: "The man was to be envied who lived in the closing years of the next hundred term."

But I am thinking of my own dear father, long since in the spirworld, who was wont so pleasantly to say to us when things went wrong with little worries and cares and vexations: "O children, what will it matter a hundred years from now?" And truly, there is a help to patience, a gentle reproof to needless fretting over the unavoidable when we consider the swift flight of time. The vessel's wake is soon filled by the incoming wave. Certainly what concerns us to-day will not concern us much a hundred years from now.

A monarch gave his signet ring to a courtier with order to engrave on it a motto suitable for everything in life. The ring was returned, engraven "This too shall pass away!" The king was content, his order had been obeyed.

I have just read a fine address delivered before the Society of old Brooklynites by Rev. Dr. J. D. Wells, a venerable minister of the Presbyterian Church. In this address the speaker reviews briefly many of the wonderful changes, growths, improvements, inventions, discoveries, etc., of the last hundred years, and contrasts the early years with these, for instance, back in 1835 when as a young man Dr. Wells started out to college, he traveled on the first Railroad in the United States, from Albany to Schenectedy, New York. The cars were drawn one by one from the depot in Albany to a higher level and afterwards let down to a lower by stationary engines and long cables. Now in North and South America there are 226,937 miles of well appointed railroads.

The size of Greater New York may be imagined when we know that she has no less than 39 cemeteries; and at this ratio what disposal will be made of the dead in the many years of the future? when New York City is already bounded on three sides by the large and silent abodes of the departed. A crematist would soon settle the question; but how much rather would we commit our loved ones to the quiet rest in mother earth! A hundred years from now will the Church be truer, purer, more Christ-like, and united, will her workers be in every single country on the face of the earth? How will the nations be divided? I wonder if they will have ceased to learn war and attending each to its own business and allow others to attend to theirs, and if all rulers will be good and and honest men, a hundred years to come.

And will our descendants be careering thro the air then on flying machines, (how many Lilienthals must fall dashed to pieces first?) Surely man travels fast enough be solid ground with his steam and electricity, bicycles and what not, but he begrudges the little bits of their upper field and their mode of locomotion, so man needs must fly, if he can. In a hundred years will we be any nearer commercializing with our distant neighbor planet, Mars? At least we shall have reached the South's North Pole ere then.

Well, the years have rolled and another years will roll—a century goes, another comes and God, our God, is over all and to all, directing and controlling, ingressing and egressing, yesterday, to-day and forever.

A. L. S.

Will come to pass.

The Ins and Outs of It.

If you get best wear out of a coat, best work must have gone into it. You can't get good bread out of poor flour.

Moral: You can't get the best out of anything, unless the best is in it; and the best has to be put in before it can be taken out. Now, we have a rule to test those sarsaparillas with a big "best" on the bottle. "Tell us what's put in you and we'll decide for ourselves about the best." That's fair. But these modest sarsaparillas say: "Oh! we can't tell. It's a secret. Have faith in the label." . . . Stop! There's one exception; one sarsaparilla that has no secret to hide. It's Ayer's. If you want to know what goes into Ayer's Sarsaparilla, ask your doctor to write for the formula. Then you can satisfy yourself that you get the best of the sarsaparilla argument when you get Ayer's.

Any doctor will tell you that "Cherry Pectoral" is a safe and reliable medicine for coughs, colds, bronchitis, and all throat and lung troubles. It is a concentrated extract of cherry bark, and contains no opium or other harmful drug. It is not a "patent medicine," but a regular physician's prescription, which has been in use for many years, and is now offered to the public by the J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

It kills coughs but cures diseases.

Address: J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

AN INTERESTING CORRESPONDENCE.

In a recent issue of THE TIMES something was said of the Armenian king, Ab Kar, having had correspondence with our Lord and Savior, while he was on earth.

Some have said they would be glad to see such a letter, even if not certainly genuine. If so happens that the correspondence is in reach, and it is a pleasure to me to place it before the readers of this journal.

Abgarus is the Greek name of the Armenian king. This letter is as follows:

1. "Abgarus, King of Edessa, to Jesus, the good Savior, who appears at Jerusalem, greeting.

2. "I have been informed concerning you and your cures, which are performed without medicines and herbs.

3. "For it is reported that you cause the blind to see, the lame to walk, do both cleanse lepers, and cast out unclean spirits and devils, and restore them to health who have been long diseased, and raised up the dead.

4. "All which when I heard, I was persuaded of one of these two, viz: either that you are God himself descended from heaven, who do these things, or the Son of God.

5. "On this account, therefore, I have wrote to you, earnestly to desire you would take the trouble of a journey hither, and cure a disease which I am under.

6. "For I hear the Jews ridicule you, and intend you mischief.

7. "My city is indeed small, but neat, and large enough for us both."

Abgarus sent this by Ananias, his footman, and when the messenger returned, he brought this reply from the Lord:

1. "Abgarus, you are happy forasmuch as you have believed on me, whom you have not seen.

2. "For it has been written concerning me, that those who have seen me should not believe on me, that they who have not seen might believe and live.

3. "As to that part of your letter which relates to my giving you a visit, I must inform you that I must fulfill all the ends of my mission in this country, and after that be received up again to him who sent me.

4. "But after my ascension I will send one of my disciples, who will cure your disease, and give life to you and all that are with you."

The reader can now see why that he has seen the famous correspondence between Christ and the Armenian King.

Some eminent scholars thought it genuine and favored its being put into the New Testament. The Rev Jeremiah Jones observes that the common people in England have this letter in their houses, in many places, fixed in a frame with the picture of Christ before it, and that they generally, with much devotion and honesty, regard it as the word of God and the genuine Epistle of Christ. S. C. G.

NEWS NOTES.

A. H. BROWN, at the State University, a law student from Hancock County, broke his knee cap while practicing in the gymnasium.

VIRGIE GIBSON was found guilty of murder in the second degree, as accessory to the murder of her husband at Montgomery. She was sentenced for eighteen years.

THE Dallas News says that there are flowers, bees and cows enough in Texas to overflow a state like Massachusetts six feet deep with milk and honey.

THE Supreme Court has decided in the case of State vs. Grosty, from Ohio county, that the anti cigarette law, as passed by the legislature of 1895, is unconstitutional.

THE Editorial Association of this State will meet at Weston May 19. The Democratic Editors are billed to meet at Clarksburg on the 18th to form an association for political purposes.

THE governmental report of the submerged portions of the Mississippi of April 24 was to the effect that 20,000 square miles were under water, including 46,000 farms with an average of 4,004,446 acres.

ALEXANDER, Va., had a lynching in which a negro charged with rape was hung in the streets. An uprising of the negroes was feared, and over one thousand white men paroled the streets one whole night.

THE new County of Augusta is seeking admittance by trying to have the area of 400 miles, which a new county must have to be formed in this State, reduced, and friends to the measure have so petitioned the Constitutional Convention.

WHILE a marriage ceremony was being performed near Danville, Va., a kerosene lamp flamed up and was about to explode, when the bride seized it and hurled it thro a window. The groom then came from under the table where he had hidden, and the ceremony proceeded.

THE supposed grave of Eve is visited by over forty thousand pilgrims in each year. It is to be seen at Jeddah, in a cemetery outside the city walls. The tomb is fifty cubits long and twelve wide. The Arabs entertain the belief that Eve was the tallest woman that ever lived.

ON TUESDAY morning, April 27th, about nine o'clock, flames appeared on pier No 5, of the C. & O. Railroad Company, at Newport News. The indications point to incendiary origin of this fire, amounting to a loss estimated at two million dollars. Two of the large piers, Nos. 5 and 6, with their contents, are in ruins, as well as three vessels and a tug boat anchored beside them when the fire commenced. This will embarrass, to some extent, the grain exports, but no doubt the company will meet the emergency, and matters will be placed on a more substantial basis.

ON Friday, April 23, Col. John Mosby, while dining near the University of Virginia, was thrown from a carriage, and received injuries of a serious character, resulting in the fracture of his scull, the loss of an eye, and may in the end prove fatal, while his friends have hopes of his recovery. The run more risks during the war than almost any other person, on either side of the conflict, and it does seem singular that a prominent duke in the town of Jeddah should have burned more incense than a partisan ranger. He seems to have lived down most of the political estrangement that he incurred by the courage of his convictions, for many of his former and parties there have come to him expressions of esteem privately and lowered visitors for his entertainment and patronage.

Rumor Hoyt a few days ago at the U. B. Conference advised the ministers of his church not to say or sing after others, and others not to be interested. He said he had seen a disposition in some quarters to be like Sam Jones. He then said that the Lord had never made but one Sam Jones and he hoped that He would never make another. Without being at all irreverent we would suggest that it would seem possible that there might have been a second Sam Jones, and perhaps by the Lord. A man has a great deal to do with the knowledge of his own shortcomings and sometimes he is "taken down a hand."

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, May 7, 1897.

Subscription ONE DOLLAR in advance. If not paid within the year $1.50 will be charged.

Entered at the post office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

EX-GOVERNOR ALTGELD is in financial difficulties, owing to the failure of the Globe Savings Bank of Chicago.

SEVEN negroes were lynched by negroes in Texas, in Waller County, for the murder of a negro family.

A FASHIONABLE club in Boston discovered a fine gushing spring in the basement of their club house. In a short time they had become very proud of its waters, and having discovered rare medicinal properties had set up a bottling establishment. It has just been discovered that it came from a leak in the pipes of the city and that is was the same water that the whole city used.

On the 27th of April, as arranged, the Grant mausoleum was dedicated under the most imposing auspices ever witnessed in any land in modern times. The military and naval display was grand beyond description. Bishop Newman offered prayer, General Porter pronounced the eulogy, and President McKinley's remarks were quite felicitous. Mrs Grant and her twenty-seven children and grand-children were present. It is to be hoped that the words inscribed so conspicuously over the main entrance to the monumental chamber, and that can be read a mile off, "Let us have peace," will be heeded, and if so this will be among the last of great memorials of national importance having reference to the great war of civil wars. This monument, ought to mean more to our citizenship, than the tomb of a hero or the story in stone of peace won and maintained by the sword, but should be suggestive of a new and higher national existence and destiny, such as General Grant himself was not conscious of at Appomattox.

"How sleep the brave who sink to rest
By all their country's wishes blest?
By fairy hands their knell is rung,
By forms unseen their dirge is sung,
And Freedom shall awhile repair
And dwell a weeping hermit there."

ONE of the most singular and destructive freaks yet be gunning in the western floods occurred in the Cottonwood Valley, Oklahoma, on the 26th of April. From noon the 26th to midnight there was an increase of the rain in and around Guthrie, City. The Cottonwood River was very high, and much damage was feared. Watchers at the bridges, however, were surprised to find the river had been falling during the night, and by daylight it was seen to have fallen ten feet, and of course there was a feeling of great relief, believing the worst to be over. Just as the watchmen were about to go off duty, at 6 o'clock, a terrific roaring was heard from up the river, and they were soon cognizant that a dreadful flood was on the rush. The fire alarm was given, policemen and others rode all over town and to the river, warning people to flee for their lives. Some thinking it was a curious sought their dugouts to be drowned a few minutes later; others lingered to save things until it was too late. Very few would believe there was any great danger, as the river had been falling so rapidly. In the meantime with an awful roar the flood came down the valley a mile wide and twenty feet deep, and by nine o'clock the water was thirty feet above the normal level of the river and the once placid stream was a raging torrent across the entire valley. A hundred lives have been lost in and around Guthrie, hundreds of dwellings have been toppled over, and two thousand persons are thought to be homeless.

In the Post Lavatorio.

From London Truth.

A "retired gentleman" has composed a patriotic song on the subject of the Queen's diamond jubilee, copies of which he appears to have forwarded to some of the Londoner papers. The lyric reflects upon as follows:

"The Empress, the constable, first Fight, and the last.
The soldier and the Lords with the Great English host.
Are startled to their knees
By the savage salute
Of those big Queens' Guards on the Queue! Long may Victoria reign!

THE PITCHER OF TEARS.

[By Laura E. Richards, in Youth's Companion, suggested by the picture of Paul Thurman.]

The woman had closed her eyes;
A weary with weeping;
She leaned on the empty cradle,
And sobbed in her sleeping.
Her breast like the wave of the sea
Was rising and falling;
Her heart through the mist of sleep
On her baby was calling.

Then her soul was lift up and away
To the Garden of Heaven,
Where flowers shine like stars in the
So smooth and even. [grass,
And she saw where wild roses and
An angel did wander (May
With bright children who looked in
To dream and to wonder. [his face

Above and apart from the rest,
A little child herded,
And in his small arms soft and round
A pitcher he carried.
His wee eyes looked wistfully to-
The moon in the meadow, [ward
Heaven's glory was bright, but his Dark the touch of earth's shadow [face

The woman knelt down where she stood,
"My own and my dearie,
Now why do you wander alone,
With little feet weary?
If you can come back, come back
To the arms of your mother,
To your sweet place an angel should
And never smother." [be,

"Oh, mother, the pitcher of tears,
Your tears I must carry;
So heavy its weight that behind
I linger and tarry.
Oh, mother, if you would smile
And cease from your weeping,
My place by the angel's side
I'd gladly be keeping."

The woman awaked by the cradle
And smiled in the waking,
"My babe, the pitcher of tears
To keep hence I am taking.
Go, frolic and sing with your mates!
My smiles shall be given
To make a new light round your head
In the Garden of Heaven."

Little Levels.

We are having a regular Kansas blizzard here just now, and great fears are entertained for the fruit and wheat.

Frank Yeowell and brother are in this section for the purpose of buying some cattle.

Miss Mattie Curry returned home Monday from an extended visit to Virginia.

Dr D. S. Spidenstricker left for Alderson, Tuesday, to attend the meeting of the Greenbrier Presbytery, which convenes Wednesday.

Contractor McKeever, of North Carolina, is here again trying to persuade some one to carry Uncle Sam's mail bags on the Academy and Renicks Valley route.

Howard Beckwith and Miss Anna Mary Pendleton, of Huntersville, spent Sunday with friends in our neighborhood.

Mr Parker, of Virginia, was here last week looking at the Pocahontas marble. He thinks the quantity, as well as quality, can not be surpassed. He hopes to be able to help our people who own it, to get it on the market.

We understand that Mr Frank Renick's daughter, Alice, who is married and lives in Kansas, reached here last Saturday, with her two children, and will spend a part of the summer with relatives in this section. BUSHLEREF.

Knapps Creek.

The farmers have not planted any corn yet.

H. T. Gum, who has been drumming for the past few months, returned home last week.

J. A. Moore went to the Hot Springs on bus ness last week.

Rev Parrott preach an interesting sermon at Mt Vernon Sunday. He will preach at Bethel on the 3d Sunday at 3 p. m.

Sunday school was organized at Mt. Vernon last Sunday. Price Moore superintendent.

The first quarterly meeting of the M. E. Church will be held at Frost next Saturday and Sunday.

A. V. Hood is expected to be at Frost most any time.

C. W. Rider and Benjamin Stamp were at the depot last week.

W. H. Herold was out buying land last week.

The Republicans say that the McKinley prices are coming. You may get 25 cents for your wool, and pay $25 for a suit of clothes.

BRYAN.

THE ADVANCE AGENT OF HEALTH

Labelia.

William Dean's house and nearly its entire contents was burned Wednesday in a few minutes. Mr Dean had the best house in this part of the county. Loss about $2,000—no insurance. W. B. Hill got there in time to save about $100 worth of outbuildings. The family was away at the time, except the mother, one girl, and a small boy. The fire started on the roof near the flue. It was a double "safety" flue, but let me say to the public that they are dangerous. Harvey Morrison's house caught fire the day before, and it was saved only by the best of management. Fire was carried by the wind 250 yards to the mountain side and fired the woods at different places. The people had to fight this about two days.

Planting and making garden is the order of the day.

Some tramps have been seen in this county.

The Sheriff was on the Creek serving a summons last week.

We agree with our Dunmore man about the roads and bridges between Dunmore and Huntersville being in a dangerous condition.

We overseers ought to be cowhided for not doing our duty on this line. We trust and pray that the honorable County Court will appoint two overseers on the road from Academy to Bruffeys Creek near Lobelia, and men who have seen a log sled, at least, if they never owned one. We ought to be fined for not putting up guide-posts at forks of every road.

W. B. Hill is very sick at this writing. OBSERVER.

A PAPER ship looks about as solid at a distance as one made of Bessemer steel, so a paper bargain looks all right. My line of clothing will bear the closest scrutiny. A dollar goes a long ways in this world, but in my clothing department it goes still farther. I am offering a line of boys suits, good, servicable, union cassmere, at two dollars and fifty cents. They are worth three, but I have a new line coming on, and I want to close out those on hand.

THE GOLDEN STORE.

DOGS NOT PROPERTY.—The highest court of the land, the United States Supreme Court, has passed on the much mooted question of whether a dog is property. The case was from Louisiana and was that of the killing of a dog valued at $200. The State has a law making dogs property only when assessed. This dog was not assessed. The constitutionality of the law was upheld, and no damages can be recovered. Justice Brown delivered the opinion, and he spoke of the peculiar situation of the dog as follows:

"The very fact that they are without protection of the criminal laws shows that property in dogs is of an imperfect or qualified nature, and that they stand, as it were, between animals ferae naturae, in which, until subdued, there is no property, and domestic animals in which the right of property is complete. They are not considered as being upon the same plane with horses, cattle, sheep, and other domesticated animals, but rather in the category of cats, monkeys, parrots, singing birds, and similar birds and animals kept for pleasure, curiosity, or caprice. Unlike other domestic animals, they are useful neither as beasts of burden, for draught, nor for food.

SIR WALTER SCOTT ON THE PROFESSION OF LAW.—"If is the pest of our profession that we seldom see the best side of human nature. People come to us with every selfish feeling newly pointed and grinded; they turn down the very cushions of their antagonists and perjudices, as cuslion do with boots of shoes in a white frost. Many a man has come to my garret yonder tost I have first longed to pitch out at the window, and yet, at length, have discovered that he was only doing as I might have done in his case, being very angry, and, of course, very unreasonable. I have now satisfied myself that if our profession sees more of human folly and human roguery than others, it is because we witness them acting in that channel in which they run most freely and themselves. In civilized society, law is the chimney through which all the smoky discharges itself that cannot escape by the doors of the house and get everyone's eyes out. No wonder then that the wind itself sometimes gets a little sooty."

THERE is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address as above.

F. J. CHENEY & CO.

Sold by druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONTAS COUNTY, }

At rules held in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court for said county on Monday, the 3d day of May, 1897.

George W. Nottingham, Susan Stephenson, in her own right, and for the benefit of Martha E. Killingsworth, and John M. Nottingham ..... Plaintiffs

vs.

John Gregg, John W. Slaton, Sr., John W. Gregg, Jr., the unknown heirs of J. W. Davis, the unknown heirs of James Slaton, E. A. Smith and J. A. Whiting, partners trading under the firm name of Smith & Whiting, Joseph W. Riley, trustee; and Ida M. Gregg ..... Defendants.

The object of this suit is to have partition of the land of which John W. Davis, died seized and possessed, and to assign to the plaintiffs their interest in said lands, inherited by them from their mother, Rachel Nottingham. This day came the plaintiffs by their attorney, and on their motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed that the unknown heirs of J. W. Davis, the unknown heirs of Jack Nottingham, the unknown heirs of James Slaton are non-residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order to do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
W. A. Bratton, p. q.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

State of West Virginia, } ss.
Pocahontas County, }

At rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on Monday, the 3d day of May, 1897.

S. B. Kerr and Lee Irvine
vs.
Phillip B. Rader, James Mc. Kerr, Perry A. Tracy, John Tracy, O. P. Chew, and Samuel D. Bright

The object of this suit is to set aside a deed from O. P. Chew to Samuel D. Bright, made on the 9th day of April, 1897, for a tract of 135 acres of land situated in Pocahontas County, west Virginia, and recorded in the Clerk's office of the County Court of Pocahontas County in Deed Book No. 27 at page 305, as fraudulent, and made with intent to delay, hinder, and defraud the creditors of Phillip B. Rader, to whom said O. P. Chew had previously sold said tract of 135 acres of land, and subject the same to the payment of the judgment liens of the plaintiffs in this suit. This day came the plaintiffs by their attorneys and on their motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed, that the said defendant, O. P. Chew, is a non-resident of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that he do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order, and do what is necessary to protect his interest in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
L. M. McClintic, p. q.

THE GIANT SERIES.

Every new subscriber, as well as any one paying all arrearages and one year in advance, is entitled as a premium to any one of the following books by standard authors, delivered by mail free of charge.

These books are quarto size, printed on good paper, with handsome covers, and are

COMPLETE AND UNABRIDGED.

An examination of this list will show that they are the cream of English Literature.

Sold for 25 cents per copy.

Westward Ho, by Charles Kingsley; The Count of Monte Christo, Alexander Dumas; The Wandering Jew, Eugene Sue; The Mysteries of Paris Eugene Sue; Don Quixote de Cervantes; The Arabian Nights' Entertainment; Les Miserables, Victor Hugo; Vanity Fair, William M. Thackeray; On the Heights, Berthold Auerbach; Pickwick Papers, Charles Dickens; Robinson Crusoe, Daniel Defoe; The Children of the Abbey, Regina Maria Roche; Lorna Doone, R. D. Blackmore; The Life of Christ, F. W. Farrar; The Fresian Mrs Alexander; The Swiss Family Robinson; Charles O'Malley, the Irish Dragoon, Charles Lever; Handy Andy, Samuel Lover; East Lynne, Mrs Henry Wood; John Halifax, Gentleman, Miss Mulock; Under Two Flags, Ouida; A Woman Hater, Charles Reade; Hard Cash, Charles Reade; Christie Johnstone, Charles Reade; Put Yourself in His Place, Charles Reade; Uncle Tom's Cabin, Harriet Beecher Stowe; Sunshine and Shadow, Miss M. E. Braddon; Jane Eyre, Charlotte Bronte; Good Bye, sweetheart, Rhoda Broughton; Daniel Deronda, George Eliot; The Initials, Baroness Tautphoeus; Jessie Cary, F. F. Montresor; Dora Thorne, Mrs Henry Wood; John Halifax, Gentleman; Miss Mulock; Under Two Flags, Ouida; A Woman Hater, Charles Reade; Hard Cash, Charles Reade; Put Yourself in His Place, Charles Reade; Uncle Tom's Cabin, Harriet Beecher Stowe; Sunshine and Shadow, Miss M. E. Braddon; Jane Eyre, Charlotte Bronte; Good Bye, sweetheart, Rhoda Broughton; Daniel Deronda, George Eliot; The Initials, Baroness Tautphoeus; Jessie Cary, F. F. Montresor; Dora Thorne, Mrs Henry Wood; J. F. Smith; The Poor Girl, Fleeta Rayner; Roger Lee, Pierce Egan; The Last Days of Pompeii, Sir E. Bulwer Lytton; Henry Dunbar, M. E. Braddon; Ten Thousand a Year, Samuel Warren; The Haunted and the Haunters, Bulwer Lytton; Samuel Warren, The Executor, Mrs Alexander; Lost Like Other Girls, Rosa Nouchette Carey; Cards, G. Manville Fenn; Ex-Lil, Kate Thompson; Tom Brown's School Days, Thomas Hughes; The Three Musketeers, Alexander Dumas; David Copperfield, Charles Dickens; Dombey, By Author of "Dombey and Son"; By Address Unknown; The Four Macnicols, Tenny Kemp; Alec, The Fortune of Being Rich, Sue Yong; Lorne, Lorne of the Locks, The Man in the Iron Mask.

Commissioner's Notice.

COMMISSIONER'S OFFICE,
Marlinton, W. Va.,
April 13, 1897.

B. M. Yeager
vs.
J. H. Bozzard, Constable and others

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, W. Va., rendered at the April term, 1897, of said Court in the above entitled cause, I will proceed at my office in the town of Marlinton, W. Va., on the 17 day of May, 1897, to take, state, and report to the June Term of said Court the following matters of account, to wit:

1.—An account showing what amounts were due from J. C. Arbogast, S. P. C., to the several school districts in this county on the 1st day of July, 1893.

2.—An account showing what amount was due from said J. C. Arbogast, as sheriff of this county, to said districts when the tax tickets referred to in the bill were turned over to Levi Gay.

3.—What amount said Levi Gay had paid on said indebtedness.

4.—What amount of outstanding school orders drawn by said districts there now are, and to whom due.

5.—Whether or not B. M. Yeager became chargeable with any of the balances due from said J. C. Arbogast, S. P. C., to said districts at the date when the new bond of 1893 became operative.

6.—Whether or not J. C. Arbogast was insolvent when said bond of $10,000 given under section 46 of chapter 45 of the code, on which B. M. Yeager and Adam Arbogast were his sureties, became operative.

7.—Whether or not there was any deficit made by J. C. Arbogast to charge himself under the new bond with the balances found due from him under the old bond, and whether said election was ratified by the said several districts.

8.—What amount of money collected by Levi Gay on the tickets turned over to him by J. C. Arbogast is in his hands, collected from tax tickets of 1893, 1894, 1895.

9.—Any other matter specially stated, deemed pertinent by himself or required by any party in interest to be stated.

At which time and place you may attend. W. A. BRATTON,
Commissioner.

Commissioner's Notice.

Office of S. B. Scott, Jr., Comm'r.,
Marlinton, W. Va., April 16, 1897.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas county, W. Va., made on the 6th day of April, 1897, in a chancery cause therein pending entitled:

Clifton Forge Grocery Co.
vs.
C. C. Arbogast, et als.,

I will proceed at my office in the town of Marlinton, W. Va., on the

10TH DAY OF MAY, 1897,

to take, state, and report to court the following matters of account, as ordered in said decree, viz:

1st—The liens against the lands of C. C. Arbogast, with their dates, degrees and priorities and to whom due.

2d—The real estate of said C. C. Arbogast subject to said liens, and

3d—Any other matter to be specially stated, deemed pertinent by myself or required by any party in interest to be so stated. S. B. SCOTT, Jr.,
Commissioner.

NOTICE TO LIEN HOLDERS.

To all persons holding liens by judgment or otherwise on the real estate or any part thereof of C. C. Arbogast:

In pursuance of a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas county, made in a cause therein pending, to subject the real estate of the said C. C. Arbogast to the satisfaction of the liens thereon, you are hereby required to present all claims held by you and each of you against the said C. C. Arbogast, which are liens against his real estate or any part of it, for adjudication to me at my office in the town of Marlinton, Pocahontas County, W. Va., on or before the 10th day of May, 1897.

Given under my hand this the 16th day of April, 1897.

S. B. SCOTT, Jr., Commissioner.

Reward! Reward! Reward!

You are REWARDED by trading with us. Where we saved you a dollar in previous years we can save you two this year. We do not beg for trade—we get it through our low prices.

NEW CUSTOMERS flock to us as soon as they hear of our bargains. If you are one of them why not be from us, why should we not pay you?

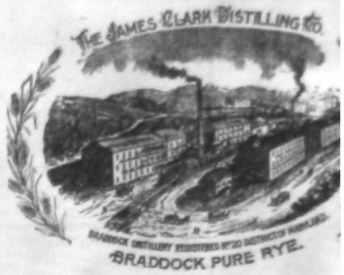
We make our money not by BEING CLOSE, but by BEING CLOSE. Wherever you buy from us you will find our prices right.

We Don't Want the Earth!

Only just open a few feet to live on.

How MUCH?

WILL YOU SAVE IN A YEAR BY BUYING FROM 15 TO 33 PER CENT CHEAPER than ELSEWHERE?



WE have our Store Chock full of Bargains. Come one and all and we will do the best we can to please you.

Yours for Business,
L. D. SHARP
Lynwood W Va

The Greatest Medicinal Wh
the World has Ever Know

BRADDOCK PURE RYE +
AND BARLEY M

SMOOTH, SOFT, RICH, RIPE, MELLOW
CHEMICALLY PURE, A RECOMMENDA
IN ITSELF.

TRY A GALLON AT $2

Mail Orders solicited either great or small and receive our p prompt attention. Drop us a postal for price list. Don't o for goods but mail us your orders; we can save you mone perhaps your health.

JAS CLARK DISTILLING CO., JNO. McQ
Mngr.

Distillers of Braddock Pure Rye. Wholes
Retail Liquor Dealers.
20 and 22 South New St., Staunton. V

FURNITUR FACTORY
AND
Furniture Store.

Fine Furnitnre M
to Order.

STOCK ALWA
ON HAND.

I am occupying the Temporary Court-house and am prepare to order all kinds of Furniture at lower prices than can be elsewhere. Don't be cheated in Furniture but buy from cabinet maker who works up the native woods.

I can order you furniture from the city at better terms tha to save your life. Whenever you need anything in my line save money by giving me a call.

W. J. Killingswort

Commissioner's Notice

Office of S. B. Scott, Jr., Comm'r.,
Marlinton, W. Va. April 16, 1897.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, W. Va., made on the 8th day of April, 1897, in a cause therein pending entitled

William H. Hall
vs.
C. B. Collins, et als.,

I will proceed at my office in the town of Marlinton, W. Va., on the

13th DAY OF MAY, 1897,

to take, state and report the following matters of account as ordered in said decree, viz:

1st—An account showing the liens, by judgment or otherwise, on the lands in the bill and proceedings mentioned, with their dates, degrees, and priorities.

2d—A statement giving the local description of the lands on which said liens rest and which should be subjected to their payment.

3d—Any other matters to be specially stated, deemed pertinent by myself or required by any party in interest to be stated.

S. B. SCOTT, Jr., Commissioner.

NOTICE TO LIEN HOLDERS.

To all persons holding liens, by judgment or otherwise, on the real estate or any part thereof of C. B. Collins.

In pursuance of a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, made in a cause therein pending, to subject the real estate of the said C. B. Collins to the satisfaction of the liens thereon, you are hereby required to present all claims held by you and each of you against the said C. B. Collins, which are liens on said real estate or any part of it, for adjudication to me at my office in the town of Marlinton, Pocahontas County, W. Va., on or before the 13th day of May, 1897.

Given under my hand this the 16th day of April, 1897.

S. B. SCOTT, Jr., Commissioner.

Harvesting Ma

I will furnish the JOHNS VERSING MACHINERY, d
this year from $40.00 to $45
ing to the length of cut.

Yours respectfully,

C. J. HIL
Ag
LOBELIA, W. VA.

HOW TO FIND OU

Fill a bottle or common your water and let it stand hour hence a sediment or indicates an unhealthy co
the kidneys. If it stains y it is evidence of kidney t
Frequent desire to pass w
the back is also conclusi that the kidneys need wa
out of order.

What to E

There is constant in the edge as often suggested, Kidney-Wort. Kidney kidney remedy fulfills ev ordering pain in the back from bladder and urinary many passages. It re ability to retain or pass in passing it, or bad effec ing the use to excess, tra and over-indulgence. It strength to the whole sys of the whole human mach Kidney-Wort is a vegetable and can do no harm. Ma
Kidney-Wort and be well.
Dry or Liquid, sold by dru
Prepaid, Burlington, Vt.

Pocahontas Times.

MAY 1, 1897.

Local Events.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Blake King and Eddie Holt attended the games at Mingo last week.

H. S. Rucker and family who have been in Lewisburg for a week or so, have returned.

Rev Maxwell, lately pastor of the Green Bank Circuit, is now living near Staunton.

Rev R. L. Parrott, the new pastor of the Huntersville Circuit, is in Marlinton.

Miss Nellie McLaughlin, of Valley Centre, Highland County, has secured a position in the Hot Springs Hotel.

Rev W. T. Price, Dr Sydenstricker, and Rev R. M. Caldwell are attending Presbytery, which meets at Alderson this week.

We learn from the Highland Recorder that Mr. J. K. Campbell, of Covington, was paralyzed last week, and at last accounts was in a precarious condition.

All the saloons in Charleston were closed on Saturday, May 1, owing to the little hitch in the granting of licenses between the County Court and Council.

Your's Weekly, at Staunton was sold to the Old Dominion Publishing Co. for $1025. A Republican paper will be started at some point yet to be determined upon.

A fence built entirely of locust may be considered a curiosity. Such a one may be seen enclosing the Marshall Hotel at Mingo, and is one of the latest improvements to that excellent hostelry.

Major Ginster, President of the American Tobacco Company, resigned that office on account of failing health and the 75 years of his age. He is probably the richest man of the South. His entire fortune was made from cigarettes.

It is more than probable that the European trouble may bring on a spurt of business prosperity in our country. It is ardently hoped that the galling fetters of mortgages and bonds may then be loosed and ours then be the land of the free as well as the home of the brave.

Slang was used with more or less effect the other evening when two friends were walking down one of the principal streets in Marlinton, accompanied by a ben-legged fice known very generally as Tip. On this particular occasion Tip had the chance of his life to catch a rabbit. It jumped up right under his nose and tip ran after it. The rabbit was a hundred yards ahead in half a minute, and one of Tip's friends remarked that he did not "seem to be in it." The other replied: "No; but still he does not seem to be quite up against it."

May-day Sports at Mingo.

Races at Mingo last Saturday attracted wool l-be champions from the interior—even from Marlinton—and thither they journeyed on horses, bicycles, or any old thing. But of the return I will not write, when the heavens gave down copious showers of muchneeded rain,—all that being another story. In fact the bicycle race in the same fix with the ship of the song, for "she never returned—no she never returned. and her fate is still unlearned," etc.

The first thing on the program was was the half - mile, run by Green and Price, won by the former in 2.40.

100 yards dash.—L. Marshall, first; L. Yoke, second.

High jump—R. Yoke, first; L. Yoke, second. 4 feet 8 inches.

Quarter-mile—Price first, Green second.

The hurdle - race excited the greatest interest, there being a large number of competitors. K. Marshall won in the final, against L. Yoke.

220 yards—Miles, first; Ramsey, second.

In the "hound-trail" a hitch occurred, the hounds refusing to chase themselves, and no amount of urging and setting right would avail.

In the mile the long - winded Graves was an easy winner, with Painter second, and Price third (and last.)

Beitzer be unborn than sit tonight, for ignorance is the root of misfortune. Be wise and examine our stock of goods. We will teach you that our goods and prices will please. Men's cottrite 20 to 50c; 2-gallon tin-buckets @ 15c; men's socks at $2.75 to $3.00.

L. D. Sharp.

Nothing But Witches to Bother Him.

A correspondent at Garlow, Rockbridge County, says: "Josiah Miller, an old lack woodsman, living near this place, came to the city last week bringing with a check from Uncle Sam for $107, for his son, who was killed in the late war.

The old man had the check cashed and put the money in a shot bag, bought a pound of Arbuckle coffee and a small sack of flour, then finished himself with a 10 cent cigar. Mr Wagoner said he was also highly regaled with the generous entertainment and a strong account of the gold standard.

The only things about his happiness now are the watches, in which he is a strong believer.—Rockbridge Register.

Going to Mill.

While riding in the Stony Creek milling district last week, the writer saw evidences of mishaps to grists, which were being taken to mill, upon which a man would not look with any great dread, but which are the bane of the boy of the family who has the milling to do. The first case of misplaced confidence showed the ground covered with corn, indicating that the father at home had either put new grain in old sacks or had tied it insecurely. Very few in this county but what have had this experience as children. Generally the string begins to go gradually and the little fellow, perched on top of the bag, tries to stop it with his hands but the breach gradually widens until irresistible streams of corn pours down the old mare's side and the sack drops off on the other side. Then ensues a season of picking up which is a backbreaking work and generally a mile walk or ride to reach some neighbor's house to get help to put the grist back on the horse again. The little travel-er may be miles from home and it is probably after dark before he arrives to quiet the fears of an anxious mother and to try to convince the sterner parent that he was not trotting the old mare when the bag sprung a leak.

The next day on my return in the pouring rain, by the side of the road lay a large bag of grain carefully covered with a child's cloak, and nobody in sight. This grist had fallen off a boy's horse at a point where he could not get any one to replace it on the saddle and all he could do was to ride until some stronger hands could be got to come and lift it up. We have all been there before many a time, and know that to a boy of eight or ten it is no slight matter for anything to happen to a grist.

The medicinal properties of Hall's Hair Renewer to invigorate the Scalp, remove dandruff, restore the hair and its color, surpass anything of its kind.

The Fish-Hawk, or Osprey.

The sight of a fish-hawk giving the river a hasty survey is right common at this time of year. Maintaining an equable elevation above the stream of about one hundred feet, he poises every fifty yards or so upheld by his flapping wings, and dropping his legs to full length—either to balance himself or have them ready for striking. While stationary, the bird makes a fine mark for a rifle, and several have been killed by expert marksmen here. While they may be often seen on their fishing excursions, it is rarely that the fish-hawk is seen to reap the reward of his labors by catching a fish. On one occasion, the writer was fortunate enough to see the bird drop like a rock in the river and rise struggling with a good-sized sucker in his talons. With some trouble the gallant fisher gained its customary altitude and flew off to a suitable place to make use of the fish.

On looking up the bird in a book, it is found that the species we are familiar with is at home all over the world, and the same bird that we see may turn up serenely at the antipodes, for it has the power of sailing around the world on those extraordinary wings. The authority says that no bird is more widely dispersed. The under surface of the toes are rough, especially suited to grasp its slippery prey. It feeds entirely on fish. It is everywhere a bird of passage, but often returns to breed at the same place. Its nest is a huge structure of rotten sticks, and as it never preys on smaller birds, it is not dreaded by them, and they often make their nests in the inordinate of the fish-hawk's nest. It is of a timorous disposition, and readily abandons its prey to the eagle. In days of falconry the fish-hawk was sometimes trained and used for catching fish.

It is against the law to go sailed, so you had better buy your clothes where you can get them best and cheapest, to-wit: at J. D. Pullins & Co.

An Editor Gone Wrong.

According to the Staunton News of Tuesday, V. A. McCreery, editor of the Waynesboro Sentinel, has disappeared in company, with a pretty Staunton girl.

Mr McCreery landed in Staunton some time ago as a tramp printer. He claimed to be a Pittsburgh man, of respectable parentage and to have studied medicine. He did odd jobs of printing until a few months ago, when he leased the Waynesboro Sentinel, which he run up to the time of the incident which has brought him into notoriety.

Mr McCreery left Staunton at eleven o'clock Saturday night and drove to Waynesboro, and took the 2 o'clock train, presumably for Richmond. The daughter of a worthy citizen of Staunton accompanied him. McCreery has a pass over the C. & O., and it is presumed that he secured one for his wife to be.

A letter from a substantial citizen of Lexington, Nelson county, was shown to the News man in which it was stated that McCreery had to leave the county on account of some trouble, and that he left a wife and child behind him.

For the Pocahontas Times.

THE DEVIL'S WARNING.

(Illustrated.)

Just look at the "Times Bonds" and learn that came to day— The Editor's aboard to open them, he knows what they all say— The big black wolf is a paying, and a clawing at the door And the sheriff near he won't leave off the levy any more And the a orekeeper tol the mistress that he only took for cash. And she's "going home to ma" for there comes a tarnal smash:

But if them blame subscribers would just ante up to day We'd run this printing office in an oth'r sort o' way. And I jest know one thing—if we do bust up, That the gobblouns will get um if They do at pay up!

An Artful Dodger.

It is, of course, impossible to say whether the other newspapers of this State have minded the systematic patronage of the management of the University of West Virginia as a free advertiser, but the overworked editor and typesetters of this paper have come to dread the arrival of the oft-repeated, long drawn out, type-written, much-manifolded effusions of weary length which are meant to keep that institution before the public eye.

While a newspaper could hardly bestow a favor on a more worthy object than this excellent University, it would be hard indeed to name an institution of any description more able to pay for the advertisement which it requires at the hands of the country newspaper. It believes in advertising for it has a salaried field-agent whose business it is to place before the people of the State the benefits of the University, and it pays each year enormous sums for printing and publishing. The latest received circular letter puts these words in the editor's mouth: "We take pleasure this week in giving some interesting items of news in connexion with our State University," etc. Our gorge rose at these opening lines,—hence this kick.

Let the institution appropriate a small amount for advertising in the county papers, and they will do more for it than any other kind of advertising. The students come from country homes where the home paper is read more closely than any other. Then we will reciprocate, and every spicy article from the worthy Prexy shall receive due attention and his statistics shall be read with bated breath by our readers.

Notice.—All persons are hereby notified to present to me at my office in the town of Marlinton on or before the 25th day of March, 1897, any and all school drafts drawn on either the teachers fund or building fund by any of the school boards of this county payable out of the levies prior to the levy of 1896, and required to be reported to the next Term of the Circuit Court by decree in the case of M. F. Yeager vs Bunner and others advertised in another column of this paper.

W. A. Bratton, Comm.

(Editor Mr. Bratton will be out of town the rest of the present week.)

Church Notes.

The Rev J. S. Lightbourne will preach at Clover Lick Sunday, May 16, 11 a. m., and 7 p. m. At Marlinton Monday the 17th at 7 p. m.; Hillsboro, Tuesday, 7 p. m.

Appointments for 2d Sunday in May.—Marlinton, 11 a. m.; Mt Pleasant, 3 p. m. B. L. Parrott.

Poor Blood

When a horse is poor in flesh, a new harness won't give him an ounce. If a house is cold new furniture won't warm it. If your strength is easily exhausted; work a burden; nerves weak; digestion poor; muscles soft; if you are pale and worn out, the trouble is with the blood. It is not so much IMPURE blood as POOR blood. Pills won't make thin blood rich; nor will bitters, nor iron tonics, any more than a new harness will give strength to the horse, or new furniture will make a house warm. For poor blood you want something that will make it rich.

SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites is the best remedy in the world for enriching the blood.

We have prepared a book telling you more about the subject. Send for it. Free. Postage paid. Don't delay. Do it to-day.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

Tutt's Pills Cure All Liver Ills.

Tried Friends Best.

For thirty years Tutt's Pills have proven a blessing to the invalid. Are truly the sick man's friend.

A Known Fact

For bilious headache, dyspepsia sour stomach, malaria, constipation and all kindred diseases.

TUTT'S Liver PILLS
AN ABSOLUTE CURE.

Moffitt Poage Camp C. V.

At a meeting of the survivors of Confederate veterans living in the Edray District of Pocahontas County, held at the court-house in Marlinton, on Saturday, May 1st, 1897, an organization was effected with an enrollment of 22 members and the following roster of officers:

Captain, or Commander, H. A. Yeager, formerly 31st Va. In.

1st Lieutenant, Wm. C. Mann, Chapman's Battery.

2d Lieut., Samuel M. Gay, 31st Virginia Infantry.

3d Lieut., R. E. Overholt, 36th Virginia Battallion Cavalry.

Adjutant, George M. Kee, 36th Virginia Battallion of Cavalry.

Quartermaster, Thomas Criner, 11th Virginia Cavalry.

Commissary, Thomas Courtney, 18th Virginia Cavalry.

Treasurer, Phillip Kramer, 18th Virginia Cavalry.

Officer of the Day, Andrew Taylor, 19th Virginia Cavalry.

Chaplain, Levi Beverage, 62d Virginia Infantry.

1st Color Guard, Armistead Coombs, 11th Virginia Cavalry.

2d Color Guard, Jacob Simmons 19th Virginia Cavalry.

The camp was named after that gallant soldier, Major Moffett Poage, who fell in battle in Culpepper County, Va.

Captain McChesney was appointed proxy to vote for the organization at the meeting to be held in Charleston, in June, to organize a state division of veterans.

The object of the organization is of a social character; for the benefit of the survivors and their families, and to cultivate a fraternal spirit among those who passed through the trying scenes of civil strife.

Co. I, 25th Va. Regiment, C. S. A.

Editor Pocahontas Times:

I enclose you the roll of Company I. 25th Virginia Infantry.

Those with a cross opposite their names were either killed or died of wounds and disease during the war. I would like to hear from other companys that went from this county, as it would keep the names of those who fell for the Lost Cause fresh in the minds of our comrades. H. P. M.

D. A. Stofer, Captain.
J. H. McGlaughlin, 1st Lieut. x
Angus, Timolean
Alderman, Andy C. x
Akers, James H. x
Arbogast, Daniel x
Boon, B. B.
Burr, George x
Burr, Frederick x
Burr, William
Bradley, James x
Corbett, Muscoe H.
Cleek, Peter L.
Cash, George H.
Carpenter, William H.
Cole, William
Eagan, Charles
Ervine, William H.
Friel, M. A.
Grandfield, John
Griffin, M. P. x
Grimes, Peter
Gammon, William T.
Gammon, C. S.
Hannah, Robert
Hannah, Joseph
Helmick, George A.
Hogsett, William R.
Herold, C. B.
Herold, B. F. x
Haines, I. B. x
Hamilton, A. G. x
Jordan, Joseph J. x
Johnson, Joe
Lyons, Enos
Moore, Levi x
McGlaughlin, H. P.
Maher, Patrick x
Moore, Michael x
Mitchell, Sylvester x
Pifer, John
Pifer, William L. x
Peters, John W.
Swadley, James x
Stevens, William W
Seebert, Lewis S. x
Silvey, Cary H.
Shannon, Michael
Shannon, James
Smith, Louis
Simmons, Chesley A.
Shrader, B. F. x
Vetter, David A. x
Warner, B. F.
Warner, C. W
Ware, Eugene M. x
Ware, William T.
Ware, George x
Wilfong, Michael
Wilfong, Pat x
Waugh, Levi x

April

IS A MONTH OF NEW LEAVES.

* * * * * * *

Why not turn over one yourself and contribute to the New Church by purchasing your goods of Paul Golden the

* First Week in May. *

By so doing you are contributing to help build the House of the Lord,—and you do n't pay any more for your goods at P. Golden's.

* * * * * * *

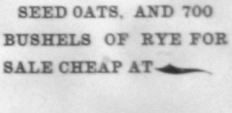
Prices Cannot be Beat.

PLEASE NOTICE.

I have bought out Joe Loury's entire stock of goods, and will do business at the same place.

I will replenish my stock with new goods from time to time, and will give you the Best Bargains you ever got. Call and see me before you buy. I will take all kinds of Country Produce that I can sell—Butter, Grain, Eggs, Wool, etc., at best prices.

To give you an idea of my prices—Prints, 3c, and all other goods in proportion.



Call and see me. I will treat you right and show you my goods with pleasure—whether you buy or not.

S. J. BOGGS,
Huntersville, W. Va.

Attention

1200 BUSHELS OF CORN,
1000 BUSHELS OF GOOD SEED OATS, AND 700 BUSHELS OF RYE FOR SALE CHEAP AT

Sol. Davis'

THE OSBORNE SPRING TOOTH HARROW

The frames are made in one piece of steel angle bar, and formed to withstand all strain without buckling or warping.

The teeth in this Harrow are so spaced that they will not trail each other, Pulverizing the ground thoroughly.

The steel pipe tooth bars are mounted in malleable boxes secured to the frame, and will not bend or break.

The peculiar shape of the tooth curling two-thirds about the bar gives the greatest amount of spring possible without straining the bolts, and because of their shape and fastening they are stronger than used on any other harrow.

By the levers, the depth of the work can be regulated while the Harrow is in motion.

The draft is steady and direct, as the Harrow has no side motion.

ALL THESE FEATURES COMBINED HAVE MADE THE OSBORNE CELEBRATED.

It has no EQUAL,—it never will have a SUPERIOR.

Call and examine the Osborne line consisting of—

BINDERS, MOWERS, RAKES, TEDDERS, HARROWS AND CULTIVATORS.

The most complete line of Farming Implements to be found the State.

For sale by

EAGLE & OTT,
Rupert, W. Va.

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, May 7, 1897.

Subscription ONE DOLLAR in advance. If not paid within the year $1.50 will be charged.

Entered at the post office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

County Directory

Judge ..... J. M. McWhorter
Pros. Attorney ..... E. M. McChesney
Sheriff ..... B. W. Hill
Clerk County Court ..... S. S. Brown
Clerk Circuit Court, J. H. Patterson
Assessor ..... J. H. Beard
Com'rs, Co. Ct. ..... { Amos Barlow / C. K. Beard / J. R. Warwick
Surveyor ..... George Baxter
Coroner ..... George P. Gum

BOARD OF HEALTH—Dr J. W. Price, L. M. McClintic, M. J. McNeel, R. W. Hill.

JUSTICES—Tenth Dist. Marlinton; A. E. L. Bahen, 1st, Linwood; P. D. Arbogast, Green Bank; W. B. Gross, Huntersville; G. R. Cackley, Academy; I. A. Bruffey, Locust.

J. H. CLARK

House and Sign Painter, Hillsboro, W. Va., does the best work well. Uses the new discovery for binding White Lead. No Chalking or Scaling—Give him a trial.

m19 6m

The Sun.

The First of American Newspapers Was A. Dana, Editor.

The American Constitution, the American Idea, the American Spirit, These first last, and all the time, forever.

DAILY, by mail, - - $6 a year
DAILY and SUNDAY $8 a year

THE
Sunday Sun
is the greatest Sunday Newspaper in the world.

Price 5c a copy. By mail $2 a year
Address THE SUN, New York.

THE ODELL
TYPE WRITER.

$20 will buy the ODELL TYPE WRITER with 78 characters, warranted for as good work as any machine made.

It combines SIMPLICITY with DURABILITY, SPEED, EASE OF OPERATION no longer without cost of repairs than any other machine. Has no ink ribbon to bother the operator. It is NOT AUTOMATICAL nickel plated, perfect and is adapted to all kinds of typewriting. Like a printing press, it produces sharp, clean, legible manuscripts. Two or ten copies can be made at one writing. Any intelligent person can learn to operate it in two days. Address Agents and Salesmen Wanted. For Pamphlet giving information, etc., address

ODELL TYPE WRITER CO.
355-356 Dearborn St. CHICAGO, ILL.
Mention this paper.

SPECIAL POTATO FERTILIZER
and High Grade General Phosphates made from VEGETABLE and MINERAL MATTER.
Every farmer should write for prices terms, and circulars.
AMERICAN REDUCTION CO.,
Pittsburg, Pa.

R·I·P·A·N·S
TABULES

Scientific American
Agency for
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, ETC.
For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the
Scientific American
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

$3,400.00 CASH AND PRIZES GIVEN FREE EACH MONTH FOR Sunlight SOAP WRAPPERS

As follows:

4 First Prizes, each of $100 Cash - - $ 400.00
20 Second " " " $25 " - - 500.00
40 Third " " " $5 Gold Watches - 1,000.00
Cash and Prizes given each month - - $1,900.00
12
Total given during 12 mos. 1897, $40,800.00

HOW TO OBTAIN THEM.

RULES.

1. Every month there will be 4 cash prizes of $100 each, 20 cash prizes of $25 each, and 40 Gold Watches, each of which will be given to the person who sends in the correct answer to the Sunlight Soap Wrapper Puzzle for that month. Each month's puzzle will be different from the puzzle of any other month.

2. Competitors who send in the correct answer to the puzzle for any month will receive a printed list containing the correct answers to the puzzles for all the months that have passed, and the number of correct answers received for each puzzle.

3. Competitors who obtain the largest number of correct answers to the puzzles for the months that have passed will receive the prizes offered for the month in which they send in their answers.

4. In case two or more competitors send in the same number of correct answers to the puzzle for any month, the prize offered for that month will be given to the competitor whose answer is received first in order of time.

5. Lever Brothers, Ltd. will endeavor to award the prizes fairly to the best of their ability and judgment, but it is understood that all who compete agree to accept the decision of Lever Brothers, Ltd., as final.

6. A printed list of Winners for each month will be sent to any address on receipt of a postal card.

7. Competitors who obtain duplicate prizes will receive but one prize.

8. Lever Brothers, Ltd. will endeavor to award the prizes as nearly as possible in the proportion stated in Rule 1, but reserve the right to vary the proportion if they deem it necessary.

9. Lever Brothers, Ltd. will endeavor to award the prizes in the States and Territories in the proportion of their population, as follows:

No. of District	NAME OF DISTRICT.	Each Month
1	New York City, Brooklyn, Long Island and Staten Island, N. Y.	1
2	Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia and West Virginia.	1
3	Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Wyoming, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, California, Utah, Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico, Indian Territory, Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Tennessee, Kentucky.	1
4	The New England States.	1

Next Largest Numbers of correct answers from the districts in which no prizes are awarded will receive Gold Watches, each of which will be given to the person who sends in the correct answer to the Sunlight Soap Wrapper Puzzle for that month. Competitors residing in the States and Territories in which no prizes are awarded will receive Gold Watches, each of which will be given to the person who sends in the correct answer to the Sunlight Soap Wrapper Puzzle for that month.

10. Competitors who obtain duplicate prizes will receive but one prize.

11. Lever Brothers, Ltd. will endeavor to award the prizes fairly to the best of their ability and judgment, but it is understood that all who compete agree to accept the decision of Lever Brothers, Ltd., as final.

12. A printed list of Winners for each month will be sent to any address on receipt of a postal card.

LEVER BROS., Ltd., New York.

The Late "Unpleasantness."

One of the pleasantest omens of the times is the enthusiasm developed in memory of Gen. Grant. It is something phenomenal to notice how the sons of friends and foes united in honoring his name, who said "Let us have peace." To promote this wish, so nicely expressed by the great soldier, it will help very much if all could agree upon some common, truthful term by which to designate the war in whose history General Grant is such a conspicuous name. The term used by Alexander Stephens has always impressed us as the truly proper one and most correctly expressive of the idea the war represented. He called it "The war between the States." The question at issue was, as to whether the loyalty of the citizen was due first to the Union and then to the state, or first to the State and then to the Union. Two of the States had it specified in their voting the Union the right to withdraw when it should be deemed for their state's interest to do so, others claimed this to be a right that could not be alienated and hence was theirs in virtue of State sovereignty, guaranteed by the Constitution—the Constitution itself being the creature of the States. Others took a different view, and hence the sword was appealed to, and the decision was in favor of the union instead of State sovereignty. The war then was not a rebellion, but a war between the States. It is no more of a rebellion than a war would be now between the United States and Great Britain about the Monroe Doctrine. But should there be a war hereafter since reconstruction it would be a rebellion, for the principle of loyalty to the state first then to the Union perished when Lee surrendered at Appomattox, and is no longer to be regarded as a principle of any force in the question of loyalty by all who have accepted in good faith the decision reached in the war between the States and taken the oath of allegiance. There is no sacrifice of principle in using the term, and if just expresses what was the truth, and those who most truly honor General Grant will be the ones to use the term first, last, and all the time.—The late war between the States."

Lightning Hot Drops—
What a Funny Name!
Very True, but It Hits All Pain.
Sold Everywhere. Every Day—
Without Relief, There is No Pain

Uncle Jack Gowdy's Adieu.

Sunday, Uncle Jack Gowdy, Consul-General to Paris, went out to the barn, slapped the old mare a fond farewell, threw an extra handful of corn to the chickens and looked regretfully up into the rafters, frescoed with cobwebs and hay seed. Monday, he knocked about the house, packing up his belongings and taking a final squint at the old nooks and corners of the home place. He divided souvenirs among the neighbors. One got the old family rake, another the wide-brimmed straw hat, which went to seed long ago, and the third got the nail which has, all these years, been the binding tie between his working trousers and their galluses. And all of Rushville and a big end of Rush County set out on the wormfence with mouth agape and grabbed at the mementoes as they were flung out. Most of the population has for some time been sitting on that fence waiting for some little offices to be scattered.

And in a few days he will be on the billowy sea regretting that he ever had a hand in Indiana politics and cursing McKinley and all his tribe. Such is the ingratitude of persons who are on the sea for the first time. He will seperate from his high-priced steamer-ship fare, wrap his head in a towel and, while he groans in his state room, he will wish for just one bite of bacon on the old Rushville farm.—Indianapolis Sun.

THE Westfield (Ind.) News prints the following in regard to an old resident of that place: "Frank McAvey, for many years in the employ of the L., N. A. & C. R. here, says: 'I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for ten years and longer—am never without it in my family. I consider it the best remedy of its kind manufactured. It take pleasure in recommending it.'" It is a specific for all bowel disorders. For sale by druggists.

Commissioner's Notice.

Commissioner's Office, }
Marlinton, W. Va. }
April 14, 1897 }

Caroline E. Warwick's Executors against
Caroline E. Warwick's heirs.

Pursuant to decree entered and to take notice that pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, rendered in the above styled cause at the April Term, 1897, to the foregoing cause I will proceed at my office in the town of Marlinton, West Virginia, on the 4th day of June, 1897, to take, state, and report to the next term of the Circuit Court of said county the following matters of account, to-wit:

1.—A settlement of the accounts of John C. Warwick and Emma N. Warwick, Executors of the last will and testament of the decedent Caroline E. Warwick.

2.—Whether or not the personal property of the decedent is sufficient to pay all of the debts of the decedent.

3.—An account of all the liens on the real estate of the decedent and their respective priorities.

4.—An account of all other unpaid debts of the decedent.

5.—An account of the real estate owned by the decedent at the time of her death, subject to the payment of her debts, together with the approximate value of each of said tracts, and whether or not there are any specific liens thereon.

6.—What would be a reasonable fee to the plaintiff's attorney in this cause.

7.—Any other matter required by any party in interest, etc.

W. A. BRATTON,
Commissioner.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In the decisions of Caroline E. Warwick deceased.

In pursuance of a decree of the Circuit Court of the County of Pocahontas made in a cause therein pending, to enforce the said estate of Caroline E. Warwick deceased, the creditors of her estate, and all persons having claims against the estate of her deceased, are required to present their claims against the estate of the said Caroline E. Warwick for adjustment to W. A. Bratton, Commissioner, at his office in the town of Marlinton, Pocahontas County, West Virginia, on or before the 4th day of June, 1897.

Witness, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of said Court, this 14th day of April, 1897.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
(3 weeks.)

The Remedy for Rheumatism.

From the Patchogue (N. Y.) Register.

Mr James Rowland, of this village, states that for twenty-five years his wife has been a sufferer from rheumatism. A few nights ago she was in such pain that she was nearly crazy. She sent Mr. Rowland for the doctor, but he had read of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and instead of going for the physician he went to the store and secured a bottle of it. His wife did not approve of Mr Rowland's purchase at first, but nevertheless applied the balm thoroughly and in an hour's time was able to go to sleep. She now applies it whenever she feels an ache or pain and finds that it always gives relief. He says that no medicine which she had used ever did her as much. For sale by druggists.

MESSO TOBSON, a peddler, was shot and killed near Mannington, and his body robbed of $300 by parties unknown.

"It is the Best on Earth."

THAT is what Edwards & Parker, merchants of Plains, Ga., say of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, for rheumatism, lame back, sleep-seated and muscular pains. For sale by drug gists.

Commissioner's Notice.

Office of S. B. Scott, Jr., Comm'r }
Marlinton, W. Va, April 16, 1897 }

State of West Virginia, ... Plaintiff

vs.

Joseph F. Moore, E. M. Buzzard, Perry A. Buzzard, Armenius Buzzard, William A. Buzzard, Sarah D. Grimes, Mary A. Buzzard, W. A. G. Sharp, J. A. Sharp, E. N. Moore, Isaac Shumeberry, Joseph Sharp, J. W. Rider, Belle Rider, Laura Irene Rider, John Smith, Josiah Dilley, Ralph Dilley, William Dilley, Mary Barlow Lindsay H. Sharp, Jeremiah Dilley, Clayton Dilley, Clark Dilley, Margaret M. Sutton, Mahala Friel, the unknown heirs of Rosanah Rider, deceased; the unknown heirs of Mary Hartman, deceased; the unknown heirs of Ann McCollum, deceased; the unknown heirs of Estetia Bird, deceased; the unknown heirs of Jane Swadley, deceased; the unknown heirs of Nancy Moore, deceased; Nancy Wades-s, Eric E. Smith, James Sharp, Andrew Sharp, Crawford Sharp, Hardin Sharp, Asariah Sharp, Jordan Sharp, and Robert Sharp, ...

.....Defendants.

The plaintiff and each and all of the above named defendants, and all unknown owners and claimants of any part or parcel of the lands mentioned in the plaintiff's bill in the above entitled cause, will take notice that on the

20th DAY OF MAY, 1897,

at my office in the town of Marlinton, Pocahontas County, W. Va., I will commence the discharge of my duties under the decree of reference in the above entitled cause, a copy of which decree is published with this notice, at which time and place you and each of you can attend and protect and defend any interest you may have in the lands or any of them in question in this suit.

Given under my hand this the 16th day of April, 1897.

S. B. SCOTT, Jr., Commissioner.

State of West Virginia
vs. } in chancery
John Sharp, Sr., Heirs, et als.

This cause, which has been regularly noticed of rules and set for hearing, came on this day to be heard on the bill and exhibits therewith filed and the joint answer of Joseph F. Moore, E. M. Buzzard, Perry A. Buzzard, William C. Buzzard, Mary A. Buzzard, Sarah D. Grimes, and E. N. Moore. The bill taken for confessed as to the rest of the defendants, and argument of counsel.

Upon consideration whereof it is ordered that this cause be referred to S. B. Scott, one of the commissioners of this court, to take, state, and report the following matters and things as to the 2308 acres alleged in the bill to be forfeited for the non payment of the taxes thereon for the year 1892.

1st—For what year or years the said land has been forfeited for the non payment of taxes thereon, and whether the same is forfeited to the State of West Virginia for the non-payment of the taxes thereon and subject to be sold for the benefit of the school fund.

2d—The amount of taxes, interest, costs, and damages due and unpaid thereon.

3d—Whether the location of said land is ascertainable, and, if so, its actual location.

4th—The title or claim of the defendants who have answered in this cause to said land, how derived, the nature and character of the same.

5th—Such as from the title of said land is now vested, by forfeiture or otherwise, and when, if any one, is entitled to redeem said land.

6th—Such other matters and things as said commissioner may deem pertinent or proper, or as may be required by the plaintiff or any of the parties in interest may require.

And it is further ordered that the said commissioner before proceeding to execute this decree shall give notice to the parties interested and all unknown owners and claimants of said land of the time and place when and where he will proceed to execute the decree, which notice shall be published in the "Pocahontas Times," a newspaper published in Pocahontas county, before commencing said account.

MEDICAL WISDOM.

THE DREADED CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

T. A. Slocum, M. C., the great Chemist and Scientist, Offers to Send Free, to Afflicted, Sufferers Bottles of His Newly-Discovered Remedies to Cure Consumption and Ill Lung Troubles.

Nothing could be fairer, more philanthropic or carry more joy in its wake than the offer of T. A. Slocum, M. C., of 183 Pearl street, New York City.

Confident that he has discovered an absolute cure for consumption and all pulmonary complaints, and to make its great merits known, he will send, free, three bottles, to any readereof the POCAHONTAS TIMES, who is suffering from chest, bronchial, throat and lung troubles or consumption.

Already this new scientific course of medicine has permanently cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases.

The Doctor considers it his religious duty & duty which he owes to humanity—to donate his infallible cure.

Offerered freely, apart from its inherent strength, is enough to commend it, and there is no better confidence of the great chemist making the proposition.

He has proved consumption to be a curable disease beyond any doubt.

There will be no mistake in sending—the minutest will be given—following the generous invitation. He has on file in his American and European laboratories testimonials of experiences from those cured, in all parts of the world.

Delays are dangerous. Address T. A. Slocum, M. C., 183, Pearl street New York, and the benefits of the Doctor, please give express and postoffice address, and mention reading this article in The POCAHONTAS TIMES.

Commissioner's Notice.

Commissioner's Office, }
Marlinton, W. Va., }
April 10, 1897. }

State of West Virginia
vs. } School Lands
100 acres and 15 acres.

The plaintiff and all of the above named defendants and all unknown owners and claimants of any part or parcel of the lands mentioned in the plaintiff's bill in the above entitled cause, will take notice that on the

31ST DAY OF MAY, 1897,

at my office in the town of Marlinton, Pocahontas County, West Virginia, will commence the discharge of my duties under the decree of reference in the above entitled cause, a copy of which decree is published with this notice, at which time and place you and each of you can attend and protect and defend any interest you may have in the lands or any of them in question in this suit.

Given under my hand this the 20th day of April, 1897.

ANDREW PRICE, Commissioner.
Bratton, Attorney.

[Copy of decree of April Term, 1895.]

State of West Virginia
vs.
One hundred acres and
Fifteen acres,

In the matter of forfeited lands

On motion of B. M. McNeil, Commissioner of School Lands for the said county, the above cause of the State of West Virginia vs. one hundred acres and fifteen acres is referred to N. C. McNeil, one of the commissioners of this court, who shall take, state, and report to court the following matters of account, viz:

1st—Whether or not the two tracts set forth in the bill as waste and unappropriated lands are really waste and unappropriated.

2d—If waste and unappropriated, the exact location of said tracts, and all other things required to be reported under Chapter 105 of Code of West Virginia, 1891, as amended by the acts of West virginia, 1895.

But before commencing to take and state said report he shall publish in the "Pocahontas Times," a newspaper published in the county, and post at the front door of the court house for four consecutive weeks a notice of the time and place of taking said account.

[Copy of decree of April Term, 1897.]

State of west virginia
vs.
One hundred acres and fifteen acres.

This cause came on this day to be further heard on the papers formerly read, and was argued by counsel

Whereupon, it is adjudged, ordered and decreed that this cause be referred to Andrew Price, one of the Commissioners of this Court, with instructions that he report to the next term of this Court, or as soon as possible, the matters required to be reported on in said decree of April, 1895, as fully as if said decree was herein set out in full.

C. B SWECKER.
General Auctioneer
and Real Estate Agent
Insti Coal, Mineral and Timber Lands Farms and Town Lots a specialty. 15 years in the business. Correspondence solicited. Reference furnished.
Office in Court House, Beaumont, W. Va., or Alexander, W. Va.

Old Dominion Building & Loan Association,
Richmond, - - Virginia.

J. TAYLOR ELLYSON, President.
E. A. BARKER, Treasurer.
BOARD OF DIRECTORS.
J. Taylor Ellyson, Wyndham V. Fauntleroy, John B. Purcell, John S. Ellett, Frank T. Sutton.

Authorized Capital $20,000,000
Subscribed Capital 1,500,000
Paid Up Cash Capital 1,500,000
Reserve 1,500,000

Depository of the State Bank of Virginia. Investments may be made by any share holder, fee, and at every pay ments after each month without any other notice. Withdrawals may be made at any time in case of the death of the party interested.

W. A. YEAGER, Agent.
MARLINTON, W. VA.

MARLINTON HOUSE.
Located East End of Bridge.
Terms,
per day - 1.00 & 1.50
per meal 25
Good accommodations for horses at reasonable rates.
Special rates made to the trade of families.
C. A. YEAGER, Proprietor.

FEED, LIVERY
AND
SALE STABLES.
First-Rate Teams and Saddle-Horses Provided.
Horses for Sale and Hire at
SPECIAL ACCOMMODATIONS FOR STALLIONS.
A limited number of Horses boarded.
All persons having horses to trade are invited to call. Young horses taught to be safe for ladies.
J. H. G. WATSON,
Marlinton, W. Va.

FARMERS' HOME FIRE INSURANCE CO., of West Virginia.
J. H. McCOLLAM, Pres. Fairmont, W. Va.
C. P. ROFF, Sec'y & Gen'l Agt. Fairmont, W. Va.
A. B. DUNLEVY, Agent,
Marlinton, W. Va.

MARRIED.

On April 28th, 1897, by Rev. Wm. Beard, Mr. Jacob Hevener and Miss Mary Ann Hevener, all of Pocahontas county.

On April 29th, 1897, by Rev. Wm. Beard, Mr. Jacob Hevener and Miss Mary Ann Hevener, all of Pocahontas county.

On April 29th, 1897, by Rev. Wm. Beard, Mr. Jacob Hevener and Miss Mary Ann Hevener, all of Pocahontas county.

What is
CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effects upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consult the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Chicago, Ark.

Castoria.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we have to acknowledge that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY,
Boston, Mass.
ALLEN C. SMITH, Pres.,

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

Simms & Co.,

RONCEVERTE, W. VA.

Silver Steel Plow, Syracuse Chilled Plows, Imperial Chilled Plows.

PLOW REPARS OF ALL KNDS AT
LOWEST PRICES EVER OFFERED HERE

RED WARRIOR	POLL AXES		65c
GREENBRIER	"	"	60c
CHAMPION	"	"	50c

4 No. 2 Horse-shoes for 15c | 4 No. 3 Horse-shoes 18c
4 No. 4 " " 24c | 4 No. 5 " " 19c

COOK-STOVES OF ALL KINDS

1 doz. 8x10 Window Glass 35c | Berea Grindstone 1 1-4x6 lb
Paints, Oils, Varnishes, etc.

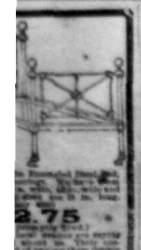
Our goods are all first class, no shoddy or job-lots, or damaged goods. Strike us for prices before you buy.

Simms & Co.,
Opposite Passenger Depot. Ronceverte, W. Va.

DIRECT FROM MILL TO WEARER.
Which Saves you 4 Big Profits.
The Commission House, The Wholesaler, The Jobber and Store Keeper.
E. ROSENBURGER & CO. 202-204 E. 103d St., NEW YORK CITY.

$5.00 Our Great Bargains SUITS FOR $2.98
Boy's Knee Pants, Sizes 3 to 15, WITH EXTRA PAIR OF PANTS, $2.98

$18. A CUSTOM MADE TO ORDER MAN'S SUIT 7.50



IT TICKLES YOU
THE INSTANT RELIEF YOU GET FROM
LIGHTNING HOT DROPS.
CURES Colds, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Fever, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.
HEALS Cuts, Burns, Scalds, Bruises.
BREAKS UP Bad Colds, La Grippe, Influenza, Sore Throat, etc.
SMALL BOTTLE, PLEASANT TASTE.
SOLD EVERYWHERE AT 25c. AND 50c. PER BOTTLE. NO FAIL.
HERB MEDICINE CO. Formerly of Nauvoo, Ill. Now at QUINCY, ILL.

The Pocahontas Times.

Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

4, NO. 42 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, MAY 14, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

2.75

HINES & SON,
IMORE, MD.

COURTS.

URT convenes on the
in April, third Tues-
and third Tuesday in

URT convenes on the
in January, March, second Tuesday in a levy term.

W CARDS.

H,
NEY AT LAW,
INTON, W. Va.

e in the Courts of Poca-
joining counties and in Appeals of the State of

NTIC,
NEY AT LAW,
INTON, W. Va.

e in the Courts of Poca-
joining counties and in ourt of Appeals.

E,
W & NOTARY PUBLIC
ESVILLE, W. Va.

e in the courts of Poca-
and in the Supreme

CKLE,
NEY AT LAW,
BURG, W. Va.

e in the courts of Green-adjacent counties. Prompt to claims for collection county.

TTON,
NEY AT LAW,
INTON, W. Va.

careful attention given

PRICE,
NEY AT LAW,
INTON, W. Va.

ed at Times Office.

COTT, JR.
LAWYER,
INTON, W. Va.

ttorney will receive prompt

A RIDGE,
NEY AT LAW,
ESVILLE, W. Va.

special attention given

ALLACE,
NEY AT LAW,
BURG, W. Va.

e in the courts of Poca-

KINS CARDS.

CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
INTON, W. Va.

Pocahontas County at least
the exact date of his appear in the Times

DYMOUTH,
DENT DENTIST,
KINS, W. Va.

Pocahontas County at least
the exact date of his
appear in the Times

E & BURBRIDGE,
INTON, W. Va.

ness in C. & S. Tygart's (opposite Hotel
Marlinton).

Andrew, a bright and beautiful little boy, the pet and prize of the household, was at play in the yard. His mother was busily

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

THE first cottage prayer-meeting the writer remembers was at the home of Robert Duffield, near Edray, West Virginia. Early one Sabbath in May, the writer's parents with their four children came to the Duffield home to attend the meeting that had been announced. No one had yet arrived when we reached the place. Upon entering the porch, voices were heard within as if parties were engaged in reading or prayer. Standing by the door and listening we found that it was the venerable Robert Duffield reading to his invalid wife the account given by Mathew of our Redeemer's temptation in the wilderness. He was reading at the moment where it is written, "He shall give His angels charge concerning thee and in their hands they shall bear thee up, lest at any time thou dash thy foot against a stone." Then she remarked: "Oh, that is so good, how encouraging it is for poor me." Finally the venerable resumed, and then prayed, after reading: "Then the Devil leaveth him, and behold angels came and ministered unto him." Then again the same one observed, "Oh, how good to hear that our Jesus gained the victory. How safe it makes one feel to have him for our Savior who is so loved by the angels." There seemed to be mutual rejoicing over the Redeemer's victory, and if all the benefits of this victory had been for these two old people, and nobody else, their satisfaction could not have been, seemingly, more real. When silence intervened, we knocked at the door and were told to come in. There were the two old people, and no one else in the room. It was not long, however, before quite a number assembled, and the cottage prayer-meeting was a spirited one.

Robert Duffield is believed to have come from the lower Valley, during the Revolution or soon after, and at the time referred to was living on the farm now occupied by Newton Duffield. The venerable Mrs Duffield was Hannah Moore, daughter of Moses Moore, the well-known pioneer, and an orator of no many of our worthy citizens of the Moore relationship.

From Mrs Catherine Kellison, on the Dry Branch of Swago, we gathered the following particulars:

Andrew Duffield was the eldest son of Robert Duffield's family. He married Jane Moore, daughter of Robert Moore, Senior, late of Edray. In reference to Andrew Duffield's family we learn that Robert M. Duffield lives in Jackson County, West Virginia. William Duffield, a Union soldier, died during the war at the house of Jacob Waugh, in Barbour County. Andrew Duffield, Junior, died of fever at the age of sixteen years. Rebecca Jane Duffield is now deceased. Eliza Duffield became the wife of Captain Walton Allen, of Cheat Creek, who was a well known Union scout in the late war between the States. Catherine Duffield was married to Clark Kellison, near Buckeye, a Union soldier under Sheridan. He was also on detached service on the western plains after the war in the U. S. Cavalry. He received his discharge just in time to escape the Custer massacre.

John Duffield, son of Robert Duffield, the pioneer, married Rebecca Sharp, daughter of John Sharp, Senior, whose residence was where I. Wesley Irvine now lives. Mr Irvine is a grandson of John Sharp. Mr Duffield settled on the Hill property now in possession of S. B. Waugh, but in his last years lived on the farm where his father, Robert, had lived and died. John Duffield's sons were Hamilton, Wesley, Newton, who lives on the old homestead, Emory and Mr. Kendrick in the West.

Andrew, a bright and beautiful little boy, the pet and prize of the household, was at play in the yard. His mother was busily sewing just inside the door, not six feet away. Wondering what was keeping Andrew so quiet she turned to the door and found him dead,—strangled by the cropper of her saddle. The shock was such that she never fully recovered from the effects, she she lived for more than fifty years afterwards.

Sarah Jane Duffield became the wife of Joseph Moore, son of the late Addison Moore, near Edray.

Nancy Ellen Duffield was married to the late Marcellus Ruthf, and now lives on a portiyn of the old homestead near Green Bank school-house.

William Duffield, son of Robert and Hannah Duffield, married Margaret Brock, daughter of Thomas Brock. He settled near the Sulphur Spring, now known as the Warwick Spring. The property is at present occupied by William Gay, whose wife, Mrs Martha Gay, is a daughter of William Duffield. Mr Gay was a Union soldier, and had remarkable adventures while escaping from the army below Richmond and making his way with five or six others thro East Virginia, the Valley, the mountains of Bath and Pocahontas back to Stony Creek.

Caroline Duffield, a daughter of William Duffield, was married to George Auldridge, son of the late John Auldridge, head of Laurel Run. They are living in Iowa,—having the comforts of a prosperous home.

Hannah Duffield was married to David Cochran, and lives at the end of Drooping Mountain. She has two daughters living on Cummings Creek near Huntersville. Agnes, who is Mrs Willis McComb; and Ida, who is Mrs Henry McComb.

One of William Duffield's daughters died in early youth of what was called the "cold plague," but judging from reported symtoms it would be called now "congestive chills."

This hard-working man, William Duffield, finally met his death by a tree falling upon him, which he was chopping for browse. The snow was quite deep, and when the family becan e uneasy that he did not come to dinner, Rebecca, the eldest of the family, just about grown, went to see what was the reason. She found him dead under the tree, buried in the snow. She told what had happened, and other members of the family hastened to the neighboring homes for assistance. Rebecca went back and chopped the large tree in two, had the log rolled away before any one had time to get there, and was holding her poor dead father's head in her arms. Rebecca now resides in Kansas, and is reported to be living in very comfortable circumstances.

Mary Duffield became the wife of Alexander Moore, and went to the West.

The writer cherishes very tender recollections of John Duffield, the honest and faithful miller, whom he met so frequently at mill when a mere youth. A few months before the venerable man's death, we met after a separation of more than thirty years. It was at a sacramental service, and during the recess we met and conversed for some time. He feelingly expressed the pleasure it gave him to meet once more in this life, and that he had gotten some new and encouraging ideas that day which he would not have missed for anything in his old age. They were suggested by the text. "What shall I render unto the Lord for all his benefits toward me? I will take the cup of salvation and call upon the name of the Lord." Briefly expressed, the ideas he referred to were these: From God's gifts to form a plea, and ask Him still for more, and the best way to please him is to value and rightly appreciate his benefits and desire their more and more to kindle grateful prayer. As nothing pleases as a father more than to see that his children are truly grateful for what he has to give them, so it is with God—the best of all the fathers. "William, I would not have missed those ideas for anything."

From what I can learn, this was about the last time my venerable friend, over eighty years of age, ever put to his lips the visible cup of salvation. I cherish with peculiar feelings his last words to me "William, I would not have missed these ideas for anything."

W. T. P.

Blennerhesset P. S. A.

From The Cumberland (Eng.) Times.

There was a very crowded company on Sunday, the attendance reaching high water mark. Mr Arthur Lawson gave the address. He was pleased, he said, to be with [illegible] though, although when [illegible] to give the address [illegible] there was some [illegible] of making him a parson; and he thought that would hardly do. But he thought these P. S. A. meetings were good institutions, and he was glad to do what he could to further their interest. He wished to speak to them on the subject of travel. He thought there were few things more instructive, or that contributed more to one's pleasure, than travel. He remembered that when at school he got more than one rap over the knuckles because he could not tell the exact whereabouts of some place of outlandish nomenclature; and he resolved, if he might be so privileged, to travel and see both where and what these places were. But if we were

TO MAKE THE MOST OF TRAVEL

there were certain things it were well for us to note. One was to be observant. It was a great gift when a man had a seeing eye. It was very astonishing how much some travelers saw; and it was still more astonishing how little was seen by others. It were well to cultivate the faculty of seeing; and next to that, and this was another thing to note, the faculty of discrimination. Abroad, as at home, things were not always what they seem; and to be able to discriminate, and then store it to the memory what was worthy only of real notice, was a great gift, and a gift should be cultivated. It had been his privilege, some time ago now, to travel on the continent of Europe and in the East. But he thought they might be most interesting to us if he might tell them about the Holy Land and Egypt. Mr Lawson dwelt at some length on these two countries, giving descriptions of the different places visited, and of the life and manners of the people. He next of Constantinople, and considered that were innately cruel: when they would stand gloating and grinning over the death pangs of a dog in the street, as he had seen them, it was not to be wondered at that they were so callous of human life. He also spoke of the Crimea, and he could not but remember as he passed the spot of the charge of the Light Brigade that when, after the disaster, the general was sorrowfully explaining to the men the blunder that had been made, then replyed "My lord, we are ready to go again if need be." That showed of what stuff the men of Britain were made—ready to dare, any thing in obedience to the call of duty. They visited Moscow at the time of a great religious festival, when nearly every other man one met was a priest. He should say that the Russian peasantry were a very religious class of people; but under which they suffered cried aloud for reform. He should like to tell them something of America, where he had spent the last few years, but his time was gone. This much only he would say—that the men were marvellously go-ahead people, and that the American ladies were exceedingly fine. But after all there was no place like home, and no place like sunny Cumberland. The people of these realms had reason to be proud of their country, and it should be for every one of us to do our best to make and keep our country both prosperous and great. The address was listened to with much interest.

THE TURKS

GRIEVOUS BURDENS

Miss Thomson, Aspatria, accompanied by Miss Greeves, sang with much skill and pathos the two solos, "Daddy," "He wipes the tears from every eye." Miss F. Hasslands presided at the piano, and the Rev J. Potts conducted the meeting.

[NOTE. P. S. A. means Please and Sunday Afternoon.—Ed.]

THE Westfield (Ind.) News prints the following in regard to an old resident of that place: "Frank McAvoy for many years in the employ of the L. E. & W. R. R. here, says: 'I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for two years and have never seen it fail to relieve the most severe attack. I consider it the best remedy of any general purpose I take pleasure in recommending it.'" It is a specific for all bowel disorders. For sale by druggists.

FOREWARNED, FOREARMED.

Those interested will hereby take notice not to plant any corn, vegetables, or any plant whatsoever that may be injured by the frost and snow that will come on night of the 31st of May this year. Our attention has been called to the fact that the sign is in the neck on the 31st of May, and when this is the case, snow, sleet, and frost is the result.

The conjunction of the planets on this date, according to Pythagorns, Hippocrates, Diocles, and Avicenna, is conducive of great dangers and inconveniences to agriculture, and whenever it so happens it takes care to blight the meadows and pastures, chill and destroy the newly sheared sheep, give the fattening cattle a backset, cause the fruit to drop from the trees, blight the garden, and frost the corn and encourage the depredations of the copperas worm, blast the wheat, and work wreck and ruin generally.

Do not let your skepticism make you one of those unhappy persons whose faith is too weak to be warned by the significance of the signs vouchsafed to the astrologer, whose eyes are able to penetrate the starry spheres and discern therein the decrees of heaven at a distance. Such have their hearts barred against conviction by prejudice and misprision.

"O, agriculture, see! trust thine own eyes.
A fearful sign stands in the almanac,
An enemy; a fiend lurks close behind
The radiance of thy planet—O, be warned.
The sign is in the neck, and that is here
You 'll get it."

—Schiller.

THE TWO DISASTERS.

One of the most moving accidents of the times happed in Paris the other day when the charity bazaar burned and about two hundred of the highest of the land of France perished in the flames. The bazarr has been an annual event and has netted charities about 1,000,000 francs each year. It was patronized by the nobility and the leaders of society. The dead are mostly women, among whom were many titled personages. The papers went wild over the horrible accident, in strange contrast to the attention they paid the disaster of the week before when a Southern city was swept away and an equal number of lives lost. The difference was that those who died in the city belonged to those Up Above and worthy of more consideration from the New York papers. That pesky New York Journal, for fear that its readers might not appreciate the disaster, draws a parallel case in which it supposes that two hundred of the New York's four hundred were burned while holding a charity bazaar in that city.

In spite of artificialness and distinctions that exist among people while they live, nature tears away the veil at times, and in the supreme moment of life and death the wretched Countess, roughly buffetted about by the panic-stricken heard, was as much dependent on herself and received as much consideration, and only as much, as the most insignificant victim overwhelmed the week before by the rushing waters of that Southern river. In the present newspaper age it is hard to say how many common people would have had to perish ere the heart of the newspaper men would have been stirred to the extent it was when the awful reminder of mortality came to the audience of Paris.

One of the loveliest society events in the history of Fiji was the recent wedding of Ko-Ratu-Sir Tui-Buli, Governor of Rewa Tui Sawa, to Miss Adi Vinisali, granddaughter of the late King Thakombau. The bride was wrapped in an exquisitely woven mat, and she wore in addition a pink calico pinafore, the gift of the groom who was dressed in the conventional native costume with an apron some ring of great value. After the ceremony the guests sat down to a sumptuous wedding feast of 500 cooked pigs, 300 turtles, and incense and palms until they could eat a rest. After the wedding dance the happy couple left in state for their future home. Rumor says that the honeymoon will be at least just as soon as the gold fevers can be cut to make a dutch.—Exchange.

"I don't believe there ever was as good a pill made as Ayer's Cathartic Pills. They will do all you recommend them for and even more. When I have a cold and ache from head to heels, a dose or two of these pills is all the medicine needed to set me right again. For headache, a Pill Clothes.

The good pill has a good coat. The pill coat serves two purposes; it protects the pill, and disguises it to the sensitive palate. Some coats are too heavy; they won't dissolve, and the pills they cover pass through the system, harmless as a bread pellet. Other coats are too light, and permit the speedy deterioration of the pill. After 30 years exposure, Ayer's Sugar Coated Pills have been found as effective as if just fresh from the laboratory. It's a good pill, with a good coat. Ask your druggist for

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

A "thin testimonial will be found in full in Ayer's "Curebook," with a hundred others. Free. Address: J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

NEW YORK LETTER.

A European steamship, the Lahn sails from this port with $1,500,000 gold coin for Paris. Paris is buying here because this is the cheapest market.

***

The Turks are having the best of their fight with Greece to date. The Greeks are in a terrible rage, which is chiefly directed against the royal family. Prince Constantine is hated, and has been branded a coward. Wounded men were left upon the station at Larissa, while the Royal members used the cars for their luggage, etc. All hope of success has vanished, but the patriots ask for one more battle to achieve honor.

***

Cuba and Spain are still at it. Spain can never vanquish these brave Cubans. It is high time that the United States stepped in and put a stop to the slaghter of these brave men. When one patriot is killed, ten will spring up and take his place. These Cubans are fighting for their homes—for honor—and will win.

***

What a shame such a state of affairs exists in this supposed-to-be Christian world. With modern death-dealing guns a war is to be looked upon with horror.

***

On April 27 last in this city Grant-day was celebrated. Many thousands of visitors took in this great city. It was estimated that a half-million of strangers paid honor to General Grant's memory. A military parade of great magnitude, and a naval parade were the features of the day. The General has a beautiful monument at Riverside Park overlooking the most beautiful river in the world—the Hudson. The General's widow and family and grandchildren were on hand to witness the dedication of his monument. President McKinley addressed the vast assemblage. The day was a cold, cheerless one, and those occupying seats on the open air stands had to stamp their feet to keep up the circulation.

***

The sport of baseball is now on. All the crack clubs of the League play ball in both this city and Brooklyn. The several clubs have been greatly strengthened, and the lovers of this delightful game expect to see wonderful work done by the League clubs.

***

Running races are starting in, and have an average attendance daily. The talent (those who know it all) have been quite successful.

***

Money is still tight in this locality. The predicted business boom has not put in an appearance as yet. Everyone whom you meet says that there will be a great business revival. But when? I suppose when the hard question is settled business will come up. Thousands of unemployed are walking the streets looking in vain for a chance to turn an honest penny. Cases of families being dispossessed occur daily. This city being a seaport town emigrants flock to it, and, instead of going West and locating in some new territory and lay the foundation of a home, they stay here, spend their last cent looking for work, and eventually are left high and dry upon our shore.

GEORGE M. SCHWEITZ.

May 4, 1897.

NEWS NOTES.

THOS. D. NEAL, of Richmond, dealer in tobacco, made an assignment; liabilities about $198,000.

THERE are over 800 applicants for the 26 places to be supplied from the Republican party in the penitentiary.

A NEW species of rabbit has been found in Mexico, at an altitude of 9,000 feet, on Popocatapetl. It is very small, has short ears and no tail.

JAS. H. FERR, former business manager of the West Virginian, has left Charleston under a cloud, having given a number checks which were worthless.

THE Seventh West Virginia Regiment will erect a monument to the dead of that Regiment at Gettysburg. There are about 400 survivors of that regiment now living.

Two women were tarred by a mob of about twenty at Weston. The tar was heated and applied with white-wash brushes. It was almost impossible to remove it and the women may die.

By applying the principle of the turbine wheel to the propellers of a steam boat a speed of 37 1-2 miles an hour has been attained by the boat Turbinia on her trial trip. This rate of speed would cross the Ocean in about three days.

IT is said that the Queen will make Mr Gladstone a Knight of the Garter on her approaching jubilee. The Marquis of Salisbury will receive the title of duke. No commoner since the days of Sir Robert Walpole has been made a Knight of the Garter.

THE earth quake which visited this section on Monday, May 3rd, was noticed at this place by some who heard the sound and felt a jar but they took it for a clap of thunder and thought the jar which followed was incident to the concussion. Mr W. G. Gray, of Monroe County, was in Marlinton and says that in his county it rocked houses and in his own the agitation was so great that it disturbed articles placed on the mantel piece. There were three distinct shocks felt at Wytheville, lasting about one minute each. The shock seemed most strongly felt about the Blue Ridge.

VIRGINIA has a State farm near Richmond on which are employed about two hundred convicts. A bold attempt at mutiny and escape was made on May 4 by the convicts. Twenty-four men were at work under three guards at a plant bed. A large negro named Christmas approached one of the guards, ostensibly to ask a favor, but when near he spat a large quantity of tobacco juice in his eyes and seized his rifle. Another guard promptly shot him twice with a Winchester rifle. The rest of the convicts started to run, but turned back on hearing the shots, with exception of James Mallory, from Alleghany County, who made his escape.

AN interesting controversy is reported by the Baltimore Sun as being in the Supreme Court of Appeals concerning the reading of the Bible in the public schools. A mandate from the circuit court seems to have been secured against the school board of a certain district in Marion County, which was disregarded. The Junior Order of United American Mechanics by this principle draws as one of their strongest claims to the consideration of patriotic people, and they have taken up the fight. It is feared, says the article, that this case if settled in the Supreme Court will establish a precedent to bar the Bible from the public schools of the State. There certainly must be some mistake, or must we well adopt the sentiment of Alfred Henry Lewis, in the New York Journal, that ours is not a Christian nation.

he Pocahontas Times.

EREW PRICE, EDITOR

arleston, Friday, May 14, 1897.

Subscription ONE DOLLAR in advance. If not paid within the year 50 will be charged.

Entered at the post-office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

Business Rules.

When a subscriber orders his paper discontinued he is, of course, expected at the same time to pay all arrearages.

We go to press Thursday morning. Advertisements or communications of any kind, intended for an current weekly issue should be here by Wednesday.

On all job work our terms are cash, except in cases of merchants and others with whom we have running accounts.

All subscriptions we due in advance to $1.00 a year.

CHARTERS were issued to seven towns now in West Virginia as follows: Martinsburg, 1778; Romney, 1762; Morgantown, 1785; Wheeling, 1787; Wheeling, 1793.

AT a meeting of the Confederate veterans of the State at Charleston, one speaker took the unique view that the want of pensions was a great blessing to the Confederate soldiers. The association abandoned all idea of building a State Home, and recommended that each camp take care of its own poor.

A WRIT of error has been granted in the case of State vs. Parsons, from Tucker County. This grew out of the fining of some petitioners for contempt, for asking that the Circuit Court exercise mercy in the sentencing of a prisoner. When Colonel Parsons, who is a leading lawyer of that section, was fined, he is said to have exclaimed: "Heavens! can it be that the sacred right of petition has been abrogated."

THE City of Charleston has no saloons open at present. Instead of receiving a princely revenue of something like $20,000 from licenses it has gone into a state of prohibition without the change being brought about by prohibitionists. The county court refused to grant licenses to any but four saloon keepers. As this would give the four a monopoly of the business, the city council decided to grant all responsible persons license or none. The hitch has become permanent and it looks as tho the city would have no saloons this year. The county court has made itself very unpopular, to judge from the stand taken by the Gazette.

COMFORT.

"Be not disheartened, brother,
For every step of the road
Is under the eye of the Father
Who measure the weight of the load.

He cares for the tiny sparrows,
And how much more for you;
Look up and never doubt him,
His promises all are true."

This is quoted from a poem written by Mrs Margaret E. Sangster entitled "Comfort," that seems to have been very widely copied by the religious journals and many of the higher-toned secular periodicals. The influence of such sentiments have a very soothing effect upon the appreciative reader. When persons become imbued with such sentiments so as to have their actions controlled by them, then they appear to the community as a trend of music in the park or moving down the street, sending out pleasure to everyone near so far that has an ear to listen in sympathetic response. Like orchards in autumn filling the air with the pleasant odors of ripened fruit or of June roses emitting their bewitching fragrance, so such virtues inspire with strength and sweetness. What a charming mission it is to human life to repeat those sentiments and make the joy and strength with which they are imbued to become the breath of hopeful happiness to others and help to fill the sacred aim sphere in which their souls breathe with a purity and brightness those hallowed souls cannot create for themselves.

"Be not disheartened, brother,
The sunny rays that pass by,
Strength will come with their living
You will find it by and by.
When the day's long journey is ended,
And
Will come the voice of the Master
And the angel of peace. Well done."

Important to Policy Holders.

From The Greenbrier Independent.

Last December W. H. Leach, of this county, who holds a policy in the Farmer's Home Fire Insurance Company, had his barn burned. He at once notified the Company, an assessment was made on the policy holders and the loss made good—Mr Leach agreeing that the Company might rebuild the barn which was done. Among those insured in the Company at this time, and upon whom a call was made for his pro rata assessment, was A. M. Shanklin, of Monroe County Mr. Shanklin did not pay the assessment made, and has not paid to this day. In January or February of this year Shanklin's house was burned, of which he notified the Company and called upon it to make good his loss. He was informed that he had lost the benefit of his insurance by reason of his failure to meet his assessment in the Leach loss. The following section of the bylaws shows the authority of the Company for this action:

"Sec. 8. Any policy holder sustaining a loss shall at once notify the Secretary of the Company in writing, stating the cause and extent of the loss. The Secretary shall at once ascertain and proceed to adjust the loss by making a full statement to the Executive committee of the facts in the case and the amount due the party sustaining the loss, which shall be endorsed by him as satisfactory. If sufficient funds in the treasury to pay the loss or damage they shall instruct the treasurer to pay it at once, but if not, the secretary shall be empowered to make a pro rata assessment upon the members of the company, and shall notify each member of the assessment, stating the amount due and the purpose for which it is to be applied, such notice may be delivered personally or by mail. If by mail, service shall be deemed completed when deposited in the post office at the home office of company, and must be paid to the treasurer within forty days from the date of notice, and upon the failure to pay the same within the time required, the delinquent member shall stand suspended, and during such suspension for non payment of assessments the said delinquent's policy shall be void, and the company is not to be responsible for any loss that may occur during such delinquency. If the delinquent fails to pay the assessment within sixty days of the notice of an assessment the company shall have recourse on his premium obligation."

Shanklin claims that he did not get the notice of assessment, and therefore did not know that an assessment had been made. The secretary of company declares and will testify, should it become necessary that he notified Shanklin twice by mail in accordance with the requirement of the foregoing section of the by-laws.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors held here recently—Mr. Logan, of Monroe appearing for Mr Shanklin—the Board, after a careful consideration of the case, decided that the enforcement of the by-law, above quoted, is necessary to the good and to the continued existence of the Company, inasmuch as the Company has no means (at least for the present) of meeting its losses except by the prompt payment of assessments made when a loss occurs. The Board was anxious to pay him, but thought that a ruinous precedent would be set by a failure to enforce said by-law. The Secretary informs us that there are some other policy holders who have not paid the assessment made to meet the Leach loss. Under this ruling of the Board these delinquents have no insurance, so long as they are in arrears. Mr Shanklin has sued the Company.

NOTICE.—All persons are hereby notified to present to me at my office in the town of Marlinton on or before the 25th day of May, 1897, any and all school drafts drawn on either the teachers fund or building fund by any of the school boards of this county payable out of the levies prior to the levy of 1896, and required to be reported to the next Term of the Circuit Court by decree in the case of B. M. Yeager vs Boswell and others advertised in another column of this paper

W. A. BRATTON, Comm.

MRS Francis McCoy returned to her home Wednesday.

The papers are full of deaths from Heart Failure
Of course
the heart fails to act
when a man dies,
but "Heart Failure," so called, often comes and of late is caused by Uric Acid in the blood which the Kidneys shall to remove, and which overcome the heart until it becomes unable to perform its functions.

Health Officers in many cities very properly refuse to accept "Heart Failure" as a cause of death. It is frequently a sign of ignorance in the physician, or once in given to cover up the real cause.

Swift Cure

A Medicine with 31 Years of Success behind it will remove the poisonous Uric Acid by putting the Kidneys in a healthy condition so that they will naturally eliminate it.

Lightning Hot Drops—
What a Funny Name!
Very True, but it Kills All Pain.
Sold Everywhere, Every Day—
Without Relief, There is No Pay.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Pursuant to an order of the county court of Pocahontas county, made on the 8th day of May, 1897, directing me to expend one hundred dollars on the County Creek road between the bridge at Mingo and Wm. Hill's, I will receive bids until 12 o'clock m. on Saturday, the 22d day of May, 1897, for the contract to build a sufficient number of coals of road for the expenditure of $100.00, to be expended on the following specifications and terms, to-wit:

The road to be made 9 feet wide, raised 12 inches at the lower side, with the bank and ditch on the upper side, and the dirt and gravel used to get level. Ditches or drains, opened on the upper side of the road, to be used to the lowest point. To be completed by the 1st of August, 1897, and to suit the county court when it meets on the first Monday in August, 1897. One-half of the contract price to be paid when one-half of the work is done, and the balance when the work is completed.

The contractor will be required to have good and sufficient bond for the faithful performance of the contract, and the approval of said bond by the court before the contract will be awarded.

The court reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

By order of the County Court.

May 11, 1897. ELLIOTT BOOTHE, Clerk.

Presbyterial Notes.

Presbytery of Greenbrier met Wednesday, May 5 at 8 p. m. The introductory sermon was preached by Rev D. M. Layton, of Frankford, on Ephesians 3. 10—"To the intent that now unto the principalities and powers in heavenly places might be known by the church the manifold wisdom of God." The body was then organized by the election of Rev William M. White, of Lewisburg, for Moderator, and Rev R. M. Caldwell, of Liberty, and Hon J. A. Preston, for Clerks. About thirty ministers and elders present.

Mr William T. George, from Louisville Seminary, appeared before Presbytery, and having passed a very satisfactory examination on his religious experience, motives for entering the ministry, and the arts and sciences, and Latin and Greek critical exercises, was licensed to preach as a probationer for the gospel ministry. The text for his trial sermon was Hebrews 7th verse 25, "Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them." Mr George spent several months in Pocahontas last summer, and is remembered by many of our readers.

Rev G. W. Nickel and Elder J. W. Neal were chosen commissioners to the General Assembly. Rev H. W. McLaughlin and S. B. Hannas, Esq., were appointed their alternates. This is the highest court of the Presbyterian Church, and meets at Charlotte, N. C., the 3d Thursday of May.

Rev J. E. Mebane resigned the pastorate of Raven's Eye Church.

Rev William Mc. White delivered a fine lecture on the subject assigned him, the historic influences of the Westminster Standards. Some of the most important events in the history of nations the past two hundred years cannot be properly understood except in connexion with the opinions forth and insisted upon by these Standards.

Dr Lacy discoursed in his trenchent and convincing style the distinctive doctrines of the Presbyterian system of religious doctrine.

The general outlook is very encouraging, notwithstanding the serious hindrences everywhere encountered. It looks as if the people were actuated with the commendable motive let what may suffer the interests of their souls and the souls of their children must not be neglected, nor religious ordinances be given up.

Union is the next place for the stated meeting of Presbytery in the fall. Richlands, in west Greenbrier, came within one vote, and will probably have better success next time.

Alderson is situated on both sides of the Greenbrier, and has a population of twelve or thirteen hundred. The fair grounds are ploughed up and in cultivation. Professor Anderson, from Pocahontas, is succeeding nicely with his high school. Busy preparations are making for a grand exhibition in June. The hospitality of the people was cheerfully and bountifully dispensed. The Messenger is published here, having its office in the heart of the town. On a charming eminence overlooking North Alderson, Mrs McVeigh Miller, the novelist, has her beautiful home. The grounds are tastefully decorated with rare flowers and evergreens.

The Remedy for Rheumatism.

From the Fotcheria (N. Y.) Register.

Mr James Rowland, of this village, states that for twenty-five years his wife has been a sufferer from rheumatism. A few nights ago she was in such pain that she was nearly crazy. She sent Mr. Rowland for the doctor, but he had gone to Chamberlain's Pain Balm and instead of going for the physician he went to the store and secured a bottle of it. His wife did not approve of Mr Rowland's purchase at first, but nevertheless applied the balm thoroughly and in an hour's time was able to go to sleep. She now applies it when ever she feels an ache or pain and finds that it always gives relief. She says that no medicine which she had used ever did her as much good. The 25 cent fifty cent size for sale by druggists.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONTAS COUNTY, }

At rules held in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court for said county on Monday, the 3d day of May, 1897.

George W. Nottingham, Susan Stephenson, in her own right, and for the benefit of Martha E. Killingsworth, and John M. Nottingham ..... Plaintiffs

vs.

John Gregg, John W. Slaton, Sr., John W. Gregg, Jr., the unknown heirs of J. W. Davis, the unknown heirs of Jack Nottingham, the unknown heirs of James Slaton, E. A. Smith and J. A. Whiting, partners trading under the firm name of Smith & Whiting, Joseph W. Riley, trustee; and Ida M. Gregg ..... Defendants.

The object of this suit is to have partition of the land of which John W. Davis, died seized and possessed, and to assign to the plaintiffs their interest in said lands, inherited by them from their mother, Rachel Nottingham. This day came the plaintiffs by their attorney, and on their motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed that the unknown heirs of J. W. Davis, the unknown heirs of Jack Nottingham, the unknown heirs of James Slaton are non-residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within o e month after the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit.

Teste;
J. B. PATTERSON, Clerk.
W. A. Bratton, p. q.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

State of West Virginia, } ss.
Pocahontas County, }

At rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on Monday, the 3d day of May, 1897.

S. B. Kerr and Lee Ervine
vs.
Phillip B. Rader, James Mc. Kerr, Perry A. Tracy, John Tacy, O. P. Chew, and Samuel D. Bright

The object of this suit is to set aside a deed from O. P. Chew to Samuel D. Bright, made on the 9th day of April, 1897, for a tract of land situated in Pocahontas County, west Virginia, and recorded in the Clerk's office of the County Court of Pocahontas County in Deed Book No. 27 at page 305, as fraudulent, and made with intent to delay, hinder, and defraud the creditors of Phillip B. Rader, to whom said O. P. Chew had previously sold said tract of 135 acres of land, and subject the same to the payment of the judgment liens of the plaintiffs in this suit. This day came the plaintiffs by their attorney; and on their motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed, that the said defendant, O. P. Chew, is a non resident of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that he do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order, and do what is necessary to protect his interest in this suit.

Teste;
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
L. M. McClintic, p. q.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

Levi Gay, Guardian, } vs. } In
George W. Ryder, } Chancery.

Pursuant to a decree rendered in the above styled suit in chancery in the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, at the April Term, 1897, the undersigned special commissioner will, on the first day of the June term of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, proceed to sell at public auction, in front of the court house, to the highest bidder, for cash, the following valuable tract of land,

162½ ACRES,

now owned by the defendant, Geo. W. Ryder, the same having been conveyed to George W. Ryder, Sr., by deed bearing date on the 21st day of October, 1886, situated on Alleghany Mountain, lying partly in Highland County, Virginia, and partly in Pocahontas County, West Virginia.

J. W. YEAGER,
Special Commissioner.

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of said County, do certify that bond as required in said decree has been given by said special commissioner.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

State of West Virginia, Pocahontas county, to wit:

At rules held in in the clerk's office of the circuit court, on monday, the 3d day of May, 1897.

Noah Brown Herald Lula M. Miller nee Herald, Jessie Herald, Ida Herald nee Herald, Mary Herald, Bedford E. Herald, and Peter O. Herald, the last of whom is an infant and sues by R. D. Herald his next friend, ... Plaintiffs

vs.

Wm. Herald, and Kate E. Herald his wife, Robert S. Rogers, Sarah Rogers, Forest Rogers Kimpert, Wm. Herald, Executor of Sarah A. Herald, deceased, ... Defendants.

The object of this suit is to enforce against the lands of Sarah A. Herald, deceased, the vendor's lien reserved in the deed of Washington L. Herald to her for the plaintiffs, and to obtain and recover the deferred purchase money due from said land and enforcing the lien thereon to save said dower.

This day came the plaintiffs by their counsel, and on their motion and it appearing by affidavit filed that the defendants, Wm. Herald and Kate E. Herald his wife, are non-residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that he do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect his interest in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
L. M. McClintic, p. q.

"The dogs of war are loosed on!"

WAR DECLARED!

We are helping you to fight high prices, and have conquered the high price at last. We have just received a nice lot of new goods, which will sell low for Cash or good trade, such as Wool, Ginseng, Corn, Beeswax, Gold, Silver, and Greenbacks.

We quote you as follows:

Good Prints	from	3½	to 6½c.
Scotch Lawn			5½c.
Gingham	"	5 "	7c.
Satteen			10c.
Cable Twill			12½c.
Cambric	"	5 "	5½c.
Brown Cotton	"	6 "	8c.
Ticking			15c.
Cheviots	"	7½ "	10c.
Denim	"	10 "	15c.
Overshirts	"	19 "	65c.
Men's Drawers	"	25 "	40c.
Overalls	"	35 "	90c.
Jeans Pants	"	85 "	1.15.
Suspenders	"	10 "	45c.
Hose, @ 5c and 18c			pair.
Half Hose @ 5 and 15c			pr.
Tobacco from 25c to 55c lb.

Other goods proportionately low. Give me a trial. Highest market prices for Wool, etc.

Yours for business,

G. L. HANNAH,

YELK. W. VA.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

H. C. Sharp ..... Plaintiff.
vs.
Peter N. Dilley, and others, Defts

Pursuant to a decree rendered in the above styled suit in Chancery at the April Term, 1897, of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, the undersigned special commissioners will, on the first day of the June Term, 1897, of said Circuit Court offer for sale at public auction to the highest bidder, the following

Valuable Tract of Land,

lying in the County of Pocahontas and the State of West Virginia, on the waters of Knapp's Creek, and adjoining the lands of Amos Barlow, P. H. Loury, and others, and being the same land that was conveyed by B. F. Hamilton and wife on the 24th day of July, 1894, to the infant defendant, Floyd M. H. Dilley; the said deed being by said decree set aside as fraudulent in fact, and void. The tract is in a high state of cultivation, is very valuable, containing about 83 acres composed of two tracts of 81 acres and 2 acres respectively.

TERMS: Cash for costs. The residue in six, twelve, and eighteen months, with approved personal security.

W. A. BRATTON,
ANDREW PRICE,
Special Commissioners.

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of said county, do certify that the above special commissioners, having given the bond required, are authorized to receive purchase money.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

Reward! Reward! Reward!

You are REWARDED by trading with us. Where we saved you a dollar in previous years, we can save you two this year. We don't beg for trade—we get it through our low prices.

NEW CUSTOMERS flock to us as soon as they hear of our bargains. If it pays others so well to buy from us, why should n't it pay you?

We make our money not by BEING ROBBERS, but by SELLING CHEAP. Whatever you buy from us you will find our prices right.

We Don't Want the Earth!

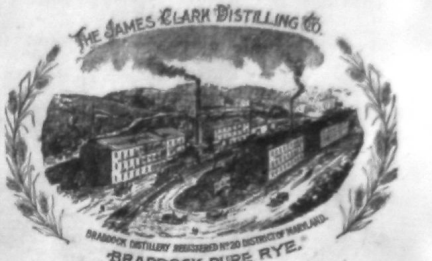
Only just enough Profit to live on.

How MUCH?

WILL YOU SAVE IN A YEAR BY BUYING FROM 15 TO 35 PER CENT CHEAPER than ELSEWHERE?

WE have our Store Chock full of Bargains. Come one and all, and we will do the best we can to please you.

Yours for Business,



L. D. SHARP

Linwood W Va.

The Greatest Medicinal Whiskey the World has Ever Known.

BRADDOCK PURE RYE + AND BARLEY MALT,

SMOOTH, SOFT, RICH, RIPE, MELLOW AND CHEMICALLY PURE, A RECOMMENDATION IN ITSELF.

TRY A GALLON AT $2.00

Mail Orders solicited either great or small and receive our personal and prompt attention. Drop us a postal for price list. Don't use inferior goods but mail us your orders; we can save you money and perhaps your health.

JAS CLARK DISTILLING CO., JNO. McQUAIDE Mngr.

Distillers of Braddock Pure Rye, Wholesale and Retail Liquor Dealers.

20 and 22 South New St., Staunton, Va.

THE OSBORNE SPRING TOOTH HARROW

The frames are made in one piece of steel angle bar, and formed to withstand all strain without buckling or warping.

The teeth in this Harrow are so spaced that they will not trail each other, Pulverizing the ground thoroughly.

The steel pipe tooth bars are mounted in malcible boxes secured to the frame, and will not bend or break.

The peculiar shape of the teeth curling two-thirds about the bar gives the greatest amount of spring possible without straining the bolts, and because of their shape and fastening they are stronger than used on any other harrow.

By the levers, the depth of the work can be regulated while the Harrow is in motion.

The draft is steady and direct, as the Harrow has no side motion.

ALL THESE FEATURES COMBINED HAVE MADE THE OSBORNE CELEBRATED.

It has no EQUAL,—it never will have a SUPERIOR.

Call and examine the Osborne line consisting of—

BINDERS, MOWERS, RAKES, TEDDERS, HARROWS AND, CULTIVATORS.

The most complete line of Farming Implements to be found the State.

For sale by

EAGLE & OTT,

RONCEVERTE, W. VA.

FURNITURE FACTORY

AND

Furniture Store.

Fine Furniture Made to Order.

STOCK ALWAYS ON HAND.

I am occupying the Temporary Court-house and am prepared to make to order all kinds of Furniture at lower prices than can be obtained elsewhere. Don't be cheated in Furniture but buy from a reliable cabinet maker who works up the native woods.

I can order you furniture from the city at better terms than you can to save your life. Whenever you need anything in my line, you will save money by giving me a call.

W. J. Killingsworth.

...cahontas Times.

MAY 14, 1897.

...' Cakes and brother Scots, ...hitch to Johnny Grants, ...hole in a' your coats, ...e trust it; ...ance you takin' notice, ...ds to preent a...fr'ces.

...al Events.

...d hunter has been around ...ain trying to sell it ...

...timated cost of the six ...on the Monongahela riv...$2,000.

...s-to-be farmer named ...J. Porter was run over ...d by a C. & O. R. R. train ...ston.

...s WOLF, of Terra Alta, ...County, who shot Frank ...r the alleged betrayal of ...r, has been released on ...

...ino woman at Parsons, ...allie James, shot a negro ...n. Huklins, three times, ...serious wounds. The ...en by the woman was that ...had insulted her.

...y 31, a person near Savan... a load of hay to Grassy ...2 or 15 miles west, and ...he snow sixteen inches. ...The cattle were more than ...aves the hay, from the way ...loyed it.

...SENATOR Peter S. Hyde ...Winchester while on a tour ...nia. His home was at ...st and his occupation that ...ker. He has been prom...public affairs. Rev C. F. ...his pastor, went to Win... to accompany the remains ...mont.

...Chesapeake & Ohio R. R. ...n experimenting with a new ...tive equipped for the moun...tion. At a recent trial trip ...these locomotives pulled a ...Pullman cars six miles on ...ain road at an average rate ...le in fifty-six seconds. The ...mile was made in fifty-two ...s.

...the opinion of a prominent ...l revenue officer of this ...according to the Baltimore ...hat the decision of the Su... Court on the question of ...arette law may affect "the ...isting to the sale of liquors ...t they may be sold under ...ement wording of the statute, ...t the payment State or mu... licenses.

...has developed that Charles ...n, the victim of the Monty ...y city gang, was the heir to ...te worth near a million. He ...paid to the criminal class him... did not know of the for...

...His wife has been sentenc... 18 years confinement, as ac... to his murder. His child... to double have been cast on ...legitimacy, will doubtless in... the wealth.

...ND was received by Dr Ligon ...ver Lick, that his daughter, ...harles Arbuckle, of Mason... is dangerously ill of pulmonary ...rouble. Miss Arbuckle ...d at once for Missouri. A la...elegram brings information ...Mrs Arbuckle is better. Miss ...d Ligon came up from the ...sburg Female Institute, Wed...y.

...as Asbury, West Greenbrier, ...million north of Alderson, is ...e one of the kings of the dog... trees has pitched his tent of ...ial proportion and snowy ...ness. He measures 21 inches ...d the belt, is tall and symetri... and stands about one hundred ...s from Anderson's big red ...

...There is quite a number of ...trees in his retinue that ...ld be uncommon trees else...

...ATLEE sows hope to Mr and ...Samuel H. Robinson, of Mon... county. Two of the children ...ering and doing well. The ...ew Watchman does not chron...births as a rule, but this event ...e assumed to go unnoticed. ...Editor quotes: "As arrows ...in the hand of a mighty man, ...so the young children." Happy ...is man who hath his quiver ...full of them; they shall not be ...ashamed, but they shall speak with ...enemies in the gate."

...the morning of May 2nd pre...ed a scene that is only to be ...countered once and seldom ...ce in a long life time. The view ...s not the writer's gaze two ...ousand of Mackinaw chickens ...highest descriptive powers to ...ll justice. The crust of the ...ground was draped in snow, the ...e were white as in winter, the ...ir wheat fields by way of con...ast seemed to be covered with ...ow, the cherry trees in full ...ower, the snowy forest trees above ...the gently and white as the ...ilies. Here and there the ...ck and the peach displayed ...r varied charms. Some re...ained unscathed by the snow ...d were full fruit. Some re...ained to be covering of ...ves and were left bare by ...e biting chemic. It was a day ...ong to be remembered. The ...ing winds had not yet ...ought the autumn ...omplete tempest. Fruit...ers are to be congratulated ...on the fortunate saying ...ason.

...Sold and Gone But...

...A model both tuneful and wise ...

One of the most awful things happened here last Sunday. All the beauties of the town walked in their new spring hats, tan shoes, and trimmings, with their escorts. While in the fastness of the mountain known as Kee's Hollow a tremendous shower came up suddenly and the new hats and spring dresses got the worse of it.

A FATAL accident occurred last Saturday near Christiansburg, Va. Two sons of Robert Collins were hunting, and ran a ground squirrel into a hollow log. Both looked into the log from either end. The older boy, aged eighteen, shot into the log with his pistol and instantly killed his younger brother, aged sixteen, who was looking into the log from the other end.

KERP JOHNSON, aged about fifteen, was badly bitten by his own dog last week, a large and powerful black brute, who has long been regarded as dangerous. Some boys had located a rabbit in a brush pile and were trying to dislodge it with sticks and stones. By accident the dog was hit by one of the stones and turned on his master and pulling him to the ground, bit him savagely on the arm. A younger brother probably saved him from terrible injuries by beating the dog off with an ax.

ATTORNEYS McClintic and Scott went to Hillsboro last Saturday to try a law suit between John Bolton and S. J. Payne. The suit was for a small amount involved in a settlement, the subject of controversy being a coil of barbed wire valued at $4.25. The wire was in the store house Payne rented from Bolton, and was delivered by Payne to one Ramsey. Ramsey claimed on the stand that he had bought it of Payne, while Payne held his written statement that he got it on Bolton's order. The judgement was in favor of Payne for a few dollars and costs.

ROBERTS, who beat his wife, has obtained thro his attorneys, Rucker and McNeill, a statement as to hereditary insanity in his family. The certificate states that Richard Roberts, the father of the prisoner, was an inmate in the Western Insane Asylum, of Pennsylvania, for five years. A letter from the Superintendent brings the information that Richard Roberts was at times violent; one of his most notable freaks being to have possessed himself of a sledge hammer and to have destroyed all the tombstones in a country church yard in one night.

In order that the reader may be reliably informed as to what kind of a shine a young horse will cut when he has a tin bucket tied to his tail, we give the true particulars that led to Loyd Moore's selling a horse last week. John Gay and Raymond Mann made the experiment at Col. Levi Gay's place, Wednesday week. The young horse came loafing around and the boys got a tin bucket and tied it to the horse's tail and put two rocks in it, having previously pointed the horse in the direction of Marlinton. The horse went off immediately trying to outrun the bucket. He passed the ford at Stoney Creek and turned a complete somerset in a deep hole in that creek and remained under the water for a moment. He got out and made for Marlinton as fast as ever. The bucket toughed it out for a half a mile, but then gave up the chase. The horse managed to cut himself badly and otherwise bruise and destroy himself. To keep down a fuss the boys bought the horse at $45 and they have ceased tying things to his tail, but have dressed his wounds, having satisfied their curiosity. Thus peace spread her pinions, and a law suit was averted.

Musical Association.

The Pocahontas County Musical Association will convene at Edray, Thursday, May 27, at 7 p. m. The music leaders from the different parts of the county are requested to attend, and bring their music books with them. All lovers of music are invited.

JOHN WEIMER, President.

See that it is there!

This is the trade-mark which is on the wrapper (salmon-colored) of every bottle of the genuine SCOTT'S EMULSION. Be sure this is on the package, and that nothing else is palmed off on you when you ask for it.

Nothing has been made that equals it to give a weight and so as fast to those who are once down or emaciated.

Your doctor will tell you that it is the best food for all those whose weight is below the standard of health.

Put up in 50 cts and $1.00 sizes, and sold by all druggists.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

Letter from Bath County, Va.

ARMSTRONG, VA., May 3, 1897.—There had been very little rain here since the first of April until last Friday, and since then several nice showers have fallen, which will do the wheat and grass a great deal of good, and also extinguish the forest fires that have been raging in almost every section of the country.

The hard freezes about the middle of April are supposed to have killed all the peaches, and if the cold weather continues it is feared that the apple crop will be injured too.

Mrs M. M. Armstrong planted a piece of corn last Friday,—the first in this community. Spring-time is later this year than can be remembered for many years. Consequently things are backward in growing.

Mrs Lucy Botkin, nee McCray, of Pendleton County, W. Va., visited Mrs Armstrong, recently. Mrs Armstrong expects to visit her brother, Mr Siple, of Green Bank, W. Va., next week.

George Jordan expects to start to Dunsmore College, Staunton, to-day.

Sunday-school was organized at the "Camp Ground" Sunday morning, with Mr Add Beck as Superintendent; John Rhea, Assistant Superintendat; Miss Jarrie Armstrong, Secretary; and Miss Lizzie Rous, Treasurer. Owing to the inclemency of the weather the attendance was small, and no teachers were appointed.

Rev B. D. Bishop, of the M. E. Church, was sent back to this field for another year. He delivered an eloquent sermon at the "Camp Ground" April 25.

Off Monday last fire got out at Ben Brill's saw-mill, on Mill Creek, burning his shanty and a lot of lumber, and swept up the valley spreading devastation for several miles. As a brisk breeze was blowing, it crossed the county road, in spite of the efforts of twenty men to stop it.

Mrs M. J. Bright, who for some time has been a patient in the Sheltering Arms Hospital, Richmond, Va., is expected home soon. She writes that she has not improved much during her stay.

Miss Pearl Bradford, of Iowa, is a guest of Mr and Mrs Add Beck.

Miss Daisie Bright has returned to Millboro, where she will remain for some time.

Our worthy and highly-esteemed citizen, D. F. Detimore, who has been running a saw-mill near here for some time, started for Highland County, last week, with his family and traction engine,—which by the way became an "attraction" engine, for the "spark-catcher" being accidentally (?) left off, coals and sparks thrown out at the smoke-stbek set fire to the dry leaves on either side of the road, causing several of our "Scotch Town" neighbors to have quite a lively time of it for awhile. The fire extended to the Cowpasture River, where the engine was stopped by enraged citizens.

Charlie Cleek, of Jacksons River, and Frank Patterson, of Green Bank, were in our community a day or two last week.

Mr John Wanless has torn down a part of his house and is erecting a large and more commodious one in its place.

The Dunkards had a baptizing at Broadway, April 25. Several of our young folks attended.

Mr Ike Grahan's family, of Back Draft, have been quite sick from typhoid fever, but are convalescing now.

LEAFY.

Green Bank.

The weather has been very cool. March is paying back with compound interest.

The Sunday schools in both churches are in flourishing condition.

Rev. J. M. Every preached his first sermon on May 9.

Miss Daisy Yeager, of Marlinton, is visiting at J. O. Beard's.

Miss Bertie Beard spent last week with her cousin, Miss Maggie Kerr.

B. M. Yeager passed thro our town on Monday evening.

Died, on Monday morning, infant child of Mr and Mrs William Bright.

Sheep buyers are very plentiful in this vicinity. LETTY LEIGH.

What They Say.

GENTLEMEN,—Enclosed I send you a dollar to renew my subscription to The Times. I like the paper very much, especially the "Autographical Sketches." With many of the persons referred to I used to be acquainted.

Yours respectfully,
REV M. MCNEILL.
Smithville, W. Va.

Low Rates to Nashville.

Tickets to Centennial and International Exposition at Nashville, Tenn., on sale at Millboro, Va., on limited trains, and trip sold on Tuesdays and Thursdays each week at the low rate of $12.00. 30-day ticket, $17.50.

S. L. TILLEY, Agent.

DOCTOR—"Now what did your father and mother die of?" Applicant for Insurance—"Well, sir, I don't say as I exactly remember, but I guess it's nothing serious."—Punch.

ABOUT 2.25 inches of rain fell Thursday morning.

Knapps Creek.

Cold, snowing, raining and freezing, so May of '97 comes in. The old adage, 'a late easter, a late spring,' seems to have been verified this year.

The health of this community is moderately good at present. Mrs. Andrew Herold was taken very sick on Monday.

Extensive mountain fires on the Alleghany would have done a great deal of damage but for the timely rains. A. W. Moore had two stacks of hay and some fence. The Gibson brothers lost some fence by the forest fires.

D. W. Dever has returned from an extended visit to Pendleton. He seems anxious to know how the grass is coming on, on Elk.

Prof. Lantz's sister is staying at his home at present.

Quarterly meeting at Mt Vernon passed off quietly with two able sermons by the Presiding Elder.

Rev Parrott was gladly received.

Sunday school was organized at Mt. Vernon last Sunday. The Sunset Sunday school has been postponed two weeks on account of the quarterly meetings.

KAUGHT.

Wise Sharp and Ben Herold are done planting corn.

The quarterly meeting at Frost was largely attended. Rev. D. C. Hedrie preached two able sermons. We need more men like Mr Hedric.

C. B. Swecker, of Dunmore, attended the meeting here Sunday.

The Davis Sewing Machine Co. has six agents in Pocahontas.

Miss Maggie Lantz, of Pendleton, is visiting her brother J. H. Lantz of Frost.

Dennis Dever has gone west, but it only took one day to make the trip.

William and Sherman Gibson lost about one thousand rails, and A. W. some fence and two stacks of hay recently by forest fires. The man who sets the woods on fire will strike a place sooner or later that will be holter than the woods were.

Ben Sharp is off to the depot this week. BILLEY MC.

Dunmore.

It rains, snows, and the sun shines. The farmers plant corn and a few of the road overseers have given the roads a lick and a promise. We must say that Amos Vertig has worked the roads between McCutcheon's and Dilley's Mill in good shape.

We see that Capt C. B. Swecker has returned from the Northern cities. He attended circuit court at Beverly last week. He found about four inches of snow on Cheat, and says the railroad will not reach Travelers Repose before sometime next year.

Colonel Dan O'Connell was up in the upper end of the county.

Professor John White went to Travelers Repose last week to catch a trout.

James Darnell has moved to his farm above Green Bank.

John Wes Carpenter had a run-off Sunday—an upset buggy and a general smashup.

Worth Nottingham was thrown from a horse Monday morning and badly hurt.

Stonewall has been gone a week to see his girl.

R. R. Mason is moving to his farm near Dunmore this week.

Jake McLaughlin is home to stay a while.

B. B. Hambrick has moved to his new house near J. B. McCutcheon's.

John and Howard Wooddell will move their sawmill to McDowell this week.

We understand that Clarence Gum, near Green Bank, had a leg amputated last Friday.

The big meeting at Frost was largely attended on Sunday last.

Peyton Moore is canvassing for Hon W. J. Bryan's great book, "The First Battle." Every man should read this wonderful book on bimetallism.

Everybody that is interested in fixing up the grave-yard at Dunmore will meet at Baker Church on Friday, the 21st instant, and help fix up and lay off a nice grave yard. The timber is on the ground to fence it. Those not able to buy monuments or tomb-stones, can bring a good nice stone two or three feet long and set it up at the grave of your friend or relative. If you loved your friends before they died, you ought also to remember them. Do n't neglect this matter.

Captain C. B. Swecker is anxious to have an Odd Fellows lodge organized at Dunmore or Green Bank this summer, and thinks it can easily be done.

GRANNY CORNPONE.

I AM no prophet, but I can look far enough into the future to see the time when such suits as I now offer for $2.50 will command at least $4.00, and you will call them dirt cheap at that. They are on the bottom rung of the price ladder, and there is but one way for them to go—and that is up. I cannot promise that $2.50 will do as much for you here after in the season as it does now. Right now is the right time to get my goods and to purchase them.

PAUL GOLDEN.

Bicycle for Sale.

An 1896 "Monitor" in first-class order—nickeled. Inquire of this office.

CHURCH NOTES.

THE Rev J. S. Lightbourne will preach at Clover Lick Sunday, May 16, 11 a. m., and 7 p. m. The appointments at Marlinton and Hillsboro are withdrawn.

THIRD Sunday in May: Huntersville, 11 a. m.; Bethel, 3 p. m.; Mt Vernon, 7:30 p. m.

B. L. PARROTT, Pastor.

Preaching at Sunset the fourth Sabbath at 11 a. m. Huntersville at night. Also preaching at Mt. Vernon on the 5th Sabbath of May at 11 a. m. Frost at night, by Rev W. T. Price.

WANTED, INDIAN RELICS.—Arrows, spears, hatchets, pipes, etc., in good condition. Apply at this office.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, made on the day of April Term, 1897, in the chancery cause therein pending of John R. Moore vs. James E. Johnson, the undersigned special commissioner will on

Tuesday, June 15, 1897,

the first day of the Circuit Court of said county, at the front door of the court-house of said county, proceed to rent at public auction to the highest bidder a tract of

374 ACRES,

as the property of the defendant, James E. Johnson, for the term of five years. Said land comprises the farm upon which the said James E. Johnson resides—is partially improved, and comprises valuable farming and timber lands.

TERMS OF RENTAL: So much cash in hand as will pay costs of suit and expenses of rental and as for the residue the purchaser executing bonds with good personal security due in six and twelve months from day of sale with the legal title to be retained as ultimate security.

OR

In case said lands above described, after having been offered in the manner aforesaid shall fail to rent for a sum sufficient to pay off and discharge all liens against it decreed to be paid in this suit, the costs of this suit and expenses of sale, then, at the same time and place and in the manner aforesaid, the undersigned special commissioner will offer for sale said tract 374 acres, or so much as shall be necessary to satisfy said decree.

TERMS OF SALE: So much cash in hand as will pay the costs of suit and expenses of sale, and as for the residue the purchaser will be required to execute two bonds due in six and twelve months from day of sale, with good personal security, the legal title to be retained as ultimate security.

ANDREW PRICE,
Special Commissioner.

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of said county, do certify that the above special commissioner has given bond as required in said decree.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

Commissioner's Notice.

Commissioner's Office,
Marlinton, W. Va.
April 14, 1897

Caroline E. Warwick's Executors against
Caroline E. Warwick's heirs.

All persons interested will take notice that pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, rendered in the above styled cause at the April Term, 1897, in the foregoing cause I will proceed at my office in the town of Marlinton, West Virginia, on the 4th day of June, 1897, to take, state, and report to the next term of the Circuit Court of said county the following matters of account, to-wit:

1.—A settlement of the accounts of John C. Warwick and Emma N. Warwick, Executors of the last will and testament of the decedent Caroline E. Warwick.

2.—Whether or not the personal property of the decedent is sufficient to pay all of the debts of the decedent.

3.—An account of all the liens on the real estate of the decedent and their respective priorities.

4.—An account of all other unpaid debts of the decedent.

5.—An account of the real estate owned by the decedent at the time of her death, subject to the payment of her debts, together with the approximate value of each of said tracts, and whether or not there are any specific liens thereon.

6.—What would be a reasonable fee to the plaintiff's attorney in this cause.

7.—Any other matter required by any party in interest, etc.

W. A. BRATTON,
[4 w] Commissioner.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

To the creditors of Caroline E. Warwick, deceased:

In pursuance of a decree of the Circuit Court of the County of Pocahontas made in a cause therein pending, to settle the real estate of the said Caroline E. Warwick to the payment of her debts, you are required to present your claims against the estate of the said Caroline E. Warwick for adjustment to M. J. Beard, Commissioner, at his office in Marlinton, W. Va., on said county, on or before the 4th day of June, 1897.

Witness, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of said Court, this 14th day of April, 1897.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
[4 weeks]

IT TICKLES YOU
THE INSTANT RELIEF YOU GET FROM
LIGHTNING HOT DROPS.

CURES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.
HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Bites of Animals, Serpents, Bugs, etc.
BREAKS UP Bad Colds, La Grippe, Influenza, Croup, Sore Throat, etc.
SMELLS GOOD. TASTES GOOD.
SOLD EVERYWHERE AT 25c AND 50c PER BOTTLE. NO RELIEF, NO PAY.
HERB MEDICINE CO. (Formerly of Warren, W. Va.) SPRINGFIELD, O.

Keep Your

on this Space.

50 Reasons
WHY
You should trade with Sol Davis, Green Bank

1 Low Prices
2 Best of Goods
3 Quality unsurpassed
4 Great Variety
5 Polite Attention
6 Every Deal a Bargain
7 Guaranteed as Represented
8 Glad to Please You
9 Full Value for your Money
10 Latest Styles
11 An Easy Selection
12 You get Satisfaction
13 You are Protected
14 No Advantage Taken
15 A Fair and Square Deal
16 You Save Money
17 The Goods are Reliable
18 A Complete Stock
18 Great Inducements
20 All kinds of Produce Taken
21 Highest Market Price Paid
22 Fancy Prices unknown
23 Meritorious Stock
24 Prices that Please
25 Customers Leave Smiling
26 No Disappointment
27 You Find What You Want
28 What you Buy is Choice
29 A Guarantee of Goodness
30 Your Patronage Appreciated
31 Store Freshly Stocked
32 Popular Goods
33 Popular Prices
34 Headquarters for Bargains
35 We Under buy
36 We Undersell
37 Leaders of Trade
38 Always a Rare Choice
39 You Get Honest Goods
40 Golden Opportunity
41 Profit Sharing
42 Cream of the Market
43 Best Place to Buy
44 Promises Kept
45 Statements Verified
46 Your Welcome Assured
47 Inspection Solicited
48 Not Urged to Buy
49 Stock Carefully Bought
50 You get the Best & Cheapest

Head to foot Outfitter for Men, Women, and Children. Yours for Business,
Green Bank, W. Va. SOL. DAVIS.

MAY HAS COME,
The leaves are turning out, and why not turn over a New Leaf and buy your goods of me? saving from 15 to 25 per cent.
By so doing you will never get in trouble and be dunned for money.

SAVE YOUR WOOL, BUTTER, EGGS, GRAIN, &C., &C.

Pay for goods at the time you get them, and you will not be in trouble all the time. This is how I can sell cheaper than anyone else.

I want your money and country produce. My stock of goods will be constantly added to, and you will be treated right. I want your Wool. Call and see me before you dispose of it elsewhere. Remember I take all kinds of produce at best market prices.

S. J. BOGGS
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

We have a plan by which Farmers can get
TOOL CHESTS FREE

The Pocahontas Times.

EDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, May 14, 1897.

Subscription ONE DOLLAR in advance. If not paid within the year $1.50 will be charged.

Entered at the post office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

County Directory

Judge ..... J. M. McWhorter
Pros. Attorney ... L. M. McClintic
Sheriff ..... R. W. Hill
Clerk County Court ... S. L. Brown
Clerk Circuit Court, J. H. Patterson
Assessor ..... J. H. Barnard
Com'rs. Co. Ct. { Amos Barlow / C. C. Beard / J. B. Warwick
Surveyor ..... George Baxter
Coroner ..... George P. Moore

BOARD OF HEALTH—Dr. J. W. Price, L. M. McClintic, M. J. McCoy, R. W. Hill.

JUSTICES—Uriah Bird, Marlinton; A. C. L. Gatewood, Linwood; S. D. Arbogast, Green Bank; W. H. Gross, Hunterville; G. B. Cochran, Academy; T. A. Bradley, Lobelia.

J. H. CLARK

House and Sign Painter, Hillsboro, W. Va., does his work well. Uses the new discovery for binding White Lead. No Chalking or Scaling.—Give him a trial.

3m19 6m

The Sun.

The First of American Newspapers. Charles A. Dana, Editor.

The American Constitution, the American Idea, the American Spirit. These first last, and all the time, forever.

DAILY, by mail, - - - $6 a year
DAILY and SUNDAY $8 a year

THE

Sunday Sun

is the greatest Sunday Newspaper in the world.

Price 5c a copy. By mail $2 a year

Address THE SUN, New York.

THE ODELL TYPE WRITER

$20 will buy the ODELL TYPE WRITER with 78 characters, WHICH IS ADMITTED TO DO AS GOOD WORK AS ANY machine made.

IT COMBINES SIMPLICITY + HIGH SCRATCH + DURABILITY + SPEED + EASE OF OPERATION, WEARS longer without cost of repairs than any other machine. Its ink ribbon is under the operator. It is NEAT, SUBSTANTIAL, nickel-plated, perfect and is adapted to all kinds of typewriting. Life's a pretty prose. It produces sharp, clean, legible manuscripts. Two or ten copies can be made at one writing. Any intelligent person can become an operator in two days.

Reliable Agents and Salesmen Want ed. For Pamphlet giving information, etc., address:

ODELL TYPE WRITER CO.
166-168 Dearborn St. CHICAGO, ILL
Mention this paper.

SPECIAL POTATO FERTILIZER

For High Grade General Phosphates made from

VEGETABLE and ANIMAL MATTER,

every farmer should write for prices, terms, and circulars.

AMERICAN REDUCTION CO.
Pittsburg, Pa.

R.I.P.A.N.S

Ripans Tabules
Are the best.

Ripans Tabules
Are the best.

Ripans Tabules
Are the best.

Scientific American Agency for PATENTS

Scientific American

Tutt's Pills Cure All Liver Ills.

Twenty Years Proof.

Tutt's Liver Pills keep the bowels in natural motion and cleanse the system of all impurities An absolute cure for sick headache, dyspepsia, sour stomach, constipation and kindred diseases.

"Can't do without them"

R. P. Smith, Chilesburg, Va. writes I don't know how I could do without them, I have had Liver disease for over twenty years. Am now entirely cured.

Tutt's Liver Pills

THE NEW JOURNALISM.

In the interest of the Blatherskite
she had gone to far Fiji
To investigate the cannibal's cuisine;
The result of her "Exposures"
forced her rapidly to flee,
Or she might have graced the royal soup tureen.

In pursuance of her duties she'd been strung up by the neck
To describe a lady's feelings
when she's hung,
And in a diver's dress she once descended on a wreck,
An adventure nearly costing her a lung.

In a patent safety coffin she had patiently allowed Herself to be interred to prove its worth;
Tho forgotten through some eyesight she uttered not a word
Of complaint about her sojourn under earth.

Devotion to her work this young woman proved by acts,
And risks and dangers never made her quail;
But she kicked when they assigned her to secure some "inside facts"
About Jonah's being swallowed by the whale!

—E. D. Pierson, in New York Sun.

Now comes the gladdest month of the whole year. May is the month of the apple blossoms, of the happy green fields, vocal with the strains, &c., &c.—Hartford Times, in a moment of rapture.

Now comes the baddest month of the whole year. May is the month of minnesingers and various other poets, in Hartford and elsewhere, but what is it as a matter of sharp fact? The humbug of the calendar, the charlatan among months, the three-card monte man in the procession of the seasons. Cold with an unpardonable perversity, or hot with a premature and an infernal heat. The fomenter of rheums and rheumatism. May begins with a sore throat and ends with a sunstroke. If poets could be saved for misrepresentation of essential facts, their remarks about this month of May would send all the harps in the world to the pawnshop every year. Take the Hartford Satterer of May. Was he roaming through the happy green fields, vocal with the rains, yesterday? Was he dancing a coranto on the lawn? Did he have posies around his occiput and a branch of blossoms in his harp hand? Not much. He was sitting by a wood fire, smoking a Connecticut cigar which drew no better than the chimney. He had a flannel garland around his neck, and inquired anxiously for his overshoes. Such are the fictions of the hymners of May in those latitudes.

TO DYE or not to dye, that's the question. If dye you must on account of your grizzly beard, use Buckingham's Dye; it is the best and the cleanest.

FEED, LIVERY AND SALE STABLES.

First-Rate Teams and Saddle Horses Provided.

[illegible] Horses for Sale and Hire at [illegible]

SPECIAL ACCOMMODATIONS FOR DRUMMERS.

A limited number of Horses boarded.

All persons having horses to trade are invited to call. Young horses broke or to ride or work.

J. G. G. WILSON,
Marlinton, W. Va.

Pocahontas Home Fire Insurance Co., of West Virginia.

J. S. SYDENSTRICKER — President
S. P. HILL — Secretary — [illegible]

[illegible]

Mr Cleveland Borrows Again.

It may have escaped the notice of some that Mr Grover Cleveland in his recent speech to "the 312 a plate Democracy resorted to his old trick of plagiarism.

It will be remembered that after the passage of the Wilson Tariff bill Mr Cleveland characterized the Senators who opposed his tariff ideas as "guilty of perfidy" and as traitors "whose treason like a deadly blight blasted the councils of true Democracy," etc., parboiling his ideas and substantially his language from Tom Moore's "Lalla Rookh," where he says:

O for a tongue to curse the slave
Whose treason like a deadly blight
Comes o'er the councils of the brave
And blasts them in their hour of [blight.

He gave Tom Moore no credit.

But, when Mr Cleveland should have old enough to know better, he concluded his great oration to his disciples at the last ($12 a plate) supper by promising that the "Democracy" under his guidence would become "redeemed, regenerated and disenthralled."

However ludicrious such language from such a source may sound to all real Democrats, there is absolutely no excuse for this piracy for such a purpose upon one of the grandest passages in the English language, taken from John Philpot Curran's speech in defence of Archibald Hamilton Rawan, as follows:

"I speak in the spirit of the British law, which makes liberty commensurate with and inseparable from British soil; which proclaims even to the stranger and sojourner the moment he sets foot upon the British earth that the ground upon which he treads is holy and consecrated by the genius of universal emancipation. No matter in what language his doom may have been pronounced; no matter what complexion incompatible with freedom an Indian or an African sun may have burnt upon him; no matter in what disastrious battle his liberty may have been cloven down; no matter with what solemnities he may have been devoted upon the altar of slavery, the first moment he touches the sacred soil Britain the altar and the god sink to gether in the dust; his soul walks abroad in his own majesty, his body swells beyond the measure of his chains, that burst from around him, and he stands redeemed, regenerated and disenthralled by the irresistable genius of universal emancipation."—Exchange.

THERE is more Catrarh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten to drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by druggists 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Commissioner's Notice.

COMMISSIONERS OFF CE.
Marlinton, W. Va.,
April 13, 1897.

B. M. Yeager
vs.
J. H. Buzzard, Constable and others

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, W. Va., rendered at the April term 1897, of said Court in the above entitled case, I will proceed at my office in the town of Marlinton, W. Va., on the 17 day of May, 1897, to take, state, and report to the June Term of said Court the following matters of account, to wit:

1—An account showing what amounts were due from J. H. C. Arbogast, S. P. C., in the several school districts in this county on the 1st day of July, 1893.

2—An account showing what amount was due from said J. C. Arbogast, as sheriff of this county, to said district from the tax books in his office referred to in the bill now taken and over to Levi Gay.

3—What amount said Levi Gay had paid on said indebtedness.

4—What amount of outstanding school orders drawn by said district there now are, and to whom due.

5—Whether or not B. M. Yeager became chargeable with any of the balances due from said J. C. Arbogast, S. P. C., to said district at the date when the new bond of 1893 became operative.

6—Whether or not J. C. Arbogast was insolvent when said bond of $10,000 given under section 46 of chapter 42 of the code, on which B. M. Yeager and Adam Arbogast were his sureties, was executed.

7—Whether or not there was a election made by J. C. Arbogast to charge himself under the new bond with the balances found due from him under the old bond, and also whether such election was ratified by the said several districts.

8—What amount of money collected by Levi Gay on the tickets issued over to him by J. C. Arbogast is he now entitled to receive, and what amount is he now indebted to said district, and to whom.

9—Whether or not J. C. Arbogast was insolvent when said bond was executed and delivered and whether or not he was then and there a proper person to execute the same, which notice should be published in the "Pocahontas Times," a newspaper published in Pocahontas County, W. Va., once a week for four successive weeks, before the next succeeding term of said Court.

The Remedy for Rheumatism.

From the Patchaven (N. Y.) Register.

Mr James Rowland, of this village, states that for twenty-five years his wife has been a sufferer from rheumatism. A few nights ago she was in such pain that she was nearly crazy. She sent Mr. Rowland for the doctor, but he had read of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and instead of going for the physician he went to the store and secured a bottle of it. His wife did not approve of Mr Rowland's purchase at first, but nevertheless applied the Balm thoroughly and in an hour's time was able to go to sleep. She now applies its when-ever she feels an ache or pain and finds that it always gives relief. He says that no medicine which she had used ever did her as much good. The 25 and fifty cent sizes for sale by druggists.

MERSO TOMSON, a peddler, was shot and killed near Mannington, and his body robbed of $300 by parties unknown.

"It is the Best on Earth."

THAT is what Edwards & Parker, merchants of Plains, Ga., say of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, for rheumatism, lame back, deep seated and muscular pains. For sale by drug gists.

Commissioner's Notice.

Office of S. B. Scott, Jr., Comm'r }
Marlinton, W. Va, April 16, 1897 }

State of West Virginia .... Plaintiff
vs.
Joseph P. Moore, E. M. Buzzard, Perry A. Buzzard, Armenius Buzzard, William A. Buzzard, Sarah D. Grimes, Mary A. Buzzard, W. A. G. Sharp, J. A. Sharp, E. N. Moore, Isaac Shinneberry, Joseph Sharp, J. W. Rider, Belle Rider, Laura Irene Rider, John Smith, Josiah Dilley, Ralph Dilley, William Dilley, Mary Barlow Lindsay H. Sharp, Jeremiah Dilley, Clayton Dilley, Clark Dilley, Margaret M. Sutton, Mahala Friel, the unknown heirs of Rosanah Rider, deceased; the unknown heirs of Mary Hartman, deceased; the unknown heirs of Ann McCollum, deceased; the unknown heirs of Letetia Bird, deceased; the unknown heirs of Jane Swadley, deceased; the unknown heirs of Nancy Moore, deceased; Nancy Waugh, Eric E. Smith, James Sharp, Andrew Sharp, Crawford Sharp, Hardin Sharp, Asariah Sharp, Jordan Sharp, and Robert Sharp,
.....Defendants.

The plaintiff and each and all of the above named defendants, and all unknown owners and claimants of any part or parcel of the lands mentioned in the plaintiff's bill in the above entitled cause, will take notice that on the

20th DAY OF MAY, 1897,

at my office in the town of Marlinton, Pocahontas County, W. Va., I will commence the discharge of my duties under the decree of reference in the above entitled cause, a copy of which decree is published with this notice, at which time and place you can and each of you can attend and protect and defend any interest you may have in the lands or any of them in question in this suit.

Given under my hand this the 16th day of April, 1897.

S. B. SCOTT, Jr., Commissioner.

State of West Virginia
vs. } in chancery
John Sharp, Sr., Heirs, et als.

This cause, which has been regularly matured at rules and set for hearing, came on this day to be heard upon the bill and exhibits therewith filed and the fact an swer of Joseph F. Moore, E. M. Buzzard, Perry A. Buzzard, Wm. C. Buzzard, Mary A. Buzzard, Sarah D. Grimes, and E. N. Moore. The bill taken for confessed as to the rest of the defendants, and argument of counsel.

On consideration whereof it is ordered that this cause be referred to S. B. Scott, one of the commissioners of this court, to take, state, and report the following matters and things as to the $2508 acres alleged in the bill to be forfeited for the non payment of the taxes thereon for the year 1892.

1st—For what year or years the said land has been forfeited for the non payment of taxes thereon, and for what year or years the State of West Virginia for the non-payment of the taxes thereon and subject to be sold for the benefit of the school fund.

2d—The amount of taxes, interest, costs, and damages due and unpaid thereon.

3d—Whether the location of said land is ascertainable, and, if so, its general location.

4th—The title or claim of the defendants who have answered in relation to said land, how derived, the nature and character of the same.

5th—In whom the title of said land is now vested, by forfeiture or otherwise, and when, if any tax, is needed to redeem said land.

6th—Such other matters and things as said commissioner may deem proper and any of the parties in interest may require.

And it is further ordered that the said commissioner before proceeding to execute the decree shall give notice to the parties interested or any of them, by publishing once a week for four successive weeks in the Pocahontas Times, a newspaper published in Pocahontas County, the time and place when he will proceed to execute the decree, which notice shall be published in the "Pocahontas Times," a newspaper published in Pocahontas County, before the next succeeding term of this court.

A copy—Teste:
W. A. McCLINTIC, Clerk.

MEDICAL WISDOM.

THE DREADED CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

T. A. Slocum, M. C., the great Chemist and Scientist, Offers to Send Free, to Afflicted, Every Bottle of His Newly-Discovered Remedies to Cure Consumption and All Lung Troubles.

Nothing could be fairer, more philanthopic or carry more joy in its wake than the offer of T. A. Slocum, M. C., of 183 Pearl street New York City.

Confident that he has discovered an absolute cure for consumption and all pulminary complaints, and to make its great merits known, he will send, free, three bottles to any reader of the Pocahontas TIMES, who is suffering from chest, bronchial, throat and lung troubles or consumption.

Always this "new scientific course of medicine" has permanently cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases.

The Doctor considers it his religious duty—as a gift which he owes to humanity—to donate his infallible cure.

Afforded freely, apart from its inherent strength, is enough to commend it, and more so is the perfect confidence of the great chemist making the proposition.

He has proved consumption to be a curable disease beyond any doubt.

There will be no mistake in sending—the mistake will be in overlooking the generous offer which he owes to human

The Pocahontas Times.

Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

NO. 43 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, MAY 21, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

HIGH WATER INFORMATION.

Last Thursday morning found the town of Marlinton humid, and the inhabitants in a state bordering on excitement, for the rain had fallen in the last thirty hours to the amount of 2.54 inches, and the town stands low on a narrow neck of land. It is quite true that the water never interferes with it, but there is always a might-be that leads people to believe there will come an old '77 flood, when we will be covered with water and the people will have to fit. This is what, probably, gives some of our much talked-about citizens a deep-rooted and abiding aversion to water in any other form than that of a "chaser." But everybody most did congregate on the abutments of the bridge and talked about high water and pitied those unfortunate people who would have to move when the water got high enough to force them from their homes. The men talked of flooded gardens and cellars full of water, and the calamity one man reported that the water had made a pond where the old black hen had her nest, and chilled all the eggs that would have been chickens in a few days, and how he was to break the news to the old brood-hen so that she would understand and not go setting until the bleak November gales had slaked her enthusiasm.

No casualties of greater importance arising from the heavy rainfall were reported. Sometime while the group were watching the surging waters, an old resident could be heard explaining how the Greenbrier had a way of never having an overflow but that it was followed by another flood of lesser magnitude, and this was the tear which should wind up the season's flood. The greater flood was that of February 22 last.

The oldest man present remembered when about sixty years ago he came down from his home on the upland—from the same place where he now resides—to watch the river rise, and while standing near where the bridge now is the spectators were electrified to see a man's hat floating down the river. Next day he heard that the man to whom it belonged had been drowned while crossing Thorny Creek. His name was Twyman, a young school teacher. He and two companions had been to court at Huntersville, and coming to this stream endeavored to cross it. One, John Friel, had crossed; the second, James Sharp, was washed ashore on the side which he entered and saved himself. Twyman was swept away, and his long overcoat washing around the trunk of a small tree held his body until found, later on.

A man was sent down the west bank of the river to see if any traces of his body could be found, or if, possibly, he had been washed down into the river and had swam ashore. In the meantime an 18-inch snow had fallen, and on his way down he saw the track of a panther. Dogs were put on the trail, and the narrator said that he was in three feet of the brute when it was first raised by the dogs. It ran off but was driven back shortly by the dogs growling it, and sprang right amongst the pursuing party. Arriving near the oldest man of the party it jumped upon the side of a tree and was shot by him squarely in the eye.

The talk drifted on, and the show that the Greenbrier was putting up was contrasted unfavorably with previous exertions on its part, until it was seen that the river positively refused for the hundredth time to rise up in its might and sweep out the flourishing county-seat of Pocahontas, and its further proceedings interested us not.

THE TWO WARS.

The papers are much exercised over the strange conduct presented to the two wars of our time in regard to the month of the year. Turkey put no army into Greece in the case of the Spanish army in revolting Cuba, and subjugated the Greeks in two weeks. The Spanish army has been warring with a revolutionary force of about one-fifth the size of the Grecian army for twenty-seven months, and apparently the insurgents are as far as ever from being conquered.

The Turks invaded Greece from the north and were obliged to take passes from the Greeks where a handful of men should have held their position against a legion. They marched into a country where every fort was in the hands of the Greeks. On the other hand, Spain fought in a country where she was in possession of every fort and seaport. The revolutionary army was ill-provided with arms, lacked clothes and food, had no navy, and they fought in a country of swamps and jungles, which was an advantage in some respects but a great drawback in others. Spain was able to build two lines of forts, called trochas, hemming in and dividing the insurgent armies. She was also allowed to insult the American flag, which did much to prevent sympathizing Americans from aiding the Cubans. In spite of all this the ill-success of the Spaniards have made them the laughing stock of the whole world.

The reason probably lies in the manner in which the armies are commanded. The Turkish generals were brave competent, and honest. Greece had cowards and traitors for her leaders. Spain had her Weyler, whose name is emblematic of all that is cruel and pig-headed; while Cuba was served by patriots who fought without pay and lived upon almost nothing. But be the circumstances what they may, the fact that "the race is not always to the swift or the battle to the strong" has been once more illustrated.

AN UP-TO-DATE SUICIDE.

The body of a well-dressed girl was found in the Central Park reservoir, in New York City, on May 10. There is little clue to the identity of the unfortunate. She had evidently been handsome. She had taken the greatest pains to cause a sensation after she was gone. Tragic notes were found addressed to the Coroner,—one a request that her body be cremated with no services except the "playing of Mendelsohn's Wedding March from Midsummer's Night's Dream." Other scraps of paper were on the body with quotations from philosophers and poets. The following was there, accredited to Plato:

"If the soul should have departed from the body, polluted and impure in consequence of its subservience and attachment to this, and begets desires and pleasures so far as to imagine there is nothing real except what is corporeal, which one may touch and see, eat and drink, and make use of for sensual purposes, think you that a soul which is so disposed would be likely to depart independent and uncommingled?"

There was a quantity of other stuff which seemed to indicate that the woman had died because of unrequited love, but it strikes us that she was too theatrical to have been perfectly miserable. If she had died a la new journalism pursuant to the directions of the managing editor, she could not have made a more complete and satisfactory job of it. These lines from Shelley were on one scrap of paper:

"How wonderful is death,
The wakener of the soul;
His eyes are full of sleep,
His heart is full of love,
His touch is full of peace;
Gentle the languid motion
Of every pulse subsides,
Gliding out from the bodies we have worn
Without a jar to break
The mystic strain of harmony
That winds
Through the soul.
We are at liberty."

The next day the police established that suicide was Mrs E. M. Rein, who had been the common law wife of Horace Arnold, a well-known artist. It was an end to the life of an erring woman. She would have come nearer the mark had she quoted a single line from a higher authority. "The wages of sin is death."

NEW YORK AND ELSEWHERE.

The body of a woman was found in Central Park Reservoir last Monday morning. The body had been in the water for a couple of days.

⁂

A young couple, having just been married, decided to spend their honeymoon on their bicycles. The husband wanted a tandem but the wife insisted from the start to be independent and ride her own wheel. They intend to take a wedding tour of two months' duration. These young people have sense.

⁂

Theodore A. Havemeyer, the sugar king who died recently, left no will. As he was enjoying such good health he put the matter off from time to time. He has left an immense estate.

⁂

Here's a great how-de-do. A woman in New York got into a discussion with a man about politics. The woman is a "black Republican," as she calls herself; the man a Popocrat. Well, they had a lively discussion, and the outcome of the matter was that the gentler sex produced a horsewhip and gave Mr Man a sound thrashing. The case was tried before a jury and the man won. The extreme penalty is a fine of $500 and a year's imprisonment. Women these day are very progressive.

⁂

General Gomez of the Cuban army is in West Cuba. He will make an effort to force Weyler from the Moran Trocha. What with the Cuban rebellion and the Greeks and Turks pegging away at one another, these are anything but peaceful days. The sooner arbitration has its say in the grievances of nations the better.

⁂

New York city is now the second city in the world. London leads. Brooklyn, Long Island City, Staten Island, etc., is now one, and we are known as Greater New York.

⁂

The U. S. Cruiser Brooklyn will take part in the ceremonies of the Queen's Jubilee. A beautiful silver service will be presented to the cruiser on behalf of the citizens of Brooklyn. It is reported that the service will be the finest one afloat.

⁂

Considerable rain has fallen in this city and vicinity since May set in. In consequence the farmers are happy. Everything is growing—the grass never looked greener. If a cold snap does not appear everything will be lovely.

⁂

The Leona, of the Mallory line, got on fire off the Jersey coast Sunday morning last, and ten passengers and three of the crew were burned to an unrecognizable mass. After the fire was subdued the ship came back to this city under her own steam. The officers and crew behaved bravely, otherwise the loss of life would have been greater. The funerals of these poor unfortunate steerage passengers were held to-day. The cause of the fire is being investigated.

⁂

Bicycling is the thing now-a-days. In every well conducted home a wheel is to be seen. Yesterday I was surprised to see so many elderly ladies mounted on their wheels, and the flush in their cheeks and bright eyes attested to the fact that wheeling is moderation is a healthful and enjoyable sport. The wheel is a fixture.

⁂

The only business that is booming these days is the bicycle and sundries business. Every express wagon seen has one or more on board on its way to be shipped to a new rider.

⁂

And it is well that the bicycle is a thing to stay. Why? Because just think of what army of people have employment through the sale of wheels. The mechanic, the dressmaker, salesman, etc., etc.

⁂

When the blackberry bush Taft gets settled business will revive. Things are very dull.

GEORGE M. SARGENT.

Dorr Tells a Story.

Congressman Dorr, of West Virginia, has been heard from as a story teller. He was asked by Gov. Sayers, of Texas, a few days ago, what condition the Republican party of West Virginia was in, and here is what he said:

"Down near the little town of Owingsville, Bath county, Kentucky, where I visited occasionally some years ago, there lived a man named Sam Hatton. Hatton and his family existed on a scrub ten acre farm, near Owingsville, which produced very fine dog fennel and elderberries, but nothing better. At least Hatton never got anything better out of it. As a consequence it was frequently the charity of a kindly disposed neighbors that kept him and his family from absolute want. Among the contributions they received at intervals was hog jowls, which Preacher Matt McDaniel, a neighbor, sent over at hog killing time.

"Hatton had been a Union soldier, and for years had on file at the pension office an application for a pension. One day there was a commotion in the Hatton family. It was caused by the arrival from Washington of a bulky envelope, which contained a communication from the commissioner of pensions notifying Hatton that he had been granted a pension, back pay for the present and a monthly stipend of $8 per month for the future. When he came out his fiance, Hatton went to Owingsville and proceeded to stock his larder in shape. A few days after he had received his pension money he met Preacher McDaniel.

"'Mr Hatton,' said McDaniel, 'we have just finished hog killing over at my place, and in my smoke house are several fine hog jowls, which I hope you and your family will enjoy.'

"'Thankee, Mr McDaniel,' said Hatton, chuckling, 'thankee powerful, sir. Time was when the Hatton's sot considibul store by sich trimmin's, but they're a-eatin' further back on the hog than the jowl, now.'

"And that," said Dorr, "is the way with the Republican party in West Virginia. It is done with the jowl end of the political hog."

Economy is Necessary.

Tho we hear much in Washington from statesmen urging the imposition of further burdens upon the people on the specious pretense that the government of the Republic needs more revenue, we hear no demands for rational economy.

The United States is the most extravagantly expensive government on the face of the earth. No despotism exacts more tribute from its people than the republic. True it is free from the expense of a great standing army, but its expenditures on account of military and naval affairs, together with its enormous pension disbursements, are greater than the expenditure for military affairs in the German Empire, the greatest military power in Europe.

The mere expense of conducting the government printing establishment, in which the expenditure is lavish and useless to the last degree, would go far toward supporting many of the smaller European governments. Our statement at Washington have surrounded themselves with extraordinary luxury. At the cost of the people of the whole country they have made Washington the most delightful capital in the world. Aside from salaries larger than are paid to any legislator in the round world, they have voted themselves secretaries, stationary allowances, hot houses, and a congressional library (in which none of them is ever seen) larger and more exquisitely beautiful than any on earth.

Citizens of the republic are suffering as they never suffered before. They are struggling for existence. They are sending men to Washington in the expectation that they will consult their interests, and, as far as lies within the proper functions of government, give them relief. It can be had only by an enlargement of the currency and a reduction of taxation. But when the people send as legislators to Washington reach there they think not of relieving the burdens upon the people, but of adding to them upon the plea that more money is needed to meet the expenses of the government.

We want at Washington earnest and honest men who will labor assiduously to reduce the expenditures of the government, not endeavoring to find new ways of exacting tribute. Taxed more than customs houses, the people have not been rewarded liberally with tax bills and they have not more cheerly wherein they have suffered. If direct taxation had been levied to support the government of course nothing but the most necessary expenditures would have been authorized.—Chattanooga Times.

The Blue and the Gray.

Both men and women are apt to feel a little blue, when the gray hairs begin to show. It's a very natural feeling. In the normal condition of things gray hairs belong to advanced age. They have no business whitening the head of man or woman, who has not begun to go down the slope of life. As a matter of fact, the hair turns gray regardless of age, or of life's seasons; sometimes it is whitened by sickness, but more often from lack of care. When the hair fades or turns gray there's no need to resort to hair dyes. The normal color of the hair is restored and retained by the use of

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

Ayer's Curebook, "a story of cures told by the cured," 100 pages, free. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Regularity.

The periodicity, the unerring regularity of nature's operations must impress even the most casual observer. System and order characterize all that she does. Even her ebbs and floods, her storms and smiles occur, with few exceptions, at stated intervals. The man who is wise will take a leaf from her book, and make regularity the law of his life. Men of regular habits are healthier, happier, live longer, and do more than those who obey caprice and impulse. History exhibits a long roll of glorious names whose careers were cut short because their owners failed to regulate their lives.

The adoption of hygienic habits saves the nervous system an enormous amount of friction and waste. It conserves vitality. By their aid a man of impoverished natural forces can excel in usefulness men of greater parts. Regularity economizes not only physical stamina but time as well. Where there is a place for everything, and everything is kept in its place, the various subjects which must engage our attention tread not on each others' heels, but come each in its proper routine.

It is in the physical sphere, however that this subject chiefly interests the physician. He can not hope to know, in his personal experience, the blessings which arise from a well-ordered life, but he sees on every hand the evils which follow one governed by impulse. The man who knows no system in the details of his life, who exhausts nature at the instance of a passing whim, who spends in riotous living the physical substance mortgaged to posterity, who flings to the winds the talents bequethed to him by ancestral prudence and diligence, he and the weakly fruit of his loins are frequent petitioners at the altar of medical knowledge.

How to teach men the folly of self-indulgence! To show them that power over self is a great responsibility, which, if not properly administered, will cut like a two-edged sword! Regularity, the inculcation of good habits should be the first, most important lesson of life. Human nature consists of certain powerful basic qualities. The whole object of experience is to teach us to curb and adapt them to the necessities of civilized existence.

Regularity does not preclude the enjoyment of variety. There is an "order in disorder." A certain amount of variety prevents man from becoming a mere machine, but it should never be allowed to interfere with those habits of life which we have come to regard as imperative to the maintenance of health.—The Medical Brief.

The Intelligent Maids of De Motte.

Fully a score of marriageable girls of De Motte, Jasper county, Indiana, have declared war against the young men of that town and have formed a league to promote refinement among the men, which the ladies say is sadly lacking there. They have just met in a body and passed the following resolution:

"Be it resolved that the ladies of De Motte, Ind., will not hereafter marry a man who is not a subscriber of his home newspaper, for it is strong evidence of want of intelligence, and that he will prove unwilling to provide for his family, educate his children, and encourage institutions of learning in the community."—Indianapolis Journal.

Barely Missed It.

"After all said the man," as the end of the discussion, "no man really knows what his neighbor thinks of him."

"I guess mighty nigh know my name, and the citizens want a new steward bad, but the jury disagreed."—Indianapolis Journal.

NEWS NOTES.

One 64-year-old resident of Pettis, Mo., says that he has never worn a pair of overshoes, a watch, or a paper collar.

Twelve thousand feet of lumber was unloaded from a railroad car and piled up in twenty minutes at Gardiner, Maine, the other day.

To gain her liberty a negress managed to squeeze herself between between bars only six inches apart at the Paris, Tenn., jail, it is said.

It has been estimated that 10,000 dead fishes were cast upon the shore of the lake at Loring Park, Minneapolis, when the ice melted this year, the unusual thickness of the ice during the winter having caused the fishes to perish of suffocation.

According to Maine law the bounty for bears is paid on the exhibition of bruin's nose, while under the New Hampshire law payment is made when the ears are brought in, and hunters, living near the common boundary of the States, it is said, collect twice for each bear they bring down.

A squirrel which had left his wintor home, under some stones, and gone up a neighboring apple tree, near Bath, Maine, was seen by a dog. The dog took his stand at the foot of the tree and lay to wait. The squirrel lingered awhile but the dog showed no signs of moving. Finally the squirrel dropped a withered near the dog. The apple rolled away down an incline, and the dog ran after it to find out what it was. While the dog was gone the squirrel escaped to its quarters.

In a lawsuit in Penobscot county! Maine, to recover for damages resulting from the presence of a hog in the highway, an opinion written in 1865 was cited, which the learned judge began in this way: "It appears that * * *, the plaintiff's daughter, with a suitable horse and vehicle, and in the exercise of ordinary care, was in and along a public highway when an animal, called by various names, such as hog, sow, swine, and by the classical council for the plaintiff, 'monstrum horrendum,' aged, of large size, filthy, unclean by the Levitical and prohibited by the statute law," &c.

Two convicts, James C. Stewart and C. L. Banks, have been taken from the State penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas, by Deputy United States Marshall William Wesley and lodged in the county jail Topeka, on a charge of counterfeiting while they were in the penitentiary. Stewart, being a photographer by pursuit, was made penitentiary photographer when he was sentenced to that institution. In this office, with Bank's help, he photographs of bank notes and all of them in with water colors and India ink.

Told by a Congressman.

"We had a bashful pupil," said he, "who was terribly affected with stage fright. One Friday afternoon he stepped up on the platform, and began:

"'At midnight in his guarded tent,
The Turk lay dreaming of the hour
When Greece her knee must bend.'

"At this point the boy halted and hesitated and chicked. He began all over again:

"'At midnight in his guarded tent,
The Turk lay dreaming of the hour
When Greece her knee must bend.'

"Once more he came to a dead stop and looked around him in absolute misery. Well, John, said our professor, I think you have learned to know enough, and you ought to be able among all right. The teacher of the school discovered a few days more than ever, and the confusion was never finished."—Washington Post.

Times.

EDITOR

21, 1897.

AR is at-the year at Mullinmatter.

prominent ad relative ersant, died ith.

epresenting
Virginia in ate writer-ntown last ness, being
The sub-this Press.]

Thomson, of been elected nited States et of West
intment will duction to ve of party either party rth, or who according to publican suc-
years in this g, in a great
t that there f that party
y who were peachable in-stands fairer ness. When succeeds Mr.
e present ina case of a s succeeding,
ointee, an old
as been heldemocrat, so it
war that was e forty years
ast hoo-doo af-

Circuits.

ost beneficial Constitutional isting for a re-dicial Circuits
more judges,
er overworked ndments are ering in some h the counties
ister and Nich-ether. One of will probably ether the cond or not in oth-
where the need mber of Judges
e append the does not differ
e other to our

ssment to Sec-
VIII, dividing nteen judicial e provided by f the State shall following cir-

of Hancock Marshall shall t Circuit.
f Wetzel and Ty-
the Second Cir-

of Doddridge,
nis shall consti-
cuit.
f Wood and Wirt
Fourth Circuit.
f Roane, Calhoun constitute the

of Jackson and stitute the Sixth

f Cabell, Putnam constitute the

of Wayne, Mingo constitute the

of Kanawha and stitute the Ninth

of Boone, Fayette
constitute the

of Wyoming, Mc-shall constitute
cuit.
of Summers, Mon-
shall constitute

of Pocahontas, Fa-Greenbrier shall constiith Circuit. of Braxton, Lew-shall constitute the

of Harrison, Tay-
shall constitute the

of Marion and
shall constitute the

of Bethany, Ben-shall constitute Circuit.
of Summit, Grant, and Hampshire
the Eighteenth

of Morgan, Berk
shall constitute Circuit.

Begin on page 2 and finish on page 3.

The Elephant Now Goes Round.

The reader of those youngest leaders in the New York Sun, who admires the fireworks of the cynic who has made that paper and his cohorts, as the words explode over the dreadful heads of some one else, read with bated breath that wonderful leader, in last week's paper, entitled: "The Coming campaign." What a criticism was passed on the New York press!

"Everyone of our contemporaries * * * * that ebullitious, frivolous insincere, Bryanite organ has more soap than all put together. Why is it that our metropolitan papers have fallen to so low a level? Are they edited by bumptious boys and hysterical girls? Does anybody really read their vapid essays? They may have a few literary frills of a more fashionable cut than formerly, but we look in vein for the substance of thought or sagacity in them, finding only intellectual slops and infantile sap."

Then the great editor solemnly closes his soul stirrer with a quotation, evidently from one of the minor poets, more suited to the bumptious boy than to the singer of the coranach of the free-silver party:

"The elephant now goes round,
goes round,
The band begins to play.
The boys about the monkey's cage
Had better keep away."

Alderson Notes.

Editor Hubert Houston of "The Man" is a worthy son of Dr Houston, one of the most notable men that ever lived in our State, when all that makes a man is taken into consideration. One feature of his greatness appeared in the fact that he preferred a useful happy obscurity to an unhappy notoriety that was attempted to be thrust upon him at intervals. Our young editor makes it pleasant for the visitor, and a very enjoyable hour was spent in his sanctum, examining his rare numismatic collection. The visitor can there handle it may be the identical penny that our Savior examined when he inquired whose image and superscription is this, and the people replied Cæsar's, which called forth one of the most significant expressions ever uttered by him who spake as never man spake: "Render, therefore, unto Cæsar the things that are Cæsar's, and unto God the things that are God's." With this penny in hand and the portrait of his noble father ever looking down upon him the inspiration is such we may expect something good from this young editor in the contest now pending between the rights of the individual man and the claims of the syndicated man.

Alderson has among its residents quite a number of pleasant and interesting families, and is surrounded by a picturesque and fertile section of country.

James Mann, Esq., is a typical citizen of that town on the Greenbrier. His impressive personality would attract attention anywhere. His erect and stalwart form, white flowing beard, like Aaron's almost to the "skirts of his garments," genial manners and cordial touch of his ever-busy hands make up a presence not soon forgotten.

Hon George Alderson, in his home on a dome-like eminence overlooking both north and south Alderson, illustrates how refined culture and manual toil may blend in the character of the best type of American citizenship. He reads appreciatively the masterpieces of poetic literature, is fully posted in current affairs, forms by the head and practical experience, and can tell the best anecdotes out. He believes what Poor Richard says:

"He that by the plow would thrive Must either hold or drive."

He has a son to help him hold and another occupies a teacher's chair in the West Virginia University.

We feel these notes would lack something of special interest to our readers were nothing said about Professor W. S. Anderson, principal of the high school, aided by Misses Alderson and Allison. At their invitation it was the writer's pleasure to meet this large interesting gathering of young Alderson and make an address. So far as I can learn, Professor Anderson and his very efficient helpers are giving satisfaction, and preparations are making for successful interesting closing exercises in June. S. T. P.

A Voice from the Dead.

We have a letter from Henry Fitchpatrick, builder contractor of Hobbs' Wood, West Virginia, contradicting the report that he was shot and killed by Jackson Douglas, and expressing some of the head of sheep being a false report. We hasten to assure Mr Fitchpatrick that we are sincerely glad that his friend was not killed out, but before from publishing the letter took steps to ascertain for us and with a good deal of trouble we succeeded in getting the same that there seems to be absolutely no foundation for the report, and Mr. Douglas will make his will good as he said and that he and Mr Douglas are friends the pipe of peace.

Begin on page 3 and finish on page 4.

Little Levels.

Wet, cold and some frost, but no serious damage done so far.

Some of our farmers have not finished corn planting yet.

Mrs S. W. Holt and family were the guests of her sister, Mrs. E. I. Holt, for several days.

Howard Bird, the man who digs wells, is sinking a well for W. W. Beard. He has gone down to the depth of 90 feet and has not been able to get a drink yet.

Kennison & Overholt are finishing up their saw set at the Aldridge place. They report over 2,000,000 feet of lumber sawed.

James Weiford and T. C. Burgess are building a new home.

Lydia, little 3 year old daughter of Mr and Mrs Samuel McNeel has been dangerously ill of fever, but is reported as some better at this writing.

Rev John Taylor spent Sunday intown.

Captain Mathews spent several days in this vicinity last week.

Messrs Hevener and Newman, of Highland County, are in this section looking at cattle.

Dr F. T. McClintic left for Missouri to see his sister-in-law who is reported as being dangerously ill. BUMBLEBEE.

Traveler's Repose.

Rev. Eavey preached his first sermon at this place last Sunday.

The Arbogast school closed May 6th with appropriate exercises. Cards of distinction were awarded to the following pupils for regular attendance, good deportment, and good recitations: Boys— J. F. Yoakum, Testy Yoakum, and William A. Blair. Girls— Vera M. Ledbetter, and Cellie Yoakum. Handsome cards were also awarded to the other pupils for good work. The per cent. of attendance for the term was 95. The Arbogast school is not in the extreme northern part of the county; it is thirteen miles from the county line. The Sinks school is eight miles north of this one.

We had the pleasure of eating an excellent venison steak taken from the East Branch of the Greenbrier.

"Mapleton," the home Mr A. V. M. Yeager, is situated in a romantic spot near the river. The grove of majestic maples, the rippling waters, and the masses of laurel and clusters of stately pines on the opposite bank make it a place of picturesque beauty in the summer time. At this point the elevation above the sea is 3,230 feet. It is a resort for those who like to fish or to have a quiet place to rest during the summer months. Visitors from the city seem to enjoy a trip to this retreat. R. C. F.

WOOL

Manufacturer and consumer brought together.

The Clifton Woolen Mills, Clifton Forge, Va., make a specialty of working farmers' wool into a variety of fabrics that supply all the wants of the family: for men's wear, for ladies' wear, for the bed and floor. The variety consists of all-wool Carpets, Art Squares, beautifully fleeced Blankets, Coverlets, all-wool Cassimeres, all-wool Cheviots, and Flannels, white and gray. Flannel for underwear, all-wool dress Flannels and Linseys for ladies and children. Yarns, single and doubled in white and colors, at prices that defy competition.

We Pay the Freight on Wool Sent to Us.

Goods made from your wool fast twice as long as that you buy made from shoddy. We will work your wool and take pay in cash or wool as you prefer. Write for samples and prices.

We pay Cash for Wool.

Clifton Woolen Mills,

R. W. FOARD, Secretary.

CLIFTON FORGE, - VIRGINIA

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

Pursuant to a decree of the circuit court of Pocahontas county, West Virginia, made in the chancery cause of George D. Oliver vs. J. S. Oliver, et als., on the 6th day of April, 1897, the undersigned special commissioner will, on the

13th Day of June, 1897,

at the front door of the court house of Pocahontas county, proceed to sell at public auction the highest bidder

158 Acres of Land.

situated near Green Bank, in said county, adjoining the lands of G. W. Sipe, Peter H. Warwick, and others, on the east side of Greenbrier river, near Deer Creek. It is the Oliver homestead. It is on a fair state for farming, and is cultivated a valuable farm with a clear title.

Terms of Sale: So much cash in hand as will pay the costs of said sale, and as for he residue the purchaser will be required to give bonds falling due in six months and eighteen months from day of sale, with good and approved security, the title to be retained as ultimate security.

H. S. BUCKEE,
Special Commissioner.

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the circuit court of Pocahontas county, do hereby that the above named special commissioner has given bond as required in said decree.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA, } ss.
POCAHONTAS COUNTY, }

At rules held in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court for said county on Monday, the 3d day of May, 1897.

George W. Nottingham, Susan Stephenson, in her own right, and for the benefit of Martha E. Killingsworth, and John M. Nottingham ..... Plaintiffs
vs.
John Gregg, John W. Slaton, Sr., John W. Gregg, Jr., the unknown heirs of J. W. Davis, the unknown heirs of Jack Nottingham, the unknown heirs of James Slaton, E. A. Smith and J. A. Whiting, partners trading under the firm name of Smith & Whiting, Joseph W. Eiler, trustee; and Ida M. Gregg ..... Defendants.

The object of this suit is to have partition of the land of which John W. Davis died seized and possessed, and to assign to the plaintiffs their interest in said lands, inherited by them from their mother, Rachel Nottingham. This day came the plaintiffs by their attorney, and on their motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed that the unknown heirs of J. W. Davis, the unknown heirs of Jack Nottingham, the unknown heirs of James S'aton are non-residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit:

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
W. A. Bratton, p. q.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

State of West Virginia, } ss.
Pocahontas County, }

At rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, on Monday, the 3d day of May, 1897.

S. B. Kerr and Lee Ervine
vs.
Phillip B. Rader, James Mc. Kerr, Perry A. Tracy, John Tacy, O. P. Chew, and Samuel D. Bright

The object of this suit is to set aside a deed from O. P. Chew to Samuel D. Bright, made on the 9th day of April, 1897, for a tract of 135 acres of land situated in Pocahontas County, west Virginia, and recorded in the Clerk's office of the County Court of Pocahontas County in Deed Book No. 27 at page 305, as fraudulent, and made with intent to delay, hinder, and defraud the creditors of Phillip B. Rader, to whom said O. P. Chew had previously sold said tract of 135 acres of land, and subject the same to the payment of the judgment liens of the plaintiffs in this suit. This day came the plaintiffs by their attorney; and on their motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed, that the said defendant, O. P. Chew, is a non-resident of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that he do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order, and do what is necessary to protect his interest in this suit. Teste:

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
L. M. McClintic, p. q.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

Levi Gay, Guardian, } In
vs. } Chancery.
George W. Ryder. }

Pursuant to a decree rendered in the above styled suit in chancery in the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, at the April Term, 1897, the undersigned special commissioner will, on the first day of the June term of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, proceed to sell at public auction, in front of the court house, to the highest bidder, for cash, the following valuable tract of land, 163½ ACRES.

now owned by the defendant, Geo. W. Ryder, the same having been conveyed to George W. Ryder, Sr., by deed bearing date on the 21st day of October, 1895, situated on Alleghany Mountain, lying partly in Highland County, Virginia, and partly in Pocahontas County, West Virginia. J. W. YEAGER,
Special Commissioner.

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of said County, do certify that bond as required in said decree has been given by said special commissioner.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

State of ... Virginia, Pocahontas county, to wit.

At rules held in the clerk's office of the circuit court, on monday, the 3d day of May, 1897.

Nora Susan Herold, Lula M. Miller (nee Herold), Minnie Myrtle Herold (now or W. Harold Bullford in Herold, and Frank O. Herold, infant, all of whom is an infant and sues by R. D. Herold his next friend, ... Plaintiffs.

vs.

Wm. Herold, and Kate E. Herold his wife, State of West Virginia, John Dennett, Peter Knapp, Wm. Herold, Jr., Executor of Sarah A. Herold, deceased, ... Defendants.

The object of this suit is to enforce against the lands of Wm. Herold certain liens created by judgments of the circuit court of Pocahontas county, in favor of the plaintiffs and to enjoin and restrain the defendants and each of them from selling or disposing of said lands and collecting said judgments and executing the same thereon or any part thereof.

And this day came the plaintiffs by their attorney and on their motion and it appearing by affidavit filed that the defendant Peter Knapp is a non-resident of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that he do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect his interest in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
[illegible] p. q.

("The dogs of war are sicked on!")

WAR DECLARED!

We are helping you to fight high prices, and have conquered the high price at last. We have just received a nice lot of new goods, which will sell low for Cash or good trade, such as Wool, Ginseng, Corn, Beeswax, Gold, Silver, and Greenbacks.

We quote you as follows:

Good Prints	from 3½	to	6½c.
Scotch Lawn	"		5½c.
Gingham	" 5	"	7c.
Sateen			10c.
Cable Twill			12½c.
Cambric	" 5	"	5½c.
Brown Cotton	" 6	"	8c.
Ticking			15c.
Cheviots	" 7½	"	10c.
Denim	" 10	"	15c.
Overshirts	" 19	"	65c.
Men's Drawers	" 25	"	40c.
Overalls	" 35	"	90c.
Jeans Pants	" 85	"	1.15.
Suspenders	" 10	"	45c.
Hose	@ 5c and 18c		pair.
Half Hose	@ 5 and 15c		pr.
Tobacco from 23c to 55c lb.

Other goods proportionately low. Give me a trial. Highest market prices for Wool, etc.

Yours for business,

G. L. HANNAH,
YELK, W. VA.

RESTING.—"What's your son Hiram doing now?"

"Nothing; he's a Congressman."—The North American, Philadelphia.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

H. C. Sharp ..... Plaintiff.
vs.
Peter N. Dilley, and others, Def'ts

Pursuant to a decree rendered in the above styled suit in Chancery at the April Term, 1897, of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, the undersigned special commissioners will, on the first day of the June Term, 1897, of said Circuit Court offer for sale at public auction to the highest bidder, the following

Valuable Tract of Land,

lying in the County of Pocahontas and the State of West Virginia, on the waters of Knapp's Creek, and adjoining the l nds of Amos Barlow, P. B. Lourx, and others, and being the same land that was conveyed by R. F. Hamilton and wife on the 24th day of July, 1894, to the infant defendant, Floyd M. H. Dilley; the said deed being by said decree set aside as fraudulent in fact, and void. The tract is in a high state of cultivation, is very valuable, containing about 83 acres composed of two tracts of 81 acres and 2 acres respectively.

TERMS: Cash for costs. The residue in six, twelve, and eighteen months, with approved personal security.

W. A. BRATTON,
ANDREW PRICE,
Special Commissioners.

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of said county, do certify that the above special commissioners, having given the bond required, are authorized to receive purchase money.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

Reward! Reward! Reward!

You are REWARDED by trading with us. Where we saved you a dollar in previous years, we can save you two this year. We don't beg for trade—we get it through our low prices.

NEW CUSTOMERS flock to us as soon as they hear of our bargains. If it pays others as well to buy from us, why should n't it pay you?

We make our money not by RING CLOSE, but by SELLING CLOSE. Whatever you buy from us you will find our prices right.

We Don't Want the Earth!

Only just enough Profit to live on.

How MUCH?

WILL YOU SAVE IN A YEAR BY BUYING FROM 15 TO 35 PER CENT CHEAPER than ELSEWHERE?

We have our Store Chock full of Bargains. Come one and all, and we will do the best we can to please you.

Yours for Business,

L. D. SHARP
Linwood W Va.

The Greatest Medicinal Whiskey the World has Ever Known.

BRADDOCK PURE RYE AND BARLEY MALT.

SMOOTH, SOFT, RICH, RIPE, MELLOW AND CHEMICALLY PURE, A RECOMMENDATION IN ITSELF.

TRY A GALLON AT $2.00

Mail Orders solicited either great or small and receive our personal and prompt attention. Drop us a postal for price list. Don't use inferior goods but mail us your orders, we can save you money and perhaps your health.

JAS CLARK DISTILLING CO., JNO. McQUAIDE Mngr.

Distillers of Braddock Pure Rye, Wholesale and Retail Liquor Dealers.

20 and 22 South New St., Staunton, Va.

THE OSBORNE SPRING TOOTH HARROW

The frames are made in one piece of steel angle bar, and formed to withstand all strain without buckling or warping.

The teeth in this Harrow are so spaced that they will not trail each other. Pulverizing the ground thoroughly.

The steel pipe tooth bars are mounted in malleble boxes secured to the frame, and will not bend or break.

The peculiar shape of the teeth curling two-thirds about the bar gives the greatest amount of spring possible without straining the bolts, and because of their shape and fastening they are stronger than used on any other harrow.

By the levers, the depth of the work can be regulated while the Harrow is in motion.

The draft is steady and direct, as the Harrow has no side motion.

ALL THESE FEATURES COMBINED HAVE MADE THE OSBORNE CELEBRATED.

It has no EQUAL,—it never will have a SUPERIOR.

Call and examine the Osborne line consisting of—

BINDERS, MOWERS, RAKES, TEDDERS, HARROWS AND, CULTIVATORS.

The most complete line of Farming Implements to be found the State.

For sale by

EAGLE & OTT,

RONCEVERTE, W. VA.

FURNITURE FACTORY

AND

Furniture Store.

Fine Furniture Made to Order.

STOCK ALWAYS ON HAND.

I am occupying the Temporary Court-house and am prepared to make to order all kinds of Furniture at lower prices than can be obtained elsewhere. Don't be cheated in Furniture but buy from a reliable cabinet maker who works up the native woods.

I can order you furniture from the city at better terms than you can to save your life. Whenever you need anything in my line you will save money by giving me a call.

W. J. Killingsworth.

IF YOU WERE BE!

Yes, if you were the cushion and saw the merchant sitting idly in his shop accumulating dust, cobwebs, and out-of-style goods that can't sell, you would probably feel like selling. Why don't you use the advertising columns of THE TIMES, and exchange your stock for legal tender? What do you say?

Wake Up.

CANCER AND TUMORS, internal or external, including womb and rectum troubles. No cure, no pay. Vegetable treatment. Inquiries answered. Address Dr. Marcus Bastian, Middlebourne, Tyler County, West Virginia. will be

Not one will deny that the article we have been for the sale of a year or two. The Times-Herald of Chicago.

...las Times.
1897.

...Events.

...and brother Scott, ...ebruary Guests. ...your cards.

...takin notes, ...ent A.—brave ...announcement.

...the Bath News ...announcement the ...mes C. Lightner, ...rings, and Miss ...ghter of George ...g, Virginia.

...ins have made ...late with some ...the corn planted ...to sprout, on ...e season. This ...nge contract to ...ing several weeks

...nsted Earn Lee, ...Va., was awaked ...ght last week with ...r his ankle. He ...ening without ex... he found that he ...ad his ankle was ...re and inflamed.

...ore lumber mill at ...el May 10, after a ...ent six months. It ...tally reduced force. ...or sale the Compe... other small cutting ...ing to put in a short ...of which Smith & ...t the greater part.

...position for which ...is noted is a veneer... fed, aged 19 years, ...e laying eggs and ...of early chickens, ...others, perhaps, in... Her useful life has ...ast part, spent in ...ity of the Brushy ...eting grounds. She ...ered, looks much ...that she is and has ...ge and thrifty brood ...time.

...tires last week drove ...n the coffin of the ...Bath County from ...Let the county build ...e bridges over Back ...erkeens River, and ...ey as agent at Mill... ...ever a wagon would ...r River on its way ...This would mean ...d increase in the toll ...by the opulent toll ...ath, and would ena... and the points be... the estimable ...ey an ex... further east. But the ...ent be built and we ...to patronize Rennick's Valley.

...has always treated the ...is county well, and ...es us the greater por... ...pplies.

...DESTROYED a prosper... Rockbrush Valley, in ...e distinction of being ...on who ever wore the ...e in Greenbrier county. ...forty years ago he was ...and met a person who ...a pair, and was so im... ...sheer utility and com... ...decided to have a pair ...himself. This pair had ...ed in Pittsburg. He ...d that he could possi... ...e show in some "Jew ...in finding those stores ...religious festival being ...e required of a police... ...new of an open "Jew... ...e a walk of some dis... ...e shown one, and upon ...ed a chief he was look... ...ations was but one pair ...e stock that fitted. He ...for them, wore them ...ed them to the Lewis... ...ents, and by the next ...re sold in Lewisburg ...merchants.

...'s Valley, seven miles ...Marlinton, is the home of ...en, Messrs J. W. and ...sons, sons of the late ...Esq., who raised ...children in our county ...ago. Fifty years since ...and these gentlemen ...e pupils of the Hilsbo... ...ught by Rev Mr ...of one of the pioneer ...a recent tour in west ...was the renewal of a ...and acquaintance forg... ...ence. It was at John ...Smithfield, "something ...ome very seldom does ...ofessional men as we ...ment of course, and the ...ence is again, for the ...are getting to be very ...Captain J. W. Johnson ...known citizens of Green... city, having held the of... ...ff or less, ever since ...ganization of Company E, ...Regiment of Virginia ...Captain Johnson made a ...for the liability to duty ...ensive character of war at ...ed to Winchester, ...to the battle of New ...a Spring County, under ...ommand of Wayne... ...ed the orange and ...from the gentle Shel... ...charge for a season ...Blue Ridge. In the ...ed for exercise, their ...ed and the long swagger ...prepared and the long ...Upon second thought after their ...others home it occurred to the ...that Sorry might be cross ...fold this secret. While next ...ing the appearance of a large bear ...ering down the lane. Being hard ...for exercise, they were not ...for Pocahontas Times.

NEW PRICE, EDITOR

...nton, Friday May 21, 1897.

...scription ONE DOLLAR in ad-... If not paid within the year ...will be charged.

...ered at the post office at Marlin... W. Va., as second class matter.

...unty Directory

... J. M. McWhorter
... Attorney ... L. M. McClintic
... R. W. Hill
... County Court ... S. L. Brown
... Circuit Court, J. H. Patterson
... J. H. Bozzard
... Amos Barlow
...'s. Co. Ct. ... C. S. Heard
... J. R. Warwick
...eur ... George Baxter
...ere ... George P. Asbury

...BOARD OF HEALTH—Dr. J. W. ...s, L. M. McClintic, M. J. Mc..., R. W. Hill.

...OFFICERS—Uriah Bird, Marlin...; A. C. L. Gatewood, Linwood; ... Arbogast, Green Bank; W. ...rouse, Huntersville; G. R. Cun...Amsbury; T. A. Bradley, Lo...

...L. H. CLARK

...House and Sign Painter, ...Hillsboro, W. Va., does ...his work well. Uses the ...new discovery for bind...ing White Lead. No ...Chalking or Scaling— ...Give him a trial.

...s19 6m

The Sun.

...e First of American ...ewspapers, Circa ...A. Dana, Editor.

...e American Consti...ution, the American ...deas, the American ...Spirit. These first ...last, and all the ...time, forever.

...ILY, by mail, - - - $6 a year
...ILY and SUNDAY $8 a year

THE

Sunday Sun

...the greatest Sunday Newspa...per in the world.

...c a copy. By mail $2 a year
...ddress THE SUN, New York.

THE ODELL ...YPE WRITER.

$20 will buy the ODELL TYPE WRITER with ... characters, war... and to do as good work as any ma... made. ...machines SIMPLICITY ...ith SCRA... TY, SPEED, EASE OF O...RATION, no longer without cost of repairs ...any other machine. How ...ish you to bother the operator. It is ...ACCIDENTAL nickel plated, per... and is adapted to all kinds of ...writing. Like a printing press, it ...turns sharp, clear, legible manu...pts. Two or ten copies can be made ...at one writing. Any intelligent person ...become an operator in two days. ...Liberal Agents and Salesmen want... for Pamphlets giving Indorse...ns, etc., address.

ODELL TYPE WRITER CO.
...304 Dearborn St. CHICAGO, ILL.
...Mention this paper.

...CIAL POTATO FERTILIZER
...High-Grade General Phosphate ...made from
...ESTABLE and ...SIMAL MATTER. ...ry farmer should write for prices, ...and circulars.
...ERICAN REDUCTION CO., Pittsburg, Pa.

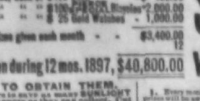
R.I.P.A.N.S

...Tabule Form. ...Tabules.

...Tabules Agency for ...

PATENTS

...Patents Secured ...Trade-Marks ...Copyrights ...Obtained ...



...Patents Home Fire Insurance Co., of West Virginia

$3,400.00 CASH AND PRIZES GIVEN FREE EACH MONTH FOR Sunlight SOAP WRAPPERS

As follows:

4 First Prizes, each of $100 Gold	=	$ 400.00
20 Second " " " $50 Gold Rings	=	1,000.00
30 Third " " " $25 Gold Watches	=	1,000.00
Cash and Prizes given each month - - -		$3,400.00
		12
Total given during 12 mos. 1897,		$40,800.00

HOW TO OBTAIN THEM.

RULES.

1. Every month there will be 4 Districts (as shown in the above map), in each of the 4 Districts prizes will be awarded as follows:

The Largest Number of wrappers from any District in each by or the nearest to it, will receive a Prize of $100 Cash.

The 2 Contestants who send in the Next Largest Numbers of wrappers from each District will receive each a Prize of $50 in Gold.

The 3 Contestants who send in the Next Largest Numbers of wrappers from each District will receive each a Gold Watch, as per illustration above.

The 10 Contestants who send in the Next Largest Numbers of wrappers from each District will receive each a Prize of $25 in Gold.

2. The Contestants will Close the Last Day of Each Month, and the Prizes awarded the next month's competition will be put into the next.

3. In case of a tie, each tying contestant will be awarded a prize, and no duplicates will be awarded. Employees of Lever Brothers, Ltd., are not eligible to compete.

4. Each Month's Winners in Competitor's District will be announced in Competitors in other Districts will be notified by mail.

5. We reserve the right to withdraw or amend the above rules at any time, but will not do so unless found necessary to prevent fraud. Decision of Judges to be final.

No. of District.	NAME OF DISTRICT.
1	Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey, New York (except counties of Kings, Queens, Suffolk and Richmond), Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia.
2	Kings, Queens, Suffolk and Richmond Counties, New York, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas.
3	Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota.
4	The Pacific States.

Next Largest Numbers of wrappers from each District will receive each a Prize of $25 in Gold.

The Contestants who send in the Next Largest Numbers of wrappers from each District will receive each a Gold Watch, as per illustration above.

The 10 Contestants who send in the Next Largest Numbers of wrappers from each District will receive each a Prize of $25 in Gold.

2. The Contestants will Close the Last Day of Each Month, and the Prizes awarded the next month's competition will be put into the next.

3. In case of a tie, each tying contestant will be awarded a prize, and no duplicates will be awarded. Employees of Lever Brothers, Ltd., are not eligible to compete.

4. Each Month's Winners in Competitor's District will be announced in Competitors in other Districts will be notified by mail.

5. We reserve the right to withdraw or amend the above rules at any time, but will not do so unless found necessary to prevent fraud. Decision of Judges to be final.

LEVER BROS., Ltd., New York.

A WIFE-BEATER at Centreville, Maryland, was sentenced to receive fifteen lashes on the bare back at the whipping post. This is the first sentencing to whipping in Maryland since the war.

THE Charleston Gazette is under the able management of Colonel O'Brien Moore, so well and favorably known throughout the State. We could not get along very well without the Gazette from the Capitol, and we are truly glad that the paper has fallen into the hands of its present managers. Located as it is, it should have no trouble in becoming the leading Democratic paper of the State.

THERE is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken externally in doses from ten to drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by druggists 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty four hours: a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfils every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following the use of liquor, beer, wine and over indulgence. It is the great remedy for the cure of the worst cases. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble you will find it just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital practice, in private practice, and with such wonderful success in every case, that a special pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonials received, will be sent free by mail to any one who writes for it. Mention reading this paper when you write. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., which you will find on every bottle.

FEED, LIVERY AND SALE STABLES.

First-Rate Teams and Saddle-Horses Provided.

...Horses for Sale and Hire. ...

...SPECIAL ACCOMMODATION FOR STALLIONS.

...limited number of Horse boards ...

...All persons having horses to trade are invited to call. Young horses ...or to ride or drive. ...

J. H. C. WILSON,
Marlinton, W. Va.

Poking Fun at a Philanthropist.

A New York man writes to the papers advocating that the Mississippi be straightened. He has the idea that the river wants to run in a straight line, but that as it has got itself into kinks it cannot do so, and in a fever of contrition jumps over the opposing banks and deluges the country. The straight line plan could be improved upon, however, by running the river thro a pipe. We recommend this to the New York man.—Mobile Register.

"It is the Best on Earth."

THAT is what Edwards & Parker, merchants of Plains, Ga., say of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, for rheumatism, lame back, deep seated and muscular pains. For sale by drug gists.

Musical Association.

The Pocahontas County Musical Association will convene at Edray, Thursday, May 27, at 7 p. m. The music leaders from the different parts of the county are requested to attend, and bring their music books with them. All lovers of music are invited.

JOHN WAGON, President.

THE Westfield (Ind.) News prints the following in regard to an old resident of that place: "Frank Meavoy, for many years in the employ of the L., N. A. & C. Ry. here, says: 'I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for ten years and longer—am never without it in my family. I consider it the best remedy of its kind manufactured. I take pleasure in recommending it.'" It is a specific for all bowel disorders. For sale by druggists.

Low Rates to Nashville.

Tickets to Centennial and International Exposition at Nashville, Tenn., on sale at Millboro.

10-day ticket for round trip sold on Tuesdays and Thursdays each week at the low rate of $12.60. 30-day ticket, $17.35.

S. L. TOLLEY, Agent.

THE GIANT SERIES.

Every new subscriber, as well as any one paying up all arrearages and one year in advance, is entitled as a premium to any one of the following books by any of the well known authors, delivered by mail free of charge.

These books are quarto size, printed on good paper, with handsome covers, and are

COMPLETE AND UNABRIDGED.

An examina ion of this list will show that they are the cream of English Literature.

Sold for 25 cents per copy.

We-tward Ho, by Charles Kingsley; The Count of Monte Christo, Alexander Dumas; The Wandering Jew, Eugene Sue; The Mysteries of Paris, Eugene Sue; Don Quixote, Cervantes; The Arabian Nights' Entertainments, Unknown Builders; Victor Hugo; Vanity Fair, William M. Thackeray; On the Heights, Berthold Auerbach; Pickwick Papers, Charles Dickens; Robinson Crusoe, Daniel Defoe; The Children of the Abbey, Regina Maria Roche; Lorna Doone, R. D. Blackmore; The Life of Christ, F. W. Farrar; The Fenzes, Mrs Alexander; The Swiss Family Robinson, Charles O'Malley, the Irish Dragoon, Charles Lever; Handy Andy, Samuel Lever; Ked Lane, Mrs Henry Wood; John Halifax, Gentleman, Miss Mulock; Under Two Flags, "Ouida"; A Woman Hater, Charles Reade; Martineau; W. E. Norris; A Study and Confessions of a Wife, Walter Besant and James Rice; Lady Audley's Secret, Miss M. E. Braddon; Jane Eyre, Charlotte Bronte; Good Bye, Sweetheart! Rhoda Broughton; Round Rounds, George Eliot; Mr. Isaacs, F. Marion Crawford; Dr. Claudius, F. Marion Crawford; Miss Gwyn, J. F. Smith; The Prince Otto, Robert Louis Stevenson

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 44, NO. 44 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, MAY 28, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 177. White Enameled Steel Bed, with brass trimmings. We have them in 4-6, wide, 6-0 in. wide, 6-3 in. wide and 7-0 in. wide. All sizes are 2 in. long. Spring to match.

$2.75

DELIVERED FREE TO R.R.

Every where local dealers are buying bedding cheaper than ever. They sometimes are tired of paying them double what our business (free) enables us to sell for. Our saving catalogue is enlightening the whole country. It tells how we make Mattresses, Springs, Cribs, Bed Clothing, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators, Stoves, Fancy Lamps, Bedding, Spring cots, the catalogue costs you nothing and we pay all postage. Get Bedder value for Your money by dealing with the manufacturer.

JULIUS HINES & SON,
BALTIMORE, MD.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEILL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. McCKUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BEATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

B. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. R. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

DR. J. E. PITCHFORK,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least once a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

During the current century but few names have been more familiarly known in our county, before and since the organization, than the Cackleys. The ancestors of this relationship were Valentine Cackley, Senior, and his wife, Mary Frye, from the lower Valley not far from Winchester at Capon Springs. These persons located at Mill Point about 1778. These worthy people were of German descent. The original name was Keckly, and came to be spelled Cackley by the way it was pronounced. Their sons were Levi, William, Joseph, Valentine, Jr., Benjamin, and Jacob; and their daughters were Alice, Mary (Polly), Anne, and Rebecca,—six sons and four daughters.

Alice, the eldest daughter, became the wife of the late Samuel M. Gay, who resided on the farm now held by the heirs of the late George Gibson, on the Greenbrier above Marlinton two miles. Mr Gibson was her grandson. But two of her children survive: Joseph C. Gay, Esq., and Mrs William Gibson, on Elk. The older children of the late Jacob Waugh, of Stony Creek, and the children of Robert Gay, late of Beaver Creek, are her grand-children. Mrs Gay was a very estimable person, and the story of her life would make thrilling reading.

Mary (Polly) Cackley was married to Willette Perkins, and went West.

Anne Cackley became the wife of the late Thomas Hill, Esq., near Hillsboro. Richard Hill of Hillsboro, and George Hill, of Falling Spring, Greenbrier County, are her sons. Mrs Josiah Callison, near Locust, is her daughter.

Rebecca Cackley was married to John Ewing. Her family went to Ohio. She was the mother of eleven sons. The youngest was named Eleven Ewing. It is believed the famous Tom Ewing, statesman and orator, and as such was the pride of Ohio in his time, was of this family.

Levi Cackley married Nancy Bradshaw, daughter of John Bradshaw, the founder of Hunterville, and settled on Stamping Creek, where some of his worthy descendants yet reside. Jacob, Levi, and William were the names of his sons. The Rev A. M. Cackley, D. D., of the Baltimore Conference, is a grandson of Levi Cackley, Sr.

Hon William Cackley, son of Joseph the pioneer, married Jessie Gay, daughter of Robert Gay, Esq., near Marlinton, and first settled on the property now owned by Colonel J. W. Ruckman, at Marvin, and also operated a store at Mill Point. Having sold his farm to the late D. L. Ruckman, Mr Cackley moved his family to a farm on Cumming's Creek, near Huntersville, where he resided for many years, farming and merchandising and in public office. A singular occurrence was connected with this removal to Huntersville. Mrs Cackley had become tired of her flock of pigeons, and tried to leave them back, but to her surprise the pigeons were on the oak tree near the dwelling at daylight the next morning. Mr and Mrs William Cackley were the parents of five sons and four daughters. The sons were Robert, Claiborne, Frye, Davis, and John. The daughters were Mary, Leah, Hannah Ann, and Sarah Jane. Mary became the wife of J. J. Clark mentioned from Staunton, Virginia. Leah became Mrs John Hogsett, and lived on Elk, West Virginia. Hannah was married to William Floyd, and lived at Sutton, Braxton County, West Virginia. Frye Cackley married Miss Lowry.

William Cackley, Esq., was a Captain in the war of 1812. His kindness to his company endeared himself to the soldiers and their friends and gave him great popularity. He was a Jacksonian Democrat, and several terms in the Legislature, was sheriff of the county, Lieutenant of the county, Lieutenant of the county, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

Eastern Virginia. Their daughter Caroline was the first wife of Harper McLaughlin, recently of Marlinton; and their son, William H. Cackley, once a prominent citizen of Pocahontas, now a merchant in Ronceverte, Greenbrier County. Valentine Cackley took the census for Pocahontas County in 1840. He had the lower mill erected at Mill Point. Joseph Cackley, Jr., owned the upper mill, and after selling out to the late Sampson Mathews, Esq., he migrated to Ohio, married and settled there.

Benjamin Cackley staid awhile on his share of the homestead, now known as the Lee Place, and sold out to his brother Joseph and went to Jackson County, Ohio.

The youngest son of Valentine, pioneer of Mill Point, was named Jacob. He seemed to have been excessively fond of athletic sports, —running, wrestling, and pitching quoits. One of the most popular diversions of that time seems a singular one to us. It was to see who could throw a pumpkin the highest and catch it while falling. Another diversion was skipping flat stones over the water. One day while thus amusing himself, with several others, on the mill-race, Jacob suddenly collapsed and was carried into the house. He had overexerted himself by an underhanded throw, and received internal injuries, and died from the effects a most excruciating death. As a final resort quick-silver was given him, the effects of which were agonizing in the extreme. Dr. Althair was the attending physician.

Valentine Cackley, the pioneer, accumulated an immense landed estate. His home was about the location occupied by Isaac McNeel's elegant residence. It seems at one time to have been within the limits of the fort. The fort was about where the garden is. Persons yet living have seen relics picked up by parties working in the garden. He encouraged and promoted useful industries. A first-class mill, for the time, was built, a tannery projected, a tilt-hammer started, and a store carried on. While the venerable pioneer could overlook a wide prospect from his home, and while he was not quite the "Lord of all his eye could survey," yet he could lay claim to a goodly portion of what was in sight east, north, and west of Mill Point. The name of such a person is worthy of remembrance, for he left a very important and influential part of our county much better off than it was when he settled therein.

Whatever pleasure our readers may have derived from this sketch their thanks are mainly due Mrs Mary McClintic and Capt. James McNeil for their personal reminiscences so kindly communicated in response to the compiler's inquiries.

W. T. F.

POPULAR FALLACIES.

The American humorist has enumerated the people generally into the belief that certain indispensable members of society are possessed of qualities which detract from their use and beauty. Take, for instance, the time-honored joke about the mule. We are brought to regard that valuable animal with suspicion, and after a long and intimate business connexion with these intelligent and docile animals we cannot be rid of our fears, for some unqualified slanderer will tell you that the mule will treat you well for twenty years waiting an opportunity to strike you a fell blow. The negro's love for watermelons has been magnified and improved upon until any humorist who can ring further changes is applauded to the echo.

The mother-in-law, without whom the world could not get round, is ridiculed, and most unjustly. Think of the fate of the high-spirited, sensitive woman, totally unable to avoid the state of being a mother-in-law, because of the hasty setting of her daughter. The fresh young man we see depicted, has broken his way to the highest pinnacle in the land, and the "better half," or former, represents the time and source of the union.

The same power has made us believe that the Pullman porter was the best paid man in America, but this impression is dispelled by the recent request of that body of men to their patron saint, George Pullman, for a raise in wages. While they are surrounded by elegance more regal than that kings ever dreamed of before the opening of this century, they manfully request that they be paid enough to dress in suitable uniforms and to support their families. It seems strange that the inmate of a gorgeous Pullman car should be looking forward to leaving it for some mean apartment where live his wife and children in strict economy. Whether Mr Pullman will respond it is impossible to say, for the request, the unanimous, is uttered gently, for the autocrat of the sleepers does not want to lose his job. Their poverty is no doubt real, tho many wealthy people never saw such evidences of wealth as they have daily for their surroundings.

THE NEW NEGRO.

THE color line is not obliterated in the North. While we hear of negro men received in Northern homes of unquestioned respectability, it is still the exception that proves the rule. The whites and blacks have nowhere reached a state of social equality, except in those cases where whites have so far descended from and relinquished the caste which is their heritage. In New York they have a statute by which the negro has every right, in a business way, that a white man has. It is known as the Equal Rights Law. But all the king's horses and all the king's men cannot and would not give them that social prestige which every man, bond or free, has to carve for himself. A black skin is an almost insurmountable handicap, and none of them, high or low, ever reach a position that it is not a drawback to him socially.

A short paragraph in a New York paper shows how the colored gent is received in New York generally. Three young bucks in fine raiment went for an evening walk and decided to patronize a restaurant frequented by white people, and not to supply themselves a place where their color harmonized. They were not approached by waiters and they made complaint at a police station. There they were told they only had a remedy against the restaurant keeper in a civil action. Determining to make a complete case against him, they returned and after waiting sometime to be approached by someone who would take their order, the freshest one stood up in his place and ordered sandwiches and milk in a loud and peremptory tone of voice. He was served immediately, and they paid their bill and went away without any evidence against the restaurant-keeper. They were served in such a way that their legal rights were accorded them, but not in a manner to lead them to break the barrier between the races again.

The negro does not need to commune with us. He finds friends and shelter among his own people. In a business way, and as master and servant the relationship is almost perfect. If there were arises in a marked degree a 'New Negro,' why then he may find that in touching after forbidden fruit he may suffer.

The Remedy for Rheumatism.

From the Patchogue (N. Y.) Reporter.

Mr James Rowland, of this village, states that for twenty-five years his wife has been a sufferer from rheumatism. A few nights ago she was in such pain that she was nearly crazy. She sent Mr. Rowland for the doctor, but he had need of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and instead of going for the physician he went to the store and secured a bottle of it. His wife did not approve of Mr Rowland's purchase at first, but nevertheless applied the Balm thoroughly and in an hour's time was able to get up and dress. She was restless for a few hours and she took no more pain from that time. It stands gone entirely. He says that he mentions this case because it is a severe one and not more can be said in favor of the remedy. For sale by druggists.

RAFTING ON THE GREENBRIER

MR ANDREW PRICE,—Dear Sir: In you issue of March 25th last you publish an article under the head of "The Weekly Letter," presumably written by yourself, in which you make a great mistake as to who first conceived the idea of rafting on the Greenbrier River.

You say it was some time in the seventies that some daring projector conceived the idea of rafting on the Greenbrier. I want to tell you and your readers that the man who first conceived the idea and carried it to success, so far as rafting is concerned, was your grandfather, James A. Price. In 1849, he undertook to drift logs down river, which, I take it, is about the same as driving now. But having no boom to catch the logs, and depending on one log canoe and two men with spike poles (or spuds as they then called them) to catch them, the larger part escaped them and went past—some of them to feed the mills in Ohio.

Abandoning the idea of drifting, your grandfather turned his attention to the idea of rafting, in which he was more successful,—thanks to the hardy pioneers who lived up Greenbrier River,—and I myself can testify to seeing large rafts which were landed at the mouth of Stony Creek, in 1850 and 1851, for your grandfather's mill. I was out of the county for some years, but returned in the spring of 1859, and that fall I sent word up the river that I would take all logs delivered to me at the mouth of Stamping Creek (below Mill Point.) Some time in the winter I received enough logs to keep my mill running all the year.

But now I am coming to a matter of record and not dependent on memory. I find from my account-book for 1861 that Montgomery Friel, Steven Barnet, John Friel, and Ewing Johnson delivered to me a raft of logs containing 124 logs. How much better can your raftsmen do now? These logs did not belong to them all in common, but each one had so many logs belonging to them, and the partnership ceased as soon as the logs reached the wharf, which was the end of the eddy at the mouth of Stamping Creek. Do n't understand me to say there was a wharf there, but the mouth of Stamping Creek constituted my wharf as far as I was concerned, and if any logs went past I was not responsible for them. And I think if you could have seen those Friels and Barnetts steering a raft of 124 logs into the narrow limits allowed them with the precision of a ferry boat in New York you would not think rafting was new to them. No, they had learned their trade under the teaching of your grand-father, (grand in more senses than one), and he was the man who first conceived the idea of rafting on the Greenbrier River and first carried it to success.

I find in overlooking the above I have omitted the name of James Barnett, who had 21 logs in the raft of 1861. I also want to give honorable mention to Milton Hughes, who I think was with the great raft; if not, he was one of the earlier rafters of Pocahontas County. The later rafters and drivers may have taken out much more lumber, but it is impossible that they could show more intrepid skill and heroic endurance than did the pioneers in the first rafting on the Greenbrier River.'

It has come to my memory that John H. Ruckman also had logs rafted to the same mill at the mouth of Stamping Creek when he owned it in 1855 and 1856, if not other years. So that from 1850 until the war put an end to the lumber business for the time, there were few if any years in which there was not one or more rafts brought down the river to Marlinton and the mouth of Stamping Creek, from the neighborhood of Dear Creek and all from above the mouth of Clover Lick, making a distance of over thirty miles to the lower landing.

The system of rafting was the same as followed now with long ropes of hand and rear, while others assisted with long poles to keep the raft off the banks.

There was one log that I got in the large raft of February 13, 1861, from which I sawed 3,000 feet of weather-boarding, and there was not a knot in the whole lot. I presume such timber is getting scarce in Pocahontas County now. I see the price I paid for those logs ranged from 60 to 90 cents each. This seems low for such lumber, but I believe sawed lumber only brought about 75 cents per hundred feet then. "

Very truly yours,
JAMES E. A. GIBBS.

Raphine, Va., May 17, 1897.

"Your pills are the best in the world. I used to be annoyed with constipation until I began using them. Now I have no trouble of that kind any more and I attribute my recovery to the use of your reliable medicine. In the springtime of the year I always take your Pistols and Pestles.

The dueling pistol now occupies its proper place, in the museum of the collector of relics of barbarism. The pistol ought to have beside it the pestle that turned out pills like bullets, to be shot like bullets at the target of the liver. But the pestle is still in evidence, and will be, probably, until everybody has tested the virtue of

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

This testimonial will be found in full in Ayer's "Cyrebook" with a hundred others. Free. Address J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

BETTER PAID TEACHERS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

As another school year will soon close, we would like to say a few words thro the columns of your paper in behalf of the teachers of Pocahontas County. If we expect to make the public schools of Pocahontas County a success, the teacher's salary must be increased. We would like for our worthy Board of Education to give this matter serious thought. Can the teachers of our county—those who have prepared themselves for this responsible work—teach for $25 a month? will they do it? We answer no. The teacher has a laborious work and for which he should be paid. One of our popular teachers said: "We used to get $120 for teaching seven branches four months, now we get $125 for teaching twelve branches five months. I think if we can not do better elsewhere, we had better quit," and we think so too. Is there any encouragement for the young teachers to prepare themselves for first class work? In the leading district of Randolph the salary for the first grade is $35, second grade $30, third grade $25. The third grade teacher gets the same that the first grade gets does. All the districts in Randolph pay better than Pocahontas. It is time that this matter be given serious consideration, or the time is not far distant when we will not have a first class teacher in our county. Already some of our best teachers are trying to get positions elsewhere; the very teachers that we can not afford to lose.

Y. V. T.

It is understood that Governor Atkinson will call an extra session of the legislature to pass upon the proposed amendment to the Constitution. Those that are ratified will be submitted to the people for ratification or rejection at the next general election, when they will be voted upon one by one. The last time we voted upon amendments to the Constitution was in 1890 when the prohibition clause was the most important. This amendment set the pace and all were voted down. The prohibition amendment was defeated by something like 35,000 majority.

Big stories are being told of the vitality of the Turks. One man, shot thro the stomach, in a recent battle, stayed in the ranks till the fighting was over and then marched ten miles before reporting to the doctors. Another with a wound in each leg and one in the shoulder kept on duty for twenty-four hours, when an officer noticed him and sent him to the hospital. The doctors attribute the quick recovery of the Turkish wounded to their abstemious habits. St. Louis Republic.

A sandwich, soft, and thick bread of long four of a reduced size will be produced by using Hecker's Self-Rising Buckwheat Flour. Ask your grocer for it and remember

NEW YORK AND VICINITY.

Sunday, while two Brooklyn Bridge policemen were looking out of a window of the terminal on the New York side, they suddenly were horrified to see the legs of a man hanging over a roof of a house near by. They immediately notified a New York City policeman, who in turn called two brother "cops" and they hurried to the house indicated by the policemen on the Bridge. These brave men climbed the fire-escape in great haste, in fear that the man would roll off and be dashed to pieces. What was their great surprise upon reaching the roof to find the supposed legs to be only an old pair of trousers, left to dry by some faithful wife. It is needless to say that these guardians of the city said some blankety-blank swear words.

⁂

A man, after breaking his wife's neck, the other day in New York City, by throwing her against the stove, shot himself thro the head, killing himself instantly, thereby saving the city the expense of a trial on the the charge of wife murder.

⁂

The body of a man was found floating in Newark (N. J.) Bay beside his boat, Sunday a. m. He was held fast by the anchor rope around his ankle. It is to be supposed that in casting his anchor the rope got around is ankle, thereby pulling him over and drowning him. This is a case seldom heard of. What a terrible way to die. Full of pleasure—probably looking forward to this outing only to meet his death. MORAL: Do n't fish on Sunday.

⁂

Philadelphia had great goings on last week in honor of General George Washington—the father of our country. What a pity these United States could not scare up more Washingtons.

⁂

New York has a real Irish fair. The receipts are very flattering. The other day a goat, fresh from Ireland, went over as a mascot, succeeded in eating up "all the grass in one county of Ireland," after which he took sudenort three yards of green bunting from the Donegal booth. The mayor of the city will deliver a speech this evening, after which Jim Corbett will spar with an Irishman on real Irish sod.

⁂

Baseball and cycling is all the rage these days. Running races obtain the attention of the lovers of the noble animal. But it is safe to say that nine out of every ten who attend the races are trying to beat the book makers.

⁂

It is reported that Cuba has done off victorious in two battles with the spanish. It is also thought that President McKinley will soon send a message to Congress on the Cuban question. High time this war was stopped. Spain can not—or will. Spain's resources are used up. Spain should be made to step out for now and ever.

⁂

Turkey has the best of the fight with Greece, so you all know. The powers want to put a stop to this killing. Turkey owns Macedonia, before she quits.

⁂

Business is so fast on a go, about second class freight go.

Mrs. M. SHOEMAKER.

May 17—21.

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday May 28, 1897.

Subscription ONE DOLLAR in advance. If not paid within the year $2.00 will be charged.

Entered at the post office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

Business Rules.

We do all job work our terms are cash, except in cases of merchants and others with whom we have running accounts.

All subscriptions are due in advance to $1.00 a year.

At Radford, Va., a man named Gregory was arrested for stealing horses, and in twenty-four hours he had been indicted, tried, and sentenced to eight years in the penitentiary.

THE New York Sun gives Judge Brannon, of the West Virginia Court of Appeals, credit for coining a new word. In a recent decision "fellow-servantcy" was mentioned by the Judge. It explains that it means when there are two employees, as of a railroad company, and one is injured through the negligence of the other then he must ascribe his injury to fellow-servantcy. If the railroad man is to be hurt at all he wishes to get pay for it, and if his injuries are due to fellow-servantcy then the railroad company is not responsible.

HON J. H. GAINES, of Charleston, more generally known as Joe, has been appointed District Attorney. Mr Gaines is the law partner of General J. W. St Clair, and is a man of marked ability. He has had the advantage of being a graduate of Yale. He experienced the bitterest opposition of Congressman Dorr, but Senator Elkins proved powerful enough to secure his appointment. It has engendered a marked coolness between party leaders that may or may not be felt in future campaigns. It is said that Gaines owes the illwill of Dorr to his candidacy for Congress last year. Mr Gaines made a speech at our last October Court. Democrats generally will gladly see the gold Democrat who now holds this office surrender his trust to one whose politics are not doubtful. Nobody likes the sugwump. General C. C. Watts resigned this office last summer to run for Governor, and the President appointed a Gold-Democrat.

The state of affairs in the far east is looked upon with very grave apprehension by the more thoughtful writers for the great city journals. A very able correspondent in Paris expresses himself to this way in a late issue of the New York Sun:

"The intervention of the powers, well intended no doubt, but certainly badly calculated, has destroyed all chance of permitting events to take their own natural course. The powers wished to lead and control events, and the concerted powers now do not know where they are going or to what they may lead Europe. By dint of compromise the powers have peculiarly brought things to the point where they stand to-day. They are still endeavoring to master them and direct them, but whatever they do the time cannot be far distant when they will be obliged to admit that they cannot control them any further. There the great difficulties will begin, and it is more than probable that events will go further than anybody can now foresee.

"The military events have taken a turn which is certainly not calculated to facilitate the solution of the problem. As one might easily expect, Greece has not sufficient strength to sustain the struggle to which she has intruded herself without having sufficiently armed and equipped all the autonomous movement. No matter with what partiality we may read the dispatches from the points where hostilities are going on, the results are anything but favorable to the Hellenic armies. Even in letting the veracious Greek corps from Athens, we are left under the impression that it has been an unequal struggle from the start and hardly to be supposed to have any other result than the overwhelming defeat has suffered and the annual loss of numerous. Those the inequality will become more apparent with all its consequences."

[illegible] to be sure that there is very [illegible] doing to do, and that is to wait. But I am very much afraid that if, notwithstanding all the appearances that may be assumed, the powers will not finally come to an understanding among themselves [illegible] the powers will not finally come to an understanding among themselves [illegible] the powers will not finally come to an understanding among themselves [illegible]

The Pocahontas Times.

MAY 28, 1897.

Local Events.

News, Local and Other Gleanings and Items Worth Noting.

Items, Local or Otherwise, Solicited.

If there's a hole in a your coat,
I rede ye tent it;
A chiel's amang you takin' notes,
An' faith he'll prent it.—BURNS.

GEORGE C. COOPER, of Green Bank is preparing to move to Addison.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE has purchased the property formerly held by J. J. Beard and has moved into it, and is busily engaged in fitting it up for a very comfortable home.

SQUIRE WM. H. GROVE is having his residence very nicely painted. The Fisher brothers are doing the work in a style that reflects much credit upon their skill in the decorative art.

COL. JOHN T. MCGRAW has fitted up the Holley River mill in Webster County and leased it to Cross & Beckwith, who have bought 5,000,000 feet of lumber from Mr. McGraw.

MAJOR E. H. MCDONALD, of Charleston, has sold 43 lambs which averaged 94 20. He has sold from a flock of 77 ewes lambs and wool to the amount of $250, and has still on hand 56 lambs.

—The County Court should meet and appropriate some money and get a man to expend it on the road by Major J. C. Arbogast's. It is the roughest piece of road in the United States."

FROM the Webster Echo we learn that during the month of April 279 carloads of lumber were shipped from Camden-on-Gauley, and 125 carloads from Sutton. This indicates that the lumber business is improving.

JOHN A. MCLAUGHLIN, Esq., of Brown's Creek, had the mishap to slip and fall from a hay mow and dislocate his right shoulder, a few days since. It was readily reduced and he is rapidly improving.

RIMEL and Crummett, road contractors, have their camp at the Lockridge Fording. They are putting the road on the old grading from this fording to Huntersville, thus eliminating an instance where some times 'the old is better.'

MESSRS Doyle and Steinmeyer have established a sewing machine depot at Huntersville and our readers will be duly informed as to where they can be suited with first class machines, upon terms more satisfactory than has ever yet been in their reach.

THE recent rains came in season to prevent serious consequences from forest fires all along Knapp's Creek, from Driscol to Frost. There is reason for suspecting that haystacks and fences were fired on purpose, out of mere spite, and much apprehension prevails that the worst is not over yet.

THE Virginia Military Institute fought a game of baseball with the Blacksburg College. In the 8th inning the fray became serious and the game was not finished. They had emptied the fair. One student received a base hit from his opponent and the spectators made all the runs. A Blacksburger is was a considerable battle. College students can sometimes make transcendent shots of themselves.

THE County Court was called to meet last Saturday to appoint eight men to constitute a school-book board under an act passed by the recent legislature. The notice did not reach Mr Beard who was on the Williams River piece, and Mr. Warwick did not attend. The president of the court, Mr Barlow, was present, but no business was attended to for want of a quorum. The meeting for this purpose will be held June 4th.

DURING the past winter, while some hands were removing a large stump, near Mill Point, they unearthed a groundhog in a state of torpidity. It was rolled up into a ball, and when killed showed nothing in the way of emaciation but a scarcely perceptible tremor. When skinned and opened nearly a tea spoon of blood was squeezed. This circumstance is highly suggestive and opens up a fresh field of inquiry to those devoted to the investigation of the laws of existence during suspended animation.

THE skull of a groundhog was left at our office last week which had been killed some days by Rhodes, the miller of Mill Point. It was evidently decomposed, being about an inch and a half long, and of no further use as such. The ground-hog is a rodent, and with reference to the front teeth are always growing, and in case the tooth opposite is broken off the tooth opposing it grows to an enormous length, causing the death of the animal in a short time. In this instance, however, there were no teeth opposing and the animal was fat. It seems that the tooth were burned away and had been gnawed upon until decay probably set in, thus causing the death of the animal.

JOHN A. MCLAUGHLIN, Esq., on Brown's Creek, had the mishap to slip and fall from a hay mow and dislocate his right shoulder, a few days since. It was readily reduced and he is rapidly improving.

RIMEL and Crummett, road contractors, have their camp at the Lockridge Fording. They are putting the road on the old grading from this fording to Huntersville, thus eliminating an instance where some times 'the old is better.'

MESSRS Doyle and Steinmeyer have established a sewing machine depot at Huntersville and our readers will be duly informed as to where they can be suited with first class machines, upon terms more satisfactory than has ever yet been in their reach.

THE recent rains came in season to prevent serious consequences from forest fires all along Knapp's Creek, from Driscol to Frost. There is reason for suspecting that haystacks and fences were fired on purpose, out of mere spite, and much apprehension prevails that the worst is not over yet.

THE Virginia Military Institute fought a game of baseball with the Blacksburg College. In the 8th inning the fray became serious and the game was not finished. They had emptied the fair. One student received a base hit from his opponent and the spectators made all the runs. A Blacksburger is was a considerable battle. College students can sometimes make transcendent shots of themselves.

THE County Court was called to meet last Saturday to appoint eight men to constitute a school-book board under an act passed by the recent legislature. The notice did not reach Mr Beard who was on the Williams River piece, and Mr. Warwick did not attend. The president of the court, Mr Barlow, was present, but no business was attended to for want of a quorum. The meeting for this purpose will be held June 4th.

DURING the past winter, while some hands were removing a large stump, near Mill Point, they unearthed a groundhog in a state of torpidity. It was rolled up into a ball, and when killed showed nothing in the way of emaciation but a scarcely perceptible tremor. When skinned and opened nearly a tea spoon of blood was squeezed. This circumstance is highly suggestive and opens up a fresh field of inquiry to those devoted to the investigation of the laws of existence during suspended animation.

THE skull of a groundhog was left at our office last week which had been killed some days by Rhodes, the miller of Mill Point. It was evidently decomposed, being about an inch and a half long, and of no further use as such. The ground-hog is a rodent, and with reference to the front teeth are always growing, and in case the tooth opposite is broken off the tooth opposing it grows to an enormous length, causing the death of the animal in a short time. In this instance, however, there were no teeth opposing and the animal was fat. It seems that the tooth were burned away and had been gnawed upon until decay probably set in, thus causing the death of the animal.

Personal Mention.

Miss Emma Warwick is visiting at Dr Lockridge's.

Mrs Andrew Herold, who has been seriously ill with heart trouble, is reported somewhat better.

Mrs Mary Waugh, of Hillsboro, was visiting her friends on Browns creek a few days since.

Sherman Curry and James Smith are doing some nice farming and show themselves to be the right kind of advance agents of prosperity.

Mrs Lizzie Gibson, from Vandergrift, Highland, has been on an extended visit at Frost, attending her sister, Mrs Herold, in her illness.

Mrs Agnes Loury and her son, Joseph, were at Marlinton, Saturday afternoon. Mrs Loury's improved health is very gratifying to her numerous friends.

J. Kenney Campbell, of the Covington bar, still remains in a precarious condition from his recent attack of paralysis. *Much sympa*thy is felt for this worthy man in his affliction.

J. E. Campbell, editor of the Sentinel, came over from Covington last Friday for his wife and little daughter, who have been at Mr Sharp's, on Douthard's Creek, for several weeks. Mrs Campbell was much benefitted by her stay at the old home.

Misses Anna and Emma King are visiting their relatives at Savannah Mills—Mrs and Mrs F P. Vandervoort. Miss Nellie Vandervoort, their cousin, has been much afflicted for several months, which she endures with patient submission. Her friends are cheered by encouraging indications of convalescence and join her parents in fervent wishes for the daughter's speedy retoration to health and usefulness.

Beverly Court - House Burned.

The court-house at Beverly, the county seat of Randolph County, was burned to the ground last Thursday afternoon. The building was about the size and very similar to our own court-house, being finished in -1894. It was a much more expensive building, however, as it cost the county about $40,000. With the furniture, the loss is about $50,000.

The sheriff's papers were in his office at the time of the fire, and as he was out of town, none of them were saved. Among the papers de*stroyed for him were* $40,000 in vouchers, $18,000 in school orders, ann $10,000 in road orders.

The cause of the fire will be readily understood by anyone who has examined the sanitary system of our own court-house. It was put in by Bennett & Peck, of Cincinnatti, who furnished our building. The plan is to have the refuse and garbage of the water-closets burned up by the action of fire in a furnace put in for the purpose. This arrangement is in the basement. At Beverly the Mayten of the Circuit Court adjourned on the day before the fire, and the janitor proceeded to cleanse the building. He poured three or four gallons of coalOil on the garbage, set it on fire, and left it. W. H. Wilson, the Circuit Clerk, discovered the blaze from his office in the first floor and gave the alarm. The building burned very rapidly, and as the town has no system of waterworks absolutely nothing could be done toward extinguishing the flames. There was no insurance whatever on the building or contents.

The building of the court-house in 1893-4 that distressed the county of Randolph even more than the building of the court-house in this county, and they have a much heavier job before them now.

The example of Randolph's loss perfectly justifies the action of the County Court of this county carrying a $20,000 insurance policy, which it has done from a time before the building was taken off the contractor's hands. It might also suggest the removal of the records & Peck sanitary system in the basement, which has been very offensive during courts held in warm weather. While with ordi*nary care there is not the slightest* danger of fire from the system, still it is almost the most filthy arrangement imaginable.

The reports received say that the records of the county (standing or of a hundred years were destroyed by the fire, like the court-house. We presume somebody knew it is doubtful the accounts were written before the ruins had cooled sufficiently to admit of examination. Whether they were destroyed or not will be a question of great interest to the tax payers whose names are on the records of the largest and one of the oldest counties of the State are very important and their loss would entail a vast amount of work and trouble to restore.

Notice to Tax-Payers.

Owing to a recent act of the Legislature requiring Sheriffs to settle within sixty days, all persons owning taxes are hereby requested to call and settle the same on or before the 20th day of June, 1897, as after that time I will be compelled to put the list in the hands of the Sheriff for collection.

LEVI GAY, Ex-Sheriff of Pocahontas County.

Just before going to press we received a letter from J. A. McLaughlin, who with his sister Miss Fannie went to Beverly to take the bath, saying that all the accounts of the fire were correct. The loss of the court-house is $50,000. The people are very much excited over the matter. They have sent for Mr Peck to come and rebuild the court-house. The prisoners were all released from jail and are now at large. The building was insured for $20,000. Mrs. Wm. S. McAllister is one of the delegates to the General Assembly.

Houdyschell in a Cell.

Ervine Houdyschell, of Frost, is in jail at Marlinton, the confessed burglar who entered Samuel Curry's shoe shop at Frost, last week, and took three pairs of new shoes, against the peace and dignity of the State. There has been a lot of petty thieving in the neighborhood of Frost, and suspicion has attached to the Houdyschells and others. Holmes Sharp and another watched the house and presently saw Ervine come out and go to a tree-top near the house and take some shoes from a bag which had been concealed there. They rushed to the house but admittance was refused them. In a few minutes the smell of burning leather could be perceived in the whole neighborhood.

When they were at length allowed to enter, one of the searchers attempted to open the stove-door to see what was burning in the stove, when Susan Houdyschell, step-mother of the prisoner, told him that she would break his head with an ax-handle if he opened the door. She then took a seat upon an ashbox in which the remnants of the shoes were hid. In attempting to burn them the shoes had been cut in pieces and parts of them thrown in the ashbox. In searching it was thought that the pieces of shoes were probably in this box, but Mrs Houdyschell refused to move off, and evidently the searching party would have as lief touched a wildcat as to have touched her. Finally a man was sent to Huntersville, about twelve miles, for a search-warrant and a warrant for young Houdyschell. By the time he had returned the Houdyschell woman had remained seated on the box, in one position, for more than six mortal hours.

Houdyschell confessed to having entered the shoe shop Thursday night. He could not give bail and is likely to remain in jail until his indictment and trial. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Susan Houdyschell, who used very vile language and explained how the shoes came to be in her possession in a way that cannot be repeated here. She is charged as being an accessory.

The Rain-Crow.

During the writer's recent visit to west Greenbrier it was his pleas*ure to fall in with Engineer Lo*schutz, of Staunton, Virginia, who has been on duty on New River for some time past. As much of the West Virginia land seems to stand on edge, so he pronounces the New River a stream that flows on the edge likewise, seeming deeper than it is wide at places.

He is of the opinion that the rain-crow, or cow-bird, depends on other birds to rear its young. This artful bird will remove and devour the eggs of the sparrow and robin that share with its own. One or two rain-crows requiring more attention than a half-dozen sparrows in the matter of feeding. Having an egg-feast and relieved of the care of its young the rain-crow has a soft snap of it in the way of maternal duties, and so has leisure for atmospheric observations and can forecast rain.

At the time we speak of Mr Auschutz was on his way to some stream in west Greenbrier for a "trouting outing" all to himself, two not being company in the proper enjoyable sense. A year or two since, while on one of his excursions, he called at a store about the time a mountaineer brought in some feathered game for barter. Along with pheasants and partridges, were a half-dozen of the large woodpeckers that are so commonly called woodcocks. This woodpecker is no more like the woodcock of the price-current circular than a crow is like a spring chicken, but being misled by the name the merchant and his customer had a surprise awaiting them when the returns would come in from the commission house.

It would be well to call this bird "log-cock," and thus insure his safety, for our forests have no better protector; and, besides, it is one of the most interesting of all the woodpeckers, to scientists, as it seems to be the primitive bird of its kind and from which all other woodpeckers are evolved.

Young people deprive themselves of much pleasure when they neglect to study plants, birds, stones, relics, and observe the changes of the seasons and the motions of the stars.

Things News.

The people are busy planting their corn.

Not much sickness in our neighborhood, and the doctors have plenty of time to put in their crops.

Our burg is on a boom. It has new hotel and school house.

A posse composed of the following gentlemen: Piatt and Ligon Marshall, W. R. Leary, Clark and John Sharp and Lee Reglemen, with a dozen hounds started last Saturday morning to kill the bear that has been killing some sheep on Elk River, but, after tramping all day, they returned without finding him. People, who have seen him, say that he is as large as a large yearling steer.

Captain Marshall and his son, Ligon, attended court in Beverly.

Watson Sharp starts for Conference soon. We hear that he is going to be a preacher.

L. J. Marshall started for the oil fields in Ritchie county on last Wednesday, where he expects to remain until October, and then he will return to school.

We noticed Dave Barnes, of Pocahontas, in our town with a race horse, on Tuesday.

Piatt Marshall and Buke Moore are the boss sheep buyers; they buy any thing from one month old up to twenty years.

K. D. Marshall is raising hounds for a business.

Mr Dakers is our champion farmer.

Our boys took in the Barlow show at Valley Head and pronounced it a grand thing for the money.

MT. DEW.

It takes more than hard times to check the growth of our sales. We want your trade, but we ask it only on condition that we can ben*efit you. We are undersold by* none; we have no particular leaders —every article is a leader. Outings @ 4c, Black Satteen @ 9c, Dress Ginghams 5½c up, Best Hickory Shirting 8c ₱ yard, Sus*penders from* 8c to 15c per pair, Arbuckle Coffee 12½ cents per lb. We will pay a fair price for wool.

Yours respectfully,

L. D. SHARP.

Two Days in the Capitol City.

Excursion leaves Millboro for Washington at 4.23 A. M. Monday, May 30. Returning leaves Wash*ington* 11.39 P. M Wednesday.

Round trip $2.50. Go and see Decoration day.

S. L. TOLLEY, Agent.

"It is the Best on Earth."

THAT is what Edwards & Parker, merchants of Plains, Ga., say of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, for rheumatism, lame back, deep seated and muscular pains. For sale by drug gists.

Lightning Hot Drops—
What a Funny Name!
Very True, but it Kills All Pain.
Sold Everywhere. Every Day—
Without Relief, There is No Pay!

FIFTY DOLLARS A WEEK EASILY MADE. Agents wanted in every locality for Hon. W. J. Bryan's great and only book, "The First Battle. The best seller ever produced. Agents are taking as many as 200 orders per week. Beware of fraudulent imitations. Send for outfit and begin work at once. W. B. CONKEY COMPANY, Publishers, 241 Dearborn Street, Chicago.

THE trespass law was materially amended by the legislature last winter. Hereafter persons wishing to hunt or fish on the lands of another will be cautious and secure permission of the owners before they go upon the premises for that purpose. The trespassers will think so, especially if he has no money to pay his fine. The new law prevents persons from shooting, hunting or fishing on any enclosed premises without the owner's consent. If he discheys he forfeits $5 to the owner and may be put under $100 bonds for his good behavior one year. Failing to get securiety, the offender must go to jail for a month. The county court may make this law applicable to all lands or to those whose owners so desire.—Monroe Watchman.

Broken Chain

The family circle is never so happy after the chain is broken and a link taken. Some family circles are strong, others weak. Have you a good family history? Or is there a tendency to coughs, throat or bronchial troubles, weak lungs? Has a brother, sister, parent or near relative had consumption? Then your family chain is weak. Strengthen it. Take SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites. It makes rich blood, gives strength and vigor to weak organs and throws off consumption. Don't delay. Do all the strength-giving you can. Don't wait for the chain to break. Be sure and get a full-sized bottle.

Scott & Bowne, Chemists, N. Y.

A Grand Bargain in Land.

The undersigned offers for sale in whole or in part a tract of land on very reasonable terms. It is situated about 2½ miles of Falling Spring, Greenbrier County, West Virginia, and 3½ miles from the west bank of Greenbrier River and lies on both sides of Spring Creek, being well watered by numerous rivulets and springs tributary to that stream. This land joins the lands held by Messrs Robinson, Robertson, Dancy, Knight, Eggleston, and Boggs. The tract consists of 700 acres,—about one hundred acres cleared and ready for cultivation. The rest is well timbered with white-oak, black-oak, red-oak, chestnut-oak, chestnut, and locust. The quality and quantity of the locust challenges admiration, while much of the other timber is above the average in quality. With judicious management, the timber will more than pay the price for which the land can be had. When cleared the land spontaneously and heavily sods with the Greenbrier bluegrass. A better place for sheep-husbandry is not in the market.

For full particulars, all letters will receive prompt attention addressed, George W. Levisay,

P. O. Box 20, Frankford, W. Va.

PARTIES in Grant and Tucker counties have sold a tract of 35,000 acres in the Honey Creek coal fields. The coal lands begin at Davis and extend 25 miles due east. One of the stipulations is the building of a railroad to the seaboard. This would take us in, very likely.

THE C. & O. R. R. Company has purchased Elliott's Knob, the highest point in Augusta county, and will erect on it a spacious hotel. There is about fifteen acres of level land on its top and a bold free stone spring.—It has been a great resort for summer excursions.

IF the Anderson type - writer proves to be all that the inventor claims for it, the stenographer will speedily lose his job. With this typewriter, just patented, a word of sixteen letters or less can be struck at one blow. A speed of one hundred words per minute can be attained in six weeks' practice.

THE Socratic School was founded by Socrates, who was esteemed the wisest and most virtuous of the Greeks and the father of moral philosophy. The school of flow prices was founded here at the Golden Store, where there are Standard wire nails $3.75 per keg, and special prices on large quantities.

THE Pocahontas Marble Company was chartered last week. Capital $500,000, subscribed $5,100, paid in $150. Hon J. T. McGraw, E. I. Holt, William L. McMeel, and six others, are mentioned as incorporators. The company is authorized to own, operate, lease, and sell marble in the quarry and do a general manufacturing business in marble, with principal place of business at Academy, Pocahontas County.

IT is reported that some good sales of live stock have been made in Highland. Several lots have been sold at four and a quarter cents for September and October delivery. This early liming to the overhanging cloud should be regarded as a hopeful omen. Nevertheless we find that many persons express themselves unable to see how permanent improvement can be possible under existing conditions. The people generally are suffering from distressing prostration in business affairs. A change, so to speak, has been made in the doctors, but the question is raised what good can the change do when the new doctor is giving the same medicine as the old one, only in larger doses and for higher fees. It may be good for the doctors, but the patient suffers all the same, until the treatment is changed.

DR. MYERS, of the Experimental Station at Morgantown, W. Va., is anxious to place a valuable work on poultry in the hands of every poultry raiser in it will be sent post free to every applicant. No one should neglect this opportunity to inform himself as to the chicken industry, which has been so much neglected in this State. Its fostering would double or treble have been saved, a week ago, and a mashed thumb, nails and scarifyfires if the following suggestion as to a hen coop had come our way. The form of coop that we have found best is a common wool bone or flour barrel laid down on its side and so staked that it can not roll back and forth. The hen and her brood are put in it at night and a loose cover put in the front, to keep the chicks safe through the morning, and keep vermin out. They have the run of the yard in the day time. This is proving a most excellent means of protecting the hens from rainy weather and chilling blasts. This is more than we for that the ordinary coops, recommended for hens with their broods as the best is thoroughly protected from storms and cutside dangers. It is well to spray the hens' nests with petroleum every week or two, to guard against lice. In order to kill the first and last on infants teeth the "mixed" should before putting the hen and her brood in it. The latter should be removed once or twice a week and dusted with sifted dried lime.

IT TICKLES YOU
THE INSTANT RELIEF YOU GET FROM
LIGHTNING HOT DROPS.

CURES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.
HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Bites of Animals, Serpents, Bugs, etc.
BREAKS UP Bad Colds, La Grippe, Influenza, Croup, Sore Throat, etc.
SMELLS GOOD, TASTES GOOD.
SOLD EVERYWHERE AT 25c AND 50c PER BOTTLE. NO RELIEF, NO PAY.
HERB MEDICINE CO. (Formerly of Weston, W. Va.) SPRINGFIELD, O.

Things ycu Can't do

There are some things you can't do —for they are against nature. You can't make water run up hill. You can't cheat others and not cheat yourself. You can't make poor economy pay by purchasing poor quality clothing and badly made.

Mothers

of you expect the boys to keep neat and tidy you must buy them clothes that will stand the strain.

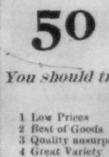
You Wouldn't

go to a doctor for legal advice, and you cannot expect to find a good suit in a half-kept store. I am just receiving a new line of clothing right from the tailor-shop, and it was bought extremely low, as the maker was hard pressed for money. I solicit your inspection.

The Golden Store

Specialist in Clothing.

50 Reasons



WHY

You should trade with Sol Davis, Green Bank

1 Low Prices	26 No Disappointment
2 Best of Goods	27 You Find What You Want
3 Quality unsurpassed	28 What you Buy is Choice
4 Great Variety	29 A Guarantee of Goodness
5 Polite Attention	30 Your Patronage Appreciated
6 Every Deal a Bargain	31 Store Freshly Stocked
7 Guaranteed as Represented	32 Popular Goods
8 Glad to Please You	33 Popular Prices
9 Full Value for your Money	34 Headquarters for Bargains
10 Latest Styles	35 We Under buy
11 An Easy Selection	36 We Undersell
12 You get Satisfaction	37 Leaders of Trade
13 You are Protected	38 Always a Rare Choice
14 No Advantage Taken	39 You Get Honest Goods
15 A Fair and Square Deal	40 Golden Opportunity
16 You Save Money	41 Profit Sharing
17 The Goods are Reliable	42 Cream of the Market
18 A Complete Stock	43 Best Place to Buy
19 Great Inducements	44 Promises Kept
20 All kinds of Produce Taken	45 Statements Verified
21 Highest Market Prices Paid	46 Your Welcome Assured
22 Fancy Prices unknown	47 Inspection Solicited
23 Mortgorous Stock	48 You Urged to Buy
24 Prices that Please	49 Stock Carefully Bought
25 Customers Leave Smiling	50 You get the Best & Cheapest

Head to foot Outfitter for Men, Women, and Children. Yours for Business,

Green Bank, W. Va. SOL. DAVIS.

MAY HAS COME,

The leaves are turning out, and why not turn over a New Leaf and buy your goods of me? saving from 15 to 25 per cent.

By so doing you will never get in trouble and be dunned for money.

SAVE YOUR WOOL, BUTTER, EGGS, GRAIN, &C., &C.

Pay for goods at the time you get them, and you will not be in trouble all the time. This is how I can sell cheaper than anyone else.

I want your money and country produce. My stock of goods will be constantly added to, and you will be treated right. I want your Wool. Call and see me before you dispose of it elsewhere. Remember I take all kinds of produce at best market prices.

S. J. BOGGS

HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday May 23, 1897.

Subscription ONE DOLLAR in advance. If not paid within the year $1.50 will be charged.

Entered at the post-office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

County Directory

Judge	J. M. McWhorter
Pros. Attorney	L. M. McClintic
Sheriff	R. W. Hill
Clerk County Court	S. L. Brown
Clerk Circuit Court	J. H. Patterson
Assessor	James Barlow
Com'rs. Co. Ct.	C. K. Beard J. B. Warwick
Surveyor	George Baxter
Coroner	George F. Moore

BOARD OF HEALTH—Dr. J. W. Price, L. M. McClintic, M. J. McNeel, R. W. Hill.

JUSTICES—Uriah Bird, Marlinton; A. C. L. Gatewood, Linwood; P. D. Arbogast, Green Bank; W. H. Gross, Huntersville; G. R. Curry, Academy; T. A. Bruffey, Lobelia.

J. H. CLARK

House and Sign Painter, Hillsboro, W. Va., does his work well. Uses the new discovery for binding White Lead. No Chalking or Scaling.—Give him a trial.

m19 6m

The Sun.

The First of American Newspapers, Charles A. Dana, Editor.

The American Constitution, the American Idea, the American Spirit, These first last, and all the time, forever.

DAILY, by mail, - - - $6 a year
DAILY and SUNDAY $8 a year

THE

Sunday Sun

is the greatest Sunday Newspaper in the world.

Price 5c a copy. By mail $2 a year

Address THE SUN, New York.

THE ODELL TYPE WRITER.

$20 will buy the ODELL TYPE WRITER with 78 characters, warranted to do as good work as any machine made.

It combines SIMPLICITY with PERFECTION, SPEED, EASE OF OPERATION, wears longer without cost of repairs than any other machine. Has no ink ribbon to bother the operator. Is DUST, DURABLE, nickel-plated, perfect and is adapted to all kinds of typewriting. Like a printing press. It produces sharp, clear, legible manuscripts. Two or ten copies can be made at one writing. Any intelligent person can become an operator in two days.

Reliable Agents and Salesmen Wanted. For Pamphlet giving Indorsements, etc., address,

ODELL TYPE WRITER CO.
356-364 Dearborn St. CHICAGO, ILL.
Mention this paper.

SPECIAL POTATO FERTILIZER

and High Grade General Phosphates made from

VEGETABLE and ANIMAL MATTER.

Every farmer should write for prices, terms, and circulars.

AMERICAN REDUCTION CO.
Pittsburg, Pa.

R·I·P·A·N·S

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGN PATENTS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

Great Girl.

"Greatest girl in our boarding house you ever saw," declared Quirkly, with a giggle, according to the Detroit Free Press. "Never says what you expect her to say and you'd be disappointed if she did, after hearing her.

"Dry goods clerk sits opposite her, and asked the other day if she really thought there were bargains in the matrimonial market. 'Of course there are,' she answered with a laugh. 'I myself have been marked down from 26 to 25.'

"Old bachelor that sits next to her at the table spilled his ice cream in her lap. She never screamed nor ran away, but effectively took him by the hand and congratulated him on the coolness of the entire proceeding.

"Dude boarder had the nerve to propose to her, and she took half an hour explaining to him how it was all she could possibly do to support her mother and herself. Then she thought of taking on any more obligations she would certainly have another talk with him. The chump went around telling it, proud as a turkey gobbler.

"Real estate fiend wanted to sell her a lot for twice what it was worth. She closed the deal by offering to take half his commission and give him a quit claim to the lot. He still scratches his head and looks at her from the corners of his eyes.

"Think of laying my own fortune at her feet. Have n't the slightest idea that she will accept, and for that very reason am inclined to think that she will."

THERE is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten to drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & CO., To edo, O.

Sold by druggists 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

"It is the Best on Earth."

THAT is what Edwards & Parker, merchants of Plains, Ga., say of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, for rheumatism, lame back, deep seated and muscular pains. For sale by drug gists.

CANCER AND TUMORS, internal or external,—including womb and rectum troubles. No cure, no pay. Vegetable treatment. Inquiries answered. Merrill Institute, Middlebourne, Tyler County West Virginia. m21 2m

Commissioner's Notice.

Commissioner's Office, }
Marlinton, W. Va. }
April 14, 1897 }

Caroline E. Warwick's Executors
vs.
Caroline E. Warwick's heirs.

All persons interested will take notice that pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, rendered in the above cause at the April Term, 1897, in the foregoing cause I will proceed at my office in the town of Marlinton, West Virginia, on the fifth day of June, 1897, to take state, and report to the next term of the Circuit Court of said county the following matters of account, to-wit:

1.—A settlement of the accounts of John C. Warwick and Emma N. Warwick, Executors of the Last will and testament of the decedent Caroline E. Warwick.

2.—Whether or not the personal property of the decedent is sufficient to pay all of the debts of the decedent.

3.—An account of all the liens on the real estate of the decedent and their respective priorities.

4.—An account of all other unpaid debts of the decedent.

5.—An account of the real estate owned by the decedent at the time of her death, or any part thereof, to pay her debts. Together with the approximate value of each of said tracts, and whether or not there are any specific liens thereon.

6.—What would be a reasonable fee to the plaintiff's attorney in this case.

7.—Any other matter required by said party to be stated, &c.

W. A. BEARD,
Commissioner.

m7 w3

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

To the creditors of Caroline E. Warwick, deceased:

In pursuance of a decree of the Circuit Court of the County of Pocahontas made in a cause therein pending, to-wit: the said cause of the said Caroline E. Warwick is the plaintiff and the heirs and the personal representatives of her estate are the defendants, I will proceed at my office in the town of Marlinton, in said county, on the 5th day of June, 1897, to receive proofs of claims against the estate of the said Caroline E. Warwick in accordance with the decree of said Court entered on the 5th day of April, 1897.

Witness, A. B. Pendleton, Clerk of said Court, this 5th day of April, 1897.

A. B. PENDLETON,
Clerk.

A. C. L. GATEWOOD, Jr.,
Attorney.

Tales of the Tenderloin.

Ever since Sergeant Paddy Lane, of the Nineteenth Precinct, has been on the night desk at the Tenderloin station he has been a source of wonderment to the newspaper writers, owing principally to the fact that he has the faculty of knowing what news is. Lane can spin thro a register of crime and extract the best material with the same faculty that Tom Platt can bat his eye at a group of Albany legislators.

Heretofore the Sergeant has been somewhat reticent about disclosing the beginning of his newspaper experience, but inadvertently the other evening he told the story of his first journalistic crime.

"I was a printer's devil in one of the up-country towns where I was a youngster," he mused, "and owing to the frequent intoxication of the editor, I did about as I pleased and never got nervous prostration from overwork. The foreman of the sheet frequently assisted the editor in his little deflections and the printers did nothing except what suited them. Altogether the office was run indifferently, and the paper came out only on occasions. One afternoon when the editor and foreman were holding a carnival up the street, the boss printer and myself put the little sheet to press. We had just enough matter to make up the three columns of news, with the exception of about five lines, so I got up to the case and set the following:

NOTICE.

The lady who sends in the best pie during the next thirty days will receive a copy of this paper free for one year as a reward for her skill. No entry will be slighted.

"Well, we got the paper out in good shape and the carrier was lively getting it distributed. In less than twenty-four hours after publication pies began to roll in by the dozen. We ate pie in the morning, ate it for lunch and dined on pie. There was pie on the proof press, on the desk, in the cases, chunks of it on the chairs and the drawers of the editor's table were stuffed with it. The printers ate pie with one hand and set type with the other. All of us took pies home and the editor's wife had parties every night. It was the greatest pie festival the town had ever seen. We had them stacked up in every corner and the feed board of the press was littered with them. One night five slipped into the rollers and pied the forms. At the end of the thirty days we had looted the wives and mothers and daughters of 361 pies, and the contest closed with twenty-one winners. We couldn't stand that, so I set up another notice in this way:

A CORRECTION.

Owing to the great number of perfect pies sent in on the competition, we have decided to play a two week's cake contest to decide the issue. Competitors are limited to five cakes.

"That was a bad break. The populace got on to us and 492 subscribers stopped the paper. The cake drought that followed is a matter of town history now. We did n't get even so much as a ginger snap entry, and the editor took to much heavy and consuming drink that the paper went to the dogs and I left the town for New York, where I got on the police force, still retaining, I am glad to say, enough knowledge of the newspaper business to know news when I see it. Here's a good story for you. Come in this afternoon. Take it?"

But there was nobody to accept the offer. The reporters had staggered out on the stoop. Captain Chiquets got up from his seat beside Lane and sniffed for his office, detectives Hant and Wolf had fled to the back room, and even Policeman Barry forgot to stop and talk with anybody that night.—New York Journal.

Farmers' Home Fire Insurance Co., of West Virginia.

J. H. SYDENSTRICKER, - - President.
A. F. McCLINTIC, - Sec'y & Treas.

INCORPORATED.

By the People and for the People. For Insured Property only. No Salaried Officers to Support. No "expense" fees to Agents. No Loss, no Expense. Fair and Honorable Adjustment of all Losses. Call and Examine this form of what is paid a safe company and a few times as secure. It loses no unnecessary expenses in all of the adjoining States. Thousands of dollars in Surplus.

T. L. REY, M. D. J. H. SYDENSTRICKER,
Lewisburg, W. Va.

FEED, LIVERY AND SALE STABLES.

First-Rate Teams and Saddle-Horses Provided.

I.F. Horses for Sale and Hire. All

SPECIAL ACCOMMODATIONS FOR DRUMMERS.

A limited number of Horses boarded.

All persons having bones to trade are invited to call. Trade somebody to-day or to-morrow.

T. S. G. WOOD,
Marlinton, W. Va.

Prize Mystery Story.

Five thousand dollars in gold will be given to any man, and ten thousand to any professional detective, who will guess the correct solution of the mystery before reading the last chapter of this story. To save valuable space the story has been condensed at a sacrifice of some of its literary style.

CHAPTER I.

Judge Smith, the wealthy (and respected) president of a State university, located in the town of Nitsburg, is found dead in his bed. He has been stabbed with a pair of scissors, poisoned with rough on rats, suffocated with gas, his throat has been cut with an ivory-handled razor, an artery in his arm opened, and he has been shot full of buckshot. The Coroner is summoned and the room examined. On the ceiling is a blood footprint, and on the floor is found a lady's handkerchief with the initials "J. J." in one corner, a package of cigarettes, and half a ham sandwich. The Coroner's jury renders a verdict of suicide.

CHAPTER II.

The Judge leaves a daughter, Maud, who is eighteen and beautiful. The night before the murder she was seen to exhibit a revolver and an ax to several of the neighbors, and referred to the $100,000 insurance the Judge carried in her favor. She is engaged to a young student named Joe, who is seen by several citizens climbing out the Judge's window with a bloody razor and a gun in his hand on the night of the murder. A stranger drops into the police station and states that he murdered the judge from motives of revenge, he (the stranger) having married a lady who once refused the Judge's hand. At the funeral the minister breaks down and confesses he committed the crime to get the Judge's watch. Maud sends to Chicago and employs a skilled detective to work up the case.

CHAPTER III.

A heavily veiled lady, giving her name as Jane Jones (the initials on the handkerchief) calls on Joe. Joe lights a cigarette and she faints. Two days later a Chinaman denies having killed the Judge and is arrested by the detective. Maud discards Joe and engages herself to the Chinaman.

CHAPTER IV.

At the Chinaman's trial Jane Jones testifies that she saw the detective murder Judge Smith, and that Maud is Joe's stepmother. The Chinaman is about to confess when foot steps are heard approaching.

CHAPTER V.

THE SOLUTION.

The footstep sproved to be those of Hezekiah B. Heflebower, of Lower California, who swears that the death of the Judge was an accident owing to the fact that he and a party of other students went to the Judge's room by mistake, thinking it was that of a freshman whom they were about to haze. The Chinamen is lynched, Jane Jones goes on the stage, and three months later Maud marries a man named Potts from Portland, Maine.—Exchange.

THE Westfield (Ind.) News prints the following in regard to an old resident of that place: "Frank Mc-Avoy, for many years in the employ of the L., N. A. & C. Ry. here, says: 'I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy for ten years and longer—can never without it in my family. I consider it the best remedy of its kind manufactured. I take pleasure in recommending it.'" It is a specific for all bowel disorders. For sale by druggists.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty four hours: a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble: frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every claim in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine, beer, or any and every one who needs a medicine should have it. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet both sent free by mail. Mention the Pocahontas Times when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

Tutt's Pills Cure All Liver Ills.

A CLEAR HEAD; good digestion; sound sleep; a fine appetite and a ripe old age, are some of the results of the use of Tutt's Liver Pills. A single dose will convince you of their wonderful effects and virtue.

A Known Fact.

An absolute cure for sick headache, dyspepsia, malaria, sour stomach, dizziness, constipation bilious fever, piles, torpid liver and all kindred diseases.

Tutt's Liver Pills

Harvesting Machines.

I will furnish the JOHNSTON HARVESTING MACHINERY & MOWERS this year from $40.00 to $45.00, according to the length of cut.

Yours respectfully,

C. J. HILL,
Agent.

LOBELIA, W. V.A. [12 6m

Commissioner's Notice.

Commissioner's Office, }
Marlinton, W. Va., }
April 20, 1897. }

State of West Virginia
vs. (School Lands
100 acres and 15 acres.

The plaintiff and all of the above named defendants and all whom owners and claimants of any part or parcel of the lands mentioned in the plaintiff's bill in the above entitled cause, will take notice that on the

31ST DAY OF MAY, 1897,

at my office in the town of Marlinton, Pocahontas County, West Virginia, I will commence the discharge of my duties under the decrees of reference in the above entitled cause, a copy of which decrees is published with this notice, at which time and place you and each of you can attend and protect and defend any interest you may have in the lands or any of them in question in this suit.

Given under my hand this the 20th day of April, 1897.

ANDREW PRICE, Commissioner.
Bratton, Attorney.

[Copy of decree of April Term, 1895.]

State of West Virginia
vs.
One hundred acres
and
Fifteen acres,

In the matter of forfeited lands

On motion of B. M. Yeager, Commissioner of School Lands for the county, the above cause of the State of West Virginia vs. one hundred acres and fifteen acres is referred to N. C. McNeil, one of the commissioners of this court, who shall take, state, and report to court the following matters of account, viz:

1st - Whether or not the two tracts set forth in the bill as waste and unappropriated lands are really waste and unappropriated.

2d - If waste and unappropriated, the exact location of said tracs, and all other things required to be reported under Chapter 105 of Code of West Virginia, 1891, as amended by the acts of West virginia, 1893.

But before commencing to take and state said report he shall publish in the "Pocahontas Times," a newspaper published in the county, and post at the front door of the court house for four consecutive weeks a notice of the time and place of taking said account.

[Copy of decree of April Term, 1897.]

State of west virginia
vs.
One hundred acres and fifteen acres.

This cause came on this day to be further heard on the papers formerly read, and was argued by counsel

And it appearing to the court that the decree entered in this cause on the day of April, 1895, has never been reported on, it is adjudged, ordered and decreed that this cause be referred to Andrew Price, one of the Commissioners of this Court, with instructions that he report to the next term of this Court, or as soon as possible, the matters required to be reported by said decree of April, 1895, as fully as if said decree was herein set out in full.

C. B. SWECKER,
General Auctioneer and Real Estate Agent

Iaeli Coal, Mineral and Timber Lands, Farms and Town Lots a specialty. Ill years in the business. Correspondence solicited. References furnished. Satisfaction Guaranteed. Office, Dunmore, W. Va., or Alexander, W. Va.

Old Dominion Building & Loan Association.

Richmond, - - Virginia.

J. TAYLOR ELLYSON, President.
E. A. BARKER, Treasurer.
DIRECTORS:
J. Taylor Ellyson, Norman V. Randolph, John B. Purcell, John S. Eliet, Frank T. Sutton.

Authorized Capital $20,000,000
Subscribed Capital 3,000,000
Paid Up Capital (Capital Stock) 1,000,000
Assets 3,000,000

Depository: State Bank of Virginia. Investment stock $1.00 per share, membership fee, and 50 cents per month dues. Withdrawable at any time. Loans made upon improved real estate in cities and towns. Write for information.

MARLINTON, W. VA.

MARLINTON HOUSE.

Located East End of Bridge.

Terms,
per day, 1.00 & 1.50
per meal 25

Good accommodations for Commercial Men and Tourists. Special rates made to families for board by the week or month.

C. A. YEAGER, Proprietor.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY,
Boston, Mass.
ALLEN C. SMITH, Pres.,

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

The Osborne

SPRINGTOOTH HARROW.

The frames are made in one piece of steel angle bar, and formed to withstand all strain without buckling or warping.

The teeth in this Harrow are so spaced that they will not trail each other, Pulverizing the ground thoroughly.

The steel pipe tooth bars are mounted in malleble boxes secured to the frame, and will not bend or break.

The peculiar shape of the teeth curling two-thirds about the bar gives the greatest amount of spring possible without straining the bolts, and because of their shape and fastening they are stronger than used on any other harrow.

By the levers, the depth of the work can be regulated while the Harrow is in motion.

The draft is steady and direct, as the Harrow has no side motion.

ALL THESE FEATURES COMBINED HAVE MADE THE OSBORNE CELEBRATED.

It has no EQUAL,—it never will have a SUPERIOR.

Call and examine the Osborne line consisting of—

BINDERS, MOWERS, RAKES, TEDDERS, HARROWS AND, CULTIVATORS.

The most complete line of Farming Implements to be found the State.

For sale by

EAGLE & OTT,

RONCEVERTE, W. VA.

The Greatest Medicinal Whiskey the World has Ever Known.

BRADDOCK PURE RYE + + + AND BARLEY MALT.

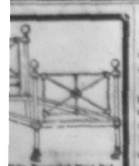
SMOOTH, SOFT, RICH, RIPE, MELLOW AND CHEMICALLY PURE, A RECOMMENDATION IN ITSELF.

TRY A GALLON AT $2.00

Mail Orders solicited either great or small and receive our personal and prompt attention. Please do a postal for price list. Here's one advantage our goods has most to your orders, we can save you money and perhaps your health.

JAS CLARK DISTILLING CO., JNO. McQUAIDE Mngr.

Distillers of Braddock Pure Rye, Wholesale and Retail Liquor Dealers.



20 and 22 South New St., Staunton, Va.

We have a plan by which Farmers can get TOOL CHESTS FREE

The Pocahontas Times.

& Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

14, NO. 45 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, JUNE 4, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

$2.75

HINES & SON,
TIMORE, MD.

COURTS.

COURT convenes on the
ay in April, third Tues-
, and third Tuesday in

COURT convenes on the
ay in January, March, and second Tuesday in
is levy term.

LAW CARDS.

EIL,
ORNEY AT LAW,
ILINTON, W. Va.

tice in the Courts of Poca-
adjoining counties and in
of Appeals of the State of

LIXTIC,
ORNEY AT LAW,
ILINTON, W. Va.

tice in the Courts of Poca-
adjoining counties and in Court of Appeals.

CKEE,
LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
ERSVILLE, W. Va.

tice in the courts of Pocanty and in the Supreme ppeals.

BUCKLE,
ORNEY AT LAW,
WISBURG, W. Va.

tice in the courts of Green-Pocahontas counties. Prompt ven to claims for collection ding county.

ATTON,
ORNEY AT LAW,
ILINTON, W. Va.

ial attention given business.

P PRICE,
ORNEY AT LAW,
ILINTON, W. Va.

found at Times Office.

SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
ILINTON, W. Va.

n Pocahontas—Will receive prompt ion.

CARIDGE,
ORNEY AT LAW,
ERSVILLE, W. Va.

and careful attention given al work.

WALLACE,
ORNEY AT LAW,
WISBURG, W. Va.

ctice in the courts of Pocaunty.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

ll Pocahontas County at least year. The exact date of his appear in this paper.

R. REYNOLDS,
RGERY DENTIST,
HARA, W. Va.

Pocahontas County every ird Sat. The exact date of will appear in the Times.

ALLAGHER, M. D.,
SICIAN & SURGEON,
RLINTON, W. Va.

ffice one to C. & O. Depot's Residence opposite Hotel. promptly answered.

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

In this day and generation, one of the most conspicuous citizens of our county was John Bradshaw, Esq., of Huntersville, West Virginia. His residence was on the site now occupied by the "Lightner House" belonging to Amos Barlow, Esq. John Bradshaw was the ancestor of the Bradshaw relationship, was a native of England. Bradshaw is a historic name in England, as readers of English history readily remember, and so is the name Herold.

About 1760, two brothers, James and John Bradshaw came to America. James Bradshaw went to Kentucky to reside. John Bradshaw remained in Augusta County Virginia, and married Miss Nancy MaKenrie, in the vicinity of Parnassus, and soon afterwards settled on the Bull Pasture River, ten or eleven miles below McDowell, now Highland County, Virginia, on property at this time owned by Franklin Bradshaw and the family of the late John Bradshaw, County Surveyor. Here he resided a number of years, and then early in this century came to Huntersville. His family consisted of four sons and four daughters.—Nancy, Elizabeth, Margaret, Jane, James, John Thomas, and William.

James Bradshaw married Isabella Stevens, of Greenbrier County, and settled on the old homestead. Franklin Bradshaw and John Bradshaw, well-known citizens of Highland County, were his sons. Mrs Eveline Byrd, near Falling Spring, Greenbrier County, is a daughter. Captain R. H. Bradshaw, a gallant soldier who fell in the battle of Port Republic, was a grandson, and James Bradshaw, of McDowell, is also a grandson of James Bradshaw.

John Bradshaw married Nancy Stevens, sister of Mrs Isabella Bradshaw, and settled in the Big Valley between the Bull Pasture and Jackson River, on what is now known as the "Porter Place," and afterwards went to Missouri. These ladies were the daughters of Robert Stevens, who owned the famous ferry at Fort Spring over the Greenbrier.

Thomas Bradshaw married Nancy Williams, on Anthony's Creek, and settled on Brown's Creek, three miles from Huntersville, on property held by Charles L. Moore. He exchanged farms with his brother William, and moved to the brother place near Mill Point, now owned by Isaac McNeel, Esq. He was a botanical physician of the Thompsonian School, and had all of Pocahontas County for his practice. Lobelia and "No. 6" were the main remedies employed along with hot baths and bleeding. Dr Bradshaw died at an advanced age in Huntersville about 1862. His family moved first to Webster County, West Virginia, and then to Missouri.

William Bradshaw was a soldier of the war 1812. His wife was Jane Elliot Hickman, daughter of William Hickman, on Back Creek, Bath County, who was the ancestor of the Hickman relationship in Bath. William Hickman's wife was Mary Eliot, and one of her sisters was the wife of Moses Moore, the famous pioneer, and hence the name Eliot or Eliet so frequently used in the Moore connexion. William Bradshaw first settled near Mill Point, where he lived several years, then upon exchanging places with his brother Thomas he moved to Brown's Creek, where he reared his family. He operated a carding machine along with his farm. The machine stood near the Dunmore road about where the Sheldon Moore road turns off. Traces of the site are yet discernable. The holes of rolls were fastened with block thrums, which were gathered by boys for a small consideration. Mr Bradshaw finally moved to Lewis County, where he died a few years since at an advanced age. As was intimated, he was a soldier in the war of 1812, and was a very good man in all the relations of life, and reared a highly respectable family of eight daughters and one son.

Nancy Mckenzie married Isaac Hartman, near Green Bank. Mary Jane married Alexander Moore, on Stony Creek. Senilda Eiler married Washington Nottingham, of Glade Hill. Oscar Nottingham and the present Mrs Kenney Wade are her children. Huldah Hickman became the wife of John A. McLaughlin, Esq., near Huntersville. Amos McLaughlin, Wallace McLaughlin, Hanson McLaughlin, (Odessa, Missouri), and John E. McLaughlin, near Marvin, are her sons. Mrs George Dilley, Mill Point; Mrs Hanson Curry and Mrs William T. Moore, of Brown's Creek, are her daughters.

Martha Ann Bradshaw was married to the late Beverly Waugh, near Hillsboro. The first Mrs Kenney Wade and John E. Waugh, near Ronceverte, were her children. Matilda Margaret was married to the late Nicholas Singer, of Lewis County, West Virginia, where she now resides. Rebecca Frances, a very promising young person, died in early youth. Rachel Hannah, the pride of the family, died at six years of age. William James married Miss Mary Ellen Watson, in Lewis County, and settled there.

Nancy Bradshaw, daughter of the Huntersville pioneer, married Levi Cackley, and lived on Stamping Creek, near Mill Point. Her children are mentioned in the sketch of the Cackley family.

Margaret Bradshaw, the second daughter, was married to the late John Gwin, on Jackson's River in Bath County. Her daughter, Nancy, was the first wife of Squire Hugh McLaughlin, late of Marlinton. The late William J. McLaughlin, a most estimable citizen; John McLaughlin, and Mrs Elizabeth Rowan, late of the Hot Springs, were her grand-children. Margaret's son, David Gwin, married Miss Eliza Stephenson, on Jackson's River. Another son, John Gwin, Junior, married Miss Gillespie, of Bath, and lived near the Hot Springs. B. Austin Gwin is her Grandson. Jane Gwin, her daughter, married a Mr Starr, an Englishman, and lived at Winchester. Elizabeth Gwin married a Mr Givens, on Jackson's River.

Elizabeth Bradshaw, daughter of the pioneer, was the first wife of the late Samuel Hogsett, Esq., who came from Augusta County, and was a relative of the Makamies. He was a well-known citizen,—a member of the old County Court, and was in every sense of the word a justice of the peace. He was over six feet in height and large in proportion, and feared the face of no living man. On public days his presence and strong arms spoiled many a fight. Mr and Mrs Hogsett lived on the farm now owned and occupied by the Hon William Curry. Their children were—John, who married Leah Cackley; Nancy, who became Mrs McAfee, William Perry, Josiah Thomas, and Samuel. Margaret, Mary, who became Mrs George Moore; Elias, the first wife of Lee Squires; and Elizabeth, who died quite recently at the home of her brother Perry, on Brown's Creek.

Jane Bradshaw, fourth daughter of the pioneer, was married to William Tallman, Esq., of Green Bank, and lived at the old home. Her son, Colonel James Tallman, was a protege of the late Henry M. Moffett, Esq., and was Clerk of the two Courts of Pocahontas for many years and Colonel of the 175th Regiment Virginia Militia. He is remembered as one of the most popular and promising young citizens of his times, and his sad and early death was sincerely lamented by the entire county. Mrs Tallman's second marriage was to Thomas Gammon, Esq., from east Virginia. William, John, Franklin, Cyrus, and Martha were her children by this second marriage.

William Tallman Gammon married Miss Elizabeth Rivers, daughter of Jacob and Nelly Rivers, of Traveller's Repose, and located in Huntersville, and became a prominent citizen, merchant, member of the court, promoted from Captain to Colonel of 175th Regiment Virginia Militia, and was a Ruling Elder in the Presbyterian Church. Her daughter, Martha Jane, first married Amos Campbell, son of the late Thomas Campbell, Highland County, Virginia. Her second marriage was with the Rev J. W. Canter, a well-known minister of the M. E. Church South.

Thus far we have it in our power to tell our readers something of one of the most noted men in the early history of our county, aided by his grand-daughter, Mrs Huldah McLaughlin. Mr Bradshaw owned the lands now held by Hon William Curry, Amos Barlow, Esq., that recently held by the late William J. McLaughlin, the site of Huntersville, and from the James Sharp property on Brown's Creek almost to Dilley's Mill. He donated and deeded the site for the public buildings of Pocahontas County—without reservation. In a lottery venture he drew a prize of ten thousand dollars, which made him one of the money kings of his times.

In appearance his personality was striking,—large and portly, and scrupulously neat in his dress. He used a crutch that was profusely ornamented with silver mountings. His manners were those of an elegant gentleman of the old school.

About the time of Tarleton's raid to Charlottesville he was drafted into the service. Late Saturday evening the notice was served on him to be ready to report for duty Monday morning. His young Scotch-Irish wife was equal to the emergency. She cooked, washed, cried, and prayed all day Sunday, and had him ready for the war early Monday morning, and by night he was in Staunton, on his march for Yorktown, where he says he fought in blood "shoe-mouth deep."

He died suddenly in 1837. His remains are marked by the wild cherry tree in the old Huntersville cemetary, that is said to be growing directly over his grave. In a beautiful sense he is resting under the shade of a tree from the toils, dangers, and privations of pioneer life. W. T. P.

A YEAR IN HEAVEN.

There's a picture in my heart,
No stranger's eye may see;
And a voice forever sounding,
Tho silind that voice may be.

There's a grief within my heart,
Only stricken mothers share,—
Grief for a vanished presence
And a face so bright and fair.

There's a hope within my heart,
That as the days go by,
I may meet again my sainted one
In her home beyond the sky!

RICHMOND, VIRGINIA. V. B. M.

About a year since there was a remarkable exhibition of electric appliances in New York, and the results appear too wonderful for credence. The first telegram ever flashed over the wires was: "What hath God wrought"—science thus rendering a just tribute to the divine source of all good. On May 16, 1896, the marvellous achievements of electricity were celebrated by sending messages with a current supplied by Niagara, over a distance more than twice around the globe, and both telegrams recognized the beneficent hand of God. Mr Depew wired: "God created nature treasures, science utilizes electric power, for the grandeur of the nations and the peace of the world." To this Edwin D. Adams replied: "Mighty Niagara, nature's wonder, through nature's electric current proclaims to all people's science triumphant and the benevolent Creator." The first message transversed 27,500 miles in twenty-one minutes; the other made a much longer trip via Tokio in fifty minutes. In seventy-one minutes a message is sent and answer received transversing nearly sixty thousand miles. With the quickest of available appliances, Marlinton could not send and receive a message and reply to Hillsboro under three hours.—180 minutes. What wonderful resources the Divine Creator has provided to be found and made use of as fast as humanity is made ready by the gospel of His Son for their more improvement.

The council of Europe and the sugar trust are the only great governments left.—Exchange.

WOOL GATHERERS.

There is something beautiful in the general idea of shearing sheep of those who have not sheared them. They think what nice work it is to strip off the snowy fleece and to run their fingers thro the soft wool which forms the winter coat. About one sheep would serve to dispel any illusion any one may have on the subject. The novice is ill prepared for the work before him. I remember one case of a student of farming. He came from the good old county of Kent where Hereward-the-Wake used to circu*late, if I remember aright.* He came out under an agent to learn farming in a country where every body who is foot loose is doing his best to unlearn it. The agent wanted a hundred pounds sterling as a premium. This premium is paid by the emigrent as a token of goodwill on his part and to show that he is in earnest. Then the agent helped him buy an outfit and brought the stranger to a strange land—the land of dollars and sense —and charged him twenty-five dollars per month board and teach*ing him to fa.m in a country neigh*borhood where he could have lived the life of a gentleman of leisure on $12 per month and every thing found. His knowledge of farming after a years assiduous toil amounted to a perfect idea how nine cows should be milked, night and morning. The one year taught him, however, that he could board with some real farmer, if he would work hard, for nothing. He had a dim idea of being a sheep breeder and looked forward to the shearing of sheep with no feelings of disquietude.

The morning was a perfect one when we first drove the sheep into a pen to be clipped. Of course the hands had secured all the shears that would cut and left the Englishman a pair that would take an instinctive delight in pinching blood blisters on his fingers. The day had not passed until he was advised as to the shearing of the sheep, and it had lost all its charms.

The sheep were put in a pen and tables prepared to operate upon. The brawny, experienced hand lost no time in picking up a sheep and flinging him on the table and was clipping away in a little while. To the new man it looked dead easy, and he tackled a moderate sized ewe, the mother of two promising lambs. This sheep did not enter into the spirit of the thing, but tripped her abuser up and he fell on a large stone. He hung on and by a great effort succeded in tying her on the table. The only manner which the old ewe could show her disgust at the summary treatment was by blowing her nose in his face, which she did promtly. By this time he had discovered that the sheep shears would spring apart and would not go together. The points were dull and the sheep appeared to be clipped in ridges. Presently an oblong hole was cut in the critter's hide, and the national expletives were flowing smoothly. By and by the sheep seemed to be exuding a great deal of grease and some corpulent ticks would struggle to get out of the way.

A very discouraging circumstance was that the other hands were upon their third sheep by the time this one was ready to turn over, and it was a question whether the old ewe would last long enough to be sheared. She lay quite still and seemed to be rapidly sinking under the strain. Finally she was clipped of her wool all except some curious tags about the wrong end which the novice thought were of no value, and so he let her go with hardly breath enough left in his body to cry "scat!" The bruised man came around in a hurry and slapped on a tar mark and took a malicious delight in not mentioning the untidy appearance caused by the tags. Not so the boss! He saw the shaggy sheep and did not pass it. The critter went forth that that shaggy must be caught again, and there is a vast difference between catching a sheep with long wool on his back and one newly sheared. Besides the old ewe was reluctant to be caught a again!

Another unfortunate circumstance was that the poor ewe had been so long before the shearer who was dumb, that she must be sucked by two hungry lambs, and thus got back strength from her state of nervous prostation. She was caught by the aid of a spectator after a long and exciting pursuit which caused a number of sheep to jump the pen and escape. By the aid of the same helper the offending tags were removed, and it was dinner time. The other shearers had nine or ten to their credit, but they had failed to skin theirs. Before the season was over the shearer had attained the speed of about five a day.

The work to any body is as disa*greeable as any work on the farm.* The hot summer sun, with an insufficient shade, makes the oil and odor almost unbearable. It is need*less to say that the clothes smell of* sheep ever after. I have have heard an extensive sheep raiser laugh over an experience of his own. He had been shearing sheep some miles distant from his home and started home. He tried to cover up the smell of the sheep on his clothes by a libation of cologne or some other perfume which happened to be handy. On his return he had occasion to pass some minutes in company with a maiden lady, one of the legion of school teachers that East Virginia has produced since the war. She perceived the odor and afterwards remarked to a lady friend that she "naturally abhor red the smell of a man!"

The Wheeling Intelligencer announces that an interesting case will be before the Supreme Court of West Virginia, while the Court is in session in Wheeling. This case involves the right of the public school authorities to have the Bible read in the public schools. John Kennedy, a Romanist, residing at Boothville, Marion Co., W. Va., has had a controversy of two years standing with the trustees of the Boothville public school. He objected that the Bible should be read in a school attended by his children. The trustees arranged that those children should be in a room to themselves during opening exercises in which the Scriptures were read. In the meantime the Kenedy children behaved so badly they were expelled. In March, Kenedy received from the Court of Appeals a mandamus ordering the school board to discontinue the Bible reading in the Boothville school. This the board refuses to do, and hence the board is to appear before the Supreme Court to show the cause why it has not dispensed with the Bible reading. The Junior Order of American Mechanics has taken the matter in hand. The officers of the State Council have resolved to supply whatever funds may be needed to resist Kenedy's effort to have the Bible driven from the Boothville school. The decree of this order is apparent, to have the question settled squarely on its merits and have it settled once for all, whether any school board can be compelled by law to put the Bible out of their schools.

Up To Date.—"Yes," said the Greek commander on the eve of his great victory, "it is true that on several times battles used to be fought in which great numbers were killed, but at present——"

He rang for an aid-de-camp.

"The necessary is to abandon to-morrow for the unnecessary made this day."

Seizing a pen he struck an order for a massacre, refused to accept terms, went to the scaffold.—The Press, New York.

"A little more than a year ago, my hair began turning grey, and falling out, and although I tried ever so many things to prevent a continuance of these conditions, I obtained no satisfaction until I tried Ayer's Hair Vigor. After using one bottle, my hair was restored to a

How Old are You?

It makes no difference whether you answer or not. It is always true that "a woman is as old as she looks." Nothing sets the seal of age upon a woman's beauty so deeply, as gray hair. The hair loses its color generally from lack of nutrition. If you nourish the hair, the original color will come back. That is the way that the normal color of the hair is restored by

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

This testimonial will be found in full in Ayer's "Curebook" with a hundred others. Free. Address J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

It is conceded by judicious *thinkers on current events, in Eu*rope, that much depends on the policy of Austria, what the out come will be. Hence the following about the character of the Austrian Congress should have special interest for thoughtful persons:

Austria's lower House of the Reichsrath is a complicated body, its 425 members being divided up into twenty-four political parties, as the different nationalities in the empire are bitterly opposed to each other. The party divisions are: Young Czechs, 60; Agrarian Czechs 9; Poles, 59; German Clericals, 41; German Liberals, 49; Anti Semites or Christian Socialists, 28; German People's Party, 28; Slovenes, 16; Croates, 11; Ruthenians, 11; Roumanians, 6; Servians, 2; Italian Liberals, 14; Italian Clericals, 5; Socialists, 14; Feudal Party, 21; Feudal Liberals, 28; Feudals of the Centre, 3; Polish People's Party 3; German Irredentists or the Schoenerer Party, 5; followers of Stojalovski, the democratic priest, 6; all these besides the Young Czech Radicals, Czech Clericals and Moderate Socialists, consisting of one member each. Besides these, the Government has a Hungarian Parliament with assorted parties and nationalities to deal with. There are five different bodies of electors for the Austrian lower House, 85 members being elected by the great land proprietors, 117 by the towns, 21 by the Chambers of Commerce, 130 by rural districts, and 72 by universal suffrage.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one deadied disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh cure is internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O
Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

The corporations and wealthy individuals, who are engaged in large manufacturing establishments desire a high tariff to increase their gains. Designing politicians will support it to conciliate their favor and to obtain the means for profuse expenditure for the purpose of purchasing influence in other quarters. Do not allow yourselves, my fellow citizens, to be misled on this subject. It is a system of injustice, and if persisted in will lead to corruption and must end in ruin.—Andrew Jackson, in his Farewell Address.

Mr Isaac Horner, proprietor of the Horner House, Norton, W. Va., and one of the most widely known men in the state was cured of rheumatism and other kindred pains of suffering. He says: "I have not sufficient command of language to convey any idea of what I suffered, my physicians told me that nothing could be done but see me die. I was at last fully convinced that nothing but death would relieve me of my suffering. In June, 1894, Mr Evans, then salesman for the Sterling Remedy Co., induced me to try Cheneybine's Pain Balm. At this time my feet and limbs were swollen to more than double their normal size and it seemed to me no leg would bend but some effort began using the Pain Balm the swelling began to decrease, and soon I discovered that I was entirely cured." For sale by all druggists.

Hundreds of testimonials have been received by Dr. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy by stating what it has done for others and inviting sufferers to test it for themselves. For sale by druggists.

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, June 4, 1897

Subscription ONE DOLLAR in advance. If not paid within the year $1.50 will be charged.

Entered at the post office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

Business Rules.

On all job work our terms are cash, except in cases of merchants and others with whom we have running accounts.

All subscriptions are due in advance to $1.00 a year.

We go to press Thursday morning. Advertisements or communications of any kind, intended for the current weekly issue should be here by Wednesday.

When a subscriber orders his paper discontinued he is, of course, expected at the same time to pay up all arrearages.

JOSEPH BRYAN, of the Richmond Times, is the acknowledged leader of the Gold Democratic party in Virginia.

THE fraud who dealt in millions and who disappeared recently to the sorrow of his Wall Street friends, known as Dr Griffin, was president of the Panther Mountain Coal and Coke Company, capitalized at $5,000,000, whose lands were located in Fayette and Nicholas Counties.

THE Constitutional Committee fixed the salaries of the State officers as follows: Governor, $2,700; Secretary of State, $1,800; Superintendent of Free Schools, $1,500; Treasurer, $1,400; Auditor, $2,500; Attorney General, $1,200 per year. It has reduced the maximum county levy from 95 cents to 75 cents on the $100 valuation.

HON TAYLOR ELLYSON, of Richmond, seems to be in the lead for Governor of Virginia. The convention meets in Roanoke, August 11, and will be composed of 1508 delegates,—far too many to afford any chance for it to be a deliberative body. It is more apt to become a howling mob under the influence of a spirited campaign.

THE papers' special rent is Russell Sage. They have made his meanness proverbial. The latest is that his grand-nephew died of consumption in the poorhouse because of a mortgage held by Russell Sage against Elisur Sage, the deceased's father. The people paid back the mortgage of $60, but it so impoverished them that the boy George had to go to the poorhouse for proper treatment.

In his speech in the Senate last Friday Mr Tillman acted like a man goaded to desperation by his inability to cope with the vast power of the wealthy sugar trust, which has been able to fix its own rate of tariff upon sugar in the McKinley Bill and in the Wilson Bill and which bids fair to do the same in the Dingley tariff law. There is some invidious power in this great syndicate that makes the individual member and end renders his efforts futile. Tillman's charges against the committee are absurd, and yet the result will be that the sugar trust will have its way, and we will continue to pay a cent or two per pound too much for sugar. It is hard to understand where the controllers of the sugar market get their power with Congress.

EVENTS have so transpired in the history of our country that the month of June has come to be associated with scenes of very hateful significance. For it is the season of roses, yet those roses with their dewdrops remind us of the many graves all over our country where sleep so many of our noblest youth who fell in the war between the States. What intensifies the sorrow that is awakened in the reflection that all this might have been avoided if the golden rule had been in the hearts and lives of those in control of our national affairs. Doing unto others as we would have them do unto us is indispensable to the peace and prosperity of humanity, for it is the law enacted by the Creator Himself for the express purpose of making peace and prosperity possible here on earth. It is truly sad to think what a pity are shreds of mutilated hopes and happy homes as many heartbroken souls are weeping for their slain sons the many young scenes in their memorial memories all their lives rolled up by the previous issue of a brother in an unknown grave as many pure and unnamed ones who have in silence grieved their lives away, or now living lives o'ercast with blighted hopes of what might have been, to make life the precious boon it is to those whose fondest anticipations may have been realized. The with garlands to place upon the graves of the Blue and the Gray, and glory accepts the gift and guards their fame with sacred fidelity, still how bitter it is to think that all would have been so different had the golden rule been remembered and used. O why should all this have happened when the remedy might have been in our hearts and mouths and put to life-saving and happy use. "Do unto others as ye would that men should do to you."

CHARLESTON'S CRISIS.

Our readers have been kept informed as to the distress in the city of Charleston owing to the hitch in the granting of liquor licenses, on account of the new departure of the county court. The city was about to be deprived of a large revenue, of means to quench its thirst, and to suffer from the illicit trade of intoxicants. Interested citizens have set about to remove the cause, and have prepared impeachment proceedings against J. S. McDonald, the offending member of the county court. They have employed Brown, Jackson & Knight, Mollohan & McClintic, J. W. Kennedy, and R. E. Hughes as counsel, and have prepared a paper asking for the removal of the commissioner for sixteen separate and distinct charges of misdoing. The petition was to have been presented to Judge Guthrie the first of this week.

McDonald has prepared for war, and for his defense has employed Chilton, MacCorkle & Chilton Ben Hall, A. C. Blair, T. A. Martin, L. E. McWhorter, and others.

THE STEEN YEAR LOCUST.

Every spring the seventeen-year locust scare is started by old and experienced country newspapermen, with whom it is an annual custom to use this plague as a terrorizer for the benefit of their readers. Computations differ, and the learned astrologer who edits our esteemed contemporary the Greenbrier Independent, has put off the evil day for the Greenbrier Valley until 1901. Elsewhere in the State the papers have been unusually clamorous in asserting this season will be marked by the locust plague. As a matter of fact we live in a country where they are not dangerously destructive.

They are found all over the world except in the coldest regions but abound most abundantly in tropical and sub-tropical regions. At times they appear in destructive hosts in southern Europe. In no country do they appear in multitudinous swarms annually, but at irregular periods. They appear in great clouds and the air is darkened by them. They are wonderfully destructive to all growing crops and vegetation generally—often stripping the bark from trees. The prophet Joel says the "land is as a garden of Eden before them and behind them a desolate wilderness."

The noise they make, which is familiar to everyone, is caused by the friction of their rough hind legs on their wing covers. A disputed point among naturalists is whether the locust has powers of flight sufficient to migrate in the immense swarms that often cause famine and pestilence, or whether they are not often blown forward by a gale of wind. The consensus of opinion is that the the locust has extraordinary powers of flight, still those that migrate are borne with the wind. When the swarm of locusts come they seem at a distance as a cloud of smoke, and on their nearer approach the noise they make is as that of rushing mighty waters, or as the Bible describes it, "like the noise of the flame of fire that devoureth the stubble."

Rest assured that the seventeen-year locust is the same locust that has been used as bear-bait here for the past seventeen years, and if from some favorable conditions of the climate there are more of them this season it will not be owing to any special debt. The prophecy is made every year, and those who prophesy continually may know right at times. If the writer were still farming he would be more disturbed over the grasshoppers eating the edge off his scythe than over their cousins, the locusts, might appear in dangerously large numbers.

CONTENTMENT.

I do not care for reading books in either prose or rhyme,
Or other people's thoughts and deeds I cannot waste my time.
I do not care for science, astrology, fine art,
The theatre, the opera, nor "the song that reached my heart."
Nor other songs of grief or joy sung o'er so tenderly,
Have not the slightest bit of charm —its so much noise to me.
I do not care for pictures, nor to paint the wild flower on the hill,
I do not care for 'broidery work, that simply makes me ill.
Cycling I hate and always did, and croquet—oh my stars!
And tennis has no charms for me, nothing but aches and jars.
To me those sports and others seem grossness all of toil and strife,
And if it were not for one thing I'd scarcely care for life.
But that one thing makes up for all. So satisfied I quite Forget all other things in my mad and glad delight;
For the one thing I admire most in all the world is Me!
Ah, Nature did a masterpiece when she made S. A. P.

HALE—CUBA!

THE Editor of the Charleston Gazette was for many years a Washington correspondent and his familiarity with the state of affairs at Washington is continually in evidence in his paper. He has a great contempt for some of the men in high places and regards a Congressman often at Washington value which is away below par. His has been the "proximity that disenchants the view and robs the mountain of its azure hue."

The following criticism of the Senator from Maine will be read with interest by some of our more pronounced fire-eaters, who have sympathy for Cuba than they have for Maine:

"That was a strange scene in the Senate chamber on Saturday when Don Eugenio Hale, the tout, steerer, runner, pimp, procurer, apologist and venal defender of the Spanish legation in Washington, called the distinguished and eloquent Senator from Alabama to order. It is not necessary to explain Senator Morgan's position. His countrymen understand him. He is American to the marrow. No envoy of a foreign government—nor envoy's wife—can control the actions or limit the patriotism of the grand old Alabama statesman. Of Hale it is not necessary to say much. He pretended to call Morgan to order for his severe criticism of Speaker Reed. Mr Reed has his faults, but he is a real man and he despises Hale. For twelve years Reed refused to speak to Hale, and now only recognizes him to oblige Henry Cabot Lodge. About a year ago in a mixed company in the Speaker's room at the Capitol, some one mentioned Senator Hale. Reed frowned, and then slowly and deliberately said: "Eugene Hale is a low blackguard; he has been a disgrace to the State of Maine ever since he has been in Washington.'"

Notice to Students.

The Graded Course of Study provides that certificates of graduation be issued to those pupils who complete the course and pass satisfactory examinations on the branches required to be taught in the country and village schools. Students who have attended the free schools of this county during the school year 1896-'97, and wish to pass an examination, will please apply to me on or before June 12, and I will name a day for the examination of graduates.

D. L. HARLOW, County Superintendent of Schools, Edray, W. Va.

WANTED, INDIAN RELICS.—Arrows, spears, hatchets, pipes, etc., in good condition. Apply at this office.

1 OUT OF EVERY 3

Persons you meet every day,

WILL DIE

OF BRIGHT'S DISEASE

or some trouble of the kidneys, urinary or female organs.

DO YOU KNOW IF YOU ARE ONE OF THE THREE?

WHAT CAN BE DONE?

In such a serious condition you must secure the best remedy you can find in the market

AT ONCE.

There is only one absolutely sure cure for these troubles, and that is

Swamp-Root

"It has stood the test of time."

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Building Foot Bridge.

Sealed bids will be received by the undersigned, at his office in the town of Marlinton, Pocahontas County, West Virginia, until noon Tuesday, July 13, 1897, for the construction of a foot bridge across Greenbrier River at or near the mouth of Leatherbark Creek, in the Green Bank District of said county. Bids will be received for a wooden structure to be built according to the plans and specifications now on file with the Clerk of the County Court; and also for the construction of a bridge out of wire Each bidder is required to accompany his bid with bond in the penalty of $200.00, conditioned for the faithful performance of any contract that might be made with the county court. The court reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

S. L. BROWN,
Clerk County Court.

Copying Land Books.

Sealed bids will be received by the undersigned at his office in the town of Marlinton, Pocahontas Co, West Virginia, until Tuesday, July 13, 1897, at noon, for copying as many of the Land Books of said county as the court may deem necessary to be copied. Said books are to be copied in a good legible hand and in a neat manner. The bidders will bid on one book and copy the balance necessary to be copied at the same price. The court reserves he right to reject any or all bids. S. L. BROWN,
Clerk County Court.

A Grand Bargain in Land.

The undersigned offers for sale in whole or in part a tract of land on very reasonable terms. It is situated about 2½ miles of Falling Spring, Greenbrier County, West Virginia, and 3½ miles from the west bank of Greenbrier River and lies on both sides of Spring Creek, being well watered by numerous rivulets and springs tributary to that stream. This land joins the lands held by Messrs Robinson, Robertson, Dancy, Knight, Eggleston, and Boggs. The tract consists of 700 acres,—about one hundred acres cleared and ready for cultivation. The rest is well timbered with white-oak, black-oak, red-oak, chestnut-oak, chestnut, and locust. The quality and quantity of the locust challenges admiration, while much of the other timber is above the average in quality. With judicious management, the timber will more than pay the price for which the land can be had. When cleared the land spontaneously and heavily sods with the Greenbrier bluegrass. A better place for sheep-husbandry is not in the market.

For full particulars, all letters will receive prompt attention addressed, George W. Levisay,
P. O. Box 20, Frankford, W. Va.

"For three years we have not been without Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house," says A. H. Patter, with R. G. Aikins & Co., Indianapolis, Ind., "and my wife would as soon think of being without flour as a bottle of this remedy in the summer season. We have used it with all three of our children and it never fails to cure—not simply to stop pain, but cure absolutely. It is all right and any one who tries it will find it so." For sale by druggists.

Commissioners' Sale of School Lands.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, in the chancery cause of the State of West Virginia against twenty-two tracts of waste and unappropriated lands or lands forfeited for the non payment of taxes, styled State of West Virginia vs. George L. Clark, et als., the undersigned School Commissioner of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, will on at the front door of the court-house of said county proceed to sell at public auction to the highest bidder the following described tracts or parcels of land respectively.

Tuesday, June 15, 1897,

1st—A tract of 11 acres situated on Elk in this county, forfeited in the name of Peter Herold's estate, and adjoining the lands of Susan McLaughlin and others.

2d—A tract of 277 acres situated on Thorny Creek, in said county, a part of the David Grimes estate, forfeited for the nonpayment of taxes thereon for 1892, and purchased for the State of West Virginia.

3d—A tract of 100 acres situated on Thorny Creek in said County, a part of the David Grimes estate, and forfeited for the non payment of taxes for the year 1892, and purchased for the State of West Virginia.

4th—A tract of 75 acres of waste and unappropriated land on Elk in said county, adjoining the lands of James E. Moore.

5th—A tract of 62 acres of land on Elk in said county, adjoining the lands of Susan E. McLaughlin and others, forfeited in the name of W. McClintock, of waste and unappropriated land.

6th—Two tracts of 150 acres and 80 acres adjacent on Elk in said county, adjoining the lands of W. H. Gay, D. A. Moore and others, forfeited in the name of Mrs. Cora L. Gay.

S. M. TEAGUE,
School Commissioner for Pocahontas County, West Virginia.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

Pursuant to a decree of the circuit court of Pocahontas county, West Virginia, made in the chancery cause of George D. Oliver vs. J. W. Oliver, et als., on the 6th day of April, 1897, the undersigned special commissioner will, on the

15th Day of June, 1897,

at the front door of the court house of Pocahontas county, proceed to sell at public auction the highest bidder

158 Acres of Land,

situated near Green Bank, in said county, adjoining the lands of G. W. Riple, Peter H. Warwick, and others, on the east side of Greenbrier River, on Deer Creek. It is the Oliver homestead. It is in a fair state for farming, and is considered a valuable farm with a clear title.

Terms of Sale: So much cash in hand as will pay the costs of suit and sale, and as for the residue the purchaser will be required to give bonds of the falling due in six, twelve and eighteen months from day of sale, with good and approved security, the title to be retained as ultimate security.

H. S. RUCKER,
Special Commissioner.

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the circuit court of Pocahontas county, do certify that the above named special commissioner has given bond as required by said decree.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

Levi Gay, Guardian, } In
vs. } Chancery.
George W. Ryder. }

Pursuant to a decree rendered in the above styled suit in chancery in the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, at the April Term, 1897, the undersigned special commissioner will, on the first day of the June term of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, proceed to sell at public auction, in front of the court house, to the highest bidder, for cash, the following valuable tract of land, 162½ ACRES.

now owned by the defendant, Geo. W. Ryder, the same having been conveyed to George W. Ryder, Sr., by deed bearing date on the 21st day of October, 1886, situated on Alleghany Mountain, lying partly in Highland County, Virginia, and partly in Pocahontas County, West Virginia. J. W. YEAGER,
Special Commissioner.

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of said County, do certify that bond as required in said decree has been given by said special commissioner.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

H. C. Sharp ..... Plaintiff.
Vs.
Peter N. Dilley, and others, Def'ts

Pursuant to a decree rendered in the above styled suit in Chancery at the April Term, 1897, of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, the undersigned special commissioner will, on the first day of the June Term, 1897, of said Circuit Court offer for sale at public auction to the highest bidder, the following

Valuable Tract of Land,

lying in the County of Pocahontas and the State of West Virginia, on the waters of Knapp's Creek, and adjoining the lands of Amos Barlow, P. H. Lourv, and others, and being the same land that was conveyed by B. F. Hamilton and wife to the party of July, 1894, to the infant defendant, Floyd M. H. Dilley; the said deed being by said decree set aside as fraudulent in fact, and void. The tract is in a high state of cultivation, is very valuable, containing about 83 acres composed of two tracts of 81 acres and 2 acres respectively.

TERMS: Cash for costs. The residue in six, twelve, and eighteen months, with approved personal security.

W. A. BRATTON,
ANDREW PRICE,
Special Commissioners.

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of said county, do certify that the above special commissioners, having given the bond required, are authorized to receive purchase money.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

State of West Virginia, Pocahontas county, to wit:

At rules held in in the clerk's office of the circuit court, on monday, the 3d day of May, 1897.

Mary Susan Herold, Lula M. Miller (nee Herold), Minnie Myrtle Herold, Bessie W. Herold Bedford B. Herold, and Frank O. Herold, the last of whom is an infant and sues by B. D. Herold his next friend, ... Plaintiffs.

vs.

Wm. Herold, and Kate E. Herold his wife, State of West Virginia, John Herold, Peter Herold, Jr., and Mrs. Herold, widow and relict of Sarah J. Herold, deceased, ... Defendants.

The object of this suit is to enforce a vendor's lien on the land of which John Irene Herold owning under the will of Washington I. Herold in favor of the plaintiffs, and to subject the interests of the feme defendants and each of them from ownership in said land and claiming under them, for the purchase thereon to any part thereof.

This day came the plaintiffs by their counsel and it appearing by affidavit filed that the defendant Bedford B. Herold is a non resident of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that he do appear here within one month after due publication of this order and answer the plaintiffs' bill, or the same will be taken for confessed as to him and set for hearing against him.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
P. P. Jones, p. q.

You Can Save Money

by writing or calling on us before you buy

HARDWARE, BAR-IRON,

STOVES, PAINTS, NAILS, GLASS, OILS, ROPE, SASH and DOORS, TINWARE, &c.

We Carry

the biggest stock in this section, and guarantee all goods to be as represented.

If YOU wish to save money, do n't buy till you see our goods and prices

Simms & Co.,

Opp. Passenger Depot, RONCEVERTE, W. Va.

Stop! Listen!

RUSH TO THE FRONT!

Where you can get the best bargains ever sold in this county at a retail store. We invite your attention to a few prices, namely:

Black Satteen, 9c per yard		Ladies 50c Sailor Hats	25c
Hickory Shirting, 8c per yard.		" 60c fine Straw Hats	30c
Cotton jean pants cloth, from 11c up		" $1.00 Tam Oshanters	50c
Crepon Laure, 10c per yard.		" $1.50 latest style untrimmed hat
Tea s-o, 15c per pound.		" $2.00 trimmed hats	$1.05
Cornstarch 5c per pound.		Artificial Roses, 10c per bunch.
Arbuckle Coffee, 12½c per pound.		" Flowers, 25c "
Best 10c grade Rice, 6c.		" white Swiss aprons at 15c each.
Men's Fildrock coarse Shoes, 95c.		" pure Silk Mitts 15c per pair.
Solid gold Rings, 75 50 to 4 00.		" black Gloves	10c
Good Pins, 1c per paper.		" Silk ners	25c
Men's good working Shirts, 20c to 50c		Men's 20c Chip Hats, broad rim,	10c
" " weight Drawers	20c	" 15c ditto for	8c
Suspenders, 10c to 15c.		$2 25 b'ack Fedora fur hats	1.15
Sacks	$2.75 to $8.00.	Men's Brown, fancy Brim	1.50
		90c fur hats for 50c.

We will take WOOL in exchange for goods at 12c per pound.
Yours respectfully, L. D. SHARP.

WAR DECLARED!

We are helping you to fight high prices, and have conquered the high price at last. We have just received a nice lot of new goods which will sell low for Cash or good trade, such as Wool, Ginseng, Corn, Beeswax, Gold, Silver, and Greenbacks.

We quote you as follows:

Good Prints	from	3½	to 6½c
Scotch Lawn	"	5	" 5½c
Gingham	"	5	" 7c
Sattreen			10c.
Cable Twill			12½c.
Cambric	"	5	" 5½c.
Brown Cotton	"	6	" 8c.
Ticking			15c.
Cheviots	"	7½	" 10c.
Denium	"	10	" 15c.
Overshirts	"	19	" 65c.
Men's Drawers	"	25	" 40c.
Overalls	"	35	" 90c.
Jeans Pants	"	85	" 1.15.
Suspenders	"	10	" 45c.
Hose, 4c 5c and 18c			20 pair.
Half Hose at 5 and 10c			25 pr.
Tobacco from 25c to 55c lb.

Other goods proportionately low. Give me a trial. Highest market prices for Wool, etc.

Yours for business,
G. L. HANNAH,
YELK, W. Va.

WOOL

Manufacturer and consumer brought together.

The Clifton Woolen Mills, Clifton Forge, Va., make a specialty of working farmers' wool into a variety of fabrics that supply all the wants of the family, for men's wear, for ladies wear, for the boy and for the girl. The cassimeres, beautifully flecked Meadow Brook Jeans, Kentucky Jeans, Cheviots, Jeans, Kerseys, all-wool and gray Flannel for underwear, all-wool Jersey Flannel, Blankets for babies and children, Yarns, for men and boys, and in white and colors, in prices that suit the times.

We Pay the Freight on Wool Sent to Us.

Goods made from your wool will be sent to you as soon as they are ready made from sheddy. We will work your wool and take pay in cash or wool at the highest price. Write for samples and prices.

We pay Cash for Wool

Clifton Woolen Mills,
E. W. PRIDDY, Secretary.
CLIFTON FORGE, VIRGINIA.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, and on the 2nd day of April Term, 1897, in the chancery cause therein pending of John R. Moore vs. James E. Johnson, the undersigned special commissioner will on

Tuesday, June 15, 1897,

the first day of the Circuit Court of said county, at the front door of the court house of said county, proceed to rent at public auction to the highest bidder a tract of

374 ACRES,

as the property of the defendant, James E. Johnson, for the term of five years. Said land comprises the farm upon which the said James E. Johnson resides, and is partially improved, and comprises valuable farming and timber lands.

TERMS OF RENTAL: So much cash in hand as will pay costs of suit and expenses of rental and as for the residue the purchaser executing bonds with good personal security due in six and twelve months from day of sale with the legal title to be retained as ultimate security.

OR

In case said lands above described, after having been offered in the manner aforesaid shall fail to rent for a sum sufficient to pay off and discharge all liens against it deposed to be paid in this suit, the costs of this suit and expenses of sale, then, at the same time and place and in the manner aforesaid, the undersigned special commissioner will offer for sale said tract 374 acres, or so much as shall be necessary to satisfy said decree.

TERMS OF SALE: So much cash in hand as will pay the costs of said and expenses of sale, and as for the residue the purchaser will be required to execute two bonds due in six and twelve months from day of sale, with good personal security, the legal title to be retained as ultimate security.

ANDREW PRICE,
Special Commissioner.

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of said county, do certify that the above special commissioner has given bond as required in said decree.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

Tutt's Pills Cure All Liver Ills.

Save Your Money.

One box of Tutt's Pills will save many dollars in doctors' bills They will surely cure all diseases of the stomach, liver or bowels.

No Reckless Assertion

For sick headache, dyspepsia, constipation and biliousness, a fully complete cure is

TUTT'S Liver PILLS

The Pocahontas Times.

JUNE 4, 1897.

Local Events.

floor, land o' Goken and brither Boots Tree Mackerick to Asbury circuits, If there's a hole in a' your coats, I rede ye tent it; A chiel's wanting guin takin notes, An' faith he'll prent it.—BURNS

MONDAY was Decoration Day, which is by act of Congress a legal holiday.

"MCKINLEY" is the name of a new postoffice in Augusta County. Beverly Daniels is postmaster.

THE Winchester Creamery one day last week received 11,000 lbs of milk, and made 600 pounds of butter.

DECORATION DAY at Grafton was more largely attended than ever was a similar occasion. A crowd of 7,000 gathered at Morgantown.

MR CHARLES BURDETTE HART has been appointed Minister to Columbia, and will leave for that country about the middle of June.

THE wonder of the world of Washington is how the West Virginians got so many offices from the Administration.

VIRGINIA will not have a Constitutional Convention. The proposition was overwhelmingly defeated in the election last Thursday.

BRIDGES COLLEGE, of Clarksburg, has a woman president. She is Miss Bertha M. Stout, who has been an instructor in the College for many years.

JAMES HENLEY, of Washington County, Virgininia, aged 87, was found dead at the bottom of a precipice two hundred feet high. His horse was grazing on top. He was a very wealthy land owner.

THE West Virginia University has 465 students at Morgantown and 61 at Morgantown, making 526 in all. The commencement exercises will be from June 5 to June 9. There are five ladies in the graduating class.

MARRIED: At the home of the home of the bride's father, M. J. S. McNulty, of McDowell, Va., Rev. J. C. Dobbs, Jr., and Miss Hattie McNulty. Rev. J. C. Dobbs is pastor of the Presbyterian church of Carthage, N. C.

HON. C. P. JONES, of Monterey, has announced definitely that he will not accept the nomination for State Senate. He has retired from politics in the sense of standing for reelection, but he is every where acknowledged as one of the most powerful and influential men in his State.

THE committee for the location of the State Home for Incurables met at Charleston, May 26, and, having received propositions from the citizens of Martinsburg, Berkeley Springs, Parkersburg, Huntington, Clay Court House, Webster Court House and Charleston, adjourned to meet again, June 4.

THE number of commercial agents, sewing machine sellers, store peddlers, depot wagons, road carts, carriages, and buggies in evidence the past two or three weeks is simply bewildering and we cannot keep up with the procession. So we will take their dust and wish them one and all true prosperity in every sense of the word.

AT Sutton, last Saturday, during the performance of Spark's circus, two of the trained horses got into a fight and broke over the ropes and ran amongst the women and children, causing a panic. Two people, Helen Berry and Minnie Allman, were fatally injured and a large number hurt. A mob was about to destroy the outfit, but was quieted. The manager was arrested.

A DISPATCH to the Baltimore Sun says that since the burning of the Court-house, at Beverly, that Elkins, the largest town in the county, will make an effort to have the county seat removed there. Information received from private sources says that there is no likelihood of such a movement, as the Court-house can be replaced upon the old foundation as much as Beverly. Since the fire the walls have been crumbling and falling in.

A NEWSPAPER notice was inserted the following ad. in a weeker paper. "Notice—My wife, Delia Stacy, having left my bed and board, I will not be responsible for any debts she may contract after this date. John Stacy." In the next issue of the paper, the wife had her message in this way: "Notice—My husband, John Stacy, having neither bed nor board to provide for me, I am now waiting in Stacy."

YOU don't believe all you hear do you? No! I don't. Then don't believe what I say. Investigate, I want you to. I want you to get acquainted with me. I want you to get acquainted with my goods. I want you to compare my prices with those of others. I want you to see my stock. I want you to be convinced that I am doing business in a way that will suit you. I want you to be convinced that I am doing business in a way that will suit you. I want you to be convinced that I am doing business in a way that will suit you

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Office, Friday, June 4, 1897.

Subscription ONE DOLLAR in advance. If not paid within the year $1.50 will be charged.

Entered at the post office at Marlington, W. Va., as second class matter.

County Directory

Judge ..... J. M. McWhorter
Pros. Attorney ..... L. M. McClintic
Sheriff ..... W. W. Hill
Clerk County Court ..... S. L. Brown
Clerk Circuit Court, J. H. Patterson
Assessor ..... J. H. Bunyard
{ Amos Barlow
Com'rs. Co. Ct. { C. D. Beard
{ J. R. Warwick
Surveyor ..... George Baxter
Coroner ..... George P. Arbogast

BOARD OF HEALTH—Dr. J. C. Price, L. M. McClintic, M. J. McNeel, E. W. Hill.

JUSTICES—Uriah Bird, Marlington; A. C. L. Gatewood, Lowood; P. D. Arbogast, Green Bank; M. H. Grose, Huntersville; G. B. Cruzy, Academy; T. A. Bruffey, Lobelia.

J. H. CLARK

House and Sign Painter, Hillsboro, W. Va., does his work well. Uses the new discovery for binding White Lead. No Chalking or Scaling.—Give him a trial.

m19 6m

The Sun.

The First of American Newspapers, Charles A. Dana, Editor.

The American Constitution, the American Idea, the American Spirit, These first last, and all the time, forever.

DAILY, by mail, - - - $6 a year
DAILY and SUNDAY $8 a year

THE
Sunday Sun
is the greatest Sunday Newspaper in the world.

Price 5c a copy. By mail $2 a year
Address THE SUN, New York.

THE ODELL TYPE WRITER.

$20 will buy the ODELL TYPE WRITER with Duplicate Ribbon, warranted to do as good work as any machine made.

IN CONSTRUCTION SIMPLICITY WITH DURABILITY, SPEED, EASE OF OPERATION, unsurpassed; LASTS longer without cost of repairs than any other machine. Has no ink ribbon to bother the operator. It is NEAT, DURABLE nickel plated, perfect and is adapted to all kinds of typewriting. Like a printing press, it produces sharp, clean, legible manuscripts. Two or ten copies can be made at one writing. Any intelligent person can become an operator in ten days.

Reliable Agents and Salesmen Wanted. For Pamphlet giving Indorsements, etc., address

ODELL TYPE WRITER CO.
258-264 Dearborn St. CHICAGO, ILL
Mention this paper.

SPECIAL POTATO FERTILIZER

and High Grade General Phosphates made from

VEGETABLE and ANIMAL MATTER.

Every farmer should write for prices, terms and circulars.

AMERICAN REDUCTION CO.,
Pittsburg, Pa.

R·I·P·A·N·S

Sample Package Free.
For Sale Everywhere.

C. B. SWECKER,
General Auctioneer
and Real Estate Agent

Land Owners and Timber Lands for sale. Correspondence solicited. Reference, P. O. Box 9, Marlington, W. Va.

Old Dominion Building & Loan Association.
Richmond, - - Virginia.

J. TAYLOR ELLYSON, President.
E. A. PARKER, Secretary.

Solicitor American Agency for PATENTS

Scientific American

$3,400.00 CASH AND PRIZES GIVEN FREE EACH MONTH FOR Sunlight SOAP WRAPPERS

As follows:

4 First Prizes, each of $100 Cash - - $ 400.00
12 Second " " 50 " - - 600.00
24 Third " " 25 " - - 600.00
25 Cash Watches - - 1,000.00
Cash and Prizes given each month - - $3,400.00
12

Total given during 12 mos. 1897, $40,800.00

HOW TO OBTAIN THEM.

RULES.

1. Every month during 1897 to each of the 4 Districts will be assigned a different number.

2. Any Competitor who sends to the Lever Bros., Ltd., New York, the largest number of Sunlight Soap Wrappers from his or her District during the month will receive the First Prize, and the Competitor who sends the second largest number will receive the Second Prize, and so on, as per the above list of Prizes.

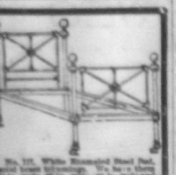
3. Every Wrapper must bear the Number of the District in which it is sent.

4. Competitors may send in Wrappers every week, or every month, as they prefer.

5. Wrappers in Competitor's District will be forwarded to Competitor in about 10 days after receipt.

6. Lever Bros., Ltd., will endeavor to award the Prizes to the Competitors who show the most ability and judgment, but the decision of Lever Bros., Ltd., will be final.

7. Competitors must not write to anyone except the Lever Brothers, Ltd., as final.



LEVER BROS., Ltd., New York.

No. of DISTRICT.	NAME OF DISTRICT.
1	New York City, Brooklyn, Long Island, Northern New Jersey.
2	New York State (outside of Buffalo, Rochester and Syracuse), Southern New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia and District of Columbia.
3	The New England States.
4	Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Utah, Nevada, California, Oregon, Washington, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wyoming, Idaho, Arizona, New Mexico, Indian Territory, Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, Tennessee, Kentucky, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, South Carolina, North Carolina, Canada, Manitoba, Northwest Territories, British Columbia, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, Quebec, Ontario, Newfoundland, Labrador, Hudson Bay Territory, Keewatin, Mackenzie, Ungava, Alaska, Greenland, Iceland, Mexico, Central America, West Indies, Cuba, Porto Rico, Hawaii, Sandwich Islands, Japan, China, Australia, Africa, Europe, Asia, Islands of the Sea, Pacific Ocean, Atlantic Ocean, Arctic Ocean, Antarctic Ocean, Gulf of Mexico, Behring Sea, Behring Straits, Mediterranean Sea, Black Sea, Caspian Sea, Dead Sea, Baltic Sea, Red Sea, North Sea, Irish Sea, English Channel, Bay of Biscay, Bay of Fundy, Gulf of St. Lawrence, Hudson Straits, Davis Straits, Baffin's Bay, Greenland Sea, Barents Sea, Kara Sea, Gulf of Obi, Behring Straits, Sea of Okhotsk, Sea of Japan, Yellow Sea, Gulf of Pechili, China Sea, Java Sea, Arafura Sea, Timor Sea, Indian Ocean, Bay of Bengal, Arabian Sea, Persian Gulf, Gulf of Aden, Mozambique Channel, Gulf of Guinea, Bay of Biafra, Gulf of Benin, Bight of Biafra, Bight of Benin, Gulf of Guinea, Bay of Biafra, Bight of Benin, Gulf of Guinea, Bay of Biafra, Bight of Benin, Gulf of Guinea, Bay

The Pocahontas Times.

ndrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

OL. 14, NO. 46 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, JUNE 11, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 125. White Enameled Steel Bed, with brass trimmings. We have them in white, blue, pink, or in white and blue. Height of head, 56 in.; foot, 36 in.; long, 78 in.

$2.75

Similar goods sold by Retail Dealers everywhere for $5.00. Every purchaser finds business can be done at one-half the usual prices. Our immense stock of pay-by-them-selves furniture, Carpets, Stoves, Refrigerators, Pianos, Fancy Lamps, Sewing Machines, etc. The catalogue tells you nothing and we pay all postage. Send for catalogue. Orders for $10.00 and over shipped free. Don't forget to call and order by dealing with the manufacturer.

JULIUS HINES & SON, BALTIMORE, MD.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the 1st Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the 1st Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

LAW CARDS.

C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. Va.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. Va.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. Va.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals

W. McBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. Va.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

T. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. Va.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. Va.

Will be found at Times Office.

WM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. Va.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

J. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. Va.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. Va.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. E. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in the Times

DR. J. H. HEYWOOD,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. Va.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in the Times

DR. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. Va.

Office and door to C. A. Yeager's store. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

Pocahontas Steam Bottling Works

Manufacturers of and Wholesale Dealers in

SODA WATER, GINGER ALE, SARSAPARILLA, ROOT BEER, CIDER, ETC.

Special attention given to Soda Fountains and Bottling Outfits.

Office and Works, Marlinton, W. Va.

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

Owing to numerous family affiliations in our county some particulars in regard to the Bright connexion in Greenbrier are interesting to our readers.

David Bright, the ancestor of the Brights, came from Pennsylvania in the previous century, and was one of the pioneers of upper Greenbrier, and located on the place now occupied by Andrew Brinkley and sons. David's wife was a Miss Grant, also of Pennsylvania. Their sons were Michael, Jesse, David, and George. There were two daughters, one of whom was named Mary.

Jesse Bright, Esq., the second son of David the pioneer, married Margaret Hamptenstall, and settled on the old homestead and reared the family that has so many relations in Pocahontas County. His daughter Margaret was married to Joseph Callison, son of the late Anthony Callison, at Locust, lower Pocahontas, and finally went to Illinois. Mary Bright, another of Jesse Bright's daughters, was married to Israel Callison, son of Anthony, lived awhile at Locust, then went to Illinois and is still living (1897.)

Rachel Bright, a daughter of Jesse Bright, Esq., became the wife of the late Joseph Levisay, near Frankford, West Virginia, where she still resides and is more than 80 years of age and is remarkably well preserved in mind and person. Her son, G. Washington Levisay, married Miss Maggie Beard, youngest daughter of the late Mr and Mrs Josiah Beard, of Locust, and settled near Falling Spring and then located at Frankford, where he farms and merchandises. Josephine Levisay became Mrs Preston Clark, and lives near Hillsboro. Mary Levisay became Mrs F. I. Dell, and lives near Sedrach Mills. Samuel Brown Levisay was one of the victims of the fearful sawmill explosion that occurred in 1896 near Frankford. Mrs Levisay's daughters, Letitia, Louella, and Elizabeth Wilson; and son, Jesse Achilles, are with her at the Levisay homestead.

Jesse Bright, Junior, married Miss Margaret Pinnell and resides in Lewisburg.

Margaret Bright, daughter of Jesse Bright, Senior, became the wife of the late John Levisay, who settled near Frankford, where she now lives. Her eldest daughter, Mary Margaret, is the wife of Rev D. S. Sydenstricker, D. D., of Hillsboro, the pastor of the Oak Grove Presbyterian Church. Sabina Levisay was married to John Rogers and moved to Gallipolis, Ohio. Jesse Levisay married Miss Addie Johnson, of Frankford, and migrated to Illinois. Cornelia Belinda Levisay was married to W Henry Wallace and lives on Sinking Creek, West Greenbrier. John Brown Levisay married Miss Minnie Johnson, of Frankford, and resides on a portion of the old homestead. Lillian Levisay was married to Dr James Lorne, and now resides at Hillsboro, West Virginia. Virginia and Louisa Levisay are with their mother, Margaret Levisay, on the homestead. James Walton Levisay married Miss Sallie Hanna, daughter of Captain Hanna, and is on the homestead.

Francis Bright, daughter of Jesse Bright, was married to James Ludington, and went to Illinois.

Samuel Bright, another son of Jesse Bright, Senior, married Miss Mary Pollock.

John Bright, daughter of Jesse Bright, Senior, was married to Alan S. Levisay, Esq., and lived near Frankford. Mr and Mrs Levisay have for a few years lived near Manhattan with their daughter, Mrs Lael Gay. Their son John Granville Levisay married Miss Emma Robinson, and he lives in Greenbrier near Frankford.

David Bright, son of Jesse Bright, Senior, married Elizabeth Price. David Bright married Wythe County, and settled in Fayette County, West Virginia.

George Bright, son of Jesse Bright Senior, married Harriet Bowen and moved to Missouri. His second wife was Miss Stuart, a widow of Monroe.

Abram Bright, son of Jesse, Sr., married Margaret Bowen. Abram's second wife was a lady from Richmond, Virginia. His third wife Miss Nickell, of Monroe; and 4th wife a Miss Swisher, now of Gallipolis, Ohio.

The ladies that were the first wives of George and Abram Bright just mentioned were sisters, and daughters of James Bowen, Esq., who lived at the mouth of Sprigg Creek. Mr Bowen was a person of great business ability, and promoted a number of useful industrial enterprises. He built a flourishing mill, carding machine, sawmill, and an oil-mill on the property now held by Newton Mann.

This about exhausts all the information in the compiler's possession that illustrates the relationship these good people sustain to the citizens of our county. Mr and Mrs Jesse Bright, and be of special interest to our friends.

The writer feelingly cherishes the memory of Jesse Bright, Senior,—about whose large and interesting family these "biographic notes have been prepared. The last time he ever saw this venerable man was on a Sabbath morning in the spring of 1857, on the way to church. As the writer was passing from Mr John Levisay's to Erankford near where the cemetary now is, he heard a singular noise, and on turning around saw that someone's horse had stumbled and thrown the rider. On going back it was found to be Mr Jesse Bright. In the meantime his daughter, Mrs Margaret Levisay, with her husband and two daughters, Mary and Jennie, had come up with him. Mr Bright was led to a fence corner where he remained a little while,—apparently not much hurt,—but thought it best to return home. It is said he never felt the same after the contusion he suffered from the falling of his faithful old grey horse that had carried him so safely and pleasantly for many years. From the noise made, the animal fell heavily, and the wonder is the rider escaped instant death.

The compiler of this sketch is mainly indebted to Mr Washington Levisay for the information given here, taken from memory, or gathered by him from the reminiscences of elderly friends.

W. T. P.

"SILENT FRIENDS"

At this beautiful season when the hills and valleys are aflame with blossom and flower, the remark of a lady comes to mind. The person was afflicted in the loss of her reason; but for long years previous to this affliction she had been devoted to the culture of flowers, and her home was in a sunny clime adapted to their beauteous growth.

Like many insane persons, the lady shunned her relatives and acquaintances, but wandered ever among her flowers, saying sadly: "They will not hurt me—they are my sole friends." And was not the name she gave the flowers a sweet one? In our love for the varied flowers around us and our delight in them, in their help to us—a blessing right down from God, we feel that these dear flowers are our friends: they look up at us sweetly and they send forth delightful fragrance,—yet withal they are silent, our "silent friends."

Another striking title for flowers was given by Rev E. Payson, a godly minister who lived a good while ago; he called flowers the "smiles of angels," and this is pretty too. It carries our thoughts to the "land of pure delight where everlasting spring abides, and ever no fading flowers."

Of all earthly blooms and blossoms we are called, sooner or later, to sing "in the last rose of summer"; but we will love and enjoy them while they stay,—our "silent friends."—our "angels' smiles."

A. L. P.

THE GOLDEN RULE.

"Do you think this Government is going to recognize Cuba?"

"No," said the man with spectral tendencies. "All we can do now is to recognize what's left of it."—Washington Star.

THE FAYETTE HANGING.

Fayette County is on the eve of a general execution at which time three desperate men will be hung in front of the jail for any to see who are so inclined. Local notices appear in the Fayette Republican stating that the lumber for the scaffold has been secured and hauled to the front of the jail, and that the sheriff will build the scaffold in plain sight of the whole town because no farmer around the village will allow his land to used for the purpose. The 25th of June will see three men deliberately worked off. The present time is no doubt their greatest punishment as they hear the sound of carpenters putting up the gallows.

Then they lose themselves in sleep and every time they wake and piece together the threads of consciousness they suffer anew in realizing that they are doomed to speedy, certain, and violent deaths. The dreams of the sleeper may be that his arrest, trial, and conviction have all been a dream, and he can be glad in sleep. Then the awakening and involuntary groan that is worse than any death agony itself.

The press, outside of Fayette, is interesting itself greatly in these three men, and from what we learn we take it that they present the three most common types of gallows birds.

Viars, the Montgomery City murderer, is hardened by his fate, defies his Maker, and will meet death without flinching or softening. Much comment has been made over the apparition of a murdered man which haunts his cell; but there is, no doubt, something that terrifies the prisoner, and Viars is used to its presence, only feels a sense of anger [illegible] when it intrudes [illegible]

Lewis, the [illegible] the Montgomery [illegible], has grown repentent, [illegible] has turned in his terror too late to religion. No doubt he has found spiritual advisers who may comfort him with the assurance that Heaven will open its portals to a murderer and that he may become a child of light. He is doing penance now, doubtless, to atone for a world of crime, but he will have to throw himself upon the mercy of the Court.

The third, the negro condemned for the crime of rape, evinces no signs of sensibility other than a dog would under the same circumstances.

This we judge from what we have read as to the state of affairs in Fayette. The inhabitants of that county (peopled with a heterogenous mass of human beings) do not regard life and living as we do in our county where men are connected by every tie of friendship and relationship. There the smothering of a miner in the coal-dust near a tipple calls for a three-line local in the nearest newspaper and there murders and other deeds of violence are of daily occurrence.

A great crowd will come to the countyseat, no doubt, to see these men's last convulsive struggles, and in a day or two other things will arise to dull the memories and efface the impressions of the general execution day.

It is our pleasure to acknowledge the reception of the latest catalogs sent out by Hampden Sydney College and Washington and Lee University. This completes the one hundred and twenty-first session for Hampden Sydney. Washington and Lee was chartered in 1782. Nothing we can say will enhance the lustre of the names commemorated by these famous schools, or promote their influence and usefulness as progressive institutions of learning. May they both become what we would have them be. Parties thinking of entering the college will be furnished with full particulars by addressing Rev. Dr. McIlwaine, Hampden Sydney, Virginia. The Washington and Lee University will furnish all information desired by those who will address Prof. J. L. Campbell, Lexington, Va.

THE Rock Mountain Coal Record is the name of a paper of that name just issued from Salt Lake City Herald.

SCHOOLBOOK BOARD.

The law passed to establish a school-book board for every county, was acted on last Friday at the special term of Court, appointing S. B. Hanna, Peter Arbogast, G. E. Moore, H. S. Rucker, George P. Moore, M. G. Mathews, Isaac McNeel, and Cragen Grimes members of the school-book board for this county. Such board is to consist of representative taxpaying citizens; four of whom are to be freeholders and not school teachers, and at least three to be schoolteachers holding number one certificates. The superintendent of free schools is a member ex officio, and acts as secretary. Their term of office shall be for four years and is very lucrative, paying the members two dollars a day. They are allowed to serve for pay two days at the most in each year. Five members constitute a quorum. The secretary keeps a record of the votes of each member voting on any proposition, and such books are open for inspection.

The immediate duties are to adopt a textbook on each subject not already provided for by the contract of 1895, and such textbook shall remain the textbook for the county for five years. The publisher must supply a bond in the penalty of $10,000, and deliver on board cars to the address of the depositary of each district.

The law is a heavy, ponderous affair that will have its drawbacks. Different Counties will have different books, and when a man moves his family across the line he will have to change the school-books. The price of books will necessarily advance, as there will be no sharp competition entered into by the publishers such as when contracting to supply the whole State. On the other hand, it will bring the matter directly in our own hands and prevent expensive changes of books by a bunch of legislators.

EDUCATION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

Dear Sir—From an historical point of view notice that throughout all generations, from the "era" of ancient history down to the present period of time, the "best educated" people lived the happiest lives, were the best citizens, the freest and most independent people of the globe. When we look on the inventions by which man's labors are so easily performed, and ask what has been the means of bringing all this about, we answer through the faculty of educated men and women. We see that the educated man is, in a general way, the better man in a community—the more reasonable and a better neighbor.

We should urge the young minds to obtain that which can never be taken from them—education. We insist that employing first-class teachers in our public schools is a necessity, and that an increase in salary is a needful step in this direction.

Now, as you know, first grade teachers receive $25 per month and the second grade $22—a mere pittance, considering their arduous tasks. All our sister counties pay better. Pocahontas ought to be ashamed to pay her most important workers so small a sum. Our teachers have to spend two or three days in looking up a school, then another day or two in moving to their work on commencing, especially when teaching some of our remote wayside schools. They pay a good big price for board, and by the time school is out, after paying for the necessaries of life—clothes to keep them from freezing as they travel up and down those cold Alleghany mountains and along the deep icy hollows to their schools,—they have nothing left but a few rusty coppers that will scarcely rattle in their pockets.

Now we hope the Board of Education will give this subject a thought, and when another school-year is ushered in may the hearts of the worthy teachers be gladdened by an increase of salary of fifty cent at least. It is a fact the patrons will receive the same benefit through an increase of first-class teachers.

"I don't believe there ever was so good a pill made as Ayer's Cathartic Pills. They will do all you recommend them for and even more. When I have a cold and ache from head to heels, a dose or two of these pills is all the medicine needed to set me right again. For headache, a the sensitive palate. Some coats are too heavy; they won't dissolve, and the pills they cover pass through the system, harmless as a bread pellet. Other coats are too light, and permit the speedy deterioration of the pill. After 30 years exposure, Ayer's Sugar Coated Pills have been found as effective as if just fresh from the laboratory. It's a good pill, with a good coat. Ask your druggist for

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

A Testimonial will be found in Ayer's "Curebook," with a hundred others. Free. Address: J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Pill Clothes.

The good pill has a good coat. The pill cost serves two purposes; it protects the pill, and disguises it to Manners.

Would'st thou fashion thyself a seemly life?
Then fret not over what is past and gone,
And, spite of all thou may'st have left behind,
Yet act as if thy life were just begun.
What each day wills, enough for thee to know;
What each day wills the day itself will tell,
Do thine own task and be therewith content.

Forgiveness is a high quality, an exalted virtue.

Speaking comes by nature, silence by understanding.

You who are letting miserable misunderstandings with friends run on from year to year, meaning to clear them up some day, if you could only know and see and feel that the time is short! How you would go instantly and do the thing which you might never have another chance to do.

PHILLIPS BROOKS.

If you are tempted to reveal
A tale someone to you has told
About another, make it pass
Before you speak, the Gates of Gold.
These narrow gates—first, "Is it true?"
Then "Is it needful?" In your mind
Give truthful answer. And the next
Is last and narrowest, "Is it kind?"

And if to reach your lips at last
It passes thro these gate-ways three,
Then you may tell the tale, nor fear
What the result of speech may be.

He who waits to do a great deal of good at once will never do any.

O difference of tastes in jokes is a great strain on the affections.

GEORGE ELIOT.

Love's Romance.

The happy termination of an interrupted romance is about to transpire in Summers County. Last Saturday, at Hinton, County Clerk Ayer issued a marriage license to James W. Fortune, 76 years old, and Adalaide McCormick, 56 years old. Fortune is bachelor and Miss McCormick a maiden. They were lovers in 1860 and quarreled. Fortune joined the Confederate army and went South and was not heard of for many years.

Recently Miss McCormick heard from her former lover, and upon his revisiting his old home, they met, revived the friendship of earlier days, and the wedding, which is about to take place, is the happy result.—Ronceverte News.

A FEW weeks ago the general store of Jesse Hays, at Greenland Grant county, W. Va., was burned late at night by incendiary fire, the loss being about $2,000 above the insurance of $1,500. Walter Reed, a brother-in-law of Hays, having married the latter's sister, who left him some two or three years ago to live with her brother because of her husband's alleged ill-treatment of her, was suspected of the crime. Reed was very angry at Hays because he allowed his sister (Reed's wife) to live with him, and it is said to have threatened him in various ways. Soon after the burning of Hays' store a detective appeared on the scene and soon worked up a case against Reed. Justice McDonald, of Maysville, vested the detective with the powers of special constable, and the latter attempted to arrest Reed at his home, near Greenland, when the latter rushed at him with a big knife. The detective drew his revolver and instantly killed Reed. Great excitement prevails at Greenland.

There is a higher test—
This fate may darkly frown, or seem to press,
And bravely do one's best.
Here's to the men who lose!
If triumph's near smile our strongest grin,
Courage is easy then;
The king is he who, after fierce defeat,
Can up and fight again.

—Selected.

Those who say that a heavier hand must be laid on the negro voter by wages and honesty might be more in keeping if they read by-gone Philadelphia Times.

A Red Red Rose.

O, my love is like a red, red rose,
That's newly sprung in June:
O, my love is like the melodie
That's sweetly play'd in tune.

As fair art thou, my bonnie lass,
So deep in love am I;
And I will love thee still, my dear
Till a' the seas gang dry.

Till a' the seas gang dry, my dear,
And rocks melt wi' the sun:
And I will love thee still, my dear,
While the sands o' life shall run.

And fare thee weel, my only love,
And fare thee weel a while!
And I will come again my love,
Tho it were ten thousand mile.

—BURNS

A book has recently been published consisting of poems written by colored people of the South. Professor Daniel Webster Davis writes this about "Bakin and Greens":

"You may put me in rags, fill my cup up wid sorrow,
Let joy be a stranger and trouble my dreams;
But I still will be smilin', no
matter
I pin kin I borrow
Ef you lebe me dan bakin wid plenty ob greens."

"For three years we have not been without Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house," says A. H. Patter, with E. C. Atkins & Co., Indianapolis, Ind., "and my wife would as soon think of being without flour as a bottle of this remedy in the summer season. We have used it with all three of our children and it never fails to cure—not simply to stop pain, but cure absolutely. It is all right and any one who tries it will find it so." For sale by druggists.

THE farmer's oldest boy now puts on his braided boots, gets a grip on the plow handles, and with the "lines" around his neck yells and shouts because the span don't haw and gee just right in turning the corners. You'd never suspect that he was the same fellow who has been raising havoc among the girls all winter, with his stunning plaid neckties and standup paper collars.—Farm Journal for April.

OPTIMIST AND PESSIMIST.—Hungry Huggins—Say, what is these here optimists and pessimists I see so much printed about?

Weary Watkins—One a rooter and the other is a knocker, when you put it in United States.—Indianapolis Journal.

LIKE LINCOLN.—Chicago's new post master may utilize his case of scarlet fever in the same manner Mr Lincoln utilized his case of smallpox. He now has something he can give the office seekers.—Washington Post.

OUR REASON.—One reason why we all do down in our hearts have unbounded respect for an old woman's cause, is that she never charges $5 a visit, and her sympathy never sounds like the clinking of coin.—Atchison Globe.

NO MORE CHANCE.—Jim Corbett is to become a promoter of prize fighting. In other words, Mr Corbett has retired from the business of taking chances.—The Post, Washington.

A RUMOR rises Washington—Later on the President may dispatch a special envoy to New York to inquire into the complication between Lillian Russell and Delia Fox.—Washington Post.

NOT YET FINISHED.—Jerry Simpson is by no means a finished creature, and that is one reason why Tom Reed is striving so hard to make one of him.—Washington Post.

BRIGHAM CHAMBERLAIN'S thirty days in jail will be a light punishment compared with what he has already undergone. His company's fine amounts to $6,000.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

LOUISIANA'S lack of uniform colors in her flag is a beautiful tribute to her ladies, as it could never be accused by using Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer.

The Pocahontas Times.

EDITOR

Friday, June 9, 1897.

ONE DOLLAR is al-
if not paid within the year will be charged.

entered at the post office at Marlin-
W. Va., as second class matter.

CAPTAIN JOHN K. THOMPSON has been removed by the President from the office of marshall of West Va.

THE West Virginia Chautauqua will be held at the new meeting grounds of the Methodist Church near Clay C. H. from the fifth to the 16th of August.

DOUGLAS, Senator Elkins will take an active part in the election of the next United States Senator if the Legislature is Republican and it is thought by some that the man of his choice is Congressman Miller of the Fourth District.

"AMELIE RIVES," Princess Troubetzkoy, the Virginia authoress of "The Quick or the Dead," whose home was near Charlottesville, is believed to be dying from nervous prostration. We suppose it is a case of the coppers burning out.

THE Board of Regents for the State University have been in session this week at Morgantown, and will reorganize the faculty for the next session. They have under consideration over a hundred applications for professorships, and it is thought that some changes will be made. It is probable that the President, Goodknight, will be superseded, and efforts were being made to remove Dr John A. Myers director of the State Experimental Station.

SHALL President McKinley serve wine at his table or not, is the question agitating the public which he solved by the President as he sees fit. He will serve wine, being one of those great men who four not even the wine when it is red. One writer in discussing the question aptly remarks that all the Presidents used wine to aid their digestive organs, except Hayes, and all were elected except him. It seems that great disappointment is felt by certain prohibitionists who voted against Bryan, that Mr McKinley takes wine and things when he feels like it.

THE Governor declines to call a special session of the Legislature to act upon the proposed constitutional amendments. Should he persevere in this refusal the proposed changes will not be considered until the next Legislature meets, and the elections may be largely influenced by what the voters wish, and so it would be well for our citizens to give the amendments their special consideration, and get their votes where they will do the most good in 1898.

THE OHIO LYNCHING.

At Urbana, Ohio, last week, a negro named Charles Mitchell, a hotel porter, criminally assulted a widow lady of that town, and on being identified was brought into court, and upon a plea of guilty was given the extreme penalty of the law of that State for this offense, which is twenty years confinement at hard labor. Friday an assault was made on the jail, but was repulsed by the local militia, which fired on the mob killing or fatally wounding four and hurting nearly a score of others. Later in the day the negro was taken by a larger mob and lynched. The sheriff and captain of the company that had fired on the citizens fled for their lives. At one time as many as 2,000 people surrounded the jail.

The affair will be studied with interest by those who are battling to put down the practice of lynching "in the South." It was thought worthy of notice in one of the national parties' platforms. In the first place the theory of allowing the law to take its course has been overthrown, for the law not only took its course but the negro suffered the heaviest sentence.

Again, the people did their duty even in being upon the record, and this is to be most regretted of any of the details. It has been demonstrated before that a lawful mob will have its way, and the only time that Southern soldiers should be in the mobs is concerned by their presence in the ranks of the militia to protect the prisoner to be executed.

Lynching is not a sectional evil, but a national disgrace, and the sooner it is wiped out the better it will be for the whole country.

THE BLACK BASS.

During the past week the eggs of the bass which had been deposited in the rocky nests at the bottom of the river in eddy water have been hatching, and innumerable little fish make the spot black and mark distinctly the spawning place. Near each such place a mother bass swims untiringly and protects her young from danger.

With most fishes no attention is paid to the eggs after spawning. The male accompanies the female to her place of spawning, and as the eggs are laid from the roe they are fertilized by a deposit of milt. With the bass it is different. They chose a place, near the shore, and for weeks watch by the nest with the greatest diligence.

Three of these spawning places have been under my special observation for sometime. No broadbon could be more faithful to her trust than three bass, hovering over their nests within ten feet of the bank. These three bass would each weigh a pound. Last Sunday one of the hen bass' brood hatched out by the million, and the care and anxiety of the mother seemed doubled. While anyone was in sight she swam round the nest unconcernedly.

Some crawfish were secured and the first one thrown in caused a great disturbance. The food had hardly reached the water when with a tremendous swirl a large bass, before unnoticed, rushed for it and took it far out in the river in an instant. We set this one down as a hog, overbearing bully of a bass which had been watching the school of little fish with a sinister purpose. The mother bass was very much alarmed, but in a moment she was again hovering over her brood.

By the 15th of this month the young bass will be ready to take care of themselves, and the fisherman can catch bass legally and with a clear conscience.

ACADEMY, W. Va., June 8, '97.—Notice is hereby given that the firm of E. H. Moore & Co. has been this day dissolved by mutual consent, and its obligations are assumed by the undersigned. All parties owing said firm are required to call and settle, and all accounts are not settled by the 1st day of July next will be left with an officer for collection.

Yours respectfully,
TAYLOR & ROLLYSON,
Successors to E. H. Moore & Co.

Notice.

The Board of Assessors of the Bolivar District will meet for the last time the present fiscal year during June 30, 1897, at

SATURDAY June 26, 1897,

at which time all persons having taxable property on the 1st day of June, 1897, are notified to present the same to be assessed.

J. M. DE B. ROGERS,
Assessor.

[Advertisement.]

HOT BALL.

Owing to the late big blowout made in Rosecrets last week (June 1st) by a certain Harvesting Machine Co., we, the agents of the McCormick Harvesting Machine Co., believe it justly due our customers and friends, as well as the company we represent, to publish some facts and figures about what we have been doing, as well as correct some statements made by others that are misleading. Our business has been so satisfactory to us that we have not deemed it necessary to even advertise in our local papers. We believe that the good farmers of West Virginia appreciate convenience and durability more than show.

Our Competitors advertised that they sold one hundred machines in Greenbrier and Monroe counties last season. At Rosecrets, their great distributing point, the railroad receipt book shows they only received one car-load, and that consisted largely of rakes. While we received at Rosecrets last season five car-loads of McCormick mowers and binders and one car-load at Alderson. These machines were all sold to good farmers in Monroe, Greenbrier and Pocahontas, and settled for. As to the truth of the above statement we refer you to the railroad receipt books and to J. M. Miller & Bros., who handled the machines. Our competitors told you thro the county papers that they had received five car-loads here this season and had two more car-loads on the road, which would be on hand for their delivery June 1st. They actually received five car-loads, but one of them was rakes. June 1st came, but the other two car loads never came. "See" Parties who had contracted with this company for one of their machines came in with their teams, on June 1st, and were elegantly entertained. They waltzed to the company's band music and were placed in a number of positions and photographed, just as your paper told you. But your paper made some mistakes, or rather over estimates. Your editor was not to blame from the fact he was paid to publish the copy furnished, the same as he is paid to publish these facts. The facts are, there were only thirty wagons in the parade. A careful count by disinterested persons, after all these five carloads were placed in position for exhibition, several days before June 1st, only showed ninety-eight mowers and thirty binders. A careful count by disinterested persons on June 2nd showed sixty-five mowers and eighteen binders still on the ground, showing a delivery of only thirty-three mowers and twelve binders on June 1st.

It is a waste of energy to devote the best years of one's life and efforts to the production and marketing of wares which will not, in a measure, carry their own advertisement with them. The starting point of the McCormick Harvesting Machine Company dates back to 1831, when Cyrus Hall McCormick invented, built and operated the first machine that ever cut grain or grass. Not "400 years of progress" (?) but 66 of success. In view of the recorded facts at the United States patent office it is as amusing as it is ridiculous to see how a certain (or perhaps we should say eccentric) manufacturer claims to have been the first to apply roller bearings to harvesters. In 1862, 35 years ago, to ascertain manufacturer ever built a harvester, a patent was issued to J. G. Perry for an improved reaper which showed and described numerous ways of using roller and ball bearings in harvesters. Mac-Cormick's sides of using roller bearings in harvesters was first patented in 1865. Rosecrets, this season. They are all sold to good farmers in Greenbrier, Pocahontas and Monroe counties. There are none of them to go to Staunton or Charleston. For proof of the above assertion we refer you to the railroad books or J. M. Miller & Bros. delivery books. These cars received contained an average of 10 mowers to the car. We have another car on the road unless it gets cut off by "Cheap Johns," and we hardly think it will.

McCORMICK AGENTS,
for Greenbrier, Monroe, and Pocahontas Counties.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

Pursuant to a decree of the circuit court of Pocahontas county, West Virginia, made in the chancery cause of George B. Oliver vs. J. S. Oliver, &c., &c., on the 5th day of April, 1897, the undersigned special commissioner will, on the

15th Day of June, 1897,

at the front door of the court house of Pocahontas county, proceed to sell at public auction the highest bidder

138 Acres of Land,

situated near Green Bank, in said county, adjoining the lands of G. W. Hyde, Peter B. Warwick, and others on the east side of Greenbrier River, on Deer Creek. It is the Oliver homestead. It is in a fair state for farming, and is cut-ash and a valuable farm with a stone title.

TERMS OF SALE: So much cash in hand as will pay the costs of said sale, and as for the residue the purchaser will be required to execute two bonds falling due in six, twelve and eighteen months from day of sale, with good personal security, the legal title to be retained as ultimate security.

H. S. BUCHER,
Special Commissioner.

I. J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of said county, do certify that the above special commissioner has given bond as required by law in said decree.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

Sewing Machines!

We will sell at Public Auction in the town of Marlinton, on the first day of Circuit Court a limited number of good Sewing Machines.

Terms of Sale: A credit of six months will be given each purchaser, he executing a note with good personal security, drawing interest from date.

Respectfully,

Steinmeyer & Doyle.

WAR DECLARED!

We are helping you to fight high prices, and have conquered the high price at last. We have just received a nice lot of new goods, which will sell low for Cash or good trade, such as Wool, Ginseng, Corn, Beeswax, Gold, Silver, and Greenbacks.

We quote you as follows:

Good Prints	from	3½	to 6½c.
Scotch Lawn	"	5	" 5½c.
Gingham	"	5	" 7c.
Satteen			10c.
Cable Twill			12½c.
Cambric	"	5	" 5½c.
Brown Cotton	"	6	" 8c.
Ticking			15c.
Cheviots	"	7½	" 10c.
Denims	"	10	" 15c.
Overalls	"	19	" 65c.
Men's	"	25	" 40c.
Overcoats	"	35	" 90c.
Jeans	"	85	" 1.15.
Suspenders	"	10	" 45c.
Hose,		18c	pair.
Half Hose	5 and	15c	pr.

Tobacco from 20c to 55c lb.

Other goods proportionately low. Give me a trial. Highest market prices for Wool, etc.

Yours for business,

G. L. HANNAH,
YELK. W. VA.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, made on the ... day of April Term, 1897, in the chancery cause therein pending of John R. Moore vs. James E. Johnson, the undersigned special commissioner will on

Tuesday, June 15, 1897,

the first day of the Circuit Court of said county, at the front door of the courthouse of said county, proceed to rent at public auction to the highest bidder a tract of

374 ACRES,

as the property of the defendant, James E. Johnson, for the term of five years. Said land comprises the farm upon which the said James E. Johnson resides,—is partially improved, and comprises valuable farming and timber lands.

TERMS OF RENTAL: So much cash in hand as will pay costs of suit and expenses of rental and as for the residue the purchaser will be required to execute bonds with good personal security due in six and twelve months from day of sale with the legal title to be retained as ultimate security.

OR

In case said lands above described, after having been offered in the manner aforesaid shall fail to rent for a sum sufficient to pay off and discharge all liens against it decreed to be paid in this suit, the costs of this suit and expenses of sale, then, at the same time and place said land shall be offered for sale and the undersigned special commissioner will offer for sale said tract 374 acres, or so much as shall be necessary to satisfy said decree.

TERMS OF SALE: So much cash in hand as will pay the costs of said suit and expenses of sale, and as for the residue the purchaser will be required to execute two bonds due in six and twelve months from day of sale, with good personal security, the legal title to be retained as ultimate security.

ANDREW PRICE,
Special Commissioner.

I. J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of said county, do certify that the above special commissioner has given bond as required by law in said decree.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

State of West Virginia, Pocahontas county, to wit:

At rules held in in the clerk's office of the circuit court, on monday, the 3d day of May, 1897.

Nora Susan Herold, Lula M. Miller (nee Herold), Minnie Myrtle Herold, Homer W. Herold, Bedford R. Herold, and Penie O. Herold, the last of whom is an infant and sues by R. D. Herold his next friend,.....Plaintiffs.

vs.

Wise Herold, and Kate E. Herold his wife, State of West Virginia, John Driscol, Porter Kinsport, Wise Herold, Executor of Sarah A Herold, deceased,.....Defendants

The object of this suit is to enforce against the lands of Wise Herold certain liens thereon existing under the will of Washington L. Herold in favor of the plaintiffs, and to enjoin and restrain the defendants and each of them from entering on said land and cutting and removing the timber thereon or any part thereof.

This day came the plaintiffs by their attorney, and on their motion and it appearing by affidavit filed that the defendant Porter Kinsport is a non resident of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that he do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect his interest in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
C. P. Jones, p. q.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

Levi Gay, Guardian, } In
vs. } Chancery.
George W. Ryder. }

Pursuant to a decree rendered in the above styled suit in chancery in the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, at the April Term, 1897, the undersigned special commissioner will, on the first day of the June term of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, proceed to sell at public auction, in front of the court house, to the highest bidder, for cash, the following valuable tract of land,

162½ ACRES,

now owned by the defendant, Geo. W. Ryder, the same having been conveyed to George W. Ryder, Sr., by deed bearing date on the 21st day of October, 1886, situated on Alleghany Mountain, lying partly in Highland County, Virginia, and partly in Pocahontas County, West Virginia.

J. W. YEAGER,
Special Commissioner.

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of said County, do certify that bond as required in said decree has been given by said special commissioner.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

H. C. Sharp .....Plaintiff
vs.
Peter S. Dilley, and others, Defts

Pursuant to a decree rendered in the above styled suit in Chancery in the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, the undersigned special commissioners will, on the first day of the June Term, 1897, of said Circuit Court offer for sale at public auction to the highest bidder, the following

Valuable Tract of Land.

lying in the County of Pocahontas and in the State of West Virginia, on the waters of Knapp's Creek, and adjoining the lands of Amos Barlow, P. H. Loury, and others, and being the same land that was conveyed by R. F. Hogsett and wife to the infant defendant, Floyd M. H. Dilley; the said deed being by said decree set aside as fraudulent to said, and void. The tract is in a high state of cultivation, is very valuable, containing about 85 acres composed of two tracts of 60 acres and 25 acres respectively.

TERMS: Cash for same. The purchase to be six, twelve, and eighteen months, with approved personal security.

W. A. BRATTON,
ANDREW PRICE,
Special Commissioners.

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of said county, do certify that the above special commissioners have given bond as required by law in said decree.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

NEW LINE

In addition to our Hardware Establishment we have just received a new and fresh line of

GROCERIES

that will surprise you when you see our low prices.

Come and leave your orders for

WIRE NAILS

at $3.10 per keg, and examine our low prices in the Groceries Line.

Yours for Low Prices,
W. W. Tyree & Co.

MARLINTON, W. VA.

You Can Save Monep

by writing or calling on us before you buy

HARDWARE, BAR-IRON.

STOVES, PAINTS, NAILS, GLASS, OILS, ROPE, SASH and DOORS, TINWARE, &c.

We Carry

the biggest stock in this section, and guarantee all goods to be as represented.

If You wish to save money, do n't buy till you see our goods and prices.

Simms & Co.,
Opp. Passenger Depot, RONCEVERTE, W. Va.

50 Reasons

WHY

You should trade with Sol Davis, Green Bank

1 Low Prices	26 No Disappointment
2 Best of Goods	27 You Find What You Want
3 Quality unsurpassed	28 What you Buy is Choice
4 Great Variety	29 A Guarantee of Goodness
5 Polite Attention	30 Your Patronage Appreciated
6 Every Deal a Bargain	31 Store Freshly Stocked
7 Guaranteed as Represented	32 Popular Goods
8 Glad to Please You	33 Popular Prices
9 Full Value for your Money	34 Headquarters for Bargains
10 Latest Styles	35 We Under buy
11 An Easy Selection	36 We Undersell
12 You get Satisfaction	37 Leaders of Trade
13 You are Protected	38 Always a Rare Choice
14 No Advantage Taken	39 You Get Honest Goods
15 A Fair and Square Deal	40 Golden Opportunity
16 You Save Money	41 Profit Sharing
17 The Goods are Reliable	42 Cream of the Market
18 A Complete Stock	43 Best Place to Buy
19 Great Inducements	44 Promises Kept
20 All kinds of Produce Taken	45 Statements Verified
21 Highest Market Prices Paid	46 Your Welcome Assured
22 Fancy Prices unknown	47 Inspection Solicited
23 Meritorious Stock	48 Not Urged to Buy
24 Prices that Please	49 Stock Carefully Bought
25 Customers Leave Smiling	50 You get the Best & Cheapest

Head to foot Outfitter for Men, Women, and Children. Yours for Business,
Green Bank, W. Va. SOL. DAVIS.

To the Public:

In order to close out our present stock of goods, we will offer for sale from this date to September 1st, 1897, all the goods which we have in hand at this time at from 5 to 10 per cent discount FOR CASH.

We will give a few prices for Cash:

DRESS GINGHAMS, 6 to 10cts
BEST PERCALES, 8cts
DOMES, GINGHAMS, 5cts
BLEACHED COTTONS, 7 to 8cts
ARBUCKLE COFFEE, 16cts
GREEN COFFEE, 12½ to 16cts.
BEST CALICOES, 5cts.
ALL OTHER GOODS IN PROPORTION.

TAYLOR & ROLLYSON,
Successors to E. H. Moore & Co.
ACADEMY, W. Va.

Pocahontas Times.

JUNE 11, 1897.

Local Events.

Land o' Cakes and brither Scots,
Baldwin's a hobo in a' your needs,
Gude ye beat it.
If a stranger you takin' notice,
A Dutch he'll prove it.—Burns

The new Court-house at Fairmont will cost $250,000.

It is reported that Crete Shearer has disposed of his farm, near Union, to Mr Dulaney.

COUNTY COURT met last Friday with all members present and appointed a school-book board and to some road orders.

The personal property books of Assessor J. H. Bussard are being made up by Miss Emma N. Warwick. Mr Bussard will finish seeing the county this week.

CANOE hear killed twenty-one hogs for the Trouble on Big Coberry range last week. His brand, which denotes that it is one of the largest of its kind, has been seen on Black Mountain.

THE report that the earthquake shook a chimney down in Marlinton last week is apt to mislead. It was a bomp chimney on a shelf dead off a chimney on a house. But the earthquake is no respecter of chimneys for all that.

POLICEMAN DILLARD, of Charlottesville, attempted to arrest two students of the University. They resisted arrest and badly beat the officer. The Mayor fined them each $20 and costs.

WITH Mark Hanna and John D. Lean rival candidates for the governorship in Ohio, there will be a great chance for the thrifty but shrewd voter in that State in the fall.—Charleston Gazette.

Joseph Wilson, one of Marlinton's fleetotums, was at his work in Powell Hill last Friday afternoon when he encountered and killed a fine specimen of the yellow rattle snake. It measured nearly four feet and had eight rattles on a button.

A GREAT deal of work has been put on the road from Marlinton to Hamilton Chapel. A split log bridge has been made over the run at John Sharp's and some changes in the location of the road connected therewith. Much pains have also been taken with the road repairs from Hamilton Chapel to the MacLaughlin Mill, and from the Hazel Ridge crossroads towards Laurel Run.

THE trial of Colonel Robert W. Eastham, for the killing of Frank E. Thomson, general manager of the Blackwater lumber company, will take up the most of the next session of the Tucker circuit court and promises to be a great legal battle. The prosecution will conducted by J. J. Davis and Congressman Dayton and the defense by C. Wood Daily, of Elkins, H. E. Downing, of Fairmont, Rowan Va. and Holmes Conrad, of Winchester, Va.

We felt complimented by an invitation to attend the closing exercises of the Lewisburg Female Institute that were performed May 30—June 1. That fine institution has just completed a prosperous session. The sermons by the visiting ministers, Drs Guerrant, of Kentucky, and Vance, from Baltimore, were timely and highly spoken of. The art display was enchanting, the music simply entrancing, and the progress made by the people in scientific and Bible studies very gratifying. Misses Mabel Ligon and Rose Moomaw were the pupils from Pocahontas. Hopes are entertained that the Rev Mr Telford's health will be speedily restored. The corps of teachers will be about the same next session as but little change is contemplated.

The last but issue of the Rosewreath Nows contains a graphic description of the great Dearing parade that came off on the 1st of June. The procession formed at 12 o'clock on Main Street with the leader at the corner of Frankford Avenue. Marshal I. Hunter Nicholl led the procession. He carried a flag inscribed: "The Dearing Leads — Others Follow." Then came the Rocky Point Band, then State Agent Shearer and County Agent Chapman in a buggy. A goodly number followed with a hundred national flags came next, followed by a mower driven by Mrs L. F. Kramer and a harvester driven by Miss Stella Yeagerking. A large number of Delaware and Jersey Dearing Machinery. 400 Years of American Civilization and Industrial Progress," borne by three or more men, was the next feature, followed by forty wagons each loaded with Dearing machinery. The procession ended at Rose Grove where 10 to 20 machines were delivered. Dinner was served to three hundred ticket holders at Rose Grove Restaurant, and Miss Rosewreath. At 2 P. M. a Dearing Mower was delivered by H. T. Rosebud, made an address at "The Castle and progressive town of the Dearing peninsula. The event was attended at 1,000, and composed of the leading farmers of the Rosewreath Peninsula and delegations of Greenbrier Rosette and Rosebud.

TOM DAVIES, of Fayette, would like to be Governor of Alaska.

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY and party were billed to spend Wednesday night at the Hot Springs on their way to the Nashville Exposition.

MUNRO Circuit Court has at last adjourned after a session of eight weeks. During that time about 1,000 criminal cases were disposed of, of which 15 were murders, and 100 other felonies.

AS IT is getting late in the season, you can get nice hats at MRS CUNNINGHAM'S at reduced prices. Having received an additional supply, her stock is now as complete as ever.

THE earthquake is said to be causing trouble in Giles County. The mountain in which a fissure a mile and a half was made, is issuing fire and smoke and making every one sick. The people near the mountain have moved away.

ENVINE HOUSTICHELL in jail has a very severe case of fever, and there are doubts as to his recovery. He took sick within a week after his incarceration and was feeling premonitory symfoms at that time, so it is not the fault of the jail.

THE report that the earthquake shook a chimney down in Marlinton last week is apt to mislead. It was a bomp chimney on a shelf dead off a chimney on a house. But the earthquake is no respecter of chimneys for all that.

POLICEMAN DILLARD, of Charlottesville, attempted to arrest two students of the University. They resisted arrest and badly beat the officer. The Mayor fined them each $20 and costs.

WITH Mark Hanna and John D. Lean rival candidates for the governorship in Ohio, there will be a great chance for the thrifty but shrewd voter in that State in the fall.—Charleston Gazette.

Joseph Wilson, one of Marlinton's fleetotums, was at his work in Powell Hill last Friday afternoon when he encountered and killed a fine specimen of the yellow rattle snake. It measured nearly four feet and had eight rattles on a button.

A GREAT deal of work has been put on the road from Marlinton to Hamilton Chapel. A split log bridge has been made over the run at John Sharp's and some changes in the location of the road connected therewith. Much pains have also been taken with the road repairs from Hamilton Chapel to the MacLaughlin Mill, and from the Hazel Ridge crossroads towards Laurel Run.

THE trial of Colonel Robert W. Eastham, for the killing of Frank E. Thomson, general manager of the Blackwater lumber company, will take up the most of the next session of the Tucker circuit court and promises to be a great legal battle. The prosecution will conducted by J. J. Davis and Congressman Dayton and the defense by C. Wood Daily, of Elkins, H. E. Downing, of Fairmont, Rowan Va. and Holmes Conrad, of Winchester, Va.

Personal Mention.

Harvey Maupin and family went up to Traveler's Repose to attend the wedding of Granville Kellar and Miss Bessie Burner. The groom is the well known Rocky Mountain guide.

W. B. King and Ted went to Greenbrier last week.

Judge McWhorter was too unwell to preside at the Monroe Court and Attorney T. H. Dennis was elected special judge.

Mr and Mrs D. A. Peck visited friends in the Edray district last week.

Misses Annie McLaughlin and Julia Arbuckle and Charlie Arbuckle and Lee McLaughlin, of Lewisburg are visiting friends in Pocahontas.

Miss Emma N. Warwick was in town on legal business this week.

S. D. McClure on Laurel Run, has been very ill for several weeks prostrated by fever, but is convalescent.

Wallace Jackson, who recently married Miss Marietta Smith, of Highland, is making his home at Mrs Catherine Ratliff's, near Green Hill.

Mrs Newton Buffield is slowly recovering from a long attack of illness of a very serious character.

Anderson Barlow has moved into his new and commodious residence on Hazel Ridge.

William Sharp, Esq., of Edray, is off on his personal "Grand Tour" of Europe. He left Friday for Liverpool. England and is bound to Quoby, if not too much rain.

Rev George F. Moore, of Edray, started for Buckhannon last Monday.

E. E. Simmons and Newton Watkins are living at the Warwick Spring and cropping on part of the Warwick place.

Mr A. M. McLaughlin and daughter, Miss McLaughlin, prepared their Marlinton on their way to Buckhead County.

R. B. Earnheart, of Minnie, was in Marlinton on business Tuesday.

Mrs Noel is visiting her son, Mr Frank Noel in Marlinton.

Mrs Pullin, of Mill Gap, Va., is with J. H. Price & Co for the summer.

Children's Day Services.

Children's Day Services were held, June 6, at the M. E. Church South, at 11 A. M., and at the Presbyterian Church at 3 P. M. The services were interesting and impressive. The Methodist Church was prettily decorated. The back ground was of maple branches, while boxes of rare flowers and bouquets adorned the pulpit and altar. The school met in the basement and marched into the church, led by the Superintendent, Mr R. W. Hill.

Opening hymn, "Marching to Zion," by the school; song, "We are singing on the Way," by the school; opening prayer, by Rev. J. H. Dills; song, "Jesus lives," by the school; concert reading of the Scriptures; song, "Leaning on the everlasting Arms," by the school; recitation, "Have you heard of Jesus," by three little boys, Alfred Eakridge, Anthony Hill and Forrest Clark; song, "Sweet Story," by the Primary Department; forty questions, by the Superintendent, answered by the school; song "Welcome for me," by the school; recitation, "The Children's Crusade," by Miss Ethel Curry; addresses on Foreign Missions, by Rev. J. H. Dills and Paul Smith; song, "Go tell the World of His Love;" address on the Epworth League, by Rev J. A. Taylor; solo, "A little talk with Jesus, by Rev J. A. Taylor; address on Education, by Miss Nannie Callison; song, "Blessed be the Name," by the school; collection taken by four little boys, Anthony Hill, Forrest Clark, Alfred Eakridge and Burke McCarty; song, "When the roll is called up yonder," by all; benediction by Rev Dills.

At the Presbyterian Church, at 3 P. M., beautiful floral decorations again met the eye. The church was filled with the perfume of the perfume of flowers, which were tastefully arranged in vases and placed on the pulpit, stands, and organ; boxes of growing plants in bloom were placed beneath them, and ornamental baskets were laden with flowers and suspended from the chandeliers. The school marched into the church. Opening prayer by E. I. Holt; address on Missions by Rev D. S. Sydenstricker.

Large congregations attended both services.

R. P. C.

William Cochran, Jan., is arranging with W. W. Tyree to establish a store in West Marlinton

"The Lord Loveth a Cheerful Se[illegible]

The publishers of this paper know that it is rat[illegible] gracious act to remind their subscribers before each [illegible] to hand them something on subscription, or send it in by the hand of some accommodating friend. We feel sure that all subscribers who can will send us something on subscription next week at June Court: if it is only a dime, pay it in and get a receipt for it and a credit on our books.

Notice to Confederate Veterans.

